

That perennial mud puddle in front of the News Review office has assumed a useful aspect. A friend suggested that it be retained for the dumping of flying saucers if and when they appear.

Another civic-minded sage suggests that Hico is lagging behind in a very timely enterprise. He is in favor of some organization appointing a committee to serve as lookouts for flying saucers. No end of publicity is being missed, he declares, through failure of any local citizen to spot one of the objects which have been creating so much discussion and which seem to have appeared everywhere else.

Sam Price weakened in his avowed intention of ribbing the editor recently by reporting a flying saucer spotted near his home half-way to Iredell. He and Mrs. Price were planning a trip, he reported in lieu of the shabby joke. We haven't heard whether or not they got away, but they planned to visit with their son, Al, and his wife at Bryan; then all would visit at Galveston, Houston, and Huntsville.

At the latter place they had intended to visit the penitentiary, but Sam said Al had learned that visitors' rules had been tightened up and that there were only three ways to get inside the walls—to visit a relative, to be a lawyer on business with a client, or the hard way.

J. T. Hitt, kicking around in the debris where dirt is being removed to make the proper grade for the new floor at The Hico Theatre (reopening a snazzy remodeled house Thursday of next week with screening of a big picture—you're welcome, Junior, Madama and Gladys) picked up a round, shiny object and discarded it with the laconic comment: "Just another damflying saucer."

But that's not what we started to tell about the theatre magnate. Hitt declares that 900 people (advertisers take notice) read the announcement in last week's paper about the floor of the new theatre going to be "leveled" and wishes we had made this a little plainer. They have brought the matter to his attention in no uncertain way, he said, and seem to think that he is playing the dickens.

The fact is, as best we can state it, that the lobby entrance and the auditorium floors will be the same level. The front, next to the screen will be dropped about four feet. Why else do you think they would be paying for moving all that dirt?

Incidentally Victor Grey and his efficient corps of helpers in allied phases of the building trade, are doing a jam-up good job so far as a casual inspection disclosed Wednesday.

T. A. Randals emphasized his point in a discussion of a delicate matter at the Lions Club Wednesday, and thereby eased tension with the sense of humor he seems to carry around most of the time.

Quoting Uncle Ezra, whoever that is, Tullio said that we should not be too quick to jump at conclusions and criticize without proper investigation. "Even a clock that isn't running is right twice a day," he declared.

State Fair Film Viewed By 2 Groups

"Extravaganza on Parade," a motion picture of highlights from the 1949 State Fair of Texas, was shown by a State Fair representative to local groups on Monday, April 17.

The film was brought to this city by Jim Jarrott, State Fair public relations representative. The local groups who viewed the film included the Hico Public Schools and Veterans Vocational Agricultural School.

Purpose of the film, Jarrott said, is to acquaint Texans, young and old, with the unique opportunities for education and wholesome entertainment always available at the State Fair of Texas.

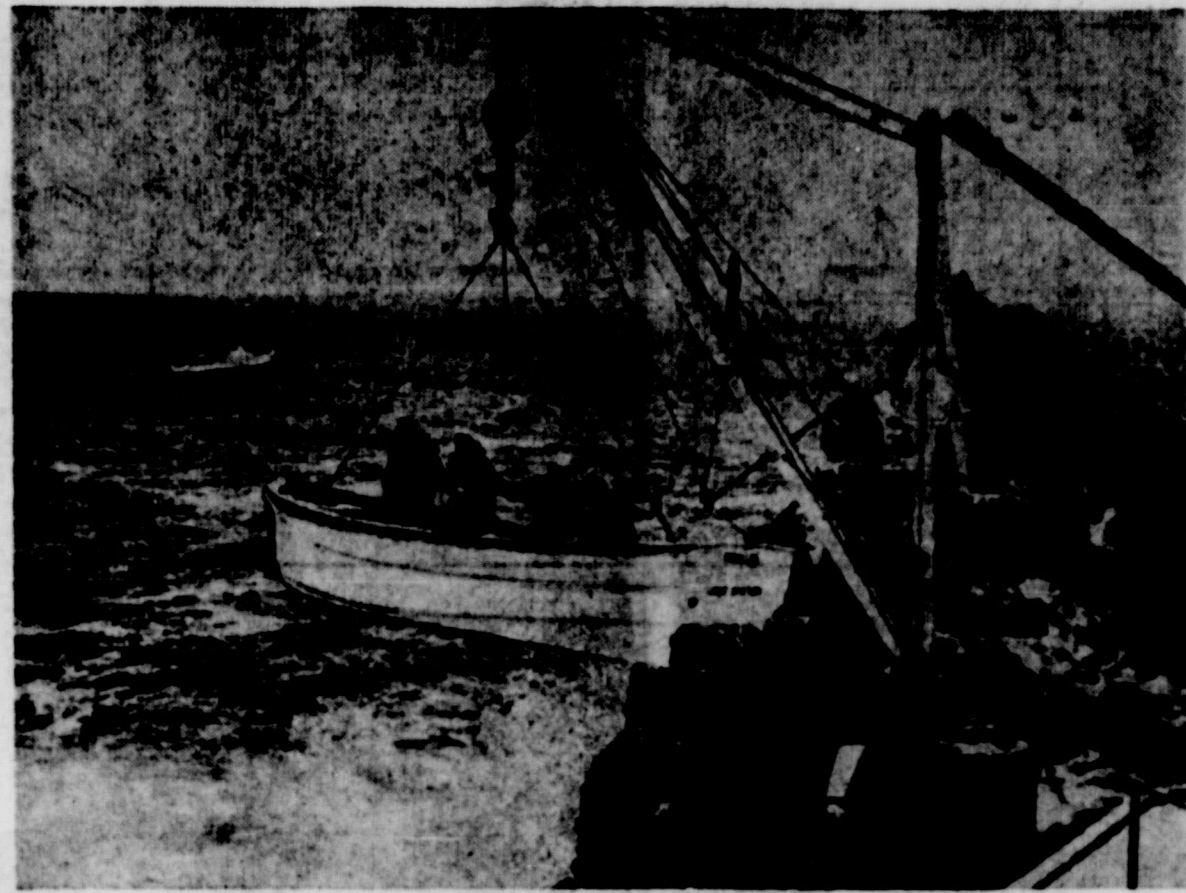

The 30-minute film, in sound and color, presents a well-balanced picture of doings at last year's big 16-day exposition which attracted 2,047,540 visitors and which was acclaimed the greatest state fair in history. The movie was seen by 15,000 people in 17 Texas cities during the first four weeks it was shown.

Included are the colorful opening day ceremonies, plays from the big football games, vivid scenes from the livestock, agriculture and farm machinery shows, shots of foreign exhibits, the midway, free acts, atomic energy show, foods show, automobile show, rural youth day, music festival, women's division, and a good look at every important facet of the fair.

Although all attendance records were broken in 1949, the forthcoming fair is expected to attract even larger throngs of visitors, Jarrott said. The 1950 State Fair will be a gigantic Mid-Century Exposition, saluting the first half century and previewing the second.

To celebrate the golden anniversary of the century, the fair will present South Pacific in the Auditorium, the All-American Jersey Show, a super atomic age science show, daily parades, pageants, and a host of other new and different features. Dates of the 1950 Fair are Oct. 7-22.

TAKE TO THE LIFEBOATS! . . . United States census enumerators have to resort to any mode of transportation to count the nation's population, especially those working in the remote spots of the San Francisco area. Helen L. Mabbett and John McClosky, census takers, are hoisted onto the rocky Farallon island, 22 miles out in the Pacific ocean, to register its 17 inhabitants. The coast guard cutter, which carried the census takers from San Francisco, is in the background.

The visitors present upon invitation after a previous meeting at the county seat which was attended by Ellis Randals of Hico, admitted that they did not have all the information on the plan. Questions arising during a heated discussion revealed that many details remain to be ironed out before the plan is perfected. They did not attempt to cover the subject, stating that they merely were requested to ascertain the reaction of local people to such a proposition and report back to their club.

TIRE HEADQUARTERS

Fairy

By Mrs. Eunice Massengale

This community has been wonderfully blessed with several inches of rain fall for which all are very thankful. The ground had become so dry, things were beginning to look critical, and according to one of those wise cracks of Tom Betts, seems he had been wearing such a long face over the dry weather situation that he had trouble in locating his face for his first shave after the rain.

Mrs. J. H. Whitlock

Funeral services for Mrs. J. H. Whitlock, who passed away on Tuesday morning of last week at the Hico Hospital following a stroke, were held at the Church of Christ on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. Dawman Newton and Bro. L. J. Wood officiating. Mrs. Whitlock, who was the former Miss Dora Easter Lott was born on May 27, 1877 to Aaron Lott and Mary Barron Lott. She was married to J. H. Whitlock on Sept. 23, 1896. To this union nine children were born, three dying in infancy. The husband and the following children survive: Mrs. W. E. Coop, Merkel; Mrs. Morris Berger of San Angelo; Mrs. C. L. Woodward, Hico; Mrs. F. L. Havenhill, Fort Worth; Mrs. Raymond Broumley, Aledo; and J. P. Whitlock of the home. Six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Whitlock united with the Church of Christ at the age of fifteen and had been ever faithful to perform her duties to the church and to her home. She was a wonderful mother and friend and to know her was to love her. She will be greatly missed by all who had the pleasure of her association. She had been in ill health for the past two years, being under the care of a physician at intervals during this time. She became ill on Saturday night and was carried to the hospital on Sunday morning. On Monday she seemed improved but only for the worse, as she passed away about 6 a. m. Tuesday. Active pallbearers were H. C. Beck, Ovie Brummitt, Bill Lackey, Ernest Brummitt, Johnnie Jackson and Mr. L. V. Houser. Mr. Nobles had charge of the song service. The bountiful floral offering was very beautiful, with the following young friends serving as bearers, Misses Ovie and Elsie Parks, Louise and Gwendolyn Jackson, Joann Barbee, Mrs. Louis Abel, Misses Jean Clark, Joann Sills and Shirley Streater.

Interment was in the Hico Cemetery. Our hearts go out in deepest sympathy to the family and other relatives in the loss of this dear loved one. May God bless and comfort all in these lonely days of sorrow.

She is gone from us, and now we are in grief. How we long to see her sweet smile and bright blue eyes. But we know she's found relief. In that "Land Beyond the Skies." While here she suffered bodily pain, Now her soul and body are in peace. And though we know her life was not in vain Our tears we cannot seem to cease. She's been taken from this worldly life, But God in all His wisdom knows what's best. This world of ours is always full of strife, But in her heavenly home she's found rest. Loved ones, weep not, tho' from you she's been taken, She's at home in the sweet abode. And the Heavenly Father has not forsaken. But He'll guide you along that road Which leads to your beloved in that Sweet Land Above.

Many will be sorry to learn of the death of Dr. Snyder of Dublin who dropped dead of a heart attack at his home on Wednesday morning of last week. He had been a practicing dentist in Dublin for many years and has had many patrons here in the past.

Mrs. G. W. Bralley of Fort Worth was here to attend funeral services of Mrs. J. H. Whitlock last Wednesday week.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hoover and little son, Charles D. of Phoenix, Ariz., who had been visiting here since Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs. E. M.

Hoover, started their homeward journey on Friday night by train from Stephenville. They expected to reach their home about ten o'clock on the following Sunday.

Mrs. Gill and her daughter, Miss Alice of Hico, who are teaching music in the school, gave a musical recital in connection with the P. T. A. meeting on Tuesday night of last week, which was highly complimented and enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison, Ruby Jean and Darrel of Dublin gave her mother, Mrs. Eunice Massengale a surprise visit on last Wednesday night, bringing along the birthday cake honoring the writer's birthday, which was Wednesday, April 12. We snatched up a few cats and all went over to the home of another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and family. All enjoyed a family get-together and serving of tuna fish sandwiches, cake, fruit cocktail and iced bottle drinks. They presented the honoree with a new ready-to-wear frock.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Jimmie Don, Mrs. Eunice Massengale and Mrs. D. E. Allison of Dublin were in Waco Friday of last week for a physical check up for little Jimmie Don, who was a polo patient there for about a month just before Christmas. The examination revealed the need of an ankle brace, which they will return for, as soon as completed and ready for fitting.

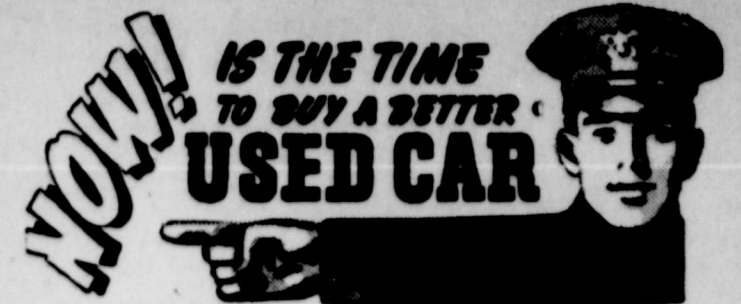

Mrs. Emma Ogle states that her brother, John Fort of Clifton, who suffered a stroke several weeks ago, is still confined to his bed.

Social Security Officer Tells Proper Manner of Making Tax Payments

Employees are required to deduct social security taxes on only the first $3,000 of wages per year, Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Social Security office in Waco, said today. "Even at this late date," he said, "the Social Security Administration is still getting inquiries from employers and employees about these excess taxes."

The employer's quarterly tax returns should show the name, social security number, and amount of wages paid each employee.
Adams pointed out, however, that after an employee has been paid
$3,000 in the course of a calendar year, the employer should no longer include his name on his reports.

Request for refund of excess taxes paid on wages of more than $3,000 should be made with the Collector of Internal Revenue and not to the social security field office, and must be made within a period of 2 calendar years after the year in which wages were paid.

LARGEST CHECK IN NATION'S HISTORY . . . This check was written to cover bonus payments to Pennsylvania veterans, each of whom will receive a maximum of $500 as his share of the huge paper. About 1,200,000 veterans will share in the disbursement.
Check is signed by Frederick A. Potts, president of the Philadelphia National bank.

HOUSE HOME

SHRUNKEN WOOLENS usually can be restored in size if they are rinsed in soapy water rather than clear. Pin or block them to a towel after they have been pressed to correct size and shape.

Before hanging freshly laundered curtains, slip a flat table knife through the hem for the rod before inserting the rod, thus saving tears.

To dry sweaters quickly, place on a heavy absorbent towel and press to shape. Place another absorbent towel over the sweater and run over the towel with a rolling pin to remove any excess moisture on the towel.

If you wash printed silks, roll between two towels to prevent the colors from coming in contact with each other.

Gloves will not be stiff if you finger press them to shape after washing, and then knead them after they are dry. Make sure certain gloves are washable before doing them at home.

Soiled clothes should be placed at the bottom of the washing tub when they are soaking, and the cleaner clothing on top so dirt cannot sink to the less soiled clothing.

To stiffen organdie, dissolve a teaspoonful of gum arabic in hot water and dilute when cold with the same amount of cold water.

If you are washing the ticking for pillows, apply starch to the inside of the ticking with a sponge to seal the pores of the material and thus prevent the feathers from working out.

Mrs. Petsick gave a most interesting talk on Alaska in general; its surface, forests, industries, farming developments and future outlook. The films, secured from the Nash Corporation, were reviewed with much interest and pleasure.

Members of the club answered roll call by naming cities and their interesting points in Alaska. During the business meeting the club passed a motion to purchase a book and present it to Mrs. Marvin Marshall to be reviewed in May at the final meeting of the year.

The president, Mrs. Marshall, had a list of resolutions that confront the Federated Clubs read aloud so that this club would be informed as to future problems.

Refreshments of a salad plate and angel squares were served to members and three guests, Mrs. W. P. Mauk, Mrs. W. D. Bradley and Gay Goodman.

Home Economist's Study Shows Way to Meet Calcium Needs

Chicago, April 18.—How to get more out of food for the family table calls for a lot of nutrition sense.

At the University of Illinois, Dr. Janice Smith, Head of the Department of Home Economics, reports that cocoa may be added to milk for drinking without changing the calcium value of milk, the principal source of calcium. Milk supplies 75 per cent of the calcium in the food consumed by persons.

In Dr. Smith's study a group of university women served as experimental subjects. They were fed varying levels of cocoa on both a high and low calcium intake. Their calcium retention was measured during eleven different periods extending over a school year. Even on low calcium intake, Dr. Smith found no significant differences in calcium retention when cocoa was or was not present in the diet.

In commenting on the study, sponsored by the dairy industry, Milton Hult, president of the National Dairy Council, Chicago, stated the body needs milk for growth and maintenance of strong bones and teeth and for general good health. If children and adults like milk better with cocoa, serve it in that manner. It will be utilized by the body effectively either way.

Mr. Tom Fuller is sick. It is hoped he will recover soon.

Friday night a large crowd of Baptists and some Methodists went to the Baptist parsonage and took the pastor, Rev. R. L. Jenkins and family, a shower of groceries and some dry goods. They also had open house. All went through the house and it sure is nice. It is nicely furnished and they are proud of it. Rev. Jenkins made a display of different kinds of rocks he had gotten in Arizona and all was real pretty. They were passed around so all could look at them. The many groceries and other things were brought in for inspection. The pastor and his family sure were proud of them. Refreshments of ice cold punch were served. All enjoyed the open house and shower very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewallen of Weatherford have announced the arrival of a son, Milton Roy, on April 15. The mother is the former Miss Helen Bates of Iredell.

Mrs. A. N. Pike is visiting in Cleburne.

Scott Swindall

Scott Swindall was born in Van Zandt County November 30, 1930, and passed from this life at his home on April 10, 1956, at the age of 25.

He was converted and joined the Methodist church at the age of 10. He was a faithful member and attended all the services until his health failed.

Scott was a Boy Scout. He attained the highest honor in Scouting, that of being an Eagle Scout, at the age of 14.

He graduated from Iredell High School in 1949. He was also a football and basketball player.

He was a fine young man and had a host of friends, old and young, who admired and respected him. It looks very hard for a young man to be taken, but he had lived out his days and was ready to go when God called him.

He loved flowers and everything that was good and beautiful. One day last Fall Dr. Wallace took a beautiful bouquet of flowers to him. They had been in the church but were still fresh and pretty. He was very proud of the flowers.

All during his illness he was very patient. Everything was done for him that could be done. His parents and two sisters are lonely without him and miss him so much. He is also missed by others. All were sad about his passing away.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist church where he had worshipped. The funeral home from Granbury had charge of the funeral. Rev. Poteet, a former pastor now at Troy, brought the funeral message. He was assisted by Rev. Wallace, the pastor, and Rev. Jenkins, the Baptist pastor. The floral offerings were large and beautiful. Six of his schoolmates were pallbearers.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Swindall, and two sisters, Jeanne and Billie Sue. There are three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Swindall of Granbury and Mrs. J. T. Scott of Wills Point, and a large number of uncles, aunts, cousins and friends.

The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Acton.

The parents and sisters and all the other relatives have the sympathy of their many friends, for he is gone but not forgotten.

The relatives from out of town who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Scott and son and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gregory of Granbury, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Foster of Austin, Rev. and Mrs. P. P. Dawson of Angleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scott and daughters of Fort Worth, Boyd Scott of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCaffey of Kerrville, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott of Wills Point, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Scott and daughter and son of Wills Point, Mr. and Mrs. Udell Scott of Canton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Terry of Canton, Glenn Scott of Canton, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dawson of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. White Tunnell of Dallas, Rev. and Mrs. E. P. Swindall of Granbury, and Mrs. Poteet and Anne of Troy.

Starlight Operetta Arousing Unusual Pre-Season Interest

The 1956 schedule of Season Ticket Sales for the gala 9th season of the Starlight Operetta, nationally known as America's Finest Summer Theatre, were announced today by Charles R. Meeker, Jr., managing director. Mr. Meeker said that advance inquiries unusually early this year, would indicate that a record number of Starlight patrons, both in Dallas and from a radius of 200 miles will take advantage of the lower prices offered by the season ticket arrangements which guarantees holders the same choice seat for each of the six great musical comedies and operettas which will be presented in the Fair Park Casino this summer.

Soil Conservation Needs and Methods Studied At Meeting

Neighborhood representatives from various parts of the Hamilton work unit area met on the O. I. Garner Jr., farm in three sections on Wednesday April 12, Friday April 14, and Monday April 17 to study the soil and water conservation problem, to decide on ways and means for an effective solution of this problem in this area.

It was agreed by the farmers present that there are at least the following phases to this problem.

- (1). Accelerated erosion by water and wind.
(2). Soil depletion or plant nutrient deficiency from continuous removal of crops without addition of organic matter and plant food nutrients.
(3). Lack of favorable moisture relationship necessary to effective crop production due to poor structure or puddled condition from years of cultivation without growing deep rooted legumes or providing for cover.

It was further agreed that the following principles would be observed in carrying out a soil saving and soil improving program:

- (1). Use every acre of land for the purpose to which it is best adapted.
(2). Use all the needed measures that will help to make the land produce more without damaging it.
(3). Improve productivity and maintain fertility at a high level.
(4). Apply this program on an economically sound basis.

It was further decided by these farmers that one of the necessary means for implementing a soil saving program is the Soil Conservation District. This district law provides for legal local units of government operating under state laws, whereby the people on the land can use their own initiative in a voluntary working together for solving their land problems to the democratic processes of a free people.

It was also decided by these neighborhood representatives that if a conservation program was ever to be established and maintained it would be necessary to have conservationists on the land. And since saving and improving of this basic resource (the soil) is everybody's problem it is not only desirable but necessary that business and professional people recognize and express appreciation for this program as applied on the land of the people with whom they associate. Therefore, conservation offers business a splendid opportunity.

Participating in and contributing to these discussions were the following neighborhood representatives: Alfred Seider, Jack Strubling, Clyde Gardner, Billy Boyar, Scott Blakley, N. B. Jones, Fred Hartgraves, Ivy Blansit, Rader Blansit, Coy C. Parks, J. T. Anglin, C. D. Neal, Hugh Coston, Chester Vick, O. J. Huff, Van Wisdom, James Edwards, J. E. Crain, N. N. Newton, R. R. Bynum, A. M. Erdman, A. G. Fitzsche, M. C. Albrecht, Hubert Curry, Herman Standifer, Albert Peters, Jack Cates, Edward Perkins, Joe Cleveland, Ansel Horton, Rueben Hoak, W. J. Rickel, W. E. Farmer, Wallace Halle, M. V. Knapp, O. I. Garner Sr., G. W. Oxley, John Blom, Mrs. John Blom and Willie Resa.

Supervisors Elmo Newsom and Mack Riley led in the discussions of the District Program. Business and Professional men who visited with these farmers in their study were: Mr. Randals from the First National Bank, Hico, W. J. Harris, Coordinator for the Veterans Vocational Program, and Veteran teachers Glenn Riley, Gilbert Davis, W. B. Vines and W. A. Higgins.

Soil Conservation Provides Good Lesson In Real Democracy

By WATERS S. DAVIS, Jr. President, Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Soil Conservation Districts are democracy at the grass roots. That is why so many Texans are becoming more and more interested in them.

In these days of increasing governmental regulations, it is important for everyone—farmers, ranchers, and businessmen—to understand what Districts are, who runs them, and what they do. It is easy to confuse them with one of the other of the agencies of the Department of Agriculture.

Under Texas law, Soil Conservation Districts were organized by vote of the local landowning farmers and ranchers. They are run by their Supervisors, who must be local, resident landowning farmers and ranchers elected to office by their neighbors. With no powers of taxation nor eminent domain, the Supervisors' responsibility is to coordinate all efforts, public and private, to the soil conservation task. This coordinated effort is first developed on a District-wide basis by the local people themselves.

In every one of Texas' now 156 Districts, covering nearly 90 per cent of the State, there are Programs and Plans of Work, developed and written by the home folks. They serve as a guide to each District's operation.

With its Program and Plan of Work as a basis for action, the District's Board of Supervisors is ready to go to work. As a rule, all State and Federal agricultural agencies pledge their cooperation to the Supervisors. The Extension Service and the Department of Vocational Agriculture have a big educational job. PMA payments help landowners pay part of the costs of soil conservation. The technicians of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, cooperating with the Supervisors, make detailed farm and ranch conservation plans with the local operators on farms and ranches as directed by the District Supervisors.

These farm and ranch conservation plans are the key to what many call the new Agriculture. They are developed with the owner to suit his operating needs as well as those of the land. When all the planning is over, the results are put on paper, with a map, and all details are then agreed to by the owner and the Board of Supervisors.

Operating in accordance with these plans, farmers and ranchers are discovering that it pays to treat the land according to its needs and use it according to its capabilities. Production per acre rises and unit production costs are lower. Owners find, too, that crops are higher in quality.

These are things that consumers in general and all businessmen can understand. Soil Conservation District Week, May 15 to 21, will give all Texans an opportunity to learn about this program of grass roots democracy that is going on in their midst.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Wolfe returned home Tuesday from Abilene where they visited their son, Tom H. Wolfe, and family. They were accompanied home by their little granddaughter, Kendall Wolfe, who will visit with them.
