Local residents found shot to death near Centerpoint School

Nude mother, son murdered

By JAMES WERRELL

The nude bodies of a mother and her son were discovered on a dirt road 500 yards north of the Centerpoint School, 1 a.m. today.

Both had been shot in the head with a small caliber weapon.

Ann Laurie Reeves, 38, and her son Tracey Reeves, 15, were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Bob West. Both had resided at 2214 Lynn.

The bodies were discovered by a retired rancher, who was returning to his home in the area. The victims were lying face down, and were clothed only in shoes and stockings.

Their clothes were found a few feet from the bodies by investigators.

According to Howard County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Shankles, the family owns the Highland Texaco Station, 2501 Gregg, the I-20 Texaco Station, IS 20 and Highway 350, and the Valtai Reeves School of Hair Dressing and Cosmetology, 217 Main. Mrs. Reeves and her son had relieved an attendant at the I-20 station, 6 p.m. Wednesday, and had planned to close the station at midnight.

Mrs. Reeves reportedly called an attendant at the Highland station at 11:30 p.m. to ask for small bills to use as change when the I-20 station was opened the next morning. The attendant agreed to meet Mrs. Reeves at the Seven-Eleven Store at FM 700 and Birdwell to give her the money.

This was the last contact anyone had with her.

When Mrs. Reeves failed to appear at the Seven-Eleven Store, her husband, Charles Reeves, was notified, and he drove to the I-20 station to look for her. When he found no one there, he decided to check the beauty school to see if his wife and son had gone there.

As he passed over the Owens Street Viaduct, Reeves spotted a purse lying beside the road, and after examining it, he recognized it as his wife's. Reeves then drove directly to the police station to report his wife and son missing.

The report was made at 12:49 a.m. today, and approximately 10 minutes later, the sheriff's office was notified that the bodies had been found.

Deputies Shankles and Robert Puente found three spent and two live shells from a small caliber weapon at the scene. As they collected physical evidence from the scene, the deputies were notified that Detective George Quintero had found two money bags from the I-20 station on the Snyder Highway five miles northeast of the city. The bags contained only receipts from the station.

Investigators later found personal papers, possibly from Mrs. Reeves' purse, scattered along the Snyder Highway near Eleventh and Benton.

Investigators were also advised that a 1976 Chevrolet Impala which Mrs. Reeves had used to drive to the station had been inexplicably moved from its regular parking spot. The car was discovered parked near by behind the Walls Industries building, 2:30 a.m. today.

The auto was immediately sealed and impounded so that it could be examined by police identification experts this morning. The inspection turned up nothing unusual, said Police Chief Stanley Bogard.

In addition to the car, a .32 caliber pistol was also reported missing from its usual spot in the I-20 station. The gun was later discovered on the north loop of FM 700, but it had not been tired, and was not the murder weapon, said Sheriff A.N. Standard.

"At this point about all we have is some tire tracks and some spent shells. We have no suspects at this time," said Standard, this morning. "At least part of the motive appears to be robbery. These are my surface thoughts."

What type of person does the sheriff think he is dealing with in this case? "You could put the person in several categories, but I don't think it is fair to make that kind of statement at this point," he said.

Justice West has ordered both bodies transported to the Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene for a complete autopsy. The results are expected sometime today.

Were the victims sexually assaulted? "This is something that will be determined by the autopsy," said Standard.

The investigation of the murder will continue with a combined effort by all three local law enforcement agencies represented by Shankles, Texas Ranger Eddie Almond and Police Detective J.D. Carter.

One per cent in March

Consumer prices jump again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices increased another 1 percent in March, led by sharply higher prices for food, housing, clothing and gasoline, the government said today.

It said gasoline prices rose 3.8 percent, the largest monthly jump in nearly four years. Both housing and food costs were up by 1 percent.

The March increase in the Consumer Price Index, which followed a 1.2 percent rise in February, means that the nation's 35 million Social Security recipients will receive a 9.9 percent increase in benefits to offset the impact of inflation in the past year, officials said.

The average benefit will be increased by about $25, to $283 a month. Checks reflecting increases will go out beginning in July.

Although the increase in the Consumer Price Index was less than in February, it was still at a level that endangers the success of the Carter administration's anti-inflation program.

Prices during the first three months of 1979 increased at an annual rate of 13 percent, the highest quarterly rise in 4½ years and far above the administration's target for this year of 7.4 percent.

245 absentee ballots cast

When the 10 a.m. deadline arrived this morning, 245 absentee ballots had been received at City Hall for Saturday's runoff election between incumbent city council member Polly Mays and John Massey.

Voters will go to the polls from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday to determine which candidate will fill the city council seat the next two years.

The increase for the 12-month period ending in March was 10.2 percent.

One of President Carter's top inflation advisers, Barry Bosworth, told The Associated Press Wednesday that if inflation does not begin to cool soon, it is likely to get much worse as workers demand steadily higher wages to keep pace with steadily rising prices.

At a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Bedford, N.H., Wednesday night, Carter also warned of further price increases.

"Inflation is bad and it will be months at the very least before it gets substantially better," the president said. "Frankly, we will continue to see discouraging price figures coming out for some time to come."

In its report today, the Labor Department said workers' spendable earnings dropped another 0.1 percent in March because of rising inflation. That raised the total lost buying power of paychecks in the last year to an even 2 percent.

The department gave this breakdown on price increases for various categories in March, compared with the previous month, followed by the total increase over the 12 months from March 1978:

—Food and beverages 1 percent, down from 1.6 percent in February and up 12.5 percent for the 12-month period.

—Housing 1 percent, down from 1.3 in February and up 10.6 percent for the year.

—Apparel and upkeep 1.5 percent, up from 0.3 in February and up 5 percent for the year.

—Transportation 1.2 percent, up from 1.1 percent in February and an increase of 10.1 percent for the year.

—Medical care 0.6 percent, the same as in February and an increase of 9 percent for the year.

—Entertainment 0.9 percent, up from 0.4 percent in February and an increase of 6.1 percent for the year.

—Other goods and services 0.6 percent, down from 0.7 percent in February and an increase of 7.5 percent for the year.

The Labor Department said the Consumer Price Index in March stood at 209.3, meaning that goods and services priced at $100 in 1967 had increased to $209.30 last month.

The department said a 2.7 percent increase in meat prices accounted for most of the rise in overall food costs. Beef and poultry prices increased sharply for the sixth consecutive month.

There also were increases in the price of eggs, pork, fresh fruits and dairy products. However, prices for fresh vegetables declined sharply, reflecting an increase in supplies of lettuce and tomatoes because of improved weather conditions, the department said.

The department said the increase in housing costs resulted from a 1.6 percent increase in mortgage interest rates and an 0.9 percent rise in housing prices.

The 3.8 percent in gasoline prices was the largest for any single month since July 1975 and reflected the world oil supply problems.

Officials said the maximum Social Security benefit for an individual will increase by $50 to a total of $553 monthly. Average benefits for an elderly couple will rise $43 to a total of $482.

The 9.9 percent increase in Social Security benefits will cost the retirement system $10.2 billion and will be the largest yearly rise since Congress voted to provide automatic increases to help offset the effects of inflation. The 1978 increase was 6.5 percent.

Supplemental Social Security benefits for 4.5 million persons are increased by the same percentage as regular Social Security payments.

The increases are based on the difference between the average Consumer Price Index number in the first quarter of 1979 and the average in the first three months of 1978.

In the interview Wednesday, Bosworth said March might be the last month for large increases in food costs to the consumer.

However, he said he was worried that prices of raw materials, which have been increasing sharply at the wholesale level, will soon begin showing up at the consumer level, offsetting some of the progress on food prices.

Bosworth said the next few months will be "crucial" in determining the future course of inflation in this country. It's a view shared by other administration policy-makers.

Cuevas is given death penalty

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury assessed inmate Ignacio Cuevas the death penalty today for his part in the 1974 attempted prison break at Huntsville in which four persons died, including two hostages.

The six-man, six-woman panel deliberated just under five hours before deciding Cuevas' punishment in the retrial. He was assessed the death penalty in his first trial, which the courts overturned. He was serving a life term at the time of the prison siege.

Cuevas was charged with causing the death of a hostage during the prison uprising.

It had taken the jury four hours and 20 minutes to decide on the guilty verdict Tuesday.

Action / reaction: Rape Crisis Center

Q. What happened to the Women's Rape Crisis Center started by Sgt. Ed Kissinger and Johnnie Lou Avery last year?

A. Mrs. Avery said there was much interest in a rape crisis center in surrounding towns but that it was almost impossible to get funds unless they are received through an existing social action agency. The Family Services Counseling Center took over the project and made a grant proposal to the Criminal Justice Division through the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. That grant will not come through, however, this year according to Family Service Counseling Center Board President Kay Hepner.

Police beat Goliad student assaulted

An acquaintance of Charles Spinks was all set for lunch after helping himself to some groceries and a shirt at Spinks' residence Wednesday between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. Spinks reported to police that he was missing two packs of cigarettes, two packs of lunch meat, a loaf of bread and a shirt. The missing items were valued at $22.

A local woman told police that her daughter, a student at Goliad Junior High School, was assaulted twice by a fellow student on Wednesday.

The first incident allegedly occurred on the school grounds. The girl said she was assaulted again by the same person when she got off of the school bus around 3:30 p.m.

Virgil Creel reported the loss of a wallet containing $75. He said he lost it

Oil leaks checked

Assistant City Manager Bill Brown said today that two bids had been submitted to execute a plan to stop oil leakage into Beal Creek.

Oil was discovered in the creek Feb. 5. The oil was thought to be the result of an accumulation of petroleum in bordering ground over a period of years. The oil-soaked ground was the site of repairs done on railroad cars and engines by the Missouri-Pacific Railroad since 1920.

Brown, Pollution Control Director, said that the oil had probably been draining into Beal Creek for years before its discovery, but that the amount was so minute, it would not have affected the Big Spring water supply.

Danger, he said, would be present only if the oil were ignited, dispersing harmful by-products in the water.

The situation is under control at the present time, according to Brown. He said that a baffle is currently preventing the surface oil from going downstream into the city's water supply.

"The railroad is bearing the total financial burden for correcting the situation," Brown said. Missouri-Pacific is also reimbursing the city for any expenses incurred in keeping the area clean of oil, he added.

Brown said he was hoping to receive a third bid before awarding a contract.

Official's car is impounded

A 1973 Volkswagen Thing operated by County Attorney Harvey Hooser was impounded Tuesday around noon for displaying an expired dealer — in-transit license plate.

Hooser's son-in-law, R.G. Bedford, had been cited by a highway patrolman on the same reason while operating the car around the beginning of March. The case was dismissed in Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin's court after Hooser told Heflin he was demonstrating the car.

Hooser allegedly asked the dealer who owned

The car is now at Bill's Wrecker Yard until proof of ownership can be shown. Hooser said the car is titled to Ted Ferrell of Southwest Owner Sales.

RESCUE — Fire and Police Department officials and Shaffer Ambulance Company attendants responded to a call for help from H.H. Thames, 70, 1603 Wood, 4 p.m. Wednesday. According to witnesses, Thames had been repairing the air conditioner duct on his roof when he began to complain of chest pains. Fire Department officials used a special basket to lower Thames to the ground where he was examined by ambulance attendants. Thames was able to stand a short time after he was lowered from the roof, and decided not to use the services of Shaffer Ambulance Company.

Orchestra gets donation

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Symphony Orchestra says a $125,000 gift from a Japanese firm is the first major international grant ever received by the orchestra.

An orchestra spokesman said Wednesday the grant from Technics, a division of the Japanese Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., will finance a summer tour in Europe. Symphony manager Thomas Morris said, "Up until now, Japanese corporations have not been particularly well known for their performing arts philanthropy." The grant covers half the cost of the tour, which begins Aug. 24. The rest will be raised through private benefits.

Lead levels increasing

BOSTON (AP) — Scientists analyzing the bones of Indians who died 1,600 years ago conclude that industrial pollution has increased the levels of lead in the bodies of modern Americans to 500 times normal.

Drs. Johnathon Ericson and Clair Patterson and Associate Prof. Hiroshi Shirahata reached their conclusion by comparing the ratio of lead to calcium in the bodies of ancient Peruvians with modern Americans. The work, conducted at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and California Institute of Technology, was published in today's New England Journal of Medicine. The scientists conducted their study on ancient South Americans because they did not mine or smelt lead.

Classified ad legitimate

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The classified ad was legitimate, even if its intended audience wasn't. It said: "The jewelry you took has enormous sentimental value to my wife and children. The police say you are a clever professional and that my chances for recovery are slim. Therefore, I offer to buy it back from you for cash at a price equal to or better than you get through your usual sources. You have my address."

There was no name or phone number, but the advertisement was placed in the Shreveport Journal and Times by a resident whose home was burglarized earlier this month.

Student awarded $7,5000

NEW YORK (AP) — A Queens high school girl has received $7,500 in damages because she was forced by school authorities to partially disrobe during a "degrading search" for marijuana.

No marijuana was found and U.S. District Judge John Dooling on Wednesday awarded the money for "mental and emotional pain" inflicted on the girl, identified only as "M.M." He recommended she use the money for psychiatric counseling. Last year, a jury sided with two Bayside High School officials. However, Dooling set aside the verdict for lack of evidence. Both sides then agreed to let him fix damages.

Texas mortgage bankers ask clarification of law

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas mortgage bankers said today they want clarification of the state usury law before making more home mortgages at the 10 percent maximum now authorized by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration.

W.E. Daniels, president, made the announcement at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Texas Mortgage Bankers Association.

Oakley Hunter, president and chairman of the Federal National Mortgage Association, or "Fannie Mae" as it is called, also said his agency will steer clear of 10 percent FHA and VA home mortgages in Texas in that the state's usury law limits home mortgage interest rates to 10 percent.

Hunter said Fannie Mae will buy Texas mortgages only if the rate is no more than 9 1/2 percent.

Daniels said Texas mortgage bankers are concerned the 1 percent of mortgages charged the purchasers at the time of closing as an origination fee might be interpreted as interest.

"The origination fee, which is how the mortgage banker makes his money, comes out as an effective 1/4 percent," Daniels said.

"We want to know if this would be interpreted as a 10 1/4 interest charge and put us in violation of the state usury law. If so, it could be very costly and would apply to all such loans."

Hunter said the Fannie Mae agency wants to help the housing industry all it can by purchasing home mortgages.

"But I don't want to go to jail," he said.

Potholes cost $10.4 million

Farm Public invited to attend demonstration contest

The Howard County 4-H'ers are working hard to prepare for the County Method Demonstration Contest which will be Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

A Method Demonstration is an effective way of teaching by using a "show and tell" method. Youth select one of 37 different categories to research. They then prepare a speech and posters and other visuals which will support the speech.

Through "show and tell," 4-H'ers help others to learn skills that they know how to do themselves. Boys and girls can share their talents or ideas gained in 4-H with other civic or community organizations.

Organizing information to present to an audience can be a great help not only in 4-H but in school, business or at work. 4-H'ers gain in communication skills by learning how to get up in front of an audience and present information.

In addition to gaining experience and self-confidence the 4-H'ers will also present their method demonstrations at district eliminations in Alpine on May 5. Those winning in the senior division at district will be participating in roundup.

Fun, meeting people, and sharing ideas are all a part of the annual State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University. Roundup includes a number of "show and tell" activities or method demonstrations and illustrated talks, judging, speaking, share the fun, and food show.

Some examples of demonstrations to be presented at the County Contest include agronomy, public speaking, electricity, sheep and goats, mechanical and hand skills, swine, share the fun, natural resources and meat identification.

There will also be judging and identification events which will include an entomology team, livestock judging and others.

The public is invited to attend the County Method Demonstration Contest.

Programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serves people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Usury penalty bill advances

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislation lowering usury penalties against banks and savings and loans was sent to the Senate today.

The minimum penalty would be $2,000.

Stacy dam opponents file expected appeal

AUSTIN — Attorneys for the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) made an anticipated move here Wednesday when they filed a petition for a rehearing with the Texas Water Commission concerning the proposed Stacy Dam.

The TWA had voted unanimously April 10 to grant the Colorado River Municipal Water District a license to begin construction on the dam and reservoir. Wednesday was the deadline for filing the rehearing petition.

Accepting the petition was Mary Ann Hefner, chief clerk of the water commission. The CRMWD has ten days in which to file a reply to the motion.

In a hearing before the water commission that extended over a period of months, the LCRA challenged the CRMWD's application to construct a dam on the Colorado River below Ballinger. The reservoir, when full, would trap 554,340 acre feet of water. The LCRA took the position that such a dam would deplete water supplies downstream.

Frederick Werkenkith, attorney for the LCRA, said that his employers would fight the water commission's decision in district court, and could decide to appeal it all the way to the Supreme Court.

O.H. of Big Spring, general manager of the CRMWD, said the latest play by the LCRA did not catch him by surprise. On the contrary, he added, "we were expecting it."

Ivie and Werkenkith are in agreement on one thing. Neither expect the water district to reverse its original decision.

The Austin lawyer, however, said that filing a petition for a rehearing is the first step in the appeal process.

Ivie said he was still confident that CRMWD engineers will get an early start on construction of the dam. He said the unanimous decision handed down by the water commission would carry enormous weight in any court test the LCRA might care to take.

Cold front could trigger more rain

By the Associated Press

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for upper sections of the Texas coast today where floodwaters were receding slowly and residents were cleaning up from recent severe flooding.

Dave Kava of the National Weather Service said floodwaters in Southeast Texas would be slow in draining, especially if the approaching cold front triggered more shower activity.

The Neches River late Wednesday was measured at 10.5 feet, down about six inches from its 11.1 foot crest Tuesday.

In the Pine Street area of Beaumont, police remained on duty guarding about 50 flooded homes to prevent possible looting.

Walraven appointed chief of traffic control tower

William L. Walraven, newly appointed chief of the Abilene Municipal Airport Traffic Control Tower-Radar Approach Control Facility at Dyess AFB, has been assigned collateral duties as the Federal Aviation Administration local coordinator for the Abilene area.

Paul J. Baker, acting director, FAA's Southwest Region, announced Walraven's selection. He emphasized the importance of the local coordinator program as part of the FAA's continuing program to bring effective management closer to the scene of actual operations.

"As my representative in Abilene," Baker said, "Walraven will serve as the single point of contact for the agency. In this role he will coordinate the efforts of the FAA offices and activities in the Abilene area when various agency programs are involved. He will be the primary point of contact with the public."

At the present time there are three other FAA offices in Abilene: the Flight Service Station headed by Ralph W. Read; and the airway facilities offices located at the Municipal Airport and Dyess AFB which are under the supervision of James E. Cowen and Doyle Davis, respectively.

Walraven assumed his new duties as RAPCON-Tower chief April 22, having transferred from the Lubbock Tower. For the past several months he was detailed as acting chief of the Plainview, Texas, Tower.

He began his FAA career as a controller at the Will Rogers World Airport Tower in Oklahoma City in 1957, remaining there until 1969 when he transferred to Houston as a watch supervisor in the Hobby Airport Tower. In 1974 he moved to Lubbock where he was assigned duties as an assistant chief.

A native of Redwater, Texas, Walraven spent four years in the U.S. Air Force, serving as an air traffic controller. His duty stations included Pusan, Korea, the Lake Charles, La., Barksdale, La., and Blytheville, Ark., AFB's.

Woman, daughter found dead in hostage's home

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The bodies of a woman, stabbed through the heart with a kitchen knife, and her 4-year-old daughter, who had been strangled, were found in the home of a psychologist held hostage by a Nigerian exchange student, police said.

The student, Newman Augustine Osebor of Lagos, Nigeria, was shot and killed Thursday on an interstate highway after a 3½-hour standoff with police, authorities say.

"My life was for them," cried Alejo Puentes Wednesday after the bodies of his wife, Candelaria, and daughter, Norma, were removed from the home of Richard E. Townsend. "They were the best, they were fantastic. How could anyone do this to a little girl and her mother?"

Mrs. Puentes, 24, had worked as a maid for Townsend, a criminal psychologist.

Police said Townsend was abducted Wednesday at gunpoint, forced to withdraw money from a bank and held hostage by Osebor.

The 22-year-old Osebor was fatally shot by police after holding Townsend hostage in the doctor's sports car on Interstate 8. Townsend was unhurt in the shooting.

Police spokesman Bill Robinson said Osebor once had lived in Townsend's home and may have used a .45-caliber automatic pistol the doctor reported stolen from his home on Tuesday.

Townsend's estranged wife, Suzanne, had contacted police early Wednesday to say she was concerned over her husband's doctor-patient relationship with Osebor, Robinson said.

Coroner's Deputy Douglas Haggin said Mrs. Puentes was stabbed through the heart with a kitchen knife that was found in the body, while her daughter was strangled. Police would not confirm whether Osebor was the killer.

Police forced Townsend's car off the freeway after receiving an alarm shortly before noon from a Point Loma branch of San Diego Trust & Savings.

Townsend had gone to his home early Wednesday, discovered Osebor there and was forced at gunpoint to drive to the bank where he withdrew less than $1,000, authorities said. Osebor waited outside in the car, aiming a gun into the bank.

The California Highway Patrol blocked off a six-mile stretch of normally bustling Interstate 8 from California 163 to the intersection of Interstate 5, causing a traffic jam. Special weapons officers trained high-powered rifles and shotguns on Osebor during the ordeal as he chain-smoked cigarettes and refused police demands to surrender his pistol and free the doctor.

Finally, the two men embraced and shook hands. A few minutes later, Osebor pushed open the passenger door of the car and tossed out his jacket before backing out of the vehicle — his gun still trained on Townsend.

Seconds later, Osebor spun around and fired a shot at police, who returned a burst of seven shots that cut him down.

A spokeswoman at Mercy Hospital said Osebor was dead on arrival of multiple gunshot wounds to the head and chest.

Proposal would allow collective farm bargaining

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A mechanism for Texas agriculture workers and farm owners to bargain collectively on wages and working conditions would be established under a House bill studied Wednesday.

Rep. A.C. Garcia said his proposal would raise the standard of living for impoverished Texas farmworkers.

At the same time, representatives of citrus and vegetable growers and the Texas Farm Bureau lodged protests against the bill.

Speaking before the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee, Garcia, D-Pharr, said the bill "will change the philosophy of the working man."

Garcia and Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, are sponsoring the legislation, which would set up a three-member agriculture labor relations board to govern union elections and monitor complaints from workers and farm owners.

"The bill would establish the mechanism for workers and farmers to get together and work out a just and fair contract," Garcia said.

The bill is aimed at large agri-businesses and would exclude the small family farm, he added.

Alfredo de Avila, a representative of the Texas Farm Workers Union, said, "We will no longer accept the myth that agriculture is small business," he added.

"It is the biggest business in Texas and in the United States."

Contending that agri-businesses avoid minimum wage laws by paying on a "piece-rate basis," Avila said the average farmworker's salary in South Texas ranges from $1,700 to $2,400.

Jim Hightower, an Austin writer and researcher, said collective bargaining would affect mostly South Texas citrus and vegetable growers who employ most of the state's migrant work force.

Hightower termed labor costs "a minuscule portion" of consumer food costs.

Harold Tate, legislative liaison for the Texas AFL-CIO, said, "We are subsidizing big corporate farms without collective bargaining."

A similar bill enacted in California in 1975 was attacked by a representative of agri-business owners. William Weeks said the California law "created violence and unrest" which "has been responsible for lost crops and rises in consumer prices."

Rog Schumacher of the Texas Farm Bureau criticized the proposal for not banning boycotts and picketing of marketplaces.

The bill was referred to a House subcommittee for further study.

MARGARET TRUDEAU

Margaret Trudeau's memoirs halted

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Newspaper serialization of Margaret Trudeau's memoirs has been halted while a federal judge decides whether their publication violates an Argentine law prohibiting public advocacy of drug abuse.

The newspaper La Razon started publishing excerpts of Mrs. Trudeau's life story, "Beyond Reason," on Monday. The paper complied with the order of Judge

Jorge A Valera Araoz on Wednesday, but the paper called it "an affront to the right of citizens to be fully and truthfully informed."

The first excerpt told about Mrs. Trudeau's experimentation with a variety of drugs in Morocco during her "flower child" period before meeting and marrying Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

JOHN WAYNE

John Wayne lashes out at media

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Wayne has lashed out at unnamed members of the media after being sent home from a hospital where he was treated for bronchitis.

Wayne, treated for one week at Hoag Memorial Hospital, left unnoticed Wednesday and later issued a statement through a spokeswoman, Marcy Mobley, accusing reporters of trying to bribe hospital workers to talk about the 71-year-old actor's condition.

"I haven't lied to the press about anything, but they will not take our reports as truthful," Wayne's statement said.

"They (reporters) sneak around trying to bribe people to say something that won't coincide with the official report. I don't know why it is necessary, but I guess that is modern-day 'news methods.'"

"It used to be considered yellow journalism. Anyway, have a happy day," the statement said. Wayne could not be reached to elaborate on the bribery claim.

'Biggest drug bust' occurs near Tyler

TYLER, Texas (AP) — At least 73 suspected narcotics traffickers had been caught in a police dragnet and more than 50 others were still being sought early today in what authorities here called the "biggest drug bust in East Texas history."

Tyler Police Chief Willie Hardy said early today 73 of 121 suspects charged with delivering illegal drugs had been arrested and that several more arrests were imminent.

More than 75 officers, including police, Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers, began hauling in suspects late Wednesday afternoon in an operation that culminated eight months of undercover work by two Tyler police officers.

"You can hear a kind of roar in the booking area," Hardy said Wednesday. "We are just trying to get as many as we can before they start to scatter. It kind of looks like Grand Central Station around here."

The police chief said 50 of the 121 individuals were charged with felony counts of selling cocaine and two were accused of delivering heroin. He said the others face felony counts alleging delivery of a variety of illegal drugs, including marijuana and methamphetamine.

Exact figures on the value or total amount of the contraband involved in the arrests were not available.

Officers confiscated seven ounces of cocaine from one arrested suspect, Hardy said that was the largest seizure so far, and he placed the street value at between $2,300 and $2,500 an ounce.

"Some of the individuals are acquainted, and we think like some work in conjunction with others... but this is not a single drug ring," said Hardy. "They (suspects) include young, old, black, white, rich and poor from Tyler and other cities in Texas."

Hardy said officers were not having any unusual difficulty in finding most of the 121 individuals named in 226 warrants.

"Sure a few have heard and are hiding, but we are satisfied with the progress we are making," Hardy told The Associated Press.

Hardy said several of the suspects, which he declined to identify, were considered major suppliers of drugs in East Texas.

"This is without a doubt the largest drug raid in East Texas. We feel like we will make a big dent in the narcotics traffic here," Hardy said. "This is the first investigation of this size... we are hoping it will make drugs much less available in the area. We feel that it will for the time."

The two undercover officers, whose investigations led to the sweeping arrests, were taking part in the roundup, said Hardy. But he said no special steps were being taken to conceal the identity of the two officers.

"We are not naming them at this time," said Hardy. "But naturally when you get this many people, the suspects will figure out who it is. They always do."

"We are always concerned about the safety of our officers. We take all the precautions that we can. But it (the danger of reprisals) is just a fact of life. It goes with the job."

Bay City mayor ends 32-year term in office

BAY CITY, Texas (AP) — As on all working days for the past 32 years, Bay City Mayor Richard Gusman sat in his office by the front door of City Hall, bellowing greetings in his South Texas twang.

But this day the greetings were goodbyes as Gusman cleaned out his desk after 16 consecutive two-year terms. The night before, he had sworn in his replacement.

It was not a melancholy task for the tall, robust 74-year-old. He gleefully tossed government pamphlets and regulations into a waste basket, recalling the past and planning his future.

"I've had the longest term of any mayor in the United States," Gusman said proudly. "I was going to stop two years ago, but I read where some other mayor had been re-elected 15 times.

"I could have run one more time and been elected, because I had enough pledged votes," he continued. "But I would have ended up at 77, and I'm trying to live to be 80.

"I think I've got a better chance of doing that by getting out now, because the conglomeration of state, rules and federal regulations was just running me nutty."

Gusman has held five jobs at once since he took over in 1947 — including finance director, head of the city-owned gas system, director of the city service center, city manager and mayor of this town of 20,000.

"The only things that haven't gone up since I've been mayor is city taxes and my salary of $125 a month," Gusman said. "In salaries alone, I've donated more than $1 million to Bay City during my term by doing jobs other cities put individual people in."

Gusman nurtured Bay City as if it were his own business, bringing it carefully through boom times and keeping it out of debt as it grew from a community of 4,000 to the seat of government for Matagorda County.

"We were still using outhouses when I came here," he said. "We had very little schools, very little of anything. We didn't even have mail delivery."

"When I was first elected, I said I would run the city on a cash basis, and it's been free of debt for 32 years," said Gusman. "Last week I paid all the small loans at the bank and turned the business of the city over to the incoming administration without any outstanding bonds or notes."

This hard-nosed, independent approach grew more and more difficult as government, and the world, became more complex, Gusman said.

"I enjoyed being mayor up until 10 years ago," he said, looking chagrined. "We are no longer allowed to operate our cities, or have any free-thinking in this day and time."

"The cities are regulated by the state and federal governments, who control your very job, telling you what you can and can't do," Gusman said, his voice rising in anger.

"All the mayors and most of the officials in Texas cities have become puppets with the strings being pulled by the state and federal government," he said.

"Getting out from under all that makes me feel better than I've felt in many a year," he said. "I'm just as happy as a lark."

Gusman's family came to Bay City when he was 6 years old. He attended Southwestern University at Georgetown, and worked in merchandising and market research. A twist of fate brought him from a New York job back to Bay City.

"I had never been sick in my life," he said. "Suddenly I developed a high fever and pressure in my head. The doctors X-rayed and X-rayed and couldn't find anything.

"I took a leave of absence to come home, and by accident an aunt from Alabama wrote about problems caused by wisdom teeth," he continued. "They X-rayed mine and found I had the worst case they had ever seen."

"They took my case before a national dentists convention," he laughed.

While recovering, he took a look at his hometown. "I decided there was opportunity here," he said. "I first went into construction, then oil leasing."

Some of Gusman's ideas ran into opposition. "There were people who didn't want the town to grow above 5,000 and wanted it to stay agricultural," he said. "There had never been much interest in politics in Bay City — only about 300 people ever voted — and it stayed small."

"I decided to run for mayor, and my slogan was 'Open the Door for Richard,'" he said. "I was elected with the largest vote percentage ever cast in the history of Bay City. About 2,000 were eligible and about 1,850 voted. I won by about five-to-one."

Gusman said the city had "lots of needs" when he came back.

Death or flight: Choice simple for Hmong tribe

EDITOR'S NOTE: In another in a series of dispatches from refugee camps around the world, AP Special Correspondents Peter Arnett and Eddie Adams tell of the dilemma of the nomadic Hmong people who fought for the CIA in Laos and now regard themselves as abandoned luggage in America's lost war.

NAN, Thailand (AP) — For centuries the nomadic and freespirted Hmong tribesmen wandered the high places of southern Asia. Today they regard themselves as the abandoned luggage of a lost American war.

Their chieftain spoke quietly as he adjusted the red sash around his baggy pants. The silver bells on his embroidered jacket tinkled as he walked to a meeting with the tribal elders.

"Our choice was simple: death or flight," said Chomsy Chiengmala, once a major in a guerrilla army recruited in Laos by the American CIA, now a leader of 13,000 refugees huddled in the Ban Nam Yao camp in Thailand's Nan province.

Already, nearly 60,000 Hmong tribesmen have made the tortuous journey on foot out of Laos to northern Thailand. Like so many of the world's 10.5 million refugees, they look to the United States for their future.

Here in northern Thailand they live in thatched huts strung along hillside perpetually wreathed in the blue smoke of cooking fires. Stocky women in black turbans and festooned with red pompons shuttle along the narrow pathways lugging water jars and kindling wood.

The Hmong migrated into Laos a century ago from southern China and settled high in the mountains above the malaria belt. Then, in the

Scott Sullivan elected head of Singing Cadets

COLLEGE STATION — Gail Goodman of McKinney has been named the outstanding member of the Singing Cadets, which will conclude a year of representing Texas A&M University in Hawaii.

The all-male glee club directed by Robert L. Boone regularly takes Texas A&M's story by song throughout Texas and the Southwest.

Goodman was among 59 members of the Cadets recognized for contributions, along with three others named Honorary Singing Cadets. The latter included Richard Kutches of Texas A&M's Food Service Department; Dr. Dennis Driscoll, meteorology professor and barbershop quartet musician, and the director's wife, Mrs. Audrey Boone.

Goodman's award included a $100 check. A computer-tabulated rating system determines the winner from individual ratings of the Cadets, Boone and pianist-accompanist Mrs. Charlotte Ary.

J.J. Woolket Awards of $75 each went to Scott Sullivan, 1979-80. Singing Cadets president from Big Spring, and Jeff Melson of Abilene. Bryan Darwin of Houston was chosen the outstanding new member of 1978-79.

Son of Mary E. Palmer, 110 118th St., Sullivan is a sophomore in applied mathematical science at Texas A&M. He will be the first junior-classified president of the Cadets in many years.

second half of the 20th century, they went to war. They were recruited by the thousands by the CIA to battle in the Laos back country against the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese armies. In a bitter and largely clandestine struggle, they gained a reputation for bravery and resilience.

Their creed then, said Chomsy, was "kill or be killed." And for 13 years they denied much of northern Laos to the communist side.

But the cost was dear. "From a population of around 200,000 we lost 10,000 dead and tens of thousands wounded," the chieftain said. "Our casualties were three times the rate of Americans in Vietnam."

Today, in flight, they reach the Thailand camp at the rate of a dozen or so a day. Some don't make it.

U.N. officials estimate that one in four refugees does not make it to Thailand, perishing on the jungle trails from exhaustion or the bullets of pursuing soldiers.

The refugee life is altering the lifestyle of the free-spirited Hmongs, not accustomed to bureaucracy and regulations and sometimes given to smoking opium and taking an extra wife.

About 15 per cent of the Hmong men have more than one wife. One of them is Chue Dua Her, 30. A former battalion commander, Chue said he had admitted to American officials he had two wives, unintentionally disqualifying himself for resettlement in the United States.

"I have known other men to lie about their wives, claiming the women were instead their sisters," he said, with his two wives standing nearby. "And they are living happily in America."

Smoking opium is a traditional habit of the older Hmongs, but the American authorities frown on that, too. Sua Tua, a gaunt 68, said he has smoked three pipes a day for years, financed from his son's earnings. The habit cost him a ticket to America.

Americans in Thailand believe the Hmong deserve a special consideration for immigration.

Unless a Hmong soldier has served 4½ years in the U.S.-backed army he is not considered for resettlement.

About 8,000 Hmong have immigrated to the U.S. and 50,000 remain in Thailand. As many as 20,000 more are expected to flee from Laos.

Under the tightly defined American program, only those with "anchor" relatives in America — such as parents, children and single siblings — qualify for resettlement. Married brothers and sisters are not eligible to join a brother in the United States.

"Yet Soviet Jews are allowed to go to the U.S. regardless of any tie or relationship," said one American who works with the refugees.

With the American withdrawal from Indochina in the early 1970s, the Hmong were left to fend for themselves.

Some continued to resist the communists and are known to be fighting still. But the unmarked U.S. planes that used to supply them have long since stopped flying.

Other Hmongs capitulated to the communists, with the men being sent to re-education camps and their families to communal farms.

Stantonites to vote in bond election

STANTON — Residents in the Stanton Independent School District go to the polls here Saturday to determine the fate of a $500,000 bond election.

If the voters favor the proposal, the money will be used to build an addition to the primary school and improvements will be made to existing facilities.

Polls will open at 7 a.m., and close at 7 p.m., in the Stanton Junior High School cafeteria. Absentee voting would indicate that Saturday's turnout will be light.

School officials are hopeful a second floor can be added to the primary building. The money would provide for four new classrooms which, according to Supt. Russell McMeans, are already needed.

If approved, the bond issue could boost taxes as much as 20 cents per $100 evaluation.

PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL — Stanton voters will go to the polls Saturday to determine the fate of a $500,000 bond election, called to build a new addition to the primary school and to refurbish existing facilities. If the bond issue passes, this is what the school will look like, according to the architect's concept. The new addition to the underground school, featured at left, connects with the main building.

Mine workers looking for site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers union is looking for another place to hold a fall convention after pulling out of Florida for its failure to ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

The union was scheduled to hold its convention in Miami during the week of Sept. 23. But, following the lead of the AFL-CIO, the UMW's international executive board voted to find another site. Union spokesman Eldon Callen said Wednesday, "It's been an issue around in the coal fields and brought to our attention by the (National Organization for Women)."

TWO ON ONE—Seattle's Jack Sikma and John Johnson, 27, double team Los Angeles Laker's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, 33, in their NBA playoff game Wednesday in Seattle. Seattle won the game 106-100 to win the series 4-1.

NBA Playoff action

Sonics clinch series; Phoenix routs Kings

The Los Angeles Lakers, their season over, now await word whether Jerry West will return as their coach. Speculators said West would step down from the post he occupied in 1976, but West wasn't saying much Wednesday night after the Seattle SuperSonics had beaten the Lakers 106-100 for a 4-1 victory in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association semifinal.

"My plans for the future will be known in seven to 10 days," said West, who played 14 seasons for Los Angeles, then guided them to the playoffs three consecutive seasons as coach. "Otherwise, I have no comment on future plans."

The other Lakers can make vacation plans, with Seattle going on to meet the winner of the Phoenix Suns-Kansas City Kings series. The Suns beat the Kings 108-94 Wednesday to take a 3-1 lead in that set.

The Eastern Conference semifinals resume tonight, with the San Antonio Spurs, leading 3-1, hoping to finish the Philadelphia 76ers and the Atlanta Hawks—trailing 3-2—seeking a tie with the Washington Bullets.

All the SuperSonics have to do is wait. They got 10 third-quarter points from Fred Brown and 10 fourth-quarter points from Gus Williams in rallying from a 59-53 half-time deficit at the Seattle Coliseum.

Seattle had been routed from its 1978-79 home, the Kingdome, by a baseball game between the Mariners and Boston Red Sox. So they returned to the confines of the Coliseum, where they have won 38 of the 42 games played there since Len Wilkens took over as coach.

Williams, replaced by Brown early in the third quarter, returned to score eight points in the 12-2 Seattle burst that put the SuperSonics ahead 94-83 with 6:25 to play.

Williams topped all scorers with 30 points—five more than the Lakers' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who was forced to the outside by SuperSonic defenders and missed several turnaround jump shots.

Westphal, who had scored just 12 points over the last two contests, erupted for 16 in the second half alone.

Ford, who entered the game having made just eight of his 35 field goal attempts, managed only six more for 12 points.

"You've got to give the Phoenix defense credit," said Kansas City Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "We only shot in spurts and that hurts."

Massive center Darryl Dawkins of the 76ers, author of slam dunks named the "In Your Face Disgrace" and the "Left-Handed Spine Chiller Supreme," will start against San Antonio as Philadelphia struggles for survival.

And Dawkins, all 6-foot-11, 260 pounds of him, says he's prepared to slam dunk a few Spurs if necessary.

"I intend to play as dirty as I have to win," said the 22-year-old they call Squawkin' Dawkins. "There's going to be some banging around out there."

Gossage, Johnson fined

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, who have fined reliever Rich Gossage and reserve catcher Cliff Johnson 10 days' pay each, can expect an appeal of the disciplinary measures.

"I'm sure there will be an appeal," Johnson's attorney, Tom Reich, said Tuesday after the American League baseball club announced the fines for the players' parts in the clubhouse scuffle which left Gossage in need of surgery on a torn ligament in his right thumb.

Gossage earns $330,000 per season, or $1,860.34 per day, according to a published report, thus his punishment—aside from the surgery which may keep him out until July—would total $18,603. Johnson, meanwhile, reportedly draws $100,000 per season and stands to lose $5,586 based on a 179-day season.

Sparky Lyle gets the win

Oliver sparks Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP)—Heading into the 10th inning, Al Oliver already had a pair of singles and three RBI's against the Toronto Blue Jays. But he longed for one more hit in the 10th.

"I wanted that last one because of the bad base running I did earlier," the Texas center fielder said.

Oliver delivered his third hit of the game, a two-out single to right, moved to third on a single by Oscar Gamble and scored the winning run in a 4-3 victory Wednesday night when pinch hitter Johnny Grubb blooped a single to left.

Oliver's three-for-four performance raised his batting average to .414 for the year. He scored runners from first and second with a shot off the right field wall in the third inning, then plated a run in the fifth with another single.

But he was nailed at second after his second hit when center fielder Rick Bosetti bobbled the ball and Oliver tried for an extra base.

Consequently Gamble's long fly to center moments later was the third out instead of driving in third baseman Buddy Bell, who was parked on third.

Bosetti gave Toronto an early lead with a first inning homer. After Oliver's first two RBI's the Blue Jays tied the game in the fourth on Rico Carty's double, followed by John Mayberry's single.

Oliver's second hit gave Ferguson Jenkins a 3-2 cushion, and when the big right-hander left with one out in the eighth it appeared he would soon be this season's first 5-and-0 pitcher. He struck out five and walked none.

But Toronto loaded the bases against reliever Jim Kern in both the eighth and ninth innings and tied the game on Bob Bailor's bases-loaded ground out against reliever Sparky Lyle in the ninth.

That took the win away from Jenkins and gave it to Lyle, 2-1.

"It was a mediocre performance," shrugged Jenkins, who gave up 11 hits but had four double plays behind him. Both he and Oliver came to the press box for their interviews since the Ranger club house was closed because of the presence of a woman sports writer.

"I was fortunate enough to give up only two runs. I got the ground ball when I needed it. I gave up some hits, but that's what they (opposing batters) are out there to do."

Mark Lemongello went nine innings for Toronto and gave up seven hits, striking out four and walking four. Jesse Jefferson, who pitched the 10th, retired the first two batters before he was touched for three straight hits and the loss, his first decision.

CART might file court suit today

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The long and bitter feud between the U.S. Auto Club and Championship Auto Racing Teams was scheduled to go to court today, and that might have been the only way to settle the dispute, says Tom Binford, one of the few men trusted by both sides.

A source close to CART, who asked not to be identified, told The Associated Press a suit against USAC and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway would be filed in U.S. District Court today.

"There's only one way to get that thing reconciled, and that's for Tom Binford to do it," said Pat Patrick, president of CART and owner of one of the six CART drivers whose entries for the Indianapolis 500 were rejected by USAC. "Binford understands our problem."

Binford, who wears many hats in the sports and business worlds, is chief steward of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, board member and past president of USAC and current president of the Automobile Competition Committee of the United States.

"Binford is a straight guy. He knows what we're trying to accomplish, and he's in a position to tell USAC to get their act together," Patrick said Wednesday. "He's the type of individual who would do that once he makes up his mind."

Binford said earlier, however, that he did not think it was likely a settlement could be reached out of court. The suit seemed a certainty after negotiations broke down last week and Speedway President Joe Cloutier told Patrick that USAC indeed had authority to reject the entries.

LOOKS SAFE—The ball is still on its way to Phillies first baseman Pete Rose as New York Mets' Steve Henderson made contact with the bag in the third inning of a recent game in Philadelphia. However, the first base umpire called Henderson out despite protests from the Mets.

"Happy Birthday to You, Happy Birthday to You, Happy Birthday Dear Yankee-Killer, Happy Birthday to You."

The Oakland A's warbled that little ditty to birthday boy Craig Minetto Wednesday night after he celebrated No. 25 in the best possible fashion, recording his first major league victory by beating the world champion New York Yankees 1-0 with clutch relief from Jim Todd.

The 6-foot left-hander, who had made just one start in his previous six big league games, combined with Todd for a seven-hitter that bested the fourth effort of loser Ed Figueroa.

Twins 4, Indians 2

With the score tied in the ninth inning, Jose Morales drew a one-out walk, Cleveland right fielder Bobby Bonds dropped Bobby Randall's sinking liner after a long run—Randall was given a hit—and rookie John Castino delivered a two-run double.

Mets 2, Giants 0

New York's Craig Swan pitched the first two-hitter of his career, striking out four, walking one and retiring 16 consecutive batters in one stretch. The Mets managed just three hits, but one of them was John Stearns' first home run of the season off the left-field foul pole leading off the fifth inning.

Cubs 4, Astros 0

Dennis Lamp fired a five-hitter and Dave Kingman and Bobby Murcer hit home runs as Chicago blanked Houston for its fifth straight victory. Three double plays helped Lamp post the shutout.

Two Mustangs in regionals

ACKERLY—The Sands Mustangs placed third in the recent District 10-B Track and Field Meet and placed two performers in this weekend's regional competition in Levelland.

The two tracksters qualifying for the regionals were Tony Marshall in the long jump and David Mosley in the 440-yard dash. Marshall leaped 18'9 1/2" to win the long jump, while Mosley ran a time of 53.8 to win the 440.

In all, eight different Mustangs earned points. The 440-relay team of Marshall, Mosley, Tony Martinez and Jesse Ybarra placed third with a time of 46.4. Marshall was also third in the 100 with a time of 10.6. Martinez and Marshall placed fifth and sixth, respectively, in the 220. Shane Wigginton placed fifth in the 440 with a time of 58.0, while Barraza won a 5:21 mile to place sixth. Danny Peugh earned sixth in the shot put, and the Sands mile relay quartet of Ybarra, Wigginton, Garfias and Mosley placed fourth with a time of 4:34.9.

Sands seeks grid coach

Anyone interested in joining Lepard's staff or that can scrimmage with the requested weekend should contact him at (915) 353-4745, or write to him at Box 218, Ackerly, Texas 79713.

TWEEN 12 and 20 — Teenage girls conservative

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

While most adults feel that today's teens are mostly liberal in their lifestyle, today's teen-age girl appears to be taking a more conservative direction.

This is one of the findings of Seventeen Magazine's "Teen Trends Survey" conducted every two years to measure the thoughts, opinions, attitudes and activities of teen-age girls.

Equal education and training evoke the highest interest level on topics pertaining to women, with almost 94 percent of the girls interested in this issue. But while a majority of teen girls are still concerned with the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment for women, the number of those "very interested" in this issue dropped from one-third in 1976 to less than one-fourth in the current survey.

More conservative attitudes also emerged on topics concerning marriage and morality. Fewer teens approve of such issues as living together without marriage and unmarried mothers keeping their children.

Less than one-third of the girls approve of premarital sex (versus 38 percent two years ago).

Teens also took a more conservative turn on the highly controversial legalized abortion issue. The survey reports that a majority of teens no longer approve of legalized abortion (41 percent as compared to 52 percent in 1976).

Almost one-third of all teen girls take part in some political service, with their biggest contributions to student government and campaign work. Half of the girls questioned described their political views as "middle of the road." A little more than half the girls (58 percent) described their views as "about the same" as their parents.

In formulating opinions on political issues, the media plays a significant role among teens. Reading magazines, newspapers and books was thought to be the primary source for information, followed by television and radio.

Some of the other findings include:

— While almost 60 percent of the teen-age girls attending college are currently enrolled in four-year schools, attendance at two-year colleges is steadily on the rise. The number of teen-age girls at two-year schools has risen 8 percent since 1976.

— The career choices of teens range from accountants to veterinarians, with housewife-mother and education named most frequently, followed by medicine and law.

— Ecology and the environment are topics of importance to teens.

Food for Thought In This Recipe

DEAR ABBY: What a dumb, sexist answer you gave HATES SURPRISES, whose husband of 12 years still surprised her with one or more unexpected dinner guests. (He'd walk in and say, "Don't fuss, Honey. They'll eat whatever we eat." Meanwhile, poor wife was caught with only leftovers or barely enough to feed her own family.)

You said, "Stop being a GOOD scout and start being a GIRL Scout. Be prepared!"

Why should she be imposed upon with absolutely no notice? A thoughtful husband would never put his wife on the spot that way. And unless she's a total dummy or a doormat she wouldn't put up with it.

You should have told her to meet the inconsiderate boob at the door with, "I'm not prepared for company, so let's all eat out. It will take me only a few minutes to change my clothes."

After her husband picked up a few of those restaurant checks he would be cured of surprising his wife with unexpected company.

NO DOORMAT

DEAR NO: I got clobbered with my cutesy "Girl Scout" advice. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I am steamed! Why should a wife have to feed extra guests without notice just because her husband decides to invite them at the last minute?

I can still remember my poor mother, scurrying around in the kitchen, frantically trying to get a company dinner together on a minute's notice because my father had picked up a couple of pals in the bar and brought them home for dinner.

You goofed, Abby. Instead of telling the wife to be prepared, you should have told her to tell her husband she wasn't running a fast-food restaurant, and to please take his friends somewhere else and feed them.

STEAMED IN MUNCIE, IND.

DEAR STEAMED: All the feedback on feeding unannounced guests agreed with you—except this one:

DEAR ABBY: You told HATES SURPRISES to be prepared, but you didn't tell her how to be prepared for unexpected dinner guests.

You should have suggested that she keep a supply of cheese and crackers on hand, as well as a few cans of gourmet goodies just in case. Also, a bottle of wine would turn an ordinary meal into a festive occasion. And a couple of candles always helps to give a table an elegant appearance.

With so many new, prepared foods available at the market today, there's no excuse for anyone to be caught unprepared for drop-in guests.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has been criticized for signing my name "MRS. JOHN DOE." I was told that since there is no Mr. John Doe, there cannot be a Mrs. John Doe! I am sure I read in your column that a widow could continue to use her deceased husband's name.

Friends insist that I am now Mrs. JANE Doe. Will you please come to my aid?

MRS. JOHN DOE

Local exhibits will highlight 'parade'

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

Howard County homemakers will demonstrate furniture refinishing, unique collar application, how to talk to a mechanic, use of prescription drugs and organizing household files as part of Extension Homemakers on Parade, April 28 at the Winwood Mall in Odessa.

Exhibits and live demonstrations will introduce the public to Extension Homemakers Clubs during the one-day program according to Janet Rogers, County Extension Agent.

Howard County club members will be a highlight of the Extension Homemakers on Parade on April 28 with their demonstrations of "almost everything about the home."

During the demonstrations, Howard County club members will explain how to talk to a mechanic. This is especially helpful information for women.

They will demonstrate a unique collar application that will help the homemakers save time and produce a more stable collar on the garment. Homemakers will explain furniture refinishing techniques. This is an art many homemakers find useful, satisfying and rewarding. Another demonstration will be on good organization and safe keeping of household records which can help homemakers manage more efficiently. Club members will explain how to shop for the best buys in prescription drugs.

In addition, several Howard County 4-H'ers will participate in the Extension Homemakers on Parade Exhibits. They also learn about subjects dealing with families through their involvement in a wide variety of 4-H projects. 4-H'ers will explain the importance of home insulation and demonstrate where to insulate the home. They will also explain the importance of providing safe toys for children and show several examples. 4-H'ers involved in teaching demonstrations are Scott Underwood, Dawn Underwood and Sharon Tindol.

Homemakers who will be teaching demonstrations are Mrs. Frances Zant, Mrs. Vern Vigar, Mrs. W.N. Norred, Mrs. L.Z. Rhodes, and Mrs. Alton Underwood.

In addition, visiting homemakers will have a chance to participate in "Dollar Watch," a free computer program that will design a family budget in just minutes.

With only a few facts from each person, the computer will pinpoint budget problems and design a special budget for a family, Mrs. Rogers explains.

Extension Homemakers Clubs are groups of 8-15 homemakers who learn together in their homes, Mrs. Rogers says.

Volunteer directors organize to coordinate volunteerism

Volunteer week is April 22-28

By MICKIE DICKSON
Volunteerism is alive and doing well in Big Spring. So well, in fact, that directors of volunteer services in six health related facilities here have banded together to form the Spring City Council of Volunteer Directors.

Why organize to pool volunteer resources, participate in joint endeavors in behalf of the community, or promote professionalism in volunteerism?

"It's an idea whose time has come all over the nation," Joe Rouleau, chairman of the group said. "It's common in larger cities all over Texas, as a way of providing mutual support for volunteer organizations. Acting as steering committees for volunteer activities of the township, jealous guarding of volunteer territories is a thing of the past."

Instead, professionals in the field have learned that placing volunteers in satisfying job positions means a higher quality of life, both for the volunteer and the institutions within which they serve.

Today, approximately 1400 people volunteer their services in these six health-care institutions and agencies. Of these, three are hospitals, two are federal agency programs and one is a nursing home.

The two newest are not hospital based. Gina Rose Moreno, of the Texas Department of Human Resources, describes her need for volunteers as being home-based. "We are either going to the home to visit shut-ins, going into the nursing homes to visit the elderly, or calling shut-ins two or three times a day through our Telephone Reassurance Program to let them know that someone 'out there' cares. This means that we can use volunteers who are not able, or too busy, to leave home." This volunteer service began Dec. 20, 1978.

The second non-hospital volunteer program is the RSVP or the Retired Senior Voluntary Program. Started in Big Spring in 1973, the program was revitalized in July, 1978 at their new location, the former Webb AFB. Directors Joy Decker and Jeanie Averitt said that their purpose is to encourage over 60 year olds to get out of the house and become involved in worthwhile volunteer activities. The federal program offers monetary refund of expenses incurred in volunteer work, while functioning as a placement agency for volunteers looking for work, and agencies who are looking for volunteers.

The third agency represented in the Council is the Park View Manor Nursing Home. Director Beverly Grant says that the 11 year old program utilizes volunteers to do exercises with patients, play bingo, do bible studies and other in-hospital activities. Utilizing in-house or ambulatory patients to help other patients with various activities is a distinguishing aspect of volunteerism innovation. Beverly and Janie Hale, activities director, coordinate the activities of the volunteers, using both in-house and outside volunteers to help the elderly who live in the home.

The three other Council agencies in the SCCVD are hospitals. The Veterans Administration and Big Spring State hospitals have pioneered volunteerism in Big Spring, paving the way for the new innovations now on the horizon. Their programs are wide in scope, ranging from full recreational, chaplaincy and therapeutic departments and involving hundreds of volunteers weekly. The BSSH has had volunteers since 1957 and the Veterans Administration Medical Facility started its volunteer department in 1925. The Malone-Hogan Hospital became the first private hospital to organize volunteers when it opened in its new location below Scenic Mountain in 1975.

The 25 women who came to the first meeting visualized a future medical complex "sprawling around the mountain." The Malone-Hogan Volunteers will celebrate their fourth anniversary in May, when the hospital plays host with an awards luncheon in their honor. The ceremonies and installation of officers is slated for May 10 at noon at the Big Spring Country Club. Dr. P. W. Malone will be the medical staff speaker.

Director Emily Ward says that the group sees its reason for being as a civic service to the community. "Their daily procedures focus on helping the patient's family cope with the patient's illness, whether the patient is in a room, in intensive care or coming into the emergency room."

The SCCVD will meet monthly, as it establishes goals and objectives. Its first undertaking was to sponsor National Volunteer Week, April 22 through 28, by publicizing the efforts of volunteers in all hospitals and agencies. Since all the directors are involved in programs of their own, the council plans to simplify all projects it undertakes in the name of all health-care volunteerism.

"We do plan to contact all civic and service clubs for a listing of talents available within their organizations that might be available for our volunteer programs," Chairman Rouleau said. "This would be published, along with volunteer opportunities that are open in our hospitals and agencies, for use by our six volunteer council members."

State budget board procedures baffling?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — In the strange world of Senate finance, Sen. Carl Parker parried his colleagues' barbs Wednesday to get a higher pay raise for a state employee he considers especially important.

Parker's persistence was a good example of how the Senate Finance Committee does business in the closing hours of its four-month-long effort to write a state budget for 1980-81.

Committee procedure would baffle any stranger as neither hands nor voices are raised on votes. A nod of the head is sufficient.

Once even Assistant Director James Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board — an expert at reading committee members' whims and passions — had to ask, "Did we get a vote?"

A bare majority of seven was present for Wednesday's 1 1/2-hour hearing, which focused on top administrators' salaries.

The House approved its $20.3 billion version of the general appropriation bill Tuesday. After the Senate votes on the finance committee bill, a House-Senate conference committee will write the final budget.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, persisted after the committee rebuffed his request for more money than the budget board had proposed for the executive director of the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness.

The board recommended $28,797 for 1980, a $1,397 increase over 1979.

"We should have abolished the office," said Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg.

Parker said the commission had trained 3,000 physical fitness experts to work with elderly citizens and school children.

"We don't need anybody in Austin to tell kids how to get in shape," chided Longoria.

Parker noted the committee had voted to raise the salary of the executive director of the Soil and Water Conservation Board to $29,500 for 1980, and said, "Now I know this committee thinks dirt is more important than the physical welfare of old folks."

"We need dirt to grow food," countered Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells.

Danza, ruggedly handsome, will don gloves again Friday night for a featured eight-round middleweight fight against "Sonny" Hord in Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum. It's all part of a back-home again odyssey that the young pugilist-actor wouldn't miss for the world.

Tyler church withdraws from parent organization

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Member of the First United Pentecostal Church voted unanimously to withdraw from their parent church organization and gave their controversial pastor an equally unanimous vote of confidence.

The Rev. Charles Glass, reprimanded by the Texas Board of Presbyters for "unbecoming conduct," said that despite the vote Wednesday night to withdraw from the worldwide United Pentecostal Church, the church would continue to support the parent church.

"This in now way affects us with UPC. We'll support it to its fullest," he said.

Glass also told the congregation that even if he is suspended by the UPC "I'm determined to remain in it."

The congregation vote means that Glass could remain as pastor of the church even if the parent church board voted to suspend him.

Cuevas jury resumes sentence deliberations

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury of six men and six women, after three hours of discussion Wednesday, were to resume deliberations today to decide if Ignacio Cuevas, accused of causing the death of a hostage during a prison uprising five years ago, should get life in jail or die by lethal injection.

The jury already has convicted Cuevas of capital murder and now it must decide the punishment, as so-ordered in Texas state courts.

It took four hours and 20 minutes for the jury to decide on the guilty verdict. It is expected to take far longer for the punishment decision.

In the final arguments, defense attorney Will Gray portrayed Cuevas as a stupid, unfortunate paw of Fred Gomez Carrasco the 11-day prison siege, longest in U.S. penal history, and the escape that left two convicts and two hostages dead.

Gray said, "I don't know if it will be of any consequence that he (Cuevas) is stupid, and that he had an IQ of 70. But no matter what you do to Mr. Cuevas, you are not going to keep some other misguided, stupid man from committing violence."

Walker County District Attorney Mard Ward, the chief prosecutor, said, "Carrasco never could have carried out his escape attempt without help and there is his willing help," as he pointed to an Cuevas, expressionless behind his black horned-rimmed glasses.

Cuevas, Carrasco and Rudolph Dominguez took over the education building in a prison unit called The Walls in the summer of 1974. They held it for 11 days and then attempted to escape behind a moveable shield of lawbooks, chalkboards and hostages.

Carrasco and Dominguez were shot to death.

Two of the 11 hostages, prison librarians Julia Standley and Elizabeth Beseda, were shot to death.

Cuevas is accused of causing the death of Mrs. Standley, although testimony and evidence has shown she died from bullets fired by the convict Dominguez.

The short, stocky Cuevas was convicted of capital murder and sentenced to death in 1975.
