WAYLAND PLANS FOR 300 STUDENTS NEXT SESSION

BOARD AUTHORIZES SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS, AND RE-ELECTS PRES. ATWOOD

The Board of Directors of Wayland college met at the Baptist church in Plainview yesterday morning, with B. W. McGlasson, chairman, presiding, and J. M. Malone, secretary of the board. Other than local trustees there were present Dr. J. E. Nunn and Rev. W. L. Tubbs of Amarillo, J. M. Haggard and W. A. Dohden of Floydada, Rev. Gordon Barrett of Tullia and Rev. C. A. Joiner of Petersburg.

The reports of the finances of the institution showed it in better condition than ever before.

It was planned to at once begin to work out plans to have not less than three hundred students in the college next year, and everyone connected with the institution will work to this end.

The board authorized that the funds soon to be derived from the first installment of the Baptist $75,000,000 campaign be used to fully equip the gymnasium, enlarge the library, complete the interior furnishing and lay walks and drives about the grounds.

Dr. E. B. Atwood, who has been president of the college the past year was re-elected for another year.

D. W. McGlasson was re-elected chairman of the board, was adopted, long, secretary.

A resolution respecting the recent death of Judge T. D. Webb, for years chairman of the board, were adopted.

Dr. Atwood will leave this afternoon for Nashville, Tenn., to attend a meeting of the educational board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL TO LECTURE IN PLAINVIEW

Date Made With Bureau for Hoosier Statesman Some Time Next Fall

Thirty local citizens have signed a contract with a lyceum bureau to have Vice President Thos. W. Marshall lecture in Plainview some time next fall. The cost of the lecture will be $250.

Mr. Marshall is one of the most unique old-fashioned lecturers in the country, and his epigrams are superb.

Thirty-One Missourians Move to Hale County

Thirty-one Missourians moved to Hale county in one party last week. If very many such movements as this could be made to Hale county, would it not be a great improvement?

In this party are C. C. Haggard, wife and three children, who will locate in Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. George Haggard and seven children, who will locate on the Unger farm, nine miles southeast of Plainview; James Haggard, a brother of the above, who will live on the Unger farm also; Mr. and Mrs. Dock Reed and three children, who recently bought E. H. Humphreys farm near Hale Center; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed and three children, who have bought the Harder farm from Mr. Whitacre; Mr. and Mrs. Lon Scott and three children, who will work with Mr. Reed; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wester and four children, who will locate southeast of town, and another man whose name we did not get.

All of these people came from the same county in and about Aldrich, in Southwest Missouri. They are mostly related to Mr. and Mrs. Will Eastridge of near Bellview.

Public Auction Sales

O. M. Unger will hold a sale at his Valley Ranch, six miles east and three miles south of Plainview, three miles west of Aiken, Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 10 o'clock. In the sale will be horses, mules, cattle, hogs, chickens and farm implements. Auctioneer W. A. Nash will conduct the sale. The list appears elsewhere in the News.

I. E. Botts will hold a sale at his place eleven miles northwest of Plainview Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 10 o'clock. A list of the stuff to be sold will appear in Friday's News. Auctioneer C. F. Sjogren of Kress will conduct the sale. Mr. Botts and family expect to move to Northwest Arkansas.

Will Establish Realty Office

Herman Shulz of Madison, Wis., who has been bringing homeseekers to the Plainview country for more than ten years, is again becoming more active in the business, and has established an office in Abernathy, with U. S. Norton of Madison, Wis., in charge, to better handle prospectors and settle them on farms in Hale and Lubbock counties.

25 Autos Destroyed in Fire

Brownfield, Jan. 24.—A garage occupied by the Bradley Automobile Company of this place, together with twenty-five automobiles, owned by patrons was destroyed by fire early Friday morning. No insurance. The building was owned by M. V. Brownfield. The total loss is estimated at $25,000.

Car Movement Increasing

The railroads are sending a rapidly increasing number of freight cars into Northwest Texas now to handle the grain, feed and other shipments of products, and the movement is easing up the accumulated stocks. Seventy cars were placed at Plainview and Tullia Thursday and Friday, so a grain dealer informs us.

Woodman Insurgents Win

The courts in Missouri Monday held the Woodman of the World lodge had no legal right to make the raise in rates as proposed at its national meeting last July.

Auto Light Act Invalid

The court of criminal appeals last week held the Texas law against the use of glaring lights on automobiles to be invalid.

HINN LETS CONTRACT FOR 224,000-BUSHEL GRAIN ELEVATOR IN PLAINVIEW

Will Be Constructed of Concrete, Modern in Every Detail, Electrically Propelled, 225 Feet High

Albert G. Hinn, proprietor of the Harvest Queen Mills in this city, this week let the contract to the Burrell Engineering Co. of Kansas City, for the construction of a modern grain elevator, with a capacity of 224,000 bushels of grain. Works will begin on the structure as soon as the material can be assembled. The Burrell people are now constructing a large elevator in Amarillo.

The new elevator is to be just east of the main road and will be an eight-story building, each eighteen feet in diameter and ninety feet high, and having a 30,000 bushels capacity. The work house of the elevator will be 225 feet high, the tallest structure in Northwest Texas most likely, and will be equipped with modern machinery to handle the grain all being propelled by electric motors.

This will give the Harvest Queen Mills at this place storage for 254,000 bushels of grain, as their present elevators have a capacity of 30,000 bushels. They also have large elevators at Crosbyton and Ralls, and we understand they will also erect an elevator at Lida Switch, just east of Plainview on the Floydada branch of the Santa Fe. This will give them capacity of approximately 300,000 bushels, and will be a great boon to the wheat growers of the Plainview district.

ROSSER CASE DISMISSED OTHER MAN AGGRESSOR

DAMERON ACKNOWLEDGED HE BEGUN FIGHT THAT RESULTED IN STABBING

Friday, after the jury had been sequestered in the case against A. B. Rosser, charged with having stabbed Mr. Dameron on the Rosser farm near Abernathy, the district attorney made a motion to dismiss the case, which was done, saying that there was not sufficient evidence to sustain the indictment. Officers tell us that Dameron that day went before them and made a statement exonerating Rosser, saying that it was he who had been the aggressor in the fight with Rosser and his son in which the stabbing occurred.

Frank Marshall vs. T. S. Magness, suit over pasture lease, on trial. This case was tried once and was reversed by the court of civil appeals.

Otus Reeves et al vs. A. D. Shook, et al, suit for title and possession of property; plea of privilege, case transferred to Lynn county for trial.

Jessie A. Prosser vs. Barney E. Prosser, divorce, granted.

Tommy McGill French vs. Guy French, divorce, granted with custody of child.

Wallace vs. Benton, suit on boundary, judgment for plaintiff for all land sued for except ten acres.

The cases of Mrs. Cormany and Mrs. Williams, wives of the traveling men who were run over and killed by a Santa Fe train at Hale Center more than two years ago, as they were crossing the tract in a car, against the Santa Fe, are set for trial February 9th. We understand the railroad has made settlement with Mrs. Cormany, but will fight the other case, as Williams was driving the car when it was struck, and will claim he was to blame for the accident.

The jury for this week is composed of C. D. Benson, F. M. Daugherty, C. D. Phillips, Clint Alexander, C. G. Brown, B. E. Bolen, N. C. Payne, T. H. Brown, J. M. Buchanan, M. A. McCraw, Frank Eiring, H. V. Tull, W. T. Austin, T. A. Waide, Lee Crow, Sim McMinn, J. R. Hubbard, J. O. Harrell, W. W. Kerfees, J. J. Cole, J. K. Yates, H. K. Hartley, E. Tipton, J. W. Day, J. W. Neil, W. C. Thomson, J. P. Wilkins, T. L. Harbinson, W. J. Pierson.

Gov. Hobby Won't Run

Senator G. W. Dayton of Gainesville says Gov. Hobby informed him last week that he would not be a candidate for re-election as governor.

GENSUS ENUMERATION OF PLAINVIEW NEARLY ENDED

HELP GET ALL PERSONS WHO HAVE NOT YET BEEN ENUMERATED

It is the intention of the local enumerators to finish the census of Plainview within the next day or so. Mr. C. H. Botts, who is taking the census south of Eighth street, will likely finish today, except for a few stragglers, and the editor of the News, who is taking north of Eighth street expects to finish Thursday. In fact, less than fifty houses in the town have not been visited.

Plainview wants to enumerate everyone in the town, so the enumerators ask for the assistance of the people, YOU, in rounding up any persons not already enumerated.

The co-operation of every individual citizen of Plainview and of every business institution in the city in making a complete count of the city's population for the 1920 federal census is requested by the local enumerators. The head of each and every firm is urged to find out if all his employees have been enumerated; each boarding house proprietor will please inquire of each boarder. Somebody on each block is requested to inquire of every other family residing on the block if its members have been enumerated. Where a person finds anyone not enumerated the fact should be at once reported to the News office, phone 97.

Families out of the city temporarily and children who are in school elsewhere should be accounted for.

Persons who have not been enumerated are urged to fill out this coupon, mail or send it to the Plainview News, and same will be attended to by an enumerator at once.

(Cut out and fill in blanks)

I live at the address given below, but to the best of my knowledge I have not yet been counted by the census takers:

Street No.

..... members of my family also have not enumerated.

(give name of boarders)

who lives at my house, have not been enumerated.

(Every member of every family, servants and all roomers who may live in your house should be reported if they have not been counted.)

Interesting Local Items, with Comments and Observations by the Editor

Roy Davis of Howe arrived last week to look after his farm near East Mound, on which he has quite a good-sized acreage of wheat. We are hoping that Mr. Davis and family will soon move to Hale county.

While out taking the census yesterday the editor of the News caught one of the leading members of the bunch on the corner of the square actually at work. He at once began pleading with us not to tell the members of the bunch, for he said he didn't want to be excommunicated.

R. B. Barrier left Sunday to join buyers of the Barrier Bros.' store at Lubbock, Floydada and Brownfield, and they will visit New York and other Eastern markets, to buy spring and summer stocks for their four stores. Mr. Barrier said they expected to buy especially large stocks of goods.

Dr. Stobaugh from Coleman has arrived and will be associated with Dr. C. D. Wofford in his dental offices. Dr. Stobaugh is a graduate of dentistry and has had much experience in the profession. The editor of the News knew the Stobaugh family in Coleman more than twenty years ago, and is very glad this young man has come to make his home in Plainview.

John J. Roberts and family have been here and at Hale Center for a couple of weeks, visiting relatives, while he buys a lot of feedstuffs and grain. He was a merchant and grain dealer at Hale Center for many years and still owns an interest in the grain business there. He is now in the seed, grain and feed business in Dallas with a brother-in-law, and they have offices in Dallas and Galveston. He says Hale county farmers surely have a lot of feedstuffs still on hand.

Well Driller Accidentally Killed

F. N. Rayner, well driller, was killed by becoming entangled in his well machinery Monday of last week south of Ralls. Mr. Rayner was a stranger in this country, coming from somewhere in Oklahoma. He was about 35 years of age. He was buried in Lubbock cemetery.

FRUIT AND FRUIT-GROWING IN THE PLAINVIEW COUNTRY

CAN BE MADE SUCCESSFUL AND PROFITABLE, SAYS MR. DALMONT

(By R. Kenneth Evans)

Fruit raising in the Plains country is an industry that is attracting considerable attention at this time as the development of other resource advances. It is a characteristic of every country in a state of development that every line of industry is given a trial. Some succeed and others fail where success could be accomplished and according to those who are familiar with conditions, fruit raising in the Plains country can be made as profitable a business as it is in California. It is perhaps a fact that to make this statement is perhaps overdrawn the situation somewhat, but it is an established fact—substantiated by what has been accomplished by some—that fruit can be made one of the most paying crops on the Plains.

Eighteen or twenty years ago there were practically no trees on the Plains. This country was a part of a vast unbroken prairie. Unbroken so far as trees are concerned in that the natural condition of this section does not bring about the growing of trees. The residents of the Plains have been very generous with the planting of all kinds of trees, this planting not being confined to the planting of fruit orchards. However, the work of making a living has occupied the time of the majority of the citizens to such an extent that they have been unable to give the trees the proper attention during the times when they needed water and care and as a result the planting of trees in this section has not progressed as rapidly as it should.

The situation is changing somewhat at this time, however. With the proving of sufficient water in this section for irrigation purposes, interest is being centered in the developing of fruit orchards. The plans being adopted at this time, however, are far different than in the past in that a careful study of soil conditions are being made and the class and varieties of trees that will grow and thrive under the conditions existing here are being planted. There are varieties of fruit trees which will grow in one climate and will not grow in another. For instance a certain variety of apple tree will demand certain attention and will not grow without it, while another variety of apple tree will grow in the same spot.

There is probably no one in the Plains country more familiar with the fruit growing opportunities than L. N. Dalmont, for many years proprietor of the Plainview Nursery, which is one of the largest nurseries in the great Southwest. Mr. Dalmont has made a thorough study of the fruit situation in this section. He has worked for eighteen years on the Plains growing all kinds of fruits. When asked about the fruit possibilities, Mr. Dalmont stated that with proper care and attention this section could be made to produce fruit as profitable as California.

He said, "After eighteen years' experience in fruit growing on the Plains I have decided that it is a success and can be carried out successfully. It will not develop into a successful industry, however, if people continue to plant at random varieties of fruits that are not adapted to the climatic and soil conditions of the Plains country, and if they continue to handle their orchards in a careless manner, as they have been doing in the past. Under this class of handling it will be a failure in the future as it has in many instances in the past.

"Fruit growing can be made a success," continued Mr. Dalmont. "That is to say if those who engage in the industry will plant a variety of fruit trees which have been tried and tested and have proven to be adapted to the climatic conditions of this section. The land should be cultivated in the proper manner and the trees should be pruned in the right manner and thus fruit growing can be made a profitable industry.

The people of the Plains country have been very liberal in the planting of trees, but the trouble is that they have had too much to do and then dry weather comes and they

LONG-BELL LUMBER CO.

ALFALFA LUMBER CO.

(By R. Kenneth Evans)

There is probably not an individual firm or organization in Plainview or the Plains country that has played a more effective part in the development of the resources of this section than the Long-Bell Lumber Company, which was established in Plainview long before the railroad came to this section or approximately fifteen years ago and since the day of its first establishment here the management has constantly exerted every possible influence to bring about maximum development of the resources of this section.

The Long-Bell Company is owned and operated by the Long-Bell Lumber company, a Kansas City corporation, operating in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. The writer has detailed knowledge of the effort that has always been exerted by the management of the Long-Bell Company toward maximum development in all territory where they are located. In fact, this firm is unlike many like institutions, in that it does not operate its yards from the standpoint of seeing how much actual profit can be taken from a community. In fact, they maintain extensive investments wherever they are located, they pay extensive taxes, they maintain up to date yards and through their local manager conduct the business of the yards just as though they were purely local institutions. So far as the interest taken in civic development in Plainview the Long-Bell Lumber Company takes part as though there were no head office and as though the sole business of this institution was located in Plainview. The managers of the Long-Bell yards have specific instructions from the head office to always take part in co-operative efforts for civic and maximum development and this practice is followed out in Plainview so long as it is consistent with good business judgment.

There are many attractive features connected with buying materials from the Long-Bell Lumber Company in Plainview. First the Long-Bell Company operates and owns seventeen saw mills of their own, which are operated in the timber country, which makes it possible for this company to produce their own building materials at less cost than the yards which handle from other mills. The supplies to each of their yards comes from these mills in addition to an extensive wholesale business which cares for the entire output from their mills. The company also owns extensive timber lands and the majority of the materials sold from their yards come from the lands owned by the Long-Bell Company, which also eliminates an extensive cost of production. The fact that the lumber is milled by the company affords an opportunity of handling a better class of materials as it is possible to choose the class of materials handled and the retail dealer is not forced to take just the kind of products the mills wishes to ship them as is generally the case where a yard is buying from some other mill than its own.

The Long-Bell Lumber Company in Plainview has furnished a large proportion of the materials which have been used in the building of the many business blocks of Plainview and the building of farm improvements. They carry one of the most extensive lines of building materials which not alone means lumber, but includes builders' hardware, cement, brick, lime and plaster and the many other materials which are necessary in the construction of buildings. In fact, their stock of building materials is one of the largest to be found anywhere in the Plains country.

The Long-Bell Lumber Company operating from Plainview also has an extensive outside trade in addition to the Hale county business, lumber bills being handled in Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Clovis and other places. W. B. Anthony the manager of the local yard has been in Plainview with the Long-Bell Company for more than a year and during that time has proven to be a valuable addition to the commercial world. He came to Plainview from Oklahoma, where he was engaged in the Lumber business, being associated with Hudson-Houston Lumber Co. Those who contemplate building will do well to take their lumber bills to the Long-Bell Lumber Company, a pioneer institution, which insures the best of service and satisfaction in price. The Long-Bell Company operates 120 retail stores in five states.

Surprise Birthday Party For C. H. Curl

Friday was the birthday anniversary of Judge C. H. Curl and a number of his friends stormed the Curl home at night, with a surprise party, bringing well filled baskets of good things to eat, making a delicious supper.

Each guest also brought neatly wrapped "something they wished to get rid of" and there was much fun as Judge Curl opened each package only to find it to contain some kind of old junk.

Later he was presented with a box of fine cigars and some real nice remembrances.

The evening was also spent playing forty-two and with music.

Ethelbert Dowden Marries

Miss Josephine Trigg Pigott

Mr. Ethelbert Dowden of Plainview was married to Miss Josephine Trigg Pigott in Helena, Montana, Jan. 15, and the following account of the wedding is taken from one of the Helena newspapers. The papers mention no less than fifteen "showers" and other pre-nuptial social affairs in honor of them; for the bride is a very popular young lady of the Montana capital.

Pigott-Dowden, Jr., Wedding

Beautiful in the exquisite simplicity of its setting was the wedding of Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, when Miss Josephine Trigg Pigott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hale Pigott, became the bride of Mr. Ethelbert Dowden, Jr., of Plainview, Texas. Rev. Newman Hall Burdick officiated and Mr. Pigott gave the daughter in marriage.

The chancel was banked with arbutus and stately calla lilies and all about the snowy flowers was the green of woodlawn ferns.

Mr. Charles H. Wright was at the organ and played from the opera "Lohengrin" before the ceremony, leading up to the wedding march. He played softly during the exchanging of the wedding vows, and the Mendelssohn wedding march was the recessional.

Mr. Dowden, Jr., and his best man, Edward G. Toomey, awaited the arrival of the bridal party at the chancel steps. The procession was led by the ushers walking two by two. They were Edgar Stewart, Claude Lansstrum, Paris Bartley and Gene Holden.

Next came the bridesmaids, Miss Lois Brantly, gowned in shell pink charmeuse and Miss Anna Lou Pigott, sister of the bride in pink net over pink satin, with sprays of rosebuds. The skirts were made round length with side draperies of pink silk tulle, caught at the low coicure with a single ostrich tip. The décolletage of the bodice was finished with folds of silk tulle. They carried white satin muffs, edged with ruffles of tulle, and across each muff was a bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden-hair fern and a shower of white freesia.

Miss Marian Pigott, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pale blue chiffon taffeta, made simply with round length and decollete bodice of silver lace and flesh-colored tulle, with drapery of tulle, caught at the coiffure with a pink ostrich tip. She carried a bouquet of Columbia roses and farleyance fern, tied with tulle.

The bride's dress was a beautiful creation of white duchess satin and silver embroidered tulle. The surplice bodice was cut square in front and V-shape in back. The long bridal veil of tulle was simply but beautifully arranged from a circlet of seed pearls, low on the forehead, the veil fell from ornaments of pearl over each ear and was bordered at the lower edge with sprays of orange blossom. The bridal bouquet was a shower of Kilmarey roses, freesia and maiden-hair fern.

Mrs. Pigott, the bride's mother, wore a beautiful dress of blue satin, shot with threads of gold. Her corsage bouquet was of Premier roses and maiden-hair fern.

Mrs. Dowden, mother of the groom, was a gown of black satin and Chantilly lace.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were pink ostrich fans.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pigott following the ceremony, at which 150 guests were bidden.

Throughout the house an attractive scheme of decoration had been carried out. In the drawing room, pink roses, calla lilies and carnations had been effectively combined and trellises of smilax were used on the electrolliers, and over the windows.

In the dining room, tall handled baskets held freesia and pink roses. Refreshments were served from a buffet, covered with a fillet and embroidered cover and decorated with huge bows and garlands of white tulle, white candles, shaded in white satin and tulle shades with tiny sprays of orange blossoms showered from narrow satin ribbon were used at the back of the buffet. The bride and groom's cake were at either end.

The smiling bride threw her bouquet from the stairway, and it was caught by Miss Marianne Dutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowden, Jr., left Friday morning on a brief wedding trip and will be at home after Feb. 15, at Grand Junction, Colo.

The bride's traveling dress was of midnight blue, tailor-made and she wore a hat of blue and silver.

The bride is a loveable, attractive girl, with a charm wholly free from affectation and has taken a prominent part in social activities since her debut. She is a graduate of Miss Somer's seminary at Washington, D. C.

The groom is a prominent young mining engineer. He was graduated from the Western Military academy at Alton, Ill., and from the University of Oregon and the School of Mines at Golden, Colo. He served three years as chief engineer of the Bolivian government. When war was declared he went to San Francisco and enlisted and served two years in the 604th engineer corps, attached to the 5th army division.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowden, Jr., were the recipients of many handsome gifts, including several very substantial checks.

The good wishes of a host of friends goes with them in their new life together.

forget their trees just at a time they need the most attention, but instead the orchard is generally allowed to go without this attention and as a result they become a prey to the hot and dry weather and insects.

"As much time, attention and money in preparing and cultivating the orchard in the Plains country is as necessary as the planting of any other crop which is raised for financial gain. If as much attention was given the trees in the Plains country as is given the trees in California, the apples, plum and cherry orchards would be as successful and profitable crops as they have proven to be in California.

"Apples, plums, cherries and grapes and berries are raised successfully and a very substantial price is paid for them on the market. It is but a case of getting the water to the trees and caring for them."

There is much interest being manifested in the developing of orchards in the Plains country, coming naturally with other development. Some plans are being made for the planting of extensive orchards and putting in irrigation plants to care for them. It is the general consensus of opinion that time will eventually make this a great fruit growing country as the

PLAINVIEW NURSERY

(By R. Kenneth Evans)

A few years ago this part of Texas was a section of a vast unbroken prairie. Not a tree was to be seen except in the valleys and the lowlands where wild scrubby trees would spring up and these were exceptionally scarce. Today there are shade trees, fruit trees and trees of every description. They have been planted by those who were anxious to give the appearance of civilization to this country and the effect has changed the appearance of the country materially.

An institution which is the largest of its kind in the Plains country, which has played a very important part in this change of the face of mother earth in the great Southwest is the Plainview Nursery, from which practically all of the trees and shrubs have been secured. This institution was established in Hale county eighteen years ago, before there was a tree of any kind here, by L. N. Dalmont, who has worked diligently, partly from a financial standpoint and partly from the standpoint of assisting in the development of this section, to develop the resources of this section. When Mr. Dalmont established the Plainview Nursery here it was after a realization that soil analysis showed the soil of this section adapted to the growing and production of fruit. He began growing fruit trees and since that time has devoted all his time and attention to the establishment of a nursery, experimenting with grafting methods until today he has a wider variety of nursery products and a better class than can be found anywhere in the Plains country and in few places in the entire state of Texas.

Personally, Mr. Dalmont has worked diligently for the development of the resources of the Plains country. He has lived here and watched the country grow from the time long before there was a railroad here and when the long Horn reigned supreme over the unfenced prairies. In those days he had visions of trees and fruit orchards. He worked to that end with the result that many of the orchards and the shade trees which grace this section of the Plains country today had their start in his nursery.

The Plainview Nursery is located two miles north of Plainview, and fruits, ornamental plants, shade trees, grapes, berries, black locust, honey locust, ash, box elders, maples, sycamore, mulberries, hackberries, tamarax and several varieties of catalpa and red bud and others are grown for transplanting purposes. Many acres are under cultivation from a nursery standpoint by Mr. Dalmont and it is certainly worth the time of anyone to visit his nursery and see with what care and consideration he raises these plants so that they are healthy and will grow profusely upon transplanting. These varieties are guaranteed by Mr. Dalmont to be strong enough to survive conditions in this section and to grow and develop rapidly. He has studied every condition pertaining to the successful growing of all kinds of trees and knows the varieties that should be selected for the various kinds of soils.

In the fruits he grows apples, plums, peaches, cherries, apricots, quince, pears and various varieties of these classes of fruits. In the berries he handles strawberries, dewberries, blackberries, gooseberries, currants and other varieties. These bushes and plants are all strong and healthy this being the only kinds of plants that are ever sent out from the Plainview Nursery. The fruit and berry plants produce the very best kind of fruits and this class of fruits grown on Plainview Nursery plants brings the highest top market prices.

Last year Mr. Dalmont had the misfortune to have a portion of his plant destroyed by fire, but he has builded it up bigger and better than ever and this institution is really a credit to the city and Plains country. He takes delight in explaining to anyone how they can produce fruit and shade trees in the Plains country and the proper care that should be given these trees and he knows for he has had eighteen years' experimentation with these plants in the Plains country.

NOTE—Since the above article was written by Mr. Evans, several weeks ago, Mr. Dalmont has sold the Plainview Nursery to Mr. D. C. Aylesworth of Plainview, who has had many years experience in the nursery, plant growing and gardening business—and he is determined to maintain the high standards set by Mr. Dalmont. He has taken active charge of the business.—Editor News.

THE WARE HOTEL

J. A. TESTMAN, PROP.

(By K. Kenneth Evans)

The hotels are the mediums through which the transient visitor to a city gets his first impression of that city. If upon entering a hotel he is impressed with a metropolitan air around it, is met at the door by a congenial proprietor who makes him feel that he is a welcome visitor to the house and if everything is done to make his stay as congenial as possible then he is immediately favorably impressed with the city in general. The first impressions are the lasting ones, hence he leaves this sort of a hotel to attend to his business affairs in that city with a feeling that it is a live and progressive little city.

This is the method which is adopted in the management of the Ware Hotel, which is the leading hostelry for this section of the Plains country. There is not a hotel building in this section of West Texas which is more substantial or better planned from the standpoint of an up to date hotel. A three story structure of steel reinforced with concrete and fireproof throughout. The hotel was established in Plainview in 1910 by J. N. Donohoo and R. C. Ware, both pioneer residents of Plainview, who have been influential factors in the development of the resources of this section and the building of Plainview as a commercial center.

In building the Ware Hotel building it was the intention of the proprietors to erect a building which would serve two purposes, viz: a business block as well as a hotel. Today there are fifteen office rooms in the building and fifty rooms which are modernly equipped for a hotel. The dining room is on the second floor and is a large and commodious one and equipped to care for all the business that could possibly come to the hotel. The equipment of the dining room is modern as well as the equipment of the kitchen which contains a modern steam table as well as an automatic dishwasher. The meals served are far above the ordinary served in American plan hotels and are served in an appetizing manner it being the policy of the management to always serve the very best the market affords and well cooked and plenty of it.

Rest parlors for ladies and gentlemen are maintained on all floors with a large commodious and well lighted room for writing purposes on the third floor, facing the main street of the city. This writing room has large oak tables and convenient and comfortable chairs and affords ample writing space, also making an excellent office for the transaction of business by those transients who are guests of the hotel. The large lobby is well equipped with comfortable chairs and well lighted with writing desks, also for those who do not care to use the writing room on the third floor.

The Ware Hotel is under the management of an ex-knight of the grip, J. A. Testman, and his wife, who for many years traveled in North Texas for the Parlin Orondorff Machinery Company. Mrs. Testman is well known as a caterer, and has full charge of the kitchen. Mr. Testman acquired the Ware Hotel in 1912 and since that time has managed it to the entire satisfaction of its guests. He is familiar with the desires of the traveling public, having lived in hotels for many years himself. He knows what pleases the traveling salesman, the transient traveler or any and all who might come to his hotel. He is congenial and an enthusiast in the development of the resources of the Plains country, always giving his support to every undertaking which promises for the future development of this section of Texas.

The Ware Hotel is truly a credit and a valuable asset to the city of Plainview. It is operated on the American plan the rates being from $3.00 per day and up. Day and night clerks with porter service, all congenial employees, attend to the wants of the guests of this hostelry. In fact, those who come to Plainview may rest assured they will receive courteous and satisfactory attention and service at the Ware.
