PLAINVIEW TRADE EXCURSION WILL BE MAY 10, 11, 12

SEVENTY-FIVE CARS ARE EXPECTED TO MAKE THE TRIP

The Plainview annual spring Trade Excursion will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 10, 11 and 12, as these days were tentatively decided upon by the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting held Tuesday night. The excursion will visit all the towns visited last year, and also Littlefield, Lubbock, Idalou and maybe another town or two. Plans are already being made to make the excursion the greatest of any previous year, and it is hoped to have seventy-five or one hundred cars make the trip. The Boys Band, a male quartette, clowns and other features are to be on the program. L. P. Barker is manager for the excursion and Sidney Miller publicity man, and they have strong committees.

About forty members were present at the meeting, and President A. E. Boyd presided.

John Boswell, secretary, told of the work he had been doing since the last meeting, and of securing the location of a foundry and machine shops, which will be installed here by Mr. Whitesides of Graham.

Mr. Hilburh reported from the fair committee that petitions have been prepared and circulated asking the commissioners' court to hold an election to vote bonds with which to buy a county park for the permanent home of the fair. Meetings will be held in the rural school houses of the county to promote the matter.

The encouragement and support of the Boys' Scout organization and activities were discussed.

G. V. Smith of the civic improvement committee reported that the Civic League was planning a clean-up and tree planting day in Plainview, and that Mr. Aylesworth would furnish large trees at $1.25 each. In order to raise money for the purchase, a motion prevailed that the ladies hold a tag sale day.

E. T. Coleman of the rat-killing committee stated that the campaign is now on, and $147 has been raised to offer as premiums and bonuses for rats, but $300 is needed, and will be raised. A rat-killing contest will be held in Plainview March 26. Lubbock, Lockney and Floydada are to be urged to take part in the contests.

Several other matters were discussed.

DELAY IN CHANGING TIME STILL EXISTS

Plainview and Plains Continue in Mountain Zone Till Railroads Change

Plainview and Northwest Texas are still operating under Mountain Time although several days have elapsed since the Plains region was put back under the Central Time.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the change last Monday afternoon, but no official notice has yet been sent the railways. Officials said Thursday they expected to receive notification of the change shortly and that they would then revise their schedules. This may consume another ten days or longer.

Meanwhile all lines of business and other activities are continuing under Mountain Time, and will continue under the old zone until the railways and the Western Union begin operating under the Central Time.

TRADE IN PLAINVIEW AND BE A BUILDER

EVERY DOLLAR SPENT ELSEWHERE HURTS OUR TOWN AND COUNTY

"If everybody in Plainview traded somewhere else, what the dickens would become of the town?" is a placard we recently saw.

People would move away, hats would in habit the deserted churches, school buildings and business houses, the mills and factories would close, property values would go down to nothing, farm lands in the country would be worth very little as compared with now.

Every dollar spent in Plainview adds something to the prosperity and happiness of every person in Hale county. The business men of Plainview and the other towns in Hale county are builders, and without them there would be little progress.

The persons who trade in Amarillo, Dallas, Kansas City, Chicago, or elsewhere is not only injuring the town and county, but also themselves. Keep the money in local circulation, and it benefits all of us.

The Plainview stores keep extensive stocks of goods, their prices are in line with those in any of the cities and larger towns—you can get what you want in Plainview no matter whether it is dry goods, groceries, auto supplies, drugs, etc., etc., and there is no excuse to go elsewhere. Be loyal to home people, and you will win out every time.

Keep boosting for that auditorium or coliseum. Plainview needs such a building and must have it.

The press of the Plains extends sympathy to Mrs. Sam Braswell, wife of the editor of the Clarendon News, because of the death of her mother, Mrs. R. Phillips, who died in Rother last week.

Asweet potato drying kiln is to be installed in Clarendon. During the off season it might be a good thing to put Editor Braswell through it and rid him of some of the fantastic political germs that infect him.

Every time anybody speaks of reducing wages organized labor begins to cry that it is an effort to disrupt the unions. As the prices of farm products and other things go down, so should wages and salaries.

A movement is on foot to change the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Plainview next year, from February to June. The change should be made, for June is a more favorable month than February.

Some day, and possibly not far off, the Santa Fe will possibly build a line from Floydada to Fort Worth and from Plainview to Dimmitt, Hereford, Tucumcari and to the Dawson coal fields. It would open up a wonderful section, and would make Plainview a bigger town.

President Wilson vetoed the emergency agricultural tariff bill, because, as he stated, the measure would not furnish any substantial relief to the producers, and would be a blow at our foreign trade. The measure was gotten up by the republicans, and a few democrats, to fool the farmers. Mr. Wilson did well to use his veto axe.

A New York socialist publisher is suing ex-Postmaster General Burleson for a half-million dollars for not permitting his paper to go thru the mails. The people who were to receive copies of the publication should rise up and sing psalms of praise to Burleson for removing the affliction that was about to have been thrust upon them.

A Dallas jury has sentenced W. E. Stallings to the penitentiary for five years for "failure to stop and render aid" to a man and woman whom he struck while driving an automobile. The woman died from the injury. He should have been sentenced for fifty years, for a man who is so yellow-streaked as to commit such a crime does not deserve to ever again breathe the air of freedom, and is too contemptible to live in the presence of good people.

Arthur W. Jones of Eastland, well known prohibition worker and Christian minister, will be a candidate for state senator in his district at a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Russell. The editor of the News has known Jones for more than twenty-five years. He is a good man, able, on the right side of every moral issue, fearless and would give the state excellent service. We trust he will be elected by a big majority.

The Senate Committee investigating penitentiaries has unearthed a situation infinitely worse than even the Blue Ridge farm deal of two years ago. The parties to the deal are about the same. Basset Blakley and his associates. The deal alluded to is the purchase of the Fort Bend Oil mill. If the facts develop as they now appear Governor Neff should at once demand the resignation of the Penitentiary Commissioners who participated in the fraud against the state. That Houston gang has robbed the penitentiary for years—Memphis Herald.

In nearly every state legislature are bills to legalize boxing contests. Most of these bills are being pushed by the American Legion men. So far hardly a bill has been adopted and in most cases they have been killed. They will before the Texas legislature is said to have no chance of passage, though it has gotten through the senate. While few oppose amateur boxing contests at Legion post meetings, the people do not want professional bouts, which they know would be detrimental to any community where held. The trouble with boxing contests and some other sports is it is impossible to keep down gambling on them. Baseball is the best of all sports, but there is nearly always gambling on games. Last summer here on the Plains it was notorious that there was betting on nearly every game played between Plainview and the teams of other towns, though every effort was put forth by the managers of the teams to keep the game clear of gambling.

A change of the national administration was made Tuesday, without a jar, and everything continues to run smoothly on. Every American irrespective of party hopes and prays that President Harding will have a successful administration. Surely this is a great people, we Americans, and so different from those of other nations.

WORLD'S GREATEST CITIZEN

Woodrow Wilson has retired to private life. He is the world's greatest citizen.

His body is broken on the wheel, and he is said to be but the shadow of his former self. The responsibilities and labor of the past eight years were too much for his health. It would have taken a super-man to have stood up under the burdens that were thrust on his shoulders.

He successfully led America in the greatest war that history has ever passed through. He attempted to put through a peace program that transcended anything of the kind since nations begun to make war on other nations.

Before the war he placed in working order more constructive and beneficial domestic legislation than any of his predecessors, and but for this legislation America would have hardly been able to have carried on the war program as it did.

Wilson has his faults, as do all fallible men. He was dictatorial, revengeful and sometimes unfair in trying to force through his program; in fact, it was these failings that contributed mostly to his failure to attain the ends he sought. Nevertheless, he is a great and good man, and one whose strength was spent in trying to make this a better world to live in.

Millions of Americans wish for him restored health, that the remainder of his life may be happy and useful.

Panama will obey orders of the United States and will not go to war with Costa Rica, says a dispatch. Panama knows which side of her bread is buttered.

Most every American hopes that the United States will not get mixed up in the present trouble between the allies and Germany, for they are both abad lot—selfish, grasping, yellow-streaked, stubborn and in many ways contemptible. We went into the war to "save the world for democracy,"—and Europe is in about as bad condition as ever. You cannot save a rotten egg.

The cotton farmers are not a bit pleased with the advance of the allied troops into Germany, for they had been counting on selling cotton to the Germans. Most everything that happens seems to land on the neck of the cotton farmer.

Giving gamblers the minimum fines does not contribute much toward breaking up the sport. If a few were given the highest limit it would have a salutary effect.

The annual spring Trade Excursion in May is going to be a hum-dinger. When Plainview goes into anything in earnest, it is always a success.

Clara Smith, who is charged with the murder of Ike Hanson, is being tried in Ardmore, and the newspapers each during the trial will dish out columns of sensational stuff. We believe in freedom of the press, and all that, but if such "news" as this could be suppressed it would be in the interest of cleanliness and morality.

Trade in Plainview. You can get what you want, at as low prices as in the cities.

Republican congressmen do not want civil service law, as applied to postmasters changed. Postoffice appointments has defeated more good congressmen than any other one thing and all are glad to get the patronage off their hands.

The socialists will picket the White House, in an effort to have President Harding grant amnesty to Eugene V. Debs and release him from prison. The picketers should be put in the asylum.

While the prices of eggs and chickens are not as high as they have been in the sale of these products is bringing a nice lot of cash into Hale county each week. Raise more poultry.

A rascal who lives down below the caprock writes in that he has tried the experiment of putting a few raisins in a bottle of alf-alfa tea and finds they cause it to have a sure enough "white mule kick." He declares it is the best "sub-hooch-titute" for the real "oil of joy" there is. We positively resent such a profanation of this most delectable beverage, for alf-alfa tea is like unto the nectar of the gods, refreshing and exhilarating but not intoxicating.

This is not the only period of foolish fashions. Shoes of the fourteenth century had such long points that the tips had to be tied to the knees to keep the wearers from stumbling over them.

AS IN A GLASS

But we all, with open face behold, are in a glass the glory of the Lord, and are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.—II, Corinthians, III, 18.

We are in favor of the state appropriating money for rural school aid this year, but no longer, as after this year such an emergency should not exist. The constitution was amended last year to permit the people of each district to tax themselves as much as they wish by a vote for the support of their schools. The people of any local district should not ask other people to help them educate their children. The people of West and Northwest Texas pay hundreds of thousands of dollars each year for the support of East and South Texas schools.

NEFF MAY TAKE STUMP

The legislature will adjourn this week, after a session of ninety days. It has fallen down in many ways. In fact, as far as meeting the needs of the state, it has proven to be about the sorriest legislature for many years.

Every mother's son of the members was elected on a solemn promise to economize and to cut out all useless offices, and to consolidate offices where it could be done. Gov. Neff offered them a program, but practically every bill seeking to abolish or consolidate offices and bureaus has been killed.

A crime wave is sweeping over the state, and a terrible condition and not a theory is prevalent. Gov. Neff asked for the repeal of the suspended sentence law, the strengthening of the prohibition laws, and for other measures that will deter crime and more effectively punish criminals. The legislature killed every such bill, and instead passed a law forbidding the unrestricted sale of pistols and revolvers.

The legislature has proven itself recalcitrant to its promises of economy. It abolished no offices, nor consolidated any. It has sided with criminals in every instance where the issue was raised.

Gov. Neff will not call a special session until in the summer. It is said he will take the matter of the recommendations for economy and punishment of criminals to the people of the state, in an effort to have the people put the pressure on the legislators to have them vote for such bills in the special session.

We are with Gov. Neff in this matter, and every other citizen who believes in economy and the enforcement of law and order should be. The screws should be put to each legislator who did not vote for these things.

The French newspapers are mad because President Harding didn't even mention the allies in his inaugural address, and say the omission is encouraging for Germany. One editor declares Harding's program to be the "most narrowly American conceivable." If Mr. Harding can free us from the European mess nearly all Americans will arise and call him blessed.

Mr. Wilson declares "It is great to be an American citizen again." He is right. There is nothing to be prouder of than to be a plain American citizen; it beats wearing the purple in any European court.

Plainview has good schools, churches, nice homes—there is not a better town to raise a family to good citizenship.

Trade in Plainview. Large and representative stock of goods and as low prices as you will find elsewhere.

The merchant has not reasons for favoring either high or low prices. His business prospers best when prices are medium, for this means a good volume of business with fair profits and no great risk of losing.

We can reduce abnormal expenditures and strike at war taxation, and we must.—From inaugural address of President Harding. If the republicans will do this they will please the taxpayers of the nation. But, will they? Talk is cheap, you know.

IN A MINOR STRAIN

Discontent is not so much having nothing, as having less than the other fellow.

Advertising your business builds it up and adds to it. And advertising your troubles has the same effect.

A bully gets through life because he knows that most people would rather be imposed upon than indulge in a row.

The cheapest thing in the world is happiness. And yet forty-nine people out of fifty can't afford it.

An old fool is one who thinks that when a pretty girl smiles at him she's flirting instead of laughing at him.

PRESS COMMENT

The doctors have to be watched now to prevent homicide. A doctor up in Kansas when called to treat a man for an injured back rubbed alcohol on the spot. The man then broke his neck trying to lick his back.—Canadian Record.

The News trusts that Representative Lee Satterwhite will be able to put over the proposition of bringing the whole of the Texas Legislature on the proposed West Texas trip. Canyon would appreciate very much the honor of having the members of the legislature visit the town, and we are confident that it would do all of the members good to see the West.—Canyon News.

Newspaper reports indicate that the Texas Legislature will likely make a tour of the Western part of the state—the Plains and Panhandle. We suggest that those East Texas Representatives be dipped before they cross the line where the "west begins" so that they will not bring any ticks or red bugs into this clean territory.—Lubbock Avalanche.

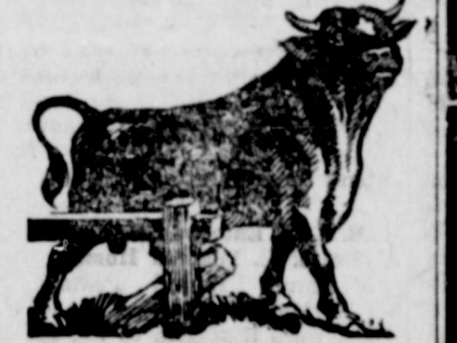

The business of the nation has a hard time moving along with so many obstacles in its pathway—politics, labor unrest, strikes, boycotts, demagogic, interference, radical agitation, half-baked economic theorists, muck raking and many other species of unwise meddling. We would indeed be happy and prosperous people if all the above obstacles could be removed and business left free to function as it should.

I speak for lightened tax burdens, omission of government interference in business and end of government exorbitant in business.—From the inaugural address of President Harding. We are not a republican, but we are favorable to the above sentiment.

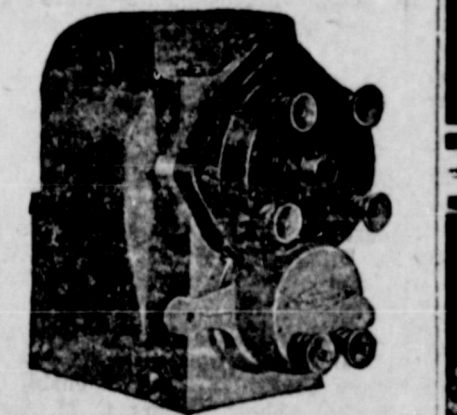

We are in favor of an automatic income tax; with the minimum limit always just above our income.

Beware! Say "California" or you may not get the genuine "California Syrup of Figs" which doctors recommend for babies and children of all ages. Nothing else cleans the little bowels and regulates the child's stomach and liver so gently, so thoroughly. Direction on each bottle. But you must say "California." ## Pay the Price of Quality

Buy shoes that you know are good. This is no time to experiment; no time to take a chance on doubtful quality. When you buy cheap shoes you waste labor and materials as well as money; you require more pairs for the same length of service that one pair of good shoes would give.

We sell Florsheims because we know they are good; they're carefully made to give you combined comfort and long service; they're good looking and fit right. Try a pair—then you'll see that Florsheims are cheaper than "cheap" shoes.

You can always be sure of quality when you see the label "FLORSHEIM"

PAT DOOLING DIED AT QUANAH FRIDAY

Was Noted As An Army Scout, Indian Fighter, and As a Frontiersman of Plains

Colonel Patrick Dooling, one of the most picturesque characters of the West, and one of the best known men in the country, died at his home in Quanah Friday night. Int he passing away of Colonel Dooling, Texas loses one of its most noted citizens and Quanah one its most beloved residents.

Colonel Dooling was 73 years old and was known personally to the most prominent railroad builders of the country as well as to many public men of national note.

Colonel Patrick Dooling was born in Ireland. His parents moved to Ohio when the Civil War broke out, and Dooling joined the service when he was a mere boy. At the end of the war Dooling found himself with Shelby's brigade in Old Mexico. He had made a reputation as a fearless and brave soldier. He became an army scout and his services to his country proved invaluable. He also rendered valiant service in the building of the Union and Southern Pacific railroads. As an Indian fighter, Pat Dooling was known throughout the country and it was an often repeated assertion that he feared "neither God nor the Devil."

As a frontiersman, Pat Dooling became famous and he figured to no small degree in the development of the Southwest. He never discussed what he had accomplished in this respect and seldom ever referred to his State Association Proposed to Sell incident in his career would be recalled.

When Roosevelt was first nominated for the presidency, Dooling was very active in the support of Colonel Roosevelt and took a prominent part in both the State and National republican conventions. He also participated in the conventions at which McKinley was nominated for president.

Col. Dooling was employed by the Fort Worth & Denver railroad as claim agent for more than thirty years and won distinction in railroad circles for settling claims out of court.

Col. Dooling's wife died several years ago and he is survived by no direct relatives. The only member of his family left is Miss Rosie Matens, an adopted daughter, who was with him in the last years of his life.—Childress Index.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Theford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. IS READY TO ENTER AN ASSOCIATION FOR CONFERENCE ONLY

MAKES PLEA FOR HARMONY

Simple Ceremonies Mark Induction Into Office of Chief Executive of United States

Washington—The people of the United States now have a new president, vice president and a new congress.

The inauguration at the capitol of Warren G. Harding of Ohio, as president, and Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, as vice president, took place Friday, at about the noon hour.

The inaugural program began at ten o'clock when the joint congressional committee, headed by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania and Uncle Joe Cannon of Illinois motored to the Willard Hotel and took under escort Mr. Harding and Mr. Coolidge.

The White House, where President Wilson joined the party, was the next stop; after which the motor cars under military escort started for the capitol.

In the first car rode President Wilson, President-Elect Harding, Knox and Cannon. The second car contained Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Harding, Senator Nelson and Representative Rucker. In the third was Vice President Marshall, Mrs. Coolidge and Senator Overman. The fourth carried Vice President-Elect Coolidge, Mrs. Marshall and Representative Reavis.

Upon arriving at the capitol, Harding and Coolidge went to an ante-room of the senate chamber. Wilson went to the president's room near by to sign or reject last minute legislation.

Congress shortly before noon paused. House members marched to the senate chamber where the diplomats, army and navy officers and the supreme court witnessed the induction of Coolidge as Vice President. Wilson and Harding attended the ceremony. Then congress was declared adjourned and everybody went to the east front of the capitol for the inauguration of Harding.

Immediately after taking the oath of office which was administered by Chief Justice White, President Harding delivered his inaugural address, outlining what he thought the policies of the American government should be on various foreign and domestic problems.

After the ceremonies the Hardings went to the White House, where luncheon was served for the Harding family. The Wilsons then went to their new home.

Text of Speech

Washington—The text of President Warren G. Harding's inaugural address follows:

My countrymen, when one surveys the world about him after the great storm, noting the marks of destruction and yet rejoicing in the ruggedness of things which withstood it, if he is an American he breathes the clarified atmosphere with a strange mingling of regret and new hope. We have seen a world-passion spend its fury, but we contemplate our republic unshaken and hold our civilization secure. Liberty—liberty within the law—and civilization are inseparable, and though both were threatened we find them now secure, and there comes to Americans the profound assurance that our representative government is the highest expression and surest guaranty of both.

Standing in this presence, mindful of the solemnity of this occasion, feeling the emotions which no one may know until he senses the great weight of responsibility for himself, I must utter my belief in the divine inspiration of the founding fathers. Surely there must have been God's intent in the making of this New World Republic. Ours is an organic law which had but one authority, and we saw that effaced in a baptism of sacrifice and blood, with union maintaining the nation supreme and its concord insuring. We have seen the world rivet its hopeful gaze on the great truths on which the founders wrought. We have seen civil, human and religious liberty verified and glorified.

In the beginning the Old World scoffed at our experiment. Today, our foundations of political and social belief stand unshaken, a precious inheritance to ourselves, an inspiring example of freedom and civilization to all mankind. Let us express renewed and strengthened devotion, in grateful reverence for the immortal beginning, and utter our confidence in the supreme fulfillment.

Progress Proves Wisdom
The recorded progress of our republic, materially and spiritually, in itself, proves the wisdom of the inheritance, policy of self-determination in Old World affairs. Confident of our ability to work out our own destiny and jealously guarding our right to do so, we seek no part in directing the destinies of the Old World. We do not mean to be estranged. We will accept no responsibility except as our own conscience and judgment, in each instance, may determine.

Our eyes never will be blinded to a developing common, our own people and to the world of nations. We recognize the new order in the world, with the closer contact which progress has wrought. We sense the call of the human heart for fellowship, fraternity and cooperation. We crave friendship, and harbor no hate. But America, our America, the America builded on the foundation laid by the inspired fathers, can be a party to no permanent military alliance. It can enter into no political commitments, nor assume any economic obligations which will subject our decisions to any other than our own authority.

I am sure our own people will not misunderstand, nor will the world misconstrue. We have no thought to impede the paths to closer relationship. We wish to promote understanding. We want to do our part in making offensive warfare so hateful that governments and peoples who resort to it must prove the righteousness of their cause or stand as outlaws before the bar of civilization.

Association for Counsel

We are ready to associate ourselves with the nations of the world, great and small, for conference, for counsel, to seek the expressed views of world opinion, to recommend a way to approximate disarmament and relieve the crushing burdens of military and naval establishments. We elect to participate in suggesting plans for mediation, conciliation and arbitration and would gladly join in that expressed conscience of progress which seeks to clarify and write the laws of international relationship and establish a world court for the disposition of such justiciable questions as nations are agreed to submit thereto. In expressing aspirations, in seeking practical plans, in translating humanity's new concept of righteousness and justice and its hatred of war into recommended action, we are ready most heartily to unite; but every commitment must be made in the exercise of our national sovereignty. Since freedom impelled and independence inspired and nationality exalted, a world super-government is contrary to everything we cherish and can have no sanction by our republic. This is not selfishness, it is sanctity. It is not aloofness, it is security. It is not suspicion of others, it is patriotic adherence to the things which made us what we are.

Today, better than ever before, we know the aspirations of human kind and share them. We have come to a new realization of our place in the world and a new appraisal of our nation by the world. The unselfishness of these United States is a thing proven, our devotion to peace for ourselves and for the world is well established, our concern for preserved civilization has had its impassioned and heroic expression. There was no American failure to resist the attempted reversion of civilization; there will be no failure today or tomorrow.

Rests on Popular Will

The success of our popular government rests wholly upon the correct interpretation of the democratic intelligent, dependable popular will of America. In a deliberate questioning of a suggested change of national policy, where internationalism was to supersede nationality, we turned to a referendum to the American people. There was ample discussion and there is a public mandate in manifest understanding.

America is ready to encourage, eager to initiate, anxious to participate in any seemly program likely to lessen the probability of war and promote that brotherhood of mankind which must be God's highest conception of human relationship. Because we cherish ideals of justice of peace, because we appraise international comity and helpful relationship no less highly than any people of the world, we aspire to a high plane in the moral leadership of civilization and we hold a maintained America, the proven republic, the unshaken temple of representative democracy, to be not only an inspiration and example, but the highest agency of strengthening good will and promoting accord on both continents.

Mankind needs a world-wide benediction of understanding. It is needed among individuals, among peoples, among governments and it will inaugurate an era of good feeling to mark the birth of a new order. In such understanding men will strive confidently for the promotion of their better relationships and nations will promote the comities so essential to peace.

Trade Ties Bind

We must understand that ties of trade bind nations in closest intimacy, and none must receive except as he gives. We have not strengthened ours in accordance with our resources or our genius, notably on our own continent, where a galaxy of republics reflect the glories of new world democracy, but in the new order of finance and trade we mean to promote enlarged activities and seek expanded confidence.

Perhaps we can make no more helpful contribution by example than prove a republic's capacity to emerge from the wreckage of war. While the world's embittered travail did not leave us devastated lands nor desolated cities, left no gaping wounds, no breast filled with hate, it did evolve us in the delirium of the expenditure, in expanded currency and credits, in unbalanced industry, in unspeakable waste and disturbed relationships. While it uncovered our portion of hateful selfishness at home, it also revealed the heart of America as sound and fearless and besting in confidence unshaken.

Amid it all, we have revived the game of all civilization to the unselfishness and the righteousness of representative democracy, where our freedom never has made offensive warfare, never has sought territorial aggrandizement through force, never has turned to the arbitrament of arms until reason has been exhausted. When the governments of earth shall have established a freedom like our own and shall have sanctioned the pursuit of peace as we have practiced it, I believe the last sorrow and the final headache of international warfare will have been willed.

Our Supreme Task
Our supreme task is the resumption of our onward normal way. Reconstruction, readjustment, restoration—all these must follow. I would like to hasten them. If it will lighten the spirit and add to the resolution with which we take up the task, let me repeat for our nation, we shall give no people just cause to make war upon us, we hold no national prejudices, we entertain no spirit of revenge, we do not hate, we do not covet, we dream of no conquest nor boast of armed prowess.

If, despite this attitude, war is again forced upon us, I earnestly hope a way may be found which will unify our individual and collective strength and consecrate all America, materially and spiritually, body and soul, to national defense. I can vision the ideal republic, where every man and woman is called under the flag, for assignment to duty, for whatever service, military or civic, the individual is best fitted, where we may call to universal service every plant, agency or facility, all in the sublime sacrifice for country, and not one penny of war profit shall insure to the benefit of private individual, corporation or combination, but all above the normal shall flow into the defence chest of the nation. There is something inherently wrong, something out of accord with the ideals of representative democracy, when one portion of our citizenship turns its activities to private gain amid defensive war, while another is fighting, sacrificing or dying for national preservation.

Unity of Spirit and Purpose
Out of such universal service will come a new unity of spirit and purpose, a new confidence and consecration, which would make our defense impregnable, our triumph assured. Then we should have little or no disorganization of our economic and commercial system at home, no staggering war debts, no swollen fortunes to flout the sacrifices of our soldiers, no excuse for sedition, no pitiable slackness, no outrage of treason. Envy and jealousy would have no soil for their menacing development and revolution would be without the passion which engenders it.

A regret for the mistakes of yesterday must not, however, blind us to the tasks of today. War never left such an aftermath. There has been staggering loss of life, and measureless wastage of materials. Nations are still groping for return to stable ways. Discouraging indebtedness confronts us, like all the war-torn nations, and these obligations must be provided for. No civilization can survive repudiation. We can reduce the abnormal expenditures and we will. We can strike at war taxation, and we must. We must face the grim necessity with full knowledge that the task is to be solved and we must proceed with a full realization that no statute enacted by man can repeal the inexorable laws of nature. Our most dangerous tendency is to expect too much of government, and at the same time do for it too little.

We contemplate the immediate task of putting our public household in order. We need a rigid and yet sane economy, combined with fiscal justice, and it must be attended by individual prudence and thrift, which are so essential to the trying hour and reassuring for the future.

Reflection of War's Reaction
The business world reflects the disturbances of war's reaction. Herein flows the life blood of material existence. The economic mechanism is intricate and its parts interdependent and has suffered the shocks and jars incident to abnormal demands, credit inflations and price upheavals. The normal balances have been impaired, the channels of distribution have been clogged, the relations of labor and management have been strained. We must seek the readjustment with care and courage. Our people must give and take. Prices must reflect the receding fever of war activities.

Perhaps we never shall know the old levels of wage again, because war invariably readjusts compensations and the necessities of life will show their inseparable relationship, but we must strive for normalcy to reach stability. All the penalties will not be light nor evenly distributed. There is no way of making them so. There is no instant step from disorder to order. We must face a condition of grim reality, charge off our losses and start afresh. It is the oldest lesson of civilization. I would like the government to do all it can to mitigate them, in understanding, in mutuality of interest, in common for the common good our tasks will be solved. No altered system will work a miracle. Any will experiment will only add to the confusion. Our best assurance lies in efficient administration of our proven system.

From Destruction to Production.
The forward course of the business cycle is unmistakable. People are turning from destruction to production. Industry has sensed the changed order, and our own people are turning to resume their normal, onward way. The call for productive America to go on. I know that congress and the administration will favor every wise government policy to aid the resumption and encourage continued progress.

I speak for administrative efficiency, for lightness tax burdens for sound commercial practices, for adequate credit facilities, for sympathetic concern for all agricultural problems, for the omission of unnecessary interference of government with business, for an end to government experiments in business and for more efficient business in government administration. With all of this must attend a mindfulness of the human side of all activities, so that social and economic justice will be squared with the purposes of a righteous people.

With the nation-wide induction of womanhood into our political life, we may count upon her intuition, her reason, her intelligence and her influence to ennobel the social order. We count upon her exercise of the full privileges and the performance of the duties of citizenship to speed the attainment of the highest state

Prayer for Industrial Peace.

I wish for an America no less alert in guarding against dangers from within than it is watchful against enemies from without. Our fundamental law recognizes no class, no group, no section. There must be none in legislation or administration. The supreme inspiration is the common weal. Humanity hungers for international peace, and we crave it with all mankind. My most reverent prayer for America is for industrial peace, with its rewards widely and generally distributed amid the inspirations of equal opportunity. No one justly may deny the equality of opportunity which made us what we are. We have mistaken unpreparedness to embrace it to be a challenge of the reality, and due concern for making all citizens fit for participation will give added strength and citizenship and magnify our achievement.

If revolution insist upon overturning established order, let other peoples make the tragic experiment. There is no place for it in America. When world war threatened civilization, we pledged our resources and our lives to its preservation, and when revolution threatens we unfurl the flag of law and order and renew our consecration. Ours is a constitutional freedom, where the popular will is the law supreme and minorities are scarcely protected. Our revisions, reformations and evolutions reflect a deliberate judgment and an orderly progress, and we mean to cure our ills, but never destroy or permit destruction by force.

I had rather submit our industrial controversies to the conference table in advance than to a settlement table after a conflict and suffering. The earth is thirsting for the cup of good will, understanding is the fountain source. I would like to acclaim an era of good feeling amid dependable property and all the blessings which attend it.

Protection of Industries.

It has been proved again and again that we can not, while throwing our markets open to the world, maintain American standards of living and opportunity and hold our industrial eminence in such unequal competition. There is a luring fallacy in the theory of banished barriers of trade, but preserved American standards require our higher production costs to be reflected in our tariffs on imports. Today, as never before, when peoples are seeking trade restoration and expansion, we must adjust our tariffs to the new order. We seek participation in the world's exchanges, because therein lies our way to widened influence and the triumphs of peace. We know full well we can not sell where we do not buy, and we can not sell successfully where we do not carry. Opportunity is calling not alone for the restoration, but for a new era in production, transportation and trade. We shall answer it best by meeting the demand of a surging home market, by promoting self-reliance in production and by bidding enterprise, genius and efficiency to carry our cargoes in American bottoms to the marts of the world.

An America of Homes.

We would not have an America living within and for herself alone, but we would have her self-reliant, independent and ever nobler, stronger and richer. Believing in our higher standards, reared through constitutional liberty and maintained opportunity, we invite the world to the same heights. But pride in things wrought is no reflex of a completed task. Common welfare is the goal of our national endeavor. Wealth is not inimical to welfare, it ought to be its friendliest agency. There never can be equality of rewards or possessions so long as the human plan contains varied talents and differing degrees of industry and thrift, but care ought to be a country free from great disparities of distribution.

We ought to find a way to guard against the perils and penalties of unemployment. We want an America of homes, illuminated with hope and happiness, where mothers, freed from the necessity of long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside as befits the hearthstone of American citizenship. We want the cradle of American childhood rocked under conditions so wholesome and so hopeful that no blight may touch it in its development, and we want to provide that no selfish interest, no material necessity, no lack of opportunity shall prevent the gaining of that education so essential to best citizenship.

There is no short cut to the making of these ideals into glad realities. The world has witnessed, again and again, the futility and the mischief of ill-considered remedies for social and economic disorders. But we are mindful today as never before of the friction of modern industrialism, and we must learn its causes and reduce its evil consequences by sober and tested methods. Where genius has made for great possibilities, justice and happiness must be reflected in a greater common welfare.

Service, the Supreme Commitment.

Service is the supreme commitment of life. I would rejoice to acclaim the era of the Golden Rule and crown it with the autocracy of service. I pledge an administration wherein all the agencies of government are called to serve and ever promote an understanding of government purely as an expression of the popular will.

One can not stand in this presence and be unmindful of the tremendous responsibility. The world upheaval has added heavily to our tasks. But with the realization comes the surge of high resolve, and there is reinsurance in belief in the God-given destiny of our republic. If I felt that there is to be sole responsibility in the executive for the America of tomorrow, I should shrink from the burden. But here are a hundred million, with common concern and shared responsibility, answerable to God and country. The people summon them to their duty and I invite cooperation.

I accept my part with single-mindedness of purpose and quality of spirit, and implore the favor and guidance of God in his heaven. With these I am unafraid, and confidently face the future.

I have taken the solemn oath of office on that passage of Holy Writ, wherein it is asked "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God." This I plight to God and country.

Keep Plainview Dollars In Plainview

It has been brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce that there is an inclination on the part of some folk to go away from Plainview to larger towns or cities to do their trading.

The Chamber of Commerce after a careful survey of trade conditions in Plainview and other competitive points finds that there is no occasion to go elsewhere for your purchases.

The stores at home taken individually or collectively not only compare, but in many instances surpass those in cities three and four times it's size.

The very fact that Plainview is the center of some thirty towns within a radius of seventy-five miles permits the stores to carry extensive stocks—and reports from reliable sources indicate that the prices on dependable goods are not lower at any other point within the trade territory.

Plainview is rapidly forging to the front rank among West Texas towns. If you want it to continue on its road of development, keep Plainview Dollars in Plainview—Trade with home merchants, they patronize you and use Plainview labor in their construction.
