Mideast peace talks moving along swiftly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egypt and Israel appeared today to be moving swiftly to try to arrange terms of their historic peace treaty as negotiations resumed under U.S. auspices.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance met first with the Egyptian delegation at Blair House, the presidential guest quarters across the street from the White House, and set up a separate session later with the Israeli team.

By all indications, the talks were proceeding smoothly. At the end of Thursday's opening round, a spokesman for all three governments reported that "everyone there felt it was a good beginning."

A second round was set today, said the spokesman, George Sherman of the State Department.

While no talks will be held Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, sources who asked not to be identified said a further session Sunday was probable.

This source said none of the tension that marked the Camp David negotiations was evident and the two nations were proceeding in a "businesslike fashion" to get the job done.

The target is completion within two months of a treaty outlining Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai, security measures and diplomatic exchanges. There is an even more optimistic target of Nov. 19, the first anniversary of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's offer of peace to the Israeli Knesset.

As the talks began, President Carter and chief Egyptian negotiator Kamal Hassan Ali invited other Arab states and the Palestinians to negotiate with Israel.

Their intention was to rebut Arab critics who claim the Camp David accords ignore Palestinian interests and could lead to a separate Egyptian-Israeli peace.

"The United States is committed, without reservation, to seeing this process through until each party is at peace with all the others," Carter said at an opening White House ceremony.

Ali, the defense minister in Egypt's new "peace" government, pledged to work for a comprehensive settlement "which insures the fulfillment of the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people and enables them to play a constructive role in a peaceful Middle East."

There is no sign so far that Jordan and Palestinian representatives are willing to join second-stage negotiations with Israel and Egypt to determine the future of the west bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

Carter said the alternative to negotiations "is drift, stalemate, continued enmity and perhaps even another war."

The welcoming ceremony reflected the shift in old antagonisms between Israel and Egypt.

Ali stood on one side of Carter. On the other was Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan.

In the audience, Egyptians and Israelis sat side by side. Egyptian Ambassador Ashraf Ghorbal rubbed shoulders with Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman. Across the aisle, Boutros Ghali, the acting Egyptian foreign minister, sat next to Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz.

Then Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance led the delegations across Pennsylvania Avenue to Blair House.

Pay hikes in store for city employees

STANTON — The city council approved a new budget which includes 10 per cent pay hikes for city employees and substantial increases in sewer and garbage rates for the citizens when they meet this week.

Bill Rees, who had been appointed at a special meeting last month to fill the unexpired term of Stacy Payne, attended his first regular meeting.

Mike Rhea, city manager, told the council that the sewer and sanitation rate hikes will allow the two departments to pay their own way, instead of requiring financial help from the general fund.

Rates were hiked higher percentage-wise for out-of-town customers because members of the council believed that city taxpayers should not have to supplement those city sewer and sanitation customers living outside city limits.

The council also voted to proceed with condemnation proceedings against several old houses and businesses in the city which have been judged to be firetraps and eyesores.

The council voted to proceed high legal action against the owners of the property. This action will enable the city to tear down the structures if their owners do not refurbish them.

Included in the city's list of targets is the old meat packing plant on U.S. 80 and a portion of Berry's Lumberyard.

Key witness, defense attorney clash in pre-trial

HOUSTON (AP) — The key prosecution witness and the chief defense attorney verbally clashed several times during pre-trial testimony in the Cullen Davis case Thursday.

And State District Court Judge Wallace Moore warned, "put in the record these two men don't like each other and I will have no more of this."

David McCrory, an FBI informant, and Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, the defense attorney, warred all day with first one and then the other tossing a verbal spear.

Haynes asked McCrory where he had gone on a day late in August, and the witness answered, "I stopped at a store and bought a six-pack of beer, your favorite brand Mr. Haynes."

The attorney leaped to his feet and said to the judge, "How does he know my favorite brand, if I have one? I resent that answer."

Earlier Haynes told McCrory that if he failed to understand a question "say so and I will rephrase."

Then when Haynes said he didn't understand an answer from the witness, McCrory said, "Mr. Haynes, if you fail to understand an answer, say so and I will rephrase it."

Testifying under tight security with U.S. Marshal T.R. Coney of Houston always nearby, McCrory said his life had been threatened, he was afraid of being killed and had asked for federal protection.

The chain-smoking McCrory said he was now under the federal witness protection act, which gives him security and $950 a month in government money to pay for rent and food until his part in the Davis trial is over.

Davis is accused of soliciting the murder of Fort Worth Judge Joe Eidson, who had presided during most of the lengthy divorce proceedings between the defendant and his estranged wife, Priscilla.

Eidson later removed himself from the case.

McCrory testified Cullen Davis wanted Eidson killed and "I suggested to federal officers we get a picture of judge and some identification to take to Cullen Davis so he would believe the judge had been killed."

A picture was made of Eidson posed as if dead in the trunk of a car.

McCrory said, "Eidson is who Cullen wanted killed, and he wanted about 15 persons killed."

Haynes asked McCrory, who once worked for a firm owned by the Davis financial empire, if he had ever told anyone he had been offered money to turn against his former boss.

McCrory answered, in a loud and angry voice, "No sir, I didn't tell anyone such a thing and if you (Haynes) got someone to say that, it is a lie."

McCrory also said Cullen Davis once told him he wanted his brother, Bill Davis, killed.

"He told me to find someone to kidnap his brother and take him to another state where he did some scuba diving and make it look like he drowned," McCrory said.

Asked why he had gone to federal law enforcement officers, McCrory said, "I just didn't want to be mixed up in the planning of a murder. The officers said that in all likelihood I wouldn't be prosecuted because I came forward."

McCrory refused to answer questions concerning his place of residence and said he had been advised by U.S. marshals that he did not have to reply to such queries.

"In fact," McCrory said, "I don't know why they allow you to even ask these questions. There are certain things about the program (the federal witness protection act) that I can't discuss with anyone."

Three arrested for attempted murder of lawyer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Synanon Foundation members, including the son of band leader Stan Kenton, were booked today for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder in a rattlesnake attack on an attorney who won a $300,000 judgment against the group, police said.

Lance Kenton, 20, and Joseph Musico, 28, surrendered to Los Angeles Police detectives in Badger, Calif., about 150 miles from here, at a camp owned by Synanon, a drug rehabilitation organization.

Under California law, police can book someone for investigation but formal charges can be brought only at an arraignment before a judge.

Probation officer, judge at odds over man's role

By BOB BURTON
Mike Barton, county court coordinator, has on two occasions functioned as a county probation officer. The appointment of Barton, according to Howard County probation officer H. Guy Talbot, is in violation of the contract between the county and the district probation office.

Barton, according to Talbot, does not have the required college and graduate degrees or experience to serve in such a capacity.

Barton was appointed by County Judge Bill Tune, who told the Herald today, "He was not appointed as a probation officer. The people are just supposed to report to him. He does collect fees for the county."

But a county court order on a September 7th probated judgment reads in part, "Report to Mike Barton, the Probation Officer of Howard County within three days from date hereof and report to Mike Barton at such other times as he may direct."

Barton, Tune said, was appointed by him to serve in the supervisory capacity on the two cases "because some cases just need a little closer attention."

Witnesses have been called by the District Attorney's office to testify this afternoon in the matter.

Barton told the Herald today that he had met with one probationer and talked to another on the telephone since his appointment. He confirmed that he has collected $10 from each of the men as their first fees.

Tune said, "I did not check out whether the appointment of Barton was illegal. I don't know whether it is illegal."

"I know he's not qualified but I'm not planning to do anything about it."

"I think you (the Herald) are picking into something you have no business in...the privacy of a criminal act. I think you should be liable for any actions on this."

Said District Judge Ralph Caton, "There is no such thing as a county probation officer, according to the Attorney General. There is only a district probation officer."

"Tune can't take the duties away from a legal officer and give them to another."

According to Talbot, Tune's actions have risked state funds totalling over $50,000.

In Big Spring school system

Minority students increase

By BOB BURTON
A survey of Big Spring public schools shows that the percentage of minority students has risen 30 per cent in the past six years, and two schools have over 80 per cent minority students.

According to figures compiled by Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley and presented to the school board Thursday, in 1972-73, the district had 30 per cent minority students. By this school year, according to Bentley, the figure has risen to 41 per cent.

Minority students identified in the survey include American Indian, Asian, Black and Hispanic.

"It is difficult to tell how much effect the Webb closure had on these figures," said Bentley. "Really, I think this is everywhere. This is just the way it is."

But the survey shows that, from 1976-77 to the present year, the 2,418 black and Hispanic students attending the district lost 164 of their number while the 4,005 white students attending shrank to 3,303. Since 1972, both black and Hispanic attendance has increased, while white attendance has dropped from 4,707 to 3,303.

Bauer Elementary, the study shows, has 100 per cent minority students and the Lakeview kindergarten and Head Start program shows 84 per cent minority attendance. The next highest school in College Heights, with 46.89 per cent minority attendance.

"We are worried by the Bauer and Lakeview figures," admitted Bentley.

"They will certainly turn up on the Texas Education Agency computer. But right now there are no plans to

"I think from the information I have seen, Big Spring parents prefer that their children attend neighborhood schools. We are in agreement with that, even if the laws of the land are not."

Bentley explained that, although Big Spring will appear in the TEA computer in violation of Judge Justice 66.6 per cent minority figure, chances are the state agency will do nothing. The district already under the eye of the federal Justice Department, handed to them by HEW for consideration, and the state authorities usually do not interfere with federal consideration.

"But these things change so fast," said Bentley. "In late September Congress moved to block the Justice Department from using their funds for the prosecution of busing cases. That will certainly affect our position."

In other action at the brief meeting, a plaque was presented to former board president by Roy Watkins for his 11 years of service on the board.

"The administration of this district now is the best I've seen since I came on the board," said Watkins. Board president Carol Hunter made the presentation.

The next board meeting will Oct. 26 for a tour of Goliad Junior High.

Action/reaction: Not related

Q. Are they (the city) going to raise water and sewer rates to pay for this hangar they are going to build?

A. No. This is one of many falsehoods being told around town in connection with the hangar. City Manager Harry Nagel said no monies from the water and sewer department can be or will be used in any way in connection with the hangar. This is not possible. The water and sewer rates were raised several months ago effective Oct. 1 to cover additional electricity, wages and other costs within the water and sewer department. It is in no way related to the hangar.

Marquardt says TESCO welcomes PUC hearing

Texas Electric Service Company welcomes a public hearing called by the Public Utility Commission to clarify issues involved in transactions with its affiliates, TESCO President Bill Marquardt said Thursday.

The PUC Thursday called for a special hearing to look into all transactions among TESCO, its sister companies, Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power & Light, and other affiliated companies. The commission said the hearing will be called in about 60 days.

"Texas Electric," Marquardt said, "will cooperate fully with the PUC staff and the commission." "These transactions are all made for the benefit of our customers. This hearing will give us a chance to clarify these matters. We welcome this opportunity," he said.

PUC Chairman George Cowden recommended a hearing be called to fully develop a record of facts concerning several transactions which have been called into question. Marquardt said the company is gratified that the commission made no prejudgment concerning any of the transactions.

"We feel the PUC commissioners have taken a responsible position. They have come to no premature conclusions. They have decided to take a careful, judicious look at all these issues that have been raised," he said.

The primary issue raised involved a transaction between TESCO and TP&L in which TP&L agreed to sell at cost a quantity of lignite coal to TESCO. In exchange, TESCO agreed to sell at cost a quantity of low-cost natural gas to TP&L.

Marquardt said the company made a good deal for its customers two years ago when it entered into the fuel agreement with TP&L and still considers it to be a good deal. "We are responsible for doing the best we can to make sure that our customers have a reliable, long-term supply of electricity at the lowest possible price. This was our sole objective in agreeing to the transaction with TP&L," he said.

Marquardt pointed out that the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA) asks that all such transactions be judged on whether they are in the best interests of the public. "As anyone who looks at the facts of this matter has to agree, the transaction clearly is in the best interests of customers of both companies. Therefore, it's clear to us that the agreement was in compliance with the PURA," he said.

If Texas Electric had not made the agreement to obtain additional low-cost lignite, its customers would have to pay substantially higher prices for electricity in the 1980s and beyond, Marquardt said.

He compared the agreement with the 20-year contract the company signed for natural gas in 1960. "To obtain that long-term contract, we had to pay a slightly higher price than the going rate at the time. "So for a few years in the early 1960s, our customers paid a slightly higher price for electricity than they would have if we'd just continued to buy gas in spot purchases on the open market."

But the price of open market gas has jumped about 1,000 percent since 1960, Marquardt said. "Because of that long-term gas contract, our customers saved about $125 million this year alone."

The decision to acquire additional lignite from TP&L was made for the same reason and will have the same result, he said. "We acquired a long-term supply of stable, reliable energy. For three years, from 1978 to 1980, a customer using an average 750 kw a month will pay an average of about $13 a year extra. But the important thing is this: for the 30 years after that, these customers will save about $11 a year. That's a $40 investment to obtain a $338 savings," he said.

The call for a public hearing was part of the PUC's rate order Thursday in which it granted Texas Electric a rate increase of $40.4 million.

"We cannot say right now what the effect of this rate increase will be on our fuel-changing program," Marquardt said. The company is building new generating plants that use lignite and nuclear fuels, both less expensive than natural gas.

"Our program is constantly being re-assessed and the amount of this rate increase is another factor we will have to evaluate," Marquardt said.

He said the amount of any rate increase has an effect on the company's ability to continue its fuel-changing program under conditions that are most favorable to its customers.

Headquarters for the conference will be the Big Spring Holiday Inn, with activities for visitors scheduled throughout the city. Although a number of receptions and luncheons are planned, the conference will be mostly business, with nearly 10 hours of workshops and discussions over a two-day period.

During the conference officials will discuss the possibility of forming a national organization of owners and operators of former installations. A site for a 1979 conference will also be chosen.

Workshops will include study of "innovative uses of white elephant buildings," general base reuse and the military perspective in defense realignment. Panels will also be formed to discuss management and control of operational costs at former bases, industrial prospecting and how to best develop an industrial park from a former installation.

On the lighter side of the agenda, officials and wives will attend a reception at the Coors Hospitality Center, luncheons at the Big Spring Country Club and The Brass Nail Restaurant, and a barbecue at the Gary Turner Ranch.

Stenholm-Fisher race gathers more momentum as election date looms near

By MARJ CARPENTER Both Charles Stenholm, Democrat nominee for Congress and Bill Fisher, Republican nominee, are hard at their campaigns during the final month before the election.

On Oct. 17 in Abilene at the Civic Center, John Connally will appear in behalf of Fisher. Tickets for this event are selling for $25-a-plate. The dinner is scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

Here in Big Spring, a $25-a-plate dinner will be held honoring Stenholm with Congressman Omar Burleson as speaker. This will be on Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Howard College union building.

Fisher has now had many leaders appear in his behalf including former President Gerald Ford, at a dinner in Big Spring; George Bush at a reception in Abilene; Ronald Reagan at a dinner in Abilene and now Connally. Stenholm has been basing his campaign on going to the people with no big names behind him. He has had a series of fund raising dinners in many of the towns in the district.

The Democrat, Stenholm, started his campaign in the summer of 1977 with bus tours throughout the district. He is going to do this to finish his campaign. Four bus trips are scheduled on four different dates with each one beginning and ending in his hometown of Stamford.

One on Oct. 19 will go to Breckenridge, Graham, Bryson, Jacksboro, Bowie, Montague, Nocomo, Saint Jo, Muenster, Lindsay, Gainesville, Decatur, Alvord, Chico, Bridgeport, Springtown and Weatherford.

The final Stenholm tour is on Oct. 31 to Roscoe, Sweetwater, Roby, Rotan, Hamlin, Asperment, Rule, Haskell, Rochester, Knox City, Munday, Seymour, Olney, Throckmorton, Albany and Anson. Breakfast will be serving in Stamford at 6 a.m. at the beginning of each tour with Charlie and Cindy on each trip.

Fisher is coming to Big Spring on Monday, Oct. 16 to spend the day and help open the Republican Headquarters on 1900 Scurry. The headquarters will remain open six days a week until the election.

Stenholm has campaigned since the summer of 1977. Fisher began his campaign in earnest after the May primaries since he did not have a known opponent until that date but made many appearances prior to the primaries where all of the candidates appeared.

There were originally seven opponents for the Democrat nominee's spot. Stenholm defeated Abilene Attorney Dusty Rhodes in the run-off in June. Jim Baum who ran third in the initial primary, publicly endorsed Stenholm recently and will serve as master of ceremonies at his fund raiser here.

Both candidates have heavy daily schedules from now until the election date. And both will be in Big Spring on several occasions.

Police beat Two injured in brawl

One man was shot and another stabbed during a fight at the T-Club Bar, 300 N.W. 4th, 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

While on routine patrol, Officer Raymond Hall spotted a man staggering out of the bar with a blood-soaked shirt. The wounded man, Raphael Lopez, 508 N.W. 6th, was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital with what appeared to be shotgun pellets in his left shoulder.

He spent the night in the Intensive Care Unit there. He was in stable condition, and expected to be moved from ICU this morning, according to hospital officials.

Police later learned that the two men had argued earlier in the evening, and Franco had left the bar after having been stabbed. A few moments later, according to reports, a pickup pulled up to the bar, and a shotgun blast was fired that hit Lopez.

No arrests had been made in the incident this morning. Vandalism shot a hole through the plate glass door of Walls Industries, Snyder Highway and IS 20, around 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Damage to the door was estimated at $250.

A black, 1965 Chevrolet pickup was stolen from in front of the Donald Gipson, 206 Gregg, 4:50 p.m. Thursday. Gipson estimated the value of his pickup to be $600.

Flower filchers struck again, Thursday night. A variegated fantasia, grape ivy, asparagus fern and a variety of pots were stolen from the front porch of the Floyd J. Morehouse home, 1511 11th. Los was estimated at $132.

Arthur Stevenson, Oakland, Calif., reported that while he was near the railroad tracks on Benton, someone hit him on the head and robbed him. The robber got away with Stevenson's backpack and his wallet containing $32 in cash. Total loss was estimated at $132.

A purse valued at $30, containing $10 worth of jewelry, was stolen from the front seat of a car belonging to Perry Cox, 2103 Morrison, Thursday afternoon. The car had been parked outside the Seven-Eleven Store at 11th and Johnson.

Six mishaps were reported Thursday. Vehicles driven by Ruth Gossett, 710 Douglas, and Brenda Parnell, 807 Lorrila, collided at Eighth and Bell, 3:52 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Peggy Smith, 1605 Lancaster, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene on the 1500 block of Runnels, 3:35 p.m.

Vehicles driven by J.D. Morris, 1425 E. 6th, and Jose Delgado, 1015 Johnson, collided at 1015 Johnson, 6:39 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Carl Bockoven, Lubbock, struck a Southwestern Bell Telephone Company pole, near the Rip Griffin Truck Stop, 8:32 a.m.

Ice box ordinances are adopted by city council

COLORADO CITY — Ordinances concerning abandoned ice boxes and oil well drilling in the city limits were passed by the city council here Tuesday.

The council deemed it unlawful for any person to place or permit to remain outside of any dwelling, building or other structure or within any warehouse or storage room or unoccupied or abandoned building, any icebox, refrigerator or other airtight or semi airtight container with a certain listed capacity.

The ordinance regulating oil drilling activity sets very strict guidelines on locations for drilling and sets forth procedures for getting permits to drill. It also sets stiff penalties for violation of the ordinance.

Stadium track is discussed

COLORADO CITY — Construction of a new track at Wolf Stadium was given top priority for future construction projects when the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees met this week.

Charlie Uselton, superintendent of schools, said he had recently visited schools with new tracks. He compared a Resolite track which would cost around $45,000 to a Uniroly track which would cost around $25,000. He pointed out that the cheaper track of the two appeared to be more durable.

The 1978 tax roll was approved by the board. Total assessed value for the tax roll is $96,739,160 which gives the district a total of $1,666,216.89 upon full collection.

Two additional teachers were approved including Katherine Walla, language learning disability teacher and Louise Johnston, librarian at the Middle School.

Councilman J.O. Dockrey reported prices are being obtained for runway lights.

It was also reported that the committee was receiving calls from businesses in other communities inquiring about purchase awards. Members of the committee said they felt representatives from other cities should be allowed to have purchase awards since the festival is an area show rather than just a local show.

Members of the committee said they had also received calls from merchants and businessmen in the local area who had received the wrong idea about the purchase awards. "I guess these errors are due to the fact that purchase awards are relatively new to many people in this area," Prather said.

A purchase award is not a donation to the festival committee. The committee does not need or accept any donations; it is self-supporting. A purchase award is a set amount of money a merchant or businessman has set aside for the purchase of art during the festival. He or she selects the art at the first of the show that they want to

Weather

Cold front extends over western Texas

A cold front marched across Texas today, accompanied by gusty, northerly winds and cooler temperatures. Early this morning, the front stretched along a line from near Fort Worth, to Abilene, to Midland and Guadalupe Pass in far western Texas. Winds gusting to 35 mph along the front. Behind the frontal line, predawn temperatures were in the 40s and 50s. To the south, readings were in the 60s and 70s. Some low clouds formed this morning from Austin to San Antonio, and dense fog settled in several locations near the coast and in East Texas. Just before dawn, fog cut visibility to less than one-quarter mile between Beaumont and Houston.

FORECAST — Mostly fair through Saturday. Cooler tonight. A little warmer north Saturday. Low tonight upper 30s. Panhandle to upper 40s extreme south.

EXTENDED FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Fair with a warming trend Sunday through Tuesday except partly cloudy north Sunday and Monday with a chance of showers in the Panhandle during the first of the week.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are expected in the forecast period, today until Saturday morning, from the Ohio and Tennessee valleys to the Great Lakes and western half of the Northeast. Sunny skies are forecast from the Mississippi to the Pacific.

Interest rates for large scale corporate loans to be higher

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd probably think the prime rate was more important if you needed a couple of million dollars to invest in a new factory. To General Motors and other large American companies, news that the prime rate — the interest banks charge their best corporate customers — is going to 10 percent means that borrowing money to finance large-scale development is going to cost more. The increase — the ninth this year — was signaled Thursday when Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's third largest, raised its prime rate from 9 3/4 to 10 percent. Other banks are expected to follow Chase's lead in the next few days.

But for the average American, the prime rate is important mainly as an indicator that borrowing is getting more expensive for everybody. That's because the fates of little men and big institutions are entwined. Actions of the government, large banks and major corporations tend eventually to trickle down to affect everyone. The prime rate is going up because the Federal Reserve Board is making it more expensive for banks to borrow money from the nation's central bank. The intent is to control inflation by slowing economic growth, thus making the beleaguered U.S. dollar more attractive to foreign investors.

Ex-resident new prexy of staff coordinators

Patricia Johnson Starr, former Big Spring resident, was installed as president of the Texas Society for Medical Staff Coordinators, an affiliate of the Texas Hospital Association, at their annual meeting Oct. 6-7 at the Shamrock Hilton in Houston.

PATRICIA STARR

The society is a professional organization composed of hospital representatives throughout the state who are primarily responsible for the administrative support and coordination of affairs for the hospital medical staff.

Purpose of the organization is to promote high standards of endeavor for medical staff and administrative staff supportive personnel in health care institutions.

For the past five years, Ms. Starr has been associated with Methodist Hospitals of Dallas, a two-hospital corporation, as an administrative liaison between the medical staff of approximately 500 physicians and surgeons and the hospital administration.

In addition to presiding over the state society, Ms. Starr is president of the Dallas Area Chapter, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the state society, a member of the Council on Professional Services of the Texas Hospital Association, a member of the national organization for Coordinators of Medical Staff Services, and a member of the American Business Women's Association. Ms. Starr graduated from Big Spring High School, received an associate arts from Howard County Junior College and continued her education at Texas Tech, the University of Hawaii, and North Lake College. She is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Johnson of 1312 Dixie and the late Jack F. Johnson. Ms. Starr lives in Irving and has one daughter, Tonya D., a student at Big Spring High School.

gages, now hovering near 10 percent in many states — are rising because banks are finding themselves pressed for cash to lend. Senate reject sugar growers' relief bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected the only sugar-growers' relief bill President Carter has said he would sign, passing instead a measure that could add 6.5 cents to the retail price of a five-pound bag of sugar this winter.

The bill approved 50-22 also could add at least 45 cents more over the next four years. The Carter-endorsed substitute, killed by a 47-25 vote, would have added 1.5 cents to the bag's cost without future escalations. Subsidies would have been

Search, rescue test planned

LAMESA — A statewide Search and Rescue test will be held later this month, hosted by the Lamesa Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

Squadrons of the CAP from all over Texas will be represented in the test. It will headquarter at the CAP hangar in Lamesa. Information Officer Lt. Tom Bowen said the test will be a simulated search mission beginning Saturday, Oct. 29 at 8 a.m.

There will be a facillimile of a downed airplane for the crews to locate and report to search headquarters. Pilot and observer teams will meet at the Lamesa Airport and go up to locate "the downed plane."

This mission, as all CAP missions are, will be funded by the United States Air Force. CAP members are not paid for their time, but are paid for gas, oil and other items necessary for search.

This will be the first search mission conducted from the Lamesa airport in over two years.

requests for loans by making them more expensive. "It's the demand for credit that really pushes the rates up," according to Leif Olsen, senior vice president of New York's Citibank, the nation's second-largest commercial bank.

So in a sense, increases in the prime rate and increases in consumer interest rates both result from growth in the economy. But the prime rises as a result of efforts to cut the growth signified by the rise in consumer rates.

WILL HE FIND FAITH ON EARTH?

And he told them a parable, to the effect that they ought always to pray and not lose heart. He said, "In a certain city there was a judge who neither feared God nor regarded man; and there was a widow in that city who kept coming to him and saying, 'Vindicate me against my adversary.' For a while he refused; but afterward he said to himself, 'Though I neither fear God nor regard man, yet because this widow bothers me, I will vindicate her, or she will wear me out by her continual coming.'"

And the Lord said, "Hear what the unrighteous judge says. And will not God vindicate his elect, who cry to him day and night? Will he delay long over them? I tell you, he will vindicate them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of man comes, will he find faith on earth?"

BILL CLEMENTS WILL CUT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Texas was built by men with the vision to look ahead and the grit to get things done. Bill Clements is the man to keep this tradition alive for the future of Texas.

Bill Clements will bring a strong, fresh and tough approach to our government in Austin. He is a businessman, not a politician. Bill Clements started with nothing and built a successful, worldwide company with hard work and the skill to manage men and money. And now Bill Clements wants to preserve the future of our state and he wants the working people of Texas to have the same opportunities he had.

With his proposed "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," Bill Clements is committed to protecting Texans from excessive taxation and runaway government spending. He is pledged to cutting taxes and returning that money directly to the taxpayers.

As former Chairman of the Southern Methodist University Board of Governors, Bill Clements knows how to make education in Texas the best in the Nation. He's for discipline in the classroom and "back to basics" quality education. As the son and grandson of farmers, Bill Clements knows the frustrations that an indifferent government can cause people who make their living off the land. He will use the strength of the State Government to fight burdensome Federal restrictions.

"I believe that Texas has always had more promise than problems, but the balance is more delicate each year. We need to get to work now."

The cockroach figures to last longer

In many ways, animals must be rated smarter than humans. While among the species, rated lower than the human bipeds would go barreling down a highway in a flimsy machine at 85 and 90 miles an hour when their own law says it is illegal to go faster than 55?

Which of the creatures on the earth, other than man, promotes the idea that they can get by on three to four hours sleep in a 24-hour cycle in order to devote the remaining time to drink and play?

THE EATING HABITS of man, of course, are atrocious. Where the elephant and the alligator, the muskrat and the apes go through life eating and drinking what their instincts tell them is beneficial to their well being, man historically has experimented with food, drink, drugs and other substances, even when they are fully aware that they do more harm than good.

Anyone can live from 7 to 11 years longer by following six simple rules. In fact, the rules, if respected, promote better health, all other conditions being equal.

In an effort to help patients prevent many of the ailments that plague people, the Texas Medical Association has published the results of a study made in California five years ago.

The California researchers found that a man of 55 who follows all six of the rules can be as healthy as someone 30 years younger who ignores four or more of them.

If these habits help keep you healthy, TMA President Mylie E. Durham Jr. points out, they will also save you money on medical bills. The suggested rules are:

1. Eat three meals a day, including breakfast, at regular times. Skip snacks.
2. Control your weight. Remember, fat diets can't keep weight off permanently. Diets must be based on good nutrition and limited quantities.
3. Exercise more often than once or twice a week. If you have not exercised in a long time, ease into it. If you are over 40, have heart problems or are very fat, get a medical checkup and plan a regimen with your doctor.
4. Consume no more than two alcoholic drinks a day.
5. Get enough sleep, preferably eight hours a night.

6. Don't smoke. The most expensive modern technology cannot save someone who is determined to destroy himself, Dr. Durham reminds.

AMERICANS, HOWEVER, expect modern medicine to counter-balance their own harmful habits. It simply can't be done.

Medical bills and related expenses of alcoholism will pyramid to $44 billion this year. Smoking-related problems cost another $18 billion, including missed work days.

The TMA is trying to tell it like it is: Your doctor can't save you from yourself.

And some have been prone to wonder why the cockroach figures to outlast human life on this planet.

Danger zone

Around the rim

Bob Burton

You know what day it is today. The smart ones among you (there are few enough) have stayed at home, covered behind closed doors and avoided ladders, black cats, salt, and the full moon.

The others, more foolish or more broke, have come outside, daring the awful wrath of the gods of fortune to try to survive this unlucky day.

At least we can thank our stars that no government agency so tempts fate that they would try to transact any meaningful business today.

BUT THERE are still plenty of things going on tonight where Friday the 13th could mean serious trouble. Of course, I mean the football picks.

Last year at this point I was deep in the hole, and if my Friday luck holds true, then tonight I'll start to slip again. The Yanks will probably rally behind Guidry to start their comeback, and the Steers will win their first district game in recent memory.

While I'll feel terrible about the Dodger loss, a Steer win right now would be a real triumph.

Midland feels tough now, and figures to bounce the Steers as badly as Permian walloped the Bulldogs a week ago.

And while Midland is smug, Big Spring has probably realized that, if any district game this season is the one to strive for, this Midland game is it. We'll have the home field and we'll have the Bulldogs while they're down.

USUALLY, I hear the Steer score intermittently as I am over at Coahoma covering the Bulldogs, or, like tonight, at Colorado City. And it seems to me important that the Steers have never been out of a game at half-time. They seem always to be within striking distance until late in the second half, when muscles get tired and the strain of having to overcome a lead start to loom higher and higher.

This Friday, I confidently predict, the Steers will win their first district game. I know that to be true, because this is the week I start my slide out of the lead ranks of football pickers. By the end of the month, I'll be back with the girls, debating Robert Lee's chances over a cup of tea and sympathy.

Actually, I hope so. There would be nothing nicer than to see Big Spring win its first district tilt since I've been here. Even if it did mean newcomer Posa and "Red River" Finley get bragging rights for the next week.

Up Kahn

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board has made headlines by his revolutionary introduction of free enterprise in the industry he regulates. This development has been widely recorded, and almost universally applauded. But it is insufficiently noticed about Alfred E. Kahn that there has not recently appeared on the scene a better example of the truism that the style is the man. The reason Mr. Kahn is making sensible public policy is that he thinks clearly. Having thought clearly, he proceeds to that unimaginable public beneficence: he writes clearly. His impatience with cant is not merely stylistic, it is substantive.

People who deal in cant slobber their way through life without making distinctions. Like dear Mrs. Roosevelt. No doubt, a personal saint — but she was a menace to international coherence. James Burnham, reviewing ruefully one of her books, remarked that she spread "a squid-like ink of directionless feeling, in which murk all thought was, forever, impossible."

CHAIRMAN KAHN recently sent a memo to "all bureau heads" in the Civil Aeronautics Board on the subject of "responses to consumer complaints." His complaint was that typical answers to consumers making complaints was: Make your complaint to the airline. "And then, with unintended irony, we usually add, 'please let me know if I can be of further assistance!'"

He gave as an example an answer drafted by his staff in reply to a complaint against Delta Airlines, alleging that it routinely withheld seats on the flight from Chattanooga to Knoxville, holding them back for passengers flying from the originating points in Atlanta on to Knoxville. The contemplated answer merely said that Delta denied the allegation and added that in any case it was implausible inasmuch as fewer than two per cent of the passengers using the flight in question proceeded from Atlanta beyond Chattanooga.

He suggested, as a draft answer to the plaintiff, "While I have no reason to believe Delta is misleading us in these assertions, I am instructing our staff to verify them independently." And then the supremely refreshing afterthought — because, you see, Fred Kahn hopes to diminish the authority and responsibilities of the CAB, not increase them — "Now of course if we can't verify them independently, then it seems to me that we owe it to the public to explain why."

Last August, speaking before the American Bar Association Kahn gave the gentlemen unshirred hell. He was addressing a profession from whose ranks over the years a few members have lucratively engaged in attempting to preserve the immunities and prerequisites beloved of those who exercise monopoly or oligopolistic control. For a while it appeared that the whole legal profession was engaged in a holy war to prevent Kahn from opening up that competition in flying which has generated the biggest boom in the industry in a generation. "I cannot help feeling," said Kahn, "that some among you, determined to resist our present policies with all the weapons at your command, have seized upon procedural arguments because you really can't refute our new policies substantively."

And, in a cri de coeur for lucidity, Fred Kahn said: "My highly publicized preoccupation with the style of our orders and our opinions is not merely aesthetic; it also goes to the very heart of what we do."

Bright's disease a kidney infection

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give me some information on Bright's disease and nephritis in children. My 14-year-old grandson has this and I would like to know the cure for it, if there is one. — Mrs. I.S.

Bright's disease and nephritis are the same thing — inflammation of the kidney's filtering system caused by an infection elsewhere in the body. It is named Bright's disease after 19th century British physician Richard Bright, who described the problem. Since then, varieties of the disease have been found, so the term nephritis has been adopted.

One form occurs primarily in children. In most there is an acute attack which, with appropriate treatment leaves no lasting effect and brings no further episodes. While much is not yet understood about this kidney problem, it is suggested that a streptococcal germ infection produces certain toxic substances that find their way via the bloodstream to the kidney. These toxins seem to have a delayed reaction and do their inflammation damage at this point. In this respect Bright's disease is a very special ailment. It is looked for after episodes of strep throat, severe tonsillitis or scarlet fever. The youngster may have loss of appetite, headache, nausea, vomiting, scanty urination and swellings, especially in the face. Such symptoms should be reported promptly. Treatment with rest and antibiotics is usually sufficient for this form of nephritis, and there may never be another attack.

If allowed to progress to the chronic stage (repeated inflammation) there can be serious impairment of kidney function. Restriction of high protein foods is often required. Cure is not the precise word in this. The treatment is rest and drugs to eliminate the source of the infection.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why is a chemical test needed to tell if one is pregnant? What about the standard signs? Aren't they sufficient? — Mrs. L.A.

Sure, the standard signs (missed periods, breast enlargement, etc.) are more than sufficient. But the chemical tests have become more valuable in recent decades for many reasons. The chief one involves the many drugs, both prescribed and over-the-counter, that a woman may be taking. Thus it is more important to establish pregnancy as soon as possible so she can discontinue any medication harmful to the growing fetus.

There are other good reasons for establishing pregnancy through testing. A history of pregnancy difficulties would prompt the doctor to take certain precautions soon enough to prevent recurrence. The tests are harmless, and are becoming more and more reliable earlier in pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is your thinking on use of bee venom for treatment of arthritis? Can it help? — J.D.

I don't think much of this technique, which once again has received some notoriety in the media. It is an old medical "theory" that keeps popping up from time to time. In an article on this recently, the writer quoted Dr. Gerald Weissmann, director of rheumatology at the New York University School of Medicine, to the effect that date there is no evidence injections of bee venom are effective for arthritis and, in fact, repeated injections can be dangerous.

Even if it were effective in control we have drugs today that would probably be just as effective if not more so.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When my husband drinks he has the most terrible heartburn that evening. What can be done for it? — Mrs. J.E.

The best thing to be done for it is to avoid drinking to excess. Heartburn is misnamed. It is not related to the heart at all. In fact it results from the relaxation of a valve in the lower gullet. Alcohol can cause this valve to relax allowing stomach juices to be regurgitated upwards into the gullet. That causes the pain. Smoking can do it, too, and so can spicy foods. The alcohol also increases the stomach's acid level and worsens the situation.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble" — it could be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dear Editor: Just a note to tell you how much I appreciated the photograph of the butterflies on the front page of your Oct. 10th edition. Not only is the photograph a fine one but the reproduction in the paper is an exceptional feat.

I am presently teaching photography for the Lamesa Campus of Howard College and plan to use your paper for instructional purposes. The Herald is my favorite out-of-town newspaper and I receive various papers at my office. Yours is the most readable and is the best laid out paper around.

I am also proud to see that you spend your efforts in building up the community rather than resorting to scandals and other devices used by some papers to gain an audience. You are a valuable asset to your community.

Keep up the good work and have a nice day.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What does the Bible say about the origin of the various races? — D.R.

DEAR D.R.: The Bible gives very little background on the origin of the various races. In the tenth chapter of Genesis the writer tells us Noah had three sons, each of whom seems to have founded one of the races. The descendants of Japheth, for example, became some of the Caucasian peoples. But the Bible is silent on the reasons for the various races. Many scientists feel such things as climate may have influenced racial development, and I find nothing in the Bible which would contradict that.

The Bible is more concerned about how we view people of different races. While men often stress the differences between people of different backgrounds, God stresses the similarities. God created all the human race, regardless of racial differences. The Bible says that God "hath made of one blood all nations of men" (Acts 17:26). The Bible also says the whole human race is in need of God's forgiveness, because "all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23).

The New Testament tells us that when we come to Christ all the distinctions which seem to separate us begin to disappear. "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians 3:26, 28). Christians, of all people, should not be prejudiced against people of other races, because they know God's love for all.

Sought advice

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Confidential State Department cables reveal that the late Pope John Paul I was actively seeking advice from world leaders on social and moral issues in the days before his unexpected death.

In his 34-day reign as spiritual leader of the world's Roman Catholics, the smiling, self-effacing John Paul won the affectionate designation of "the people's pope." He impressed millions around the world, including many non-Catholics, as a man with moral leadership abilities of a rare quality.

Although his papacy was too brief to have recorded any concrete accomplishments, we have discovered that John Paul was pursuing new channels of communication with political leaders that would undoubtedly have had a significant impact on world problems.

JUST BEFORE the pontiff's death, State Department officials informed a congressional delegation confidentially: "We believe that (the) Vatican would react favorably to request for private audience by U.S. congressional group to brief the pope" on such sensitive subjects as population control, hunger, health and family planning.

It is likely he would have conferred with the congressional delegation which will represent the United States at a United Nations conference on population problems to be held in Tunisia. The delegation, headed by Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., and James Scheuer, D-N.Y., will include a number of Catholic congressmen.

The Vatican's cordial attitude, sources told our associate Jack Mitchell, did not necessarily mean that the new pope was contemplating any action on these controversial issues. But he was willing to discuss them privately with U.S. experts.

Although regarded as a moderate in doctrinal matters, the late pope had already made it clear that he intended to continue the efforts of his two immediate predecessors, Paul VI and John XXIII, to bring the Catholic Church more fully into the twentieth century.

An extremely private man, John Paul accepted as a personal burden the search for solutions to the pressing problems of world hunger, disease and unsanitary conditions that threaten the lives of millions in the world's underdeveloped countries.

This may not be entirely a case of might-have-been, of opportunity lost. Tomorrow, the voting members of the College of Cardinals will sequester themselves in the Sistine Chapel and begin the painstaking process of selecting John Paul's successor.

In his brief tenure, John Paul set a tone of moderation and conciliation that cannot fail to have a strong influence on the cardinals as they decide who can best fill the shoes of the fisherman and become the 264th Roman Catholic pope.

MIRACLE TIRE — A British company has developed a new tire that will hold together even after a blowout. But for some reason, American industry executives are shrugging off the idea as nothing spectacular.

Such a safety tire would undoubtedly save lives. "One out of six motor vehicle accidents in the United States is caused by tire failures," according to an internal memo at the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The new tire, developed by the Dunlop Company, has special beads that hold the tire onto the wheel rim even in a high-speed blowout. "When a blowout occurs," the NHTSA memo explains, "the tire remains on the rim so that the driver is less likely to lose control of the car." The concept can be adapted to any tire, and costs about a penny per tire.

NHTSA BOSS Joan Claybrook would like to see the safety tires produced in this country, and Dunlop has made approaches to the major U.S. tire and auto companies. So far the response has been lukewarm.

"I haven't heard anything about it," said a spokesman for Goodyear. "It's an old concept," said a Goodrich executive. A General Motors spokesman first told us the giant auto maker was not interested, then called back to say the safety-bead tire is "an interesting concept" that GM is now in the process of evaluating.

"It's interesting," Claybrook told us, "that many of the innovations in tire technology, such as the Dunlop bead lock, have been developed outside the American tire industry."

Meanwhile, a Dunlop safety tire which can run for several miles after going flat is already in production in Great Britain.

ACADEMIC LESSON — We recently reported that the school superintendents from the 50 states were paid $800 apiece in "consulting fees" to attend an annual conference with federal officials. This summer's eight-day bash was held at South Padre Island, Texas, where the academic seminars were rounded out with plenty of tennis, golf and deep-sea fishing.

After our story appeared, Education Commissioner Ernest Boyer announced that his agency will no longer parcel out $40,000 a year in consulting fees to the school chiefs. But he said the conferences are worthwhile and that the government will still pay about $80,000 in travel and living expenses for each trip.

A scheduled conference in Hawaii, however, was abruptly called off after our story was published.

Experts more optimistic about corn prices at farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department experts are a bit more optimistic about corn prices at the farm, despite a new estimate that this fall's harvest will be a bin-buster.

Brisk export demand plus farm participation in a three-year reserve program to keep grain off the market are the main reasons.

The department's outlook board said Thursday that corn prices at the farm are now expected to average $1.95 to $2.15 a bushel over the marketing year that began Oct. 1.

A day earlier, the department estimated this fall's corn harvest at a record 6.82 billion bushels, up from the September forecast. Along with reserves already on hand, that is much more than will be needed in the coming year.

A month ago the board estimated corn prices this year at an average $1.85 to $2.05 a bushel. Its report Thursday said the price outlook is "somewhat higher" than indicated earlier.

But the report did not mention that in July it projected the farm price of corn this marketing year at an average $2.10 to $2.30 a bushel. It reduced the price estimate in August, after the crop appeared larger, to $1.95 to $2.15 a bushel, the same as the projection issued Thursday.

On the supply side, the report said corn left over when this marketing year ends next Sept. 30 will be around 1.36 billion bushels against less than 1.01 billion bushels this fall.

That represents a small decline from prospects a month ago when the board projected the carryover a year from now at almost 1.44 billion bushels. Larger exports and slightly smaller corn stocks carried over this Oct. 1 account for the prospective smaller stocks next fall.

Nevertheless, the Carter administration must wrestle with the problem of huge stocks of corn and other feed grain. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he hopes to announce the government's 1979 acreage set-aside program early next week.

A similar cutback for wheat already has been announced for next year.

Bergland says he has been urged by different pressure groups to set the feed-grain set-aside anywhere from "zero to 30 percent" for 1979. A 10 percent set-aside was in place this year, with farmers given the option of idling an additional 10 percent of their cropland.

In any case, Bergland must get White House approval for the plan he has in mind, and one of the considerations will be cost.

Bergland has official welcome

WASHINGTON (AP) — China has officially informed Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland that he can visit Peking next month.

Thomas R. Sand, an aide to Bergland, said Thursday that Bergland hopes to leave here Oct. 31 and arrive in Peking Nov. 3 or 4 by way of Hong Kong.

China invited Bergland earlier this year but had not officially indicated just when the visit could take place or what size group could enter the country.

Sand told a reporter that China limited Bergland's party to 15 persons, including three U.S. reporters.

Bergland will be the first U.S. secretary to visit China, a country he and many others consider a huge potential market for American farmers.

China has bought 2.5 million metric tons of wheat and 276,000 metric tons of corn after remaining out of the U.S. grain market for four years.

Modern technology has effect even on Texas cotton farmers

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — In the old days, cotton farmers might gather around an old woodstove to talk about the market at the end of a hard day's work in the fields.

Nowadays, farmers in Texas and Oklahoma gather around the oil video display terminal as they cotton up to the workings of a computer.

The computer links 150 cotton gins to 40 buyer offices in Dallas, Lubbock and Memphis, Tenn. The computer and its satellite screens allow farmers to offer their product to all 40 buyers at once, meaning a more stable market.

In past years, such offerings were made by telephone only to three or four buyers, and prices varied widely.

"For the first time, both buyers and sellers know what cotton is trading for at any moment," said C.L. Boggs, general manager of the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association (PCCA) in Lubbock.

"In the past you could always pick up a newspaper and see what cotton did yesterday," Boggs said. "Now by looking at the terminal a buyer or seller can tell what it traded for 30 seconds ago."

Included in the computer network is an up-to-the-minute recap of the number of bales being sold and the prices they're bringing.

The PCCA is one of four major cotton cooperatives in the nation, and operates the computer network for its 20,000 cotton-producing members.

When producers put their cotton up for sale, buyers have 15 minutes to enter a bid. The computer selects the highest bid and awards the sale. If two high bids are identical, the computer will award the sale to the first bid made.

Boggs said trading over the computer network went over the 1 million bale mark, best in the operation's history.

This progress has caught the eye of the Department of Agriculture, whose marketing service is studying requests for funds to establish similar electronic commodity exchanges for feeder cattle, cows, eggs and hogs.

Purpose of the meeting is to review developments affecting conservation programs and to plan future conservation district program and activities.

Dignitaries to address the group include: Dr. Jarvis Miller, president, Texas A&M University; Lyle Bauer, president, National Association of Conservation Districts; John Hill, Attorney General of Texas and Cong. Jack Hightower.

Other speakers include Kenneth Kuykendall, president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts and Bill Clements, former Deputy Secretary of Defense and Chairman of the Board of Southeastern Drilling Company.

Bill Clayton, Speaker, Texas House of Representatives is also expected to participate in a portion of the meeting.

Prior to assuming the presidency of Texas A&M University, Dr. Miller served in Argentina and the Dominican Republic as part of Texas A&M's assistance contracts with the U.S. Agency for International Development. Later he became assistance director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, named associate director in 1971 and promoted to director in 1972.

Dr. Miller serves the Joint Research Committee of the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development. 'Popular' isn't a dirty word

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: A couple of days ago I read your column and a 12-year-old girl was asking about how she could become popular.

I am not popular at my school because all popular kids here don't enjoy school, cheat, smoke and have no sense of humor. The only thing they do is get involved in school activities.

I hope therefore never to be popular! — Mava, West Covina, Calif.

Mava: Somewhere, someone is misunderstanding the meaning of "popular." Get hold of a "Webster's" and look up its meaning.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl who is pregnant. The father of the baby is 17 and doesn't want anything to do with me or the baby since he found out I was pregnant. He doesn't want me to tell his parents and he won't tell them. I think they should know but I'm afraid to say anything.

My parents know and they couldn't be nicer to me. They are doing everything they can for me.

I'm not trying to trap this boy into anything. And as far as marriage, I don't want it.

My question is this. Should I tell his parents that they are going to be grandparents or keep quiet? — Brenda, St. Louis, Mo.

Brenda: Tell his parents, but don't expect the "grandparents" to be too excited.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose stamped self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby

Flirty Old Man

DEAR ABBY: I was the houseguest recently of a sorority sister in another state. Her father is a very handsome, gray-haired man with a lovely smile and a charming personality. While I was there, he told me that he travels a lot for business reasons, and would really enjoy meeting me — alone — sometime. At first I thought he was joking, but I soon realized by other things he said and did that he meant it. I just laughed, pretending not to take him seriously, and stayed away from him as much as possible.

Now that I am back at college he has called me a few times wanting to know when we can arrange a meeting. What should I do? I am 20, and don't want to get involved with an old married man. He says he admires my mature mind and he wouldn't do anything I didn't want to do. Please help me.

PROBLEM IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR PROBLEM: If he calls you again, tell him that your mature mind is made up, you don't want to meet him anywhere, and if he ever calls again, you will tell your parents and his daughter. That should cool him off!

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl at our school who says she can't go to any of the school dances because it is against her religion. I think that is just about the dumbest thing I have ever heard.

I have told this to some other kids and they agreed that it must be a very stupid religion that won't let their people dance. I can't understand a religion like that, can you?

LOVES TO DANCE

DEAR LOVES: Some religions do disapprove of dancing. But it isn't necessary to understand the other person's religion — just respect it.

DEAR ABBY: I am supposed to be married right after Christmas, but I'm not sure I can go through with it. My fiancée, whom I'll call Gene, introduced me to Jack (also a made-up name) who will be the best man at our wedding.

You guessed it, Abby. The more I see of Jack, the more I like him.

Abby, I'm so mixed up I need some good sound advice from a wise outsider. Should I hope this thing with Jack will pass? Or should I break off with Gene? I could never tell Gene the real reason, but I get the shakes thinking about marrying one man and feeling so strongly attracted to another.

HARRISBURG HASSLE

DEAR HARRISBURG: A girl could be making the mistake of her life to marry a man while she feels strongly attracted to another. This attraction is a clear warning signal that means you aren't ready for marriage yet.

Tell Gene you want to think about marriage a while longer. And keep thinking about it until NOBODY looks as good to you as the man you're going to marry.

DEAR ABBY: A friend says I'm crazy, but I want to know what you think.

Five years ago, my husband and I became very close friends with another couple. I'll call Ed and Mary. Two years later I found out that Mary was having an affair with my husband, and as a result our friendship broke up. The situation was heart-breaking for all concerned.

Mary has since begged my forgiveness for having let this happen. Our marriages are both stable now, and I believe I can truly forgive her and my husband, too.

We've missed these friends, Abby, and all of us have learned a lot from that terrible mess.

Do you think we can resume a healthy friendship once again?

FORGIVE AND FORGET IN IOWA

DEAR FORGIVE: If, as you say, your marriages are stable now, there is no reason why you can't resume your friendship. Your maturity and generosity are commendable. God bless you.

Shower honors Miss Froman

They presented the honoree with a blender, electric can opener and corsage of peach carnations with peach accents.

Special guests were the mother of the honoree, Mrs. Louis Stallings, and the honoree's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sam Froman.

Refreshments included vegetables with dip and a cake decorated in the honoree's color of peach.

Chamber women elect officers

LAMESA — New officers for the Woman's Division of the Chamber of Commerce were elected at their regular meeting Thursday, Oct. 5.

Newly elected officers include Mrs. J.P. Senter, president; Mrs. Fred Barrington, vice president; and Mrs. Bob Capps, secretary.

New directors also chosen at the meeting are Mrs. Walter Bray, Mrs. Stansell Clement, Peggy Robertson, Mrs. Bennie Lybrand, and Mrs. Don Chiles.

Plans for the new year will be formulated during upcoming meetings.

Homemaking desires drop

The proportion of women between ages 14 and 25 surveyed by the American Council of Life Insurance who are attracted to the role of housewife dropped from 42 to 25 per cent in the last six years, says Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Hoping

Hope does, indeed, spring eternal. It's worth getting on tiptoes to see if there's something in the mailbox, because it's so wonderful when there is.

Children don't give up easily. She'll go back every day . . . she'll keep trying. It's different when you're older. Then footsteps tend to lag; some of the bounce has been taken out of you.

All right. No one expects you to be a rubber ball, bouncing back every time life slaps you down. But on the other hand, balls that never bounce back, like flat tires, get tossed on the scrap heap, for obvious reasons.

Next time there's no mail in your box, whether that box is real or imaginary, start thinking that maybe you should write the first letter, take the first step.

Why not make it toward church?

Jarvis choir due Oct. 20

The First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will host the Jarvis Christian College Choir during their fall concert tour, on Friday evening, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The forty-member choir will sing at the First Christian Church in Wichita Falls, in Ector High School of Odessa and at the Regional Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in El Paso before their local concert in Big Spring.

Frank Perry, director for the choir, has informed the local congregation that the concert will include both secular and sacred music.

Jarvis Christian College is a predominately black college and is one of the institutions of higher education sponsored and supported by the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), in the United States and Canada. The school was originally founded as an elementary school and high school.

Crestview earns state S.S. award

Crestview Baptist Church of Big Spring has received an award from the Sunday School Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The church won honorable mention for Sunday School evangelism. Wayne Stephens, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, said the 478-member church had 161 Sunday School members on Oct. 1, 1977, but it had 295 on July 1, 1978.

The award was presented during the 1978 Texas Baptist Sunday School Convention in September in Fort Worth.

Immaculate Heart society plans parish youth retreat

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society met at the pre-school building on Oct. 2, after the Communion Service conducted by Deacon David King. Ten members were present. Wanda Anderson presided.

David Kissel spoke to the group about the Day of Retreat for the Youth of the three Big Spring parishes; Immaculate Heart of Mary, Sacred Heart, and St. Thomas. It will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Saturday October 21. Mass will be offered at 5 p.m. on Scenic Mountain.

Kathleen Williams read an article on the "History of the Rosary." Wanda Anderson announced there will be a Diocesan Council of Catholic Women meeting at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Sweetwater, on Nov. 11.

The voting delegates elected were President Wanda Anderson and Secretary Vada Perring. The

Wesley Methodist Church sets dedication services

The Big Spring Wesley United Methodist Church sanctuary will be dedicated by the Bishop Aisie H. Carleton, Thursday, October 26. The Rev. August E. Aamodt is the present minister and missionary. September marked the final payment for the sanctuary, after 20 years built in 1958. The church itself started in 1930.

Big Spring Wesley Methodist Church was founded by a group of people who wanted to meet to worship and the First Wesley Church was at South Ward School. In 1931, the church was named Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, and met with brother W.M. Whatley. The Reverends J.H. Crawford, Martin Boyd, and James Culpepper followed him.

In 1937, Reverend Ansil Lynn, pastor at Wesley Methodist Church, received a $10,000 grant from Dora Roberts to go toward the very first sanctuary. Men and women belonging to the church met many times prior to completion to dig the basement and lay the foundation. Then in 1939, the first sanctuary was completed.

In 1949, the educational wing was built and put into operation. Because of growth in Big Spring, and the need for more space, Wesley Methodist Church started another expansion. The movement to build the present sanctuary was started on its way in 1958 by the Rev. Royce Womack.

In 1969, Rev. Caleb Hildebrand and the Methodist Church changed names to become the United Methodist Church. Now in 1978, the sanctuary, which now exist is paid off and will be dedicated October 26.

Wesley United Methodist Church invites the public, especially those who have been a part of this growing institution.

Lamesa Baptist Association to convene Thursday night

The Lamesa Baptist Association will hold their 55th Annual meeting at the Second Baptist Church in Lamesa Thursday with the business session beginning at 3 p.m.

The evening session of the meeting, with Dr. James Basden as speaker, will begin at 7 p.m. Rev. Billy Bush of the Northside Baptist Church will give the annual sermon.

Dr. Basden, Director of the Human Welfare Coordinating Board, was born in Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 19, 1915. He received an A.B. Degree from Union University, Jackson, Tenn.

in 1938. Other degrees include Th. M. and Th. D Degrees from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth.

A minister for more than 20 years, he served as pastor of churches at Germantown, Tenn. and at Ector, Belton and Brownwood. He has also served on a number of boards of trustees and committees of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Southern Baptist Convention.

He is married to the former Evelyn Jeter of Brownsville, Tenn. They have two children, Jeter and Bill.

Henning moderates meeting

The Rev. Wm. Henning, pastor of the Frist Presbyterian Church, was elected moderator at the Tres Rios Presbytery meeting held in University Presbyterian Church in El Paso this week.

The Rev. Henning has served as moderator of three different Texas Presbyteries through the years.

The group at Tres Rios voted on an important issue of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The church is currently voting on an issue called weighted voting which, if it passes, will distribute the voting power of the church according to population instead of strict lines of Presbyteries.

The vote is considered to be one of the most important in the history of the church and will affect many future decisions.

The Tres Rios Presbytery, which stretches from El Paso to Coahoma, voted 38-10 for the measure. Dr. Shirley Guthrie, retired pastor from Big Spring, was to have led the worship service but was in Midland where his wife, Florence who was to undergo surgery this week.

The other delegate from First Presbyterian Church here was Mrs. Marj Carpenter. Mrs. Henning also attended the conference. The Rev. Charles Murphy represented the Coahoma Presbyterian Church.

Assembly of God discusses death

The First Assembly of God Church will hold a seminar on "If I Should Die" from 6-8 p.m. Oct. 15 at their church on Lancaster.

They issue the claim that all America is talking about death and life after death.

Claiming that the subject was once only discussed in whispers, they say it is now a discussion daily in many public places.

The film "If I should Die" will be shown. The film brings together some of the world's doctors, theologians and psychologists to investigate this subject and how it relates to the Bible.

School officials testify about difficulties of bilingual plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Superintendent John Briggs of Bay City told a statewide meeting on bilingual education that his school district of 4,100 students includes 14 Vietnamese, six Thais, four Indians — with two dialects — three Germans and one Persian.

"We can take care of the Vietnamese and the Germans, but that Persian is going to cause problems," said Briggs, drawing loud laughter as he illustrated the difficulties with a new bilingual plan.

The revised statewide plan was adopted by the State Board of Education in June on an emergency basis, but a final vote has not been taken. It could come at the Saturday board meeting.

A board committee listened to four hours of testimony Thursday, with each of approximately 60 witnesses limited to a 3½-minute presentation.

Maria Gonzales, a bilingual San Angelo teacher, asserted that providing bilingual education through the 12th grade is not the way to prepare Spanish-speaking students for an English-speaking world.

The board plan makes bilingual education for limited English-speaking children mandatory through the fifth grade, with additional English language training continuing through the final year of high school.

A special state allowance would be allotted to schools, but the money would not cover all costs of the program.

Any district that failed to make a "good faith" effort to comply with the plan would be subject to "full accreditation review."

State law now requires schools to provide bilingual programs in kindergarten through the third grade if they have 20 or more children of limited English-speaking ability in any grade.

Ms. Gonzales said forcing schools to teach Spanish beyond the third grade works to the "disadvantage of the children." She said Spanish-speaking parents want their children to learn English.

"After all," she said, "this is an English-speaking world, and when they go out (from school) they will get everything in English."

"I'd like to ditto everything the young lady had to say," said Superintendent Gordon Harmon of Abilene. "What's good for Harlingen is not necessarily good for Abilene and wouldn't necessarily work in San Angelo and Lubbock."

Elementary school teacher Theresa Black of Goldthwaite said the proposed plan would be "one more step toward the destruction of the American education system."

"My main objection is that small districts cannot afford such a major change," she said.

Such opposition was applauded by a crowd that was so large that many had to sit on the floor or stand in the hearing room.

Paul Velez of the American GI Forum insisted that the plan "does not go far enough," and Gus Garcia, a former Austin school board member who ran unsuccessfully for the state board, added:

"The state board of education should be in the vanguard of bilingual education, but it has taken exactly the opposite position," refusing "to move unless forced by the federal government — and every step that it has taken has been taken begrudgingly."

Velez recommended that the proposed expanded bilingual program be paid for by the state — not local school districts.

His recommendation to eliminate the option of parents to withdraw their children from bilingual programs was greeted with a loud "Ohhhhhh" from the crowd in opposition.

Velez maintained that science and mathematics are not optional, and "there is no difference in this case."

Superintendent Jesse Gomez of Harlingen said his district's student enrollment of 13,000 is 75 percent Mexican-American. He presented a school board resolution calling for state financial assistance to teach Spanish "as a second language" through the 12th grade.

Garcia said the "best way to describe bilingual education is terribly inadequate." He said it totals only $25 a year per student.

"Once you move north of the Nueces River, you're not going to find many school boards who think they need bilingual education," said Briggs.

"We need to draw the line and tell these people (the federal government) what we are going to do and what we are not going to do," he said.

IF I SHOULD DIE

Death!! That inevitable and inescapable fate — or is it??
"I heard the doctors say that I was dead... That's when I begin to feel as though I was tumbling, tumbling through a long, dark tunnel that was bringing me closer to a distant light. Suddenly..."

America is talking about death, but more importantly, Life after Death. The subject that once was discussed only in whispers is now the center of conversation at office parties, bridge clubs and student gatherings. The newsstands and daily papers are filled with stories on the subject and television talk-shows are devoting entire evenings to its discussion.

This Dramatic film, "If I Should Die" examines these life after death experiences and asks:

Are they real or simply hallucinations of a dying brain?
Why are these encounters positive and NON-JUDGEMENTAL?
Are they revealing that the Hell talked about in the Bible was really a myth or a remnant of primitive religion?

This Film will be shown Sunday evening, October 15th, at 6:00 p.m.

Guidry guns for Yankee revival

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, down 2-0 and in desperate need of a victory tonight in the third game of the World Series, give the ball to ace Ron Guidry, who won nearly 90 percent of his decisions this season.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, winners of both games at Dodger Stadium, respond with their proven post-season pitcher, Don Sutton, 15-11 in the regular season.

The Yankees have been about to go down for the third time on several occasions during their uphill season, and each time the skinny Guidry's powerful left arm tossed them a life preserver. Fifteen times Guidry has stopped Yankee losing streaks, and he has been the winning pitcher in New York's one-game playoff victory over Boston and its American League pennant-clinching triumph over Kansas City.

Does he like being the net underneath the Yanks' tightrope act?

"I've learned to live with it," said Guidry, still modest despite the flashiest pitching statistics in recent baseball history.

The lean left-hander from Louisiana finished his remarkable season with a 25-3 record and a 1.73 earned run average, drawing admiration from another respected member of the pitching profession.

"Watching him pitch a couple of times this year I thought he was Sandy Koufax reincarnated," said Sutton. "Accidentally you should lose at least five games. Having seen him, I'm not surprised he is 25-3, just that anybody could be 25-3."

Guidry seems almost embarrassed by the superlatives and comparisons his gaudy record prompts.

"I don't feel like I'm the best pitcher," said the 28-year-old phenom. "When I sit alongside Jim (Catfish Hunter), I feel meek. Here's a guy who's won 20 games for so many years."

"All I've done was win 40 games in two years. Guys like Seaver, Palmer and Cat have 200 wins in eight or nine years. All I can say right now is that I was one of the best pitchers, that I had one helluva year."

"For me to be No. 1 would take a lot of consistent years of winning."

Guidry admits to tiring late in the season, but he was able to make the adjustment from an overpowering thrower to a pitcher who could win when he wasn't at his best. He gives catcher Thurman Munson credit for coaxing late-season wins out of a sleepy arm.

"He knows if I have good stuff, he doesn't worry about location," said Guidry. "When I have that extra foot on my fastball, he just puts down the glove."

MOST HAPPY FELLA — Los Angeles Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda is the picture of joviality as he jokes and answers reporters questions during Dodgers workouts at New York's Yankee Stadium Thursday night. The Dodgers and New York Yankees meet for the third game of the World Series tonight.

Big Spring-Midland tonight

Two teams desperately searching for a win will match strengths tonight in Memorial Stadium when the Big Spring Steers host the Midland Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs will carry a 1-3 record into the contest, while the Steers are 0-4. Both teams have identical 0-1 district records.

Midland, who lost a 28-0 decision to Odessa Permian last week, carries a scoring average of nine points a game, while having an average yield of 18 per game. Big Spring, 38-15 losers to Abilene in their last outing, carry a scoring average of ten points and a yield of 26. The Harris Rating System has the Bulldogs as favorites.

Big Spring coach Ron Logback, who had the unenviable task of taking over a sagging program in late July, is hoping that his crew can improve in two very important facets of the game that plagued them last week. One was the inability to develop a consistent ground attack featuring the darting runs of tailback Eddie Puga. Puga rushed for over 300 yards in the first three games, but was held to negative yardage by the hustling Abilene defenders.

The other detrimental factor in last week's game was an inept punting game. A bad snap resulted in Abilene's blocking Ricky Cluck's first punt. After this, the Steer punt team held their blocks for too long and Cluck seemed to hurry his punts. This resulted in excessive punt return yardage for Abilene, thus setting up the Steer defenders inside their own 45 on nine occasions.

Midland played tough defense against Mojo last week, but 84 yards total offense and six turnovers by the Bulldog offense spelled a convincing win for Permian. The Midland defense is stronger against the run than the pass, with Link Grimes, Jeff Spangler, Jerry Hollums and Steve Ankerholz leading the front wall. Free safety Pat Hickey is the leader of the defensive secondary. The Bulldogs play a five man front. Midland will usually run the Pro-Set, with sophomore Mike Feldt running the show. Junior running backs Jeff Robnett and Billy Applin share the ball carrying chores, with Robnett usually the workhorse of the two. Hickey and flanker Bobby Floyd have been the favorite receivers of Feldt and his backup, Tommy Somers.

The Bovines should go into the contest in reasonably good health. Robbie Winkle, an offensive and defensive tackle, underwent surgery this week for torn ligaments in his knee and will be lost for the remainder of the season.

Watson batters Hayes in search for record

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Tom Watson today had the determined look of a man who's going to be the first to bank $400,000 in a single year just for knocking a little ball into a hole.

Thursday he battered Dale Hayes of South Africa to an 11 and 9 defeat in the first round of the World Match Play tournament on the Wentworth Club's 6,969-yard par-73 course. It was the heaviest defeat handed out in the 15-year history of the tournament, it included 11 birdies and an eagle. Midway through the 36-hole match, Watson had fired 10 consecutive holes in a staggering 9-under par. Watson said afterwards that those 10 holes — from the 15th in the morning round until the sixth in the afternoon — "were the best I've ever played."

If he wins the four-day tournament, Watson will collect another $60,000.

In today's second round, Australian Graham Marsh, the title-holder, was to play Britain's Nick Faldo, Spaniard Severiano Ballesteros was to play New Zealander Simon Owen, Japan's Isao Aoki was to meet South African Gary Player. Watson was to go against American Ray Floyd.

Apart from Watson's brilliance, the day was a poor one for the Americans, with Watson and Floyd the only two from the United States to advance. Floyd beat PGA champion John Mahaffey 5 and 4, but U.S. Open champion Andy North, Andy Bean and Lee Elder all lost.

North went down 5 and 4 to Owen, the New Zealander who came a close second to Jack Nicklaus in the British Open last summer; Faldo, the 22-year-old British hope, beat Bean 5 and 4, while Isao Aoki of Japan beat Elder 5 and 3.

Gary Player, the Masters winner, who has won five times — far more than anyone else — made a storming comeback after being four down against David Graham of Australia.

Player gradually chipped away at Graham's lead, squared the match at the 31st, then picked up two of the final four holes to win 2 and 1.

Marsh had a tough battle against Brian Waites, a British club professional, before winning 2 and 1.

Watson's crushing of Hayes started at the very first hole, with a birdie after his 4 iron landed 10 feet short of the pin. From then on, he scarcely put a foot down wrong. A 50-foot putt on the fifth for a birdie-2 put him 4-up, and throughout the round his putts were rolling in on rails.

RECORD WIN FOR WATSON — While his gallery watches Tom Watson lines up a putt Thursday on the third green during the World Match Play tournament at Virginia Water, Eng. Watson defeated South Africa's Dale Hayes 11 and 9 in the first round, the heaviest defeat handed out to any player in the 15 years of the tournament.

A PAIGE FROM THE OLD BOOK — Junior fullback Gary Paige lowers his shoulder for some yardage against a Merkel Badger in Friday night's 10-6 win as lineman Gary Bayes swoops in from downfield.

Stanton at Shallowater

The Stanton Buffaloes, fresh from a win over Ropesville to open district play, journey to Shallowater tonight to tangle with their Eagles.

Stanton raced to a 21-0 lead at halftime last week, then held on to grasp a 21-8 decision. Stanton coach David Thompson is hoping for a full 48 minutes this time around.

The Buffaloes, with a 2-2 record, will feature an offensive line consisting of Paul Sparks and Ben Bowling at ends, Russell Oglesby and John Parker at tackles, Steve Baker and Keith Hull at guards, and Keith Hull at center. The backfield will be directed by Tommy Morrow, with Mitch Elmore at fullback, Todd Smith at tailback, and Ernie Byrd at the wingback position.

C City hosts Ballinger

The Colorado City Wolves will continue their quest for the District 6-AA championship tonight when they play host to the Ballinger Bearcats. Game time is 7:30.

Colorado City has relied on a brick wall defense in the last three games, which the Wolves have won easily. Coach Mike Farda's defense has allowed only 15 first downs and 290 yards total offense in the three-game span.

The Wolves have not shown an explosive offense, but Gary Hulme and company have been scoring enough points to win since the opening game loss to Slaton.

Ballinger, 12-6 losers to Wylie last week, will carry a 2-2 record into the tilt. Ballinger outplayed Wylie in nearly every facet of the game last week, but fell victim to six lost fumbles.

Forsan visits Ropes

The Forsan Buffaloes will seek their initial win in District 5-A competition tonight when they travel to Ropesville to battle the Eagles.

Both teams are 0-1 in district action. Forsan lost a 6-0 decision to Plains, while Ropesville came out on the short end of a 21-8 contest with Stanton. Ropesville is yet to win a game this year, while Forsan is 1-3.

Forsan coach George White thinks that Ropesville will try to run over his smaller Buffs, but is hoping for another outstanding performance from his troops. He will start an offensive line featuring split ends Tim Decker and David Bates, tackles Dayton Robertson and Todd Underwood, guards D.F. Stanley and Kevin Low, and center Will Gressett. The backfield will consist of quarterback Ernie Strickland, running backs Randy Cregar and Joe Kinder, and flanker Weldon Nichols.

Coahoma at Wylie

The undefeated Coahoma Bulldogs travel to Wylie tonight to take on the tough Wylie Bulldogs. Game time is 7:30.

Wylie, with a 3-1 season record and a 1-0 district mark, is a ten-point underdog, as established by the Harris Rating System.

Gary (Spot) Paige has been the stalwart of the Big Red attack in the last two outings. Joining him at the starting lineup will be ends Randy Clanton and Randy Phillips, tackles Gary Bayes and James Devers, guards Kyle Bennett and Mike Ritchey, center Jim Bob Read, quarterback Gary Gee, and halfbacks Ronald Sundry and Tim Childers.

Sands hosts Wilson

The Sands Mustangs, with the taste of sweet victory on their tongues, must face the always tough Wilson Mustangs tonight.

Sands, 19-0 victors over Smyer last week, will carry a 1-3 record into the tilt. Wilson, who defeated Borden County last week, are now 3-1. They lost their opening game by a 7-0 count to O'Donnell, but have rallied for three consecutive shutout triumphs.

Sands coach Dickie Lepard is hoping his crew can have another excellent game, and will start a lineup including quarterback David Mosley, halfbacks Bill Wigginton and Van Gaskins, fullback David Long, ends Frank Garfias and Steve Parker, tackles Danny Peugh and David Hall, guards Dennis Martin and Scott Robinson, and center David Calivo.

The game will be played in Sands at 7:30, and is the district opener for both squads.

Whitarral at Grady

The Grady Wildcats will try to improve on their 3-1 records tonight when they host Whitarral.

Grady was open last week, and should be fully rested for tonight's encounter. The Grady offense will consist of center Leland Key, tight end Leandro Gonzales, split end Larry Key, quarterback Jimmy Mitchel, with Ronald Chee and Ruben Gutierrez at the running back positions.

The Wildcats of coach Richard Gibson will start Leland Key at noseguard on defense, with Alfonso Cortez and Alex Perez at the ends, Gutierrez and Chee at the linebackers, and Mitchell at safety.

Bearkats visit Roby

The Garden City Bearkats will begin their march to a hopeful district championship tonight when they travel to Roby.

The Bearkats of coach Jesse Smelley will enter the contest with a record of 3-2 and on a two-game win streak. Roby has a record of 4-1, and is a nine-point favorite in the Harris Rating System.

Smelley ways his squad will have to play almost errorless football to win the game. His starting lineup will feature Wes Overton and Alan Yansa at the ends, Jorge Patino and Jose Garza at tackles, Mark Halfman and Hugh Covert at guards, David Rudin at center, Kevin Hirt at quarterback, Brad Caverly at fullback, and Dale Hillger and Pete Trevino at the halfback slots.

AP picks Philadelphia, Cowboy romp

By HAL BOCK, AP Sports Writer

The National Football League season remains perfect for Washington, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh, all unbeaten after six weeks, and perfectly awful for Cincinnati and St. Louis, both winless over the same period.

The question is, which streaks will stay intact this Sunday?

It says here...and that, you must know by now, is certainly no guarantee...at least one of them will end this week. You didn't expect the Redskins to go 16-0, did you?

Last week's 7-7 left the season log at 48-36 for 571. Don't laugh. The Bengals and Cardinals are .000.

The Picks:

Philadelphia 17, Washington 14. Upset Special: The Eagles play tough at home and that artificial surface could make a dent on the elderly Redskin legs. Los Angeles 20, Minnesota 14

The Rams always have problems in Vikingland but should survive this time.

Pittsburgh 23, Cleveland 21. The Browns are still steaming over losing to the Steelers last month. Now they'll have two losses to anger them.

New England 27, Cincinnati 10

New Coach Homer Rice has plenty of work putting the Bengals back in working order.

Dallas 31, St. Louis 7. The Cowboys are still stinging over that Monday night loss to Washington and will take it out on the poor Cardinals.

Houston 24, Buffalo 13. It will take more than one week for the Bills to recover from that disaster they suffered against the Jets last week.

Atlanta 13, Detroit 10. Give the edge to the Falcons because they're playing at home.

Oakland 34, Kansas City 14. The Raiders have had their share of heart-stoppers this season. They can use a breather and the Chiefs will supply it.

San Diego 16, Miami 13. The Chargers are tough at home and the Dolphins are coming off a Monday night game.

San Francisco 17, New Orleans 10

Injuries have the Saints limping around and that could make the difference for the 49ers.

Baltimore 23, NY Jets 14. The Colts should handle the Jets, who have been in and out so far.

Green Bay 28, Seattle 17. The Pack is back. Traditionalists around the NFL love the return, too.

Denver 24, Chicago 14. Last week's shutout against the Chargers has the Broncos stirred up. The Bears pay the price.

NY Giants 20, Tampa Bay 17. The Giants play better at home, which is a good thing since they don't play too well on the road.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Alan Page, formerly a bulwark of the Purple People Eaters defensive line, was scheduled to report to the Chicago Bears today.

The former National Football League most valuable player says he has no scores to settle with Minnesota.

"That will take care of itself," said Page, who was placed on waivers by the Vikings Tuesday. "I'm just happy to be a Bear. The most important thing I can do is concentrate on going down to Chicago and help the Bears win the Central Division title."

LEMON NEEDS AID — New York Yankees manager Bob Lemon, left, talks with pitcher Ron Guidry in the Yankee locker room in New York Thursday. With the Yankees down 2-0 in the World Series with Los Angeles Dodgers they'll give the ball to Guidry tonight for game number 3. Guidry has won nearly 90 per cent of his decisions this season.

Rose, Reds still differ on terms

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose says it will take a miracle for him to be back in a Cincinnati Reds' uniform next season.

The Reds' third baseman Thursday rejected what the Cincinnati Reds called their final offer, and concluded that it was unlikely he would be with the National League team in 1979.

"I love this town, but evidently the people who run the ballclub don't love me," Rose said at a press conference. "I did everything they ask. I don't see why any other player should come into this city — my city — and make more money."

"Who in all of baseball has had a better record in the last 16 years?"

Rose, who has a history of contract wrangles during his 16 years in Cincinnati, hit .302 last baseball season, the 13th time in 14 years he has reached the .300 plateau. He tied an all-time National League consecutive game-hitting streak of 44. He also got his 3,000th career hit earlier in the season, and by the end of the year, was in ninth place among all-time hitters.

Rose disputed the contention that he had been offered the largest salary on the Reds. He said that he had not been offered additional guarantees and bonuses which other players had received.

The Reds said they had made their final offer and Rose admits that the offer surprised him in that it was not much improved from the first offer.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

NO WAY — Pete Rose, right, Cincinnati Reds' hitting star, and his attorney, Reuven Katz, gesture while explaining the last offer from the National League team in Cincinnati Thursday. The 38-year-old third baseman, whose two-year contract expired at the end of the regular season, said he sees no way to avoid entering baseball's free agent draft and becoming a free agent.

Bengals resemble "Bad News Bears"

CINCINNATI (AP) — Winless in six starts and offensively awful, things could be worse for Cincinnati's "Bad News" Bengals. Take it from veteran lineman Rufus Mayes, who has been with the Bengals through the good, bad and ugly.

"At least the fans aren't throwing things — yet," said the veteran offensive guard.

"I'm wearing my helmet Sunday," chimed in injured linebacker Bo Harris, who hasn't suited up all season.

The Bengals, strictly bad news while tying a club record with seven straight losses, have lost everything but their sense of humor.

"It's a comedy," said all-pro wide receiver Isaac Curtis.

"We can't be as bad as we seem to be," insists fullback Boobie Clark.

A national television audience watched them hit rock bottom in Monday night's 21-0 loss to the Miami Dolphins.

General Manager Paul Brown had hoped a coaching change — in the wake of Bill Johnson's resignation last week — would put some fight back into the Bengals.

Instead, under new coach Homer Rice, Cincinnati suffered its first shutout since 1970.

"Everything bad that could happen, has happened," said Curtis. "We've had it all: bad breaks and bad bounces. I'm still waiting for something good to happen."

It could be a long wait. The Bengals, who were 11-3 in 1975 and 10-4 in 1976, appear headed for their worst season since the franchise was founded in 1968. An 0-and-16 disaster is not out of the question.

After hosting powerful New England Sunday, the Bengals play at Buffalo, then finish with a bruising schedule: Houston twice,

Wild NBA season opens tonight

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
After such a wild and wacky summer, is it just coincidence that the National Basketball Association season begins on Friday the 13th?

Nine games are scheduled as the NBA taps off its 33rd season tonight, the start of a 902-game slate that runs through April 8 and leads to two months of playoffs.

The Washington Bullets will receive their championship rings from Commissioner Larry O'Brien prior to their opener tonight against the New Orleans Jazz. Elsewhere, it will be Los Angeles at Philadelphia, Houston at New York, San Antonio at Denver, New Jersey at Detroit, Chicago at Seattle, Cleveland at Boston, Atlanta at Indiana and San Diego at Phoenix.

Much has happened since the Bullets wrapped up their first NBA title last June. There was the franchise swap that saw Buffalo move to San Diego and John Y. Brown take over in Boston; the free agent jumps of Rick Barry and Marvin Webster and the ensuing compensation disputes; the bailout of the New Jersey Nets; the move to three referees; the holdouts of scoring champion George Gervin and rebounding king Truck Robinson, and most valuable player Bill Walton's stunning demand to be traded by Portland because he didn't like the club's medical practices — and those are just the highlights.

Meanwhile, the Bullets reaped their title benefits, which included a White House fete. "The team enjoyed what happened to them in the offseason," said Bullets Coach Dick Motta. "They'll want to renew that."

It won't be easy. No team in the past decade has been able to repeat as champion, not since the Boston Celtics did it in 1968 and 1969. And the various off-season player movements have left several teams thinking they've got shots at the championship, including Philadelphia, Denver, Los Angeles and Houston.

Tonight is the first regular-season game for the Detroit Pistons at the Silverdome in Pontiac.

Houston-A&M in early shootout

HOUSTON (AP) — It's the first of many Big Shootouts to come Saturday night at Houston.

Two legitimate threats to the Southwest Conference football championship, currently owned by the University of Texas, tangle.

The Texas Aggies, boasting the best defense in the country and an offense to match, meet the fast-improving University of Houston Cougars in the Astrodome.

The Aggies mashed Texas Tech 38-9 Saturday while Houston went through a 20-18 nailbiter against the Baylor Bears. Both teams are 1-0 in league play. Texas is the conference leader at 2-0.

Two years ago the Aggies were upset by the Cougars in Houston but got revenge for that loss with a one-sided victory in College Station last December.

And it will more than likely be December before the host team for the Cotton Bowl is decided with the league more balanced than ever. Houston Coach Bill Yeoman figures his players learned something in the cliff-hanging victory over Baylor.

"Football is a game 60 minutes long, deadly serious; young players must learn this," said Yeoman after surviving a last second Baylor field goal attempt.

Everyone has been talking about the Texas A&M defense, but Texas Tech Coach Rex Dockery would like to draw notice to the Aggie offense.

"Their offense is very hard to stop," said Dockery.

Aggie Coach Emory Ballard said "We're a good offensive football team. It doesn't matter what formation we line up in. We've got some excellent athletes and they're going to run the yardage no matter how you line 'em up. There is room in our offensive scheme for both the Wishbone and the I."

Arkansas mauled Texas Christian 42-3 Saturday in the only other SWC contest.

SMU is at Baylor in what should be a rousing offensive show and Rice is at TCU in other league games.

On the intersectional front, Texas hosts North Texas state and Texas Tech is at New Mexico.

Volleyballers take easy win

The Big Spring Steer volleyball team raised their district record to 4-2 with a 15-1, 15-0 trouncing of the Odessa Bronchos.

The Steers dominated the first game with outstanding attacking on the nets.

The second game was a one woman serving show, as Brenda Beil served on all 15 points.

Beil had 19 points in both matches to lead the way for the fems, with Penny Ray adding nine and Sherry Byrd two.

The Steers resume play next Tuesday when they travel to San Angelo to take on the first half district champions. Coach Carole Bartasek is hoping to upsets the Bobcats and set the stage for a strong second half performance.

The Steer JV's lost their match to OHS. The scores were 15-4, 8-15, and 13-15. Miss Washington led all scorers with 12 points, followed by Dee Earhardt and Hollie Peurifoy with eight apiece.

Snyder blasts Runnels

The Snyder Black team used two kickoff returns and a long interception return to subdue the Runnels Yearlings by a score of 32-12.

Snyder returned the opening kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown to take a 6-0 lead. The PAT failed.

Most of the first half was a defensive struggle, but the Yearlings finally put together a 47-yard drive for a tying touchdown.

Jinx Valenzuela capped the drive by tossing an eight-yard scoring strike to Rod Harris. The extra point attempt failed.

Snyder returned to ensue kickoff 60 yards for a touchdown with only three seconds remaining in the half.

Early in the third quarter, a Runnels pass was picked off by a Snyder defender and returned to the Yearling nine. Three plays later the Snyder fullback plunged over from the three. The successful two-point conversion upped the score to 20-

6. Snyder put together their only sustained drive of the night in the fourth quarter, driving 65 yards for a score.

A 22-yard run followed a 36-yard pass and resulted in six points.

Runnels scored midway in the fourth stanza when Tom Cudd blocked a Tiger punt, with Julio Cerda recovering in the end zone for the Yearling touchdown.

Snyder countered on the last play of the game to score. The Tigers used an effective flea-flicker pass from 60 yards out for the final score of the evening.

Runnels coach Bobby Zellars singled out the defensive performance of Cudd, Cerda, Rod Faulkner, Harris, Gerry Hamilton, Ricky Garcia and John Rauls.

Offensive plaudits were given to Kevin Watson, Hamilton, Alan Trevino, Harris and Valenzuela.

Goliad girls split matches

The Goliad seventh grade girls' teams split their matches in action yesterday.

The A team Mavericks, coached by Linda Jones, lost to a very good Fort Stockton team by scores of 4-15, 15-6, and 10-15. Monette Wise and Jana Matthews were singled out for their outstanding serving. Coach Jones commented: "Although we lost, the girls played a highly spirited game and can be proud of their performance."

The Goliad Dogies defeated the Andrews A team Colts by scores of 15-5, 15-7. Andrea Burns, Sabrina Young and Shari Graham were lauded for their efforts in the victory. All of the Dogies played an exceptionally aggressive game.

Yearlings up record to 9-1

The Runnels Yearlings of coach Jane Upton continued their winning ways last night as they defeated Fort Stockton by scores of 15-3, 15-7. Rhondi Rutledge led the winners with 10 points. Upton singled out Lesli Overman for her setting, and also praised Sylvia Randle and Jackie Ray for their spiking. The Hearlings are now 9-1. They will be in action next Tuesday in Colorado City.

The Runnels B team Dogies of coach Nancy

Reynolds lost to the Andrews A team by scores of 9-15, 7-15. Stacy Botts and Marilyn Lott were high point ladies with four each. The Dogies return to action next weekend in the Seminole Tournament.

Wilson to call federal hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) - Angered over "discrimination" against an Indian tribe in his district, Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, says he will call for congressional hearings early next year into scandals surrounding the Department of Labor's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs.

Wilson became incensed after learning that the Alabama-Coushatta Indians weren't receiving "a fair share" of federal job training funds.

Wilson said complaints from the tribe also led The Lufkin News to begin investigating the local CETA sponsor - Indian Employment Training Service Inc. - which has led to a Department of Labor investigation into the $2 million program based in Houston.

"The DOL were apologists for their subcontractors," said Wilson referring to the treatment of the Alabama-Coushattas. "And until they went down and saw the mess on the ground, they just tried to apologize and say it wasn't that bad and it was the fault of my Indians because they couldn't fill it out forms like other Indians."

Wilson said the "mess on the ground" included:

- The use of DOL funds ($368.29 a month) to lease a 1978 Cadillac Seville for the use of IETS Executive Director Ward Phelan. The agency also leased three 1978 Ford LTDs;
- And the rental of "lavish" office space for IETS in Houston for $1,800 a month. Previously, the agency had paid $250 a month for their headquarters at the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston, reported the Lufkin paper.

Wilson said he called DOL officials earlier this week and asked for an investigation.

DOL spokesman Phil Mason acknowledged Thursday that a four-man team was in Texas looking into the allegations, adding that DOL policy prohibits comment on pending investigations.

Comment came nevertheless from DOL team member Carl Earles, who said he would recommend a "100 percent audit" of IETS "to negate any doubts about the financial structure."

Alexander McNabb of DOL's Indian programs section said the automobiles "weren't acquired by the proper procedure or catalogued as federal property," and called that fact "a serious omission."

Phelan said his directors agreed to the leasing of the Cadillac, but he said he would return the car and that his books would be open to the DOL auditors.

"We never intended to do anything but operate a good program, and I think we do this," Phelan said.

Wilson said that he had talked with "a couple" of fellow House members from Florida and Southern California who are also alarmed over the CETA scandals.

"I think the (House) Appropriations Committee (of which he is a member) should hold major hearings into CETA scandals early next year," continued Wilson. "The DOL doesn't have any control over these things because they let them out to subcontractors with very few strings attached...that's there basic problem right there."

Judge cites cause of overcrowding

HOUSTON (AP) - Prisoners have testified for nearly two weeks about overcrowding the Texas prison system, and now a Harris County judge says witnesses brought here to testify are causing overcrowding in the county jail.

The inmates have filed a federal class-action suit against the Texas Department of Corrections, claiming conditions at the state's prisons are tantamount to cruel and unusual punishment.

Harris County Judge Jon Lindsay Thursday criticized U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, the presiding magistrate in the suit, for "contributing to the overcrowding problem" at the county rehabilitation center by ordering it to house 33 state prisoners testifying in the trial.

"It really galls me that he ordered them put in the rehabilitation center when they could just as easily have been put in the TDC unit at Sugarland," Lindsay said.

What's worse, he said, as many as 100 more prisoners may be brought here later to testify in the case.

It is a common practice for the county to house federal prisoners, but Lindsay said it was "highly questionable" that one federal judge would order the county to reduce its jail population while another contributed to overcrowding.

He referred to a 1975 ruling by U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue ordering the county jail and the rehabilitation center to reduce the number of inmates at each facility to relieve overcrowding until a new jail could be built.

Lindsay said the county had made "inroads into the situation," but said the facilities had 700 prisoners over the legal limit before the state prison inmates were added.

During testimony Thursday, an inmate of the TDC Ramsey Unit testified that a legal letter sent to him was opened by a prison guard before he received it, despite a court order that his legal mail remained sealed.

Joe Traylor, who is serving a life sentence for murder, also said he was beaten unconscious by seven inmate guards and a TDC guard in 1974.

Under cross examination, he said he had committed several violations of prison regulations, including two citations for fighting.

Traylor said prison officials harassed him by giving him mental patients as cellmates and forced him to sleep in a two-man cell with as many as four or five other inmates.

They call it Shumake

with Marj Carpenter

Here we go again. Every time I think I have absolutely mentioned all of the rural schools around, somebody comes up with another one.
 So today, I'm going to talk about Shumake for a minute. It was located between Old Sparenburg and new Sparenburg, north of Ackerly.
 In fact, it finally was put in which the Sparenburg district about 1938.
 And Shumake had been a school that included the first grade through high school.
 It didn't exactly have any extra curricular activities. It did have a sand lot baseball team. But there was no basketball, football, music or anything but reading, writing and arithmetic.
 Of course, there was a lot of conversation and a lot of shared sack lunches under the big tree in the school yard.
 And the tree is still there. The school, which survived over 20 years is gone.
 Some of the well remembered teachers out there were Mrs. Dora Lee Richey, J.T. Weaver and a man named Smith.
 That location on the Shumake farm was also where the stage used to change horses.
 W.A. Allen, who works for Bob Brock, said the school was named after his wife's grandfather.
 Among the families that he recalls had students at the school were the Tennysons.

the Wrights (Paul and H.A.), the Ethridges, Alton Lewis, the Specks, Houstons, Bowlins, and many others.
 He himself walked four miles to attend that school and he said the students all walked from one to seven miles to get there. There weren't any buses, cafeterias, "or any of the rest of that stuff."
 The reason there were so very many rural schools in Howard, Martin and Mitchell counties was that students did have to walk or ride horseback.
 So there were schools every 15 miles or so. If the students had to walk further than seven or eight miles, they couldn't make it to school and back in a single day.
 Next week, I'll revert back again to the area towns that I have been writing about. By writing about them, I am finding a lot of people who used to live in those towns that are now good solid Big Spring citizens.
 And I really have appreciated your interest and favorable comments.

Convicted wife-slayer ready for 2nd chance

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Convicted wife-slayer William Privette says he's ready for parole — this time.
 Now 64, Privette spent 15 years behind bars before being paroled last year. He was back in prison, at his own request, a few months later: he couldn't make it on the outside.
 But with a $2,500 bankroll from Social Security payments, and guarantees of a temporary job and a place to live, Privette says this time he'll be out to stay.
 "I didn't have a dime and no way in the world I could get work," he says of his parole in 1977, granted on the condition he live with relatives in Monroe, N.C.
 "All I was thinking about was where I was going to eat.

I want everyone to know I didn't come back because I like it or it's a good place." He says this time will be different.
 "And I'm going to church the first Sunday after I get out. I've been born again," he said. "I know I took one of the most precious things of all — a life. But Paul (the apostle, who persecuted Christians before his conversion) did worse than that."
 "God forgives me," Privette says, "I'm just hoping that other people will."

Oil tanker explosion kills 59 crew members

SINGAPORE (AP) — An engine room explosion that sent metal fragments flying like shrapnel through the bowels of a Greek oil tanker killed 59 persons, including two sisters, Singapore police said today. A third sister and 18 other persons were hospitalized with severe burns, and 71 others suffered less serious injuries, they said.
 The blast occurred Thursday afternoon aboard the 35,676-ton Spyros, tied up for repairs and cleaning at the Jurong Shipyard. There was no official word on the cause of the explosion, but there was speculation it either was touched off by sparks from welding torches in the ship's boiler room or a leak in a gas cylinder. The tanker had no cargo aboard at the time of the blast.

 Hospital sources said many of the victims were burned beyond recognition. Police said the dead included a least six of the ship's 33-member crew and two of the three sisters working as cleaners aboard the vessel.
 The crew included 27 Greeks, two Chileans, two Indonesians, an Englishman and a Filipino.
 Paul Abraham, an employee of an electricity substation that supplied power to the ship, said he switched off electricity to the Spyros immediately after the blast and climbed aboard with portable lights.
 "As I descended into the ship, I saw badly burned workers struggling to get to the top deck," he said. "One had all his hair singed, leaving only his bare scalp. From below I could hear screams of people in pain...I came across charred bodies, some piled on top of each other, while others were hidden behind pipes after being thrown by the explosion."

 Shipyard worker Ah Cheong said he had left the engine room to collect some tools from the wharf about 2 p.m. and that "on my way back I heard a thunderous explosion followed by a fire and thick clouds of smoke. Suddenly there was pandemonium. There were screams for help and shouts of 'fire.' I rushed back to the ship and joined other workers to pull out the injured... Some of them were so badly burned I could hardly recognize their faces."
 Another survivor said panic erupted in the boiler room after the blast. "By some miracle I managed to make my way to the first ladder and it was there that I saw at least three people dashing around with their hair and clothes on fire. The sight was just unbearable and I threw up right on the bottom step."
