Cheers, applause cool hecklers as Haig talks at commencement

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Hecklers were drowned out by cheers and applause Saturday when Secretary of State Alexander Haig said in a commencement speech that U.S. self-confidence has replaced a period of questioning the country's democratic institutions.

"I believe this period of perhaps excessive American introspection has come to an end. We are more certain of ourselves today than we have been for a long time. A profound national consensus has emerged. Our democratic institutions work. They are worth defending," Haig said at Syracuse University.

Mother's Day founder 'didn't do much else'

GRAFTON, W.Va. (AP) — Mother's Day began in this small West Virginia town, born of a mother's prayer and a daughter who "devoted her whole life to it and didn't do much else."

These days, the brick facade church where the first Mother's Day celebration was held is open for services only on Mother's Day and Thanksgiving. It's now called the Mother's Day Shrine, and its 73rd Mother's Day celebration is Sunday.

The woman behind Mother's Day — Anna Jarvis — died in 1948, but she is well remembered in Grafton.

"When she was really dressed up she was stylish looking; she stood out a bit," recalled 87-year-old Leslie Loar, whose relative, L.L. Loar, opened the Andrews Methodist Church for the first celebration.

"She was so tied up in Mother's Day," he said, "That's all she thought about. She devoted her whole life to it and didn't do much else."

"Miss Anna," as Loar called her, was "a very pleasant woman."

Anna Jarvis was born in Grafton in 1864, and heard as a girl of her mother's prayer that women who lost their children in the Civil War would be remembered.

Two years after her mother died in 1905, Miss Jarvis, then living in Philadelphia, decided to honor her mother at her home on the second Sunday in May. The next year, she wrote to L.L. Loar, superintendent of the church Sunday School, asking that a Mother's Day celebration be held at the church to honor her mother, who taught Sunday school there for 20 years.

Leslie Loar, who was born and raised in this north-central West Virginia community of 6,000 people, remembers the first service in 1908.

Rioters hurl gas bombs

Violence erupts in Irish cities

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)

— Violence flared in Catholic areas of Belfast and Londonderry Saturday and a fourth IRA prisoner began a hunger strike "to the death." IRA bomb hoaxes forced evacuation from an orphanage and nursing home, but failed to scare Queen Elizabeth II from a shipboard lunch off Scotland.

Amid the tension, thousands of people watched a parade through central Belfast by 18 pipe and drum bands at the climax of a week-long municipal festival. Rock bands played and people enjoyed other entertainment without incident.

Earlier in the day, however, guerrillas ambushed a British patrol in Belfast's Roman Catholic Lenadoon quarter, seriously wounding a soldier with a sniper bullet from a high velocity rifle. A police vehicle also was blown up in Catholic West Belfast by a homemade hand grenade, injuring five policemen.

In Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second largest city, rioters hurled more than 300 gasoline bombs and bottles filled with sulfuric acid at police. Twenty-one people were arrested and two rioters were injured in what a police spokesman described as some of "the fiercest street fighting" since IRA guerrilla Bobby Sands died Tuesday in the 66th day of a hunger strike.

The bomb threat against Queen Elizabeth came as she and her husband, Prince Philip, were attending a ceremony at the British Petroleum oil terminal — Europe's largest — on the Shetland Islands, 100 miles off the north coast of Scotland.

The Irish Republican Army warned in a message from its office in Dublin that it had "breached the English Queen's security. Clear the Shetland oil rig of all civilians. There is an anti-handling device on the bomb. This is no hoax."

A BP spokesman in London said the target of the bomb threat was a ship anchored just outside the terminal where the queen was to have lunch with 90 dignitaries. A search of the vessel turned up no bomb and the lunch went on as scheduled.

A another IRA bomb hoax forced the three-hour evacuation of 600 people from a nursing home and an orphanage in Newry, 44 miles from Belfast.

Sinn Fein, the political arm of the IRA, announced a fourth IRA prisoner, Joe McDonnell, 30, refused breakfast at the Maze Prison outside Belfast and would take nothing but water with salt from now on.

It said McDonnell was a replacement for Sands, and that another jailed guerrilla would begin fasting when another hunger striker died.

McDonnell, serving a 14-year-sentence for possession of a gun, was arrested in 1976 along with Sands.

McDonnell joined three other IRA men fasting at the Maze to back demands for reforms amounting to political prisoner status. The others are Francis Hughes, 25, and Raymond McCreech and Patrick O'Hara, both 24.

Supporters of Hughes, serving a life sentence for killing a British soldier, said he was "deteriorating very rapidly" in the 56th day of his fast. The others were said to be in less danger after 49 days without food.

Meanwhile, hundreds of Protestants turned out for the funeral of 33-year-old constable Philip Ellis, who was shot to death by an IRA guerrilla Wednesday night, in the Belfast suburb of Belvoir Park.

Six officers from the Protestant-dominated Royal Ulster Constabulary carried Ellis' oak coffin, draped with the British Union Jack behind a police band to Drumbo cemetery three miles away.

Will Shaw be forced to run against dean of House?

Redistricting overshadows all else in legislature

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Your legislator's political future and the kind of representation you will get for the next decade hinge on events of the next three weeks.

One thing is sure. Population shifts are going to force some lawmakers out of their jobs and change the kind of voices that speak for many Texans.

Legislative redistricting overshadows all else at this stage of the session. Knots of lawmakers frown over district maps, ignoring debate of major bills.

Redistricting must be done by June 1 or a five-member board will draw the new lines.

Carve a district the "wrong" way, and a legislator loses his base of support and his low-paying but powerful and prestigious job.

Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, presides over Senate redistricting, and his biggest problem is what to do with five West Texas districts without sufficient population to support that number of senators. In Houston and Dallas, where population has shifted from the inner city to the suburbs, the issue is whether to draw purely ethnic districts. There is no black senator now.

Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, chairman of the House redistricting committee, has identified numerous areas where suburbanization, population loss or slow growth create difficulties.

He estimates that as many as 10 of the new districts could force incumbents to run against each other.

Von Dohlen spent an hour recently outlining the problem areas in reapportioning the 150 House seats, and here are his observations, as well as some recent developments, by regions of Texas.

— West Texas: One rural seat will be lost in the Lubbock-Amarillo area, but Speaker Bill Clayton has eased that problem by deciding not to run again for state representative from Springlake. Districts represented by Reps. Bill Healy, D-Paducah, dean of the House; Larry Shaw, D-Big Spring; Walter Grubbs, D-Abilene; and Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, are underpopulated, and one pairing of incumbents is likely — very possibly Healy with Shaw.

— East Texas: Rep. David London, D-Bonham, is sure to be paired, probably with Rep. Smith Gilley, D-Greenville. London's district includes part of Grayson County, which will not be split in this year's redistricting.

— Central Texas: Williamson County, a booming suburban area north of Austin, will dominate the heretofore rural district of Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale. Williamson County has 78,000 people, while Kubiak's home county, Milam, has 22,000. There will have to be some splitting to approximate the ideal population of 94,000.

— Harris County: "Confusion reigns," one observer said, with Republicans, angle Democrats and Mexican-American Rep. Al Luna, D-Houston, issuing conflicting plans. The county will gain two representatives, with an excess population of 20,000 to 40,000 people to be attached to one or more rural or suburban districts. The core city has lost population, but Von Dohlen predicts there still will be six "clearly minority districts."

— Dallas County: Shifts to suburbs in adjoining counties will reduce the number of representatives from 18 to 16. There might be problems preserving minority representation. Black Rep. Sam Hudson, for example, has a district that is 40 percent below the ideal population. Republicans and Democrats are at odds over which party will lose representation.

—Bexar County: One seat will be lost. Population loss has occurred in San Antonio's inner city. One district will be shared with an adjoining county. The Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund (MALDEF) has proposed a plan protecting Mexican-American incumbents while jeopardizing Republican Reps. Kae Patrick and Alan Schoolcraft. Von Dohlen said there was no danger of losing Mexican-American representation.

—Tarrant County: All representatives but Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, have agreed to a proposal that protects all incumbents but Willis. He would be placed in a predominantly black district with Rep. Bobby Webber, a black. Some of Willis' constituents have held protest meetings.

Mexican-American, but some Mexican-Americans want even higher percentages. "Mexican-Americans have come to the committee and requested that we pack those districts in areas where they have identified green card carriers (citizens of Mexico with work permits) to assure that they are minority districts," Von Dohlen said. Packing districts with Mexican-Americans could hurt Rep. Mary Polk, D-El Paso, who has counted on their support. "Mary Polk is caught in the squeeze," Von Dohlen said.

—Nueces County: This county grew slower than the state as a whole.

Possibilities include adding parts of Jim Wells of San Patricio counties to the district of Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi. There also is a possibility of pairing Rep. Leroy Wieting, D-Portland, with Berlanga or Rep. Ken Riley, D-Corpus Christi.

—South Texas: Cameron and Willacy counties will gain strength, from four representatives to five. The Lower Rio Grande Valley's gain might be the Middle Valley's loss, with a possible pairing of Reps. Ernestine Glosbrenner, D-Alice, and Irma Rangel, D-Kingsville.

—Jefferson County: Will lose one representative, and possible pairs include Reps. Frank Collazo, D-Port Arthur, or Bo Crawford, D-Beaumont, with Rep. Jerry Clark, D-Buna.

GEORGIA JOHNSON
...retiring after 53 years

Leaving Big Spring after 61 years won't be easy

By CAROL HART

After having lived in Big Spring for 61 years, it's going to be hard for Mrs. Georgia Johnson to leave. Mrs. Johnson plans to retire from her job at the Accent Shop on Friday, and soon afterward, she plans to move to Florida.

"I moved here in 1920 from Palo Pinto, Tex.," Mrs. Johnson said. "I came here with my family." Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Billingsley. Her father came to Big Spring to work in the oilfields.

Mrs. Johnson said she had no idea that she would stay in Big Spring when she came here in 1920. As a child of an oilfield worker, she was accustomed to moving around a lot. She graduated from high school in 1921, and shortly thereafter, married Hubert Johnson. She remained in Big Spring with her husband, who was a paint contractor. Her parents later left the area.

In 1928, Mrs. Johnson went to work for the Albert Fisher company in a store at 214 Main. The general department store featured a wide variety of merchandise. Mrs. Johnson recalled. She worked as a salesclerk for the store.

"I worked for Albert until he sold his store to Hemphill Wells in 1947," Mrs. Johnson said. She and several other Fisher employees then opened a dress shop, called "Little Shop," in the fall of 1947. Other owners were Alice Cravens, Grace Miller and Friday Corbin. The store was located at 212 Runnels.

In 1958, Mrs. Johnson sold her interest in the "Little Shop," and went to work for Hemphill-Wells as an assistant buyer. She worked for the store until they were bought out by Dunlaps.

"When Dunlaps bought the store, I stayed on until I went to work for Katherine (Perry) and Toni (Choate) at the Accent Shop," Mrs. Johnson said. "I've consistently worked since 1928." Mrs. Johnson said, allowing that she took a few breaks in that time, the longest being a couple of months.

"After having lived here so long, I've got a lot of regrets about moving," Mrs. Johnson said. "I have a host of friends here, and many memories. But I think I've made a wise decision, and that's it!"

Making the decision to move was based on a choice of being nearer her daughter, Mrs. Maybelle Coaker, of Tallahassee, Fla., and her three grandchildren.

Mrs. Johnson also leaves Big Spring with a lot of hopes about the progress of this area. "I've seen an awful lot of progress. I've watched Big Spring grow."

Flea Mart to attract 100 dealers

More than 100 dealers have signed up for the Centennial Flea Market, slated in College Park Shopping Center May 23-25.

Flea market manager is Sig Rogers. Dealers from many cities in Texas, as well as several other states, are slated to be in Big Spring for the flea market.

"A good variety of antiques, as well as lots of collectors items" are expected at the flea market," said Rogers.

"We will not only have over 50,000 items to offer at this flea market, but will have entertainment all three days," said Rogers. "The Barber shop singers will be there, and we'll have some banjo picking and some electric organ music."

Rogers said a gift will be given away every hour, furnished by the College Park merchants. Dealers will also be giving away items at various times during the day.

Gifts will also be given to people who can name certain tunes played live on an electric piano. "There will be about 50 free gifts given in the three days of the flea market," Rogers said.

The flea market is slated to run from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 23 through 25.

Traeger praised by friends including ex-Gov. Briscoe

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, was sworn in as governor for a day Saturday and was praised by friends including former Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Traeger received the traditional honors given the president pro tem of the Senate on a day when the governor and lieutenant governor ostensibly are out of state.

As president pro tem, Traeger ranks behind the lieutenant governor in the order of succession to the governorship. The job of president pro tem is rotated among senators according to seniority. A new president pro tem will be picked before the legislative session adjourns on June 1.

Hundreds of constituents, state officials, fellow legislators and lobbyists packed the Senate chamber and gallery to honor Traeger, 59, a merchant who has served 18 years in the Legislature.

Speaker Bill Clayton, a former House colleague, called Traeger "a decent man who works in the trenches at all hours."

Briscoe said honoring Traeger was "like recognizing every major act of the Texas Legislature over the past two decades" and added it was "good to know he is dedicated to continuing to serve."

"Texas has never had a harder working, more effective or more responsible senator than John Traeger," said Briscoe.

After taking the oath and receiving a 19-gun salute from National Guard cannon positioned outside the Capitol, Traeger made a brief speech in which he said, "I don't want Americans or Texans to apologize for being what they are... We Texans brag and we have got a lot to brag about."

SEGUIN SENATOR HONORED — Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, and his wife Bernice walk beneath the upraised rifles of an honor guard in a ceremony in the state senate chamber Saturday where Traeger was sworn in as Texas' governor-for-a-day.

Hospital deaths probed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bodies were exhumed, a male nurse refused to answer reporters' questions and investigators focused attention on Los Angeles County hospitals as authorities sought to unravel the deaths of 27 hospitalized elderly patients at two hospitals within a short period.

Al Albargate, spokesman for the Los Angeles County district attorney's office, said Friday his office is investigating several medical facilities to determine if "there may be a similar problem" after a nurse who worked at the two hospitals disclosed that he had also worked in Los Angeles.

The nurse, Robert R. Diaz, has not been charged, and officials have not determined whether wrongdoing was involved in the deaths.

Autopsies have shown that six of the 25 deaths at Community Hospital of the Valleys in Perris and two at San Geronimo Pass Hospital in Banning, 30 miles away, resulted from causes other than those listed on the death certificates. All of the deaths at the Riverside County hospitals occurred within a two-month period.

Several different drugs were under investigation in the deaths, authorities have said.

Diaz, who worked at both hospitals during the time of the deaths, has been questioned by investigators.

Albargate declined to name the Los Angeles County hospitals that were being checked.

How to tell when to water--real mystery

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

It's safe to say that successful gardening in this area generally depends upon a good source of water. Although gardens can be grown "dry land," your chance of success with vegetable gardening is greatly increased if a water faucet is nearby.

To many of us one of the most enjoyable aspects of home gardening is watering. It can be quite enjoyable to see garden vegetables respond to a "drink" during the heat of mid-summer. Despite the fact that watering can be a great deal of fun, it is often associated with many problems.

Many of the things which can plague us each year, such as bitter fruit, sunscald, disease problems, poor fertility, poor quality, poor yields and a dozen other things, can be related to poor and improper watering.

Many of us enjoy watering our garden after a hard day's work or just as a form of relaxation. So it is not at all unusual that many gardens get watered two, three or more times a week. Unfortunately, in most cases this is one of the worst things you can do since it can result in poor root development.

Light, frequent waterings have a tendency to cause a concentration of roots in the top inch or two of the soil. This type of "limited" root system does not pose any real serious problem early in the season when plants are young and sufficient moisture is generally available.

However, as the season progresses and moisture becomes less and less available, you may be forced to water the garden several times a week just to keep plants from wilting severely. This practice results in insufficient nutrient uptake, poor growth and disease problems.

Water the garden not by looking at plants but rather by examining your soil. Look at the soil surface. If it appears dry, then scratch to a depth of 1 to 2 inches to determine if moisture is present. If soil is relatively dry beneath the surface, then watering is necessary. If sufficient moisture is available, wait a couple of days before applying additional water. Another point to consider is your garden soil. Obviously a sandy soil that drains well will require more frequent watering than a heavy soil which holds water.

How much water to apply is another mystery that confronts us. The amount of water to apply must be determined for each and every garden in the county. Apply enough water until you feel your garden is well watered.

Then, take a sharpshooter or shovel and dig down and see if the soil is wet to a depth of at least 6 inches. If the soil is wet at that depth, you've watered enough. If it's relatively dry, then water some more. After doing this a couple of times, experience will tell you when you have watered enough.

How you water the garden is important, but adequate watering at the right time and in the right amount is more important than the method used. Most gardeners prefer the furrow or flood system as a means of applying water. Others prefer to use a sprinkler. There are advantages and disadvantages to each method. The primary advantage of flood or furrow watering is that individual rows can be watered while this is not generally possible with a sprinkler.

The main advantage with a sprinkler is that large areas of your garden can be watered without moving the hose from row to row or from area to area.

One disadvantage of the sprinkler system is that wet foliage can lead to disease problems. If you prefer to use a sprinkler, then water in the morning to allow foliage to dry off before cooler evening temperatures set in.

Another method gaining in popularity is drip or trickle irrigation. This system is an effective and efficient means of watering your vegetable plants but its initial cost is high.

Proper use of water in the garden will be reflected in the amount of produce that you take from the garden to the kitchen.

Next I'll discuss some ideas on equipment for controlling garden pests.

Widow of country music star unmasks 'fake'

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A man performed for two weeks as the son of the late country music star Johnny Horton, entertaining at a tavern and being interviewed on a local radio station, before Horton's angry widow put a stop to the charade.

The man, who later identified himself as David J. Horton Jr., 32, from Tyler, Texas, discussed the hoax Friday at the Hanging Tree Tavern, where he sang until being unmasked by Billie Jean Horton.

"If I was wrong for what I did, for loving a man's music and what he stood for, then I guess I'm wrong," he said. "I'll never do it again."

"He said he was in town when he started having troubles with his bus, which had broken down," said Virginia Her, owner of the Hanging Tree tavern. "My mistake was not pulling his I.D., old gullible me. I was excited about someone that important coming in."

Horton, who became famous in the late 1950s with "The Battle of New Orleans," died in a car accident in Milano, Texas, on Nov. 5, 1960.

A drummer in the tavern's backup band checked the late singer's background and found the real Horton had two daughters but no sons.

Mrs. Horton, telephoned in Shreveport, La., was so upset that she hopped the next plane and confronted the bogus Horton a day after he married a 29-year-old Spokane woman. When the bride learned her husband was not the son of the famous singer, she left.

Authorities continue bear hunt

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Policemen, sheriff's deputies and state wildlife officials today continued their search for a brown bear, possibly wounded and "running loose with her two cubs" in this Houston suburb.

Authorities have attempted since Thursday night to locate the bear after a woman reported she was "nearly attacked by a brown bear running loose with her two cubs" in a wooded area near San Jacinto College.

No bear has been found, and officers have had little to say about the caper, which involved squad cars and a city police helicopter.

Carl Covert, regional director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife division, said one of his units searched for the bear Friday.

Mitchell return six indictments

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County grand jury has returned six indictments.

Those indicted were Sammy Gomez and Tommy Delorea, charged with retaliation in the alleged beating of another man. The two are accused of using a baseball bat, chain and a rock. Also indicted were R.H. Drennan, who's charged with burglary, and Rudolph Gomez Lurea, for DEI second offense.

The indictments were returned Friday afternoon.

Student Teacher of the Year selected at Radiology School

Deborah Wiggins, second year student at Malone-Hogan Hospital School of Radiology, was named the Student Teacher of the Year at a recent faculty appreciation party in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Burek Williams.

The Lila Brewster-Juanita Harrison Award is given annually to the second year student of the school, who has demonstrated outstanding skill in teaching first year students.

Miss Wiggins is the daughter of Janet and Gary Wiggins. In Big Spring, she graduated from Big Spring High School in 1979.

Presenting the award were Lila Brewster and Juanita Harrison, two local teachers who created a pyramid teaching concept, that calls for second year students to teach first year students as a part of their training.

Dr. and Mrs. John Rhodes were co-hosts for the party, which honored all faculty of the school.

Q. The amount of cash required to purchase an equity on an older home is more than a little frightening. Since I don't have, say, $25,000 in cash available, are there any options?

A. Yes, there are several. If you've exhausted all your personal resources for cash, you might ask your real estate agent to inquire as to whether the owner is willing to carry part of the equity. Many times, this sort of "creative financing" has real benefits for both buyer and seller. Essentially, this will set up a second note, payable to the seller at a specified interest rate which may be lower than those found at lending institutions. And, some lending institutions will make an equity loan for the amount you need to swing the deal. These loans are for much shorter repayment periods than home mortgages, and will be at prevailing interest rates.

ANNUAL GIFT PROGRAM

Despite the changes in the estate and gift tax laws, a gifting program is still an excellent tool for reducing federal estate taxes.

If your annual gift to any one recipient does not exceed $3000 it does not create a gift tax. The $3000 limitation is per year, per recipient, from each donor.

If a father transfers $3000 in cash or fair market value of property to each of four children, he can transfer $12,000 annually for as many years as he chooses. If his spouse consents to a "split-gift" he can double the amount of the annual gifting. The spouse does not have to have a financial interest in the property given to qualify for the joint gift.

If this non-taxable $24,000 annual gift is continued for a period of ten years, you will have removed $240,000 from your estate. If your estate would have been a one million dollar taxable estate, this gifting program would have reduced your federal estate taxes by $93,600. On a $500,000 taxable estate, you would have saved $81,600.

In addition to the annual exclusions, you are entitled to transfer $175,000 to assets tax-free during your lifetime. In any year where the gifts to any one recipient exceed the annual exclusion, the entire transfer will be brought back into the computed value of your estate. Despite this inclusion in your estate, there are still two advantages to sizable gifts in excess of annual exclusions.

If you live at least three years from the date of transfer, the property will be included in your estate, but only at the value as of the date it was gifted. You have, therefore, frozen the maximum value to be subject to estate taxes.

A second permanent benefit is that the income derived from the property transferred will be taxable to the recipient for all the years that he has been in possession of it.

There are many long range consequences of a gifting program, and you should therefore seek professional assistance.

Do we really care if there is fraud?

It's hard to blame those employees of the government who personally observe waste, fraud or mismanagement within government, and do nothing about it. Seventy percent of those who did said they kept their information to themselves because they feared reprisals or else thought nothing would be done, anyway.

AMERICANS MIGHT dislike a cheat but they have a reputation for disliking an informant any more. Invariably, such people are ostracized for telling what they know, shunned by the very people who realize something should be done about correcting a problem.

The reluctance of people to do what they can is why the so-called "system" never changes. We may not like it, but it is a way of life we prefer to live with.

No less than 43 percent of the 8,500 persons who responded in a survey made by the Merit Systems Protection Board said they felt the abuses which had been reported had not been corrected.

Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., chairman of the Senate Government Affairs Committee, said that results of the study indicated as much as $23 billion would be saved if waste, fraud and mismanagement were eliminated. He called the situation "sad and inexcusable" and called on the government to make federal employees more aware of protections existing in law to guard them against reprisals for reporting wrongdoing.

WE TAKE NO ISSUE with this, and in fact protection should be even further insured.

For what it is worth, the study indicated that many employees felt they had "paid" for bringing up wrongdoing, either through poor job ratings or failure to get promotions and the like. Such fears are legitimate ones, it was reported. However, there is something else involved in the whole picture, that being the obvious "don't give a damn" attitude of those who do cheat or engage in major instances of waste and fraud against those who pay them — the government and the American taxpayers. It is small wonder that so much goes wrong in the massive bureaucracy when so many report so much being done in violation of rules, the law or basic moral codes.

As a nation, we are paying much more than $23 billion, although that price is high enough.

McHale's opinion."

McHale sued for libel. At the trial, American Press publisher Hugh Shearman cited his own experience of 10 years on a state board that approved local bond issues. He had observed, he testified, that special law firms were generally called on to advise on such bonds — and that McHale's law firm was not one of them. He expressed regret only that he had not made clear that it was McHale's "sole" opinion that would be unacceptable to a bond buyer.

THE JUDGE, HENRY Yelverton — who, incidentally, had once been an assistant to the district attorney who was defeated for re-election after the newspaper's 1976 election — ruled in favor of McHale. The decision involved a semantic discussion of the words "bonds" and "securities." But more importantly, the judge rejected the publisher's argument that the sentence sued upon was a statement of opinion rather than an inaccurate statement of fact.

Yelverton ruled that the statement in the newspaper editorial was made in reckless disregard of the truth — thereby constituting malice. In the end, he awarded McHale $150,000 damages.

The American Press appealed the verdict through Louisiana state courts. The newspaper not only lost but was also denied a stay of execution, though it has appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. So the paper had to pay the judgment, which, with interest and additional costs tacked on by an appellate court, amounted to $220,310.26.

Meanwhile, encouraged by McHale's success, two other partners in the original lease deal have filed suit against the paper. The total amount that the newspaper and its publisher have been sued for has now reached more than $50 million. In return, the publisher has filed a $30 million class-action suit on behalf of Louisiana taxpayers against the lease partners.

Battered but unbowed, the newspaper's publisher gave this statement of his position to my reporter Deborah Latish:

"In writing an editorial that no bond buyer would buy a nickel's worth of securities on McHale's opinion, I feel that I was exercising my First Amendment right to express an opinion. I further feel that the thought intended to be expressed by that statement was true. If an editorial can't express opinions, why write them?"

Financial crisis

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — As the bond market continued to fall April 30, President Reagan's two top monetary strategists in a closed-door, Cabinet-level meeting put the blame squarely on the nation's central bank: the Federal Reserve Board, headed by Paul Volcker.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Feryl Sprinkel and assistant budget director Lawrence Kudlow did not mince words. They indicted the Fed for inflating the money supply in a vain effort to force interest rates down. The perverse result of money-supply tinkering has been higher interest rates (the prime moved to 18 percent last week). That threatens Reagan's economic program with disaster no matter how strong he is in Congress.

Responsible administration officials talk guardedly of a possible financial panic later this year, with failing lending institutions and bankrupt small businesses. That is why key administration officials want a quick, well-publicized Oval Office meeting where Ronald Reagan would deliver a Dutch Uncle lecture to Chairman Volcker.

THERE IS LITTLE that the Fed can do quickly to retrieve the situation. But the spectacle of the Fed chairman paying homage to the president might sweeten the temper of financial markets. That, combined with Reagan's success toward passage of his budget and tax programs, could halt the ruinous drop in bond prices, which are tied to interest rates.

Critics of the Fed say I told you so. The economic task force headed by budget director David Stockman had prepared a section of the federal economic report sharply critical of Fed operations. But the president's orthodox outside economic advisers, headed by Arthur Burns (a former Fed chairman himself) and Alan Greenspan, killed the report. A policy of detente with Volcker was established.

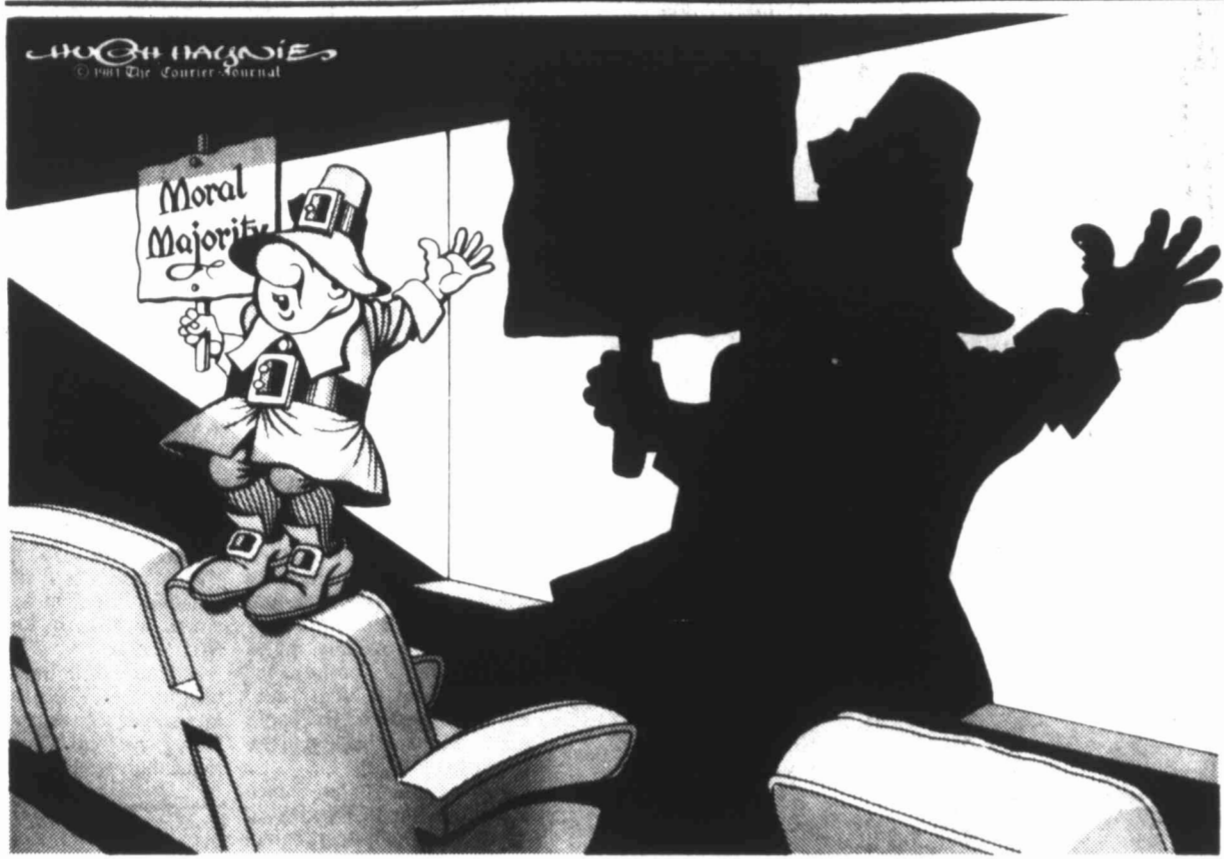

As detente was pursued, "the Fed printed money," in the words of one bitter administration official. Such Reaganites believe that unwitting expansion of bank reserves caused by clumsy Fed tinkering the past three months have sent interest rates to the sky and frightened financial markets into the cellar.

The fright in the markets was heightened by $35 billion in new federal borrowing since the beginning of the year. The White House staff, led by Edwin Meese III, long ago smothered the declaration of economic emergency suggested by Stockman and Rep. Jack Kemp during the transition. As a result, there was no appeal to Congress for quick action on the budget and tax cuts.

But, say the Reaganites, tax-cutting and budget-cutting progress was good enough to warrant more favorable market reaction. It was overridden by what administration monetary experts consider an inept, doctrinaire Fed staff tinkering with bank reserves in ways that perhaps even Volcker does not fully understand. To its critics, the Fed is a runaway bank exceeding its balance.

As the bond market continued to fall on April 30 and, even more seriously, on May 1, Miss Rosy Scenario gave way to Mr. Bleak Forebodings inside the administration. With small businesses unable to borrow funds, the prospect of bankruptcy for small banks and savings and loan institutions is possible.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S principle recourse is to send a message to the markets that Reagan is truly serious about curbing inflation. That explains Stockman's decision to try cutting another $5 billion in the last five months of fiscal 1981.

"As arbiter of mores and morality for the country, you can see what a BIG MAN I am!"

Exercise physiology need

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I take part in more than one event at our track meets in high school. Should I rest completely or should I move around between events? Would that be wasting muscle energy for the next event? — G.E.

Have you ever attended a college track meet? Don't you notice all the hubbub going on continuously all over the area? Those waiting between their events are in constant activity. It's not just nervousness, but a physiological need. Let me try to explain.

You are concerned about muscle fatigue and how best to prevent it. We are not absolutely sure what causes muscle fatigue. But let's take the example of the short-time events, like the dashes and jumps — not long-distance running.

In the short-burst events, where intense effort is reached and held for less than a couple of minutes, the energy used is the kind made in the muscles without benefit of oxygen (anaerobic). What seems to stop energy production in this kind of oxygen-less muscle activity is a buildup of lactic acid. As lactic acid levels rise in the muscle and blood, the muscles tire.

At complete rest it takes about 25 minutes to remove half of the lactic acid that has built up. Strangely, if you keep moving during a rest period, exercising at low levels of intensity (walking around, for example) it takes only about 12 minutes to remove the same amount of lactic acid. The lesson here is that you should not lie around during intervals between events. This is why you see all that movement around track fields.

Athletes know about this from experience without being told. Whether they realize it or not, they are removing the lactic acid buildup and increasing their muscles' energy potential for more of that oxygen-less energy for the next event. Of course, stretching exercises before each event are important, too. That is to keep muscles limber and avoid strains and sprains.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Osteochondritis dissecans. Can't pronounce it. My doc says I have it in the ankle. I had a leg cast for it. Will I be able to participate in sports when the cast is removed? My doc says not yet. I got it playing basketball. Can this lead to early arthritis? — C.D.M.

The cartilage covers bone ends to let them slip over one another when the joint is bent. The cause of this cartilage disturbance is still being argued, but injury is often cited. Landing on the feet from a jump is an example. A basketball player who lands on his toes with his foot slightly turned in is a setup for osteochondritis dissecans of the ankle.

Rest of the joint is required to let the cartilage heal. A piece of cartilage may break off into the joint capsule and become a loose body. If so, surgery may be required to remove the piece. I know you are disappointed with the cast, but apparently your doctor is convinced that healing has not yet taken place. It does take time, sometimes as long as six months. If it doesn't heal, it can do permanent damage to the joint and lead to arthritis. So be patient. When your cartilage heals you will be able to resume athletics.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I pestered my father for a weightlifting bench. He got me one for Christmas. Now, I am

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: It seems like many Christians today are having problems with divorce. Why do you think that is the case? — Mrs. P.C.R.

DEAR MRS. P.C.R.: This is not an easy question to answer, but I believe there may be several reasons for this distressing and serious problem. And I pray that whatever the reasons are, sincere Christians will realize the importance of having Christ at the center of their lives and their marriages.

One reason for this problem is that far too many Christian young people have never given serious consideration to God's will concerning their choice of a marriage partner. Many have automatically adopted the standards and values of the world, instead of seeking what God says in the Bible about marriage.

For example, many Christian young people have grown up assuming that such things as physical beauty and attraction are of prime importance. They have forgotten (or have never been taught) what the Bible says about such things — that they are of far less importance than spiritual qualities.

Listen to what the Bible says about

Weightlifting will not hurt your baseball career. It won't make you muscle-bound. This is a mistaken notion. Done properly, weightlifting will not only increase muscle bulk, but will also add strength and endurance. To get off to a good start, find one of the many good books on proper ways to lift weights. In that way you maintain your form without straining your muscles. Don't try for weight records. Try good form with weights that are comfortable for you. To avoid stiffness you have to do muscle-stretching exercises.

In response to reader requests, Dr. Donohue's publisher now has a complete listing of all the booklets on various medical problems. Readers wishing this list can write him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for return mailing.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

the godly wife: "Don't be concerned about the outward beauty that depends on jewelry, or beautiful clothes, or hair arrangement. Be beautiful inside, in your hearts, with the lasting charm of a gentle and quiet spirit which is so precious to God" (1 Peter 3:3-4, Living Bible Paraphrase).

Some have perhaps failed to do what they should do to keep the spark of love alive in a marriage. A good marriage does not happen automatically — it takes commitment and work on the part of both partners.

"Submit to one another out of reverence for Christ. Wives, submit to your husbands as to the Lord... Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her" (Ephesians 5:21-22, 25). As part of this, some Christian couples may have drifted away from the Lord and allowed sin and selfish desires to dominate their lives.

Whatever the reasons, I am convinced that Christian couples today need to do all they can to strengthen their families and instruct Christian young people. God has given marriage to us, and "what God has joined together let man not separate" (Matthew 19:6).

Most reporters to boycott high-priced Nixon visit

SEATTLE (AP) — Most of Seattle's press corps planned to boycott former President Nixon's fund-raising speech here Sunday because of a $150-a-person admission fee demanded by the Republican Party.

Some called the entry fee "checkbook journalism." "I'm sorry they feel that way," responded James Medley, King County Republican chairman. "We're not trying to sell news ... but we are not giving out complimentary tickets, even to our own staff ... I don't think we can turn around and make exceptions."

"We're not trying to keep anybody out," he said. "It's just like buying a movie ticket. You don't expect to get in for cost or for free."

Medley said Nixon would not give any interviews during his two-day stay here but the county Republicans will give free tape recordings of his speech to reporters.

As of Friday, only the Seattle Times and the Tacoma News Tribune, of area news organizations contacted, had purchased tickets to the county Republican fundraiser at the Washington Plaza Hotel.

A poll of other news media — including the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, the Everett Herald, the Daily Journal American in Bellevue, The Associated Press, United Press International, and Seattle's three network-affiliated television and radio stations — showed they were refusing to pay the admission charge.

"We're not going to have our news coverage held hostage," said P-I Editor William Asbury. "We're not going to make a political contribution for the right to hear Mr. Nixon, or anybody else."

New Syrian-Christian fighting in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian and Christian forces battled in Beirut Saturday with artillery, rockets and mortars, and the neighborhood where PLO leader Yasser Arafat lives was reported hit. President Reagan's Middle East envoy met with Syrian leaders in Damascus trying to defuse the crisis. Police reported 40 people injured in the fighting, bringing to 70 the number wounded in 24 hours. Eight people were killed Friday, police said. Associated Press Photographer Bill Foley reported from the Christian suburb of Hadass that Syrian soldiers were firing rockets, mortars and artillery into Hadass and other Christian neighborhoods.

Foley said he could see at least four fires burning in Hadass, and that the Christians and a Lebanese army tank were shooting back at the Syrian positions in Moslem West Beirut.

As his limousine traveled the Beirut-Damascus highway through eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley, Habib could see the surface-to-air missiles Syria deployed April 28 after Israeli jets shot down two Syrian helicopter gunships near the besieged Christian city of Zahle.

Israel has demanded the missiles be withdrawn, Syria refused and the confrontation between the two threatens to drag them into a new war.

Habib declined to discuss his mission with reporters, but Beirut newspapers quoted Lebanese officials as saying it was to seek a resolution of the missile standoff and to persuade the Christians and Syrians to return to the positions they held before April 1, when the latest battles began.

The Syrians want to drive Christian militias out of eastern Lebanon for fear the Christians will allow Israel to use their enclaves as a springboard for an attack toward Damascus.

U.S. envoy Philip C. Habib drove from Beirut to Damascus, meanwhile, and met with Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam. He was to see Syrian President Hafez Assad later in the day and head for Israel Sunday.

About 22,000 Syrian soldiers have been in Lebanon since the end of the 1975-76 Christian-Moslem civil war. The Syrians are supposed to police the civil war truce, but Christians say they have become an occupation army.

Administration will hike funds for black colleges, Bush says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush, stating there should be no doubt about President Reagan's commitment to civil rights, said Saturday the administration will increase federal spending for black colleges and universities.

But the vice president, speaking at Howard University, offered no details in his speech and made no specific promises.

"Let there be no doubt among minority Americans regarding the commitment of the Reagan administration to our nation's civil rights laws and to the principle and practice of equal opportunity for all our citizens," Bush said in remarks prepared for the predominantly black university's spring commencement program.

As Bush spoke, several dozen graduates stood and turned their backs to him to protest the Reagan administration's foreign policy and its domestic budget cuts. Outside the stadium where the commencement was being held, about 50 protesters chanted and said the administration was anti-poor and anti-black. In his speech, Bush said that while an argument is being made that the nation's "historically black universities and colleges are not as important as they once were," the Reagan administration does not subscribe to that position.

"America's black colleges and universities are considered so vital to our country's educational, social and economic structure that it is this administration's intention not to cut, but to increase funding to these irreplaceable institutions," he said.

While Bush was voicing strong support for civil rights, Attorney General William French Smith was speaking critically of mandatory school busing and quotas, some of the most frequently used tools of integration.

The attorney general, in his first major speech since taking office, told the Business Council, meeting in Hot Springs, Va., that to avoid creating a "new intolerance," civil rights remedies should rely on practical solutions instead of rigid ideology. "Some remedial devices have been too extensively relied upon to the detriment of equal opportunity ... The frustration and anger resulting from some of those remedies have jeopardized some of the progress that has been so hard won," he said.

It would be tragic, he said, "if overreliance on particular remedies — like mandatory, massive busing and mandatory quotas — were to spawn a new intolerance in place growing good will."

Smith pointed to the administration's plan to use the financial incentive of free college tuition to encourage a voluntary cross-district desegregation in St. Louis and its suburbs, citing this as an example of practicability.

While the civil rights division of the Justice Department has moved ahead with several important cases, the president has yet to announce a choice to be assistant attorney general for civil rights. The post has been vacant since Jan. 20.

CONTACT LENSES AND SPECTACLE BLURR

Blurred vision existing after contact lens removal is normally associated with hard contact lens wear. It is caused by a condition known as edema, swelling of the corneal tissue from decreased oxygen supply under the lens. Spectacle blur lasting longer than fifteen minutes may be an indication of a fitting problem. In severe cases it has been known to lead to corneal pathology and abrasions. It is normally remedied by a change in the fitting of the lens or a change in lens material. Today, corneal edema is not accepted by contact lens practitioners and a patient need not experience blurred vision in switching between contact lenses and eyeglasses.

Bess Truman is recovering from surgery

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former first lady Bess Truman, in stable condition Saturday and recovering from hip surgery, is receiving get-well messages from people around the country — including former President Jimmy Carter.

"She spent a good night, and her vital signs are stable and within normal limits," a nursing supervisor at Research Medical Center said Saturday. "She has received about a half-dozen flower arrangements and numerous cards from well-wishers."

Dr. Wallace Graham, longtime physician for the 96-year-old widow of President Harry S. Truman, has given no indication when Mrs. Truman will be moved out of the hospital's intensive care unit, the supervisor said.

Mrs. Truman underwent surgery Thursday on her right hip, which was broken Wednesday when she fell while trying to get out of bed at her home in nearby Independence, Mo.

Cut in MHMR staff, services would follow slash in funds

If services and staff sizes decrease, Cavanaugh said, some $70 million in federal funds could be on shaky status. The state receives those funds for meeting minimum federal requirements on the care for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

Cavanaugh said there are no staffing problems at the present time but there could

Clean mosquito breeding places

By DAVID G. FOSTER
 Extension Agent — Entomology (PM)
 Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Upton, and Reagan Counties

Recent rains have brought a mosquito problem to Howard County. Standing water from these showers makes an excellent breeding place for mosquitoes, noted Extension Agent-Entomologist David Foster.

Mosquitoes can lay eggs wherever standing water is available for a week or longer. "Old tires, tin cans, birdbaths, roadside ditches, rain gutters, temporary water containers and swampy places all can hold enough water to provide breeding sites for mosquitoes," the Extension Agent warned.

If mosquitoes are a problem the first thing to do is eliminate their breeding sites.

Empty out old tires and place them where they cannot collect additional water. Flatten and discard tin cans. Change the water in birdbaths every week. Clean out rain gutters, remove temporary water containers and see that rain barrels and water storage tubs are tightly covered. Drain standing water from ditches and swampy areas.

"If there is standing water that serves as a breeding site but cannot be drained or eliminated, treatment with a larvicide will be necessary," Foster said.

One of the most effective larvicides is No. 2 diesel oil with a biodegradable spreader, applied at a rate of 20 gallons for each surface acre of water, or approximately 6 ounces per 100 square feet of surface.

Abate, malathion, or Dursban applied to standing water at rates indicated on their label also are effective larvicides, the Extension Agent said. But he warned that labels should be read carefully to determine the hazards these insecticides pose to persons applying them and to fish and animals that may use the water.

Control of adult mosquitoes offers the most immediate relief. Inside the home, aerosol bombs containing pyrethrin offer quick knockdown of adult mosquitoes. The killing effect of pyrethrin is very short-lived, so frequent application will be necessary to control adult mosquitoes inside the home. The "pest strip" offers effective indoor control for long periods. One pest strip for each average size room is necessary to control mosquitoes.

Persons who are active where mosquitoes are a problem should use repellents. These repellents will protect you from biting mosquitoes for from one to three hours, depending upon your type of activity.

Adult mosquitoes around the home can best be controlled by space or residual treatments of insecticides such as malathion, Dibrom, methoxychlor, or Dursban. Space treatments, generally fogs, have very little residual activity and require repeating at frequent intervals. Space treatment should be done during the cool hours of the night or early morning and when wind velocity is less than five miles an hour.

Residual treatment applied as mists or sprays to the resting sites of adult mosquitoes gives longer-lasting control than space treatments. These should be applied to vegetation, leaves of roofs, under porches, and similar shaded areas where adult mosquitoes rest by day.

Hot, dry summer weather should dry out these temporary pools of water and give people some eventual relief from these biting mosquitoes.

pushing the program costs up for 1982.

The commodity sections of the new farm bill tentatively adopted by the committee two weeks ago bear little resemblance to what Reagan and Agriculture Secretary John Block originally proposed.

In drafting the bill, the committee denied the administration the broad discretion it was seeking in setting price support levels. As it has in the past, it set specific levels of support, generally at higher rates than the administration had intended under its plan.

The panel also retained over Reagan's objections a target price program for many commodities. Under such programs, farmers receive direct government payments if the national average price for their crops is below a targeted price.

The support programs, operated generally through loans, set a floor price for commodities, giving farmers the assurance that they will be paid at least that amount for their crops. While much of the cost is recovered as loans are repaid, the initial expense in making the support loans is Looking for ways to cut $1.2 billion from bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee, in an attempt to meet mandated spending targets for next year, is looking for ways to cut $1.2 billion from the farm price support program it already has approved.

Congressional analysts maintain that substantial reductions are needed in the support level for milk, which they say accounts for more than a third of the legislation's 1982 budget overruns.

Such reductions would give President Reagan a significant victory in the farm bill, which now calls for dairy supports well above those he recommended.

But after generally accepting elimination of an April 1 increase in dairy price supports, the dairy industry has been lobbying heavily for the 1982 support levels initially approved by the committee.

With the May 15 deadline for completion of the bill approaching, Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., said committee members already have reached general agreement on trimming support levels over the next four years for commodities other than milk and sugar.

Dole indicated Friday that the revised levels still would be higher than those

All persons taking part in the caravan are reminded to bring a sack lunch and to wear their old-style clothes.

SNYDER BOOKS & GIFTS

"Y'ALL COME!" — The recent caravan to the cities of Colorado City, Gail, Snuder and Lamesa did a great deal to promote the local centennial. In addition to telling people about the many festivities, the local delegation also left signs with merchants in those cities telling about the centennial, including this sign by the front door of the Snyder Books & Gift store. The second caravan is scheduled to visit the cities of Stanton, Midland and Odessa next Saturday.

Nursing home administrator donates books as honorarium

Malone-Hogan Hospital School of Radiology was the recent recipient of two classroom textbooks, made possible by a local nursing home administrator, in lieu of an honorarium for his services in the commencement exercises last October.

Billy Hendricks of Mountain View Nursing Home requested last fall that the honorarium be made in the form of classroom needs. As a result, two textbooks, "Radiation Protection in the Radiologic and Health Services" and "Radiation Protection: A Guide for Scientist and Physicians" were added to the school's library recently.

"This is the second time that Hendricks has made it possible for us to have new textbooks for our students," said Dr. Buerk Williams, director of the school. "We are deeply grateful."

The two year accredited school combines four daily hours of classroom instruction with four hours of applied hospital training.

Okie storm kills man, damages high

By the Associated Press

One man died and at least eight others were injured in a thunderstorm that pummeled northwest Oklahoma late Friday and early Saturday, police said.

Hail the size of baseballs and winds of up to 100 mph beat four northwest Oklahoma counties, flipping over mobile homes and vehicles before the storm weakened and spread out on its eastward journey across the state.

Police said T.E. "Buck" Henshaw, 52, was killed shortly after midnight in his mobile home southeast of Laverne. Harper County Sheriff Tony Alexander said Henshaw's mobile home was flipped several times by the high winds and he suffered a broken neck. Mrs. Helen Henshaw, the victim's wife, was hospitalized for back injuries and released later Saturday, police said.

Alexander said the mobile home was near an oil drilling site where Henshaw worked.

Damage of nearly $2 million was reported by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol, which said three people were injured slightly in Beaver County where five mobile homes were destroyed, and several other buildings were damaged. Five others were hurt further east in Woodward County where six mobile homes were damaged or destroyed and three cars and a semi-truck were overturned by the high winds, troopers said.

The storm first surprised residents of Texas County in the Panhandle at 9:45 p.m., the patrol said.

Decorations, fuel bids on agenda

Decorations for the courthouse during the Centennial, and a conference with the county engineer are two items of business up for discussion when the Howard County commissioners meet at 9 a.m. Monday.

Commissioners will also consider gravel and fuel bids, and will hold a conference with Judith Gray, librarian, on the reading program and personnel.

The group will consider adoption of a resolution on the Big Spring Independent Education board approves new commissioner.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Raymon Bynum, an expert on the intricacies of school finance, was appointed state education commissioner Saturday by the State Board of Education.

The board also approved phonics-oriented supplementary materials for first through third grade reading classes — a victory for back-to-basics forces led by Norma Gabler of Longview.

Bynum, 52, will succeed Commissioner Alton Bowen on June 1 for a term extending to 1985. Bowen is retiring.

Bynum was chosen over Spring Branch Superintendent Henry Wheeler in a 15-7 vote of the board when it met Friday as a committee of the whole. The action was ratified Saturday.

French election too close to call

PARIS (AP) — The French decide Sunday whether to give center-right President Valery Giscard d'Estaing another seven-year mandate or opt for the drastic change of direction offered by Socialist Francois Mitterrand.

Most analysts have termed the election, a rematch of the 1974 contest, too close to call. In the 1974 election, Giscard d'Estaing won by a 1.6 percent margin, or just over 420,000 votes.

The president is campaigning on his record, which he says has been marked by stability, the maintenance of France's position in the world, and an economic program which, if not completely successful, at least is better than most Western countries have managed in a time of world economic crisis.

11 major companies along with large increases in public spending and public works projects to create jobs.

Giscard d'Estaing has retaliated by saying Mitterrand's program of nationalization would frighten away private investors and that his plans for a 35-hour work week with no loss of pay would be inflationary and in fact increase unemployment because of added costs to business.

"I propose five objectives: conquer unemployment, restart the economy, construct a more just, more free and more responsible society, restore the vigor and independence of France and defend peace in the world," Mitterrand said in a final television broadcast.

Mitterrand's weakest point — the fact that he will be forced to compromise with France's pro-Soviet Communist Party if he is to govern effectively.

Throughout the campaign, the incumbent has charged that Mitterrand would be a prisoner of the Communists and his program would be only what Communist Party leader Georges Marchais will allow. The president repeatedly has called on Mitterrand to "show your colors" and say precisely what concessions he is prepared to make in order to form a coalition with the Communists.

Mitterrand has refused to be specific on the major questions of whether he will appoint Communist ministers, what he will do if he doesn't win a parliamentary majority, and how much he is willing to concede the Communists in an eventual leftist majority. Giscard d'Estaing is hoping that this uncertainty will force many middle of the roaders into his camp and that a last minute conservative surge.

National Hospital Week activities include flags

Special weeks come and go but Big Spring has good reason to join in the celebration of National Hospital Week May 10-16. Hundreds of volunteers work in local hospitals and the combined industry employs more people than any other industry in town. In a sense, every day is Hospital Day in Big Spring, according to local hospital administrators.

A flurry of flags, a "quackery" exhibit, tributes and receptions for nurses and volunteers plus a display of art by Kindergarten students are a few of the activities planned by National Hospital Week here.

Kicking off the local celebration will be the VA Medical Center's "Avenue of Flags" Monday. From sunrise to sundown, 75 flags will line both sides of the hospital drive, in a salute to the memory of veterans whose families donated the banners. Throughout the week, the hospital will recognize the nurses and volunteers in receptions and recognition ceremonies.

Patients will be treated to a concert on the lawn in front of the hospital. A cost-savings suggestion contest will be a week-long project.

Most hospitals are concentrating on participating in the Big Spring Railroad Centennial this year. Several events will precede the NHW celebration, while others will coincide with Centennial Week.

Big Spring State Hospital has already hosted its service awards for volunteers, and its annual rummage sale is over. Malone-Hogan Hospital will have recognized its employees and volunteers in ceremonies during the previous week.

MHH will hold part of its plans for observing National Hospital Week for the following week, in order to participate in the Howard County Railroad Centennial. "We had planned to use NHW to honor the early doctors who came here on the railroad in the late 1880's, during NHW, to provide some advance publicity to the Centennial celebration the following week. But in response to requests from several citizens, who felt that our newspaper articles and medical exhibit would complement the Centennial Week celebration, we will open our exhibit and publish their stories during that week," hospital administrator John Bingham said.

Malone-Hogan will exhibit stories and memorabilia of four early doctors, whose descendants still live here. They were Dr. W. C. Barnett, Dr. J. H. Hurt, Dr. G. T. Hall and Dr. G. S. True.

During the week, the NHW Malone-Hogan Hospital will feature an exhibit on "Quackery," with reproductions of old posters used in medicine show days. This display will be in the lobby of the hospital, courtesy of the American Medical Association of Chicago. A reception for Howard College graduates will be held that week, and for three days the hospital staff will conduct its fourth annual Kindergarten Days — an educational seminar for area school children.

The following events will take place May 10-16:

Monday, May 11 — Malone-Hogan Hospital, reception for ADN Students, 3:30 p.m.; VAMC, Avenue of Flags, all day; Howard College Cafeteria, VA Volunteer Awards, 7 p.m.
Tuesday, May 12 — Malone-Hogan, Kindergarten Days.

Wednesday, May 13 — Malone-Hogan, Kindergarten Days.

Thursday, May 14 — Malone-Hogan, Kindergarten Days; VAMC, Concert on the Lawn, 6:30 p.m.

Friday, May 15 — VAMC, Nurses Appreciation Tea, 2-4 p.m.

Individuals within the hospitals are coordinating the different events. At Malone-Hogan Hospital, Volunteers Lauretta Glass and P.D. Heith will coordinate the Kindergarten Days, and Jean Connelly, director of Nurses will direct the skit, performed by employees. The reception for the graduates of the ADN program is a joint project of the hospital and the Volunteers.

Midland insurance firms deluged with damage claims

MIDLAND — Midland insurance firms have been deluged by damage claims following the savage hailstorm which fell here Thursday.

Some of the hail was as big as baseballs. Numerous windshields were shattered, hoods and fenders of cars dented and the roof of at least one mobile home east of the city suffered heavy loss. On East US 90, one farmer's crop was completely destroyed. A hailstone which fell on Wilson Upchurch's place six miles east of Midland measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference.

The rainfall at Midland Air Terminal eight miles west of Midland was reported as only a trace.

Burglary nets prison term

Thomas Lujan Jr., 20, of 1505 S. Main, entered a guilty plea to charges of burglary in 118th District Court on Friday, and was given a five year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections, Huntsville.

James Michael Hobbs, 31, San Angelo, also entered a guilty plea to a probation violation charge in 118th District Court.

Hobbs was given a five year sentence in TDC.

Thomas M. Tucker, recreation specialist, has been selected as Employee of the Month at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp.

According to officials at the camp, the award is presented to an employee who has demonstrated above average or outstanding performance, or who has provided a special service or contribution to a special program.

Recently Tom has unselfishly given of his own time to insure the success of a cooperative program between the VA Hospital and the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp. This is a unique program in which the VA uses the camp's modern recreational facilities and the VA in return provides the camp with recent big name movies to be viewed by the inmate population.

Tucker has also developed, and currently supervises and coordinates, a staff exercise program with approximately 20 percent of the staff signed up to participate.

Tom's consistent high performance of normal work duties during the month combined with his superior efforts in the above noted special programs has

UH athletic department troubles SWC

DALLAS (AP) — The University of Houston is almost two months behind in paying off about $500,000 in debts incurred during the 1980 football season, a Dallas newspaper reported Saturday.

The debts include a split of gate receipts to visiting opponents and television income from the regional telecast of the Houston-Rice football game, The Dallas Morning News said.

In the Southwest Conference, a team making a regional appearance keeps 30 percent of the payoff from ABC-TV and the remainder is divided into 10 equal parts awarded to each of the nine teams and the SWC office.

Since the telecast in question involved two conference teams, the $402,000 paid by ABC is split in half by Rice and Houston. Each keeps 30 percent of that amount, with the remainder to be divided among the other teams and the SWC office.

While Rice followed the required procedure, Houston did not, assistant athletic director Jon Crosby confirmed to the News.

"This is regrettable and embarrassing," Crosby was quoted as saying. "It is a result of some internal problems within the University of Houston system as well as some turnover in the athletic department ticket office. The greatest single problem has been the change in ticket managers, which has caused us to have to restructure some records."

"In addition, the whole financial system has been undergoing a change from one accounting system to another," Crosby added.

"Things (payments) have been held up, sometimes not rightfully so, sometimes not their issuance. We cannot write checks from the athletic department and there has been a delay in their issuance."

North Mr. RBI for Giants

MONTREAL (AP) — Bill North drove in six runs, four on his first career grand slam homer, to power the San Francisco Giants to an 8-2 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday.

With the Giants ahead 2-1, Joe Morgan led off the seventh with a single and moved to second when Montreal starter Steve Rogers, 3-2, walked Johnnie LeMaster. San Francisco starter Vida Blue legged out an infield single to load the bases for North, who parked Rogers' 3-2 pitch over the right-field fence for his first homer of the season.

Blue scattered seven hits to raise his record to 3-2.

Bench, Foster help slug Astros

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench belted a milestone homer and George Foster knocked in two runs with a double, leading the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-5 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday.

Bruce Berenyi, 3-1, contributed a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning. He needed last-out relief help from Joe Price.

Foster laced his double in the first off Joaquin Andujar, 1-2, erasing a 1-0 Houston lead. Then Bench singled and Joe Nolan, who had two hits and scored twice, followed with a sacrifice fly for a 3-1 lead.

Bench lined his 358th career homer, a two-run shot, in the sixth off reliever Bob Sprowl. The homer tied Bench with Yogi Berra for 29th place on the all-time list and gave the Reds a 9-2 lead.

Cincinnati's Ron Oester extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a leadoff single in the second when the Reds opened a 5-1 lead. Oester scored on Ken Griffey's double and Dave Concepcion followed with his team-high 26th RBI on a single to center.

Tribe wins in 9th

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Jorge Orta scored an unearned run in the 10th inning when nobody covered home plate and Sid Monge contributed two innings of clutch relief pitching to lead the Cleveland Indians past the Minnesota Twins 2-1 Saturday.

Orta singled, took second on Jim Hargrove's sacrifice bunt and scored on Miguel Dilone's infield single after escaping a run-down between third and home. As shortstop Pete Mackanin was chasing Orta, no twin covered home. Third baseman Dave Engle was given an error on the play.

Tree kills spectator in Byron Nelson Classic

DALLAS (AP) — Spectator Otis John Clark's death caused by a tree branch that fell on him during the Byron Nelson Golf Classic left golfers who saw the accident without much enthusiasm for playing out the round.

"You really don't care about your game," said Charles Coody when asked his thoughts at the time of the incident Friday. The threesome of Coody, Gene Littler and Pete Brown had hit their final approach shots to the third hole and were walking up to the green.

The limb, which fell from a century-old live oak tree behind the No. 3 green at the Preston Trail Golf Club about 9:30 a.m., was about 25 feet long and 18 inches thick. It plunged some 50 feet into a group of spectators.

Clark, 46, of the Kansas City suburb of Grandview, was on vacation expressly to see the tournament, friends said.

Three spectators were injured.

Red Sox roll

TORONTO (AP) — Dwight Evans drove in five runs on a three-run homer and a bases-loaded single and Jim Rice belted his 200th major league home run to pace the Boston Red Sox to a 10-3 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays Saturday.

The Red Sox chased Jim Clancy, 1-2, in the fourth inning. Reliever Luis Leal came on to walk both Dave Schmidt and Glenn Hoffman to tie the game at 2-2 before being taken out for Mike Willis. Evans then hit his two-run single.

Cubs bomb Brave

ATLANTA (AP) — Steve Henderson drilled a two-run homer and Bill Buckner drove in two runs with a pair of hits as the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Atlanta Braves 7-3 Saturday night.

REWARD FROM ALI — Former heavyweight boxing champ Muhammad Ali presented the City of Atlanta with $400,000 to be used in the reward fund for information leading to the arrest of a killer in the slayings of 26 young blacks.

He just wants to be the heavyweight champion

Cooney doesn't claim to be great

NEW YORK (AP) — "I never claimed to be great, never will," says Gerry Cooney, who will settle for just being champion. The 24-year-old Long Island Irishman takes what should be a last step toward a heavyweight title bid Monday night when he fights Ken Norton, a man who knows the pressure of bigtime boxing, in a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. And it will be a million-dollar step or stumble for Cooney, who is unbeaten and ranked No. 1 by both the World Boxing Council and World Boxing Association, but who is still questioned in the areas of the quality of his competition, his ability to take a punch and his stamina. The 35-year-old Norton is getting $850,000 to find the answers. If Cooney answers the questions negatively, Norton would be right back in the title picture, a position he occupied for most of the 1970s. "Right now I'm feeling good because I enjoy fighting again," said Norton, who twice has fought for and failed to win the universal title and who gained WBC title recognition when Leon Spinks was stripped for failing to defend against Norton. "My goal is to do the best I can every time I fight," said Norton, who lost the title in his first defense on a split decision to Larry Holmes June 9, 1978. He then retired after being knocked out in one round by Earnie Shavers and fighting a 10-round draw with Scott LeDoux in 1979. He launched a comeback last Nov. 7 with a split decision win over previously unbeaten Randy Cobb. "I'm just a fighter like anybody else," said Cooney, who tires of being called a "White Hope." He also is weary of being referred to as a one-armed fighter who throws only left hooks. That hook sent sparring partner Walter Santemore to the hospital Friday with a split lip. If Cooney, of Huntington, N.Y., boosts his record to 25-0 — he has 20 knockouts going into Monday's fight — his 26th fight will be against Mike Weaver, the WBA champion, or WBC champion Larry Holmes. Cooney's co-managers — Mike Jones and Dennis Rappoport — and Don Manuel, Weaver's manager, are confident it will be Weaver-Cooney. But it could be blocked by a court battle involving promoter Bob Arum, who claims to have ties to Weaver and who is insisting on a Weaver-James Tillis fight. Norton, who lives in Los Angeles, takes a 42-6-1 record, with 33 knockouts, into what will either be a last hurrah or another chance at the title.

COOLING IT — Fernando Valenzuela, the Los Angeles Dodgers rookie pitching sensation, cools off his arm in a tub of ice during a news conference at New York's Shea Stadium Friday night. Valenzuela earned his seventh victory with no defeats with Friday's win over the New York Mets. It is his fifth shutout lowering his ERA to 0.29.

Foul on last race cost Brenham AAA girls title

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — It looked as if the girls of Brenham were cruising to a second straight state track title when two judges away from the scene spotted a foul on the last turn of the last race of the night. The foul made Gregory-Portland the Class 4A champion. Goliad won the 3A competition Friday night at gusty Memorial Stadium. Brenham anchor girl Florence Walker was disqualified for cutting off Canyon's Theresa Stone. It cost the Cubs 20 points and gave Gregory-Portland the title. Goliad was the 3A winner with 42 points, holding off a fast-finishing team from Aledo, which wound up with 40 Champions in A, A and 5A will be crowned today. The meet featured a national triple-jump record of 40-9½ by New Caney's Terri Turner, who shattered the record of 40-1½ set in 1980 by Charlotte Reese of Florida, S.C. Brenham, paced by double-winner K.K. Felvey, looked like a sure winner going into the 1,600 relay. The Cubs needed only a fifth-place finish to overtake Gregory-Portland, which had 40 points but no entry in the last relay. Felvey, a winner in the 800 and 1,600, was on the relay team. A UIL official said the judge nearest the foul raised no flag because he was screened from the action by other runners. Two other officials saw the infraction and quickly called it. Canyon, which crossed the finish line behind Brenham, got the 1,600-relay win and Gregory-Portland got the state title. The winners captured only one race, the 200-meter dash won by Pam Mitchell. Brenham and Dallas Madison tied for second with 37 points. Goliad, with 42 points, clinched the 3A crown with a fourth-place finish in the 1,600 relay at windy Memorial Stadium. Aledo won the relay and used the 20 points to jump to a second-place overall finish with 40 points. Dalhart and LaGrange tied for third with 30. Chandai Phillips of Waco Connally topped the national best in the 100-meter hurdles, but the 13.6 effort was wind-aided and won't stand as a record. Catherine Shaw of Ballinger won the 3A shot put with a state record toss of 46-1½. Dallas Madison beat the 4A 400-meter relay record with a time of 46.8. Jacksonville's Michell Tatum cracked the 4A shot put mark with a 43-3¼ heave. Palestine Westwood's Bonita Brown set a 3A 11 meter record at 11.7. She nipped Goliad's Estell Barefield, who set the record last year at 11.9. Miami's Susan Bean set a Class A long jump record at 18-11½.

Catfish hungry at Lake Spence

Catfishing continued to set the pace at Lake E.V. Spence during the past week, but striped bass were stirring again. There were numerous reports of blue catfish catches, along with channel catfish and a few yellow catfish. The largest was a 17½-lb. blue cat, but pressing closely was a 15-lb. striper. Reports from the lake included: Paint Creek Marina — C.C. Weir, Robert Lee, 9½-lb. blue catfish; A.L. Womack, Odessa, 8-lb. yellow catfish; Doug Phillips, San Angelo, and Roy Blair, Sterling City, a 16-lb. 7-oz. blue catfish on trotline; Wildcat Fish A Rama — Bill Emerson, Big Spring, 6-lb. striper; Skinny's Hillside — Jim Hubbard, Robert Lee, a 17½-lb. blue catfish; a 15-lb. striper; three channel catfish to 2 lbs.; Bill Enzor and Sparks Burnett, Robert Lee, 10 channel catfish to 3 lbs. and a 7-lb. blue catfish; Wallace Tomlinson, Robert Lee, 14½-lb. yellow catfish and 20 channel catfish to 2 lbs.; D.A. Counts and Larry Sprites, Robert Lee, 11 channel catfish to 4 lbs.; C.C. Weir, Robert Lee, two 8-lb. striper; six crappie, and two blue catfish to 10 lbs.

WILL THE SHOW BE WORTH IT??? — University of Illinois quarterback Dave Wilson sets to throw a pass before more than 13,000 fans at the final Orange-Blue spring scrimmage Saturday. Wilson completed 12 of 15 passes for 188 yards, but his decision to play next year has been ruled in violation of Big 10 rules, and that conference has placed the most severe probation in its history in the school. Illinois U. is protesting, however, and may drop out of the Big 10.

Commie Party warns jail attack threaten's Poland's security

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's Communist Party said Saturday the smashing and burning of a police station south of Warsaw threatened the security of the nation, but it praised the independent union Solidarity for trying to defuse the riot.
 Some 500 people besieged the station in Otwock 20 miles from Warsaw Friday after they heard that police beat two men pweked up for disorderly conduct at a railroad station. A smaller crowd returned later, set fire to the building and smashed it with iron bars and sledgehammers.
 The party newspaper, Trybuna Ludu, said the attack "must cause indignation and concern. The incident was a threat not only to the calm in the Otwock and Warsaw area but also for calm, order and security in the whole country."
 Trybuna Ludu said police "underlined the positive role played by Solidarity." Dissident leader Jacek Kuron, an adviser to Solidarity, tried to calm the crowd after firemen put out the blaze, but it was rekindled, fire hoses were slashed, and the station was gutted.
 The official PAP news agency said about a dozen youths, most of them drunk, smashed the burned shell during the night with iron bars and sledgehammers.
 Trybuna Ludu acknowledged that police handling of the two jailed men, who were later released, might have been "incorrect," but went on: "That it came to burning down a police station deserves punishment."
 Warning Poles to consider the implications of repeat incidents, it said, "Shall we

Aggie charged in murder of roommate

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — A 20-year-old Texas A&M student from San Antonio has been charged with murder in the stabbing death of his roommate, authorities said.
 Leighton Barry Hurst, a sophomore wildlife and fisheries science major, was accused Friday of killing Joseph Dill, 19, a San Antonio freshman who had majored in accounting, police said.
 The victim had been stabbed several times and his throat slashed, police said. Hurst was held in the Brazos County Jail in Bryan.
 A neighbor called police early Friday and reported hearing screams from the students' Tanglewood Apartment, officers said.

Couple 'unadopts' 15-year-old son

MIAMI (AP) — After two years of trying to get rid of the adopted son they considered a trouble-maker, a Miami couple has convinced a judge to cancel the adoption.

The 15-year-old boy, who was adopted five years ago, was assigned temporarily to a county group home. He could be adopted again, placed in a foster home or assigned permanently to the group home under Friday's "unadoption" order by Dade Circuit Judge Adele Segall Faske.

"In a situation such as this, no one ever wins," the judge said. "There's a lot of forgiving to do. A lot of rebuilding to do."

Tom and Sally Daft were told to contribute "reasonable" financial support until the boy is permanently placed.

Neither the boy, whose name was kept confidential, nor the Dafts spoke during Friday's hearing, except to answer the judge with a simple "yes" or "no." None of them made any comment afterwards.

 The boy was arrested in March after he admitted burglarizing the Dafts' home, police said. The judge agreed to withhold adjudication in that case if the youth testifies against two others charged with him.

"We've been actively trying to get rid of him for two years," Daft told The Miami Herald last month.

School officials said the boy has frequently run away from home, was suspended twice, set a fire in a locker, got poor grades and often fought with other children.

But a state-appointed guardian and social workers described the youth differently.

"He is an intelligent, well-dressed, personable young man who has been cooperative and attempted to communicate clearly," said Sherill Valdes, director of social services for the public defender's office.

 "He's motivated," she added. "He hopes to attend college. He's bright enough to do it, too."

Social workers privately attributed the problems to a poor match, noting that the Dafts are conservative fundamentalists. They said the boy probably should have been placed in a more relaxed, rural atmosphere.

The Dafts took the boy in 1976, when he was 10, for a six-month trial period as foster parents. He was troublesome then, Mrs. Daft said.

 "We didn't think it was working out," Daft said. "We should've followed our instinct and got rid of him."

But they figured things would change when he was adopted.
 "He has controlled our life since we've known him," Daft said. "We've tried to get him all kinds of help, but he resists everything...."

"People might try to change him, but they can't. His will is so strong. No one can get to him."

Pros name Angie's legs best

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Angie Dickinson has the most beautiful legs in Hollywood in the view — strictly a professional one, of course — of members of the Los Angeles County Podiatry Association.

Miss Dickinson, who starred in the thriller "Dressed to Kill," topped the "Ten Best" list selected by association members in observance of national Foot

Health Week, which begins Monday

"She has a good proportional relationship of the developmental musculature and obviously takes good care of her lower extremities," said association president Dr. Jay Borstein. "I'm very flattered and awfully glad they were looking." Miss Dickinson replied when informed of her selection.

GI to face murder raps

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A white Army private has been returned to Buffalo to face three murder charges in connection with a series of killings of black males, and a prosecutor says he is "at the center" of investigations of other killings.

Joseph Christopher, 25, of Buffalo, was whisked into the Erie County Holding Center amid tight security Friday night, flanked by 15 law enforcement officers and wearing a gray ski mask over his face.

Arraignment was expected on Monday, said Erie County District Attorney Edward C. Cosgrove, who has headed the investigation into the series of seven killings that began here last year.

Christopher was indicted in three of the seven deaths. But at a news conference Friday night, Cosgrove said Christopher "stands at the center of our investigation" of "several open cases" remaining.

Couple allegedly shot by daughter

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Garland police officers have traveled to El Paso to take custody of a teen-age girl named in an arrest warrant issued after her adoptive parents were found shot to death in their suburban Dallas home.

El Paso police detective Pete Valdez said 17-year-old Donna Pope and a male companion, Larry Gene Howell, of Denver, N.C., were arrested at an El Paso discount store Friday afternoon after they allegedly tried to charge some cassette tapes on one of her parents' credit cards.

Both were charged with credit card abuse Friday afternoon and ordered held without bond by Court-At-Law Judge John Fashing.

Police said Miss Pope met Howell, a truck driver, through a CB-radio conversation on her way to El Paso.

Valdez said Garland police were expected to take Miss Pope back to Garland Saturday.

Miss Pope's 8-year-old brother, Damon Clinton

Pope, found their parents' bodies when he got up for school about 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Donald C. and Carol Pope, both officers in Dallas financial institutions, had each been shot in the head.

Garland police said Miss Pope's brother Clint went to the house of neighbor Don Brumley and asked for help after discovering his parents' bodies.

Brumley said the boy told him that "his mother and father were sick. He said his sister was gone and he just assumed she had gone to school."

Mrs. Pope, dressed in nightclothes, was found sprawled on a living room couch. Pope was found lying face down in a hallway. Police said they apparently were shot Thursday night.

Brumley told police that when he arrived, the television was on and a blood-stained white German shepherd was wandering around the house.

Police found an empty pistol holster in a dresser drawer in the master bedroom.

"There's been multiple gunshots fired in the house because there's bullet holes in the wall," said Garland Police Commander R.M. McCraw.

A neighbor said Miss Pope had called him several times Thursday night threatening to leave home over an argument with her parents.

"She called me last night and said she was leaving," said Steve Hearn, who lives next door to the family. "She said she had it out with her parents and she and her father had had an argument about 6:30 p.m."

Hearn said the girl did not say what the argument was about.

Danny Coleman, principal of Lakeview Centennial High School where Miss Pope is a student, said she has run away from home several times previously.

"I talked to her as recently as yesterday in the lunch line, and she didn't seem to be bothered by anything," Coleman said.

Post office, university fails to make the grade

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Just in case Robert Wilson is wondering, he has passed his basic engineering course in Army ROTC at North Carolina State University.

The university and the post office tried in vain to notify Wilson that he had passed the course.

The letter, mailed March 16, 1981, was finally returned to the university because the post office said it couldn't find him.

Postal officials returned the letter April 30 and said they couldn't explain what happened to it for nearly four decades.

Sgt. James O'Herron, who investigated the returned letter, said the certificate was mailed to Wilson's father in Los Angeles. O'Herron said the envelope probably slipped behind a shelf at the post office and was found when the shelf was moved.

The location of Wilson was unknown.

State Fire Marshal announces opening of two regional offices

AUSTIN — The State Fire Marshal's Office, State Board of Insurance, will open two new regional offices in Lubbock and Corpus Christi this month. The first two regional offices were opened last year in Huntsville and Duncanville.

William P. Daves Jr., chairman of the State Board of Insurance (the agency under which the State Fire Marshal's Office operates), said the opening of the two new offices is part of a continuing effort to regionalize the operations of the State Fire Marshal.

Key votes of area lawmakers listed

Harle-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Most of the important legislative votes this week were cast in connection with amendments offered in the House version of the 1982-83 appropriations.

Votes in the Senate were generally routine and non-controversial.

Here are a few of the key votes of your local or area legislators:

HOUSE

On an amendment to the appropriations bill that would have increased funding of bilingual education programs by $20 million during the biennium.

The amendment has tabled, and this defeated, 84-50.

For: Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring and Walter Grubbs of Abilene.

On an amendment that would have increased the monthly salaries of higher education employees, excluding professors, assistant professors and some professional positions by $160 a month and another $65 in 1983.

The amendment was defeated 60-81.

For: Shaw.

Against: Grubbs.

On an amendment raising the annual "non-recurring payment" to welfare children from the $110 per year provided by the bill to $120, at a cost of $5 million.

The amendment was approved, 74-65.

For: Shaw.

Against: Grubbs.

On a motion to table, and thus defeat, an amendment that would increase department of Public Safety salaries by $2 million in an attempt to retain current employees.

The motion failed 15-120. A vote for the motion to table is a vote against increasing DPS salaries.

For: Grubbs.

Against: Shaw.

SENATE

On a bill amendment that would raise the auto license registration fee cars under 3,500 pounds from $12 to $17 to help finance the construction and improvement of county roads and state highways.

The Senate approved the final version of the bill 28-3, but defeated an amendment that would have kept small car fees at $12 and raised the fee on most medium-sized cars from $22 to $27.

The amendment failed 26-5.

Against: Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

On a bill requiring bodies to be embalmed, refrigerated or placed in tight containers if not buried within 24 hours of death.

The bill's sponsor failed to obtain the needed 21 votes to suspend the Senate rules and bring the proposal up for debate. Senators voted 14-12 to defeat the bill.

Against: Farabee.

On a bill that would raise the interest rate on money borrowed against the insurance policies from the current range of 5-8 percent to as much as 15 percent.

Trickle became flood
How Reagan captured the House

WASHINGTON (AP) — They came in a trickle at first, the Republicans from the Northeast and Midwest. Then came the Southern Democrats.

But the trickle turned into a flood, as Ronald Reagan opened the door of the Oval Office and invited 60 or so members of Congress who were crucial elements, in the view of White House aides, in his effort to win his biggest test so far on Capitol Hill.

Now, the president is at Camp David, relaxing in the mild spring of a Maryland mountaintop. His top aides took a day off — Chief of Staff James A. Baker III was turkey hunting on Saturday — and others also left the White House, missing Farah Fawcett, who peeked in at the vacant Oval Office.

And the Democrats were left wondering whether they could resist another ride on the Reagan roller coaster when it starts running on the tax track.

Before he left town, Baker told reporters that the White House had viewed the vote on the budget-slashing blueprint "tough but doable."

The next test, on the president's desire to cut income taxes 10 percent a year over three years, is "tougher but do-able," Baker said.

Luxuriating in the aftermath of the 270-154 vote of late Thursday, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said Friday that the administration would stand firm on the size and timing of the tax cut plan.

But he did indicate there may be some room for compromise on a few minor aspects of the tax-cut package.

Larry Speakes, a deputy White House press secretary, said Saturday, "we don't plan any compromise, but the president has always said he's willing to listen to anyone who has an idea."

Administration officials take pleasure in pointing out that the measure that was approved by the House on Thursday was not the president's original budget plan.

By setting the overall fiscal 1982 budget, which goes into effect next October, at $689 billion, the House cut even further the budget the president sought in his own effort to reduce government spending.

The measure emerged as a compromise sponsored by Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, and Rep. Phil Gramm, a conservative Texas Democrat.

"If Gramm-Latta was a compromise, give us more," said Speakes. "Anytime we can get 103 percent of what we're asking for, we'll take it."

Speakes said that the administration had targeted about 60 Democrats as likely allies on the budget vote. With party discipline nearly gone, the White House figured, their individual concerns could be dealt with.

Then, it would be a matter of bringing them around slowly.

Thus, there was a two-pronged attack.

Squads of administration supporters focused on the individual congressional districts, seeking to apply pressure while the representatives were at home during the Easter recess.

Then, when they returned, the chore shifted to the president himself.

He began on April 28, as the House and Senate returned from the recess. Seeking to muster all the drama he could, the president chose the House of Representatives for his first public appearance after the March 30 attempt on his life, and before a nationwide television audience reshaped his reasons for wanting to cut spending.

Nothing beats the smoked flavored taste of something from the grill. . . and no grill can beat the fun, convenience and economy of a versatile gas grill.

Gas Grilling is versatile
You can sizzle a steak, grill a burger, smoke a ham, barbecue a bird, roast an ear, even bake a potato. You can cook many different foods a variety of ways, many at the same time on a versatile gas grill.

Gas Grilling is delicious
You get that great outdoor smoked flavor without the charcoal mess. No lighter fluid is needed and a gas grill requires very little clean-up. There's no wait either, because gas grills reach cooking temperature fast.

Gas Grilling is economical
You can "cook" a full family meal for just pennies. Gas grilling costs less than a third of what it would cost on an electric grill and less than a tenth of the cost for charcoaling. A national survey proved it.

Gas Grilling is cooler
It keeps the heat out of the kitchen so your air conditioning won't have to work so hard. That's important during the summer. . . plus a gas grill is the perfect meal maker for any season of the year.

And Gas Grilling is now 20% off!
Buy now and you'll save 20%. The purchase price has been reduced 20% but only until August 1, 1981. . . and you have eight styles and sizes to choose from. With all the features to make grilling fun, convenient and economical.

Belle Ringers to present concert today

Ringers, of which the choir is a member, was formed in 1954. Most of the music that the group performs is new, or has been recently arranged for bells.

The church presently has four handbell choirs: two for children, beginning in the fourth grade, and one each for young people and adults. The youth and adult choirs occasionally travel to handbell festivals that are held in various parts of the country. "We hope to be able to purchase another set of bells soon," stated Mrs. Dawes. "This would enable our choirs to perform together in concerts."

Though most of the Belle Ringers are members of the Methodist Church, participation is open to anyone with a love, and some knowledge, of music. The group's present members include a Baptist, Catholic, and Disciple of Christ. The group practices each Thursday during the school year, and disbands in the summer in order to spend time with their families. The women come from many walks of life and have many different interests. Their love of music, however, brings them together as the Belle Ringers.

Today's concert is open to everyone, and a special invitation is extended to all mothers and their families. There is no charge for admission, and a nursery will be provided.

A variety of musical selections will be performed including religious, popular and traditional handbell pieces. Among the 14 selections will be "Fanfare for Bells" by Mary G. McCleary, "Music Box Dancer" by Frank Mills, "Amazing Grace" arranged by Ellen Jane Lorenz, and "She'll be Comin' Round the Mountain" arranged by Phyllis Anschicks.

In addition to the bells, several members of the choir will add their talents on other musical instruments to the performance. Featured in various songs will be Donna Newell on the flute, Penny Hollar and Linda Miracle on the piano, Debbie Galbraith on the guitar and Peggy Williams, tambourine. A special selection will be narrated in sign language by Leslie Earnst and interpreted by Debbie Jones. Also featured in the performance will be Charlotte Shelton, who will present a solo performance of "With a Song in My Heart" on the bells.

SOLO RINGER — Performing a solo selection on the handbells today will be Charlotte Shelton. She will present an arrangement of "With a Song in My Heart", accompanied on the piano by Penny Hollar.

Story by Tina Miller

In celebration of their 10th anniversary, National Music Week and Mother's Day, the Belle Ringers of First United Methodist Church will present a Mother's Day concert today at 3 p.m. The concert will take place in the sanctuary of the church, located at 400 Scurry.

The Belle Ringers presently consist of 14 members including their director, Susan Dawes. During the past 10 years, more than 50 women have participated in the choir. The group presents an average of 20 concerts each year, with most of the performances occurring during the Christmas season.

The Belle Ringers were first organized in 1965, when First United Methodist purchased two octaves of bells. The bells were made by Schulmerich Handbells of England, in 1965, and are among the first 100 sets that were made by the company.

The group disbanded after approximately two years, however, and was not reorganized until the spring of 1971. At that time, the church had no full time minister of music, and Mrs. Dawes began to re-establish the group. "We thought it was shame not to use the bells," she said. Donations were then received that enabled the church to purchase another octave of bells.

At first, Mrs. Dawes rang in the choir, and the group had no director. Then, as the music they performed began to become more complex and the choir grew in size, a director was needed. Mrs. Dawes, who has a music degree from North Texas State University in Denton, then became the volunteer director.

Since that time, the group has acquired two more octaves of bells, for a total of five octaves, or 51 bells. The bells were purchased one at a time through memorials and donations. "The bells are quite expensive", stated Mrs. Dawes, "and their prices go up rapidly. They are made of bronze, an alloy of copper and tin. The bells vary in weight from eight ounces to 6½ pounds, and range in size from 2½ inches in diameter to 10¼ inches diameter." The current value of the bells, according to Mrs. Dawes, is in excess of $6,000.

All handbells are made in England, where the art of handbell ringing began. Bell ringing in choirs is a relatively new form of musical art. The American Guild of Handbell

Golden anniversary is celebrated

Beta Sigma Phi observes Founder's Day

The Beta Sigma Phi City Council and the four local Beta Sigma Phi chapters celebrated the Golden Anniversary of their founding April 30. This anniversary is celebrated annually and is the occasion on which the Council and chapters recognize outstanding participation of their members in council, chapter, and community events.

This year's celebration was observed at the Big Spring Country Club. Nancy Fulgham, president of City Council, was the toastmistress welcoming the Howard County Woman of the Year and approximately 40 Beta Sigma Phi members. Offering the Beta Sigma Phi Grace was Cindy Jones, Alpha Phi Delta. Following a buffet style dinner, New Dimensions from Howard College, under the direction of Joe Whitten, entertained with both religious and secular songs.

Peggy Payne, Mu Zeta, presented the Chapters' Year in Review, highlighting some of the outstanding chapter events. The Founder's Day Pledge, read by Ruth Vineyard, Alpha Kappa Omicron, was followed by the message from Beta Sigma Phi International Office, presented by Connie Edgemon, Council Secretary, Mu Zeta. This message praised the efforts of Beta Sigma Phi members for developing new chapters, bringing many new members into existing chapters, increasing the Memorial Scholarship Fund, and enrolling almost 1500 daughters, nieces, and granddaughters in the Legacy Daughter Program.

Cell Bedell and Barbara Richardson of Alpha Kappa Omicron sang the Golden Anniversary prize-winning song, "Share Golden Treasures," accompanied by Betty Downey.

Of the many outstanding Beta Sigma Phi members in Big Spring, each chapter must select one member as Girl of the Year and one outstanding Pledge of the Year. Alpha Phi Delta, a Golden Anniversary Friendly Ventured Chapter, selected Markay Brashears as their Pledge of the Year, presenting her with a Beta Sigma Phi rose necklace. Markay's husband, Maxy Brashears, is an exchange repairman for Southwestern Bell. Markay's days are filled with being a mother and housewife. She has three children — Lori, Matthew, and Shell. Her hobbies are sewing, plants and reading. Markay is treasurer of her chapter and chairman of the service committee. She also serves on the scrapbook committee.

Jeannie Newton, president of Alpha Phi Delta, was selected as her chapter's Girl of the Year. She was presented with a Girl of the Year pin. In addition to being president of her chapter, Jeannie is on the social and membership committees and is a city council representative. Jeannie and her husband, Steve, presently have a lawn service. During cotton season, her husband drives a cotton transport truck and is self-employed. Jeannie's hobbies include reading, crafts, and skiing.

Alpha Kappa Omicron chose Linda Miracle, their president, as Girl of the Year. Linda is a teacher at Washington Elementary School and her husband, Dan, is in the oil business. They have one son, Shad, who is three years old. Linda and her family attend the First Methodist Church. Her hobbies include reading, embroidery, crewel, and playing the piano. Linda joined Alpha Kappa Omicron in 1980 as a transfer member from Kermit, where she had been president of that chapter. Linda was also vice president of City Council for the past year.

The Pledge of the Year for Alpha Kappa Omicron was Barbara Richardson. Barbara pledged in 1980 and has been very active in the chapter since that time. She was selected as the Valentine Sweetheart in 1981, and was recording secretary in 1980. She is presently City Council vice-president elect. Barbara has two children and is employed by Hillcrest Baptist Church in the nursery.

Sharon Richardson, vice-president and treasurer-elect of Mu Zeta, was chosen as their Girl of the Year. Sharon joined the chapter in 1979 as a transferee from a chapter in Alice. She has served on the membership and social committees this year, as well as being a contact person. Sharon was presented with a silver bride's tray in honor of her selection. She is a teacher at the Big Spring High School and her husband, Don, is the County Extension Agent. They have two children, Brent and Shanna. Sharon is very active in supporting her children's involvement in 4-H activities and in her spare time she enjoys collecting crystal pieces.

The Mu Zeta Pledge of the Year is Diane Turner. Diane pledged last fall, and was recently elected recording secretary. This year she served on the social committee. She was presented with a silver engraved candy dish. Diane is employed by Corbell Electric and her husband is an engineer for Baroid. They have two children, Dwight and Cliff. Diane's hobbies include water skiing, home decorating, and reading.

The Exemplar Chapter, Xi Pi Epsilon, chose Donna McIntosh as their Girl of the Year, presenting her with a gift of butterflies under glass. Donna has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for 14 years, and a member of Xi Pi Epsilon since its founding. She has served her chapter as president, vice-president, recording secretary, and treasurer, as well as on many standing committees. She was selected as chapter sweetheart in 1980 and has served as City Council president. Donna is the manager of a local 7-11 Store. She and Bill, her husband, an employee of Coaden, have been married 15 years. Donna is the mother of four children and is a grandmother. She enjoys gardening and canning in her free time.

Joan McCollum, a fellowship member of Xi Pi Epsilon, was selected as their Pledge of the Year. Joan's husband, Weldon, is employed by Coaden Oil Co. They have two daughters. Joan works at the Agriculture Soil Conservation Service office in Colorado City as office manager. She is a native of Lorraine. Her hobbies include home decorating and plants. Joan has recently completed her pledge training and impressed her chapter with her active interest and participation in chapter functions. She is a City-Council representative-elect for the upcoming year. Joan was honored as pledge of the year with a wooden candleabra.

The Howard County Woman of the Year, Dr. Louise Worthy, was selected from several candidates. She has been practicing medicine 26 years. She obtained her undergraduate degree from the University of Texas, and her Doctor of Medicine degree from Tulane University in New Orleans. Dr. Worthy is a member of the American Medical Association, the Texas Medical Association, the Permian Basin Medical Association, and the Texas Pediatric Society. She is the mother of three children and her husband, Jerry, is in the construction business. Dr. Worthy has served on the school board at St. Mary's Episcopal Church where she and her husband are members, and has served on the board of the United Fund. Nancy Fulgham, president of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council, was elected as the Beta Sigma Phi of the Year. Nancy was raised in Big Spring and is married to Roe Fulgham. They have three grown children. Until recently, Nancy was a teacher at Big Spring High School. Last year she opened a book shop in Highland Mall, the Book Inn. Nancy has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi since 1967, pledging Alpha Beta Omicron. While a Ritual of Jewels member, she held every office and was on every committee over a period of seven years. She was Girl of the Year twice. In 1975, she progressed to Xi Pi Epsilon, an Exemplar Chapter. Since progression, she has served as chapter sweetheart in 1980. In addition to having been president of City Council this year, Nancy was president in 1970 and has served on the Council six years and is a representative-elect for next year. Nancy's hobbies are reading and needlecraft, which she enjoys when there is time from running the book store and sorority. Nancy is a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where she serves on the School Board. She was presented with a full-jeweled Exemplar pin in honor of her selection.

Nancy presented her City Council Executive Board with Beta Sigma Phi book markers in appreciation of their work this year. She also thanked each of the chapters for their participation in making the year and the Golden Anniversary Founder's Day Celebration a success. The celebration was closed with observance of the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

The club will decorate a float for the R. R. Centennial parade May 25.

Fannie Kent, Ruby Rutledge and Jan Ryan were appointed on the nominating committee to select officers for the new year.

Five members reported attending the District 6 meeting at Odessa April 23. The club will furnish three cakes to BSSH.

The R.R. Centennial Cookbook being compiled by the HCEH clubs is attracting quite a bit of interest. Old-time recipes are being unearthed by members to submit.

The next meeting will be May 12 at 2 p.m. in Kentwood Center to complete Centennial plans for May 21-30 week.

CITY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

Dorine Zilburg, 2805 Mac Auslan, gave a program on the "Life and Arts of Rhodesia," her former home, to the City EHC as they met April 10. Mrs. Clyde Johnston hosted the meeting with Mrs. D.D. Johnston serving as co-hostess.

Other guests were Mrs. J.F. Seals of Fresno, Cal. and Mrs. Clide Roberts.

Birthday cards were presented to Alta Lee Underwood, president.

April calendar was discussed and announcement made about the quilts to be shown at Potton House at a future date.

Homemakers week was discussed with instructions to plant a tree May 3-9 commemorating the Railroad Centennial.

Twenty-three members attended.

"Western Artifacts" was the program of the April 24 meeting of City EHC at the Bonanza Restaurant. Eighteen members and two guests attended.

A Centennial Style show was planned for May 6 at Mountain View Lodge with a sing-a-long.

The 4H picnic the night of the meeting at the Fair Barn was discussed with some members planning to attend it.

A Homemakers College is to be held at Las Cruces, N.M. June 16-19. All members were urged to enroll.

Western art appreciation was encouraged by Mrs. Bob (Sherril) Wegner for the City Home Extension Club which met for a luncheon at Bonanza Restaurant, April 24. Western bronze sculpture pieces by Jim Thomal were displayed on the tables.

Western paintings owned by Mrs. Wegner, a local art dealer, were shown as she discussed points of interest in paintings done by A.D. Greer, Wayne Baize, Jim Ward, Charles Russell, Larry Dyke, Justin Wells, David Brownlow, George Boutwell, Mary Seifridge, and Bob Tommey. Both originals and prints were included in the collection.

The group of 19 members was advised to study art magazines and visit galleries and museums to increase knowledge in art work. Art is to be enjoyed. Western art fits well into many types of decor and should be judged carefully before selection. A good painting has a sense of wholeness, gives a sense of organization, and discipline.

The artist reveals his knowledge, imagination, talent, perhaps his dream, and also records history on canvas as he paints, thus communicating these qualities to the observer.

When purchasing art as an investment, consult a reputable art dealer or advisor who knows the popularity of artists and their works. The value of an art piece depends on how well-known the artist has become, and whether his work is sold over wide areas.

COAHOMA EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. B.A. Bunn gave the devotional opening the meeting of Coahoma EHC April 15 at 11 a.m. It was taken from Luke 24:22-49.

Mrs. Ray Swann hosted the salad luncheon with Mrs. Rufus Parks and Mrs. Joe Nixon co-hosting.

Roll call was answered with a description of each ones wedding dress by the eight members present. Mrs. Hazel Reed attended in addition as a new member.

Mrs. B.L. Mason gave the HCEH Council report. Mrs. Swann won the door prize.

The May 3 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. W.J. Tinner.

CREATIVE EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

Larry Bristow, director of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, presented the program at Creative Homemakers meeting April 13. Mrs. Pat Johnston hosted the meeting in her home.

Bristow helped the club to understand how fortunate Big Spring is to have as a unique facility as the Rehab Center is, both in equipment and personnel.

The next meeting, to be the last one until September, will be May 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gordon (Gayle) Cavnar.

The more popular an artist has become, and how fast an edition sells also influences the price. Bronze sculpture prices are high because it is an expensive process and is time consuming.

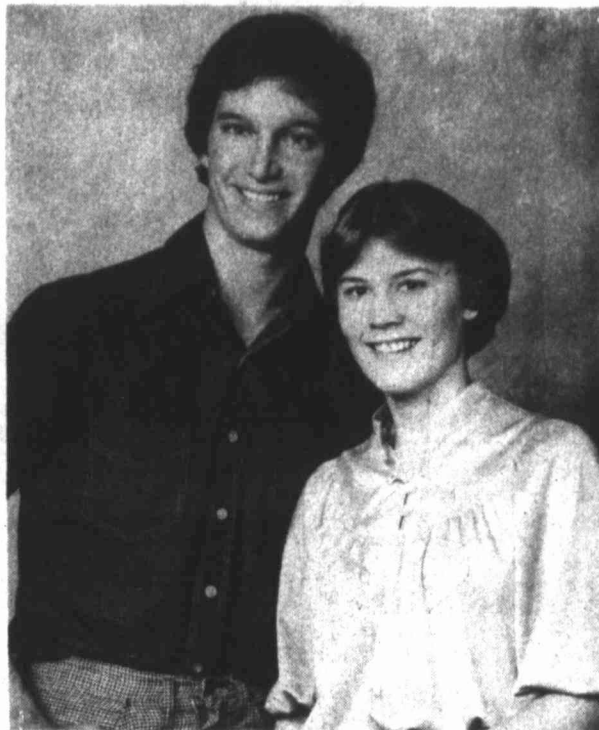

Mrs. Wegner closed with advice to the members to "Buy a good piece of art or sculpture. It will grow on you."

Mrs. Ross Callihan explained to the group that this study of art work is part of a community-wide program sponsored by Janet Rogers, county home extension agent to help homemakers become better consumers of art works.

In preparation for this program, a training session was given in the Biarritz Gallery 115 E. 3rd by Mrs. Jan Iden on April 20. She discussed the importance of framing to give the painting proper importance, and advised that lighting and background can make or break a painting, as she showed paintings done by Jerry Seagle, Paul Kime, Sarah Shelton, Dick Powell and Betty Demarre.

Portraits done by Muller-Lux were shown as she

Mothers-in-Law Must Speak Softly, With No Stick

DEAR READERS: Sunday, May 10, is Mother's Day. Many suspect that it is just another commercial holiday dreamed up by florists and merchants to stimulate business.

Not so! Mother's Day was conceived by Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia, who in 1907 persuaded her minister to have a special church service the second Sunday in May to honor all mothers. Those with living mothers wore red carnations, and those without mothers wore white carnations. This custom is still observed in some areas.

Mother's Day is a day of gladness to most mothers. But not for all. I should know. For weeks following Mother's Day, my desk is covered with letters from mothers who have been snubbed, slighted or forgotten.

Two typical Mother's Day letters:

DEAR ABBY: The day my son got married, he forgot that he has a mother. Every holiday — including Mother's Day — his wife drags him to her people, and he goes like a little puppy without even putting up a fight.

LOST MY SON

DEAR ABBY: My son lives in the same city with me, but I'm lucky if I see him six times a year for 10 minutes. Then on Mother's Day he sends me a bouquet of roses. Big deal!

HURT

Each year, disappointed mothers send me the verse: "A son is a son until he takes a wife, but a daughter is a daughter all of her life."

My mail constantly reaffirms the fact that one of the most sensitive of all human relations is the one that exists between a woman and her mother-in-law. (There is far more friction between a woman and her husband's mother than between a man and the mother of his wife.)

Recently, I received a letter from a young wife who asked, "Who should sit in front with my husband when we take his mother out for a drive?"

I replied, "Out of respect for her age — his mother." Well, the brickbats started flying from all directions. Readers quoted Scripture: "And a man shall leave his father and his mother, and cleave unto his wife."

One mother wrote to remind me that the Ten Commandments say, "Thou shalt honor thy mother and thy father" — and it doesn't say one word about the mother-in-law!

You don't have to be a Dear Abby to know that being a good mother-in-law is one of the most difficult roles in the world.

Now that I am a mother-in-law, I have resolved to abide by two simple rules:

Never offer advice unless it's asked for.

Never ask questions that are none of my business.

I am trying earnestly to be the best mother-in-law possible. And I must say that my chances for success are excellent, because for 41 years, I have had a wonderful teacher — my own mother-in-law, Mrs. Jay Phillips. God bless you, Rosie. You are the best! Love,

Club installs officers

Mrs. Thelma Carlile, outgoing president of the Music Study Club, turned the gavel over to the newly appointed president, Mrs. Gaye Cowan at a salad luncheon and meeting held at Mrs. Carlile's home, May 2.

Mrs. Marjoleen Newsom, former member of the club and guest of honor at the meeting, officiated in the installation of new officers. She made the ceremony lively and interesting by portraying it as an Academy Award with all the frills of the real one in Hollywood. Each new officer received a candle in the shape of a silhouette simulating an "Oscar".

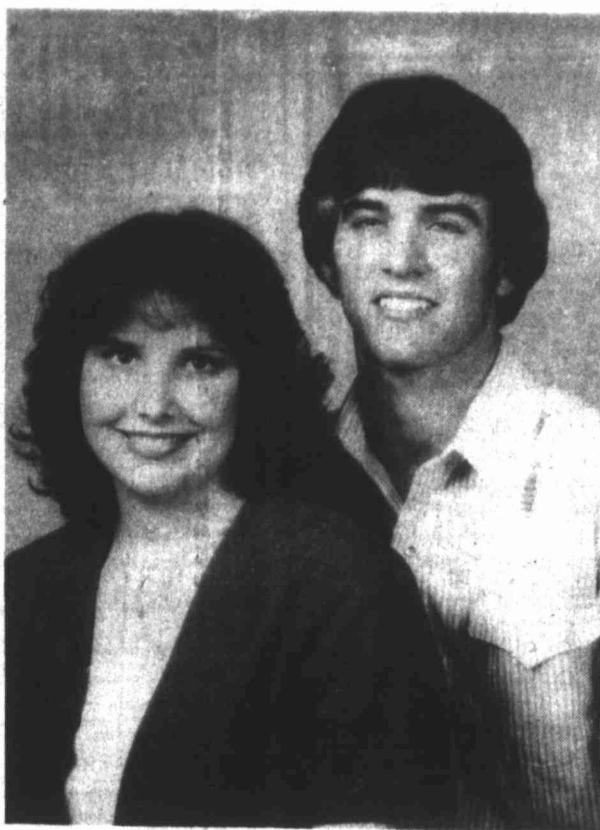

The newly installed officers are: Mrs. Gaye Cowan, president; Mrs. Mary Skalicky, first vice-president; Mrs. Maureen Haddad, second vice-president; Mrs. Dorene Zilberg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Melvin Newton, recording secretary; Mrs. Marjorie Dodson, treasurer; Mrs. Jean Cantrell, reporter-historian and Mrs. Thelma Carlile, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Newsom closed the ceremony with a song which words conveyed a message to the new officers: "In performing your duties, have confidence in yourselves, and others will have confidence in you."

Fort Worth. She attended Tarrant County Junior College, Fort Worth, and is presently attending Odessa College as a full-time student.

High blood pressure is dangerous disease

What do you know about high blood pressure? In the last eight years, Americans have become more aware that high blood pressure is a dangerous disease. In 1973, only 13 percent of Americans knew that high blood pressure is a major cause of heart disease. Today, almost twice that many, a quarter of our population, relate high blood pressure to heart trouble. A growing number of people also now know that high blood pressure leads to strokes and kidney failure.

The dangers of high blood pressure are better known, but some people still have wrong ideas about this common illness. Some people confuse high blood pressure "control" with a cure. There is no cure for high blood pressure. To keep it under control, doctors usually use medication to bring down the pressure. People with high blood pressure can bring their pressure into the normal range if they follow their doctor's advice and take medicine every day. If they stop taking their pills, however, their blood pressure will go up again.

Another wrong idea about high blood pressure is "hypertension." So, some people wrongly assume that only anxious or tense people have high pressure, while calm and relaxed people have low or normal pressure. This isn't true. High blood pressure can affect anyone. It is a physical condition in which the heart and blood vessels are strained by blood pumping with too much force through the body. Lawyers, housewives, farmers, executives, students, nurses — anyone can have high blood pressure.

Some people believe a headache, dizziness, or feeling ill are telltale signs that blood pressure is up, but these, too are wrong. High blood pressure has no symptoms. In fact, you can feel fine even though your blood pressure is high, or you can have a headache, for some other reason when your pressure is normal.

That's why medicine should be taken each day at prescribed times. The medicine must be taken just as the doctor says for it to lower the pressure. Ask your doctor what to do if you miss a dose. Make sure the prescription doesn't run out. Treat high blood pressure every day, regardless of how you feel.

In addition to medicine, doctors sometimes tell their blood pressure patients to watch their weight, cut down on salt, exercise more, and stop smoking. Some people think they can choose either to take the medicine or to follow the other advice.

This usually isn't true. The advice is meant to be followed in addition to taking medication. The two types of therapies go together. If you watch your weight, cut down on salt, exercise more, and do other things your doctor asks, it will help the medication to work better. As a possible result, you may need to take less medicine.

Do your part to control high blood pressure. Have your blood pressure checked Tuesday. The free screening will be held from 1:00-4:00 p.m. at the Senior Citizen Center in the Industrial Park.
