THE 1916 REEVES COUNTY FAIR

Reports of Committee Have Gotten Together Material For Best Fair Ever Held.

The Reeves County Fair, if it is to judge from the many features listed in the big catalogue now ready, will be one of the best ever held.

Every person residing in this and adjoining counties should attend the fair. The fact of the matter is that the fair belongs to you; the officers are running for you and want your assistance in making it one that this whole section of the Southwest will be proud of. Not only do they crave your assistance in the shape of attendance but earnestly solicit you for an exhibit of something.

A Fair cannot be a success without liberal patronage and substantial encouragement on the part of the public.

The management assures the people that it will spare neither time, labor nor expense to make the exhibition as large as possible, and it wants to be endorsed by the liberal hand of the whole people in this part of the state, and they are relying upon you and your neighbors and friends to boost the Fair every way you can devise.

We hope to get an exhibition that will not be a plain repetition of the efforts of former years, but are planning to have a live, progressive Fair, abounding in fresh and novel sights and features that will be interesting because new and strange to the eyes of those who witness them.

We hope to be able to make this the most marked and memorable of any show ever held by the association, or held in this section of the state. It will be our endeavor to have the grounds, walks, and exhibits exceed in extent, novelty, and splendor those of former years.

Do you approve the Reeves County Fair, and do you think a good institution for Pecos and Reeves County? If so, will you co-operate with us in getting results and help us to host and make the Sixth Annual Fair—Better Than the Best.

Yours truly,

S. E. EBERSTADT,
Secretary, Reeves County Fair.

Expect to Bore for Oil Over At Barstow.

The following named gentlemen were over from Barstow Wednesday and we had the pleasure of meeting them: Dr. S. H. Worrell, Dean of the State School of Mines, whose headquarters are at Ft. Bliss; H. LaSalle, who has charge of the water system which is being installed there; also T. F. Slack, one of that city's leading legal lights.

Dr. Worrell informed us that he had been called to Barstow by her citizens to locate places for putting down test wells in the hope of finding oil or gas. We trust that they may be successful in locating both, for it will be a big thing for us to have natural gas piped in for fire purposes. They are undecided as to when they will begin drilling.

W. W. Camp Elected Assessor.

The second primary election was held last Saturday in the counties of Reeves and Loving, the issue being between W. W. Camp and Albert Cooksey for the office of Tax Assessor, and the result was a victory for the former with a margin of 53 votes.

We were unable to get the official figures of this election, but understand that the vote was heavier than usual in affairs of this kind.

On next Saturday, the 26th, will be held the final primary for the nomination of U. S. Senator, the candidates being C. A. Culberson and O. B. Colquitt.

Mrs. G. C. Parker and baby left Tuesday afternoon on No. 6, for their new home at Frost, Texas.

Our entire community feels the loss of this splendid family from among us, for they were one of our very best families, but one and all, and The Times heartily joins them, extends them best wishes and trust that they may ever prosper in their new home.

Frost's gain is certainly Pecos' loss.

The Times will make them weekly visits and keep them posted on the doings in this section of the great State of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Gardner and children returned Monday from their trip over to Barstow where they visited with relatives and friends.

THE GIRL WE CALL "HELLO."

There's a certain kind of people, very useful, yet obscure,
Who receive small approbation from the public, I am sure;
Yet the services which they render none of us could forego,
Still 'tis rare we kindly speak or thing of the Girl We Call "Hello."

The public simply take her as a cog in one great wheel,
Placed for their convenience, to promote the common weal;
And it's rare indeed a kindness to these faithful girls we show
But oftentimes we "cuss" aloud

We grasp our phone, a number give, and if there be delay
We frankly are ashamed to own the awful things we say.
We seem to think that ours must be the only call, you know,
When perhaps some forty others, quite insistent call hello.

But still though kicked and cussed about you'll always find her sweet—
We don't know how she does it we confess and give up beat
But when our day on earth are done, should we go to heaven go,
We sure will find a multitude of Girls We Call "Hello."

VALLEY MAN LOSES FEET

J. K. Weeb Falls Through Trap Door of Threshing Machine On Van Deren Farm.

Word was received her last week that J. K. Weeb of Balmorea was very seriously hurt while working on the Van Deren Farm in that locality. From the Toyah Valley Herald we give the following account:

Last Thursday night as the Stewart thresher was running at the Van Deren farm some time about 11, J. K. Weeb who was in charge of the separator, went on top of the machine to see about something that was the matter, and while passing over the cylinder, the trap door that covers it had shook loose, and he fell with both feet in the fast revolving cylinder, and he had both feet torn into shreds before he could extricate himself. His right foot was torn off back to his heel, while his left foot was not torn up quite so much.

He was helped down from the machine, placed in an auto and hurried to his home and the doctor summoned, who administered opiates until his suffering was somewhat relieved.

Dr. Camp of Pecos arrived early Friday morning and he and Dr. Wolverton trimmed away the torn part of the flesh and bone and at this writing he is getting along as well as could be expected.

Mr. Weeb is a good, honest hard-working man and has many friends in the Valley who deeply sympathize with him in his misfortune.

A Card to the Voters

I am using the columns of The Times through which to express my thanks and appreciation to those who voted for me at the second primary, at which time I secured the nomination for the office of county assessor. I feel that the vote is an endorsement of my past work and will strive during the next two years to serve the citizens and taxpayers in a more efficient manner, if possible.

W. W. CAMP.

Mrs. Van Havis and children left Sunday for a visit to relatives and friends in El Paso.

Had Hard Luck With His New Venture.

H. H. Johnson, the hustling representative of the Wells Fargo Express Co. launched out Wednesday into a new venture, but it suddenly came to a sad end.

Wednesday he received his first shipment with which to stock his "Snail farm"—three snails, from Los Angeles, California—and the trio were fine, large looking specimens of this family. But, alas, alack, two of them crossed over to the snail heaven that night and the other one has lost itself so far.

We have not heard when he will receive the next shipment, but trust that he may have better luck with them. His many friends join us in wishing him success in the new venture.

New Citizens For Pecos.

C. D. Proffitt, from Fort Stockton, was in Pecos last Friday, looking for a house to move into. Mr. Proffitt and family are now residents of Pecos, they having rented the R. R. Smother's residence and their furniture arrived here Monday, and is now ready for the arrival of Mrs. Proffitt and the two little Proffitts, who are expected to arrive tomorrow or Sunday.

Mr. Proffitt has been engaged to do stenographic work for attorneys J. A. Buck and Jno. B. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stephen and children arrived in Pecos last Friday and will make this their home in the future, having moved into the J. D. McAdams rent house.

Mr. Stephen was the manager of the telephone system at Grandfalls but sold out his interest and is now working in S. B. Short's tin and metal shop. He is a good workman and will undoubtedly make good in his new place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brooks and family are now citizens of Pecos having moved into the city from their ranch for the fall and winter at least.

They have moved into the Dr. Benway residence in Alberta Heights. The Times most heartily joins with the citizens in welcoming all these good people, and trust that they may never regret having cast their lot among us.

Miss Marie Grafus returned home Saturday from her visit at Lampañas, and reports having had a most entertaining and profitable time while there.

TAKE NOTICE

The delinquent tax list for the year 1915 of the City, will be published within a few days and collections will be enforced. Those owing past due taxes to the City will save expense by attending to this matter at once.

Woman's Part in the Reeves County Fair Important.

Women's industry and handiwork will help in many ways to produce articles that are important to the success of a fair.

A department of the Reeves County Fair, set apart for her productions was a wise thought as it enables the public to get a glimpse of the assembled products of her skill and let the world know more of her genius and her taste.

Proceeding from this viewpoint we have offered a large and substantial premium list in the Woman's Department. We aim to have this fair among other things an exhibition of Woman's products in which Woman is interested, and one which will represent in no small degree her labor and her patience.

We wish to have this department grandly filled and invite a large contribution. Let every woman in this city and in the county bring one article at least and place it upon exhibition.

Everybody is asked to attend the Fair and visit the Woman's Department and feast their eyes upon the tokens of woman's brains, grace and loveliness. Husbands, bring your wives and daughters and let them see what others of the fair sex are doing and can achieve.

Be sure and get a catalogue and study the list of premiums.
S. E. EBERSTADT,
Secretary, Reeves County Fair.

Card of Thanks.

I desire through the columns of The Times to extend my deepest thanks and appreciation to the voters in Reeves and Loving counties for their liberal support in the recent primary election, and although I am a little late in doing it, it does not detract from my feelings toward you. I especially desire to thank my near neighbors and friends in the Valley for staying with me like they did.

J. W. B. WILLIAMS.

A Very Bad Practice.

We have noticed in many places around the city that persons are breaking bottles upon the sidewalks and that numerous barefooted children have had their feet cut therefrom.

It is certainly a very bad thing to have this glass upon the walks and should be stopped at once.

T. A. Ezell arrived in Pecos Monday from a business visit to El Paso.

COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION

Report of Various Officers Received Showing County's Affairs in Good Shape.

At the session held July 25, 1916, among other business transacted was that the check deposited by the Municipal Engineering and Construction Co. as a guarantee of good faith for their bid for Road District No. 1's bonds, to the amount of $1,000, be returned to the company, they in exchange, to waive any and all claims they might hold against said Road District.

The full membership of the court was present at the session of the court held Monday, August 14, and among other things, the following business was transacted:

The report of Mrs. Middleton, treasurer, was presented, examined, and approved.

The report showed that every fund in the two counties had a balance ranging from 62 cents up to several thousand dollars, but in some of the funds of Loving county there are outstanding warrants that cannot be paid on account of a lack of sufficient funds to pay them. Also in Reeves county, when the claims presented at this session are allowed and paid some of the funds will be about wiped out, so that the claims which will be allowed at the next session of court will have to be filed and held for lack of funds.

In all the funds of the county there is on hand $57,635.82, including interest and sinking funds.

The county clerk's report was presented, examined and approved.

Tom Harrison, sheriff, made his report, and upon examination it was approved.

The receipt of the Municipal Engineering & Construction Co., for the deposited check, was received and ordered filed.

A number of applications for cancellations of taxes on account of erroneous renditions, were presented, thoroughly examined and the same ordered allowed by the court.

Numerous claims were presented against the county and after examination some were approved, some being ordered paid, some refused and other carried over.

THE TIMES, ever progressive, has added a feature that we feel sure will interest those of our readers who contemplate building a home. On this page will appear, each week, The illustration of a home, and, occasionally an interior. A wide range will be covered, so no matter what your taste regarding how a home should be, you will find just what you want. The reading matter, too, will be of a nature that has to do with the home.

Everyone cannot build an expensive home, but you can, if properly designed make the home attractive.

This not only means to have the interior furnishings of your home well chosen, but means also that the exterior shall be finished so that it will be especially attractive.

Always bear in mind that a nicely furnished house is not the result of accident, but the culmination of much study and thought. Build your house so

A most convenient arrangement is found in this 8-room aeroplane house; by means of a small square hall in the center of the house communication is afforded every room in the house with one another with a single exception.

And too, this house contains every built-in convenience to make the housewife happy and her neighbors envious, as the interior has the snap you have been looking for and the exterior speaks for itself.

WASH THE HANDS.

- Before eating.
- Before handling, preparing or serving food.
- After using the toilet.
- After attending the sick.
- After handling anything dirty.

Disease germs lead a hand to mouth existence. If the human race would learn to keep the unwashed hand away from the mouth many human diseases would be greatly diminished. We handle infectious matter more or less constantly and we continually carry the germs to the mouth. If the hand has recently been in contact with infectious matter the germs of diseases may in this way be introduced into the body. Many persons wet their fingers with saliva before counting money in turning the pages of a book or performing similar acts. In this case the process is reversed; the infection being carried to the object handled, there to await carriage to the mouth by some other careless person. In view of these facts the U. S. Public Health Service has formulated the above simple rules of personal hygiene and recommends their adoption by every person in the United States.

Texas Republicans and Prohibitionist Nominate Tickets.

Texas Republicans in state convention last Tuesday nominated R. B. Creager, former collector of customs at Brownsville, for Governor.

Other nominations were: U. S. Senator, Dr. W. A. Atkins, Dallas; Congressman-at-large, Charles Warnken, Houston; and M. A. Taylor of Bonham.

The platform declares for the present principles enunciated by Charles E. Hughes, in his speech of accepting the Republican nomination for president and severely criticizes the policies of both the state and national Democratic administrations.

At the state convention of the Prohibition party held on the same day, the Rev. H. W. Lewis, of Dallas, was nominated for governor; Dr. J. R. Richardson, of Seymour, for Lieutenant Governor, and E. H. Conibear, of Dallas, for U. S. Senator.

P. F. Paige, of Dallas, was named as state chairman.

Civilization's Largest Factor.

The most important business in the world is farming. Food is the primal need. We get our food out of the soil, and the business of the farmer is to tickle the soil so it will laugh a harvest.

The second most important business in the world is transportation. Because by the railroad the world's markets are brought to the doors of both the producer and the consumer. Food separated from human bodies by an impassable gulf is absolutely valueless. I have seen corn selling in Kansas for ten cents a bushel, and wheat for twenty-five cents a bushel, and hogs at two cents a pound, simply because there was no available transportation for these things from the place where they were plentiful to where they were needed. The railroad is the greatest factor in civilization.—Elbert Hubbard.

A Good Thing For Children.

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough, and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort. REEVES COUNTY FAIR SPECIAL FEATURE

Gorgeous, Spectacular Decorated Parade Will Open Reeves County Fair.

The Sixth Annual Reeves County Fair bids fair, in general, to eclipse all others since the organization of this feature, and one of the most spectacular features will be the gigantic street parade of decorated floats and autos, that will open the 1916 Fair. The committee in charge of this important department have labored incessantly, and canvassed nearly all the merchants and business men, and report that all are very enthusiastic and eager to lend their support in making this year's parade a grand success.

This being the opening feature should, by all means, be the very best, and as it is a free feature, given principally on the streets of our city, there will likely be more visitors who will view this spectacle than any other connected with the Fair.

A float, or an auto nicely decorated, representing your business, will likely be the means of indelibly stamping your firm name on the memory of the on-lookers as no other advertising feature could possibly do. The world in general likes the beautiful, and there are very few things more attractive than a decorated float or auto.

In this case there is no argument as to being unable to design or arrange your float, for Mr. Eberstadt has prepared for you over 400 prints of decorated floats and autos, arranged in every conceivable style. These are at the Commercial Club rooms, open to your inspection and selection. Further, he has arranged that the one you select may be removed from the book, so that no two may be of the same design.

The Rexall Store and the City Pharmacy will have price lists and will take pleasure in ordering all the decorations needed.

Valuable prizes will be awarded and only decorated vehicles will be permitted to enter the parade.

The committee will thank those who decide to enter the parade to inform them of the fact at once, and as all will have until the very last day to prepare, it is hoped that every individual car owner in the county will be reached with proposition.

The committee has already received responses from the following wide-awake and enterprising merchants and business men, promising their support:

- Pecos Valley State Bank.
- Pecos Mercantile Co.
- Pecos Light & Ice Co.
- Pecos City Band.
- Pecos Dry Goods Co.

This is by no means a complete list of those who will participate in the parade, as the committee have only been at work but a few days, but the good list will indicate the interest that is being taken.

The Development Dollar.

Money is by far the most necessary, the most powerful, and the most useful agency in the affairs of human life. It stands first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of the people. Money has measured the prosperity, directed the progress and contributed toward the happiness of the human race since civilization blossomed in the valley of the Nile. The ebb and flow of the world's currency moves the center of population; its currents have swept civilization across continents and it has built empires in waste places. Men spend their lives striving for it; nations collect it by force of arms; thieves steal it; skilled criminals counterfeit it; beggars plead for it; death distributes it and Texas must have it to develop her magnificent resources.—Peter Radford.

A Splendid Combination.

"The El Paso Herald and the Woman's Home Companion, both publications for one whole year $7. The El Paso Herald and the Metropolitan Magazine, both publications for one whole year $7.00. The El Paso Herald and the Sunset Magazine, both publications for a year, $7.00. The El Paso Herald and the American Magazine, both publications for one year, $7.00. The above combinations at the remarkable low prices are good temporarily only. Therefore if you intend to take advantage of any of these offers send your check or money order to the El Paso Herald and indicate which one of the offers you desire." 31-4f

AN INVITATION

When Lieschen had been with the Duverts for one calendar month the family in full conclave pronounced her an acquisition. They never ventured upon a favorable opinion of a cook within any less period of time, experience having taught them that it was unsafe.

Yet there were some odd things about Lieschen that the Duverts had remarked. She was rather slow about following instructions—that is, printed instructions. If Mrs. Duvart wanted a new dish prepared and referred her to the cookbook for its composition Lieschen invariably looked uncomfortable, and shortly afterward was to be seen leaning over the back fence in earnest conversation with the German housemaid next door. Then she would come back, apparently concealing something beneath her apron. If the German housemaid next door was not attainable, it was pretty nearly a sure thing that Lieschen would have some absurd excuse for not having prepared that dish. Also, if she happened to get a letter, she would be missing for the next half hour—and she got letters rather often.

One morning Mrs. Duvart heard her ask the postman, "Is dis for me?" and the postman answered, "Sure" as he handed her a letter. She hurried through to the kitchen, and thither after a few moments, Mrs. Duvart followed, just in time to see Lieschen vanishing through the back gate into the alley. She was gone for nearly fifteen minutes, and when she returned Mrs. Duvart confronted her.

"Where have you been, Lieschen?" she demanded sternly.

"I had to see Katrine by next door for something was could not wait," she replied. "De dishes was washed already, und—and I did not tink you would mind."

"Well," said Mrs. Duvart, "I don't mind exactly, only I think, Lieschen, that when you go away you should tell me."

"All right," said Lieschen. "I will always. Und—und—may I haf tomorrow evening instead of Thursday evening—please?"

Mrs. Duvart said she might and went away rather puzzled.

The evening following Mrs. Duvart went into the kitchen and found Lieschen there attired in royal splendor and the hat, but looking nervous and miserable.

"I thought you were going out?" she said.

"I—I do not know. I do not tink—" began Lieschen, and then, to Mrs. Duvart's consternation, burst into a flood of tears.

Just at that moment the doorbell rang and Mrs. Duvart hurried away and opened the door to young Pomeroy, an occasionally favored suitor of her daughter, Elizabeth. The young man was attired in what he facetiously termed his "glad rags," and there was a carriage at the curb.

"Is Miss Elizabeth ready?" he inquired, as soon as he was well inside.

"Ready for what?" asked Mrs. Duvart. "She's in the library with that book you sent her, but she doesn't seem to be expecting to go out if that's what you mean."

Here Miss Elizabeth came up and greeted Pomeroy with an air of surprise.

"Well, I like this!" said the young man. "Here I write to you and tell you I've got seats for Semberich and beg you to honor me with your company and not to trouble to R. S. V. P. unless you can't, and—oh, well, its rough, but I suppose it's what I have to expect."

"I didn't get any letter," said Miss Elizabeth. "When did you write?"

"Night before last. You ought to have got it in yesterday morning's mail."

"This is mysterious," said Mrs. Duvart. "Wait, I'll go to the kitchen and ask Lieschen about it. She took in the morning mail."

As Mrs. Duvart approached the kitchen she heard Lieschen's voice in altercation with manly tones, seemingly in deprecation. She paused a moment. Then she heard Lieschen say: "Yes, you did. You wrote me a letter and you say, 'I haf seats for Semberich und I will call mit a carriage.' You call me your sweetest Elizabeth."

"I never did nothing of the sort," said the manly voice. "Somebody's been putting up a job on you."

Here Mrs. Duvart entered. "Lieschen," she said, "if you have that letter, you spoke of will you please give it to me, for I believe it was intended for Miss Elizabeth."

Then the explanation came. Lieschen, it seemed, could not read English and had been in the habit of getting her friendly young countrywoman next door to interpret her cooking recipes and letters.

"Well," said Miss Elizabeth, when Mrs. Duvart returned to the parlor and explained, "there's only one thing to do. It's too late for me to dress now, and I wouldn't go anyway. Jack, you've got to take Lieschen."

"Lieschen's solid company might object," said Mr. Pomeroy. "However, I'm game to give up the tickets and carriage if you'll let me stay here."

"Splendid!" said Miss Elizabeth. "We'll send them off happy."

So that is how Lieschen and her young man went to hear Semberich in style.

Uncle Eben.

"Patience," said Uncle Eben, "is what everybody thinks everybody else needs." 43-c

BACK TO THE FIRESIDE WITH GOVERNMENT

FOUNTAIN OF JUSTICE MUST SPRING FROM THE HEARTHSTONE.

By J. S. Cullinan.

No citizenship of any civilization ever faced as grave a crisis as that now confronting the people of Texas. I believe it is safe to say that not less than ninety per cent of the business concerns in this State are criminals as the law is now interpreted, and among the large concerns perhaps that percentage already stands convicted upon the court records. Either the legal area of crime is too wide for human endurance and commercial activity, or the Administration of Justice is faulty and incompetent. It is for the people to say.

It is the purpose of the Texas Economic League to get back to the fireside with government, and all citizens are invited to join in the work, and all classes have received recognition on the Executive Council of the League, for it is from the homes of the people that the fountain of Justice must spring, and it is from the hearthstone of the nation that integrity and wisdom must flow. Every man should exercise his right and perform his duty as a citizen, for to fail to do so is little less than treason against government. Let no mind be intimidated nor reason overawed by the acts of public servants, for in this nation the people should rule.

Office holders are not divine. That question was settled by the Magna Charta, when the subjects of King John presented that document to him at Runnymede at the sword's point, and which historians say was "the keystone of English liberty." For the information of, as well as a warning to, some of our public officials, I want to direct attention to the sixth provision of the Magna Charta, which states that "Justice shall not be sold, delayed or denied any man;" and at the peril of being tried for treason and having to employ attorneys to defend me, who have specialized on compromising cases, I want to repeat that statement to the citizens of Texas today: JUSTICE SHALL NOT BE SOLD, DELAYED OR DENIED ANY MAN. If the serfs of these feudal Kings dared hand their rulers that advice on the point of a sword, certainly it is safe for a citizen to repeat it to present day office holders through the columns of the press. 32-c

FARMERS MUST BECOME BETTER BUSINESS MEN

NO PROFESSION DEMANDS MORE THOROUGH PREPARATION

Nation's Bank Account, the Soil, Facing Serious Outlook Unless Changes Are Instituted.

By E. F. Shropshire, Manager Texas Farmers' Union Cotton Company

No profession demands a more thorough preparation, offers greater opportunities for development, broader in scope of resourcefulness, of more importance to the whole country, than that of farming. The farmers must become educated in a business way, be real farmers, not soil butchers, if the Nation's bank account, "the soil," continues to yield a balance. The preparation of the farmer as a class from an educational standpoint would doom any other avocation to failure, as it has him. Our country's educational system has been against him, too much of the theoretical, not enough of the practical; too much professional, not enough industrial; he is educated from the farm instead of back to the farm. It is only of recent years that industrial education in our schools of higher learning has been available, or that State or Nation offered him any assistance, then only from a productive standpoint.

For the scholastic year ending Aug. 31, 1912, there were 91,000 of the white boys and girls living on Texas farms that were not enrolled in the public schools; forty-six out of each 100 that were enrolled were absent every day that the school was in session, and only five out of each 100 of the farmer boys and girls get far enough advanced to enter the eighth grade. If education is what is claimed for it, (and it is) under this system of preparation for life's battles, can the farmer boy meet his city cousin on an equal footing and hold his own? Is it any wonder that there is a great wave of discontent sweeping over our country, that the farmer boy and girl want to leave the farm? You can rob, enslave a people, but never an educated people. It is plain that a change must be made. Agriculture and farm management in all its details must be made a part of the curriculum of all country schools, and a large number of the one-teacher schools must be combined into agricultural high schools; that will give the farmer boy and girl the same educational opportunity that is afforded their city cousins. 43-c

Church of Christ.

The regular services will be held next Lord's Day. The subject of the morning's Bible study will be the "Riot at Ephesus." Be present on time at 10 o'clock, and come prepared for a spiritual uplift. At 8:30 p. m. the sermon subject will be "Suffering With Christ." Christian Endeavor at 7:45. Come to the Lord's house on the Lord's day. Homer. L. Magee.

Rev. G. O. Key left Monday for Allen, Texas, one of his former charges to hold a revival meeting. This is his third series of meetings which he has held there. Our people trust that he may have one of the best and most profitable he has ever held. He asked us to announce that there would be no preaching services at the Baptist church here next Sunday, but that there would be services the following Sunday, further announcement to be made later.

Our genial friend, Dr. T. L. Dean of Barstow, came over to Pecos early Wednesday as escort, guide and protector to two valiant old ex-Confederate soldiers, Isaac Guest and Geo. Dean, both of Detroit, Texas. It was a great pleasure to meet these two old soldiers and fine specimens of old time Southern gentlemen. The doctor is an ex-Confederate soldier himself and although he was not necessarily in the fighting line, being a physician, yet would generally be found where the bullets were thickest.

Rifle Club's First Shoot.

As the rifle range is about completed some of the club members are going out this afternoon for their first shoot. We understand that there is a "cart wheel" hung up for the first contestant who makes a bull's eye in three trials at the 500-yard target.

NOTICE.

The delinquent tax list for the year 1915 of the City, will be published within a few days and collections will be enforced. Those owing past due taxes to the City will save expense by attending to this matter at once.

Went to Odessa to Receive A Car OF Melons.

I. T. Kesler the proprietor of the Pecos Bottling Works, accompanied by his son, George, went over to Odessa yesterday to receive a carload of Central Texas watermelons and will open the car there today and expects to be in Pecos with the car tomorrow and about Tuesday will go up to Toyah.

Will Undergo An Operation.

Miss Minnie Vickers went up to El Paso the first of the week to have a specialist examine a growth which was coming in one of her nostrils, and he decided it would be best to have it removed.

Mrs. Ed Vickers, her mother, went up this morning to be present when the operation was performed.

It is hoped by her numerous friends here that the operation will be successful and that she will soon be home fully recovered.

Change in Postoffice Clerks.

Miss Ina Cress, who for some time past has been a clerk in the Pecos post office, handed in her resignation Wednesday.

Miss Cress formerly lived at Barstow, but expects to make this city her home.

Miss Era Butler has been appointed in Miss Cress' place, and we predict that she will make a splendid clerk.

W. D. Wheeler is also a new clerk in the office and is getting onto the ropes in good shape. He is a hustling young man and will undoubtedly rank among the best in his line of work in a short time.

POWER must be reckoned in reference to the weight involved. This is the big underlying truth that is often overlooked in careless statements about horsepower.

We repeat that Maxwell cars have greater horsepower, per pound of weight, than any car built.

This has been proved within the last six months by four competitive tests made in the two leading scientific schools of the United States.

The point for you to remember is this:

42 Party.

Honoring her house guests of the week, Misses Virginia Holt of Waco, and Helen Duncan, Miss Francis Hubbard, was again hostess, on last Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with 42.

Three tables were run in the pretty suite of rooms which are always invitingly home-like in this hospitable home. 4 games were played and high score fell to Marion Crute who was presented with a large box of bonbons, and Elise Roberson won the booby, a toothsome box of sweetmeats. Those present at this merry party were: Virginia Holt, of Waco, Marion Crute, Elorna and Elise Roberson, Ruby Mae Beauchamp, Helen Duncan, Alice Hankins, Zara Sims, Evelyn Slack, Mozelle Bryan and the hostess.

Dancing Party.

Miss Francis Hubbard delightfully entertained her girl friends with a dancing party at her beautiful home Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

This was a gala occasion for this club of young girls and each was a picture of loveliness, dressed in her daintiest "fluffy, be-ruffled" dancing frock, and to the lovely music of the Victrola they tripped the light fantastic until 10 o'clock. The grand march was led by Virginia Holt of Waco, and Francis Hubbard.

Refreshing punch was served through the evening. Those present were: Mozelle Bryan, Evelyn Slack, Zara Sims, Virginia Holt, Alice Hankins, Helen Duncan, Ruby Mae Beauchamp, Elise and Elorna Roberson, Myrtle Ruhlen, Marion Crute, Dorisse Jones, Alice Morrison, and the hostess.

Junior Buds Entertained.

Thursday afternoon a stream of daintily dressed young girls wended their way to the home of Miss Ruby Mae Beauchamp, where they spent the afternoon most delightfully playing 42.

These young girls are surely believers in the maxim: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy today," for every week of their vacation has been marked with some pleasure planned by them.

Merrily they played this popular game until late; the scores were counted and Alice Hankins held high score, and was awarded a bottle of perfume, and Emma Brown, scoring lowest was presented a bottle of perfume.

The serving of ice cream and cake, brought this happy affair to a close. Those present were: Dora Tucker of Ariz., Virginia Holt of Waco, Louise Wadley, Helen Duncan, Alice Hankins, Alice Morrison, Elise and Elorna Roberson, Emma Brown, Zara Sims, Myrtle Ruhlen, Francis Hubbard, Evelyn Slack, Marion Crute and the hostess.

Morning Party.

Miss Alice Hankins was hostess to her young friends last Saturday morning at her home, at 9 o'clock, with a most pleasant party.

The young hostess passed dainty tally cards representing dominoes, and 4 fables were soon filled.

When the scores were counted Gussie Richburg was the most successful and received a lovely box of stationery, while the bottle of catsup fell to Elise Roberson, having been unlucky in winning so few games. Mrs. Hankins assisted her daughter in making the party a delightful one. Delicious ice cream and cake was served to the following guests: Gussie Richburg, Virginia Holt, Helen Duncan, Francis Hubbard, Ruby Mae Beauchamp, Evelyn Slack, Elise and Elorna Roberson, Ellen Green Sullivan, Dorisse Jones, Aileen Love, Irene Prewit, Zara and Elisse Sims, Alice Morrison, Myrtle Ruhlen, Marion Crute and the hostess.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. J. Y. Leavell entertained with a beautifully planned dinner Tuesday evening at her home.

The table was lovely in summer flowers and dainty china, and those who were gathered round this festive board were: Mrs. H. H. Jones Misses Dorisse Jones and Mildred Obitz, Mrs. Leavell and Mr. Hoyt Jones.

After dinner the party was joined by Misses Marion Looby and Rosa Thomason and the remainder of the pleasant evening was spent at the Movie Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Drane have returned from the Galveston Beach where they enjoyed a ten days outing.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore are pleasantly located in the Parker home in southeast Pecos for the winter. We are delighted to have Mr. and Mrs. Moore one of us again.

NOTE—The Editor of the Social Realm would appreciate those who entertain, calling her and reporting the parties, and will take great pleasure in writing up your social functions. Phone 98.

Five O'Clock Dinner.

Last Sunday evening Mrs. Mary E. Ward gave a 5 o'clock dinner at her comfortable home in the western part of the city, honoring Messrs. Kane Thompson, and Charles Autman, both of Denton, Clarence Warton, of Fort Worth, and Jim Breane of Houston, who are on a touring trip to California.

The ladies present were the Misses Lenora Williams, of Balmorhea, Lennie Skelton, Della Hudgens, and Velma Ward.

A very interesting and enjoyable time was had by these young people.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce that the Pecos Mercantile Company, Hardware Department is a candidate for your patronage subject to the action of dependable merchandise at right prices.

Have a full line of hardware implements, pipe, wind mills, gasoline engines and wagons, and want the support of every man, woman and child in Reeves County whether you be Democrat, Republican, Progressive or Prohibitionist.

PECOS MERCANTILE CO.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, son, LeRoy, and daughter, Miss Marguerite, of San Antonio, arrived Sunday to spend several weeks with the home folks. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Short, out in the Barillo Draw country.

J. C. Short was in from his Barillo possessions Monday and made The Times office a pleasant call. He informed us that although the rains out in his section were considerably scattered, grass on his range was growing fine, and his cattle doing nicely.

We are getting fresh vegetables every day. Phone 84 your orders and they will receive the very quickest attention.

Parade for the Reeves County Fair Assured.

A big parade on Tuesday, September 19th, Opening Day of the Reeves County Fair, is assured, as nearly all the business firms of Pecos have signed up to enter the parade.

Much credit is due the committee of ladies who worked and are yet working to make this feature of the fair a brilliant success.

Samples of material for decorating can be seen at both drug stores and they will be glad to take orders for same.

Designs and suggestions can be seen at the office of the Fair Secretary.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, it has pleased an all wise Creator to call from his earthly labors Rev. James A. Walkup, of Fort Worth, father of a valued and much appreciated member of the Cat Claw Grove No. 619, Woodman Circle, Mrs. W. K. Wylie, Therefore be it

Resolved: That we deeply deplore the loss to this loved one and tender to our sister our heartfelt sympathy; and

Resolved: That the church has lost a valued and useful servant, and the state a good and worthy citizen, and

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our record book, and a request be made to have them published in the papers of our city.

MRS. JOHN HIBDON,
MRS. C. C. COLWELL,
Committee.

Mrs. James B. Prewit, Sr.

Rebecca Elizabeth Skelton was born at Tuscaloosa, Ala., December 25th, 1841, and died in Pecos, August 10th, 1916.

She, with her parents, came to Texas from Huntsville, Ala., in 1852 and was married to Jas. B. Prewit about the close of the Civil War, who proceeded her to the great beyond a number of years ago. To this union was born five sons, W. D., J. B., of Pecos, A. L., of Crockett, and J. W., of El Paso; and one daughter, Mrs. John DeRacey, of Pecos, at whose home she had been living, and where she closed her eyes in death. She also leaves three brothers and two sisters: one brother in San Jacinto, one at Eagle Lake, and one at Pecos; one sister lives at Cleburne, the other at Huntsville.

She was converted in early childhood and has been a constant member of the Baptist church, and during her life has worked faithfully for her Master.

Mrs. Prewit graduated from Baylor College at Independence, Texas, and afterwards was in the first graduating class from Baylor College, at Belton, Texas.

She was well and most favorably known to all the older citizens, as she had lived here about 25 years and had been, before her health failed, one of the most faithful in helping the needling and assisting in caring for the sick.

Her remains were followed to Fairview Cemetery by a large concourse of friends, Friday, August 11th, where they were laid to rest.

The sorrowing relatives have the deepest sympathy of our entire community, in which The Times joins.

Attorney J. A. Buck went down to Grandfalls Wednesday on a business trip, expecting to be gone a few days.

Such tobacco enjoyment as you never thought could be is yours to command quick as you buy some Prince Albert and fire-up a pipe or a home-made cigarette!

Prince Albert gives you every tobacco satisfaction your smoke-appetite ever hankered for. That's because it's made by a patented process that cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

has a flavor as different as it is delightful. You never tasted the like of it! And that isn't strange, either.

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold in tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that corking fine pound crystal glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such clever trim—always!

Men who think they can't smoke a pipe or roll a cigarette can smoke and will smoke if they use Prince Albert. And smokers who have not yet given P. A. a try-out certainly have a big surprise and a lot of enjoyment coming their way as soon as they invest in a supply. Prince Albert tobacco will tell its story!

LETTER FROM M. L. SWINEHART

Incidents Connected With The Annual Meeting of the Mission at Korea.

The Annual Meeting of our Mission for 1916 is a thing of the past so far as time is concerned, though there are a number of incidents in connection there with that will not permit us to soon forget them.

Annual Mission Meetings on the Field are a sort of combination of General Assembly, Presbytery Annual Conference, Sunday School convention, Medical meeting, Educational Conference and General Council to the Mission, and in addition to these must take the place in the lives of the missionaries, of County Fair, Auto Tournament, Ball Games, the Husking Bees, Track Meet, the Grand Opera, or any other form of mild dissipation which have held charms for him at home.

On the mission field, everything dates from Annual Meeting. This year will prove no exception to the rule, not so much because of any unusual happening at the meeting itself but on account of the experiences in travel to and from Chunju, where the meeting was held.

Mrs. Swinehart and I made the trip to Chunju in comparative ease (80 miles), by riding trains where trains ran our way, walking around washouts of railway bridges, riding a few miles in rickshas, then a short way on horseback, and a little lift in an auto—all these various modes of travel being broken by short walks along muddy paths.

For the rainy season came before his time, as fixed by the "Oldest Korean" and caught a good many of us enroute.

The rains continued to fall during the week's session, the sun not showing his face long enough to give the young ladies a chance to wear their new gowns provided especially for the occasion, nor the men to show how well Montgomery Ward had guessed their size and shape when forwarding stock alpacas.

The meeting over we turned our faces homeward, everyone anxious to see how much of the plastering in their houses had fallen off because of the leaky roofs, and get busy wiping the mould off books, shoes, gloves, etc.

Mrs. Swinehart and I spent the first day of the return trip in covering 20 miles by various modes of travel, and then we spent the night in a Japanese Inn.

Continued rains had again made travel dangerous and our train the second day was forced to move very cautiously a good part of the way, arriving at Shoterie, the railway station for Kwangju, at 2:30 in the afternoon, one hour late. Here we faced a new difficulty, for there was no conveyance for Kwangju, and, in reply to our questions, were told that no machine could come to us as the river was out of its bank and was a raging torrent five feet deep across the road. The coolies took our baggage and headed directly for a Japanese Inn where they expected we would stop until the waters had subsided.

But we rebelled at this. It was our own home in Kwangju or swim, perhaps both.

Busying myself I arranged for a Korean horse attached to Russian drouksa, to take us to the scene of the trouble and by telephone ordered a drouksa sent out from Kwangju to meet us on the other side.

Japanese official had informed me that there was "a thing like a boat" available for crossing the water, but Oh, no, no, the American could not cross in it—indeed not! I told him to watch me, and we climbed into the drouksa with a half dressed Korean up in front for a driver, and our baggage including grips, suit cases steamer trunks and typewriter piled in the front seat facing us.

Arriving at the scene of the trouble we were impressed by the fearfulness of the scene. The thing "which looked like a boat" consisted of 10 pieces of pine studding 4x4 inches and 10 feet long. These were tied with a straw rope, and made a raft 40 inches wide and 10 feet long and 4 inches high.

We were carried out onto this flimsy affair and away we went poled by three Japanese who had their time well taken up in keeping the whole outfit of crew, passengers and craft from being carried down the stream. When one kept a foot over two of the 4x4's, the water would rise only to the tops of rubbers, but at times when the raft struck a submerged apple tree as we sailed away over orchards, it would jar loose one's toe-hold and, stepping on only one of the 4x4's, in one would go over shoe top deep.

A crowd of people standing on the banks yelling to us to "sit down" did not add to our comfort, for who wants to sit in three inches of water with 6 miles of road still ahead to cover. By "standing vote" we decided to stay as we were and where we were—if possible.

About three hundred feet from the other shore our house boat ran into a lot of tangled telephone wire wrapped about a stable roof which had floated down the river and there we were.

Other obliging coolies came to our rescue and backed gingerly up to our swirling life-boat. We were eased on their backs and showed our appreciation of their kindness by holding so tightly to their necks we nearly strangled them, allowing our bodies to be pitched upwads every few minutes as they tried to get a better hold on our cramped legs, and save us from the water.

At a particularly bad place I called out to Mrs. Swinehart to look to one side, and she called back: "Not for a hundred yen! I've got my eyes shut tight." And I wished I had started the same way.

To be carried by a dry coolie is one thing—but to stick on a wet, slippery back without sand paper grips for the knees and mittens made from a like material, is a different story.

Try it if you doubt me, but if there are several in the party shut our eyes and blindfolded the others. This will add to the ease of mind for the balance of the trip.

We were eased down on the far side of the stream and commenced the wait for the drouksa, in the falling rain. In due time it came, and profiting by our former experience we easily packed ourselves and baggage away and were off for home, none the worse for the experience. We had to walk the last mile into the compound. Giving our aching temples an extra hard squeeze we waded thru mud and water, sneaking past the hospital, and Dr. Wilson's home, fearing we might be seen. For one time a nearly vacant compound was welcome.

Night was fast falling as we opened the door to our comfortable home, and the big lot of mail which had accumulated during our absence was not a sufficient inducement to keep us from the hot bath and bed. By reducing our working time to ten hours each for the next two days, we managed to pull ourselves together and we were ready to repeat the experience, or worse, if it is part of the plan He has for us in doing His work.

THE MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE

CAPTAIN E. B. PADDOCK DENOUNCES "COMPROMISING" POLICY OF STATE.

So much is being written in these days about "The Administration of Justice," that a few vagrant reflections on the "Miscarriage of Justice" do not occur to me as wholly inappropriate.

These reflections are directed to the activity of the State in its prosecution of legitimate business ostensibly "for revenue only." The record of the legal department of the State government, in my opinion, justifies the conclusion that its activities are not inspired by a desire to punish business for its alleged or assumed illegal methods, but to penalize it that the State treasury may be enriched. None of the prosecutions instituted by the State have thus far been directed to an estoppel of alleged infractions of the law, but have resulted in compromises where a payment of a proportionately small sum, by the defendant has satisfied the State. These sums are advanced by the parties defendant, but are ultimately paid by their customers—the public. The strong arm of the State is utilized in taking the money exacted from the tax payer and prosecuting successful business organizations, which in turn recoup their losses by levying additional tribute on their customers. Thus the tax payer and not the defendant, "pays the freight."

It certainly was not the intent of the law-making body of the State government, in the enactment of laws prohibiting and punishing illegal combinations or combinations in restraint of trade to enact revenue laws to acquire funds for the support of the State government. The evident intent and purpose was to prevent such combinations. Instituting suit for one hundred million dollars, and compromising it for a paltry half million dollars, cannot have a restraining influence on violators of the law. On the contrary, it encourages the continuance of the practice, knowing that they can buy immunity for a comparatively small sum, they readily and cheerfully pay the price, and go on doing business at the same old stand in the same old way, perhaps changing the name only. 52c

BACK TO THE CONSTITUTION

COURTS HAVE CIVILIZATION BY THE THROAT.

Chairman of Economic League Charges Government With Tyranny.

By J. S. Cullinan.

As I see it, the courts have civilization by the throat today just as the churches had it a few centuries ago, which reached its climax with the Spanish Inquisition. Fortunately for the civilization of that day many religious leaders looked with alarm upon the clergy clad in robes of State, legally censoring divine rights of men, and who were authorized by law to deprive any person of their life, liberty or honor. The capable element of the clergy more than any other influence assisted in removing their high priests from the bench to the pulpit, and stopped the legal holocaust of human life that shames the pages of history.

Happily for our welfare today there are many good citizens who seriously doubt the wisdom of government making honest and necessary business transactions a crime, and many capable members of the legal profession who look with alarm upon a lawyer clothed with power of State having authority to legally lynch honest property or illegally protect criminal property. Such concentration of power was never contemplated under our form of government, and it is un-American, unwise and destructive to organized society. To force honest property to confess guilt, and permit criminal property to escape punishment, reverses the genius of American government.

It is not the mission of the League to legally fix responsibility between the law and the Administration of the law, but the citizen has a contract with government for life, liberty and justice, and it is the right and the duty of the citizen to say when government crosses the border line and trespasses upon his Constitutional rights as they are—not as public officials interpret them. The citizen—not the office holder—is the one to say when government violates its pledge to the people. In the name of the Texas Economic League I this day charge that government is guilty of tyranny, injustice, favoritism and incompetency in its relation to productive industry. We shall not at the moment undertake to separate responsibility as between the Legislative, Administrative and Judicial branches of government, but the man who leads a legal mob is a worse criminal than he who leads an illegal one, and deserves more severe punishment, no matter to what department of government he belongs. 37c

LAWYERS AND COURT REFORM

By J. S. Cullinan.

The Administration of Justice is the most important and far-reaching problem before the American people today, and the lawyers should face squarely the responsibilities of their profession, and have sufficient courage to measure up to their opportunities. It is a most patriotic move on the part of the legal profession in undertaking to eliminate the influences of injustice. While the problem is one in which the lawyer should take the initiative, the prosperity and liberty of every citizen is involved for the citizen, the tax-payer and the litigant—not the lawyers—are the victims of inefficiency and injustice in the administration of the law. The lawyer is a "common carrier" of justice or injustice, and no matter which way the case goes, he wins, and oftentimes no matter which way it goes, both litigants lose.

The Federal Census Report for Texas in 1910 shows that we have 4,577 lawyers. We have one lawyer for every 850 population in Texas. The average in the United States is one lawyer to 800 population. We have almost three times as many lawyers as bankers. We have an average of 18 lawyers to every Court House in the State. We have more lawyers than peace officers.

We have no government records available on legal expenditures, but it is safe to estimate that we spend annually approximately $40,000,000 in legal controversies in Texas. This vast expense, directly or indirectly, reaches the backs of those who toil. It is equal to 20 per cent of the value of the cotton crop of this State. When the farmer markets his cotton he must stop at the Court House and unload one bale out of every five and divide it between the lawyers, judges, witnesses, juries, etc. Every industrial laborer who signs a paycheck must contribute heavily towards defraying our legal expenses, for every man who buys or sells an article of trade, must pay tribute to the bench and bar. It costs more than twice as much per annum to run our legal machinery than it does to run our educational institutions. It costs almost as much to settle legal disputes as it does to clothe all the people. Let no man be deceived into the belief that this is the people's problem. 49c

Talks With the Boys

By J. L. HARBOUR, IN THE VISITOR.

Life Is What We Make It.

Never was there a time in the history of our land when the boy was to the front as he is today. In the olden days he was kept very much in the background. Boys well along in their teens were classed with the children, of whom it was said that they should be seen and not heard. Now that is all changed. The boy is both seen and heard. He is looked upon as a most important factor in the tsets of the country. He is to the front in a way that would have shocked some of our old Puritan ancestors had they supposed that the boy would ever come to the front as he has done in recent years. What does all this really mean? Does it give the boy of today new responsibilities? It surely does. We expect more from the boy of today than we expected of the great majority of boys of other days. Why? Partly because the fact that the great majority of the boys of the early days in our country's history did not have the education that the boys of today have. Nor were there so many occupations open to them. Chances to make good in the world of finance and general industry were not so good as they are now. Boys were paid very little for their services. One of my friends, now in his ninety-sixth year, told me recently that when he was eighteen or nineteen years old he felt that he was doing very well to get a dollar a week for his services. There were no eight hours a day to constitute a day's labor and no half holidays. Often the boy had to peg away twelve hours a day. Now he looks askance at a job requiring his services nine hours a day. Nor does any reasonable person want him to work for twelve hours a day. No growing boy should work that long. One day last week I talked to a man whose entire time was spent in work with and for boys. He knows the field of the boy if any one knows it. I asked him what he thought of the chances of the boy of today compared with those of even forty years ago and he said: "The boys' chances are infinitely better today than at any time since then. The volume of business has increased enormously in forty years and the boys are needed in many places in which they were not needed even 25 years ago. One sees 'Boy Wanted' in all of the advertising columns of the newspapers, and nearly every day I see those two words on placards in the windows. The boy is wanted because of the increased volume of industry. The boy is wanted today as never before. Knowing the condition of business today as I do, I have come to feel that in no country in the world is there a better chance for a boy to make good than there is in the United States. It all depends on the boy."

That is one way of saying that the boy's life will be what he makes it. Here is something boys that I feel sure is literally true: "Do you dream of a golden tomorrow? You will reap what you are sowing today. We get out of life just what we put in it. The world has for us just what we have for it. It is a mirror which reflects the faces we make. If we smile and are glad, it will reflect a cheerful, sunny face. If we are sour and irritable, mean and contemptible, it still shows us a true copy of ourselves. The world is a whispering gallery which returns to us the echoes of our own voices. What we say of others is said of us. We shall find nothing in the world which we do not find in ourselves."

John G. Whittier, the gentle Quaker poet, put the same idea into verse when he wrote: "We shape ourselves the joy or fear Of which the coming life is made. And fill our future's atmosphere With sunshine or with shade."

I think that there is more merriment, more sunshine in the lives of the boys of today than there was in the lives of the boys of olden times. We do more to make the boys of the world of today happy. The boy of today is given much. Much is expected of him. How are you going to meet that expectation? What are you going to make of this life of yours? Do not make the mistake of thinking that the world owes you more than it really does, and never forget that you owe a great deal to the world, to the age in which you live. Keep that hindering thing that is called discontent out of your life. It is a great obstacle to success. If you have a poor sort of a job do not be discontent to stay with it, but while you are holding on to it, do your work as cheerfully and as faithfully as if it were a job of your own choosing. Every boy who reads this is responsible for his own career. If he does not make good, the fault is largely his own. The boy is rare indeed who has no chance to make good, if he is strong and well and has a real desire to make his life take on its divinely appointed honor and glory.

BUSINESS MEN OF TEXAS ARE NEEDED

SHOULD TAKE HAND IN LEGISLATIVE WORK.

By Morris Stern.

The business world of Texas is composed of men in part pioneers of the business life of our State; newcomers from the old world, or the older States of the Union, and only a comparatively small part of native Texans.

Let us review the business life of our State, and we will have to admit that its wonderful resources have been developed in a comparatively small span of years, as it took fully 20 years to overcome the devastation of the Civil War, and really modern progress has only commenced to make itself felt during the last three decades. No wonder then that the Texas business man was kept close to his personal affairs, and while in doing that he contributed his share to the upbuilding of his community and his State, we have now arrived at a time where modern methods build differently.

The merchant who, by economy and thrift, builds up his business and furnishes his wares at the closest margin, giving his cash customers the benefit of their cash, builds in one way by attracting trade to his community. However, that merchant who uses his means and his credit by helping the farmers to enlarge the scope of their activities, and who, to some extent, risks his means to that end, builds even better, because he stakes what he has got for the purpose of enlarging our farming operation, and after all, this is an agricultural country and needs all assistance possible to bring our millions of acres of untilled soil into cultivation.

The time has passed where the successful business man will attend to his affairs only, and if he did so from a selfish viewpoint, he will under modern business methods obtain far greater personal results by going beyond his personal interests, and he will at the same time benefit his community and fellow-citizens. The business man who builds with the view of benefiting his own business, his own community, and his State at the same time will reap the greatest harvest, both financially and also in the esteem of his fellow men, which, after all, counts for most.

Blackleg Vaccine Distributed from Fort Worth.

Stock owners generally, in Texas, will be interested in the decision of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture to make its local office at Fort Worth a distributing station for blackleg vaccine. The loss of young cattle from this disease in the State of Texas is considerable. It is being reduced to a minimum by those progressive stock owners who regularly vaccinate.

To secure the government vaccine stock owners should make request for application blanks to Dr. L. J. Allen, 217 Live Stock Exchange Building, Fort Worth, Texas. Vaccine will be sent on requests made in blanks prepared for the purpose, but only to actual stock owners for their cattle alone.

The Bureau of Animal Industry, through its office in Fort Worth, is co-operating with the Live Stock Sanitary Commission of Texas, County Commissioners courts, and the stock owners in the eradication of the cattle tick which transmits Texas or Splenic Fever. About 40 per cent of the original area quarantined in the United States for these ticks has been cleaned up under such co-operative efforts, and released from quarantine. Systematic dipping is the only method that is used. A great volume of this work is being done in Texas. Three quarters of a million head of cattle, in some 20 counties in Texas, are being dipped at regular intervals for tick eradication, in approximately 90 vats, most of which have been built since January first.

Many Students Teach School.

It has been estimated that more than 4,000 of the 21,000 teachers in Texas have been students at the University of Texas. Last year the appointment committee selected from the University secured positions for 432 University students who had adopted that means of earning a living. This year the number will be probably even greater. The appointment committee does its works without charge to the students. The salaries paid to teachers secured by the appointment committee last year amounted to more than $300,000.

The Pecos Times is BETTER—Still $1.00.

General Science Bulletin.

A bulletin on General Science by Carl Hartman, B. A., M. A., Ph. D., Adjunct Professor of Zoology in the University of Texas, will be issued in the early fall through the Department of School Visitation, of the University. The University of Texas has done much practical work for the high schools of the state by issuing bulletins on subjects related to the high school courses of study. The demand for these bulletins is not only statewide, but requests are received from other states and Canada. Among the most popular of these bulletins are those on Manual Training, Domestic Science, German and Chemistry.

Just the Thing For Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend the remedy because they know it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.—Advt.

Appointed State Statistician.

Fred W. Davis, State Commissioner of Agriculture, has announced the appointment of Harry Hampton Williams to the position of statistician. Mr. Williams is a popular newspaper man, well known among country weekly publishers, and is considered a vigorous and a brilliant writer.

Commissioner Davis feels indebted to newspaper men of Texas for many courtesies. The appointment of Mr. Williams may be considered as a well-deserved recognition of the Texas newspaper fraternity.

The Best Laxative.

To keep the bowels regular the best laxative is outdoor exercise. Drink a full glass of water a half hour before breakfast and eat an abundance of fruit and vegetables, also establish a regular habit and be sure that your bowels move at least once each day. When a medicine is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Advt.
