WHAT FRIGHTENED KITTY?

There's many a reason for the light of fear to spring into the eyes of pretty Kitty Gray during her thrilling adventures to locate the other half of The Broken Coin. Many other people are intensely interested in trying to take The Broken Coin from Kitty. There is a big reason back of every effort to steal The Broken Coin.

Emerson Hough author of The Broken Coin has exceeded the speed limit in this exceptional piece of fiction. There is never a "slow-up" in the strenuous adventures of Kitty—not a chapter that does not contain enough "ginger" to stamp The Broken Coin as a masterpiece of story-telling. Start reading The Broken Coin with the first installment soon to appear serially in this paper, and then see the pictures each week at your favorite moving picture theater. You will agree in the verdict that THE BROKEN COIN is the greatest of moving picture serials. READ IT. SEE IT.

ARE WE NEUTRAL?
The great European war has brought on an economic upheaval. While the people of the warring factions were going enthusiastically about the solemn business of life and death, the people of this great neutral nation literally went into mourning about the streets, not on account of the terrible war across the waters, but because of the industrial depression at home. The war has at least brought us prosperity, and we dare say that some of our manufacturers would be loathe to see it end. It is worth money to us. Why should we grieve over so much misery and death brought on by war in distant parts?

We might ask the question, if in fact, we are a neutral nation? As much as we have preached of peace and neutrality ought we to be a neutral nation? We hope it will not be necessary for this country to actually enter the war. But we must not forget that today the allies are fighting our battle just as much as they are fighting their own. They are fighting for a liberty, for a freedom, for a purpose that we might well understand. They are fighting to save themselves from a thralldom more blighting than patience. The thing they are fighting can only be described in the one word Prussiaism. We sometimes speak of militarism, but that term only puts the proposition mildly. Prussiaism is scientific, exacting, heartless, overbearing, and wherever it places its foot, political and social liberty dies. It is an enemy to the central powers as well as to the allies, and in time history will curse its existence.

If it could overcome the allies, it would never be content until it overcame the world. If it succeeds then this land of ours must become an armed camp. It will not down of itself. Liberty is a non-essential as compared to its practices. Destroy it, and Germany will be free, free to stand right in the front rank of civilization and bless the world in with the arts which it excels. Even now the mighty soulless power is stretching its viperous fangs across the continent. It is now placing the torch beneath our leading industries and bombs in our trade cargoes. It has power, but not mercy; organization without elasticity; and a government free from justice, marching ruthlessly with- out mercy; it will and charging it all to that already over-burdened account "Military necessity." Are we neutral? Eventually Prussiaism will be crushed, and the products of American mills will have no small hand in the crushing. Are we neutral?

STOP THE FIRE WASTE.
Now and then we are shocked beyond measure when the press reports a holocaust, and we wonder why such things should be, but as we read along we find the same old story—the building was erected of combustible materials. As long as these materials are used, we will see the press report these heart-rending scenes of death amid flames. In a land so abundantly supplied with fire-proof building materials, it is strange that their use is not more universal. There is another phase besides the loss of life that should be considered and that is the loss of property. The savings of a lifetime the representation of long years of efforts, so frequently go up in smoke. While property loss cannot be considered in connection with the actual loss of life, yet in another sense it is relatively or practically so.

The fire loss in this country is not a necessity. The price the nation pays is the price of folly. It is carelessness. It is said that men in the most dangerous occupations are usually the most careless. Even so, seems, are the people who live in the most dangerous fire-traps. Is the small increase in the cost of building fire-proof buildings not worth more to us in the safety of

The Voice of Now
It is the present, the today, the NOW in which we are interested. Shakespeare wisely says:
"Tomorrow never yet
On any living mortal rose or set."
It is the printed page which deals most intimately and with the greatest detail in the movements of the present. It is THE VOICE OF NOW proclaiming to the world the things that are happening today. The Government of the United States is NOW gravely concerned in certain aspects of the war in Europe and has had trust on it several serious international problems which are NOW in process of solution. The American farmer is NOW interested in this titanic struggle, for his interests are being affected by it today and will be tomorrow, and he wants to keep in close touch with it NOW.

EVERYBODY is interested in the cotton crop from the time of its planting to the days of its harvesting and marketing. They want to know "the NOW" in all that pertains to the great Southern staple; they want to know "the NOW" of all other agricultural markets, the latest in modern farming, the facts of the warehousing problem, and all else that pertains to the progress of the times in every theater of life.

The tens of thousands of men and women who know the Semi-Weekly Farm News know it is "THE VOICE OF NOW," telling in direct and positive tones of what is going on at home and abroad.

MEN WHO HARM A TOWN.

1. Those who oppose improvements.
2. Those who "knock" strangers, and who "knock" the town to the strangers.
3. Those who show hospitality to no one.
4. Those who hate to see others succeed.
5. Those who distrust public-minded men.
6. Those who oppose every movement and enterprise that does not originate with themselves.
7. Those who oppose every enterprise that does not tend to benefit themselves.
8. Those who enjoy the benefits that come from the work of public spirited men, but who do not give anything but criticism in return.

Do you belong? Why not reform? It is a splendid thing to be a part of a wide-awake city. It is a splendid thing to know that your own strength is infinitely multiplied by the strength of other men who love their town as you do. It is a splendid thing to feel that the wholesome blood of a community can be united in common purposes and that by frankly looking one another in the face and taking counsel with one another, prejudices will drop away, handsome enterprises will arise, a universal spirit of service will be engendered, and that, with this increasing sense of community of purpose will come a vastly enhanced individual power of achievement; for we will be lifted by the whole mass of which we constitute a part.

REVIEW OF THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

The final crop report for 1915 was issued last week by the United States Government. It more than confirms the predictions made earlier in the season for a record-breaking crop. The value of the principal farm crops this year is at the $5,500,000,000 mark, or $500,000,000 greater than ever before harvested. This remarkable yield of the products of the soil, coming, as it does, upon last year's banner output will make American farmers the most prosperous of all classes and will furnish a basis for an indefinite period of good times throughout the whole country. It means heavy traffic for the railroads, good business for the equipment companies, greater demand for iron and for steel and generally better trade conditions everywhere. Although rates for long-term money are abnormally high and by reason of the war are likely to remain so for an indefinite period, money for short-time purposes is plentiful.

Canada is enjoying rapid business improvement. An enormous crop of wheat, great activity in munition making and an unprecedented amount of tourist travel have contributed to the situation in the Dominion that is akin to that in the United States. If money conditions were more favorable in that country it would be reaping the same measure of improvement as enjoyed in America. As it is the change in money matters is better, crops are large and the general industrial outlook is propitious.

One of the most striking features of the world outlook is the fact that although capital is being consumed by the millions in the waste of war, and the intensity in hostility is increasing the industrial situation in Europe is better, apparently, than it was a year ago. The activity is largely due to the manufacture of supplies for army needs and is thus largely temporary and artificial. Labor is fully employed, and wage earners never were more prosperous than they are today in all Europe. Of course this is due to the large number of men who have been called to the colors and the great demand for labor in the munition factories, and other industries, whose products are required in the war. In both Europe and the United States high wages are being paid. In some of the munition factories the remuneration is unusually high. The labor problem when peace is restored is expected to be a most serious one because of the high wages now being paid, the shutting down of the munition plants and the rush for employment by millions of men now at war.

The leading belligerent nations are in need of more money for war purposes. The half billion Anglo-French loan had no sooner been placed than further financing was talked of, and a new war loan may be expected within a few months. Russia is preparing for a short-term 5 1-2 per cent internal loan of $500,000,000. At the rate money is being spent Italy's last $25,000,000 one year 6 per cent bonds will not go very far towards meeting future needs unless peace is soon established. It is expected that the next Austria-Hungary loan will bear a high rate of interest. For that matter all near future financing by governments and corporations for long term purposes will be at a high interest rate.—Christian Science Monitor, Nov. 15.

ELBERT HUBBARD

The greatest loss the world has suffered from the European war was the death of Elbert Hubbard. Names may be sent to the bottom of the sea, cities razed to the ground and the products of farm and factory reduced to ashes; they can be replaced but the pen of Elbert Hubbard is killed forever.

His was a "Little Journey" through life but he saw more beauty, usefulness and power than any traveler of his day. He did not have to visit the fountain of genius, climb the mountain tops of achievement or touch the apple-posts of progress to stimulate inspiration. His Creator planted in his breast a well spring of human thought that gushed forth from the reservoir of divine power—a gift from the gods. Life flowed through his heart more freely and human emotions stirred his mind more completely than that of any other man of his generation.

He is the greatest literary prodigy of this commercial age, the most masterful "ad" writer the world ever produced and has contributed more toward understanding and appreciation of industry than any thinker who ever penned a line or hummed a tune on this planet. He was the most accurate historian of human nature, the most capable sculptor of human thought and the most able painter of human action of the age in which he lived.

The ocean waves may tenderly kiss his body farewell, the salt of the sea corrode his pen but his spirit will live on and on forever and wield an influence in directing the lives of men and shaping the destiny of nations so long as time lasts, men think and society exists.

POLITICAL GOSSIPS

By Peter Radford

When one class of people has anything to say, it has become largely the custom to make a political issue out of it instead of a friendly discussion, to print it in a law book instead of a newspaper and to argue it before a jury instead of to settle it in the higher courts of Common Sense. As a result, political agitators, political lawyers, political preachers and masculine women are powerful in politics and dissension, selfishness, intolerance and hysterics run rampant in public affairs, for when the low, damp, musky atmosphere of misunderstanding envelopes public thought it breeds political reptiles, vermin, bugs and lice which the pure air of truth and the sunshine of understanding will choke to death.

We have too many self-appointed interpreters of industry who are incapable of grasping the fundamental principles of business and who at best can only translate gossip and add color to sensational stories. No business can stand upon error and might rules—right or wrong. No industry can thrive upon misunderstanding, for public opinion is more powerful than a King's sword.

When prejudice, suspicion and class hatred prevail, power gravitates into the hands of the weak for demagogues thrive upon dissension and statesmen steeled upon strife.

The remedy lies in eliminating the middleman—the political gossip—and this result can be accomplished by the managers of business sitting around the table of industry and talking it over with the people. Interchange of information between industries and the people is as necessary to success in business as interchange in commodities, for the people can only rule when the public understands. Away with political interpreters who summon evil spirits from their prison cells and loose them to prey upon the welfare of the people in the name of "My Country."

Talks With the Boys

By J. L. HARBOUR, IN THE VISITOR.

THE BOY WHO GOES A WAY FROM ROME.

Often it is when the boy leaves the home nest to begin life for himself that the real test of character comes. It is when he must think and act for himself that he develops traits of weakness or of manly strength. Sometimes he runs away from home at a very early age and begins life for himself.

Many of the greatest men of our country had to do this. There is not a day that some boy is not compelled to do this. It marks a real epoch in his life's journey. Often he goes forth ignorant of the world and with high hopes that often suffer defeat. Always it is an anxious day for his mother.

She sees him go forth with tear-dimmed eyes and her prayers follow him night and day. She is less anxious that he should become a great man than she is that he should become a good man. Her last words usually are: "Be a good boy." One feels sure that the man who wrote the following lines surely knew the real heart of the American when he wrote: "The instruction which the American mother gives her son is a training in honor rather than in success. Her passion for righteousness creeps into the commonplaces of her daily speech. 'Be a good boy' is what she says to the little fellow each day as he is about to start to school. 'Be a good boy' is what she says to the youth when he leaves for college. 'Be a good boy' is still her sacred charge when, standing at the gate, she gives him her blessing as he is about to go and face the world."

It is a great thing for a boy when he has in his own heart something of the passion for righteousness that prompts his mother to urge him to be a good boy when he leaves home. His future weal or woe deepens on the way he heeds his mother's advice. His father's admonition to goodness may be versed in more terse language for he is likely to bid the boy to "walk straight." It is good advice, for there is no future honor or high success before the young fellow who achieves the reputation of being "crooked" in his ways.

It is a good thing for a boy to make his mother his confidant both before and after he has left home. I once heard one of the best and most successful men I have ever known say that at fifty years of age he had never gotten over making a confidant of his good mother and that he was still finding her advice good. Unfortunately, a good many boys have to go out into the world without father or mother to whom they can turn in times of trouble, for advice that would be so very helpful.

Many of the successful men of the world began life for themselves as young orphan boys, but this fact did not keep them from "walking straight."

The boy leaving home for the first time should see to it that he keeps good company and that he surrounds himself with the Christian influences when enjoying his hours of leisure. Some months ago a country boy of 16 years brought me a letter of introduction from a friend of mine living in a little New England village. The boy had been obliged to leave his home and come to the city, where he had secured work in a store. He came to me to ask advice in regard to securing a room, and he said: "I'm green, you know. I never was in the city before and I don't know anything about localities. I have tried the Y. M. C. A. but their rooms are all taken. I want to locate in some place where I will meet fellows of the right sort."

Here was a boy who was determined to walk straight in the midst of all the temptations by which he was sure to be assailed in the great city. I was glad I was able to direct him to the home of a good woman who had rooms to let and who felt sympathetic towards all boys away from home for the first time. I called her up by telephone and told her about the boy, and he secured a little room in her home. On the next Sunday he walked into church with her and remained for Sunday school and became a member of a class of boys of about his own age. Now, that boy began well after he had left home. Perhaps his mother had told him to "Be a good boy," and he was heeding her advice. It would be well for thousands of other country boys going to the city if they did as this boy had done. I have an idea that he will "walk straight" in the city. He must do this if he hopes to succeed in life. He must have sufficient force to resist the temptations of the city. There will not be a day when he will not have need to say "Get thee behind me, Satan." If he has the will to do this, if he "walks straight" and if he is a good boy, he will win along all right and triumph in the end.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE! Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver. Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system. When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate. Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe. Sold by Pecos Drug Company. (Advt.)

NOTICE OF FIRE CHIEF. To the citizens of Pecos City: The Pecos City fire department has adopted the following plan for a system of fire alarms, and have decided to divide the city into three wards. Ward One means one tap of the fire bell, and this ward takes in all of that part of town east of Cypress street. The streets are numbered north and south, and, beginning at the T. & P. right of way, is First street, and one tap of the bell; the City

Two taps of the bell after the general alarm means that the fire is out. We have one of the best volunteer fire departments in West Texas and every member is ready to answer all calls and do it quick, and the City Council has been very liberal in buying apparatus and equipment. We have the best equipped department of any town of our size in Texas. If you doubt this, just call around and see for yourself. We have a 40-horse power gasoline engine and pump combined, that is always ready to go, an automobile hose truck that carries 1000 feet of hose and two ladders, an automobile chemical truck that carries one hundred gallons of chemical and also ladders, and we have reel cart that carries 900 feet of hose. To Drive Out Malaria And Build Up The System Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS chills TONIC. You know what you are taking, as the formula is printed on every label, showing it is Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form. The Quinine drives out malaria, the Iron builds up the system. 50 cents

North of the track is Ward Three and a fire in that vicinity will need only three taps of the bell. We desire that everyone familiarize themselves as to the street they live on in regard to the numbering from one to nine, as it is an easy matter to locate the ward, there being only the three, one, two and three.

When sending in an alarm first give the ward then the street. By this method we will never get lost as to where a fire is. This is for your own protection and this is the reason we wish to impress upon you the necessity of knowing just on what street you live.

It promptly checked their coughing and cured their colds quicker than anything I ever used." Obtainable everywhere, at all dealers.—Advt.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM Peter Radford On Advertise It in Texas.

As a citizen of Texas and one intensely interested in its material development, I want to add my approval to the "Buy It in Texas" movement. Commercial patriotism and business pride are the foundation stones of success in industry and no country can become supreme in commerce and trade without it fosters a spirit of friendship and partiality for its own products and institutions. It is the spirit of the hive that makes the wheels of industry turn and each community should be a progressive unit in our industrial universe. All things being equal the farmer should patronize the local merchant who is always a good citizen, a heavy taxpayer and friend of the farmer. The farmer ships train loads of raw material to out-of-state and foreign markets and factories that meet on their way car loads of finished and foreign grown products coming to Texas. Any effort to minimize this economic waste ought to be encouraged.

But as a farmer and a friend of the manufacturer and merchant I want to suggest an "Advertise It in Texas" movement. The manufacturer and jobber may blow loud blasts on the horn of patriotism but if they will put an "ad" in the newspapers of this state making a business presentation of their goods they will find it far more effective than waving the star-spangled banner.

The farmer is as much interested in the price of the things he has to buy as in the price of the things he has for sale and the advertising columns of this newspaper is his price list. The price is the thing and the farmer wants the figures in cold type. The politicians give him all the patriotic buncombe he cares for.

Business enterprise is a far more successful salesman than business patriotism and organized enterprise among merchants will become as important a revenue producer as organized patriotism among the people.

There are many most worthy organizations working to promote commerce and trade but we seldom find organized effort to promote the press, yet it is recognized as the most powerful agency for progress the world has ever produced. We have all sorts of days calculated to promote business such as Sales Days; Dollar Days; pay days and why not have a press day and all business concerns advertise the things they have to sell and everybody subscribes for the local paper and all delinquents pay a year in advance. There is nothing so elevating in civilization as the smile of an editor and nothing so contributing more toward the welfare of a community than the prosperity of the press.

The Farmers' Union is a friend of the press and its members subscribe a liberal number of newspapers and periodicals and it is the best investment a farmer can make. There is no news so valuable as store news; no information so interesting as market demands and no tragedy so entertaining as the rise and fall of prices and no page more closely studied by the farmer than the advertising columns of the press.

LETTER FROM OHIO.

Martinsville, Ohio, Dec. 6.—Dear Mr Howard: I have done quite a lot of kodaking since I came here, but have never been able to get good work done—nothing to compare to the work you do, so I am sending 4 rolls to you. Develop and print 1 each and return the negatives with the pictures. If they are good I will have quite a number reprinted and will send negatives back to you later on. Let me know what your bill is by return mail and I will send same.

How is everybody in Pecos. We have had quite a good deal of snow in the last two weeks and it is getting pretty cold. Think I will have the Texas fever again before long. I will be in business for myself in the Spring and think I shall handle a few Anscos and supplies, if I can find a wholesale house that will sell to me.

When you see Koverman give him my regards. Send the negatives as soon as you get them done and I will remit by return mail. Would send it now, but don't know how much it will be as half of them may be no good.

Your friend, C. W. HERRIN.

DANGER SIGNAL.

If the fire bell should ring would you run and stop it or go and help put out the fire. It is much the same way with a cold. A cough is a danger signal as much as a fire bell. You should no more try to suppress it than to stop a fire bell when it is ringing but should cure the disease that causes the coughing. This can nearly always be done by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many have used it with most beneficial results. It is especially valuable for the persistent cough that so often follows a bad cold or an attack of the grip. Mrs. Tomas Beeing, Andrews, Ind. writes: "During the winter my husband takes cold easily and coughs and coughs. BENEFITS OF THE WAR.

We Are The Winners.

It is an old adage, that its a poor wind that blows no one good, and could not be better illustrated than by the following article: When so many foreign countries east their lot in the war, it naturally paralyzed business in all branches, no less the amusement business, where several hundred of the world's greatest athletic, gymnastic, aerial and aquatic stars were thrown out of employment, so naturally they had to look elsewhere for their livelihood, and America, of course, was their first choice, where amusing the public always recompenses handsomely providing there is ability for exchange. The result that Parks & Banks' Famous Railroad shows have secured a score of the world's most daring and accomplished coterie of artists that has been assembled together under one tent for many days. This vast assemblage of European ability, and American stars, (in his or her line) together with the greatest trained animal show entour is an offering well worth considering. The show in its entirety will show at Pecos, Saturday, December 11,
