SWEETWATER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1923.

NUMBER 37.

IDEAL LOCATION FOR TEXAS TECH

Sweetwater is Center of Activities and Population of Empire Known As West Texas.

ACCESSIBLE TO WEST AND STATE

Many Local Advantages Pointed Out As Reasons Why New Institution Can Better Serve Students.

The Texas Technological College is to serve a three-fold purpose, viz: To supply agricultural instruction to West Texas, a section where conditions of climate, soil and moisture differ radically from those of other sections of the State of Texas.

To supply university instruction to West Texas, now remote from existing universities.

And to supply technical education, specializing in textile engineering, to the entire State. As the only existing school of technology west of the Mississippi, this school will be called upon to serve the entire southwest in this respect.

A somewhat unusual situation, therefore confronts the locating board, in that the Texas Tech shall be so located as to serve to best advantage not only a large section of a great state, but that entire state itself and with an additional demand from the entire southwest as well.

This service demands central location and railroads in addition to the proper soil for the Experimental Farms, water, and the other necessities of a purely local nature incidental to the establishment of a great college such as the Texas Tech is destined to be.

Sweetwater is located on the Texas & Pacific Railroad one half way between El Paso and Texarkana, the eastern and western extremes of the State of Texas. Sweetwater is located on the Santa Fe Railroad nearly half way between Amarillo and Austin. The Orient Railroad enters Texas at Altus, Oklahoma, comes straight south to Sweetwater and to San Angelo, then turning west to its present terminus at Alpine on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Sweetwater is located where the farms and ranches of West Texas meet. To the west and south are the great ranches. Southeast and to the north are the great cotton counties of West Texas, like Runnels, Taylor, Jones, Fisher, Scurry and up above the Caprock to the great plains. An empire within itself this great country stretching around Sweetwater.

Placing one point of the compass on Sweetwater and describing a circle with a radius of 150 miles around it, will include the very heart of West Texas, the bulk of its population and the scene of its greatest future development. This circle will touch the New Mexico State line on the west, include the bulk of the Panhandle—Plains country touch the Oklahoma border northeast, swing down east by the 98th meridian, the eastern boundary of the area described in the Tech bill, extend south to Sonora below San Angelo, East from Sweetwater lie the great Eastland and Stephens County oil fields, where natural gas and fuel oil will aid in developing one of the great industrial areas of the state. Coming further west and surrounding Sweetwater are the great cotton counties of Runnels, Taylor, Jones, Fisher, Scurry, Mitchell Howard etc. On to the north are the great fertile Plains and Panhandle the granary of a nation, where, when weather conditions are unsuitable for wheat as they were in 1922, they raise cotton, free from boll weevil as are the other counties named. And to the south and west lie the great ranges unsurpassed for livestock, for the White Face, Hereford, the Rambouillet and Delaine and the Angora goat. The Texas Tech is to aid all these diversified farming interests to produce more profitably from their broad acres, as it is to aid in the coming industrial development of the oil drenched portions of West Texas and of the balance of the state.

Accessibility.

A college must be easily accessible not only to its student body but in the case of agricultural colleges especially, to the adults who profit by short course on animal husbandry, crops, domestic science, etc. Sweetwater is the only town in West Texas situated on three trunk line railroads. On this account it is easily accessible not only to the population it will serve in West Texas, but to the entire state as well. The Texas & Pacific Railroad is the main east and west artery of the entire state as is the Santa Fe Railroad from the Panhandle to the Gulf. And then the Orient Railroad bisects West Texas north and south and swings west into the very heart of the ranch country.

Local Conditions.

The other points to be considered in connection with the location of the Texas Tech are local in their nature and refer to suitable site, climate, water, etc.

Just as Sweetwater is the junction point for the rich farm lands of the north and the range country of the south and west, so is its soil a combination of the good features of the various sections. Here are level bottom land, with rich soil. Here are the rich sandy soils such as have made Fisher and other counties famous for their crops. Here are rolling uplands where terracing can be actually demonstrated to students from points where that is essential. Easily adjacent to Sweetwater are soil samples of every important soil to be found in West Texas.

Here in Nolan County will be found Hereford and Shorthorn herds of remarkable excellence, poultry in a well developed stage, cotton and other crops within easy distance for study and comparison.

The rainfall in Nolan County will average well with that of every other locality in West Texas, as will other climatic characteristics.

A Modern City.

Sweetwater is a modern city in every way. She has a water supply unsurpassed from Lake Trammell, one of the largest artificial lakes in West Texas. Lying in the hills nine miles from Sweetwater, isolated from all contamination, fed by never-failing springs, here is impounded billions of gallons of water, enough to supply a city five times as large as Sweetwater. Sweetwater has two other lakes for swimming, fishing and recreational purposes.

Sweetwater has a modern sewerage plant for the disposal of all waste products and is healthful in every way.

Public spirited to a large degree, in common with that of all West Texas. Sweetwater citizenship has built many public buildings that stand as a monument to their enterprise. Among these is a modern High school, recently rebuilt, now rebuilding three ward school buildings, a new Mesonic Temple recently completed, a Court House that will bear comparison with any in West Texas, two new churches to be built within the year upon which work has already started and which will add to the other church edifices of the city.

Thus it will be readily seen that the location of the Texas Technological College at Sweetwater will enable the institution to better serve the people for whom it was designed—that the student body and adults interested in the college will be able to reach the college with greater convenience from every point in West Texas and the entire state, and it will be placing it in a city that is amply able to support the new institution in every way and care for the religious and other needs of its student body.

STILL A MYSTERY

Local Authorities Unable to Solve Problem Miss Eula Wood, Found Bound, Hand And Foot.

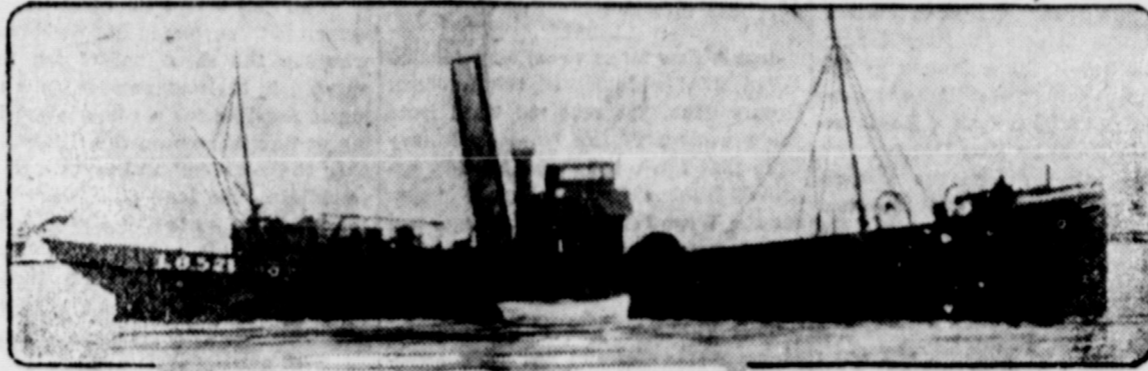

Local authorities were able to throw no additional light on the mystery surrounding the finding of Miss Eula Wood with her hands and feet tied with rope Wednesday morning on the road north of Blackwell.

District Attorney E. I. Hill, Deputy Sheriff Jim Butler, Felton Graham and J. D. Dulaney drove to the scene Wednesday afternoon. They were unable to discover any traces of the alleged assailant but they did discover that the Stator home had been set on fire Wednesday morning with a conflagration averted only by the narrowest of margins.

Mrs. Stator discovered that the floor and one wall had been saturated with kerosene and set on fire. She tried to use water and then finding that worse than useless, she beat out the flames with clothing. This occurred about 2 a. m., and she remained up the rest of the night, being afraid to go to bed.

L. G. Stator returned to his home Thursday. He was not at home when the incident occurred.

Ireland's Navy. It's a Fact

The Irish Navy, long classed with the naval armament of Switzerland, is now a fact. Here in Dan Leary's harbor are one of the three patrol boats which constitute the sea force of the Irish Free State.

ISSUE WARNING OF COLDER WEATHER

Temperature of 14 to 24 Degrees Is Predicted for West Texas Thursday Night—Warmer Friday.

STORMS PREVAIL IN NORTHEAST

Snowing in Washington, D. C., Freezing Temperature Extends Southward Clear into El Paso.

West Texas—Fair and colder. Cold wave with temperature 14 to 24 degrees north and 28 to 34 degrees in south portion. Friday fair and not so cold.

With snow falling in Washington, D. C., and freezing extending as far south as El Paso, snow and cold in the Rocky Mountains and Middle West, with a very heavy snowfall in Chicago, the country is again in the grip of old King Winter with a vengeance. There was a lively breeze in West Texas Sunday and came the report of the nice little flurry in Tennessee that cost that community 29 lives, with storm reports from many other portions of the country.

And again Wednesday the West Texas zephyrs started stirring and the word comes of bad storms in the north and east.

Housewives who complained of the breeze from the southwest leaving a trail of dust in their homes cannot understand why it is that when the wind back up and blows from the other direction it don't carry the dust back outdoors again.

Freezing temperature was reported at Lubbock at noon Thursday.

The weather report as received by radio at the Sweetwater Vulcanizing Company from the United States Department of Agriculture today is as follows:

Shippers Forecast:—Guard against 14 degrees in extreme north Texas during next 36 hours.

General Conditions:—Low pressure continues over the southwest and the plains states, causing snow in New Mexico, western Kansas and extreme north Texas with freezing southward into the middle of the Panhandle region with showers in Nebraska, Iowa and western Missouri. Snow is falling in Washington, D. C., and Chicago.

High pressure prevails in the northern Rockies, causing freezing southward to El Paso, Texas.

Barometric reading at 7 o'clock this morning was 28.901 inches.

IS LAST COUNTY

Organization of Cochran County Under Way On South Plains—To Elect Officers On March 17th.

Special to The Reporter. LEVELAND, Texas, Mar. 15.—The program of a new county each year will come to an end Saturday the 17 of March when Cochran County elects its first officers and withdraws from Hockley County. A sharp fight is being waged between the two contending locations for the county seat. These are both newly established towns. Morton is the center of the Slaughter Ranch estate and is surrounded by a newly developed section of this ranch that has been opened to farmers. Ligon is the other contending location, also the center of a newly opened farming section.

A year ago Cochran County did not boast of a single farm and had but one public school. This year more than 100 farms are being put into cultivation and three public schools will open with the next school term.

Hockley County, one year old next month, organized and withdrew from Lubbock County, taking Cochran County with them under the terms of the law. The population of Hockley county has increased by more than 200 per cent within the past eighteen months and its county seat, Leveland, has developed into a thriving little western town.

Cochran County is the last unorganized county in the Plains and its organization marks the passing of the strictly cattle country. Diversified farming is not replacing the cattleman but is including cattle raising with crop production to a better profit on both.

LEGION PLANS TO AMERICANIZE ALIEN

Veteran of World War Will Turn Whole Attention to Problem Of Foreign-Born.

OWSLEY DIVULGES HIS PLANS

Says Ex-Fighter Will Abolish The "European Settlements" Here At Home.

BY NORRIS QUINN

INDIANAPOLIS, March 15.—How the American Legion soon will embark on a sweeping Americanization program that will do away forever with segregated foreign settlements in American cities was detailed for the first time here by Colonel Alvin Owsley, national commander of the legion.

The World War veterans' program, Owsley said, will aim to restrict immigration for at least five years by Congressional enactment.

TO LIMIT immigration there after "to such aliens as we can assimilate."

TO REFORM conditions at Ellis Island to the end that treatment of incoming aliens will not be such as to render them antagonistic to America.

TO LAUNCH a nation-wide campaign of education in which every American will be asked to join in Americanizing unassimilated aliens.

Four Platform Planks. "Our present program is fourfold," the legion commander said. "We are working for hospitalization of veterans, their rehabilitation, a bonus and Americanization."

"Before long the first three planks automatically will be carried out. We then shall turn our undivided attention to Americanization. "First of all we shall strive to wipe out every 'little Italy,' 'little Poland,' 'little Greece' and every other kind of segregated foreign settlement."

"This we shall carry out through education of aliens. Already hundreds of members of the American Legion in all parts of the country voluntarily are acting as teachers of English and civil government."

"We shall establish free night schools for those who work by day and day schools for those who work by night. We shall call upon Americans living in districts adjoining those where foreigners live to bring America to the aliens."

To Boost Playgrounds. "We shall use our influence for the establishment of community playgrounds and civic centers where the foreign-born will be asked to come and to bring their children."

"Further, we shall ask the federal government to set aside funds to be used in teaching prospective citizens the elements of citizenship. "Already we have initiated a legislative program in every state which forbids instruction in any foreign tongue before a pupil has passed from the eighth grade and which makes a course in civil government, state and national, compulsory in elementary schools."

"While this process of assimilation is going on, we shall ask the government to bar further immigration—for at least five years."

Ask Restriction. "Then we should like to see the government work out a system of limitation of immigration which would admit only those foreigners whom we easily can make into Americans."

Owsley declared definitely that as "assimilable immigrants" he meant those from the north of Europe and added as an afterthought, "and such of those from southern and middle Europe as are willing to accommodate themselves to American institutions."

"Restriction" the commander said, "should be based not on sentiment but on common sense."

WILL GIVE PRIZES FOR BEST YARDS

Three Prizes of $15, $10, $5 in Each of Four Zones of City For Best Looking Yards Will Be Offered.

CITY IS DIVIDED INTO 4 ZONES

Prizes Offered in Each Zone With $25 Prize for Best Paint-Up Improvement—Ladies Are Appointed.

Now comes the opportunity to clean up and paint up and beautify homes and just to make it a sporting proposition, there are some cash prizes of a desirable size offered. Here is the program as worked out by the Clean-Up and Paint-Up Committee:

Sweetwater has been divided into four zones, as follows:

ZONE No. One includes all that part of the city lying south of the T. & P. tracks and West of Lamar street. In each of these Zones there will be given a First, Second and Third prize, of $15, $10 and $5. These prizes will be given in the order named to those three yards, in each of the four Zones, showing the greatest improvement from March 22, 1923 to May 1st, 1923. The improvements contemplated by these prizes do not include painting.

For painting and improvement about the yard combined, there will be given one prize of $25 to that home anywhere in town showing the greatest progress from March 22 to May 1, 1923. The prize shall be awarded by a committee composed of the four chairmen of the several Zone Committees.

In order that no contestant for any one of these prizes may be overlooked, each person desiring to compete for a prize, in requested to register name and home entry with Paul B. Sorenson on or before March 21st, 1923.

For the three yard prizes, the several Zone Committees shall constitute the judges. However, no committee shall judge its own Zone. The committee of Zone No. 1 shall inspect and pass judgment on Zone No. 2; and Zone No. 3 committee shall perform the same services for Zone No. 1. Zone No. 4 shall inspect and pass judgment on Zone No. 2; and Zone No. 2 shall perform the same service for Zone No. 4.

To ascertain present condition, the first inspection shall be made March 22, 1923. The final inspection will be made May 2nd, 1923.

In each Zone the committee for that Zone is expected to boost for clean up and paint up.

Allen Miller, an eminent horticulturist, will deliver an address at the Court House auditorium Friday night March 16—tomorrow night—at 8 o'clock. The several Zone Committees are requested to get the ladies out that night.

EVERY DAY IN EVERY WAY, BETTER BETTER, BETTER VALUE OF A GOOD NAME.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold.—Proverbs 22:1.

HEADED FOR YOU

Get ready folks, the foxy manufacturers are preparing to spring hundreds of King Tut tad-articles on you. One of the first of these will be the Tut-ankh-Amen cigaret. One of the big tobacco companies is getting ready to market it.

A New York firm has placed a rush order with a pottery factory to turn out hundreds of thousands of "Tut pups," good luck statues like the Billiken. These are supposed to be reproductions of the Egyptian "houn dawg" that followed King Tut around the royal palace.

Goldsmiths and their designers are working night and day on orders for Egyptian jewelry, especially bracelets and anklets.

In Washington the patent office is getting ready for a deluge of applications from manufacturers who want to use Tut's names on their wares, with trade mark protection.

First on the job seems to have been Frederick Martin Burns, eastern promoter. As far back as last November 30 he applied for Tut trade marks in 15 different industries—bathing suits, music, clothing, dolls, umbrellas and so on.

Burns even went after a copyright on Tut's name in the fields of music, poetry and fiction. To sew up the name for fiction purposes, he "wrote all night. At about 3 a. m. I finished my story, which is 6000 words long. I don't know anything about writing fiction, but I know how to protect myself for my purposes by throwing in plenty of love, mystery and red-blooded material."

Burns' hunch was to monopolize Tut's name for fiction purposes. Judging from his description, the magazines will fight to get his masterpiece.

A King Tut novel is being churched out. Monte Carlo and Alma Sanders (authors of "Tangerine") have obtained the use of Tut's name for a show and already have written the music and lyrics.

Vincent Lopez is playing Tut music with his famous Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra, New York. He has sent a rush order to Egypt for copies of the sistrum, ringing and chiming instrument found in Tut's tomb. Watch the jazz bands pick it up.

It's a great age we're living in. Study the impending Tut crazes and you'll learn a lot about infectious emotions, the mob spirit and our instinct of imitation which links us with the monkey.

WHERE DO ELEPHANTS DIE?

Body of One Has Never Been Found in India or Africa.

From the Scientific American. One of the great mysteries of the natural history world is where elephants go when they die. Curiously enough, the body of an elephant that has died from natural causes has never been discovered either in India or Africa. Among native races there is a wide-spread belief that, when the great beasts find the end approaching, they make their way to some secret hiding place in which they die. The whole question is just as big a mystery as ever, in spite of the fact that many attempts have been made to solve the problem.

The district where elephants occur in a wild state have been scoured in all directions in the hope of discovering the last resting places of the huge animals, but without any result. Quite recently another determined attempt has been made to penetrate the mystery, but, up to the present, nothing of any value has been discovered. As a matter of fact, the problem has more than a scientific interest to it. Any individual who is so fortunate as to find the elephants' graveyards will certainly have made a fortune. On this spot there must be a huge accumulation of ivory, a commodity which is continually increasing in value.

SELF CULTURE CLUB

Mrs. J. R. Hebery and Mrs. F. G. Robertson were the hostesses of the Self Culture Club at the last meeting in Mrs. Rufus Wright's private parlors in the Hotel Wright. Mrs. Robertson called the meeting to order and asked the First Vice-President, Mrs. R. A. Stewart to preside over the business session. The following program was rendered: Roll Call-Modern dramatics, some of their works. Reading of the Drama—"The Fruit" Mrs. R. E. Withers Interpretative Dance, "Spring" Nancy Elizabeth Favor, Miss Dragoo at the piano. Piano solo "Faust" Miss Dragoo with "encore" "Mighty Lak a Rose" arranged for piano by Miss Dragoo.

Following the program the hostesses served a salad course with hot tea. Mrs. Jim Butler presiding at the tea urn.

Mrs. I. S. Focht and Mrs. W. Morton will be the hostess March 16 at the residence of Mrs. Focht.

Those present were as follows: Mesdames Walter Boothe, Chas. Ragin Lyons of San Marcus, Mrs. R. A. Farrar, Miss Wanda Dragoo, Nancy Elizabeth Fowler, Leona Ruth Butler, S. I. Edwards, Roswell Davis, Jim Butler, J. S. Schooler, G. E. Ramsey, R. A. Stewart, Robert E. Withers, Frank Dragoo, W. W. Beall, Hubert Toler, E. P. Reese, William Marley, I. S. Focht, A. W. Canfil, J. B. Hemby, F. G. Robertson, Willard W. Gibson.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Sunday morning there will be special music at the Methodist church. The choir will render the anthem "Hour of Prayer" by Ira B. Wilson. Mrs. Roy Scudday will also sing at the morning and evening hours. The choir of the Methodist church has changed their practice evening to Tuesday and have already begun preparation for a special Easter program under the direction of Thos. Daws.

Mrs. Lockney who is attending school in Abilene, was called home to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Hill of 204 Orange street, who underwent an operation at the Sweetwater sanitarium.

WEST TEXAS NOTES.

Ranger poultrymen are in hearty accord with the proposal of organizing a West Texas Co-Operative Market at Sweetwater last Thursday to perfect plans for an organization that would embrace all poultry raisers of West Texas.

Poultrymen approached on the matter Saturday are sympathetic towards the idea. One man interested in the business, Beverly S. Dudley, on behalf of a committee representing Ranger poultry interests, wrote J. H. Barber, manager of the Pacific Egg Producers, San Francisco, on Jan. 23, for directions as to the chief sources of information on poultry marketing and the business in general.—Ranger Times.

Want to Guarantee 500-Ga. Minute A representative of the Layne and Bowler Company of Houston was here this week prepared to enter into a contract with the city of Big Spring where they would agree to put down and equip one or two wells and guarantee to supply five hundred gallons of water per minute. This contract to be backed by their guarantee and the test could be continued for one year with the pumps to run twenty four hours per day.

This company is one of the largest manufacturers of pumping machinery in the United States and are experts when it comes to developing a water supply.—Big Spring Herald.

Sweetwater is due a great praise the way she handled the crowd and arranged for the entertainment. Everything moved along nicely and without mishap or accident. The only accident during the day was when a little girl tripped on the sidewalk and broke her arm. The traffic was handled perfectly by the National Guard and the Boy Scouts. We have not heard the slightest remark about Sweetwater falling to meet her part as hostess. She is to be admired for the way in which she kept quiet on the matter of location. She played fair.—Roscoe Times.

Just A Few Miles From New Mexico

Jed Rix, president of the Lubbock Rotary Club, has received word from the president of the Houston Rotary Club that the body unanimously approved Lubbock as the logical center for the West Texas Tech. College, and that letters to that effect have been sent to the members of the locating committee.

That Lubbock meets all requirements of the bill and has great possibilities for future development was given as the reason for the body's approval for her as the location for the important education institution.—Lubbock Avalanche.

TO DARKEN HAIR
APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Tom Green, Coke and Nolan Counties To Pool Car.

Special to The Reporter. SAN ANGELO, Mar. 14.—A carload of poultry will be shipped out next week from this territory under the auspices of the Farm Bureau, it was announced today by Dor Brown, county agent. The shipment will be made in conjunction with the Farm Bureaus in Coke and Nolan Counties under an agreement perfected at Sweetwater, whereby the three bodies are to cooperate in their shipments, thus making it possible for a car to start loading at San Angelo on the Orient, stopping the next day at Bronte and then completing the load at Sweetwater.

Mr. Brown stated that although the market was off a little from what it was last year at this time, that the farmers were assured of a high price.

A CORRECTION.

There were some typographical errors in the story relating to the new church being erected here by the Church of Christ. One statement should have read, "Ira Pullen is superintendent of the Bible Classes under the instruction of the eldership." The last services in the old church will be held Sunday, March 18 with Elder Batsell Baxter as preacher. He was erroneously referred to as "pastor" in Wednesday's Reporter, which contained an error in a line which should have read "meetings were held on the West side."

They Couldn't Know

BACK in 1818 the greatest newspaper of the day declared that the world had reached the limit of human expansion. It even went further, saying that there weren't enough supplies in the world to support further growth of population.

The mind of 1818 couldn't conceive of the miracles that human ingenuity would perform during the twentieth century. It couldn't imagine the wonders that would be wrought by new agricultural methods and modern manufacturing genius. It was ignorant of transportation as we know it, or the progressive sales methods of today. It could not see the vital part that would be played by advertising.

Even today there are some who fail to realize what an important factor advertising has become. Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on the many things we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of satisfaction.

AS THEY SOUNDED TO HER.

Wijit's New Stenographer Has Her Own Idea of Letters.

From a New York Letter in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. "I have a new stenographer," said Wijit, "she's a wonder. She writes what she thinks she hears without regard to what it means. And her hearing does not seem to be particularly acute. For instance, I dictated a letter in which I told a man to look after his 'finite ego,' and the letter advised him to keep an eye on his 'fine eyed dago.'"

"It may have been good advice the same," said Wijit. "Perhaps," was the answer. "But another of her efforts was not so good. That is it did not make much sense. I used the phrase 'colabor with you,' and she wrote it 'coal labor review.' I asked her what she thought it meant and she said it did not mean anything to her. "Going to keep her?" "Sure. She amuses me on a dull, drab day. It is always interesting to read the letters she has turned out to see if 'fly swatter' has become 'ice water,' or if 'cross I bar' has become 'cross-eyed bear.' She writes things as she hears them."

SHIP STOCK.

Pool Car Livestock Leaves Blackwell For Fort Worth With Hargraves.

A pool car of livestock containing 28 head of cattle and 28 head of hogs, was shipped out of Blackwell Wednesday for Fort Worth. The car was in charge of J. C. Hargraves of Blackwell and was made up under the auspices of the Farm Bureau.

Those consigning stock to this car included John Cave, 11 hogs; J. W. Kinsey, 10 hogs; E. H. Magness, 2 hogs; C. M. Roberts, 2 hogs; George Cave, 3 hogs; H. E. Lewellen, 13 head of cattle; J. H. Weber, 7 head, and J. C. Hargraves, 8 head.

BEGINNING TO PLANT.

Farmers are already beginning to plant a little corn and feed and getting it out of the way before cotton planting time in the middle of April rolls around. From present indications there will be from 10 to 15 per cent increase in the cotton acreage planted this year. Last year's acreage was a record breaker with 35,000 acres but this year the acreage bids fair to be in excess of 40,000. The present high price of cotton is stimulating this end of the proceedings.

REPAIRING BRIDGE.

The bridge over Sweetwater Creek, south of town, is now undergoing repairs.

J. D. Jones of Canyon was among the Nolan County stockmen to invest in livestock at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. He brought back with him a fine Shorthorn bull to sire his herd of Shorthorns.

NOTICE, ELKS.

Called special business meeting to night at 8 o'clock sharp. All Elks expected to attend.

AT THE PALACE

Judging by the way yesterday's audience at the Palace Theater received Associated Exhibitors comedy in five parts, "Grandma's Boy" exceeds the liveliest expectations for this much-discussed and widely heralded film.

With its philosophy, romance, exciting clashes, satire on human weakness, pathos and optimism, "Grandma's Boy" is unlike anything Lloyd has ever done and displays the star as an actor of broader scope than his most ardent admirers have known. Here in addition too being exuberantly funny, he shows surprising ability as an emotional player, and the fact he sometimes pulls hard at the tenderest heart strings, gives an idea of the difference of his five-reel effort from all his previous films.

In "Grandma's Boy" the story construction is so clever that the character development is as legitimate as in any serious play. At first one is led to expect merely a bucolic drama. Then the fun begins with its satire on the foolish fears that are a part of most human lives, and it is riotous.

Lloyd's scene with Grandma, played by Mrs. Anna Townsend, an adorable old lady of 79, are among the most charming ever screened. Mildred Davis never before played with so much charm. Dick Southerland's portrayal of the tramp is unequalled, and Charles Stevenson is excellent as the bully. "Grandma's Boy" will appear again tonight.

The early week program is indeed an unusual one, one that is truly entertaining thickly sprinkled with wholesome fun.

Announcements from Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Parker of Wichita Falls have been received by Sweetwater friends and relatives of the arrival of Little Betty Ruth, March 5. Mrs. Parker was a Sweetwater girl, being Miss Frieda McLeod.

BURN TO DEATH.

Seven Women And Two Men Lose Lives When Alms House Burns.

By The United Press.
ANGELINA, N. Y., Mar. 15.—Seven women and two men were burned to death here today when an alms house was destroyed by fire.

The blaze started from an explosion in the boiler room. Charles Sanborn, an attendant, lost his life attempting to save the inmates.

KILLS COYOTE.

Ike Inman And Horace Heath Rivals For Honors In Slaying Him.

There were nearly 150 men and boys engaged in the big rabbit drive north of town yesterday and who partook of the delicious dinner at noon on the Moody place. The brisk wind somewhat interfered with proceedings, but nearly 1,000 rabbits were accounted for.

One coyote was included in the day's roundup. Ike Inman and Horace Heath both claimed honors in killing the brute—but a post mortem showed about a hatful of shot had penetrated the carcass as everyone in sight cracked down pulled trigger. It was quite a barrage, they say.

A number of Sweetwater people participated and many of them are taking in the one on the Faver place on Bitter Creek today.

USING BRICK.

"There must be a lot of paving going on up on the Plains," said a Santa Fe man, referring to the numerous carloads of that commodity that the Santa Fe is hauling north these days. There were 23 cars shifted from the T. & P. to the Santa Fe here in one day recently. Lumber from South Texas is also moving north in quantities and hay from the Plains-Panhandle is going south in large quantities.

"Look for this book and either bring or mail it to me," Dr. Gregory said.

Heaviest Building Program South Plains Has Ever Known Under Way At Lamesa Right Now.

Special To The Reporter.
LAMESA, Mar. 15.—The heaviest building program the South Plains section has ever known is under way here. More than 20,000 acres of new land is being put into cultivation in this county this year for the first time. One hundred new farm homes have been built.

The city of Lamesa is keeping pace with the development of the surrounding trade territory by the construction of five new brick buildings completed within the past six months are now under construction. The new Masonic Hall—a two story brick structure completed in every detail and including in addition to the lodge and ante rooms, a kitchen, dining room, library and social room—is under construction and when completed will be one of the most attractive buildings on the Plains.

The city water works extensions is nearing completion and will serve the city to double its population. A reduction in the fire insurance rate will be granted as soon as the system is completed and application is made for same.
