SECOND BATTLE WON BY PIRATES

Pittsburgh Evens Up World Series
By Annexing Today's Session
Three to Two Score

HOME RUNS ARE FEATURE

Cuyler and Wright Star for Corsairs
With Drives into Stand—Judge
Parks One

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—Home runs by Cuyler and Wright, the former scoring Moore, who had singled, ahead of him, were the features of the second game of the World Series won here today by Pittsburgh from Washington by a score of three to two.

Washington again started the scoring when Judge sparked one for a homer in the second inning. A long fly by Veach, pinch hitting for Ruel in the ninth, scoring McNeely, wound up the Senator attack for the day. Sparkling defense was all that saved the day in the fifth, when the Senators choked the bases with no one out, only to see Peck and Ruel forced at the plate and Goslin ground out for the third.

Pittsburgh knotted the count in the fourth when Wright hit a line drive tagged for four bases. Peck made two errors in the fatal eighth, one of which was turned into a run by Cuyler's mighty drive.

Coveleskie and Ruel were the Senator batteries with Aldredge and Smith for the Pirates. The score by innings, by courtesy of George Massey:

First Inning

Washington: Rice grounds out, Wright to Grantham. S. Harris fans swinging. Goslin flies out to Carey. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning

Washington: Ruel fans swinging. Coveleski fans swinging. Rice singles to left and goes to second when a balk is called on Aldredge. S. Harris grounds out, Wright to Grantham. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Pittsburgh: Smith singles to left. Aldredge forces Smith at second. Coveleski to S. Harris. Moore fans, swinging. Carey singles to right on the first ball pitched, Aldredge stopping at second. Cuyler forces Carey at second for the third out. 21 runs, two hits, no errors.

Harris next up, forced Ruel at home. Aldredge to Smith. Goslin grounded out to Grantham, unassisted. No runs, 2 hits, 1 error.

MITCHELL WALKS OFF FROM BOARD

San Antonio Colonel Leaves Shenandoah Investigating Board and Walks out of Navy Building

SUBPOENA IS ISSUED

Chairman of Probe Committee Issues
Subpoena for Colonel Who Refuses to Recognize It

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Col. William Mitchell, storm center of aviation, walked out on the Naval Board investigating the Shenandoah disaster when it served him with a formal subpoena to testify today.

Mitchell, on advice of his counsel, Representative Frank Reid, Republican, Illinois, openly defied the committee, refused to recognize the subpoena and left the Navy building where the hearing is being held.

Mitchell took the position that the Naval Board had no right to question him while court martial proceedings were pending in the War Department, and that any testimony by him might jeopardize his legal rights. Reid contended that Mitchell had not been legally subpoenaed and after a sarcastic colloquy with Admiral Hilary T. Jones, chairman of the board, Mitchell and his counsel withdrew.

Jones called the court into executive session. Thereupon a subpoena was issued and served on Mitchell in an adjoining room. Mitchell and Reid went into a conference for 10 minutes and then Reid walked up to Capt. Paul Foley, judge advocate of the board, and said:

"You can give the court the compliments of my client and myself, and say we refuse to recognize the subpoena."

Mitchell and Reid then left the building.

Jones then asked that the War Department be legally informed of the situation, pointing out that the Naval Board had no punitive power.

TALK FAIR AT CLUB LUNCHEON

D. A. Clark, President of Fair Association, Outlines Progress of This Year's Event

MAJOR KEMP IS SPEAKER

National Guard Instructor Addresses
Sweetwater Club—Entertainment
Provided

Discussion of the fair program by D. A. Clark, president of the Nolan County Fair Association; a talk on trade conditions by J. A. McCurdy, Houston, instructor in the Texas National Guards were high points in the regular session of the Sweetwater Club at its luncheon at 4104 Wright Thursday noon.

Every department of the fair is making splendid progress, with indications that this year's will be a great success, according to president Clark. The active cooperation of all citizens however, is necessary to accomplish the work that must be done to put the fair over, Clark declared. He especially appealed to members of the club to aid when called upon in the interest of the fair.

Clark also made a rousing talk in connection with the High School football team that has started out for an active season, and which plays the San Angelo eleven here Friday afternoon. Clark asked every member of the club to attend the game and to boost the school team to the limit.

Members of the club were invited to inspect the local National Guard armory and to become acquainted with the work being done by the guard unit here by Major Kemp. The officer called attention to the honor won by the Sweetwater company, the 71st Infantry Brigade, in competition with other companies at the annual encampment during the summer.

Merchants were asked to lend support to the American Legion in starting the series of trades days by J. A. McCurdy in a brief talk. He announced the dates for the next trades days as October 30 and 31, during the fair. McCurdy also told of the meeting of the traffic committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with South Texas shippers in San Antonio recently.

Will Wade, president of the club, announced the feature of the Thursday luncheon as a special appearance of a representative of the Al G. Barnes Circus and the representative was introduced by John A. McCurdy. The circus man, for years in the zoo department of the circus and more recently a famed magician who has returned from a tour of Europe where he appeared before crowned heads of many countries, was Monsieur Zebakentz de la Xherphiseawamntq (accent on the seventh syllable), a distinguished Italian. Monsieur etc. etc. pleased the audience with the presentation of an act from an Italian opera El Poultrie Eggo Henfruite which went over with a crash. The magician resembled Dr. P. R. Hamilton very closely.

A vocal solo by Miss Melody Simmons, accompanied by Mrs. George Gray at the piano drew much applause.

Sam Glass was the toastmaster and M. B. Howard was named as toastmaster for the next luncheon.

The machine crashed so far from the field the accident was not witnessed by the spectators.

Paranelli was an inspector of airplanes and Chamberlain the owner of an air service operating with headquarters in Hasbrough Heights.

The aviators took off from Mitchell Field with five other planes to fly 20 laps around the pylons marking the course.

CALL PASTOR

First Baptist Church Membership
Elects Rev. Ross A. Smith of Lamesa to Pastorate Here

The membership of the First Baptist Church, in a meeting at the church Wednesday night, elected Rev. Ross A. Smith, pastor of the Baptist church at Lamesa, to the pastorate of the local church. Rev. Smith will be notified immediately, it was announced, that he has been called to Sweetwater.

It is uncertain just when church officers here will be notified whether Rev. Smith will accept or not. It is expected that he will dispatch an answer here soon, however.

Rev. Smith preached at the church here Sunday morning and evening. He is a forceful speaker, and has an unusual pleading personality. The local church has been without a pastor since August 1 when Rev. L. G. Morony's resignation became effective.

District Judge W. P. Leslie left late Wednesday for a brief visit at his home in Colorado.

MOISTURE IS RESPONSIBLE

Crop Improvement in Drouth Area and Restriction Boll Weevil
Cause of Increase

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Cotton production for 1925 is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at 14,759,000 bales.

Ginnings for the 1925 crop up to October 1 were placed at 7,101,710 bales.

Cotton production last year totaled 13,627,936 bales.

The production estimate released to two weeks ago on the basis of the day is 828,000 bales larger than it was September 16 condition. The large increase is attributed by the Department of Agriculture to recent rains in previous drouth stricken areas. This was so helpful to cotton states west of the Atlantic states that much cotton was brought back into production that previously had been given up as a fall ure.

The boll weevil has not done much damage as was anticipated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Pilot Clarence B. Chamberlain was seriously injured and Lawrence Peranelli, a passenger, was killed today in the first event of the International Air Races being held here.

Chamberlain was brought to the Post Hospital and immediately placed on the operating table. His right leg was fractured and he suffered a concussion of the brain. Major I. C. March, post surgeon, said he would probably recover.

The machine crashed so far from the field the accident was not witnessed by the spectators.

Paranelli was an inspector of airplanes and Chamberlain the owner of an air service operating with headquarters in Hasbrough Heights.

The aviators took off from Mitchell Field with five other planes to fly 20 laps around the pylons marking the course.

MERCURY DROPS

Hits New Low Mark Thursday When Temperature Falls to 54 Degrees
—Delays Cotton

The touch of winter that hit Sweetwater the first of the week stayed over for a few days and Thursday another drop in temperature sent the mercury shivering down to a new low mark and sent residents in search of heavy coats and stoves.

A norther, accompanied by a steady drizzling rain, sent the temperature down to 56 degrees at 7 o'clock Thursday. The mercury fell two degrees in two hours, registering 54 at 9 o'clock today as compared with the low mark of 59 yesterday.

A further delay in the movement of cotton in this section is seen following the arrival of inclement weather. Although picking will probably be retarded, no damage to the grade is expected to result from the weather conditions.

MATHEWSON OUT FOR LAST TIME

HERO OF MANY SERIES

Mainstay of New York Giants Many Years—Tuberculosis Contracted
During War Finally Fatal

By United Press.
SARANAC LAKE, Oct. 8.—Christy Mathewson, idol of baseball fans, has lost his seven year fight against the White Plague. He died at 11 o'clock last night at his home here, a few hours after the World Series opened in Pittsburgh.

Death was unexpected, although he had been in poor health for a long time. Tubercular pneumonia was the direct cause of death.

Funeral services will be held at Lewistown, Pennsylvania, Saturday according to tentative plans.

Mathewson's gallant battle with tuberculosis won public sympathy. He contracted it while serving as a captain in the army gas service during the world war.

Christy Mathewson, idol of the nation's baseball fandom over a span of more than two decades, and one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known, was a symbol of the highest type of American sportsmanship.

Running the full gamut of baseball fame, first as a playing star, later as a coach and manager, Mathewson left the game to answer a greater call during the world war; subsequently fought a battle for his life, threatened by after effects of his service, and then capped the climax of his diamond career by returning as part owner and president of a major league club.

"Big Six," a sobriquet contracted from "Big Six Footer," started his major league career with the New York Giants in 1900, and it was during his 17 seasons with that club that he carved a lasting niche for himself in the twirling hall of fame. Later he became manager for two and a half years of the Cincinnati Reds; served as a captain in the chemical warfare arm of the American Expeditionary Force during the world war; returned from the service to rejoin his old team mates, the Giants, as a coach; and retired from the game temporarily in 1920, when his health was dangerously impaired. He came back in February, 1923, to accept the presidency and part ownership of the Boston Nationals.

A graduate of Bucknell College, where he was both a football and baseball star, Mathewson broke into the professional game with the Taunton, Mass., club of the New England League in 1899, receiving a salary of $80 a month for his first season.

Feats of pitching brilliance too numerous to catalogue filled Matty's record during the dozen years in which he ranked consistently among the most effective twirlers in the major leagues.

He was a prominent factor in the pennant victories of the Giants in 1904, 1905, 1911, 1912 and 1913; he twirled two no-hit games, one against the St. Louis Cardinals in 1901, and the second against the Chicago Cubs in 1905.

THREATS DENIED

Superintendent of Schools McLain
Issues Statement Relative to Run away Student

Acurney of statements made by a local lad as the alleged reason for his leaving home are denied by Superintendent of Schools B. H. McLain. The story was carried in the Reporter Wednesday. Mr. McLain's statement follows:

There appeared in yesterday's Reporter in an article in connection with a boy who ran away from home certain statements reflecting in a general way on the schools and in particular on certain teachers. The statements contained therein were false in so far as they related to threats made by teachers, which matter could have been ascertained by calling the school thus avoiding improper conclusions by readers. It is not our intention to attempt to set right all misstatements of pupils, but in as much as the facts are available on five minutes notice, we cannot allow statements to go unchallenged that could have been verified.

SAVE IRONSIDES

There is no ship that is more intimately bound up with the heroism of the early days when this nation was first struggling to free itself from the shackles of Old England.

Now there is—a movement on foot to preserve this old ship. The movement is sponsored by Elks everywhere. The fund required, amounting to $500,000, are to be contributed by school children, who will enter essay contests for gold medal awards. Buttons are to be given the children denoting that they have taken part in this patriotic move.

The quota for the territory served by the Sweetwater lodge of Elks, which includes Colorado and Snyder, has 4,000 enrolled school children which figures about 4c each.

Some of the achievements performed by this old time warship of other days:

The spell of English superiority at sea was broken. We were not absolutely impotent after all, even against the greatest sea power of the world, and ship for ship we had nothing to fear. Nothing was expected of the navy. Here was something over which all sections could rejoice, from which all people could unite, and it belonged to the country as a whole. The victory came at a psychological moment, and overnight it electrified the people and gave them the stimulus that was needed. Without this victory the future of the Republic would have been hard to foretell.

Within three months while Commodore William Bainbridge in command of the Constitution was cruising off the South American coast, where he went to destroy British shipping, he sighted the English frigate Java. In a few hours the deadly accurate fire from old Ironsides had reduced the Java to a mass of wreckage and after her crew was taken aboard she was sunk. Captain Lambert, commander of the Java, was mortally wounded and later died at Bahia, Brazil.

The Constitution's last exploit of that war was a cruise in 1815 under Captain Charles Stewart which concluded with the capture single handed of the frigate Cyane and sloop of war Levant off the island of Madeira. The success of the war cannot be attributed to one frigate, yet the Constitution inflicted by far the major part of the damage to British armed ships. She, more than any other American vessel was instrumental in exploding the boast made by a British poet of the period: "The winds and seas are Britain's domain And not a sail without permission spreads."

Her greatest achievement, however, lay not in her conquests, but in the moral effect which her victories had upon the country, serving as they did to unite opposing factions and territories in a feeling of national pride and unity of purpose.

After the war she served for a period of five years as flagship of the Mediterranean Squadron. In 1830 she was condemned by the Naval Commissioners as unseaworthy and ordered to be broken up. Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem, "Old Ironsides," so aroused public sentiment that the Navy Department ordered the ship to be rebuilt at Boston, Mass.

BIG SIX

Christy Mathewson is gone. For years the mainstay of the New York Giants' pitching staff, and more recently and just as gamely fighting a losing battle with death, "Big Six" has answered the final summons. The Great Empire has called him out for the last time. No player had a greater or more loyal following. This was due only in part to his mastery of baseball although admittedly the game had no abler exponent. "Big Six" typified all that was clean and sportsmanlike. No breath of scandal that from time to time clouded the sport and even affected the Giants ever rested on him. The White Lights of Broadway and the night life of New York knew him not. He was never ejected from the park for arguing with the umpire. And although he is gone, his memory will ever serve as an inspiration to the game he loved so well and as an example for true sportsmanship in every branch of sport.

Chocolate Meringue Pie

Another delightful recipe by Mrs. Ida Chitwood, who directed the Cooking School recently run by the Reporter.

Cover an inverted pie plate with pastry; turn back the edges to make it firm. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees F., about fifteen minutes. Then fill with Chocolate Cream made as follows:

- 2 squares from 1/2-lb. cake of chocolate
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup corn starch
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 teaspoon Crisco

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Blend sugar, salt and corn starch. Add milk. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks, melted chocolate and Crisco. Continue cooking a minute or two. Pour into the baked shell, cover with meringue made by beating the 3 egg whites until stiff and dry, and add 6 table-spoons granulated sugar. Return to slow oven, 300 degrees F., for fifteen minutes or until brown. Serve when thoroughly cold. Makes one medium sized pie.

Make the pastry with Crisco and your pie shell will slip off the outside of the plate into the inside without breaking, and be tender and flaky, too.

CHESTER ROWELL
SAYS

According to British figures, the international bootlegging ring last year lost $15,999,999.

That is more significant than if it had been defeated in any other way. In fact, it was not completely defeated in other ways. It did smuggle booze in, and it was still possible to buy contraband in America.

Prohibition enforcement did not "entirely" in the sense that it made lawbreaking impossible, or even that it made disregard of this particular law as rare or difficult as in disregard of laws generally.

What it did was to make it unprofitable to its wholesale financial backers.

But that, if it can be kept up, is enough. Retail bootleggers, dealing in retail moonshine, can never supply any very wholesale demand.

Adventurous or naturally lawless persons will always engage in this retail lawlessness, so long as there are retail customers to supply, and there will always be these so long as appetite and smart-Aleckness induce individuals to glory in showing that they can beat the law.

These will always be at least as numerous as burglars or pickpockets, and about as hard to catch.

The big problem is the big sources of the big supply. And the men behind these have never but one motive—profit.

Take that away, and they do not care who goes "thirsty."

They can find other uses for their money—and will.

Take the profit out of wholesale bootlegging and you have solved three-fourths of the problem. It will take time and vigilance to solve three-fourths of the remaining fourth. Then there will remain a fraction that may never be solved. The big job—and the easiest—is the wholesale profits.

The University of California has a course popularly known as "dumb-bell English."

Every entering student has to take an examination to see whether he can write 500 words of simple English clearly and correctly.

Those who fail—which is most of them—must take a special course in elementary composition, for which they pay a fee, and for which they receive no university credit.

The purpose is to guarantee that

Are Alligators Poultry?

Here's the evolution of an alligator and the pictures show that this reptile is born exactly like a chicken. Above the baby "gator" has just started to force its way out of the egg, while below it is defining zoologists to explain how so much alligator can be contained in such a small egg.

no one goes on to the higher university work who has not acquired at least a minimum capacity to write ordinary straight-shoot English.

The puzzle is to know why so many of our college-educated young people, who have satisfied the other requirements for university entrance, can not write adequate English.

Poor teaching in the preparatory schools is not explanation enough. These schools do furnish satisfactory training in other things, and their English teaching is certainly not uniformly worse than their other teaching.

A better explanation may be the slovenly spoken English that has become almost fashionable. And the "democratization" of education, which brings the imitations of higher levels, whose requirements are students from homes with no tradition of books may be another.

At last, the expansion of the university—and it is by no means

Vigilantes

These three youthful vigilantes—Vincent Calvert, 18 above, John Ryland, 18 center, and Ben Williams, 22 above—are being held on first degree murder charges at Birmingham, Ala. They didn't like a young man who was courting Ryland's sister so they fired a shot at an auto in which they believed the couple was riding. It proved to be another car and the shot killed Arnes Lorraine Creel, a six-month-old baby. Calvert, a minister's son admits firing the shot.

There are indications that we are beginning to see a change in the history of the world and that, somehow, it will be a better one than we have ever known.

There is a submission to the world's people as some had been ready to say "come" and others the duty to "come" commands have been embraced by fear.

It is the easiest way. If all you want is a particular action, you can get it by intimidating the actor with the promise of something which he fears worse than the act commanded.

You can make a child eat his porridge by threats or frightening him. Frequently, you also make it impossible for him to digest it.

And, from a parent and tyrant to parents, "making him eat" has been the common theme.

Now, however, the child is being taught to eat his porridge and to digest it. The child is being taught to eat his porridge and to digest it.

And the result of this is a child who is not afraid to eat his porridge and to digest it. The child is being taught to eat his porridge and to digest it.

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys

Drink Plenty of Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts in inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PEOPLE WHO WERE ONCE GOOD LOOKING

A heartrending and yet interesting thing happened in a downtown store when a middle-aged lady got into a loud argument with a clerk. "I know what I want," she kept saying. "I have tried all these other things but I know from what I saw it do for some friends of mine that it is Black and White Ointment which gets rid of these pimples and blotches. I was just as pretty as any girl when I was young, but I got careless and now I am in the fix you see."

So many people are now insisting on Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, to get rid of pimples, blotches, eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, "breaking out," etc., because they see and hear of the thousands of others who now know they can depend upon it. And they are more economical, too. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and Soap. (adv)

ELIGIBILITY TO BE GAME FACTOR

San Angelo Bobcats Suffer Loss of Number Ineligible Players That May Be Out of Game Here

SENDING 18 MEN

Coach Dykes to Bring Extra Subs to Salty Pup Game Friday—Local Team Out for Revenge

Special to Reporter.

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 8.—Eligibility of players will be a big factor in determining the strength of the eleven San Angelo High School will send on the field against Sweetwater High in Sweetwater Friday afternoon. Jonta Crews, captain and center; Mortimer Hall, flashy halfback, and Charles Kirkpatrick, one of the team pilots, were ineligible last Saturday when the Bobcats walloped Mason, a Class B school, here 37 to 0. It was unknown Tuesday morning whether or not these players will have improved their scholastic standings sufficiently to permit them to get into Friday's fray. John Lee and Jack Allison will likely start at ends, Cook and Young at tackles, Nibling and Shrum at guards, Crews at center, Weaver at quarterback, Hall and Belling at halfbacks, and Sweeten at full back. Dempster Jones, and A. J. Nichols are substitute ends. Other linemen are Vernon Seals, John Dayenport, Joe Hardin, George Allison and Arliss Brister. Gibbons Poteet is substitute fullback and Hunter Cheery and Walter Compton are substitute half backs.

Eighteen players in charge of Coach J. I. Dykes, and John B. McKnight will leave for Sweetwater in automobiles at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning. The Bobcats will average 157 pounds; the line probably 160 pounds and the backfield 154. San Angelo has played only two games this season, losing to Abilene 19 to 0, and winning from Mason 37 to 0. Sweetwater will be the second Class A school in the district the Bobcats have tackled. Other Class A games scheduled are with Brownwood in Brownwood October 17, and with Comanche here October 23.

Pups Are Ready

The Sweetwater Salty Pups are going through a hard week of practice in preparation for taking on the San Angelo High School eleven here Friday afternoon at Sweetwater Park, and current reports are that the local grid squad is in better shape than at any time this or last season.

In practice work the past few afternoons, the team has showed a machine like efficiency that exceeds any work they have done this season, and high school students as well as local fans are keyed up to the highest point over the Friday game.

The San Angelo eleven has been victors over the Sweetwater bunch in games the past three seasons, but the team and fans alike see revenge loom in up as Friday approaches.

Regardless of who wins the Friday game will doubtless be the best of this year's grid card, and a record crowd is expected at Sweetwater Park to see the predicted bloody battle.

MATHEWSON DIES

1905; he held jointly with "Cy" Young and Grover Cleveland Alexander, a major league record of winning more than 30 games three seasons in a row; but his greatest achievement was in the world's series of 1905 when he pitched three shut-out victories against the Philadelphia Americans.

McGraw ranks Mathewson's feat in the 1905 series as the greatest of his memory. All five games in that series were shut-outs, Joe McGinnity twirling the fourth victory for the Giants while "Chief" Bender blanked the Giants for the only triumph scored by the Mackmen.

Mathewson had the misfortune to lose two of the most important games of his career, the play off with the Chicago Cubs for the pennant in 1908 and the deciding game of the world's series with the Boston Red Sox in 1912. Breaks of the game played a big part in both defeats. Misjudgment of a fly by "Cy" Seymour, Giant outfielder, was blamed for the defeat by the Cubs while a costly error by Fred Snodgrass turned the tide against the Giants and Matty in the struggle with the Red Sox.

Mordecai (three fingered) Brown, of the Cubs was Matty's greatest rival on the mound and the two had many stirring duels.
