ON STRIKE — Several Chemical Express Carriers Inc., drivers, members of the Teamsters Union, went on strike at midnight Wednesday, setting up picket lines around the loading dock at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company's local refinery. No personnel associated with Cosden nor Local

Americans leaving war-torn Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq announced its territorial objectives today in the four-day-old war in which its forces claimed the capture of 115 square miles of Iranian border territory. Iran said invading Iraqi forces had been pushed back in one area and reported for the first time the capture of a border post inside Iraq.

Iranian jets made their deepest penetration yet into Iraq, bombing a gas refinery at Ayn Zala, 280 miles northeast of Baghdad and 400 miles from the nearest Iranian air base, the Iraqis reported.

In Beirut, Iraqi Defense Minister Adnan Khairallah listed the goals of his country as: Redefinition of parts of the Iraq-Iran border; protection of the Arabic-speaking minority in southern Iran, and the return to Arab sovereignty of the islands of Abu Mousa and the Greater and Lesser Tunbs. The islands were seized by Iran in 1971.

At U.S. government urging, 53 American civilians — 46 businessmen and their families and seven dependents of members of the U.S. Embassy staff — left Baghdad by bus for Amman, Jordan, a trip that normally takes 15-18 hours. U.S. diplomats were not being advised to leave Iraq for the time being.

A chartered plane arrived in Amsterdam, Netherlands, with other American evacuees from Iraq. They included 241 employees of a New Jersey construction company and their families.

Foreign diplomats said they were making plans to evacuate European, Japanese, Korean and Philippine civilians working in Iraq.

Military communiques issued here and in Tehran indicated ground and air activity had not let up. Both Iran and Iraq have halted shipments of oil, not a major worry to the world for the present, but the war threatens to halt shipments from other oil-producing countries in the Persian Gulf.

But oil tankers were reported moving normally today through the Strait of Hormuz, the gulf's outlet to the sea and the world's main oil artery. Saudi Arabia and other Gulf countries have put their armed forces on alert as a self-defense precaution, highly placed sources reported.

The Iraqi command said its troops and tanks seized the Iranian border town of Naftshah today while other WRECKAGE FROM IRAQI RAID — The demolished nose of an Iranian air force F4 Phantom jet fighter sits on the ground at Mehrabad airport in Tehran, Iran, today. The jet was destroyed during a raid by the Iraqi air force on the airport that reportedly occurred three days ago.

Iraqi forces raised the flag over Mehran, 90 miles to the south.

Iraq said its troops took Mehran on Wednesday after completing the capture of the major Iranian border town of Qasr-e-Shirin, 50 miles southwest of Tehran, taking 351 prisoners and pursuing fleeing Iranian soldiers to Sar-e-Pol-Zahab, about 20 miles inside the border.

Iran conceded its troops retreated in the Mehran area and said the Iraqis also seized nearby Salehabad. An Iranian communique said fighting was continuing in the Qasr-e-Shirin area and claimed the invading Iraqi forces had been forced to retreat.

The Iranian news agency Pars quoted a communique saying Iranian forces had captured the Iraqi border post of Chalamche. Pars did not specify the location of this post and Chalamche does not appear on major maps. This is the first position inside Iraq that Iran has claimed to overrun since the war erupted.

In the air war, an Iraqi communique said Iranian jets hit the Ayn Zala refinery, only 15 miles from the Syrian border; Doura oil refinery on the outskirts of Baghdad; oil installations and airports in the northern cities of Kirkuk and Mosul and residential areas and economic installations in the northern Kurdish town of Irbil.

The Iraqi air force retaliated by attacking and heavily damaging six airports and military installations inside Iran, the Baghdad command said. The communique claimed Iraqi ground-to-air missiles and anti-aircraft guns downed 18 Iranian American-made planes, bringing the toll reported by the Iraqis since Monday to 139, almost a third of Iran's air force.

Iraq said three of its planes were lost in the latest attacks — on Kermanshah, Shahabad, Rezaiyeh, Agajari, Dezful and Tabriz — but the pilots of two jets bailed out safely in Iraqi territory. It said two other pilots parachuted into Iranian soil. Iran claimed eight Iraqi Soviet-made jets were brought down, including three by anti-aircraft fire over Kharg Island, Iran's major oil tanker loading facility.

Iran said its jets wrecked the Iraqi oil port of Faw, at the entrance to the Shatt-al-Arab waterway marking the two countries' southern border.

Iran reported 34 Iranians killed and 134 wounded in Abadan, where the war has knocked out the big Iranian oil refinery; the nearby port of Khorramshahr, and Ahwaz, capital of Khuzestan province 80 miles to the north, but it said the toll in Abadan did not include casualties among personnel of the National Iranian Oil Co.

Radio Tehran said reinforcements were being rushed to the invasion area, which extends 300 miles south from Qasr-e-Shirin to Abadan. It said 50 Iraqi tanks became bogged down in mud and were destroyed.

The Abadan refinery was reported still in flames from Iraqi air attacks, and both Abadan and Khorramshahr were under siege. Baghdad Radio urged the people of Khorramshahr to surrender.

Federal government blamed

Cost of power in Big Spring will continue to increase

By JAMES WERRELL

The cost of electricity in Big Spring has risen, and will continue to do so. But don't blame the Texas Electric Service Company, said Bill Marquardt, its president, blame the federal government.

Marquardt visited Big Spring Wednesday to help honor members of the company's Quarter Century Club. While here, he took the time to defend TESCO's request for a large rate hike, and to paint the federal government as the villain in the piece.

"Overregulation is a large part of what is running the price of electricity up," he stated. "Reason seems not to prevail. These (legislators) are strongminded people who have the upper hand. There is not a balance between what is good for the people and what is mandated by the federal government."

Marquardt said that just a few years ago power could be produced for $5 a kilowatt, but that "environmental costs" have pushed that figure to $40 a kilowatt as of January of 1979.

"The federal bureaucracy requires that everyone in the country have scrubbers to remove sulphur from lignite coal plants whether we need them or not," he said. "We have monitored our plants at metering stations, and the sulphur content in the air is very low for several miles around the plants. There should be a limit on how far we have to go when it is unnecessary; when it doesn't protect people's health," he added.

Marquardt also tells customers not to expect any new nuclear-powered plants in the near future.

"Under the present way of thinking, nuclear power is not an alternative any more. This is not the way we'd like it to be, but we just can't recommend building new nuclear plants until we can find out what will be required of us by the federal government," he said.

The Comanche Peak Plant, however, is a nuclear plant that is already near completion. Will it be opened for operation?

"Unit one at Comanche Peak will go on line in 1982, unit two in 1984," said Marquardt. "Barring unforeseen regulations that might be required that we don't know about now," he added.

Marquardt stated that gas and oil have become too costly to burn in the production of electricity, and that "the federal government won't let us burn gas and oil after 1990." So, with nuclear and petroleum sources out of the picture, that leaves coal as the main source of power during the next decade.

The Texas Utilities System presently operates eight lignite coal powered plants, with two more under construction. Marquardt predicts that, under the technology available Texas will soon deplete its supply of lignite, and the companies will have to turn to western coal as a source of power.

"That is unless nuclear power can be used. And it should be. Other countries safely operate nuclear plants, why can't we?" he said.

No matter what source of power is used, it will cost TESCO customers money. How much money will be determined by the Texas Public Utilities Commission on Tuesday.

TESCO had originally requested a hike of $123 million. The staff of the PUC recommended paring that figure to $69 million, while the hearing examiner at the PUC hearing recommended $66 million.

The last rate increase by the company went into effect on Nov. 1, 1979. Less than a year later, customers face another one. Will rates go up this time next year?

"That all depends on what happens next Tuesday," said Marquardt. "It is the responsibility of the company to provide electricity at the lowest possible cost. And to do that, we must be financially strong, and able to develop more economical fuels such as lignite and nuclear power."

So nuclear power is not completely out of the picture?

"I think a change will come about; a change in the federal approach. They will come to their senses and realize that nuclear power is needed just as they have in other aspects of energy," he replied. "But the best way I can describe it now is that it's like a Chinese baseball game. The rules are changed while the ball is in the air."

Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce manager quits

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce manager Starr Greenblatt has resigned at the request of the chamber's board of directors.

In a special meeting called earlier this week, ten of the 13 board members voted to request Ms. Greenblatt's resignation.

Ms. Greenblatt will remain as consultant to the chamber for a period of a month at a salary of $1,100 to make the change-over less complicated for the board.

Voting for the termination of Ms. Greenblatt's contract were Joe Kirschbaum, Jack Perkins, Loyd Ledbetter, Barbara Gray, Chris Hubbard, Betty Williams and Van Mills.

Shirley Delaney and Carl Beery Moore voted against the proposal while Chamber president Brad Rose was not required to vote.

Six in running for chief's job

The number of candidates for the post of Big Spring Police Chief has been narrowed to six.

The committee appointed by City Manager Don Davis to screen applicants for the position met Wednesday afternoon, and called all but six of the 30 who qualified for the job. Committee members include Davis; Warren Dodson, Abilene chief of police; Hal Boyd, councilman; Dan Wilkins, local stockbroker; and Sally Rodriguez, co-owner of Alberto's Restaurant.

Mrs. Rodriguez was unable to attend Wednesday's session because of illness.

According to Davis, the six finalists for the post will be interviewed during the second week of October, and a new chief will then be announced "within a matter of days," he said.

All six are Texans, but none is local or even from the West Texas area. Of the six, two are from the Dallas-Fort Worth area; one each from East, Central, South and Southwest Texas.

A total of 47 had originally applied for the position, but only 30 of these met the requirements needed to fill the post.

Year's rainfall

tops 22 inches

Another .05 inch of rain was gauged by the U.S. Experiment Station here Wednesday, which brought the month's total to 9.08 inches.

The year's rainfall now totals 22.17 inches, the 30th year during the 51 years records have been kept here that the aggregate has amounted to 30 inches or better.

This year has already taken its place as the 28th wettest year on record in Howard County, with three months remaining before 1981 bows in.

Court busy with hot checks cases

Justice of the Peace Bobby West handled 14 hot check cases in his court Wednesday, the first day of regular prosecution since the crack down began.

West will hold court every Wednesday.

Of the 12 cases where convictions were obtained, five of the 12 had to be jailed. All were released soon after when they came up with the fine.

Fines collected amounted to $675 which will go to the county Road and Bridge fund except for $3.50 out of every $50 which goes to the state. Fines were from a minimum of $50 up to $100.

Of the 14 cases heard, two were granted continuances. Some of the 14 had more than one worthless check filed in the justice's office, but West only heard one case against each defendant.

State Committeewoman Jane Ray to skip Houston convention

Slagle, Jones battle for powerful Demo position

By WALT FINLEY
Howard County delegates to the Friday and Saturday Texas Democratic Convention in Houston can be sure there will be one roll call vote — for the next chairman of the state party.

Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, and Bob Slagle, Sherman attorney, have been running for the powerful political job since the first of the year.

Recently, Dave Samuelson, outgoing Travis County commissioner, who is backed by the Democrats' moderate-conservative faction — or "Mod-Cons" — and unhappy farmers, joined the race.

JANE RAY

It definitely will take a delegate-by-delegate count of the 3,900 delegates to settle which of the three will replace Billy Goldberg. The wealthy Houston businessman got the job when it looked like John Hill would be Texas' next governor in 1978. Although Republican Bill Clements won the governor's race, Goldberg kept the party chairmanship.

Jones and Slagle would 30th District Senatorial Democrats at a meeting in Stamford last month.

Howard County Demo Chairman Cecil Riordan predicts many party veterans will support Slagle.

The 45-year-old Slagle has worked as a legal adviser and writer of party rules for Texas Democrats. His father was a state campaign manager for former U.S. Senator Ralph Yarborough, longtime favorite of Texas liberal Democrats.

"It looks very good," Slagle told me after a recent meeting in Midland. Both Jones and Slagle say they will win the party job.

It is not like a regular statewide election where 4 million voters are involved. It depends on the wishes of the 3,900 state convention delegates who were selected at precinct and county conventions after the May 3 election. A nominating committee at the Houston convention will make its recommendations but it will be up to the delegates to decide who wins.

These delegates are the people Jones and Slagle have been talking with since the first of the year, with not much publicity otherwise.

The last big Democratic chairmanship race was in 1976 when Calvin Guest, a Bryan banker and buddy of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, defeated Lurkin lawyer John Henry Tatum, considered the choice of liberal Democrats. The roll call vote was 1,948 for Guest and 1,346 for Tatum.

"I feel good about the race," said Jones, 34, an El Paso attorney who worked in Hill's campaign for governor in 1978.

Hill, who is expected to run for governor again in 1982, is supporting Jones now.

"I think more than 50 percent of the delegates are uncommitted and will make up their minds after they get to Houston," said Jones.

"I made a pledge that I would not make the 1982 governor's race a part of this campaign," Slagle said. "All I am promising is that, if elected, I will support the Democratic nominee in 1982. I will not push any candidate in the race."

"This is an important race," said Jones, "because the Democratic governor has always picked the party chairman before. Now we don't have a Democratic governor. John Hill is supporting me but he has not campaigned for me. It is up to the delegates to decide."

Both candidates said they would handle the Democratic chairmanship as a part-time job.

Jones said he would continue to live in El Paso, spending two or three days a week on Democratic party business, in Austin, if necessary.

Slagle said he would continue his law practice in Sherman.

Jones said he would spend a lot of time with new members of the 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee. He estimates at least half of them may be new after the September convention.

"My party needs to organize so they can help their candidates," he said, "and I think I am more qualified to do that than others."

"I've always felt that party building and letting folks have their say is what it's all about," said Slagle. "People get turned off now by politics because they don't know how to participate and make themselves known. They are afraid of being embarrassed."

"They need to be taught how to take part in politics, and it will give them confidence," he said. "Some people think there is something nasty about politics. They need to understand that politics is merely people asserting themselves in the interests of their country. Politics is the hallmark of a civilized society."

A meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee this afternoon triggers the series of sessions that end Saturday with the second State Democratic Convention.

Jane Ray, the only person elected from Howard County to serve on the SDEC, will not attend the convention.

This morning, she hand delivered the following "Dear Walt" statement:

"With state convention time here again, just a week away, I would like to take the opportunity to thank you for the help you gave me while serving on the SDEC representing the 30th District as the State Democratic Committeewoman.

"Through you as a reporter, I also want to thank the people of Big Spring and Howard County for the support they gave me. Since my election in September of 1978.

"I have tried to represent the district as they would want me to. I realize at times everyone was not always in agreement with me on the position I took and the way I voted. But like in every thing else you can't please everyone.

"I feel, up until January of this year, I contributed something to our party. I spent many days and hours trying anyway.

"By now you are probably aware I will not seek reelection. It is with a sad heart that I find I am unable to do so. Not because I did not enjoy and believe in what I was doing, only because it is just not feasible at this time.

"I think one of the most enjoyable times was the part of meeting with the other counties, seeking votes and then to have Howard County give me the vote to win. Would you think 2 votes would be called a landslide?

"I have learned much and have met many wonderful people since 1978 and will always treasure the friendship.

"In a few months, hopefully, I will have the opportunity to contribute something to the Democratic Party — local and statewide. I am looking forward to the governors election. I have a favorite if he should seek election that I would enjoy working for. Guess we will just have to wait and see.

"Walt, I will not be attending the convention. Should you attend please take your camera and get me a picture of Mickey Gilly — at the convention — not at Gilly's Place...

"Again please with your help I would like to say thank you to everyone who supported me.

"After the convention I will have a few more tid bits for you, like a change I would enjoy seeing in our district and I will strive to see it happen."

Cable in forefront of chapel campaign

Don Cauble, son of Mrs. Jim Cauble, longtime Howard County resident, is at the forefront of a campaign to raise $400,000 for construction of a new chapel for use by residents of the Abilene State School.

Cauble will shortly begin his 15th year as the school's chaplain. He lists three major factors for the proposed structure: (1) Inadequacy of the present structure; (2) usage of the current facility is restricted because of conflicting activities, and (3) more spacious, comfortable facilities would greatly enhance the worship experience of the estimated 600 residents who attend chapel weekly.

Concerning the inadequacy of the present chapel, Cauble explained: "Our institution has never really had a permanent 'home' for its worship service, moving from pillar to services at the school was built in 1901.

Overall leadership of the money-raising effort rests with the presidents of Abilene's three church-related colleges and universities. The committee is chaired by Dr. John Stevens of Abilene Christian University.

Chaplain Cauble is a brother of Buster Cauble and Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, both Howard County residents.

Police Beat Coahoma man is slashed with broken beer bottle

Another man was stabbed in a local bar, this time with a broken beer bottle, midnight Wednesday.

Albert Arguello, Coahoma, told police that while inside the Penny Pincher's Lounge, 1310 W. 4th, a man he knows cut him across the bridge of the nose and on the left upper chest with a broken beer bottle. Aguro was treated for the injuries at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released.

Burglars used a coat hanger to break into a car belonging to Victor B. Wrye, 632 Caylor, Tuesday night. Stolen were a CB radio and a Another CB was stolen from a car belonging to Lois Crawford, 511 S. Benton, late Wednesday or early this morning. It was valued at $90.

A single channel transceiver was stolen from a wrecker parked at Brown's Service Center, 1629 E. 3rd, Wednesday night. It was valued at $900.

Thieves lifted $40 from a cash box in the Howard Griesse Cafeteria, between 5:30 and 6 p.m. Tuesday.

While Mary Lou Johnson,

2801 Navajo, was inside the Seven-Eleven Store at Eighth and Gregg, 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, thieves lifted her purse from her car. The purse had contained both a checkbook and a savings account book.

Two mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Jeffrey Moorhead, 2403 Runnels, and Johnnie Lou Avery, 4 Bennett Circle, collided on the 2100 block of Runnels, 7:57 a.m.

A vehicle driven by Velma Griesse, 1001 Sycamore, struck a power line on the 900 block of State, 3:12 p.m.

'Let's Rebuild America' plans win approval

The board of directors of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce voted Wednesday to serve as a distribution and contact center for the "Let's Rebuild America" program.

The program is an attempt to unify businesses and Chamber of Commerce members to "fight inflation by cutting government spending, reducing taxes, increasing productivity, and fully utilizing the country's rich natural resources."

The board agreed to aid in the distribution of material and serve as a contact for the effort.

The board of directors also discussed plans to celebrate the Chamber's 50th Anniversary at a luncheon in November and began shaping an organizational structure for the City's 100th Anniversary.

In other business, the board approved changes in the Chamber by-laws concerning the election of officials, and listened to committee reports on the recent Ag Appreciation Luncheon at the fair.

Executive Vice President Le Roy Tillery gave a report on the plan set forth in county commissioner's court on Monday to establish an office in the county attorney's office to process bad checks received by area merchants.

Big Spring Community Concert support asked

Mrs. J.W. Kuykendall made a ringing appeal before the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday for support of the Big Spring Community Concert Association 1980-81 series.

These annual presentations make a vital contribution to the entertainment and cultural life of the community and constitute one of the biggest bargains (only 12 for the season) available, she said. This year there will be three programs, Rostal and Schaefer, Monday, Nov. 3; The Ballet Foloclorico Nacional de Mexico, Saturday, Jan. 31; and the Eastern Brass Quintet, Thursday, Feb. 19. In addition, the Big Spring Association has reciprocal privileges to attend the Midland series which includes the Norman Luboff Choir, Sunday, Nov. 9; the Irish Light Orchestra of Dublin, Tuesday, Nov. 11; the Glenn Miller Orchestra, Tuesday, Jan. 6; Lenus Carlson, Tuesday, Feb. 3; and Earl Rose, Monday, March 29.

Frak Wentz, in charge of the program, also presented Felicia Ford, who received vigorous applause for two vocal numbers. President Dub Martin and James Welch reported on the zone meeting, and announced Oct. 8 as World Service day. Ron Logback and Randal Patterson was inducted into the club by Jim Lemons, past district governor.

City still to aid dealer
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Plans for city aid to an electric-car manufacturer will go ahead even though tests showed a prototype of the vehicle did not live up to its billing, Mayor Gus Newport says.

The city is seeking $8 million in private and government loans to help California Electric Car Co. begin manufacturing the EXAR-1. The plant would provide at least 400 jobs for the area and the city would share in the company's profits.

But Wally Rippel of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, who supervised testing of the car on Wednesday, said it did not live up to its designer's claims on speed, acceleration and power storage.

Fines imposed on twelve
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A judge has imposed $200 fines on 12 demonstrators, including nine Iranians and three Palestinians, convicted of disrupting a speech at the University of Texas by a one-time spokesman for the late shah of Iran.

Travis County Court-at-Law Judge Jon Wisser also sentenced the defendants to four to eight days in jail, but none will have to serve because of credit for time served after their arrests.

The demonstrators were convicted on Sept. 4 of disrupting a Jan. 31 speech by Fereyoun Hoveyda, former Iranian ambassador to the United Nations. Defense attorney Bill Allison said he would appeal.

Worker killed in crash
SHOW LOW, Ariz. (AP) — A road worker was killed and 20 other people were hurt when a school bus crashed into a highway sweeper, igniting the sweeper's fuel tank, authorities said.

The bus was returning to Show Low along Arizona 260 on Wednesday with between 35 and 70 students aboard when it hit a sweeper rig attached to a one-ton flatbed truck, investigators said.

Van Holyoak, 51, of Clay Springs, the sweeper's driver, was killed when he became trapped between the back of the sweeper and the front of the school bus, according to Walt Gray, a spokesman for the state Transportation Department.

Lake Spence continues Ground school now available at college

Lake E.V. Spence, one of the two reservoirs maintained by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, has picked up another 6,800 acre feet of water from the most recent rains, with prospects that it might gain another 3,000 acre feet.

The vertical rise at Spence, located near Robert Lee, has been 1.05 feet, with prospects for another six inches before the runoff ceases.

The flow into the lake was about 4 1/2 feet at 11 o'clock this morning. The big lake now has 155,810 feet of water, which leaves it about one-third of capacity.

Lake Thomas is also going to pick up about five vertical inches or more from the runoff. The rains up there have just been a little slow to get to the lake.

A ground school for pilots will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays through Nov. 5 in the Horace Garret building.

Instructor for the course will be Homer Rickabough, a certified ground school instructor. Cost of the course is $65.

At TESCO banquet Employees honored

Four members of the Texas Electric Service Company team, three of whom are Big Spring residents, were honored as the newest members of the firm's Quarter Century Club at a banquet held Wednesday night at the Big Spring Country Club.

The newest inductees were D.G. Chenaull, head of the switching station systems; Russell Tidwell, senior customer representative; and Mrs. Quata Burnett, customer operations supervisor, all of Big Spring; and George Walker, engineering manager, Lamesa.

Each of the four was presented with a watch by W.G. (Bill) Marquardt, TESCO president. J.H. Sanders was the master of ceremonies while the Light Crust Doughboys provided musical entertainment.

In his post-dinner talk, Marquardt said that his firm cannot do much against inflation and the wastefulness of the federal bureaucracy but continues to plan a program for the future that will continue to lean multi-million savings to his customers.

This planning has resulted in savings despite the many factors that are causing the price of electricity to escalate, Marquardt said.

"Inflation, higher operating and construction costs, costly federal regulations and soaring fuel costs — all these things have increased what it costs us to provide good service to our customers," the TESCO executive said.

Texas Electric had to operate through the political process, Marquardt stated, in trying to change the government policies that created the firm's problems.

TESCO planners, however, have been able to do something to lessen the effects of rising fuel costs on customers' bills.

"Our low cost natural gas contracts and our lignite coal reserves and the construction of new power plants to make use of it, starting 30 years ago, helped ease the impact on customers' bills. Through the end of 1979, customers saved about $250 million because the company was able to use cheaper lignite instead of natural gas to produce part of the electricity," Marquardt said. These savings will continue through the life of the company's lignite-fueled power plants, he added.

The TESCO executive devoted part of his talk to the Comanche Peak power plant which, he said, had been designed well, built carefully and will be "operated safely." It also will offer savings to customers, Marquardt stated.

Quality control of nuclear unit improved since utility fined

States News Service
WASHINGTON — A Nuclear Regulatory Commission official said quality control at the South Texas Nuclear Project has improved since the utility building the electricity-generating plant was fined $100,000 five months ago.

Victor Stello Jr., the NRC's director of Inspection and Enforcement, told the House Commerce subcommittee on oversight and investigations he is "cautiously optimistic" the nuclear plant can be completed under the closer federal scrutiny.

At the same time, John Ahearne, NRC chairman, told the panel the division of corporate responsibilities at South Texas are the type leading to "more potential for construction problems" than in other nuclear building projects.

The permit to build South Texas was granted to Houston Lighting & Power Co., which in April was found in violation of NRC quality control regulations for the plant. The plant is more than 50 percent complete.

In imposing the fine, the NRC found the utility's quality control inspectors "were subject to production pressure, lack of support by their own management, harassment, intimidation and threats."

Subcommittee member Edward Markey, a Massachusetts Democrat and regular NBC critic, called the South Texas problem "the tip of a tragedy" that will "inevitably" lead to an accident.

"The South Texas Nuclear Project is a microcosm of the whole mess in nuclear power. The question is does the NRC do its job?" said Markey. "What we are discussing here is an indictment of NRC inspection and control of nuclear plant construction."

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Democrat from Dallas, joined the criticism of the NRC, saying the commission did not act early or forcefully enough regarding South Texas.

"Certainly, one must be troubled that it has taken a prolonged intensive investigation in order to justify significant regulatory action based upon underlying deficiencies which were known to the licensee (HL&P), as well as the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, for at least three years," said Eckhardt.

Stello listed five areas where the NRC has noted improvement since the punishments against HL&P were levied:

- Senior management of HL&P, including an executive vice president and the manager of quality assurance are at the Bay City construction site on a regular basis.
- Management has emphasized the separation of quality assurance from cost and schedule considerations.
- More personnel have been assigned to quality assurance.
- Organization changes have increased management involvement in day-to-day construction activities.
- Action is underway to correct deficiencies identified by the NRC.

An unusual but not unique feature of the South Texas plant is that one firm, Brown and Root, was hired by HL&P to be both the engineer and constructor of the plant.

"There is more potential for construction problems (in this situation), particularly when you have a company (HL&P) building a plant for the first time," said Ahearne.

Commenting after the hearing, Markey added his own assessment of the problem. "We are going to have a continually dangerous situation as long as the NRC is inextricably tied to the nuclear industry and relies on that industry for so much of its information," he said.

Lids on raids to arrest illegal aliens debated

States News Service
WASHINGTON — Restrictions on raids to arrest illegal aliens should continue in effect until at least next March, a group of Hispanic leaders recently told Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti.

Civiletti made no promises to his Hispanic Advisory Committee, but said a decision would be made within the next four to eight weeks, according to a Justice Department spokesman.

The meeting came amid speculation the Justice Department will follow the wishes of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and reinstate the normal enforcement policy.

A moratorium on that enforcement policy was put in effect March 31 in order to create "an atmosphere conducive to (obtaining) complete participation and disclosure of information" in the 1980 census.

The new rules allow workplace searches only when investigators have a search warrant. "The attorney general banned all residential searches for illegal aliens, previously conducted without warrants, in a November 1979 order."

With census activities nearly completed, the INS July 31 told its investigators to resume the search for illegal aliens, which allows officers to conduct sweeps in businesses with the permission of the employer.

But Aug. 3, investigators were told the Attorney General had ordered the moratorium kept in effect. Civiletti's decision has reportedly angered INS officials and the decision was branded "illegal" by the Federation for American Immigration Reform, an active Washington lobbying group that seeks to restrict immigration.

Among the attorney general's visitors Friday morning was Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens. Prior to the meeting, Bonilla said he and others on the advisory panel would urge that the ban on INS sweeps of workplaces be kept in effect at least until the presidential Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy completes its work next March 1.

"We want to moratorium on raids extended for constitutional principles," said Bonilla. "The wrong kind of enforcement at this time will disrupt Hispanic-American residential and employment areas. And we are concerned that undocumented workers with residences and equity in the United States will be uprooted."

Bonilla acknowledged the speculation coming out of the Justice Department that Civiletti will allow a return to the old methods of enforcement in the near future, but the Corpus Christi attorney engaged in some speculation of his own.

"I think the attorney general will be sympathetic to our ideas and I'm reasonably certain the moratorium will be extended," Bonilla said.

President Carter's Hispanic Affairs adviser Esteban Torres declined comment on the moratorium, saying the decision "is Mr. Civiletti's to make."

But Gil Pompa, director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service, supports extending the loosened enforcement rule: "From a community relations standpoint, it would be wise to wait until the commission completes its work before lifting the moratorium. To begin the enforcement now would leave the impression in the Hispanic community that we are placing an unusual emphasis on Mexicans."

Bonilla blamed the push for a return to the old enforcement methods on "intense pressure" on the attorney general by FAIR lobbyists.

25 YEARS

Jimmy Carter likely pulled a rock

The question before the house now is: Did President Carter blunder when he declined an invitation to debate Ronald Reagan and John Anderson? Granted that both Reagan and Anderson are of the Republican persuasion now, and both will remain so following the general election in November, the answer to the question may be "yes."

THEY SAY THAT Richard Nixon lost an election to John Kennedy years ago by agreeing to oppose the Democrat in a debate. Nixon forces were later to claim that Nixon's makeup man was largely responsible for Nixon's demise in the presidential election.

Carter likely doesn't want to take a chance of blowing the voters' decision this late in the campaign but he comes across quite well while appearing on television and, who knows, he might just need the exposure such a situation would offer.

Reagan has been accusing Carter of avoiding the issues. Anderson hasn't been saying much of anything. If anyone has a right to feel wary of a confrontation with Anderson, however, it is Reagan.

Reagan is completely at home in front of a camera. After all, he made his living as an actor for many years. He should know his 'best side.'

Anderson, however, is probably the best public speaker of the three. He is articulate and he possesses a steel trap mind. He started out far behind in this campaign and can only gain in a situation like this. If people listen carefully to what he says, we think they will come away with tremendous respect for the man.

There are grave issues to debate and there is no reason for Carter to act like the little boy who owns the football at this stage. Whether the president likes it or not, Rep. Anderson is definitely a part of this campaign.

The electorate, no doubt, would like the chance to see the three men on the same rostrum, having a go at solutions to this nation's knotty problems. The League of Women Voters, of course, offered them that chance.

The public has a right to know how they would react in a particular situation and what better way to find out than in a debate?

Supine before OPEC

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — The bad news isn't what the major oil exporting countries did last week in Vienna. It's what the major oil consuming countries did not do over the world.

The U.S., Japan and Europe uttered not a peep of protest against the latest OPEC move to raise prices. Their silence virtually assures that the hammer blows delivered to the industrial world by OPEC bad guys on occasion last year will be delivered in years to come by OPEC good guys as part of an accepted international formula.

IN 1979, INTERNATIONAL oil markets were dominated by the collapse of the Shah. Iranian oil exports fell from over 5 to under 3 million barrels a day. That drop, and the prospect of worse to come, stimulated panic buying.

Three oil countries with radical regimes — Libya, Algeria and Iran — used the occasion to drive up prices by sales on the spot market and heavy pressure inside OPEC. As a result, the average price of oil per barrel doubled in 1979. The international oil bill for most countries increased enormously. The spur to inflation helped tip the U.S. and several other industrial countries into recession.

Saudi Arabia, and a number of pro-Western countries, did their best to brake the price rise. The Saudis kept production high (9.5 million barrels a day instead of the 8.5 norm). They held their base price at $28 a barrel as against over $35 charged by the Algerians and Libyans.

But their moderation found little reward from the U.S. and its allies. If anything, on the contrary, the Carter administration kept right on courting the radical oil states. Moreover, the attempted seizure of the Grand Mosque in Mecca showed that accommodation with the West rendered the Saudi royal regime vulnerable to radical Islamic subversion. So the Saudis set about developing an oil strategy that did not leave them at a disadvantage compared to other OPEC members.

The Saudi strategy centers on a long-range pricing formula. The basic idea is that OPEC floor prices would be adjusted upwards in line with three different series — increases in the prices of industrial goods; increases in the gross national products of the industrial countries; and the standing of the dollar against the basket of other currencies.

Market conditions currently favor the application of that strategy. The panic buying has led to a glut of oil supplies. Some exporters have had to sell at a discount recently.

EVEN SO THE LIBYANS, Algerians and Iranians refuse to accept the Saudi strategy unless the Saudis raise prices to establish a higher floor, and cut back production to tighten markets.

At the Vienna meeting, the Saudis took a first step in that direction. They agreed to raise their base price from $28 to $30 a barrel. The expectation is that in the near future they will go up to $32 a barrel, and cut back production. Then the long-term strategy will be accepted and applied.

Once established, the long-term strategy puts a noose around the neck of the U.S. and other industrial countries. It will raise oil prices as soon as business activity picks up in the industrial world — thus reigniting inflation and causing recovery to self-destruct. It will increase oil prices further as inflation mounts — thus deepening the amount, and prolonging the extent, of the unemployment the industrialized countries will have to swallow to stabilize prices.

That prospect would appall any serious American administration, and most of the other governments in the industrialized world. By unified protest — and by joint action — the industrialized countries could at least make the Saudis think twice.

Blood pressure take made easy

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In taking blood pressure, when does a person count the diastolic beat? Is it when you hear the last beat before it disappears or at the beginning of the first beat? I am helping at a senior citizens center and there has been some discussion about it. — S.S.

Get out your stethoscope and your rubber cuff. Here is how it is done.

Wrap the inflatable rubber cuff around the patient's arm above the elbow. Feel with your finger for the pulse of the large artery (below the cuff in the crook of the elbow). With the earpieces in place, put the stethoscope over that artery.

Now, pump up the rubber cuff until you no longer can hear the pulse. When it disappears, slowly deflate the cuff, still listening carefully through the stethoscope. What you are listening for is the reappearance of the pulse. When the first sounds are heard, look at the needle on the dial. That is the systolic blood pressure of the patient (the first number of the blood pressure reading). Continue to listen. Now you are waiting for the disappearance of the pulse. When the sound completely disappears, that is the diastolic pressure (the second number).

There are actually five phases to blood pressure, but the two most important are the first appearance of sound (systole) and the point where the sound can no longer be heard (diastole). The former is the pressure against the artery wall at the instant the heart pumps, and the latter the residual pressure between beats.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Could prostate infection cause back pain? Where would it be felt and how would this be determined? — N.N.

Yes, prostate infection might produce back pain, although it usually would be accompanied by other symptoms of prostate trouble, such as frequent and burning urination. The pain would occur in the lower back, in the area just above the tailbone and might radiate down the leg. Presence of the symptoms mentioned and a prostate examination would confirm the diagnosis. For further hints about prostate trouble see the booklet "The Pesky Prostate." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a woman, 62 years old, and have been troubled with interstitial cystitis for a year. My urologist has done several cystoscopies, urine tests, bladder X-rays, and a biopsy. What can you tell me about this? — M.H.

Cystitis is a reference to bladder inflammation. Interstitial refers to the formation of scars in the wall of the bladder. This causes the bladder to shrink and lose its ability to stretch to hold normal amounts of urine. This also accounts for the symptoms — frequent urination, pain and sometimes blood-tinged urine.

No single theory of why this happens is accepted by all authorities. An interesting idea is the suggestion that interstitial cystitis may be an autoimmune disease — that is, one in which the body makes antibodies against its own tissue, in this case bladder tissue.

Treatments are as numerous as are causes, but the goal is usually to try to increase bladder volume. In one treatment, water is placed in the bladder to try and stretch it. Bathing the bladder with solutions of silver nitrate has been tried, and steroid drugs have been used. It is not a very pleasant ailment and is difficult to control. No one treatment works for all.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My ears ring and buzz constantly. I am 61. My doctor said my ears were clear, with no wax buildup. He said this could be from working in a noisy place, but I am not working where there is noise anymore. I don't think this can be it, because I retired two years ago. Can you give me a reason for this very annoying symptom? — I.M.

People who have worked all their lives in noisy environments often experience ear sounds long after leaving. This is what your doctor meant. When even normal people enter a completely sound-proofed silent room, they will admit to hearing ear noises. As long as no disease is present, ear noises are best treated by trying to ignore them and, yes, learning to live with them.

Dear Editor: I would guess that most of us have voted in the past for our particular party, or for the presidential candidate that we thought would do the best job. I don't remember that we have ever been offered much of a choice in the party platforms — but this year it's a different story!

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does the Bible say anything about taking care of animals? I have felt that if you loved God, you would love his helpless creatures also. — R.M.

DEAR R.M.: Yes, the Bible indicates that man is to have concern for the animals God has created. When the world was first formed, man was given authority over the animal kingdom. "Then God said, 'Let us make man in our image, in our likeness, and let them rule over the fish of the sea and the birds of the air, over the livestock, over all the earth, and over all the creatures that move along the ground.'" (Genesis 1:26).

Before God created man, God alone had rule or authority over the animal kingdom. This meant that God took care of the animals, just as a good king would take care of his subjects. But now man is given this responsibility. Therefore you find that the Bible commanded people to take care of the animals and not neglect or abuse them. The Ten Commandments included animals in the observance of the Sabbath day of rest (Exodus 20:10). God's care for the animal world was underlined in Jesus' statement: "Look at the birds of the air; they do not sow or reap or store away in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them" (Matthew 6:26).

But there is another truth in the Bible you should remember. Yes, God is concerned about the animals, and therefore we should be also. But God is much more concerned about people. In the verse I just quoted from Matthew 6:26, Jesus goes on to say, "Are you not much more valuable than they?" The Bible also says, "His pleasure is not in the strength of the horse, nor his delight in the legs of a man; the Lord delights in those who fear him, who put their hope in his unfailing love" (Psalm 147:10, 11).

God is concerned about you. He loves you so much that he sent his Son to die on the cross for you so you could be forgiven and reconciled to God. Have you ever discovered that God is your loving heavenly Father? Let Christ into your life, and you will know what it means to be in his eternal care.

Don Woods

Have you ever had one of those days?

Personally, Sept. 14 is going to have to go down in my book as the day the guardian angels went fishing. I mean, I was as bad off as the kid in the aspirin commercial a few years ago who had a sick mother, a tummysyche, nothing to eat and "I can't find my socks." Remember?

Anyway, this day was a riot the results of which are so colossal they continue to this day almost two weeks later.

I WAS VISITING friends at the lake near Colorado City, where we spent the afternoon skiing. The first sign of trouble was a spill that left the boat driver wishing he had asked me about funeral arrangements. I had always carried my cuffs and losing them in the tumble (a jackknife into a handstand, etc.) was the last thing in my mind; I was glad to be floating on my face in one piece.

A short time later I discovered I had neglected to pull my bilfold out of my pocket. So when the boat came near I threw it toward and over the boat. A spare key to the car was in it (and probably still is).

I returned to the car later, found my keys missing and went to work with a clothes hanger trying to snare the lock and pull it open. I might as well have been trying to whistle in the wind.

It's about 7 p.m. One friend has left. The other returns from trying to find a device that could at least get the door open. We finally leave the car in search for a locksmith.

All I have are some lousy cutoffs and my slaps: no money no watch, no bilfold and no car. So I change into my friend's clothes and go to church.

By 9 p.m. we've got a locksmith. He picks me up and starts charging me $12 an hour. At 1 a.m. I'm stretched out on the asphalt by the car trying to ignore my locksmith's harsh words for the flying animals who are trying to devour him. He can't make a key. He can't even pick the lock to get the steering unlocked. He charges me $65 (a $15 discount) and takes me back to a friend's house who thinks I am long gone.

I crash on a couch. The next day he takes me to Big Spring and I enter my house without a single item of clothing or anything else I left home with the day before (except my sleep sandals).

THAT AFTERNOON, Walt Flinkey loans me his car. It's the first break I've had in two days. I spend a lot of money on phone bills trying to get the lock member from the original dealer of the car who ends up telling me the reason are locked up in a warehouse somewhere in North Dallas. Okay, this is getting crazier and crazier.

I end up buying a bus ticket for Colorado City after locating another locksmith and telling him to pick me up at the bus station when he has the key made. When I arrive the station is closed so I sit down in the gathering gloom and wait.

Finally he comes. The other locksmith has opened up the wheels of the steering column and when I turn on the ignition (expectantly) the wretched wipers come on. I can see great when it rains but it doesn't make any difference because there's not a lot to see in a State Park parking lot, anyway.

My new locksmith fixes it and I'm on my way (minus another $18). The pieces and screws of the plastic case around the steering column are laying around my feet but my problems were solved.

Until Tuesday morning when I got a flat on my way to work and my spare is locked in the trunk which has no key. Another $18 down the drain for the locksmith and everything's fine. My spare, dear reader, was flat.

That night, back in Colorado City I lock out to have on my supposedly repaired flat tire, only to find that I'm digging a hole in the mud with a deflated tire.

I had to laugh. As I told an acquaintance, "I always change a flat every 12 hours. It keeps me in practice."

At work the next day someone remarks, "You've had a lot of trouble with your tires lately, haven't you?" See what I mean. Have you every find one of those centuries?

WASHINGTON — Whistleblowers — those dedicated government employees who risk their careers to report incompetence or misconduct in their agencies — are being stripped of protection by Jimmy Carter, the man who promised to defend them.

The Office of Special Counsel, which was set up to be the whistleblowers' shield against reprisal, is being quietly strangled in its crib.

Two years ago, as part of Carter's civil service reform program, Congress created the Office of Special Counsel as an independent body with extraordinary powers. It was authorized not only to protect employees who exposed waste and mismanagement, but to investigate and punish crooked bureaucrats on its own.

THE MINI-AGENCY pursued its mandate vigorously — perhaps too vigorously. In July, for example, it turned up damning evidence that high officials of the Small Business Administration were illegally transferring employees deemed to be "politically unresponsive." Acting Special Counsel Mary Eastwood wrote to SBA chief Vernon Weaver asking him to take disciplinary action against his deputy, Paul D. Sullivan, for his role in the illegalities.

Earlier, the special counsel's office, to the intense annoyance of Attorney General Griffin Bell, filed charges against his protégé, Ron Angel, chief federal marshal in Atlanta. He was accused of railroading four deputies who had tried to expose corruption in the marshals' service.

The office also launched corruption probes aimed at high officials in the Veterans Administration, the Air Force, the Justice Department and the Mine Safety and Health Administration.

Apparently the young watchdog was chewing on the wrong ankles. Although administration officials deny their purpose was to fill the special counsel's office, their actions had that effect.

Under a budget cut proposed by the president two months ago, the special counsel's already meager funding was slashed by $1 million. With this clear signal from the White House, Congress cut another $1 million, leaving the office broke.

The staff was reduced by 60 percent, leaving only 37 attorneys and investigators still on the payroll. Some survivors told my associate lady Badtwar they have to scrounge and beg in other agencies for such basic supplies as Scotch tape and writing paper.

ALL THE INVESTIGATIONS have been halted. All the branch offices have been shut down. The special counsel needs $135,000 to continue investigations already started, but the president has refused to make money available.

"The amount we need just to keep going" said one staffer. "It's less than the $100,000 the administration spent on reorganizing the seal for the Department of Transportation."

GUN LOBBY REPRISALS: Eastwood never talked control of the National Rifle Association and as a result the powerful gun lobby has become a loose cannon that is frightening some of the staunchest supporters in Capitol Hill.

The new leadership of the NRA is apparently intimidated by past triumphs of the most prominent of the single-issue lobbying groups. What the association's leaders have done is to insist on tying a longtime NRA goal — weakening of the 1968 Federal Gun Control Act — to the criminal code revision that has been in the works in the Senate for more than a decade.

But the NRA's heavy-handed tactics have alienated its strongest members — the gun owners who have supported the gun laws for years.

The whole criminal code effort could get bogged down if people are in the position of having to vote on (NRA-backed gun control reforms) before the Senate, said Rep. Thomas Luken, R-Ohio, who has received hundreds of dollars in NRA campaign contributions.

In the Senate, where Sen. James McClellan, R-Ill., will offer the NRA's amendments to the criminal code reforms, traditional opponents of gun control are shaking their heads in wonder at the gun association's tactics. They are convinced the NRA never will fail, and concerned that the criminal code revision may be strangled down with the amendment.

"It's easy to understand why (the NRA) is doing it," said one Senate source, who added that he is reconsidering his longtime support for the NRA.

UNDER THE DOME: House Speaker Tip O'Neill's Irish temper flared on the other day, when Rep. Robert Walker, R-Pa., demanded a recorded vote on a Billy Carter matter. Reassignments bounced back and forth, including an O'Neill charge that Walker was guilty of "unethical behavior." Later, O'Neill requested his mother, and just an ordinary boy Walker is supposed to be and argued that the normally unflinching committee be expanded from the record. The two later ratified their peace treaty over a drink.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the Billy Carter subcommittee, has long suspected that Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., also on the subcommittee, is deliberately trying to prolong the hearings to keep Bayh in Washington when he should be spending time back home in Indiana.

Bayh's suspicion that Lugar is out to get him was confirmed when some Bayh staffers went away on a mission of the National Conservative Political Action Committee, which has targeted Bayh for political unpopularity this year. There, in the heart of the country stamp, was — Richard Lugar.

Representative says of railroad bill

Texas consumers came out on top

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Tom Loeffler says San Antonio, Texas, consumers came out on top of "railroad profiteering" when House and Senate negotiators agreed to keep his amendment in the rail deregulation bill.

The provision freezes for seven years, except for inflation, the rate the Burlington Northern Railroad can charge the city's public utility to haul coal from the West. "Consumers won a war against railroad profiteering against a greedy railroad stealing their blind by charging whatever it pleases for coal shipments," Loeffler, a Republican from Hunt, said after the conference committee concluded its work Wednesday without removing the measure.

"My amendment prevailed and the rights of consumers in San Antonio prevailed," he said.

The utility has fought with Burlington Northern since 1973 when it decided to convert from natural gas to coal as a source for electricity.

The rate for hauling coal rose from about $8 a ton to more than $18.

Loeffler, whose vast West Texas district includes a portion of San Antonio, has estimated the freeze will save the utility's customers $45 million in the first seven years.

He said an additional $20-$30 million will be saved in the following next seven years when the provision sets an annual ceiling on the railroad's rate hikes.

A spokesman for Burlington Northern said it remains to be seen whether the railroad would test the provision in court.

"Obviously, we're dissatisfied," spokesman Pete

Briggs said in a telephone interview from St. Paul, Minn. "We think it's targeted at Burlington Northern and that it's unfair."

The San Antonio provision was the last issue preventing a compromise between the House and Senate versions of the railroad deregulation bill, and Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said the only reason he removed his objection was to speed the bill to the floor.

"I am strongly opposed to this provision, since I believe the reasonableness of particular rates should be determined by the (Interstate Commerce) Commission and the courts," Cannon said.

The amendment does not mention San Antonio or Burlington Northern by name but it describes the situation specifically.

Loeffler said Texas senators had helped persuade the Senate negotiators to retain the San Antonio provision.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, called the bill overall "a solid victory" for the state's consumers.

"I fought hard when the bill was in the Senate and when it was in conference to prevent deregulation from becoming a rip-off of Texas consumers who have been hit hard by skyrocketing coal-hauling rates in recent years," he said.

The conference committee's report stays close to the House bill in phasing in a threshold permitting the ICC to review a rail rate for so-called "captive shippers" who must depend on one railroad for transporting their goods.

The report is expected to be signed by conferees by Friday, clearing the way for final approval by the House and Senate early next week.

The threshold retaining ICC review starts at 160 percent of the railroad's "variable costs" — the costs actually required to transport the goods — and rises at 5 percent a year to 175 percent by 1984.

The threshold is designed to strike a balance between giving railroads greater rate flexibility in hopes of improving their economic position and protecting the captive shippers who worried about the potential for price gouging.

Cannon said the emphasis in both the House and Senate had been "the elimination of needless regulation and greater reliance on the marketplace where there is effective competition."

The railroad deregulation bill is the last of three transportation measures supported by the Carter Administration, with airline deregulation approved in 1978 and trucking deregulation signed into law earlier this year.

The rail bill had stalled in the House where a coalition led by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, had succeeded in lowering the originally proposed 200 percent of variable-cost threshold to 160 percent.

The House sponsor, Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., then pulled the bill until the phased-in threshold retained by the conference committee was adopted as a compromise.

Florio said the conference report represented "a fair balance. I very heartily endorse this proposal."

"I think we've got to watch it, though," the Houston congressman said.

Questions still unanswered in missile mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has several questions about last week's Titan II missile explosion in Arkansas, but Air Force Secretary Hans Mark left many unanswered in his testimony before a House committee.

Mark, summoned before a hastily called session of the House Armed Services Committee, was asked:

—Why wasn't there enough water to flood the silo when fuel fumes began escaping from the rocket?

—Why was there no safety net in the silo to catch objects such as the wrench socket that was dropped? The tool punctured the missile's skin, allowing the fuel fumes to escape and ultimately leading to the explosion.

—Why did the Martin Marietta Co., which built the missile, advise the Strategic Air Command to overrule the on-site team, which wanted to vent the fumes into the atmosphere in an attempt to halt the danger of explosion?

Mark had no answers for those questions Wednesday. Nor would he, the Air Force secretary said, until the service finishes its investigation of the explosion near Damascus, Ark., which killed one man and injured 21 others. The nuclear warhead was apparently blown off the missile but was recovered undamaged.

He said the Titans are needed more now than when they were first deployed in 1963 because "the strategic balance (with the Soviet Union) is not nearly as much in our favor as it was then."

There are 84 Titan II sites in Arizona, Kansas and Arkansas, and each missile can carry a nuclear bomb about 1,000 times as powerful as the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima, Japan.

The Titan was designed primarily as a threat to Soviet cities. Recently, the United States has developed the more accurate Minuteman missile, designed to knock out the enemy's nuclear defenses.

Adapolicy, Mark refused to say publicly whether the Titan's warhead was in danger of detonating or leaking radiation. He said he would discuss the nuclear device only in private with members of Congress.

At El Paso factory rally

Reagan gets mixed reviews

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Ronald Reagan reached back in time 55 years to find a common bond with a group of mostly Mexican-American women garment workers here who are paid by the hour to make pants, shirts and suits.

"I think I know something about working," the 69-year-old Republican presidential candidate said Wednesday. "I started at 14 years of age as I'm sure many of you did also."

He also told 1,600 workers at the Farah clothes factory in Texas' largest border city that his ancestors were immigrants from Ireland and said they should be proud of their Hispanic origins.

But the candidate with Irish roots who worked as a boy did not go beyond that to establish links with his audience. He called for a closer relationship with Mexico and repeated his demand for a balanced budget and reduced unemployment, inflation and government waste.

Reagan's remarks received polite applause but mixed reviews afterward at this factory where workers won a bitter two-year fight for union representation in 1974 after a strike and a national boycott against Farah clothes.

"I just don't think he knows what he's saying, that's all. I go for Carter — I think he's had experience and he's doing the best that he can," said Patricia Revels, 28.

Margarette Unsell said she was disappointed that Reagan did not take questions from the audience. "I would have liked to ask him how he's going to solve the inflation problem," she said.

But Edna Gutierrez, 41, one of half a dozen employees sitting at a table where Reagan had a "coffee break" after his address, said the Republican has a lot of votes among the workers, including hers.

"I walk around and listen a lot, and according to what I've heard, he's got a lot of votes here," she said.

Esperanza Lang, 42, who earns $3.96 an hour, said she had always voted Democratic in the past, "but after today I think I'm going to vote for Reagan. He is a very nice person and I liked what he said."

Willie Farah, chief executive officer of the clothes company, drew the loudest cheer of the afternoon when he told the lunchroom crowd at 4 p.m. that they were free to go home "and the whole day will be paid."

Earlier, more than 1,000 enthusiastic supporters carrying signs that read "Reagan St. Carter No.," and "Nuts to Carter" waited a hot West Texas sun to greet Reagan when he arrived at the airport more than an hour late with Texas Gov. Bill Clements.

Dorothy Puckel, 57, of El Paso, grabbed Reagan's hand and shouted, "We want you in the White House — get that peanut out of there."

Earlier in Tyler, Reagan said that when he gets to the White House, he wants to take some Tyler roses for the Rose Garden.

It was no surprise his half-jesting remark drew rousing applause from the large, sweltering and strongly pro-Reagan audience that gathered to hear the candidate in the East Texas city where rose bushes line the highways and are one of the city's biggest industries.

His Tyler appearance included a stroll with Gov. Bill Clements and former Gov. John Connally through the livestock judging barns and a speech at the hall on the East Texas State Fair Grounds.

Later Reagan strolled through the fairground crowds and stopped to make a time-honored campaign gesture — kissing 4-month-old Angelina Thompson on the cheek.

Plan to reduce insurance rate mixed by judge

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Insurance Board's plan to cut Texans' credit life insurance rates by 14 percent on Oct. 1 has been dashed by a state district judge.

State District Judge Jim Dear said the board failed to follow correct procedure in ordering the rate cut.

The board said it would appeal to the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals in Austin.

The credit life insurance rate cut would have saved Texans an estimated $20 million to $40 million over the next three years.

Dear said the board violated the Administrative Procedure Act in its hearings in March because it did not allow insurers and others enough freedom to cross-examine witnesses.

Dear said the board should have conducted the hearings as a "contested case," allowing insurers and others greater freedom to cross-examine witnesses.

He also said the board lacked authority to regulate credit insurance commissions.

Credit life insurance pays a debt, such as an automobile loan, if the borrower dies.

Dear said insurers pay excessive commissions to auto dealers and others who double as credit life agents but the board lacks authority to reduce them.

The board, concerned that high commissions might push some insurers into insolvency, had imposed a 30 percent limit. Some insurance companies, competing for business, had offered as much as 55 percent.

Dear cited testimony that William Deffebach, an officer in a Houston auto dealership and a plaintiff in the case, makes $22,300 a month in credit insurance commissions.

"It just makes me mad... There is absolutely no excuse for that," he said.

Deffebach testified the new board order would cut his commission by over $9,000 a month.

"I fully appreciate the State Insurance Board's attempt to regulate this problem, but they are a creature of statute and stepped beyond the statute. I think this definitely is a matter the Legislature needs to look at this coming session," Dear said.

Joining Deffebach in the suit to block the new limitations on credit insurance rates and commissions was the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

Susan needs your prayers

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Thank you so very much for sharing our daughter Susan's leukemia condition with your readers. You have been more of a help than you will ever realize.

I wish that I had good news to report to your readers but I don't. Susan's doctor has only given her a 10 percent to 20 percent chance of recovery. We were told that unless a miracle occurs that Susan's condition is terminal and she has between 30 and 60 days to live.

Dr. Wallace, you have been a true friend by reporting Susan's condition to your readers every time we asked. It has been the love and prayers of your teen readers that have kept Susan alive this long.

May I once again impose upon you to reach out to your reading audience to again pray for Susan. Please ask them to get on their knees now as time is short. Please have all of your readers ask their pastors, priests, rabbis or religious leader to call their flocks to prayer. I believe that God is our miracle.

My last request is for a blood donation as Susan is in need of blood replacement. Any donor can go to any American Association of Blood Banks and donate any type blood to Susan Temple, care of Sacramento Medical Foundation Blood Bank, 3142 "J" St., Sacramento, Calif. 95816. Thank you. You have our deepest respect. — Luther Temple, Lodi, Calif.

Dr. Wallace: When I was 17, I became pregnant and married the father. Our relationship didn't work because of his lack of responsibility. He was heavily into drugs and alcohol. After three months together we separated and recently we divorced.

Since our separation, he has not given me one penny to help support our beautiful daughter. Last week he called and asked for my love and that he wants our baby and me back with him. I do love him very much but I don't feel that he has changed. Please tell me what I should do. — Theresa, Alliance, Ohio

Theresa: Don't you dare go back to him just because he wants you. Make him prove it regardless of how long it takes. First he must shake his drug and alcohol habit and then he must have a responsible job.

If he is sincere in wanting his family back, he will do these necessities.

If you have been searching for one or a pair of Wing Chairs, you should find just the ones in our stock.

Fifteen rigs attend September campout

The Western Drifters Camping Club met Tuesday, in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room, for their monthly business meeting and potluck supper. Thirty-five members attended.

Evelyn Vigar, president, was honored on her birthday. A report of the September campout held Sept. 19-21 in Colorado City was given. Fifteen rigs attended. Visitors were The Buck Musgroves of Big Spring and The Dewitt Triplets of Odessa. The Chuck Condrays are new members of the club.

A letter of invitation from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center was read for Open House Oct. 5.

A note of appreciation was read from the Kentwood Older Adult Center, for the donation made by the club in memory of Marshall Brown.

The group voted to make packets for wheelchairs and 90 aprons for use at Mount View Lodge. All ladies with portable sewing machines and good scraps of double knit material are asked to bring them to the October meeting.

It was decided to try for a week's camping in Cloudcroft next summer. Brown will be in charge of securing reservations.

The October campout site was changed to Water Valley. The small house has been reserved for the weekend of Oct. 17-19.

The group will participate in the Good Sam Booth at the RV Show to be held in January in Odessa.

Officers for 1981 were elected from nominations submitted by the committee headed by Buddy Marshall. They are Evelyn Vigar, president; Milton Brown, vice president; Sandy Wright, secretary-treasurer; Marie Nichols, publicity; Buddy Marshall, wagonmaster; Pollyanna Brown, personal service chairman.

The hosts for the November campout were advised that the club would purchase the turkeys for the Thanksgiving Dinner, to be Nov. 22 in Water Valley.

Oasis Club meets

The Oasis Garden Club met recently for their first fall meeting at Herman's Steak House. Mrs. H.T. Hansen called the meeting to order. The club collect was repeated in unison. Members were reminded to have lists of all plantings completed at the next meeting for the horticulture report.

Everyone was asked to make suggestions for 1981 study programs.

Upcoming events to remember were announced, including South Plains Fair, Lubbock, Sept. 20-27; Southern Zone Meeting, Kermit, Nov. 13; and Fall State Convention, Amarillo, Oct. 28-30.

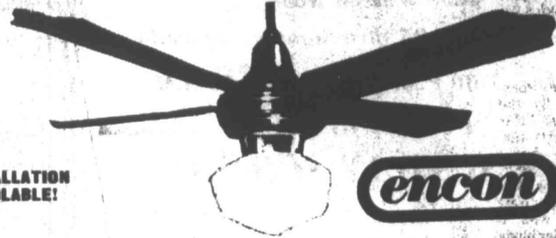

The group will meet again Oct. 15 at the home of Mrs. Hansen, 621 Tulane.

Enjoy bountiful fall favorites

To celebrate the arrival of autumn, gather family and friends to enjoy the fabulous foods of a Porkfest celebration. This table festival pays tribute to the season's harvest with a bountiful spread that traditionally includes a succulent pork entrée accompanied by other fall favorites.

Since the American Porkfest was inspired by the German "Oktoberfest," it is fitting to adopt hearty and wholesome Old World specialties for the fest. Famous German sauerbraten becomes Porkfest fare when made with a luscious pork shoulder blade. Dishes such as sauerbraten, pot roast, braised pork, and other traditional favorites are made with cooked and mashed navy or great northern beans.

HEARTY RIBS AND BEAN BAKE — Pictured above is a tempting meal of ribs and beans with tossed salad and apples to please jaded summer palates.

For a perfect accompaniment to the pork and pancakes, serve a loaf of Onion Dark Rye Bread. The distinct onion flavor of this marvelous homemade bread is easily achieved with onion soup mix.

To keep interest high in economy meals throughout the fall, plan to team pork with beans in other nutritious and budget-stretching menus. Hearty Ribs and Bean Bake features meaty country style ribs cooked with a savory combination of great northern beans, red kidney beans, celery slices and pepper strips that are expertly flavored with easy-to-use onion soup mix. For another satisfying menu, serve broiled or braised pork chops with an unusual side dish — Bean and Cabbage Salad, a tangy combination of canned beans and cabbage, garnished with pieces of crisp bacon.

Insurance companies should cover cure for alcoholism

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — It is expensive to cure alcoholism, but insurance companies are foolish not to cover it automatically in hospitalization policies, says the doctor who treated Betty Ford and Billy Carter.

Dr. Joseph Pursch, former head of the Navy's Alcohol Rehabilitation Service in Long Beach, Calif., joined State Insurance Board Chairman Bill Daves at a news conference Monday.

Daves heads the National Association of Insurance Commissioners task force on alcoholism, and Pursch is on its advisory committee.

Pursch said unless insurance pays the bill, many alcoholics won't seek treatment for their drinking problem because a two-week round of detoxification and counseling costs $2,000 to

$4,000. Meanwhile, he said, the cost of treating complications of alcoholism — which insurance does cover — "borders on the astronomical."

He told of an alcoholic who spent 425 days in hospitals between 1964 and 1973 for such things as ulcers and broken bones before he finally sought help for his drinking problem.

Why are insurance companies slow to build alcoholism coverage into their policies?

"They share with all of us the stigma of this illness and would just as soon not get involved too deeply in looking at it," Pursch said.

Daves said that while he is not ready for the board to require all individual policies to cover alcoholism, he feels corporations should insist on the coverage when they buy group policies for their employees. He said drinking alcoholics are in the hospital seven times more than recovered alcoholics.

Pursch was asked for his definition of an alcoholic, and he replied, "Anyone whose drinking has begun to seriously affect one or more important areas of his life." He listed those areas as family, friends, financial, legal, health and jobs.

He said the best form of treatment is group counseling — generally, but not always, in a hospital setting. Psychiatric treatment and the use of medication are unsatisfactory approaches, he said.

He said he advises his "VIP" patients such as Mrs. Ford, Carter, Herman Talmadge or astronaut Buzz Aldrin to tell the public when they seek treatment for alcoholism.

Dear Abby

Deathbed Promise: Take With Grain of Aspirin

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister died a few years back after a lengthy illness. Her husband (I'll call him Ed) promised her on her deathbed that he would never marry again.

Our close-knit group always paired Ed off with a widow in our group, and we still feel that she was sufficient company for him. Lately we've heard that Ed has been seeing another widow. In fact, she hadn't been a widow very long when their friendship began. We are all very upset because we heard that she is the type who won't let go until she marries him. That wouldn't be fair to the memory of his dear, departed wife, nor to his relatives and close friends. What should we say to Ed about this?

MIDWEST HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: Don't say anything. Most deathbed promises are made under severe emotional stress, and should be taken with a grain of aspirin. The memory of Ed's dear, departed wife will in no way be desecrated should Ed find happiness in another marriage. And those who truly love him will rejoice.

...

DEAR ABBY: I started to go to a new young dentist who shares an office with another dentist. I am pleased with his work, but here's the problem.

The first time I was in the dentist's chair, the other dentist came in a couple of times and started a conversation with my dentist that had nothing to do with dentistry. The next time I was in the chair, this other dentist was not working, but he came in attired in tennis shorts and had his young son with him, and they both made small talk with my dentist while he was working on me.

But yesterday was very upsetting when the other dentist and his wife, both (in shorts) came in, and the wife carried on a long conversation in a very loud voice with the dental assistant who was helping my dentist.

Abby, when I am in the dentist's chair, I think I deserve my dentist's total attention as well as complete privacy.

Am I expecting too much? And how should this be handled? No names please, as this is a small town and we are in business.

UNHAPPY PATIENT

DEAR PATIENT: You are not expecting too much. It would be a kindness to tell this young, inexperienced dentist that you resent the intrusions and lack of privacy. If he's wise, he'll be grateful for the criticism and do something about it. If not, find a dentist who runs a more professional office.

...

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby's Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Women need potassium

Eating potassium-rich foods can prevent premenstrual ills such as weakness, tiredness, backaches, constipation and nervousness that are caused by a loss of potassium from a woman's body.

According to a current Family Circle magazine feature, "Natural Remedies For Women's Problems," about 40 percent of all women "dump" potassium because of hormonal changes ten to twelve days before their menstrual periods. The article advises against taking potassium pills, which can be very irritating to the stomach lining. Instead, eat goodly amounts of foods with a high potassium content.

Foods rich in potassium include: wheat germ, wheat bran and blackstrap molasses, bananas, green leafy vegetables (like beet tops, parsley, spinach and turnip greens), asparagus, raw and dried fruits, nuts, whole grains, meats—especially veal and liver, fish and fowl. Don't worry about getting too much potassium from these foods; the body harmlessly excretes what it doesn't need. Women past their child-bearing years need potassium too, says Family Circle. According to the article, sixty percent of women over age 60 are low in this element.

Shower honors Stewards

A shower honoring Mrs. Mike Steward and baby daughter, Jana Michelle, was given recently in the Texas Electric Service Company Reddy Room.

Hostesses were Shirley Ryals, Wanda Phipps, Claudia Stabeno, Cheryl Owen, Debra Wheat, Pennie Dean, Cathy Caudill, and Saurira Killough.

Cookies and punch were served from a table covered with white cloth. The centerpiece was a basket of pink carnations decorated with pink bows and a gray and pink elephant.

Mrs. Steward was presented a corsage.

It's a girl, 108 years later

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Kristia Michelle Reckart is the first girl born in the Reckart family in 108 years.

Kristia's great-great-grandparents had seven boys and two girls. The girls, born in 1865 and 1872, both died in 1879. There hasn't been a girl born in the family since, the family said.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Reckart of Monroe are Kristia Michelle's parents. She was born Tuesday at a Middletown hospital.

Dislike the candidates?

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Looking for something to read to prepare for the presidential debates and election? Try science fiction.

Susan Dobra, a University of Alabama English instructor, thinks sci-fi "will make you more tolerant of views you disagree with — political, social and moral."

"Science fiction allows us to step back and look at our national situation, indeed the world situation, from someone else's perspective," she said. "It is often a very distant perspective. This is a very good way to look at the situation on the eve of a major election."

And Ms. Dobra said those who don't plan to vote because no candidate excites them especially need to read science fiction.

Hubby for hire

BELMONT, N.C. (AP) — Larry Hinson has training in three jobs: working in a machine shop, typing medical records and being a husband.

But Hinson, 33, couldn't find work in his first two specialties when he moved back to Belmont last month after six years in New Orleans.

So, he advertised in Monday's Gastonia Gazette — "Surrogate husband for hire."

The advertisement listed Hinson's husbandly skills as chores, cleaning house, washing dishes, doing yardwork, taking the car for repairs, babysitting, shopping and petting dogs and cats.

His price: $10 per hour. But by Tuesday, he had no firm takers.

Alaskans to share the wealth

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The state of Alaska, overruled in its first attempt to share oil profits with its residents, is mailing out $185 million in tax refunds authorized by a new law that also repeals the state income tax.

Gov. Jay Hammond signed the bill Wednesday, just hours after the state Legislature met in special session to pass the measure, which replaced a similar law struck down by the state Supreme Court a few weeks ago.

While the first version would have abolished the income tax for residents who had filed returns for three years, the new law eliminates the tax for everyone. It also refunds 1979 and 1980 income tax payments, with the average 1979 refund estimated at $211.

Hammond said he was sorry that court action had delayed refunding some of the billions of dollars in oil money — profits from exploration of the rich oilfields in the Prudhoe Bay — that have been glutting the state treasury.

"After all, the oil wealth belongs to the citizens of the state, not to the government," Hammond said.

State Revenue Commissioner Tom Williams said 90,000 refunds would be in the mail by Friday. An additional 40,000 were being processed.

"We'll work all evening and past midnight to get them out," he said. "It's just going to matter how good your mail carrier is."

Acting on a complaint by an Anchorage couple who arrived in the state in 1978, the state Supreme Court said the first law was unconstitutional because it discriminated against short-term residents and newcomers. The law called for a taxpayer's liability to be reduced by one-third for each year he filed a tax return. That meant three-year filers would be exempt from paying any tax.

The court decision prompted Hammond to order the Legislature into a special session to come up with a new tax relief plan. The income tax had been on the books for 31 years.

Only one of the state's 60 lawmakers voted against tax repeal — the lame-duck president of the Senate, Republican Clem Tillion.

"I do not approve of outright appeal," he said. "That's the tax I resent the least... If I have a bad year, I don't have to pay as much."

The plan called for the state to make a one-time-only cash payment of $500 to every Alaskan over age 18.

Record earnings reported by State Treasurer Harding

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding has announced that the State of Texas is enjoying record interest earnings from the money management policies of his office and that these policies have a direct bearing toward reducing the amount of revenue that would otherwise need to be derived from taxation.

Statistics of the office reflect that for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1980, interest earned on State funds amounted to a historical high of $225,229,611.39, which is an increase of $47,310,115.75 or an increase of 26.6 percent over the previous year's earnings. Interest income earned by the State of Texas is among the highest of the larger states.

Prudent and timely money management and investment policies have enabled Mr. Harding to consistently improve upon the amount of State funds that are placed in interest earning accounts. For the month of August, 1980 an all-time high daily average of 98.1 percent of the State's operating funds were invested and earning interest for the people of this state.

Frequent meetings of the Depository Board has enabled his office to stay abreast of the fluctuating money market. Due to the changing money market a called meeting of the State's Depository Board, of which Mr. Harding is Chairman, raised the depository interest rate from 8 percent to 10 percent on Sept. 16, 1980.

Actors near compromise in strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Negotiators for striking television and film actors reached a tentative contract agreement with producers early today, a union spokeswoman said.

If ratified, the agreement would end the strike by some 67,000 actors that began July 21 and which has virtually shut down the industry and delayed the start of the new fall television season.

The tentative agreement on a three-year contract came early this morning after a bargaining session of nearly 19 hours, said Screen Actors Guild spokeswoman Kim Fellner.

"At 5 a.m. (PDT) a tentative agreement was reached between the actors and the producers and that followed a final 18½-hour bargaining session," said the producers' spokesman Phil Myers.

"The SAG and AFTRA (American Federation of Television and Radio Artists) boards will meet starting this weekend to approve it," he said. "After that, there will be a ratification process by both of those groups. And each board will decide when the actors can go back to work pending ratification."

"So in terms of when the producers go back into production, we would have to wait and see what their decision is."

However, Ms. Fellner said the unions could send the actors back to work pending ratification.

The contract includes a 15 percent increase in minimum salaries for the first 18 months, and 15 percent for the second 18 months, for a compounded increase of 32.25 percent over the life of the contract, Myers said. Actors currently earn a minimum of $235 a day or $785 a week.

Water revenues, costs increase

Through August the Colorado River Municipal Water District was tracking budget estimates very closely. Revenues of $5,347,336 for the first eight months were $165,000 over budget projections, thanks to heavy summer use of water by cities. Total expenditures of $2,774,823 for the period, or about $92,000 over estimates.

One reason for expenses stepping up was the heavy pumping to meet summer demands and the resultant increase in electric energy costs. For the eight months this amounted to $1,595,698 compared to $1,574,770 for the same time the previous year.

Water sales for the eight-month period amounted to 11,892,569,600 gallons. Of this 5,809,317,800 came from Lake E.V. Spence and 1,840,265,000 from Lake J.B. Thomas. The balance came from district and city wells.

SUPERMAN (EARL CAMPBELL) AND HOLLYWOOD (THOMAS HENDERSON) have a light discussion during the Houston Oilers workout yesterday.

But Houston teammates give mouth fair warning Hollywood signs with Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have given Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson a chance to prove himself, but his new teammates say the controversial linebacker must abandon his sideline antics and play football.

"If he'll keep his mouth shut and play football, then he's got a lot to offer. I'll be the first to welcome him if he plays with his body and not his mouth," said tight end Mike Barber.

"But as soon as he causes any problems, I'll be the first to jump in his face. The one thing we don't need are any quote-unquote Hollywoods on our team," Barber said.

Henderson, 27, signed a contract with the National Football League team Wednesday, reportedly for less than the $125,000 annual salary plus incentive stipulated in his contract with the San Francisco 49ers.

Henderson, dubbed "Holiday" Henderson and "Hospital" Henderson by the California media, was waived last week by the 49ers after club officials said he had missed 25 practices and failed to learn the system as they thought he should have.

The 49ers acquired the outspoken six-year NFL veteran from the Dallas Cowboys, who took him off their roster last season for being a disruptive factor.

Henderson became a free agent Monday and said he wanted to play for the Oilers. Coach Bum Phillips agreed to sign Henderson after offensive guard Conway Hayman was placed on injured reserve. Hayman, a eight-year veteran, suffered a ruptured disc in his back and will be sidelined at least four weeks, said a team spokesman. "He didn't try to put any square pegs in round holes. He said he has had a lot of ball players come through that have reformed and he would give a player a chance as long as he could produce," Henderson said.

Like Barber, other teammates said they would accept Henderson but not his flamboyant reputation. "He's got a reputation for being a finesse player, but in this league (the AFC Central) you have to take it to them. You have to be a hitter and you can't be a hitter with your mouth," linebacker Art Stringer said.

"He's been selling himself as a commodity. We want a football player," Stringer said.

Phillips promised his team Henderson would be made aware of the Oilers' restrictions, including criticism of opponents — a Henderson specialty.

"We have a lot of people who had problems elsewhere. What you do now is what counts. What you used to do or somebody says you did doesn't matter. That's the only way you can have a guy on your team — without reservations," the coach said.

"He'll get the same opportunity everybody else gets — and that's the chance to mess up occasionally and still be forgiven," Phillips said.

Alborn sees problems in SWC

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice Coach Ray Alborn says the Owls may occupy the Southwest Conference cellar but other league teams apparently are plagued by similar problems.

of the jumbled conference standings, sharing the cellar with Texas Christian and defending SWC champion Houston.

"We haven't played a Southwest Conference game yet, but it's apparent there are problems in the league. It's a worse mess than we thought it would be," Alborn said.

Rice has beaten LSU only once since 1966, but Alborn says he's optimistic about the Owls' chances.

Rose breaks slump with winner Dodgers regain share in West

By the Associated Press
The end of an 0-for-15 slump by Pete Rose had the Philadelphia Phillies smelling like a rose Wednesday night.

Rose, in what he said was his worst slump since he was 0-for-22 four years ago in Cincinnati, bounced a single up the middle in the bottom of the 10th inning to give the Phillies a 1-0 victory over the New York Mets. The victory kept Philadelphia only one-half game behind the first-place Montreal Expos in the National League East.

In other NL games, the Expos stopped the Chicago Cubs 8-4, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 6-3, Cincinnati outlasted San Diego 7-6 in 10 innings and Atlanta defeated Houston 4-2 to drop the Astros back into a tie for first in the West with Los Angeles, which beat San Francisco 5-4 in 12 1/2 innings.

Although New York has the second-worst record in the league, Rose said he would rather be playing the Expos or Pirates than a team like the Mets.

"I don't like to play non-contenders this time of year," he said. "They're loose, they're experimenting. I'd rather play teams battling for the championship."

Rose's game-winning hit came after pinch hitter Del Unser singled to open the 10th and pinch runner Jay Loviglio went to second on pinch hitter Tim McCarver's sacrifice.

Dodgers 5, Giants 4
Manny Mota, the all-time leading pinch hitter in the majors, collected his 149th pinch-hit, a single with two out in the 12th inning, to break a 4-4 tie after San Francisco appeared on the verge of getting out of a bases-loaded, no-out jam.

After Bobby Mitchell flied out to short left for the first out, Dusty Baker was caught off third on Mota's missed squeeze bunt. But Mota singled home Steve Garvey to win the game.

Expos 8, Cubs 4
Andre Dawson, Gary Carter and Larry Parrish combined for 10 hits and five RBI as Montreal maintained its half-game lead in the East.

Carter drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and Parrish had four hits and drove in two runs in support of Charlie Lea, 6-3, who got the victory although he was knocked out in the sixth inning after Jerry Martin's two-run homer. Stan Bahnsen pitched the last 3 2/3rd innings without allowing a run.

Pirates 6, Cardinals 3
Pitcher Rick Rhoden and Omar Moreno both drove in two runs in the sixth and fourth-inning that let Pittsburgh keep pace in the East with a victory over St. Louis.

The triumph kept the third-place Pirates four games behind the first-place Expos.

Rhoden, 7-5, who pitched six innings and got relief help the last three from Grant Jackson, singled with the bases loaded in the fourth and Moreno followed with a triple.

Reds 7, Padres 6

Dave Concepcion went 0-for-4, but he knocked in three runs, including the game-winning sacrifice fly, in the 10th inning as Cincinnati closed to within 2 1/2 games of the lead in the West.

Ken Griffey tripled with one out in the 10th off reliever Rollie Fingers, 10-9, for his third extra-base hit of the game. Concepcion followed with his fly to Gene Richards in shallow left field.

Cincinnati took 6-5 and 5-2 leads late in the game, but a three-run homer by Gene Tenace and a passed ball and wild throw by Reds catcher Vic Correll let the Padres tie the score both times.

Astros credit Braves, not pennant pressure

ATLANTA (AP) — It's not the pressure of a tight pennant race, just the sight of the Atlanta Braves that give the Houston Astros fits, says catcher Alan Ashby whose two-run homer was not enough to overcome Atlanta in a 4-2 Wednesday night.

"We lost a big ball game but I don't think it's the pressure, we just got beat," said Ashby, who cracked three hits, including his third home run of the season to gain a fourth-inning tie at 2-2.

Pinch-hitter Biff Pocoroba, however, drilled a two-out, two-run sixth-inning double off loser Joaquin Andujar, 3-7, and reliever Rick Camp came on for a club record 74th appearance. Camp recorded his 20th save with 1 2/3 innings of hitless ball to protect the victory for Doyle Alexander, 14-9.

The loss cost the Astros as Los Angeles beat San Francisco 5-4 in 12 innings to move into a tie for the National League West lead.

"It has been tough on us here, we just haven't played well in this ball park," said Ashby after the Astros dropped their sixth game in eight decisions in Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium.

"The Braves hit us well and seem to do everything well against us," he said. "I still feel we are the best team in the West and will win the division but, frankly, the Braves have been as tough on us as anybody."

The Braves have been tough on everyone during the last seven weeks, owning the best record in baseball during that span with a 32-14 mark. They are still mathematically in the pennant race, seven games behind Houston and Los Angeles with 10 games remaining.

Houston Manager Bill Virdon, however, wasn't unduly concerned with the loss.

"It's always better to win but I can't be concerned. The Braves always give us trouble here. They play well at home. They've been getting solid pitching and Camp has been doing the job," he said.

Orioles success doesn't help

By the Associated Press
The bench, merely a hard place to sit for some teams, has been a springboard to success for the Yankees. And it's as good a reason as any why the Baltimore Orioles, 17-7 in September, have still lost 3 1/2 games in the standings to New York this month.

"It's like going with rifles against bazookas," said Cleveland Manager Dave Garcia in deference to the Yankee's depth. "That's a tough job to win a battle like that."

The Yankees beat the Indians 7-3 Wednesday night for their fourth consecutive victory and 20th in 23 games this month. The second-place Orioles kept pace with a 12-9 come-from-behind victory over Boston, but time is running out for last year's American League champions.

The Yankees are five games up and their magic number is six (any combination of New York wins and Baltimore losses will clinch the Yanks' fourth division title). Both clubs have 10 games left.

In other AL games, George Brett went 0-for-3 as his average dropped to .389 and his Kansas City Royals lost to Seattle 4-2; Minnesota beat Texas 9-5; Oakland downed the Chicago White Sox 7-1; Mark Fidrych failed in another start but Detroit still rallied to edge Toronto 9-8 in 10 innings, and Milwaukee's Lary Sorensen blanked California 6-0.

The strong bench keyed Tuesday night's ninth-inning rally when pinch hitter Eric Soderholm smacked a two-out, two-run single for a 5-4 victory. Then on Wednesday night, Bob Watson, the right-handed half of the two-headed first base platoon with Jim Spencer, delivered the game-winning hit.

Orioles 12, Red Sox 9
The Orioles rallied from a 7-1 deficit to stay within five games of the Yankees. "There's no letting up," said Doug DeCinces. "Each loss takes its toll. We'd rather have them win it than us lose it. We want to finish the season winning every game."

Twins 5, Rangers 5
The Twins downed Texas for their sixth straight victory, moving to within one-half game of third-place Texas in the AL West.

Aggies suspend trio for drugs

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — One of three Texas A&M football players kicked off the squad because drugs were found in his room says the pills were prescribed by the team physician for a minor heart disturbance he experienced during the summer.

"They took the wrong action against me. They can tell the pills had the doctor's name on it," said sophomore defensive back Darrell Adams of Houston.

Adams, junior linebacker Cal Peveto of Vidor, Texas, and senior defensive back Elroy Steen, a defensive captain, were booted from the team by head coach Tom Wilson for "disciplinary violations."

Peveto and Adams claimed in today's editions of the Beaumont Enterprise and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that the suspensions were "a bum rap" and that the three players were being made the scapegoats for Texas A&M's poor start this season.

After beating Mississippi 23-20, the Aggies dropped successive 42-0 and 35-9 decisions to Georgia and Penn State.

Adams told Star-Telegram sports writer Jim Carley the rooms of five players, including the three who were suspended, were searched Tuesday after a team

Area teams experienced a variety of success and disappointments during the past weekend's games, but there were numerous players that distinguished themselves with winning performances.

Big Spring, after opening the season with two straight wins, met a fired up Levelland team celebrating their Homecoming and absorbed a 15-8 loss. But two players that distinguished themselves honorably included sophomore linebacker DANNY STEPHENS and running back RICHARD EVANS.

Stephens was the leading tackler for the Steer defense, and the 180-pound rookie was a pleasing sight for Big Spring Coach Ralph Harris. "He was probably the only one on defense that really performed well," noted Harris. "Without Danny out there, the score might have been a lot worse."

Evans, a junior, ran well despite limited holes, gaining 104 yards on only 12 carries, and picking up much of the yardage in the Big Spring scoring drive. Evans also ran for the extra two-point conversion early in the final stanza that gave the Steers an momentary 8-7 lead.

The Stanton Buffaloes continued their unbeaten ways over Crane with a couple of outstanding performances from senior defensive end JIM SMITH and junior running back KEVIN NEWMAN.

Smith had a dream day on defense, collecting nine tackles, but more impressively, forcing two fumbles and having three quarterback sacks. Of the QB sacks, two were for safeties which resulted in four points in the 24-0 win.

Newman, who also plays safety for the Buffs, ground out 104 yards on 25 carries to help rest the rugged Buff defense. He also scored the final Stanton touchdown on a four-yard run.

The Klondike Cougars rallied for a 20-14 win over Greenwood, and a very big reason was the play of converted quarterback MIKE ARISMENDEZ. Making his first start as the Klondike QB, Arismendez directed his team from a 14-point deficit in guiding the Cougars to 435 yards total offense.

Arismendez completed seven of 15 passes for 122 yards in the game for two touchdowns. Also drawing praise of Klondike Coach Mickey Finley was the play of LONNIE FERGUSON, who rushed for 150 yards, and lineman MIKE BARTOWSKI.

The Sands Mustangs rallied for a 14-14 tie with Throckmorton in the final minutes, and the receiving duo of DENNIS MARTIN and ALDEN FRANCO were big reasons.

Martin, a senior, had five receptions for 67 yards and the first Sands touchdown, while Franco, a sophomore, caught only one pass, but it was the tying touchdown.

"Franco came off the bench in the clutch and made a good catch for the score," said Sands Coach Jim White.

The Forsan Buffaloes dropped a disappointing 20-6 decision to Robert Lee, but one player who once again came through was halfback-linebacker PRESTON DANIELS. Daniels, a junior, graded out with a 91 on offense, tops for the Buffs, and also had 13 tackles defensively.

"He does a consistent job every game," said Forsan Coach Ronny Taylor. "Besides playing both ways, he also plays on all of the specialty teams and never complains."

Taylor also mentioned the good performance of end DAVID HARRELL.

The Coahoma Bulldogs absorbed their worst loss in the past few years last week in a game to Tahoka, dropping a 43-0 contest.

But there were a couple of bright spots for the Bulldogs, most noticeably in the form of middle linebacker DERRELL DOUGLASS and quarterback PHILIP RITCHEY. Douglass, in his first game at the defensive position after starting at end the past two years, was the Bulldogs leading tackler.

Ritchey, meanwhile, gave the Coahoma team most of offense, passing 152 of the Bulldogs' 74 yards total offense, passing 152 of the Bulldogs' 74 yards total offense. Dropped passes nixed more aerial yardage, too.

Grady had its perfect season stopped in a 55-22 loss to Dawson, but ALFONSO CORTEZ, a senior, once again played good football.

Cortez, who plays quarterback offensively and middle linebacker defensively for the six-man team, rushed 96 yards on only six carries offensively for one touchdown, which was on a 66-yard jaunt. Defensively, Cortez was the Wildcats' leading tackler with 16 stops.

After two straight losses, the Garden City Bearcats relied on a stingy defense to hold on for a 0-0 tie with Loraine, and the biggest defender of them all was nose guard DUANE HIRT.

Hirt was in on 20 tackles in the contest to pace the Bearcats, who Coach Stu Cooper praised. "Duane played real well," the Garden City mentor stated. "As a whole, we played super defense, the best we've played all year."

Suspended trio contend they're being used as scapegoats for losses

meeting Monday night in which Wilson warned that drug use "would not be tolerated."
In the meeting, Adams said, Wilson told the team he was aware that certain players were using drugs and would be caught soon.
Adams said Peveto told him a dorm manager had found a single "black molly," a potent amphetamine, in Peveto's room.
"Cal said he was going to use it going home next weekend because he had a four-hour drive to make," Adams said.
Dr. H. Dwayne Lagan, Texas A&M's team physician, confirmed to the Star-Telegram that he had prescribed heart medicine and nerve pills for Adams during the summer. Lagan told the newspaper he is certain neither drug was harmful or illegal.

He assured he had never and would never prescribe any amphetamines, such as the black molly reportedly found in Peveto's room.
Dr. Lagan said Adams had experienced "heart palpitations" earlier this summer.
Adams apparently is also accused of possessing some marijuana "roach clips."
"What they called roach clips were just some things I got out of workshop class. I'm an industrial education major," he said.

Adams claims he has never smoked marijuana.
After practice Tuesday, Adams said, he and Steen went to Steen's car and found university police preparing to tow the vehicle for outstanding parking tickets.
Steen paid $10 for a tow truck fee to avoid the car's removal, but after he paid, police searched him and told him they had found several "doobies" (joints of marijuana) in his car and that marijuana leaves had been found in the 8-track tape case, also in the car, Adams said.
"They handcuffed Elroy then and took him down to the police station. But when he got there, Elroy said he asked them to show him some evidence and they didn't have none, so they had to let him go."

Wilson called in all three players separately to tell them they were suspended, Adams said Wednesday night. "I didn't know I was checked until 12:30 this afternoon. They said they had checked five players rooms — mine, Peveto's, Elroy's and (two others) — and found drugs in our three rooms."
"I told Coach Wilson I'm not on dope, but he said I was. I said I wasn't on nothing, but he wouldn't listen. I just want to get this cleared up and get back on the team," he said.

Stenholm's warning ignored in House

Under the new program, farmers can be protected for up to 85 percent of crop losses. The plan calls for the federal government to pay 30 percent of the insurance premiums, with farmers paying the rest.

The present insurance system allows the government to reimburse a farmer for no more than one-third of his expected yield.

Also, the new program will cover the loss of 26 crops. Under the current system, only six crops are covered.

Hance said he objected to the new system mainly because it will be more costly.

Stenholm told House members that we could have had a better program to meet the needs of our farmers.

Stenholm said the program would be better administered on a local basis through the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service outlets in each county instead of by a massive, new federal bureaucracy that will be set up under the new plan.

"We're going to find that the cost of this will be much greater," Stenholm said. "We're creating another giant federal bureaucracy. I have a feeling we're going to wish we had done a better job in putting this package together."

Rep. Ed Jones, D-Tenn., on the other hand, urged House members to approve the expanded program, saying the measure "represents a good partnership between government and private industry."

Stenholm's warning was ignored in the House Wednesday when the House approved a conference report that gives the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation more power to reimburse farmers for losses to crops caused by natural disaster.

The Senate recently approved the conference report. It now goes to President Carter.

Before the vote was taken, Reps. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock and Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, urged their colleagues to reject the bill.

Both congressmen are members of the House Agriculture Committee and they said the expanded powers given to the federal corporation will prove more costly and expand the bureaucracy needlessly.

Stenholm said the program would be better administered on a local basis through the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service outlets in each county instead of by a massive, new federal bureaucracy that will be set up under the new plan.

Said Plaintiff (s) Petition was filed in said court, on the 23rd day of September A.D. 1980, in this cause numbered 84-58 on the docket of said court, and styled, Harken Oil & Gas, Incorporated Plaintiff (s), vs. W.B. McKinney Defendant (s).

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:
Petition for appointment of Receiver as is more fully shown by Plaintiff (s) Petition on file in this suit.

No. 2458
HARKEN OIL & GAS, INCORPORATED
vs.
W.B. MCKINNEY
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF HOWARD COUNTY, TEXAS
118TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT
PLAINTIFF'S ORIGINAL PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER
TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT.

NOW COMES HARKEN OIL & GAS, INCORPORATED, a Delaware Corporation with offices at 2800 Hwy. 277 South, Abilene, Texas, complainant — W.B. MCKINNEY, Defendant, whose residence is unknown, but who owns an undivided interest in the minerals in the herewith described tracts of land, and for its cause of action would respectfully show unto the Court as follows:

I. Plaintiff has acquired, as Lessee, Oil, Gas and Mineral Leases covering 320.0 acres, more or less, situated in Howard County, Texas, and being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:
All of the West one-half (W-1/2) of Section No. 2, Block 30, Township 1 North, Texas and Pacific Railway Company, Survey, Howard County, Texas, being further described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at the N.E. corner of Section No. 2, Block 31, TWP 1 N., the same being the N.W. corner of this tract out of Section No. 2, Block 30, TWP 1 N.; Thence North 77 deg. East 950 vrs. to a stake; Thence South 13 deg. East 1900 vrs. to a stake; Thence South 77 deg. West 950 vrs. to a stake; Thence North 13 deg. West 1900 vrs. to the place of beginning, containing 320 acres, more or less.

Plaintiff owns 100 percent of the leasehold estate with the exception of the undivided interest in the minerals owned by the Defendant herein.

II. Plaintiff has caused a diligent but unsuccessful effort to be made to locate the Defendant including but not limited to contacting relatives and friends acquainted with the Defendant and a search of the records of Howard County, Texas.

III. Defendant whose place of residence is unknown has absented himself for at least five (5) years successively next preceding the filing of this action during which time he has not paid the taxes on said mineral interest nor has he rendered the same for taxes.

IV. Plaintiff will suffer substantial damage or injury unless a Receiver is appointed to take charge of the property and execute and deliver an Oil and Gas Lease on the Defendant's interest so that the minerals can be developed and produced. At the present time there is oil and gas development in the vicinity, and this acreage is in danger of being drained if it is not developed and produced. All of the other interests under the property hereinabove described have been leased and the development of adjacent tracts is under way, but the discovery of this unleased outstanding interest is threatening to alter proper development of this property.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that this Court appoint a Receiver of the oil, gas and mineral interests owned by Defendant in the hereinabove described tract of land pursuant to the provisions of Article 2320b, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes, that the Receiver be authorized to lease the mineral interest of Defendant for development and production purposes on the best terms and conditions offered by Plaintiff to other oil, gas and mineral interest owners in the hereinabove described tract of land and that said consideration, in cash, be paid into the registry of the Court, and hereafter, said cash shall be applied to the costs that may have accrued in this cause and the Clerk shall retain the balance of such funds for the use and benefit of such unknown owners of such mineral interests and that any future payments under said lease shall be paid directly into the registry of the Court and impounded for the use and benefit of such unknown owners and Plaintiff further prays for such other and further relief to which they are justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

MCKINNEY, Defendant, whose residence is unknown, but who owns an undivided interest in the minerals in the herewith described tracts of land, and for its cause of action would respectfully show unto the Court as follows:

I. Plaintiff has acquired, as Lessee, Oil, Gas and Mineral Leases covering 320.0 acres, more or less, situated in Howard County, Texas, and being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:
All of the West one-half (W-1/2) of Section No. 2, Block 30, Township 1 North, Texas and Pacific Railway Company, Survey, Howard County, Texas, being further described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at the N.E. corner of Section No. 2, Block 31, TWP 1 N., the same being the N.W. corner of this tract out of Section No. 2, Block 30, TWP 1 N.; Thence North 77 deg. East 950 vrs. to a stake; Thence South 13 deg. East 1900 vrs. to a stake; Thence South 77 deg. West 950 vrs. to a stake; Thence North 13 deg. West 1900 vrs. to the place of beginning, containing 320 acres, more or less.

Plaintiff owns 100 percent of the leasehold estate with the exception of the undivided interest in the minerals owned by the Defendant herein.

II. Plaintiff has caused a diligent but unsuccessful effort to be made to locate the Defendant including but not limited to contacting relatives and friends acquainted with the Defendant and a search of the records of Howard County, Texas.

III. Defendant whose place of residence is unknown has absented himself for at least five (5) years successively next preceding the filing of this action during which time he has not paid the taxes on said mineral interest nor has he rendered the same for taxes.

IV. Plaintiff will suffer substantial damage or injury unless a Receiver is appointed to take charge of the property and execute and deliver an Oil and Gas Lease on the Defendant's interest so that the minerals can be developed and produced. At the present time there is oil and gas development in the vicinity, and this acreage is in danger of being drained if it is not developed and produced. All of the other interests under the property hereinabove described have been leased and the development of adjacent tracts is under way, but the discovery of this unleased outstanding interest is threatening to alter proper development of this property.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff prays that this Court appoint a Receiver of the oil, gas and mineral interests owned by Defendant in the hereinabove described tract of land pursuant to the provisions of Article 2320b, Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes, that the Receiver be authorized to lease the mineral interest of Defendant for development and production purposes on the best terms and conditions offered by Plaintiff to other oil, gas and mineral interest owners in the hereinabove described tract of land and that said consideration, in cash, be paid into the registry of the Court, and hereafter, said cash shall be applied to the costs that may have accrued in this cause and the Clerk shall retain the balance of such funds for the use and benefit of such unknown owners of such mineral interests and that any future payments under said lease shall be paid directly into the registry of the Court and impounded for the use and benefit of such unknown owners and Plaintiff further prays for such other and further relief to which they are justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

But officials in Amarillo not saying

Warhead will probably be dismantled

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A shroud of secrecy continues to surround the status of a nuclear warhead damaged in an Arkansas explosion and brought to Texas, but officials insist the weapon is no longer dangerous.

E.C. Hardin, acting director of public affairs for the Department of Energy in Albuquerque, N.M., said the warhead was designed at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and that its engineering was done by Sandia Laboratories — both in New Mexico.

"We had three people from Los Alamos and two from Sandia that went down to Damascus (Ark.)," Hardin said Wednesday. "They did everything needing to be done to make sure there was no danger."

He estimated it would be three or four weeks before personnel from the two labs arrive to work on the warhead stored at an assembly plant near this Panhandle city. The Pantex plant is the nation's only assembly and disassembly plant for nuclear weapons.

The warhead is believed to be in the nine-megaton range, which would make it one of the largest in the country's nuclear arsenal.

The bomb was thrown from a Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile when an underground silo exploded in Damascus, Ark., last week.

The warhead was flown here from Little Rock by a special Air Force jet transport Tuesday and trucked under heavy security to the Pantex plant about five miles outside of Amarillo.

Government officials would not say Wednesday what happens next to a damaged nuclear warhead.

Although Department of Energy officials, who oversee the plant, won't release information, normal procedure would be to disassemble the warhead, one source said.

The usable components — which could include radioactive plutonium, gold, silver and platinum — would be recycled and shipped to other plants which make parts for nuclear weapons.

Unsalvageable or radioactive parts would be buried in a Pantex dump along with other weapons waste, the source said.

A June 1976 government environmental assessment report on Pantex said part of the plant housed plutonium-239 residue from military weapons damaged in a two B-52 bomber accidents, one on Palomares, Spain, and the other in Thule, Greenland, several years ago.

Crop insurance act opposed

No such thing as 'free lunch'

Washington, D.C. — Occasionally, the U.S. Congress passes legislation which some of us realize is going to come back to haunt us in later months and years. Final approval of the Federal Crop Insurance Act this week is going to be just such a case.

I opposed this legislation down the line. I said at the beginning, and I still say, there is no such thing as a "free lunch." The House-Senate Conference Report, approved by the House on September 17 by a vote of 35-150, provides for coverage of $15.2 billion, compared to $6.1 billion currently provided by the disaster program. I have asked, again and again, who is going to pay for the additional $9 billion worth of protection?

With a return on equity to farmers of only 4.6 percent, the American farmer can't afford it. That leaves Uncle Sam and we all know who pays Uncle Sam.

A second point of opposition is that, at a time when Congress is being asked to reduce big government and to cut costs at every available turn, this legislation will establish one more government bureaucracy for the farmers of this country to deal with and the taxpayers to pay for.

When I first heard of a "new" Federal Crop Insurance program over three years ago, it was explained that the program would be administered within the existing Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). That made a great deal of sense to me and I supported that concept, as we already have an ASCS office in every county and those offices have the people and the records necessary to believe and administer an actuarially sound program. This would have avoided duplication and the need to eventually build another office with the staff, equipment and records in each county that will now be necessary to carry out this program if we are to meet the needs of the farmers.

Under the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act, our current agricultural commodity programs were established through the 1981 crop year, except for the disaster program which was due to expire effective with the 1979 crop year. I strongly believe that any expanded Federal Crop Insurance program should have been approved within the context of a complete reexamination of our farm program, not during the middle of an existing program.

After a long and difficult fight, I was able to obtain a one-year extension of the disaster program. Without that extension, passage of the expanded program would have been a breach of trust on the part of Congress toward the entire farm economy.

I'll stand by the comments I made to members of the House when I opposed the bill, "... when our farmers come back to us in the years ahead, when we find out that it (this program) is not serving the needs of our farmers and it is costing the taxpayer tremendously, we are going to wish we had done a better job — when we had the chance — than what we have done in putting together this package."

'Carter punishing Texas'

Clements, Connally campaign here

By DON WOODS
Former Republican presidential candidates John Connally Tuesday described the $13 billion windfall profits tax as a device used by President Carter to punish Texas.
"How many of you believe this was a profits tax?" he asked, at the approximately 1,000 in attendance at the Round Up for Reagan-Bush luncheon at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Tuesday.
Guests paid $4 a plate for the luncheon. Those who didn't eat were admitted free to hear Reagan supporters Connally and Clements verbally flog President Carter and offer kudos for Reagan. Texas Supreme Court Judge Garwood and Texas Round Up Chairman John Armstrong were among others in attendance. Armstrong is on the King Ranch board of directors.
Connally, former Texas governor, received applause and an enthusiastic "Right on!" from a member of the audience, when he accused Carter of creating an excise tax under the guise of a profits tax.

The $13 billion collected through windfall profit tax revenues is $2 billion more than the cost of running Texas' government, said Connally.
Connally said he is for "courageous" and "intelligent" use of alternate energy sources. "We have to stop taking scientific advice from Jane Fonda and Ralph Nader," he said.
Connally refuted suggestions in a press conference later from anti-nuke forces that nuclear energy was dangerous by pointing to the 188 deaths last year related to the oil and gas industry. He said the Three Mile Island plant performed exactly as designed under the circumstances and there have been no nuclear power-related deaths.
Carter has "politicized the defense department" "to create an impression in the minds of people" that he is a military man, said Connally, referring to the recent disclosure of the "stealth bomber." He accused Carter of creating the impression that America is equal to the Soviet Union in military power.
Connally credited Texas Gov. Bill

Clements with the development of the bomber while he was in the defense department. Connally said the bomber would not be developed for 20 years.
Connally said he wasn't asking people to do anything for Reagan or for himself but for their own benefit.
"I didn't pick Reagan as a first choice myself," he jested, referring to his unsuccessful bid as party candidate.
He said his first choice was to "turn the country around."
He said in the press conference that he didn't foresee that one man could make the necessary changes in the country. He said it would take changes in the congress over a 20-year period.
Connally jested about his "conversion" from the Democratic party to Republican, that when he first emerged from a voting booth after voting Republican, he heard no thunder and lightning, but "I felt cleansed and purified."
Connally said in a press conference that he changed parties because the Democrat party changed.

He said Japanese were saving 25 percent of their disposable income and Germans were saving 15 percent, but Americans were saving only one and a half percent. Clements said in the press conference that the Carter administration tax policies destroy incentive to save. He also said current judicial activity doesn't create an "environment" for savings.
Connally blamed Carter for the highest prime rate in history, 15 percent mortgage rates and $60 billion deficit spending this year.

Clements outlined the Republican plan which, he said, would attract Democrats and Independents in Texas. "I would not be standing up here as your governor if there was not a tremendous effort by Democrats and Independents," he said.
Clements said county campaign chairmen were in place in all 254 Texas Counties Thursday. Former Mayor Wade Choate is the Howard County Reagan chairman.

Clements said the Round Up was a concept of Connally's in which 25 Texas communities were selected for luncheons and speaking engagements.
In a telephone campaign, 3 million Texas households would be contacted by more than 40,000 volunteers, said Clements.
A major push is being made for Democrat and Independent votes.

Harmons witnessed three military coups in Ghana

By DON WOODS
John and Phyllis Harmon witnessed the effects of three coups on the small West African country of Ghana, which became in 1969 the first African country to gain self-rule. All three coups occurred during a year's time.

"Being there with coups, electrical outages, shortages and no water it gets a bit tense. It sort of makes you appreciate what you've always taken for granted," said Phyllis, with a decidedly British accent.

The Harmons were in Ghana for three and a half years. John Harmon worked in the American Embassy for the Foreign Service. He was a political officer. "They just sort of see what's happening locally" said Phyllis to keep the U.S. informed of local occurrences.

The Harmons met in Viet Nam, where John was acting as political officer in the embassy there and Phyllis was a nurse with International Rescue Committee. "They employed me because I was not an American citizen." She went there from England, where she was raised.

Though she was born in Ireland, she left Ireland when she was "quite small (eight)." Most of her family is in England though she has family in Ireland. None of her immediate family is close to the fighting there though she has strong feelings about the conflict.

She is staying in the home of Elizabeth Hale, 2602 Lynn, whom she met in Viet Nam.

She is a sort of "honorary grandmother" for the Harmons' three children. In fact, she did all the shopping for the children here in Big Spring while the Harmons were in Ghana.

One of her three pretty children is a five-year-old girl with an English accent. She also has two younger boys.

Phyllis is staying in Mrs. Hale's home while John reads their home in Washington where they will live indefinitely.

The two spent three years in Tokyo before they moved to Ghana and the government doesn't usually move a couple overseas again after two trips.

Tokyo and Ghana can't be compared, said Phyllis. Tokyo is full of cultural opportunities. "Ghana is not the same type of a place," she said.

Accra, the capitol where they were, is a smaller city with less than one million people in it.

There were some "very nice people in Ghana," said Phyllis, calling them "interesting and clever," however, "because the economy was so bad and food so scarce it cut down on social activities" for the natives, she said. Americans had the commissary to depend on, she said.

There were a number of robberies, though guns were not often used. She saw little evidence of major crimes such as murder and drug possession.

She said the Ghanaians helped stranded motorists or anyone with similar problems.

Even during the coups, "We saw no evidence of anti-American feeling there. I'm sure if there had been any danger we would have been evacuated."

"The people are very nice. They're sort of gentle," she said.

Gen. Acuffa replaced Gen. Achenpong in 1979 in a coup. Then on May 15, 1979, Flight Lt. Rawlings attempted a coup but was not successful. On June 4 the military did succeed in a coup under Rawlings. Gen. Acuffa and seven others were tied to stakes on a West African beach and publically executed.

Though the coup was military, Rawlings turned the reins of government over to the citizens. The Harmons were never threatened and always treated hospitably.

Phyllis described the shopping as "dismal." It was very difficult to get even essentials, sugar, meat. Poultry was almost impossible," she said. At times there was no meat or bread for sale.

They never bought clothing in Ghana, always ordering it from the U.S. through the mail.

In defeat, says Harris

Steers learned a lot

The Big Spring Steers went into their contest against Levelland as heavy favorites and an unbeaten record. But by the end of the game, the home town Lobos had dealt the Steers with a 15-8 loss.

No doubt Big Spring Coach Ralph Harris and the Steers would like to have been 3-0 entering the District 5-AAAAA wars, but Harris feels the loss should help the young Big Spring crew on down the road.

"The kids learned a lot. There's no doubt that we weren't ready to play, but the loss should help us realize what it takes to get ready to play mentally," the Big Spring mentor stated.

"The worst thing that could have happened to us in the Levelland game is to have gone in there and eked out another win when we didn't play well," Harris continued. "That could have given us a sense of false security."

"It was disappointing to lose, but it should help us get ready for district," Harris said.

District 5-AAAAA action begins a week from Friday when the Big Spring crew plays host to Abilene, a team that was undefeated until running into defending state champ and the number one ranked team in Class AAAAA, Temple. Abilene lost 34-21, but not before the Eagles had jumped out to a 21-0 lead over the highly touted Temple team.

Right now, the Steers are using their open week to prepare for the rest of the season, with the big emphasis on Abilene not slated

Local girls win third straight district test

Patti Purser's Big Spring Steers won their third straight District 5-AAAAA volleyball match here Tuesday night, defeating Odessa Permian, 15-12, 15-9.

Overall, the Bold Gold is 9-3. Pam Caudill was Big Spring's leading scorer with 11 points. Elise Wheat, Shell Rutledge and Dawn Estes each counted five points while Linda Magers had two and Cissy Doss one.

The Steers are now tied with Abilene Cooper for first place in district standings. The locals return to action Thursday night against Lee High School in Midland. The JVs play at 6 p.m., the varsity teams at 7 p.m. The Big Spring JVs got off to a slow start but won over the Permian JVs, 10-15, 15-5, 15-12. The local girls are 2-1 in district.

Sylvia Randel had 11 points and Leslye Overman ten for Big Spring Coach Purser lauded the team's effort.

Big Spring also won the freshman match, 15-13, 15-6. The freshmen are now 4-2 on the year and 1-1 against district opponents.

Pat Spears was impressive at the net. Linda Eddington and Vickie Halfman each scored seven points.

As celebrated Von Erichs come to town

Wrestling family here Friday

One of the most celebrated and respected families in professional wrestling, the Von Erichs, will headline a Sept. 26 card scheduled in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The lineup of bouts is being promoted by Don Slatton, who used to pack the house when he rented the Municipal Auditorium several years ago.

The Von Erichs, there are three of them, will headline the card in a six-man tag team match. Kevin, Kerry and David will go against Killer Brooks, Pak Song and Gary Young. The latter is managed by Gert Hart, who has been accused of climbing into the ring occasionally to help out his man.

David Von Erich was an all-state basketball player.

Kevin Von Erich was all-state in football while Kerry Von Erich still holds the world's discus record for boys 18 years of age and younger with a toss of 214 feet.

In preliminary matches, James Dillon goes against Sweet Brown Sugar, David Von Erich tries Killer Brooks, Kevin Von Erich goes against Gary Young and Kerry Von Erich squares off with Pak Song.

Tickets will be $4.50 ringside, $3.50 for general admission and $2.50 for children under 12. The tickets will be on sale from 3 o'clock on the day of the matches.

Masters Swim team wins meet

The Big Spring Masters Swimming Team totalled 339 points to emerge as the winners of a meet at the YMCA held here Sunday for teams from age 20 and up.

Big Spring's point total was way ahead of second place Lubbock, which has 287 points. Artesia, New Mexico, had 117.

Big Spring had the top male and female swimmers in the meet in the form of Dusty Free and Shelley Ebarb.

There were numerous locals claiming first place ribbons in the meet, with Free's accomplishments being the most impressive. Free swam the 100-free style in a time of 1:05.7 to qualify for the National Masters Swim Meet, which will be held later this year.

Other Big Spring winners included Don Davis, Craig Neighbors, Harlan Smith, Kelly Burton, Bill Batchelor, Ebarb, and Anne Couvillion.

The Big Spring team, which is sponsored by the local Y, will compete next in Lubbock on the weekend of October 11-12. Anyone interested locally from the age of 20 and over is welcome to come join the fun and compete.

Practice is held every Wednesday at the Y from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Anyone interested should contact David Nelson at 7-5211.

College to offer unique fem course

Now women in the Big Spring area have an opportunity to become better informed on the game of football. Beginning Oct. 1, a course in Women's Appreciation of Football will be offered through the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College. Explained and discussed on a common-sense basis, this course could open up new channels of communication with husbands, sons, and girlfriends as well as enabling women to view a football game in a totally new light. Don Stevens, women's basketball coach at Howard College, has coached football many years on the Junior High and High School level and has had head-coaching experience.

"I feel that there is a need for this type of course in every community. It is aimed at the female football fan but anyone may take the course.

A few of the items to be addressed are football terminology, explanation of player positions, motivation and emotions of players and coaches, what goes on in the locker room at half-time, what to look for on offense and defense, football rules, why football is so popular in Texas, and much, much more.

Class will be held on Wednesday nights, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Cost of the course is $12 and will last four weeks. Interested persons must pre-register in the Continuing Education Office located in the Horace Garrett Building. For more information, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College at 267-6311, ext. 70.

Senior citizens have their own version of Olympics

By MICKIE DICKSON
Senior Olympians reverted to games of jacks and marbles in the Old Settler's Pavilion Saturday at Comanche Trail Park. Some 200 senior citizens used skills once learned on the playgrounds of one-room school houses in competition with each other. The Senior Olympics were held Saturday at 2:30 p.m., followed by a barbecue dinner with all the trimmings at 6 p.m. Blue ribbons were given to first place winners in each contest.

Ernest Grubaugh won first in the Men's Golf Putt and Lilla Drewery scored first in the Women's Golf Putt. Grubaugh won first place in the men's Softball Toss and Mrs. Ottilia Fortune scored top in the women's.

Two seniors who worked hard to promote the Senior Olympics were Ed Harrison and Delbert North. These two men gathered mesquite wood for the barbecue and helped Bill Henkel prepare the barbecue and beans. In addition, they solicited donations, cleaned the Old Settler's Pavilion and marked off the game areas. A lot of fun, frolic and fellowship was enjoyed by all in addition to the delicious food. Each participant brought a salad or dessert.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program, the City of Big Spring and the Citizens Federal Credit Union sponsored the Senior Olympics for Howard County seniors and their out-of-town guests.

RSVP furnished the meat, beans, pickles, onions, tea and coffee. Senior Olympic T-shirts were given each participant by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

In addition, the Tri-City Beverage Company, Big Spring, furnished the soft drinks and the Rainbow Bread Company furnished bread. Starlight Acres furnished the golf clubs and balls for the Golf Putt event. Three-wheel bikes were supplied by Ed Harrison and Lillie Wanner.

Dear Abby

Well-Meaning Children Break Mother's Heart

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 42 years died three weeks ago, and immediately following his funeral, my children insisted that I go to stay with my sister in another town to get away for a while. Yesterday I came home to an immaculate but very empty house. I have three wonderful daughters (all married) whom I love dearly, but sometimes I wish they wouldn't be so helpful. In my absence they came in and cleaned my house — even the garage, from top to bottom! Every closet, cupboard and corner had been cleaned out, so there was not one trace of my beloved husband. All of his clothes were gone, even his fishing gear, golf clubs and tools had been disposed of. I know they did this only to spare me the difficult job of sorting through his belongings and deciding what to do with his things, but I really think I should have had a say in making those decisions. I know my daughters meant well and what's done is done, so I am not going to say anything to them about it, but I just had to get this off my chest. Thanks for listening, Abby.

HEAVYHEARTED

DEAR HEAVYHEARTED: I understand your feelings and agree that your daughters wanted to spare you one of the most painful and difficult tasks a widow must face. However, you should have been consulted first. Perhaps your letter will prevent other well-meaning children from doing what yours did.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle an argument. My friend insists that a hostess should ask her guests if they care for refreshments instead of serving them something they may not want.

She says it's wasteful and foolish to go to a lot of trouble preparing refreshments and offering them to guests who may not care for any of them, but force themselves to eat to avoid hurting a hostess's feelings.

I say that a gracious hostess will get off her duff and serve something because most people want refreshments, but if asked they will refuse so as not to put their hostess to any trouble.

Whose side are you on, Abby? GRAND ISLAND, NEB.

DEAR GRAND: Yours.

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the letter putting down the woman who came to a wedding in silver lame stretch pants and a tight sweater, I suggest that one is offended by what one wants to be offended by.

Several years ago, when miniskirts were in style, I decided they looked good on me, so I wore one to Easter services. The pastor mentioned to me that he considered such attire out of place in church, particularly when worn with high heels!

I think what really bothered him was the fact that some of the congregation were distracted by my shapely legs and failed to pay proper attention to what he had to say.

If a woman looks good in short skirts or a sweater and stretch capris, she should wear them, and criticism be damned. As long as she is neat and clean, it's nobody else's business how she dresses.

Some women have great hair or facial features and take advantage of them. Some have great bodies. So what's the difference? Just as beauty lies in the eye of the beholder, so does umbrage.

ERIKA

DEAR ERIKA: I agree. There's nothing wrong with taking advantage of everything you have going for you, but one should consider the occasion. While silver lame stretch pants are great for a disco, they are inappropriate for a wedding. And miniskirts make for maximum distraction in church.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

The Big Spring Independent School District for 26 years, and for 24 of those years as a music teacher.

"I guess I have always been interested in music," she said. "I grew up here in Big Spring, and I have sung all my life. The first organized singing I did was with the Methodist Church, and I've been doing that since I was 13," she added.

She has also studied the piano since the age of five, and took up the organ as a music education major at North Texas State University. The real emphasis, however, has always been on singing.

"There was always music in our house when I was a child. My mother thought music was the epitome," said Mrs. Bradley. "She never had any formal training, but she could play the piano by ear, and sang all

Mrs. Bradley learned a lot from that home environment, and now believes that a good musical atmosphere at home can instill more love for music than any outside teacher. "If a child can hear music at home, in Sunday school and in church, his understanding will be much better. It's one of the most important things a parent can do, I think," she said.

But why is music so important? "A few years ago, we had a return to basics in education. But beyond that, people need diversions and music can provide that," said Mrs. Bradley. "Everyone needs music in some form, and if they learn something about music, it's something they can enjoy their whole lives."

In her classes, the emphasis is at an early age on "enjoyment."

"If the students enjoy music, there is a much better chance they will follow through with it when they get older," said Mrs. Bradley.

The 600 students who pass through the portals of her music room each week at Marcy School get a smattering of many different aspects of music. Children are introduced to all types of music, rhythm, histories of famous composers, a little theory, the experience of performing before an audience, and even a chance to compose some music themselves.

Mrs. Bradley has taught in just about every elementary school in the city during her 26-year career here. Since she began teaching, she has seen a number of her former students progress to careers as professional musicians.

"I hope I did something to get them interested in music, but I can't take much credit beyond that," she said, modestly.

A schedule of 600 children a week must be a pretty tough one. Doesn't her voice get tired by Friday afternoon?

"Oh, I sometimes get a tired voice, but it's not from singing, thanks to my vocal training. What gets me tired is the talking. Discipline is a part of teaching music too, you know," she answered, laughing.

Hawley Supt. Womack reassignment revealed

HAWLEY — School Supt. Charles (Nig) Womack, center of a budgetary controversy recently, has been reassigned within the Hawley school system.

Womack, Hawley superintendent for the past 34 years, will henceforth be the advisor-consultant within the district.

Womack will serve in his new capacity until Dec. 31, at which time the school board reserves the right to end or extend his contract.

Earlier this month, Womack had said he was suspended for "not adequately informing the board" of a $90,000 surplus in the 1980-81 school budget, which he said was caused by a coding error. Later, however, he denied that was the matter that triggered the board's decision.

COWBOY FANS, ALL—The Dallas Cowboys didn't win any new converts from this crowd of Big Spring people. They were devoted rooters of the NFL team even before last Sunday's game with Tampa Bay in Irving. They chartered buses to attend the game in person, leaving Saturday and returning following the game Sunday. The trip was sponsored by the Ambassadors Club.
