WHISKEY STILL FOUND IN NORTH PART OF PLAINVIEW

TWO MEN, COPPER BOILER WITH STEAM UP AND LIQUOR CAPTURED

About 7:30 o'clock Monday evening a whiskey still in operation was captured by Sheriff J. C. Terry, Deputy Nath Burkett, City Marshal Chas. Wilson and officer D. M. Thomas, in one of the small houses just northeast of Lake Plainview, in North Plainview. A copper-lined boiler with steam up was captured, also seven half-gallon and several quart fruit jars filled with amber colored liquor were captured.

Pat McLaughlin, age about forty-five years, and his nephew, Roy McLaughlin, age about twenty-two, were arrested. They and Pat's wife, a comely woman of about thirty-five, live in the house. They are said to have recently moved here from Bell county. Both McLaughlins are in jail.

The boiler, a galvanized tank of about ten gallons with a copper lining, has a pipe running from the top, through which the oil of joy oozes after being evaporated and converted. Hanging in the tank is a flour sack partly filled with something like corn mash. The tank and the jars of liquor are now stored in the court house.

Of late it has been evident that there was a still somewhere in or about Plainview, as considerable white mule has found its way into the hands of certain people. The sheriff and his deputy have been quietly working on the case, but have been handicapped by the evasiveness and downright lying of those who have been buying the stuff. Gradually clues were found which pointed to the house near the lake, and yesterday the raid was made.

Woman Also Arrested

Mrs. Pat McLaughlin was also arrested today in connection with the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin had an examining trial before Justice of the Peace Young this afternoon. He was held under a $1,500 bond, and her bond was placed at $500. Roy McLaughlin will have an examining trial tomorrow.

CITY WATER AND SEWER BONDS CARRY

Vote Was Light But Majorities Were Large for Propositions Totalling $100,000

A very light vote was polled in the city bond election held Saturday, only 131 votes being cast, though the majorities were decisive.

The issue of $75,000 for sewerage improvement and extension carried by a vote of 120 to 9 against.

The issue of $25,000 for waterworks extension carried by a vote of 118 for 8 against.

Wants Tourist Camping Ground

J. W. Stevens, better known as "Blue", was a pioneer cowboy of Hale county, and owns a good-sized ranch west of Hale Center. The past year or two he has been on the retired list, and with his wife and two daughters has been touring a considerable part of the country. They made an auto trip to California last summer; they toured Southwest Texas last fall and winter; they will go next month for a trip to Yellowstone Park and other play grounds in the Northwest. Mr. Stevens declares that Plainview should have a camping ground for the tourists. It should be equipped with the proper conveniences, and the tourists should be given the glad-hand when they come to town. He remembers the towns on his tours that have camping grounds, and the tourists who visit them are afterwards boosters. He thinks a town loses lots by not having a tourist camping ground, and so do we. Plainview should get busy on this proposition at once.

Will Build Elevator at Lida

J. C. Mytinger Grain Co. of Wichita Falls has bought a site and is preparing to have a grain elevator at Lida, which they hope to erect for next year's crop. Temporary equipment is being installed to handle the present crop of wheat.

This grain company will operate four or five elevators in the Plains country, under the management of Artie Baker of Lockney. They own a large elevator at Lockney, and expect to build elevators at Muncy, Idalou and Lida.

TRADE EXCURSION TO PRINCIPAL MEXICAN CITIES

West Texas Will Tour Mexico In Special Train—Five Days In City

The editor of the News will go with the party of about one hundred West Texas business men who will leave Fort Worth June 18, under the auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, for a tour of the Republic of Mexico. They will travel on a special train of four sleeping cars, a dining car and a baggage car. Practically all the principal cities of Central Mexico will be visited and five days spent in the City of Mexico, where the International Trade Conference will be in session.

One day will be spent in each of the following cities—Nuevo Laredo, Monterey, San Luis Potosi, Qadalaajara, Irapuato, Leon, Aguas, Calientes, Torreon, Satillo, where special entertainments will be given in honor of the visitors. There will also be side-trips at several points.

It will be a very interesting trip, and is for the purpose of promoting more friendly relations with Mexico, and looking into better trade conditions, especially in reference to the products of West Texas.

MORE BUILDING NOW THAN WAS LAST YEAR

Plainview Continues to Build Up Steadily Despite Tight Money Times

Local lumber dealers inform us that there has been so far this year more building in Plainview than there was to the same date last year, in fact more homes have been built since January 1st than there was in the first six months of 1920. At present more than a dozen homes are under construction, and fully this number have been under construction at all times this spring.

This will be surprising to some people, as money is scarce, and times are considered dull. It shows that Plainview is a healthy, growing town, and people believe in it, for it has a future that is indeed promising.

The sound of the saw and hammer is heard in Plainview all the time.

Will Harvest Lots of Wheat

The editor drove through quite a scope of country north of Plainview Sunday. While the wheat crop is of course cut short there is going to be lots of it harvested, and this will mean better times when it begins to move to the market. Some people declare that the acreage is so much larger that the total volume of wheat harvested in the Plainview country this year will approximate that of last year. The stalks are so short that most of the grain will have to be headed.

Boys' Band to Have Uniforms

The Boys' Band is to have new uniforms. Mesdames L. L. Dye and G. A. Wright have been out soliciting subscription, and the responses have been generous. They ask all those who wish to contribute to mail them checks.

The Boys' Band is indeed a worthy enterprise, and is making a reputation over the Plains. The band is very useful in the affairs of our town.

County Court Next Monday

County court will convene in regular session next Monday.

The following is the jury for the first week: M. C. Henry, W. A. East-ridge, Ed Hayes, John Eakin, A. B. DeLoach, J. L. Jetton, R. E. Dennis, N. H. Vertrees, T. J. Johnson, G. L. Cattle, C. S. Ebeling, J. A. Finney, G. E. Ritchey, A. D. Hooper, J. R. Clark, K. D. Thomas.

Noted Ex-Sheriff Dies

John V. Cunningham, for more than twenty-five years sheriff of Taylor county, died at the home of a sister in Brownwood a few days ago. He was well known all over West and Northwest Texas. Mrs. Bob Burch, formerly of Plainview who now lives in Abilene, was a daughter.

Will Deliver School Banner

The county banner for 1920-21 will be delivered to Prairieview school Wednesday night, by County Judge Griffin. There will also be a program, followed by an ice cream supper.

Maize Prices Going Up

The price of threshed maize is now around 95c per hundred pounds, which is quite an increase over the low price of 65c several weeks ago. The price tendency is upward.

Wheat is also up to $1.50 a bushel.

NATIONS HEROES HONORED BY SOLEMN IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Graves of Soldiers Who Fought in the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars are Decorated

Plainview paid tribute yesterday morning to those who fought in the great world war, in the Spanish-American war and in the War between the states, by holding Memorial Day exercises and decorating the graves of those buried in Plainview cemetery.

A long parade moved from town to the cemetery at 9:30 o'clock. It was led by the Boys' Band, which played slow marches, next came the veterans of the civil war in cars. The members of the local post American Legion, both soldiers and sailors, in uniforms followed, there being about a dozen dressed in their full trench habiliments including steel helmets and guns. The post drum corps followed them. Next came the Boy Scouts carrying flowers with which to decorate the graves. After this there was a long line of cars in which citizens rode. The Legion and Scouts carried flags and banners.

There was a number of business houses and residences in the town properly decorated with flags and bunting. The flags were at half-mast.

At the cemetery was a very large crowd of people, and the ceremonies were held at the pavilion, a tall flag pole having been erected, from which a flag flew at half-mast.

Meade F. Griffin, head of the local post, was master-of-ceremonies. He stated the objects of the meeting, and Res. J. W. Israel read the prayer which was delivered in each Legion ceremonial yesterday in the entire country.

Mr. A. E. Boyd delivered the Memorial address, in an eloquent and sympathetic talk. He paid tribute to those who fought in the wars of this country, and lauded them as heroes such as the world had never seen. He urged that we hold their brave deeds and noble lives in remembrance and strive to make our country better.

The audience then sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

After the address the ex-service men under the direction of their officers repaired to the graves of the five former comrades who are buried in the cemetery, and decorated each grave with a flag and with flowers furnished by the Woman's Auxiliary. Mr. Griffin at each grave took a wreath, handed it to H. S. Hilburn, who after a few words anent the deceased, deposited the wreath on the grave. Afterwards the members of the Auxiliary scattered flowers on the grave. At the last grave the soldiers sang "America," the bugle corps sounded "Taps," the firing squad fired three volleys over the grave. The buglers then sounded "Retreat," and "colors," after which there was an adjournment.

The graves decorated were those of Chester Stoddard, A. B. Cousineau, Jennings Anderson, Floyd Yancy and Young Moreland.

In the meantime the Boy Scouts decorated the graves of all the Confederate and Federal soldiers who are buried in the cemetery, with a flag and flowers.

Many other graves were decorated by loving hands and with sad hearts.

TWO NEGROES SHOT BY JEALOUS IRATE HUSBAND

WAITED LAST NIGHT IN DARK ALLEY AND FIRED TWO CHARGES SHOT-GUN

Sunny Jackson and Sunny Mann, two negroes, came near going on total eclipses about eleven o'clock last night, when Mack Hudson, another dingy, fired two charges of No. 4 shot into them from a double-barreled shot-gun. Jackson was struck in the back with number of shot, and his wounds are very serious, though it is not likely they will prove fatal. Mann was struck by several shot on one of his hands, and one bullet struck him squarely in the forehead. They are now in a servant's house at the home of Dr. Nichols.

It seems that the trouble came up over the attentions being shown by the wounded man to the wife of Hudson. He got the gun, it is said, and with the green demon of jealousy permeating his system, waited for Jackson and Mann in the alley between the Methodist church and the South Plains Monument Co. building. When they came along he fired upon them in rapid succession, only the first charge taking effect, so the victims declare, for they were moving westward with speed of a wild airplane when the second shot was fired. Hudson claims he gave them warning before he shot, but they say he shot without giving any warning.

The negroes are about thirty-years of age, and have been working at odd jobs around the town. Hudson is in jail.

Will Select Camping Site

Friday afternoon Messrs. E. M. Perry, J. B. Maxey, John Boswell, J. C. Brown, J. N. Donohoo, Carl Donohoo and Jack Donohoo left in two cars for the mountains northwest of Las Vegas, N. M., for the purpose of selecting a camping ground for Plainview, which has been given the people of this town by the federal government forest reserve commission. They will be away six days.

Heavy Rain and Hail

Reports have just come in that there was a heavy rain, followed by a destructive hail, a few miles northwest of town and about the Sam Young farm, this evening. The rain is said to have been possibly four

BOWDEN VIZOR SHOTS HIMSELF THROUGH HEAD

COLT'S AUTOMATIC 32-CALIBRE USED—WAS IN ROOM AT HOTEL

Bowden Vizor, age eighteen years, shot himself through the head at about 11:30 last night in a room in the Ware hotel, using a 32-Calibre Colt's automatic pistol. He died at 2 o'clock, though he never regained consciousness from the time of the shot, so we are informed by a clerk at the hotel.

Young Vizor was a member of the junior class in the high school, and was planning to leave on the midnight train for California. A clerk at the hotel tells us that he came to the hotel about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and registered, requesting that he be called at 11:30 o'clock. After supper he went to the picture show, and afterwards returned to the hotel and went to his room. About 11:30 his father, H. W. Vizor, came to the hotel and asked for him, and the night clerk, Wade Gilliland, went with him upstairs to the room. The room was dark and they attempted to push on the electric light with the small wall button, but this could not be done, as the light had been turned off at the socket. Young Vizor told them they would have to turn it on at the socket, but before they could do so a shot rang out, and when the light was turned on he was found on the bed with a bullet through his head, entering at the temple. He had told a number of his friends earlier in the day that he was going to leave that night for California.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Vizor, live on West Ninth street at 1101, and the family is well known among our people. He also leaves a brother and two sisters, who live in Plainview. They have the sympathy of everybody in their bereavement. The funeral will be held tomorrow, the service to be conducted by Rev. J. W. Israel of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Davis' Mother Dies

A message was received this morning by Pastor G. W. Davis of the First Christian church telling of the death of Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. W. W. Dickerson, at Cameron. Mrs. Davis went to Cameron last week. The deceased was seventy-six years of age.

Bain Buys Wayland Dining Room

Bob Bain has bought the lease on the Wayland hotel dining room, from S. J. Whitacre and Misses Thomas, and will take charge of same tomorrow.

Light Hail Near Halfway

A message was received this morning by Pastor G. W. Davis of the First Christian church telling of the death of Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. W. W. Dickerson, at Cameron. Mrs. Davis went to Cameron last week. The deceased was seventy-six years of age.

PLAINVIEW IN EVIDENCE IN NEW HOME EDITION

Star-Telegram Issues 196-Page Edition Boosting for West Texas

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram to commemorate the dedication of its new million dollar printing home issued Sunday 196-page special illustrated edition, boosting itself and West Texas, which was undoubtedly the greatest single paper ever published in Texas.

Plainview is very much in evidence in the edition. There is a large two-page adv. telling of Plainview and Hale county progress, and also a number of special articles relating to Plainview, Hale county and the Plains written by local people. We republish two of these articles on other pages, and will publish the others in Friday's paper.

ERECTING NEW ELEVATOR AT FINNEY SWITCH

L. J. Halbert Begin Work On Modern Plant to Handle Wheat

L. J. Halbert has begun construction of a grain elevator at Finney Switch, six miles north of Plainview, and expects to have it in readiness to handle wheat when the harvest begins.

The elevator will be equipped with modern machinery in order to handle wheat economically and with dispatch and will be quite a convenience to the farmers in that section who market their wheat at the switch.

HALE CENTER WILL HAVE TRADES DAY

Badger Fight, Barbecue, Picnic, Auction Sale, Races, Games, Band Music

Hale Center is to hold a big trades day celebration Saturday under the auspices of its business men.

There will be a barbecue and picnic, chicken "throw", badger fight races, base ball games between Hale Center and Littlefield teams, auction sale and a speech or two.

The Plainview Boys' Band will furnish music at the Hale Center Trades Day Saturday.

For a Better Marketing System

J. A. Line of Ellen community is the secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Equity Union, a branch of which was organized here last week.

He says there is too much difference between the price received by the producer and the price paid by the consumer, and the Equity Union proposes to eliminate as much as possible this difference, through a better marketing system.

Building New Homes

B. G. Naylor is having a nice five-room residence built just beyond the high school.

Geo. Dallinger's having a modern cottage built on South Broadway next to the home of F. W. Clinkscales.

Pelham Clements is having a modern five-room bungalow erected on has farm ten miles east of Plainview.

W. T. C. C. Manager Here

Porter Whaley of Stamford, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was here yesterday on business for the organization, and on his excursion to leave June 18 for a tour of Mexico. He hopes that a number of Plainview men will go on the excursion.

Barn and Feed Destroyed

The barn on the M. A. Moses farm was destroyed by fire Monday night together with about 25 tons of maize and other feed, also a calf was consumed by the flames. We understand that Mr. Moses carried about $350 insurance on the barn, but none on the feed.—Ralls Banner.

Light Vote Being Polled

An election is being held at the city hall today to vote on an issue of $50,000 for school purposes, and to raise the district school tax from 50c. to $1 on the $100 property valuation. A very light vote is being polled, but it is thought that both propositions will be carried.

Youth Arrested for Theft

Paul Martin, age seventeen, was arrested at Hale Center yesterday on a charge of having stolen a pistol from the grip of a traveling man at the depot in that town. He made bond and was released until the grand jury considers his case.

May Rainfall 3.35 Inches

The following is the weather report for Plainview for the month of May: Temperatures—maximum 95 degrees on 27, 28 and 31. Minimum, 39 degrees on 3rd. Average maximum 84.2; average minimum 53.2. Average temperatures 62.7, or 5 degrees above normal. Rainfall 2.35 inches, or .05-inch above normal average. Rainfall for first five months of years: 1915, 11.13; 1916, 4.23; 1917, 2.61; 1918, 4.07.

PLAINVIEW WANTS DIRECT RAILROAD TO FT. WORTH

WHEAT AND STOCK FARMING PRODUCTS IN NEED OF OUTLET

By R. A. Underwood of Plainview in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Good morning, Fort Worth. Plainview would like to say with its daily loads of red hogs from green alfalfa farms; with its rolling fat baby beef of the best Hereford quality; a car of fresh eggs every day; three full cars of poultry each week, and enough of cream to supply your needs.

This supplemented by proportionate amounts of like products from other towns on the great South Plains country, is what we would like to have on the Fort Worth market daily, but which we cannot have in suitable proportions now because twenty-four to forty-eight hours on the road to the present roundabout way is too unsatisfactory. For this reason alone the South Plains of Texas has not yet taken its place as the greatest full-feeding livestock in the Southwest, but which she undoubtedly will assume as soon as a short haul to some good market is assured.

Fort Worth Loses Business

This roundabout way to Fort Worth market is the occasion the past few years of Plainview hogs and cattle appearing so bountiful on the Wichita Kansas, stock yards, and possibly the same convenient shipping-advantage is the reason that Wichita jobbing houses are finding outlet for their goods in the Panhandle of Texas.

It seems that Fort Worth is our nearest market, and still our farthest, and while Fort Worth enjoys the reputation of being the South's great grain market, still in the wheat growing section of the South Plains the counties of Hale, Floyd, Swisher, Castro and Briscoe—and others may be added—with more than 500,000 acres now a waving wheat field, we look askance and wonder if this likeness of interest in grain, livestock and other industries will not some day cause an awakening and we will some day receive an invitation to come to Fort Worth by the shortest route, and, in turn, Plainview, itself, in the heart of this wonderfully developed shallow water producing country will take its place as the distributor of the necessities of production in this vast meat and bread empire, where the cow, the sow and the hen, are the living makers and money is piled up in the bank from its wheat fields.

Plainview Shares Credit

Plainview does not claim all the glory for the development of this section, but it is the result of the combined effort of business and producing interests of the South Plains country; but somehow, through a natural sequence, Plainview business men have won the confidence of the tributary territory until it now enjoys the reputation of being the commercial and financial center of the South Plains without any envy for any of its neighbors, but with the belief that the great South Plains has already so developed as to afford and support a metropolis for each of its respective sections.

The capabilities of the country about Plainview for the production of wheat have not been scratched. Although an airplane ride over the Plainview territory would now reveal a countryside checker boarded with green wheatfields, there would be illimitable stretches of level, untilled land, capable of producing every year, immensely great crops of wheat and other grains. The short haul line to Fort Worth would assure a market for this, and thus hasten the certain development of the Plainview country and the entire Plains, and at the same time give to Fort Worth, as a friendly trade territory, a wealthy wheat producing country.

Stock Farming Is Essential

The essential thing about the Plainview country, however, is that here stock farming thrives. In no section in the world can be found better soil conditions than for the producing of grains needed in stock farming, and nowhere are all conditions better for the raising of chickens, hogs and cattle.

The florists of a New York town boosted the price of white carnations on Mothers' Day. The public retaliated by wearing dandelions. It is getting harder and harder to "soak" the consumer.

When you hear of an aviator going up a mile or two and making tailspins and looping the loops and all that, with a passenger with him, you may safely conclude that the editor of this great Moral Guide of the Plains is not the passenger.

How comes it that so many of our people sue for divorce? Brigham Young had 42 wives and Solomon 900, and neither ever had a divorce suit. If one man can get along with that many wives, why can't any other man manage to abide with only one?

Judge Hays of Chicago has ruled that a wife can search her husband's pockets if she wants to. The Hon. Judge is about a thousand years or so behind the times. The wife made that ruling herself way back in the days when man first invented pockets.

Kentucky bankers have offered a reward for the capture of bank robbers, of $1,000 a piece, dead or alive. The plan has merit. We never yet knew of a robber who did any more harm to society after he was shot full of little round holes.

Despite the drift away from the farm there has been no decrease in the farming population of the United States, according to the magazine, World's Work, for June. There are as many farmers in the United States as there ever were—more than ever before in fact. It is only the proportion of farmers to the other parts of the population that has shrunk.

It is estimated that the emergency tariff bill signed by President Harding last week will bring $105,000,000 a year into the federal treasury, but will add $500,000,000 to the living expenses of the people of the nation. It is also calculated to depress foreign markets for the products of the American farmers. But this is the way with all tariffs—enrich the manufacturers and middlemen, put a heavy cost on the consumers, and either hurt or be of no benefit to the farmer.

The Greeks and Turks are having a war of their own in the Near East, each trying to push the other out of certain disputed territory. It is announced that the allied nations are permitting them, like two dunghill roosters, to fight and worry themselves down, and then will dictate the terms of peace, not in accordance with the desires of the scrappers but for the best interests of Europe and Asia as a whole. The war won't last much longer, as both are on the verge of physical and economic exhaustion.

CRIME ITS OWN PUNISHMENT

It is too bad that the young men who are running rampant over the country committing every known crime cannot know, as they all will later on, that punishment cannot be avoided. Every day we read of burglaries, holdups, mail and bank robberies, crime against women, embezzlement and kindred erring, and nearly all of it is on the part of young men, mere boys, some of them. It is a sad commentary upon the kind of bringing up they have had, and a reflection upon their parents. It is sad, also, to contemplate what life has in store for them in the future. Those who may possibly escape legal punishment are sure to be severely punished, anyway, for nothing is more stinging and unrelenting than a guilty conscience. It pursues day and night and all the time and makes one a coward and sneak, always in fear of getting caught up with, always afraid to meet honest men and women and look them in the face. So the career of crime, once started, increases and drives one into the haunts where other criminals are, into the slums, into desperation, hopelessness, and despair, until finally death is a relief. Also, the money thus obtained is squandered recklessly, mostly in drink to head off fear and stimulate to other excesses and crimes. Such money never does a man any good, and 99 criminals out of every 100 die poverty stricken failures. The abnormally high wages paid young boys in the various industries during the war has had a very bad effect. It stimulated in them a desire for money and the luxuries which money can provide. Now thousands of them refuse to go back to where they were before the war, and to get money quick and easy have taken to crime. And the jails are getting full of them all over the land.

HIT 'EM AGAIN, JESS

The Dallas News says the people in many parts of North Texas are sleeping in storm cellars these nights for fear of cyclones. How we do sympathize with the people who live down in the state. The bollweevils eat up their cotton, the green bugs devour their wheat, the hot winds burn their corn, the chiggers, ticks and mosquitoes gnaw on their anatomies, the sizzling weather of summer causes them to think they are in hades, and the cyclones of the spring scares them half to death. They should come to the Plains, where life is so much more pleasant.—Plainview News.

Jess, you've been there. Otherwise you could not so fully describe the handicaps of living in the less favored sections of the country. Then, to think of the legislators from that section of the country being so self-centered, narrowed and prejudiced as to think we have no rights to be considered, in this glorious, ozone-bathed, altitudinous portion of the state! Jess, you dealt those unfortunates a blow richly deserved. Do it again. It may do some good.—Amarillo Daily News.

PENITENTIARY IS FOR CONVICTS TO STAY IN

Neff Tells Board When Respect for Law Is Created He May Issue Pardons

Austin, May 28.—When respect for law is established in Texas, and the crime waves subside, Governor Neff expects to grant pardons to some meritorious convicts, but "I don't intend to extend clemency to even one who had broken a trust or assaulted guards in an effort to escape" the governor declared today in a letter to prison commissioners.

The Governor expressed dissatisfaction at the alarmingly large number of escapes from the pen. The annual penitentiary report, he said, showed 256 escapees in 1920, an average of almost one a day. He did not give the number of escapes for this year.

The governor said he had been advised that frequently the guards permit convicts to escape rather than use force to stop them for fear they will be censured for cruel treatment.

Neff declared he did not share that view, asserting "the penitentiary is made for convicts to stay in and not a channel through which they can be turned on the public."

Neff asks the prison commissioners to advise guards that while he is governor no guard will be punished for doing whatever is necessary to be done to keep convicts from escaping.

Convicts should be taught to know that when the law places them in the penitentiary they are to stay until they are by law released," said the governor. He stressed his belief that while every convict should be treated humanely, he declared they must be kept in the place for them is in the penitentiary and that they must obey rules.

"It is my profound judgment that just as soon as convicts learn the guards are not going to let them escape, they will quit trying to do so."

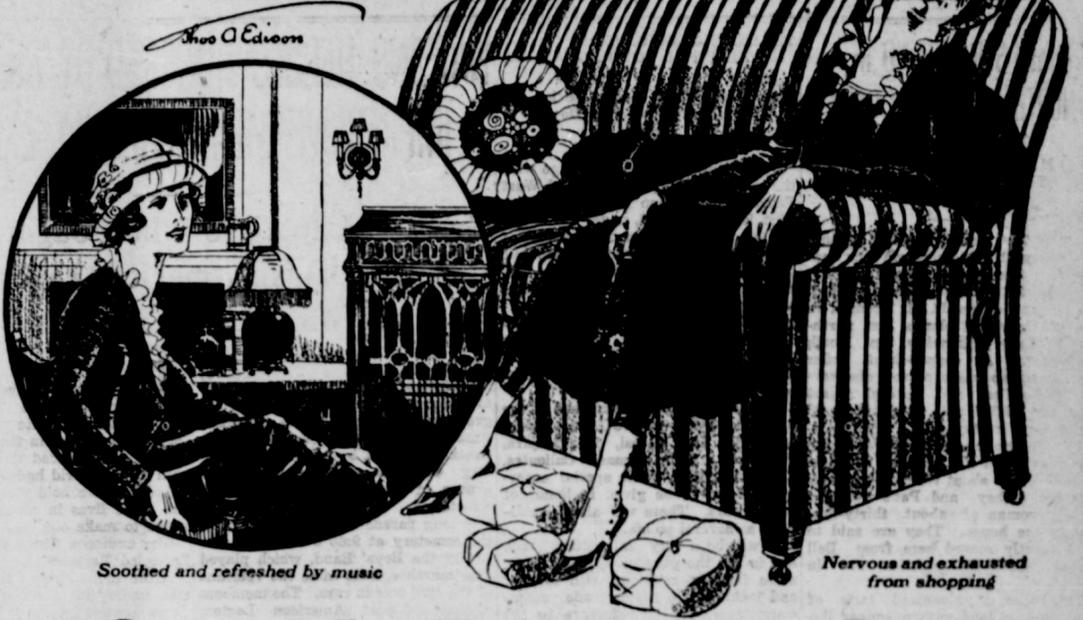

Two Bootleggers Arrested

A. A. McNeil and Hugh McNeil of Canyon were arrested by Sheriff Burton Roach, accompanied by other officers, and seventeen gallons of booze captured, following a chase on the Canyon road about five miles south of Amarillo. The men were brought to Amarillo and placed in jail. A third car containing even more booze than the catch made is believed to have made its escape.

Sheriff Black reports he believes he knows the location of a place where a large quantity of booze is stored in the Palo Duro Canyon.

Soothed and refreshed by music

Nervous and exhausted from shopping

Give Mr. Edison an Idea

NO ONE questions the power of good music to relax tense nerves and allay fatigue.

Edison spent three million dollars in research work to develop an instrument, which would RE-CREATE all forms of music, with absolute realism, and thus provide an instrumentality, by which the true beauties and full benefits of music can be brought into every home.

Edison wants a phrase of four or five words, which will distinguish this new invention from ordinary talking-machines. He offers $10,000 in prizes for the best ideas. Bring or mail the coupon and get a folder, that gives full particulars and instructions.

Three Days of Music Free

If you do not own one of Edison's new instruments, we shall gladly lend you one for three days, in order that you may experiment with it in your own home and learn what music will do for you. This experience may make it easier for you to win a prize.

Act quickly, as the number of instruments, which we can lend, is limited. Bring or mail the coupon. You assume no expense and no obligation.

Have you a daughter Graduating this June?

You promised her a gift. Make it a New Edison, —and delight her heart with music.

SPANKING THE PROUD AND RICH

Mr. Frank Crane says, "If you want prosperity abolish the Income Tax, Substitute for it a Sales Tax on all goods sold or any one of the other taxes that have been suggested."

Radical thought conceived in the income tax an instrument of punishment; to sober and chastize the Proud and Rich. Politicians welcomed it as a means of furthering their ambitions through appeal to the "common people"—the rank and file of the voters. And what was more important to them, an opportunity to fatten the treasuries over which they held control.

The latter has been accomplished with startling success, but anyone who supposes that the Proud and Rich are bearing the burdens of the Income Tax must possess a simple faith and a childlike trust in a truly remarkable degree.

The Proud and Rich calmly pass the buck. The poor pay at every turn. And no air minded man can find it in his heart to blame the Proud and Rich.

For the Income Tax is neither just nor right, and that which is neither just nor right cannot benefit the majority of the people over a period of time.

To fine people for being successful and penalize efficiency is the Bolshevik's dream. If that is what we want to do in this country, if we want to rob business of its capital, of that which it must have to go on doing business, then we must not complain of poor business, lack of employment and high prices. For eventually where the ability to produce is impaired prices must necessarily advance.

You and I and all the rest of the Let-George-Do-It Club are allowing our politicians to say to the man with capital, "If you dare to invest your money in any enterprises, and should you in spite of the way in which we are trying to run things, become successful, we will rob you of your money."

"Very well," replies the man with money to invest, "I will sit tight. I can invest my money in State and Municipal Securities and in other ways in which the returns may be smaller in the gross, but greater in the net, because you will have no opportunity to confiscate them. I can afford to let business stagnate, if the rest of you can."

The rest of us cannot. We depend upon business for our livelihood. Undoubtedly this new administration is now planning relief. Big Business knows this and is confident. There is a good deal of genuine optimism. The Statesmen know what must be done. But it won't do a bit of harm if the politician is made to realize beyond the shadow of a doubt that a sufficiently large number of intelligent voters in this country are keeping their eyes open, and are in no mood for further foolishness.—Public Service Monthly.

MY CREED

I believe in my town. I believe in her people, in her boys and her girls. I will make myself a committee of one to make of this a good place in which to live and a mighty hard place to leave.

I believe in my town. I believe in her institutions, in her schools, in her churches, and in her stores. I believe in the street broom and the street sweeper, and in the paint pot. I believe in never an empty can on a vacant lot but many a full one in the larder. Never again will I throw waste paper or rubbish in the street or alley.

I believe in my town. I believe in trees. God's first temples; grass instead of ash heaps, and flowers instead of weeds. My God bless the tongue that gives honest praise and commendation, and may He doubly bless the ear that is deaf to scandal and gossip. If I cannot speak good of my neighbors I will hold my peace. When it costs me nothing, at least, I will spend my money here, and by so doing leave a part of the purchase price to circulate in the channels where its equivalent in wealth was

GERMANY PAYS FIRST OF HUGH WAR DEBT
Two Hundred Million Dollars Paid to Allies in Paris Without Ceremony

Paris, May 30.—Germany today paid the Allies $200,000,000 and thereby met the first clause of the Allied ultimatum.

The money was paid over to the Allied reparations commission without ceremony. Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador here, carrying the money in a suit case, unaccompanied by a guard, met the commission and took its receipt. It was the biggest single financial transaction since the war.

The money was in the form of twenty gold bonds of $10,000,000 each. The papers bore the endorsement of four Berlin banks. They were brought here by couriers. The reparations commission will divide the money on a prearranged basis. Belgium under the peace treaty, having first claim to it.

Aliens Are Worst Offenders
Chicago, May 28.—The ire of Judge Landis was aroused when Charles A. Garamelli, saloon owner, admitted that he was not a citizen of the United States. Neither was his bartender, Fred Murdecci. Garamelli was on trial for violation of the prohibition laws. "It strikes me as significant," said the judge "that almost invariably you saloon men arrested on these charges prove to be aliens. You can't expect much sympathy from this court. Ninety-nine per cent of the violators of the Eighteenth amendment are not citizens of the United States. You come over here asking protection of our laws and then you break them."

Garamelli tried to explain that he had only been in America since 1905, but the judge was deaf.

French Grit Works Wonders
Of 3,256 French villages totally wrecked and deserted during the war, 3,216 have come back to life. Homes have been rebuilt and daily occupations resumed. Only 40 villages of the 3,256 remain uninhabitable. The Anglo-Saxon doesn't consider the lat-in especially plucky, but it will be hard for the Saxon to beat this example of dogged determination to go on.

Mr. Thomas, banker at Roby, was here yesterday on business, and prospecting with the intention of possibly locating here. He was at one time in the newspaper business, and longs to get back among the types. However, he has not been able to find a Plains newspaper that can be bought.

Grogan Ranch Sold
The E. W. Grogan & Sons ranch has been sold. It is 14 miles north-west of Clarendon, on Salt, Fork of Red River lying partly in Donley and Armstrong counties.

This ranch was purchased by N. B. Chenault of Wichita Falls, a well known and prominent oil producer aggregating in figures some $150,000, for the ranch 12,366 acres and about 645 head of young Hereford steers, yearlings that were part of the cattle arab eing held upon the ranch at the time it was sold to Mr. Chenault.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Duckett and little daughter, Louise, of Tulia, were in Plainview last week visiting with friends.

Slaughter Ranch Divided
Littlefield, May 27.—The division of the Slaughter Ranch just southwest of here among the heirs of the late Col. C. C. Slaughter is proceeding rapidly. The lands have already been divided and deeded to the several heirs who have taken charge. The division of the personal property, particularly the cattle, has just started and will be rapidly completed.

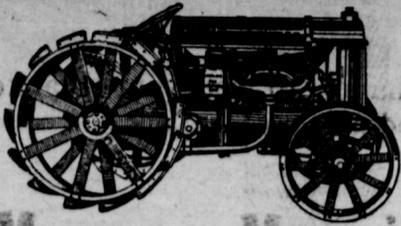

The day of the extreme large cattle ranch has gone, to be followed by the smaller stock farm where more cattle can be raised; for they can have better individual attention.

The first bale of 1921 cotton was ginned at San Benito Wednesday of last week.

Don't Make Their Expenses
Franklin K. Lane, one of this country's best secretaries of the interior, died the other day penniless. When he entered the Wilson cabinet he was worth $100,000. Former Vice President Marshall left Washington a poor man, altho fairly well off when he went there. Secretary Hughes gave up a million-a-year law practice for a $12,000 job as Secretary of State. Roosevelt once said of his cabinet, "These men are content to sink themselves in the public service without a thought of private advancement, and often at a heavy sacrifice." There is far more real patriotism in the country than there is of the grandstand kind that prates about it.

Fordson

$625 f. o. b. Detroit

The merits of the Fordson Tractor can be best judged through the opinion of its daily users. We have asked a few of our customers for their frank comments concerning the operation of their Fordsons. Read what these owners have to say and then judge whether or not they are pleased with their purchases—Or better still, ask them yourself.

5-21-1921. Yesterday I listed 21 acres with my Fordson and two-row lister. The work done was fine.—E. R. Williams.

5-20-1921. Yesterday and today I have just listed 27 acres of old ground with my Fordson and two-row lister in 16 hours. It sure does do pretty work.—Vernon Rastetter.

5-21-1921. I made $100 a day for seven weeks, over $3,000.00 clear digging pipe line ditches at Breckenridge last winter with my Fordson, then drove it out here averaging more than 50 miles per day for 7 days and plowed 100 acres of ground without taking up a single connecting rod bearing. This may sound fishy but it is absolutely the truth. My Fordson lowered the rate paid for digging ditches at Breckenridge from 15c to 7c per foot. I used kerosene for fuel.—E. B. Rough Driving Causes Divorce

Austin, Texas.—Two unusual divorce cases have come to the attention of the authorities of Texas during the past five days. In Dallas, Judge Kenneth Foree held that taking one's wife riding in a "fiver" over a rough road constitutes cruel treatment. He granted the divorce on that ground. The wife related on the witness stand how her husband had driven her in his automobile madly over rough country roads, never stopping for bumps, bridges or railway crossings. When they reached Grand Prairie, the wife said, she could not stand up, so roughly had the car treated her.

Refusing to go further, the wife got in touch at Grand Prairie with Deputy Sheriff Lee Hight, who had her sent home.

On another occasion the wife was bounced off the rear of her husband's motor cycle, she testified, serious physical consequences resulted from that fall, she said.

Dr. Ernest E. Robinson and son, Lon, were here yesterday visiting his son. Dr. Robinson had been at Hale Center, where he delivered the commencement sermon to the high school graduates Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Knight and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Malone spent the week end on the Lester ranch on Palo Duro near Canyon, fishing. They caught an abundance of bass weighing from two to two and a half pounds, and had a very enjoyable time. Mrs. W. M. Lester returned with them.

Miss Flora Meadows left Thursday for Waynoka, Okla., to visit a few days. Mrs. H. F. Meadows and Miss Lucille will leave tomorrow and be joined by Miss Flora, and they will go to Culver Military Academy in Indiana, to attend the graduation exercises of Frank Meadows, their son and brother.

Homer Knowles was here yesterday. Some years ago he was publisher of a newspaper at Matador, later moving to Hale Center where he published a paper for awhile. Since then he has been in several places, but of late at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he has been with his wife for the benefit of her health.

E. T. Coleman and B. H. Towery and families and Miss Hickman left this morning in cars for Boulder, Colo. Messrs. Coleman and Towery will return home in a few days, and their families will spend the summer in Boulder. Miss Arnes and Charlette Coleman will attend summer school at the Colorado State University there.

New Books to Be Issued for Next Meeting at Lakeview

On June 19th

The Hale county singing convention met with Prairieview class Sunday and was called to order by the president, who opened the services with hymn No. 30 after which the convention was led in prayer by the secretary.

There being no program for the day every one was given an opportunity to sing, and no one failed to respond when their names were called. After singing until 12:30 the convention went into business session, and a motion was made to buy a new book for the convention, which carried unanimously. The following committee was appointed to select and buy the new books: Grover Leamaster, P. D. Windsor, G. W. Hanson, Earl Raper, C. L. Haddock and L. D. Griffin. This committee will have them ready for the next meeting which will be held at Lakeview on the 3rd Sunday in June.

There was a large crowd of people from Kress, and they asked for the convention to meet with them on the 4th Sunday in July and the invitation was unanimously accepted.

So the convention will meet as follows: Lakeview, June 19th; Kress, July 24; Plainview August 29th.

The convention adjourned for dinner. This was an hour well spent, and enjoyed by all, as the good people of Prairieview know how to take care of a hungry crowd, and there was an abundance of good eats and to spare.

The convention was again called to order at 1:45, and all the available room in and around the rostrum was crowded to its capacity with anxious singers. The afternoon singing was enjoyed by all, as we had present with us Prof. J. W. Dennis of Erick, Okla. who has just closed a 20 day normal school at Prairieview, and is now teaching a 20-day-normal school at Liberty, and Prof. T. S. Cobb of Kress. Mr. Dennis is with the R. H. Cornelius Music Co. of Fort Worth, and Mr. Cobb is with the Quartett Music Co. of Fort Worth, both of these gentlemen are singers and teachers of great reputation, and the music rendered by them was a treat to all. Come again you are always welcome.

Prof. Dennis and daughter sang a duet, and R. M. Peace, Prof. Cobb and wife, and C. L. Haddock sang a quartet, after which Chas. Clements sang the closing song "God Be With You Till We Meet Again", the convention was closed with prayer by R. M. Peace.

CLAY WILLIAMS, President,
L. W. SLONEKER, Secretary.

Large Congregations Greet The Union Revival

The union revival under the big tabernacle on the west side of the square begun Sunday morning, and large congregations have greeted each service since then.

The revival is being held under the auspices of Pastors Israel, Bullock and Davis of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian churches, and their congregations. Evangelist W. A. Erwin of Vernon is doing the preaching, and he is delivering very able and soul-searching discourses. The choir work is under the direction of Mr. R. G. Fraser, with Mrs. Erwin as accompanist. A very large choir of the best singers of the town is furnishing good music. Mr. Fraser sings a solo at each service.

The revival will continue for several weeks, not less than three. Services are held only at 8:15 o'clock at night during this week.

Evangelist Erwin was for a number of years pastor of the Presbyterian church in Amarillo.

Will Have Booster Chorus

Mr. Fraser, choir director in the union revival, wants all the boys and girls between ten and sixteen years of age, to meet him and Mrs. Erwin at the tabernacle Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, as they will organize a "Booster chorus." This chorus of children will have a place near the rostrum and will assist in the singing, and will constitute the entire choir at the Saturday night services. This is quite an important feature, and all the children of the ages mentioned are urged to join the choir.

Will Deliver Address

At Tabernacle Wednesday Afternoon

Elder Clude D. Pyffe, pastor of the Christian church in Snyder, son and co-worker with the eminent Christian evangelist, his father, will deliver an address at the revival tabernacle Wednesday afternoon on "Financing the Church." No collection will be taken. The people are invited to hear the address.

Services at the Baptist Church

Next Sunday morning at 11, Messrs. A. E. Boyd, J. L. Galloway and G. W. McDonald will speak briefly on matters of vital importance to the entire church membership. Special music will be arranged. At night the Sunbeam Band will give an attractive program. Everybody invited to these services.

HARLAN J. MATTHEWS, Pastor.

NEWS GOES FAST

Drum-Beat in Africa Has Telegraphic Speed.

Marvelous System of Signaling Has Long Been One of the Wonders of the World.

News is carried by drum-beat in Africa at a rate as fast as the telegraph, writes A. S. Crawley in the London Daily Mail.

"The natives of Central Africa have a wonderful system of signaling from village to village by drum-beat," he says.

"Generally the property of the chief, these official drums, which are many, forming a set of varying size, are as a rule of the species known as Incision-drum. This is a long, narrow, hollow cylinder, made from a tree trunk, with the ends closed.

"The drum is placed in either a horizontal or vertical position, the former producing the best results. Big drums carry more than ten miles.

"By relay a message may travel 1,000 miles in little more than the velocity of sound.

"The drum-telephone depends upon an elaborate code of sounds. European travelers often order their dinner and night's lodging at the next village by a drum-message. The villagers use it as we use a postal, telegraph and telephone service—and there are no charges.

"For the home service the drum plays the part also of the church bell, the clock, the town crier and the daily newspaper. For instance, Rev. James Roscoe, whose African adventures and discoveries have recently been reported, notes that it announced a birth or a death, the new moon and the weekly fast day.

"To help understanding of the marvelous code, as complete as a language, the remarks of Sir Arthur B. Ellis (writing of West Africa) are in point:

"To a European the rhythm of a drum expresses nothing beyond a repetition of the same note at different intervals of time, but to a native it expresses much more. To him the drum can and does speak, the sounds produced from it forming words and the whole measure of rhythm a sense."

"Thus, at a dance of 'companies' in one measure they abuse the men of another company... then the rhythm changes and the gallant deeds of their own company are extolled. All this, and much more, is conveyed by the beating of drums, and the native ear, trained to detect and interpret each beat, is never at fault."

Midget Babies Often Thrive.

Parents whose children are abnormally small at birth can take heart, for recent figures show that tiny infants frequently grow up quite robust, and of normal proportions. According to the observations of an English doctor, a girl baby born 13 years ago, to a Mrs. Warwick of Barrow-in-Furness, for instance, weighed only one and three-quarter pounds. She now turns the scale at 150 pounds, and is an exceptionally healthy and intelligent child.

Even more remarkable is the case of Leonard Merrick, who stands over 6 feet high and weighs 180 pounds, all brawn and muscle and sinew. At his birth, 25 years ago, he weighed only 15 ounces, his head was not much bigger than a billiard ball, the mouth was only just about the size of the end of a pencil, and the mother's wedding ring would slip easily up the arm as high as the shoulder.

A baby exhibited at one of the meetings of the British Obstetrical society weighed only 20 ounces and the Medical Times once announced the birth of one that turned the scale at exactly one pound. Both these grew up strong and healthy, and of normal proportions. In short, a small infant seems likely to do as well as a big one, always provided, of course, that it survives the perils of babyhood.

Rivals.

Gilbert K. Chesterton said the other day in New York:

"I am sick of the great horde of free verse poets that has sprung up among us. These little wretches grind out a few hundred words of silly twaddle that is without rhyme and without reason, and then they think themselves the superiors of Swinburne."

"At the Greenwich village tea yesterday a scrawny little free verse poet said:

"I'm awfully sorry D'Annunzio has capitulated, you know."

"Are you?" asked an old maid in sandals. "Why?"

"Notwithstanding our already overcrowded market," said the poet, "that duffer is sure to start writing poetry again."

Novel Coiffure.

Oil-soaked hair is a novel form of coiffure introduced by the Russian ballet, which recently opened in Paris. The women dancers have cut their hair short and so saturated it with oil that it looks like a skullcap. Their eyebrows are painted in a long fine line, which runs right back to the roots of the hair, giving the face the appearance of a Polish doll.

Practical.

"The time has come," said Mr. Brick's wife, "when woman may forsake the light, ephemeral things of life and take up the heavy subjects."

And her husband rejoined, wearily: "Are you going to make bread at home again, Maria?"

CHINESE STUDENT WAS CALM

Slightly Disturbed by Soiled Necktie, but Not at All by Coming Important Debate.

It is only 15 years ago that Wellington Koo—to whose efforts are largely attributed the election of China to the council of the League of Nations—entered Columbia university, New York. In definite preparation for a diplomatic career he specialized in international law under Prof. John Bassett Moore, and it was in this subject that he took his Ph.D. degree, with a thesis on "The Status of Aliens in China." He was one of the most active and distinguished of the Columbia undergraduates of his time, says the Detroit News. Not only was he elected to the Phi Beta Kappa, the most famous of the American college fraternities, but he became editor in chief of the Columbia Spectator.

As a debator, too, Mr. Koo made his mark among his contemporaries. In 1908 his speech turned the tide in favor of his own university in a debate with Cornell. The story is told that when the Columbia team reached Ithaca, the seat of the rival university, most of its members were in a state of blue funk, owing to the high reputation of one of their opponents. This attack of nerves was at its height when they sought out Koo. "Yes," he told them, "I, too, am worried. I have brought only one evening dress tie with me, and look at it—soiled! What is to be done?" His fellow debaters fled to the nearest haberdasher's and returned with half a dozen ties of assorted models. Koo selected one, arrayed himself, and in it went forth to the fray with a light heart.

OVERLOOK BEAUTY OF FERNS

Choice Varieties Seem Not to Be as Greatly Appreciated as They Should Be.

One of the things which the florists of the United States have neglected to a great extent is the growing of ferns. To be sure we see many beautiful specimens in the windows of city establishments, but very few of the more choice varieties, which are really just as easy to grow, provided a little care is taken with them. How many know, for instance, that there are scores of varieties of the "maidenhair"? The baby maidenhair is one of the daintiest of these, its leaves being but little larger than the head of an ordinary pin. Another variety which is especially beautiful is the New Zealand maidenhair. The stem of this fern flattens out as it nears the leaves, and the leaves themselves are superimposed one on another, which gives the effect of several shades of green. Of course there are also the gigantic tree ferns of the tropics, which have fronds from five to fifteen feet in length, the trunks sometimes being four or five feet in diameter, but these would hardly do for a lady's bouquet.

First American Airway.

The "cornerstone" of America's first airway from Washington to Dayton, Ohio, was laid at Bolling field, Washington, with appropriate ceremonies, designed as a part of the celebration of the anniversary of Lincoln's birth. High officials of the army, members of congress and aviators of note attended.

Army aviation officials described the event as a "milestone in the progress of American aeronautics."

A feature of the dedication was the first public appearance of the American messenger airplane, one of the smallest in the world, which is planned to take the place of motorcycles for certain messenger work. The plane has a wing spread of only 20 feet and stands 7 feet high. It will carry a load of 240 pounds and with its 60-horse power motor makes 95 miles an hour.

Remarkable Belgian Gun.

One of the most curious products of the Belgian gunmakers' art, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, is now in the possession of a Colorado sportsman. This gun is remarkable for its arrangement of seven barrels in one, the composite tube with its cluster of parallel bores being about the size of a heavy-gauge shotgun barrel. Seven 22-caliber rifle cartridges are inserted in the breech openings, and fired simultaneously by a single firing pin and hammer. The shell ejector is a removable disk with seven holes, which swings back when the lock is opened.

Oak in Hall of Fame.

Before Basking Ridge, N. J., took its place in the world an oak stood there. The people of this New Jersey town can trace the tree's history for 400 years, but the church is only 200 years old. It has just celebrated that event. Miss Margaret Hitchcock of Morristown, and Mrs. William D. Baneker of Basking Ridge nominate the tree for a place in the Hall of Fame which the American Forestry association is compiling of trees with a history. The tree has a circumference of 15½ feet 6 feet above the ground.

Indian Chief Drives Auto.

An Indian Chief, Tony Tommy, of the Florida Seminoles, who still wear the garb of their forefathers, is the first of his tribe to buy and operate his own automobile. After a course of instruction at a garage in Miami, the chief now rolls into town each week from his village, near Fort Lauderdale, at the wheel of his machine, but with a pair of horn-rimmed glasses as his only other concession to the ways of the palefaces.

SEA'S OLD TALES

Superstitions That Are Held by Cornishmen.

Phantom Lights and Phantom Ships Implicitly Believed in by Sailors Who Fear Nothing.

All along the Cornish shores the phantom ship is thoroughly believed in, as also are the phantom lights. Some years ago a schooner-rigged vessel made signals of distress to the west of St. Ives bay. A cable that put out reached her, and one of the seamen made a grasp at her bulwarks in order to jump on board; but his hand met nothing solid, and as he tumbled back into the boat the schooner and her sailing lights disappeared in the darkness. Next morning a schooner out of the port of London was wrecked within the same vicinity, and all on board her perished. The phantom lights are seen generally before a gale; the Cornish seamen call them "Jack Harry's lights," and the ship seen resembles the one that is subsequently wrecked.

The death ship is a superstition peculiar to Cornwall. With black hull and stumpy bowsprit, she comes in, with all her canvas set, against the wind and tide, and as she turns to reach to seaward again the doomed person dies. Most famous of the traditional stories grouping round the death ship is that of a wrecker, who lived at Tregaseal, beguiling vessels with false lights and doing to death those who escaped the waves. When he lay dying a black ship full rigged with all sail set was noticed coming in upon the land against the wind and tide; and as the man died she bore out to sea again in a half gale.

Portheurno cove, near the Logan stone, has also a ship of doom. Sometimes there is seen when the mists are rising off the marshes a black square rigged craft, which stands over to Bodelan and Chywidan and suddenly vanishes. Upon whosever sees her ill luck and death are sure to fall.

Near St. Ives, too, is a churchyard haunted by an apparition, sight of which entails disaster to seamen. In the sixties of the last century a vessel was wrecked on the coast here. The men who went off to the rescue found on board a lady with a child in her arms. She refused to part with her charge, and in drawing her by a rope from the wreck to the boat the child was lost in the raging seas. The lady died through shock and exposure and was buried in the local churchyard. Today her wraith is said to haunt the shore, whether the day or the night is tempestuous or dark or clear or fine. And on whoever sees her, be he a seafaring man, disaster falls.

The coasts of Cornwall are second to none in the wildness, the variety and originality of their sea superstitions. For nowhere else in Europe has the sea taken such a toll of dead, and still takes. Only Cape Ushant, and, perhaps, the Goodwin sands off the coast of Kent, may rank behind Cornwall in the sea's colossal ledger of death and disaster.—National Marine.

Voices by Radio.

Voice transmission by radio waves has passed beyond the experimental stage. The United States bureau of standards says that it is now actually possible to telephone by wireless over as great a distance as by the ordinary wire.

It also states that the quality of the transmitted speech is as perfect as that which comes over the ordinary telephone and the same remark applies to music sent by radio.

This highest scientific authority expresses a belief that before very long communication across the Atlantic by radiophone will be established on a commercial basis. When that has been accomplished, a person in Philadelphia or New York will be able at any time to call up and converse with a friend or business acquaintance in London or Paris by paying a stated and moderate rate per five minutes of talk.

Origin of Ophthalmia.

Little was known concerning the surgery of the eye in Great Britain until the expedition into Egypt under Sir Ralph Abercrombie took place following the advance of the French into the land of the pyramids led by Napoleon Bonaparte. The British troops, says the New York Medical Journal, became the victims of contagious ophthalmia, then and now widely prevalent in that country, and brought back that scourge into Great Britain. Incapacitated from further fulfilling their military duties, the disease was spread by these men throughout the length and breadth of the land. Serious study of the eye then began.

OLD RAIL FENCE IS MOURNED

Too Wasteful of Modern Days, but It Had Its Points of Real Usefulness.

Among the once necessities of farm life that reflected prodigality in the use of valuable timber was the old rail fence. Like many other almost by-gones of rural life, its place in farm wastefulness now is well established, and yet it had its uses for which the straight-line wire fence cannot qualify. The old rail fence's serrated stretches were the homes of small animal life that now is rapidly disappearing. Around its timbers there grew the uncultivated blackberry, with its sister the raspberry, and among its recesses there thrived the elder, whose fruit once was coveted pie material and whose blossoms were the foundation for elderberry wine that matrons served of a winter evening when the neighbors gathered.

The rail fence, with its invariable undergrowth, was the favorite protection for Bob White in winter, and from its top he sang in the warmer seasons. Beneath, the little ground squirrel burrowed. From safe retreat he chattered if some intruder came near to annoy him as he was busily engaged in gathering his store of food for the snow time.

To the harvest hand it afforded protection at the end of the long row for a brief respite and its corners formed shaded nooks under which the water jug might be kept.

And from what royal timber was this old fence constructed? Black walnut logs, chestnut logs and the smooth length of the ash tree were cleft by numerous rail splitters for the "seven high" fence that stood the storms of decades. There was many a black walnut rail whose timber would make the manufacturer of gun stocks chortle with satisfaction had he such a present supply of wood at his command.—Columbus Dispatch.

GOOD MATERIAL FOR BOILERS

Variety of Pumice Stone is Coming Into General Use in Japan—Has Many Advantages.

"Koka Seki" is a variety of pumice stone which, as far as now known, reports Vice Consul H. T. Goodier of Yokohama, is only found in the small group of Niijima islands (New Islands), which lie off the coast of the Idzu peninsula, about ninety miles south of Tokyo. Though used in Niijima from ancient times as a building material, only comparatively recently has "Koka Seki" become known commercially in Japan proper. Because of its durability, high tensile strength and capability of resisting 1,300 degrees C. of heat, it is suitable for boiler and furnace construction as well as inner linings of safes and the manufacture of ice chests. As it is claimed, it can be easily cut, will take a surface of paint or metal plating, and as nails can be driven in. It is thought that the uses of this material will greatly increase. It is, however, in re-enforced concrete barge building in Japan that it is best known.

Maeterlinck Loses a Dog.

Maurice Maeterlinck has a special weakness for animals in general and for dogs in particular. He was greatly distressed, therefore, when, the other day, a gentle little Pekinese which he owned was bitten by Alaska, an ill-mannered Eskimo dog, brought back from America by the post.

The little dog's injury was severe, affecting the eye, and M. Maeterlinck, finding the animal's sufferings insupportable, called into consultation one of the best eye specialists in Nice. After a careful examination the physician declared that an operation was necessary. The four-footed patient, however, unable to take an anesthetic, died under the knife.

Now for services rendered, the specialist has charged M. Maeterlinck the sum of 600 francs, le maître refuses to pay. The physician has gone to court with the matter.—From Le Petit Parisien, Paris.

New Goldfield in Africa.

Another goldfield has been discovered in Eastern Akim which promises untold wealth. King Oforiatta, who was educated on European lines, first secured the passage of laws similar to those adopted in South Africa to protect the country from exploitation. The king then proceeded with his investigations, but meanwhile a colonial government survey party unexpectedly discovered diamonds a year ago. Oforiatta, after a year of research work, now claims that he has discovered that gravel deposits which have been worked for gold for centuries lies over a layer of clay, beneath which is more gravel than that of the top layer. Under his direction an area exceeding an acre has been excavated. The king states that he is satisfied that the indications point to the existence of huge goldfields.

Like a Well-Known Voice.

A telephone call came to me one afternoon. The voice had the well-known, honeyed tones of my best girl. She was somewhat peeved over an incident that had occurred a few evenings before. In order to reconcile her I revealed some of my feelings, which were meant for her alone. At the end of this conversation I was gratefully and hilariously thanked for my information by a suddenly changed voice. It proved to be a friend of mine, who took pains to see that I was told about it for weeks following.—Chicago Tribune.

"COEUR DE LION"

Relic of Great British Monarch Found at Rouen.

Intact, Though Shrunken in Dimensions, When Discovered in Vault of Famous French Cathedral.

The reported discovery of a coffin containing the heart of Robert Bruce at Melrose abbey reminds the Manchester Guardian that the "lion heart" of King Richard I was not discovered in Rouen cathedral until Queen Victoria's reign.

In 1838 some antiquaries obtained permission from the archbishop of Rouen to search for Richard's heart, which tradition stated was near the high altar. Their excavations revealed a recumbent figure of Richard, in good preservation, with the exception of the nose, hands and feet, which apparently had been broken so as to flatten the effigy when the present pavement was laid over it.

Their next find was a leaden case inscribed "Richard Coeur de Lion, Duc de Normandie, Roi d'Angleterre."

A hole had been made in the lid—probably by robbers, for it is said that the leaden case was originally inclosed in a silver casket and that some coins were placed therein.

The heart, which was enveloped in green taffeta, proved to be intact, though shrunken in its dimensions. After sojourning for a time in the archbishop's palace the heart was transferred to the Rouen Museum of Antiquities, where it has been kept ever since.

Richard's other remains are many miles from Rouen—at Fontevault abbey, where they lay, as he directed, at his father's feet. Napoleon III once promised to hand over to British the Plantagenet relics, but they have not reached England.

In 1866, when Lord Derby became premier for the third time, he reminded the emperor of his pledge, but to no effect.

"If you insist on the fulfillment of my promise," said Napoleon, "the relics shall be transferred to England, but I hope you will release me. The people of Fontevault raised such a storm of protest when I announced my intention of removing them that I thought better of it."

Fontevault abbey now serves as a convict prison, but visitors are admitted to the vaults, which contain recumbent effigies—dressed in their royal robes—of Henry II and Queen Eleanor, their son Richard, and Isabel, widow of King John. These were hidden away by some monks during the Reign of Terror, when the Plantagenet tombs were desecrated.

The royal effigies are admirable examples of medieval workmanship.

No Dogs, Births or Deaths.

No births, no deaths, no dogs. A tract of land subject to these singular prohibitions is the sacred island of Miyajima, situated most gorgeously in the inland sea of Japan.

With the trifling exceptions of entering the world, leaving it, or starting a "kennel," you may do practically what you choose there.

Stringent religious regulations, dating far back into history, forbid these small adventures.

Occasionally a baby, anxious to begin existence, hurries into the world before its time.

Nowadays humanitarianism is stronger than Shinto law, and no more terrible penalty is exacted from the unlucky mother than that she shall be moved to the mainland as soon as possible, and remain there for 30 days.

As for death, once the poor sufferer at this last gasp was ferried across to some other shore lest his final breath should pollute sacred soil.

Now, if needs must, he is allowed to die in peace, but his body is instantly removed to Ono for burial, and the chief mourners who attend the funeral are obliged to absent themselves from Miyajima for 50 days' of ceremonial purification.—From Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Moor Hens.

Lord Grey of Fallodon in his leisure time has been watching the ways of moor hens living in his garden, and tells an interesting story of their scheme of coping with their growing families. The second brood of a season follows quickly on the first, and the elder children are given duties and responsibilities. They help to feed the young ones, passing on food given them by the parents. They help in building nursery nests, and when the parents are rearing the third brood they are often left in sole charge of the second.

Something Lacking.

"Ter see, mum," said Grimy Gus, "it's like dis. Six months ago I had a little home of me own, but I made an unfortunate marriage. My wife kept me in hot water all de time."

"Too bad," said the woman dryly. "It's a pity there couldn't have been a little soap in it. Only six months ago, did you say?"—Boston Transcript

An Improvement.

"My wife has been studying geology and the house is so full of stones that I can't find a place to sit down."

"What will you do about it?"

"I've induced her to take up astronomy."

"Is that any better?"

"Of course; she can't collect specimens!"—Pearson's Weekly.

LONGEVITY ON THE DECREASE

University Professor Thinks It Is, and Gives Some Cogent Reasons Why It Should Be.

Prof. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins, after an exhaustive study of life probability extending through a historical period of two thousand years, arrives at the conclusion that while man's possibilities of life at birth and in earlier stages has been steadily improving, his expectation of life at advanced age has been steadily decreasing. Comparisons ranging from the Romano-Egyptian to the present day offer statistical proof. The theoretical explanation is that in early times, with less provision for the protection of babies and infants, only the more rugged pulled through. Nowadays with increasing care for childhood, the weak are carried into adolescence and adulthood. Where formerly only the fittest or toughest managed to reach the shady slope of life, and were consequently more likely to hang on to ripe old ages, the salvaging of the weaker brings them into the fifties and sixties with less hope of prolonged life. It sounds plausible and may explain the apparent decrease of longevity. Incidentally, his statistics brought out the fact that while women formerly had less expectation of life at all ages, this has been reversed—another blow to the tradition of "the weaker sex." Women now appear to have the greater probability of prolonged life.

KNOWS MACHINES HE BUILDS

Head of Great Locomotive Works Has More Than Business Acumen to His Credit.

On a hot day last summer an express train between Philadelphia and New York came to a jolting halt, says Nation's Business. The passengers first joked, then grumbled, then grew impatient. A big man, white-haired, but youthful in motion, climbed down from a chair car and marched up to the engine, which was the center of a ring of passengers.

"What's wrong?" he asked. In effect, the engineer said that the engine had quit and he didn't know what the several things was the matter with it.

The big man peeled off his coat and waistcoat and rolled up his shirt sleeves. Then he sort of disappeared in the interior of the unwilling engine and the ring of watching passengers grew.

Half an hour later he emerged with a smudged face and grimy hands, and said, "She's all right now," put coat and waistcoat over his arm and walked back to his chair car, wiping his hands on a handful of waste he'd picked up in the cab.

She was all right, and the man who made her all right was Samuel Matthews Vauclain, millionaire president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, and a real boss of their 20,000 workmen.

Airplane an Essential Now.

In 50 minutes after the Birmingham office of a Shelby county mine operator had gotten in touch with the mine rescue station at West End, experts at the station had engaged an airplane and with special life-saving apparatus had been landed at the mine, 30 miles distant.

This marks a new field of usefulness for the airplane. Physicians, life-saving experts and mine-rescue apparatus may be carried through the air to the scene of a mine disaster and many lives may be saved by this quick service.

When the airplane has evolved into a medium for the saving of human life, it may indeed be said to have entered the class of the essentially practical.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Work of Y. W. C. A. Abroad.

Secretaries of the newly organized Y. W. C. A. in Krakow, Poland, were surprised recently to have a membership card of the Cleveland (O.) Young Women's Christian association presented to them by a young girl who was on her way to America. The girl proved to have a sister living in Cleveland who had taken out membership in the International Institute of that city, and then sent the card to the traveler as a guarantee of assistance along the way. Girls as young as twelve and sixteen are passing through the Y. W. C. A. office in Poland on the way to America.

Good Work is Costly.

The remarkable difference in price of tennis rackets is not so much due to the difference in the cost of the raw materials of which they are made as to the kind and amount of labor on their making, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Best tennis rackets are works of art, and the skill of the worker is reflected in the price as much as in any other article belonging to sport and athletics.

GIANT FARM CORPORATION HUNDRED MILLION CAPITAL

To Handle Nation's Grain Crop On Cooperative Basis Through Elevators Is Aim

New York, May 28.—The greatest agricultural marketing organization in the world was launched here tonight when plans were completed for the Farmers Finance Corporation.

The corporation, which was formed for the purpose of handling the country's grain crops on a cooperative basis, will have a capitalization of $100,000,000 and a potential power of at least $1,000,000,000. Incorporation papers will be filed in Wilmington, Delaware, next week.

According to officials, the corporation will begin to function immediately and may be able to handle a portion of this year's crops.

The principal objects of the organization were described as follows: Elimination of speculation in grain. Stabilization of grain prices, with equal benefit to farmers and consumers.

Increased acreage, with consequent greater production.

Abolition of unnecessary costs by direct shipments and elimination of middlemen's profits. If this experiment is successful, it was stated, farmers organizations throughout the country will apply the same principle to other agricultural products.

The United States Grain Growers Inc., of which the farmers finance corporation is a subsidiary, will form another subsidiary to handle grain exports.

Committees similar to the one which has just completed organization of the finance corporation are now at work on corporations to handle live stock, fruit, milk and dairy products, tobacco, poultry, garden truck and cannery products.

The farmers' corporation will at once lease or build elevators in Chicago, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, Cleveland, New York, and Spokane or Seattle and later in Galveston and Fort Worth.

A SPLENDID REPORT FROM THE KRESS PUBLIC SCHOOL

The people of Kress have enjoyed a most excellent school term the past year. Patrons, teachers and pupils have worked in harmony, and much and lasting good has been accomplished. It is with pleasure that we print the following statistics from the Kress public school:

Number of pupils enrolled for the year, 188.

Ratio of boys to girls, 94 to 94.

Number of pupils remaining at the close of the school, 149.

Number of pupils neither absent or tardy during the term, 4. These were Milton Adkisson, Alice Adkins, Reba Lewis and Mayme Keating. Three prizes were offered to the pupils who attained perfection in these lines. Reba won first prize; Milton, second; and Alice, third.

Prizes were offered to those pupils who made the best grades in their examinations. The winners were Wilson Drake, with a grade of 97 1-2; Robert Drake with a grade of 96 3-5; Martha Adkisson, with a grade of 96.

In the directing of the studies of the bright boys and girls of the Kress public school the following teachers were employed: Prof. S. W. Reeves, superintendent; Miss Jimmie Knox, high school; Miss Jeanette Steen and Miss Aenes, 43ths, intermediate school; Miss Bertha Childress, primary school. Patrons unite in praising these good teachers for the splendid work they did, and the pupils are united in love and respect for their teachers.—Tulia Herald.

FLAMES CAUSE DEATH OF MRS. WALTER DENNEY

Last Saturday afternoon at about 2:30 at her home one mile south of Lockney, on the Hooten place. Mrs. Denney, wife of Mr. Walter Denney, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hooten, of the Lone Star community, was fatally burned, dying about nine hours afterwards.

According to parties reaching the scene soon after the fatal accident happened, Mrs. Denney was attempting to heat a solution which contained kerosene and linseed oil, when it caught fire. In trying to extinguish the flames her clothes caught fire which resulted in her being fatally burned. Mr. Denney and little son had just come to town, it seems, leaving no one at home except Mrs. Denney and her little daughter. Seeing that her mother was overcome by the flames, the little girl ran over to the home of their nearest neighbor, Mr. J. S. Williams, for help. Mr. and Mrs. Williams hurried to the Denney home but arrived to find that they were not in time to do anything toward saving Mrs. Denney's life. She was still conscious, however, and was sitting in a chair with a wrap over her, but her clothes were completely burned.

Dr. N. F. Greer was sent for and responded immediately and rendered what assistance he could, but the burns sustained were too severe to yield to treatment, and she lived only a few hours.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church last Sunday by J. W. Saffle, the pastor of the family, and interment followed in the Lockney cemetery.—Lockney Beacon.

MAKES DOLLARS BUILD MOST MILES OF ROADS

HALE COUNTY BUILDS FINE SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS AT SMALL COST

(By John Boswell)

"When better roads are built, Hale county will build them," describes the road building program being carried out by the county commissioners of Hale county. Radiating from Plainview in eight directions are important intrastate and interstate highways and a network of good roads makes every farm in the county nearer to market.

The county commissioners have taken advantage of a soil which can easily be made into and maintained as splendid highways. To this end they have purchased road building and maintaining machinery to the amount of $55,000 and have employed a dozen men to handle this machinery. Modern machinery enables them to build highways and maintain them at an extremely low cost. Thus the county has and will continue to have the best of roads without any burden to taxpayers.

Three Purposes Served — The eight main highways radiating from Plainview serve a triple purpose. First and most important, they provide the farmer with the means of low hauling cost to markets at Plainview. Second, they make Plainview the trade center for a large number of smaller towns. Third, they give Plainview the most direct connection with the larger cities of the Southwest and make Plainview a crossroads for a large part of the tourist travel passing through Northwest Texas.

From the east and to the West is the F. F. F. Highway from Fort Worth to Las Vegas, N. M., and the National Forest Reserves of New Mexico. Running from the southwest to the northeast is the National Bankhead Highway from California and El Paso to Hot Springs and Washington. Running north and south is the Puget Sound-to-Gulf Highway from Seattle and San Antonio. From the southeast to the northwest is the Texas-Colorado cut-off, now nearly completed from Central Texas to the resorts of Northeastern New Mexico and Colorado.

Highways Frequently Traveled

All of these highways receive a large amount of transcontinental and interstate travel, all of which converges in Plainview. The direct benefit of this tourist travel is great, for each tourist passing through Plainview spends an average of about $9. But the greatest benefit is the indirect results of such travel. Highways have proven Plainview's best advertising medium. Tourists, who would not otherwise become interested in investing, see the wonderful country around Plainview and quite often invest heavily. Many of them return to make Plainview their home.

According to W. J. Espy, one of the Hale county commissioners, well graded highways can be constructed in any part of Hale county for less than $50 per mile. Thirty dollars per mile will more than pay the annual maintenance cost of Hale county roads. There are some slight depressions in the level Plainview country and fills are built when a highway crosses one of them.

Small Construction Cost

Before the county purchased its present modern machinery it let contracts for building these fills. The cost for a quarter of a mile fill from four to eight feet high usually ran about $2,000. The county outfit supervised by Commissioner Espy recently threw up and put into splendid condition a fill for $75.

The road equipment of the county is divided into four outfits and one complete outfit is used in each precinct. This enables the commissioners to maintain the roads of the county in a uniformly splendid condition, and to live up to their slogan, "When better roads are built, Hale county will build them."

The Right to Be Born Clean

Every man who takes out a marriage license in Wyoming, is now required by a new law to have a physician's O. K. on his physical condition. The rights of the individual are here surrendered to better safeguard the rights of society. More and more such laws are being upheld as constitutional, for in the best sense they are constitutional and Twentieth-Century American. The young man who sows his wild oats and acquires a social disease, should be required to harvest the crop without the assistance of a third generation of offspring.

Move for Disarmament

Unanimous approval was given by the American senate to Borah's proposal for an international naval disarmament conference. By a vote of 74 to 0 the Idaho senator's amendment to the naval appropriation bill was adopted, authorizing and requesting the president to invite the governments of Great Britain and Japan to send representatives to a conference with representatives of the United States in an effort to reach some agreement on disarmament.

President Obregon, of Mexico, has ordered the return of all properties seized by past governments in Chihuahua, Coahuila, Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon including that of the Mormons in Chihuahua, tracts owned by Luis Terrazas and lands abandoned by Americans when revolutions broke out.

KILLING NEAR HEREFORD OVER SALE OF COW

W. J. Rich Shot By B. Burns—Rich Shot Burns Several weeks Ago

Hereford, May 30.—W. J. Rich, aged thirty-three, married and one child, is dead, and B. Burns, aged twenty and single, is in jail in Hereford, as result of shooting on the Hammer place near Wildorado about twenty-four miles northeast of this point. It is alleged both men were armed and quarreling just previous to the fatal wounding of Rich. According to reports, several witnesses were present at the time of the shooting. Burns is said to have used a shotgun.

The tragedy is alleged to be the outcome of a misunderstanding between Rich and Burns, based on the sale of a cow by the latter to the former. This led, several weeks ago to an encounter during which it is said Rich shot Burns in the shoulder with a revolver. Rich was arrested and tried in the district court in Hereford on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The trial resulted in an acquittal for Rich.

The meeting this morning was the occasion for revival of the trouble, and it is alleged the shooting followed heated discussion of phases of the previous disagreement.

Shortly following the shooting, young Burns, whose father owns and operates a ranch near Wildorado, surrendered himself to officers and was placed in jail, pending steps preliminary to his trial on the charge of killing Rich.

Within a few hours after the tragedy, the body of Rich, who was a renter on the farm of George L. Muse, a banker of Hereford, near Wildorado, was being brought to this city over the same road but recently traversed by Burns on his way to prison, to be prepared for burial. No funeral arrangements have been announced.

SOME POOR BLIND FOLK HAVE NEVER SEEN A MIRACLE

Here is an important distinction that many people overlook. God made the world; but He does not make your world.

He provides the raw materials, and out of them every man selects what he wants and builds an individual world for himself.

The fool looks over the wealth of material provided, and selects a few plates of ham and eggs, a few pairs of trousers, a few dollar bills—and is satisfied.

The wise man builds his world out of wonderful sunsets, and thrilling experiences, and the song of the stars, and romance and miracles.

Nothing wonderful ever happens in the life of a fool.

A primrose by a river's brim
A yellow primrose is to him,
And it is nothing more.

An electric light is simply an electric light; a telephone is only a telephone—nothing unusual at all.

But the wise man never ceases to wonder how a tiny speck of seed, apparently dead and buried, can produce a beautiful yellow flower. He never lifts a telephone receiver or switches on an electric light without a certain feeling of awe.

And to think what a miracle it is, this harnessing of electricity to the service of man!

Who, unless his sense of awe had grown blunt through constant familiarity, would believe it?

The sun, the center of the universe, comes down behind the western horizon. I touch a button, and presto! I have called it back—the room is flooded anew with light.

The thunder that men once called the voice of God, rolls out its mighty waves of sound, and the sound carries a few scores of miles. But I—puny speck upon the face of the earth—lift a little instrument; and behold, my whispers is heard a thousand miles away.

Prometheus stole fire from the gods and brought it down to earth. For that crime the god chained him to a lonely rock and sent a huge bird to feed upon his vitals. Each night the wound healed, and each day it was torn open again.

That was the punishment of the man who dared to wrest away the richest treasure of the gods.

But fire—the treasure of the gods—disappeared out of our daily life; we scorn it.

What, then, do we press a button; and lo, heat, invisible silent, all-pervasive, flows into our homes over a cooper wire.

Do we need power? We have but to press another switch, and giants come to us over the same slender roadway. Clothen in invisible garments, they cleanse our homes, wash our clothes, crank our automobiles—do everything that once taxed the strength of men and hurried women into lovely old age.

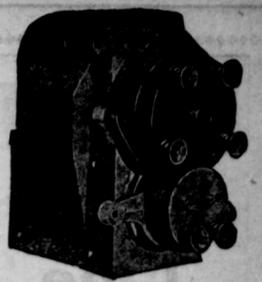

Don't let your life become a program; don't let familiarity with the marvels about you breed thoughtlessness and contempt.

Let the fool build his world out of a mere food and drink and clothes; you fashion yours out of marvelous experiences; furnish and decorate it with miracles.

Exercise your mind in the wholesome activity of wonder; train your soul to reverent awe.

If you had stood with Moses on the shore of the Red Sea, and had seen it divide to let the children of Israel pass over, you would have had no difficulty in recognizing that as a miracle.

But every night when the sun goes down, a man stands in a power-house in your city and throws a switch, and
