Mrs. Sam Neill held devotional services. After the regular business meeting a course of dainty refreshments were served.

Seventeen members were present at the meeting, also one visitor.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR RALLY

The Christian Endeavor Rally for the counties of Jeff Davis, Brewster and Presidio was held Friday evening at 7:30 at the Presbyterian church.

Quite a number of visiting delegates attended this rally, among them Jack Huppertz, field secretary Texas Christian Endeavor Union, who arrived from Dallas, Texas, who made a very interesting address.

After the rally, everybody attended a reception given in honor of Jack Huppertz, the field director, by Mrs. Wick Livingston at her home, fully 40 guests attending. A very pleasant evening was spent and a most delicious course of refreshments was served by the hostess.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS

Begins October 2nd. Phone 300. Mrs. Ross Harp. Four years experience in school work.

BIG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A big Chamber of Commerce rally will be held next Monday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Community House, to which every citizen of Marfa is invited to attend.

Matters of vital importance will come up at that will be of much interest to our city, especially to those who are in business or to those who have houses to rent.

The meeting will pertain to the coming of the First Cavalry, who will be stationed here in Camp Marfa. The soldiers will arrive here about October 20th.

Every citizen of Marfa who has property for rent is requested to be there in person or send a list of what he has to rent. Especial stress is put forth for everyone to rent their property at a reasonable price and not overcharge, for it is Marfa's desire to do the right thing and co-operate with the officers and men of the new regiment that will be stationed here.

Properly holders have had a taste the past few months of what it means to have their buildings vacant and if behavior all to put a fair rental value on their houses so that there will be no occasion for the newcomers to kick on rents.

It is estimated that possibly 40 houses will be needed to accommodate the coming officers and men, who will have to rent houses outside of the Post.

Let everybody come who has the interest of our city at heart. Ladies as well as men invited to attend.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S RECITAL

The recital given Friday night at the Opera House by Mrs. F. M. Johnson was one of the best recitals ever staged in our city.

The audience was not as large as it might have been on account of the various other social entertainments that were held on the same evening, but all those who were fortunate enough to attend certainly enjoyed a treat.

The stage was artistically arranged with beautiful flowers and evergreens of many varieties, and the singing as well as the music, was splendid. Also the Spanish dance by Miss Dommie Simpson, and Harry Young was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Johnson received applause upon applause after each song that she sang, for her sweet voice certainly made a hit with her audience.

The violin selections by Mrs. Graves Bogel were greatly enjoyed, while Mrs. R. S. McCracken played the accompaniment through the entire recital with perfect time.

Miss Elizabeth Fennell and Miss Tommy Simpson made a hit with the audience in presenting their act, entitled "Up-to-date Grand Opera" accompanied on the piano by Mrs. R. B. Morris.

The readings by Rev. F. M. Johnson received much applause.

Tonight the same program will be staged at Alpine and we predict a big success for the recital has been well advertised there and is being looked forward to by the music loving citizens of that city.

Paul Propst Moves to Fort Davis

Paul Propst "the road builder," as he is known in Marfa, has moved to Fort Davis with his family, where he will make his home in the future.

Mr. Propst resigned his position with the Government as civil engineer to take effect September 25, and has accepted a position as supervisor and construction engineer of roads for Jeff Davis county, where he will build something like 80 miles of roads through that county.

He has leased the Harold Thompson home at Fort Davis and is moving there today.

All Marfa will regret to lose Paul, especially those citizens that have the interest of our city at heart, for Mr. Propst has certainly done a great deal for us in supervising the construction of Marfa's main thoroughfares, for he was personally interested in the welfare of our city streets and did much work free gratis in keeping them in shape. In fact, Marfa never had any streets as we now have before he pitched in and built them for us.

Mr. Propst has been a resident of our city for seven years, having come here in 1915 from San Antonio and since that time he has had charge of the Government road work in the Big Bend country and built many good roads through some of the roughest country in the State of Texas. He is simply an expert at the work and Jeff Davis county can be congratulated on having employed him to build their roads.

We understand that the first work that Jeff Davis proposes to do is to put the Valentine-Fort Davis road in good shape, then the road through the Limpia Canyon. The latter will be quite a task and will cost much money and labor, but Mr. Propst will build them a road, for he built some for the Government in the Big Bend country, where conditions were equally as rough.

The New Era joins the many friends of Mr. Propst in wishing him much success in his new position, and we hope he will come to Marfa often and visit with us.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

While motoring to El Paso this week W. B. Bond, of the Crown Cafe, had a very serious accident happen to him near Ysleta, Texas.

He was driving at a brisk speed when he ran over an embankment about eighteen feet deep, turning over and demolishing his new Dodge car.

How he ever managed to come out alive is still a puzzle to him, but he was only scared up a little about his face by broken glass of the windshield.

Mr. Bond found it necessary to abandon his car and to go into El Paso for medical attention, as the cuts on his face were bleeding profusely.

He returned to Marfa by rail and sent J. L. Ramey to Ysleta to bring back his car for repairs.

Mr. Bond reports that where he had the accident the road suddenly makes a sharp turn and if a car is going at a fast speed it is impossible to make the turn quick enough. He assures his friends that hereafter he will not try to beat Barney Oldfield's record when he drives to El Paso.

Ed Nevill of the Longhorn Cafe, is having his kitchen overhauled and getting things in readiness for the rush of business that his cafe anticipates in the near future.

Mrs. H. O. Metcalfe was the Household Science Club hostess on September 21. Those responding to the roll call were: Mesdames Anderson, Casner, Davis, Haynes, Kern, Satter, McKee, Clay and Lloyd Mitchell, Ray, Myrick, Rosson and Metcalfe.

Mrs. Mabry was guest. The lesson for this meeting was led by Mrs. Ray and was on lingerie and underwear.

The next meeting, October 5th, will be with Mrs. A. J. Hoffman.

As it is time for the election of officers, all are urged to be present.

BREWSTER COUNTY ROAD BONDS CARRY BY BIG MAJORITY

Brewster County is rejoicing over the outcome of last Saturday's Road Bond election, which carried by a vote of ten to one.

A $300,000.00 bond issue was voted on and only 48 opposing votes were cast in the entire county. This was a remarkable success for Brewster county and something they can be justly proud of, but it has always been the spirit of Alpine and Brewster county to be on the progressive side in all big things, and that is why they, today, have the Orient railroad, the Sul Ross Normal, the big smelter and now a $300,000.00 fund to build good roads with an additional amount of $300,000.00 that will be given toward this road fund by the State and Government, and in addition, they have attained representation at all big events that few other West Texas towns have accomplished, and it has all come about by their ever-progressive spirit—they are simply a bunch of live wire boosters.

Even though we do not live in Brewster County, it makes us feel good to know that this road bond issue was carried, for it will give food for thought to other counties who, too, are sadly in need of good roads, that are still asleep to the fact that progress is on its way and will surely awaken them sooner or later.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS. PICNIC—FIELD MEET—DANCE.

Knights of Columbus, Sept. 25th

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual picnic, field meet and dance on September 25th, starting at 2:00 p. m. The picnic and field meet will be held at Paisano Pass. The dance will be held at the Opera House.

Everybody welcome. Cars leave Knights of Columbus Hall at 2:00 p. m. sharp.

For the field meet two teams will be chosen, choosing to take place on picnic grounds, immediately upon arrival. One team will be known as the "Hats On" team, who will wear their hats during the meet; and the other team will be known as the "Hats Off" team, who will keep their sky pieces off during the meet. If ladies picked for the "Hats On" team did not wear any hats to the grounds, some of the onlookers will be kind enough to loan them theirs. Mr. Younk will be in charge of the "Hats On" team and Father Paloma will be in charge of the "Hats Off" team.

The team securing the greatest number of points will be declared winners.

Following is the program of the day:

- 2:00—Leave Knights of Columbus Hall for picnic grounds.
- 2:45—Arrive at picnic grounds and choose teams.
- 2:50—100 yad dash for men.
- 2:55—50 yard dash for ladies.
- 3:00—Fat mens race.
- 3:05—Old mens race.

- 3:15—Running broad jump for men.
- 3:25—Running broad jump for ladies.

2nd Place 3 points
3rd Place 1 point

Immediately after the field meet, a ball game will be played between the "Hats On" and the "Hats Off." The person designated as in charge of these teams for the field meet will act as team managers for the ball teams. Ladies may be used on teams, if team managers desire to do so. When a lady is to bat the opposing pitcher must throw a slow ball over. No fair hitting a hot liner to a lady fielder.

Supper will be at 6:00 o'clock, at which time the ball game will end, if it is not completed before then. If the game is not completed at 6:00 o'clock, the team having the most runs win.

The Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas has adopted one of the largest campaign plans ever put in operation in Texas.

Beginning Monday, September 25, there will be an all-state motor tour lasting one week, during which time it is planned to have speakers visit every church in the State in the interest of the Fall roundup.

Rev. C. S. Harrison, of Marfa, has been chosen by the committee directing this all-state speaking tour, as one of the speakers, and he will leave Monday to take the itinerary assigned him. All of the pastors who have been chosen for this work will give their time to it free of all cost to the Board.

The campaign will be in the interest of all the mission work, of all the educational and benevolent institutions and enterprises fostered by the Baptist people.

—Miss Pickett will teach a class in History of Music beginning next week. Anyone interested may see her at her studio or ring 269. She can also take a few more pupils in Piano, Violin or Clarionett.

Lord is My Light," by Speaks.

Theodore DuMolin presented a cello solo, "Cantelena," by Golferman, and the Quartet broadcasted the famous Rigoletto quartet by Verdi.

Then came the surprise and the most pleasing number of the program. It was "Love's Old Sweet Song," violin solo (four-part harmony), presented by Joseph Stelzl on the Mills Melody Violins, the only violin instruments on which this is possible, accompanied by Herman Klum, pianist.

The program closed with "Lord God of Abraham," by Mendelssohn, sung by G. Magnus Schutz, basso.

The School of Mills

The history of the violin has shown that as master violin makers created their instruments, modeled them and gave them the tone and finish, they were classified as schools, but nowhere in history does the American school appear, and it remained for the school of Mills to take its place among the violin makers of history.

Every violin that is used in the Mills Group Control is made in the School of Mills, perfected by master musicians, toned by expert processes, the result of years of experiment, and from wood selected by experts.

A humorous angle of the Mills School of Violins is the story of the wood that goes into the production of the violins. Mr. Mills was buying seasoned violin wood from Germany and paying an exorbitant price for it. He became curious and finally traced the wood he was buying to the American forest, whence it was purchased, transported to Germany, seasoned and shipped back to him to be used as impoted wood in his violins. It is needless to say that he eliminated all this unnecessary handling of the wood and secured it direct from the American forests.

Plays Like an Organ

The instrument is different from his organ, only that it plays string instruments by means of the keyboard, and is destined to take its place alongside of the piano or organ as a concert accompanist. This was clearly demonstrated at the recent radio concert.

To Henry K. Sandell goes the credit for having created the invention and to H. S. Mills goes the credit for the perfection of the instrument which has been worked out at an enormous expense, until today it has reached perfection, and its popularity in concerts, moving pictures, hotels, clubs and theatres where programs and accompaniments are given extemporaneously is assured.

The United States Government has called the Mills Melody Violins one of the eight greatest inventions of the decade. Violin masters, including Kubelik, have listened to its wonderful music and declared it beyond comprehension, and yet it is possible for the smallest child to operate the keyboard.

How Music is Produced

A player of the Mills Melody Violin sits at a console similar to a small organ with a keyboard of two banks of ordinary keys. There are electrical controls above the keyboard which operate similarly to the pipe organ. At his feet are three pedals.

Around the console, either together or separated, or at any distance, connected by an electrical cable, are several violins. There can be any number from one to one hundred, and they can be placed hundreds of feet away, against walls, in separate rooms, and they will play from the keyboard at the touch of the musicians.

Each violin is a complete unit. It is mounted by itself and controlled by a switch, and all violins can be played in unison, or one can be played alone. When the violinists wish to play on any instrument, he touches a switch and the instrument is brought into action. By manipulating the keys he can play from one instrument to another and get the same tone. He may also, from his pedals, bring into action all violins without resorting to the switches.

—LOST—A ladies pocket-book by one of the teachers attending the Institute. Finder will please return to New Era.

Dr. A. J. Hoffman and family returned from El Paso this week, where the Doctor attended the Federal court as a grand-jurymen. He says that the grand jury he was on had already found 78 indictments and that he will have to return to El Paso next Monday to continue on the jury, for they only recessed for a few days. The Federal docket this term promises to be one of the heaviest dockets in years. Most of the cases are narcotic and bootlegging cases.

Under new management. Everything clean and sanitary.

Mr. and Mrs. Santos Quiroz.

Nolan Aiken, son of N. J. Aiken, who resides in the extreme North end of the city limits, holds the undisputed record of having killed more hawks this season than any other person in Marfa. He has bagged an even eighty hawks and says he expects to reach the one-hundred mark before the year is up. In the beginning of the season Nolan received a quarter for each hawk he killed, from a neighbor, who, like Nolan's mother, was trying to raise some chickens, but after awhile this bonus dropped to 10 cents each, then the cut again reduced his pay to a cartridge for each bird and now Nolan says he is buying his own cartridges, for he has killed so many hawks that his neighbor went broke.

GREAT CONCERT UNITES GREAT INVENTIONS OF MUSIC AND AIR

The radio phone, the motion picture machine and the Mills Melody Violins—the three greatest inventions of the recent past, were brought together recently in Chicago, and a sacred concert rendered which was picked up by the radio enthusiasts of twenty states.

While the program of the sacred concert was being given, motion pictures were made by the International News Reel, and upwards of 500,000 motion picture fans will see not alone the operations of the radio broadcasting station on the screen, but will also have the opportunity of witnessing the operation of the latest invention in the musical world.

The program which was arranged under the direction of the two musical directors, Morgan L. Eastman of the Westinghouse Radio Station KYW at Chicago, and Banks Cregier, was called the greatest musical program broadcasted by the radio so far.

The Mills Melody Violins furnish the violin music that accompanied the singers, the harp, the organ and a four part harmony solo on one of the group violins outshone the other numbers of the program.

Wilson J. Weatherbee, program director of KYW Radio Station, announced the concert to the radio world, and as the program was about to proceed the broadcasting room resembled a concert hall and moving picture studio combined.

In the center of the broadcasting room, on the upper floor of a skyscraper in Chicago's loop, the various musical instruments were arranged around the huge microphone which receives the music and transports it by air channels to the world. At the left, Herman Klum, pianist, sat at the concert grand piano, to his right sat Miss Shelby Jabine at the organ, and Joseph Stelzl was seated at the Mills Melody Violin console, with five violins of the group control circled in front of the microphone.

The Official Description

When the signal was given for the program to proceed the following was sent out over the radio.

Tonight among other musical numbers, it will be your pleasure to hear Mills Melody Violins, the latest musical invention, played over the radiophone, the latest device for transmitting sound by wireless.

Mills Melody Violins are real violins, any number of which may be placed under the control of a single player. The musicians sit at the keyboard, resembling that of any piano or organ. Every violin he is playing is at all times perfectly under his control, so that he can execute the most difficult feats of violin playing with ease.

On each violin all four strings can be played at once and four-part harmony with string quartet effect can be produced.

So remarkable is this electrically controlled violin that the United States Government has designated it as one of the eight greatest inventions of the decade.

All the violin music this evening will be played on the Mills Melody Violins.

While this program is being rendered a third great invention, the motion picture camera is making a reel under the direction of Harold Brown of the International News Reel.

Violin Play With Organs.

A few seconds later "Andante Religioso," by Thome, rendered by the Mills Melody Violins, Joseph Stelzl, violinist; Miss Shelby Jabine, organist, and Miss Janice O'Hara, was being heard in all its musical grandeur by 200,000 persons listening in their homes, offices, clubs and other places where radio receiving sets were working.

Miss Esther Muenstermann, in her beautiful contralto voice, next broadcasted Evening and Morning, by Spicket.

The Anthem Hymn, by Shelley, and sung by a quartet composed of Marie Rossi, soprano; Esther Muenstermann, contralto; Magnus Schutz, basso and William Mitchell, tenor, sent the music of this beautiful number ringing through the sound waves to the anxious listeners.

Miss Janice O'Hara, concert harpist, next played the "Prayer," by Hasselmanns.

The Mills Melody Violin accompanied Alfred Maclsaac, baritone soloist, in his rendition of an evening prayer, "The Day is Ended," by Bartlett.

A violin solo by Joseph Stelzl, accompanied by Herman Klum at the piano, brought the technique of the Mills Melody Violins into play in the broadcasting of the musical number "To a violet," by Zameenick.

A demonstration of how the group violin blends in with the voice was given when it accompanied Marie Rossi in her rendition of "The Song of the Soul," by Briel.

William Mitchell, tenor, then gave an artistic presentation of "The
