That April Combination Sale.

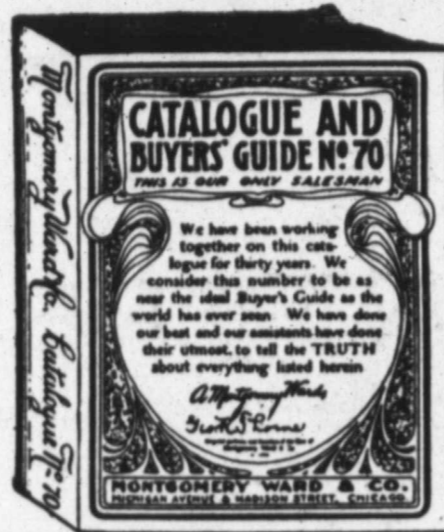

The Hereford breeders' combination sale at Kansas City, April 8 and 9 will undoubtedly prove an excellent opportunity to purchase some useful, well bred Herefords at very moderate prices. About 150 head will be sold at this time, and a large percent of them are bulls; good big, lusty bulls, that are ready for immediate service. A large number of the smaller Hereford breeders are taking advantage of this opportunity to dispose of a few head of their surplus stock, and the result will be a diversity of breeding and individuality that will fill any possible requirement on the part of the purchaser. Especially will this sale appeal to anyone who needs Hereford bulls, whether it is a single animal or a carload, and ranchmen, breeders and farmers can find here just what they want and in quantities to suit. However, the female contingent should not be overlooked for it includes 50 or 60 good ones, most of them due to calve this spring or summer. Write Gudgell & Simpson, Independence, Mo., for a catalogue.

Gudgell & Simpson, Independence, Mo., will sell 6 cracking good heifers in the Hereford breeders' combination sale at Kansas City, April 8 and 9. Two of them are by Andrew, two by Militant, the sire of some of the famous animals in their show herd, and the other two are by the great Beau Brummel. These heifers are all two years old or just turning two, and have all been bred to some of the Gudgell & Simpson herd bulls. This sale is full of good ones. Don't overlook it.

W. E. Spears, Richmond, Kans., is selling three bulls in the Hereford sale at Kansas City, April 8 and 9. Concerning them he says: "Highland Lad, lot 19, is by Dial 3d 71453 by Free Lance, used by Mr. Funkhouser for years in his herd. His dam is Rose 54052, a grand-daughter of Don Carlos. He is a fine marked, dark red bull of good form and bone, stands on straight legs and is good enough to head a herd. Lord Rose, lot 20 and Dandy, lot 18, are the other two and are all good ones, as smooth as Herefords ever grow."

H. D. Adkisson, Napton, Mo., writes: "In regard to the four bulls I have in the sale at Kansas City April 8 and 9 will say that they are all good strong, bulls and will be sold in good thrifty condition. They are all sired by the Cornish & Patten bred bull Prince Olaff 90869, he by General Gomez and out of their favorite old breeding cow Mab 11065, who is also the dam of Mr. Harris' great herd bull Benjamin Wilton. Sir Browning, lot 70, is perhaps my best one but they are all the square blocky kind that everyone admires, and I think these bulls good enough for any kind of company."

Jones Bros., Comiskey, Kans., says: "Our consignment to the Hereford sale April 8 and 9 at Kansas City will consist of four strong, useful bulls. Renown 107992 is sired by Sir Benjamin 71120 a 2600 pound son of Wild Tom, and out of a Donaldson cow. Don Pedro 102330, also by Sir Benjamin, is out of the Kansas Lad cow Armour Naiad 12th 70088, the dam of Armour Rose. Lord Vernon 102234 is of the low kown, blocky type, President 120329 has for his sire Lincoln 2d 74227, who was first in the 2-year-old class at the American Royal in 1899, and his dam, Alice 2d 37062, by Java 64045, was also a winner at the same show."

J. W. Wampler & Son, Brazilton, Kans., are selling 2 bulls and 2 females in the Hereford sale at Kansas City April 8 and 9. One of their plums is After the Ball, lot 1, a 22-months old heifer by Lomond Grove, and she will be safe in calf at time of sale to Sunny Slope Tom 5th by Wild Tom. Sunny Slope Tom 5th is an extra good one himself, weighing 2000 pounds at three years of age. He has a son in the sale, Sunny Slope Blossom, a yearling bull of the kind that everybody needs. The other heifer is lot 2, Gussie's Model by Imported Salsisbury, a large growthy heifer calved December 1, 1900.

C. G. Comstock & Son, Albany, Mo., write as follows concerning their offering in the Hereford breeders' combination sale at Kansas City April 8 and 9: "We would say that our offering consists of twenty-one head of first class cattle. They are all well bred, good individuals, are in good condition, and are we think in every way desirable. There will be fourteen heifers and seven bulls. We wish to call attention to Lady Hesiod 16th and Lady Hesiod 17th. The first is sired by Hesiod 14th and the second by Hesiod 53d, both sires are sons of Aesiod 2d, and these are two exceptionally good heifers. The first is out of Lady Briton 6th, a daughter of Christmas Gift. Christmas Gift was sired by Ancient Briton and we have always considered him the best son of Ancient Briton that we have ever known anything about. He sired the best females we have ever raised, including Lady Briton 16th and Lady Briton 17th and many other unusually good ones. Lady Hesiod 17th has a good head and horn horn, good top and bottom lines, good back and quarters, and, in fact, is a good heifer in every way. Probably one of the best heifers we will sell is Lady Briton 39th. She is by Gentry Briton 6th, he by Christmas Gift, Lady Briton 32d is another heifer sired by Gentry Briton 6th and out of Katy Real. Katy Real is by Captain Grove 2d and is out of a Beau Real cow. Lady Briton is another good one by Gentry Briton 6th. Miss Gentry Lars 1st is by our show bull Gentry Lars and out of Miss Simpson 6th by Captain Grove 2d and is out of a Beau Real cow. Lady Briton is another good one by Gentry Briton 6th. Miss Gentry Lars 1st is by our show bull Gentry Lars and out of Miss Simpson 6th by Captain Grove 2d and out of Miss Simpson 2nd, a grand daughter of Anxiety 4th. Lady Real 20th is by Blue Grass, he by Beau Real. Erica Gentry 19th is out of Erica Gentry 8th, a grand daughter of Garfield, and a great grand daughter of Sir Barteel Frere. The fact is these heifers are all well bred and all of good quality. Nearly all of them will be safe in calf at time of sale. Five of the seven bulls are by Blue Grass a son of Beau Real and a half brother of Wild Tom. We have been using Blue Grass for several years and he has proven himself a great sire. These bulls will be from seventeen to twenty months old at the time of sale, hence will all be old enough for service this year."

H. B. Watts & Son, Fayette, Mo., write: "Concerning the ten head of bulls we will sell in the Kansas City Hereford sale April 8th and 9th, will say that the offering is certainly, numbers considered, the best and most uniform lot we have ever sent out from Walnut Hill. Seven of the lot are sons of Lord Erling 79453 and of our own breeding. One half the consignment are from 14 to 18 months old, ready for immediate service and the 5 others will be from 11 to 12 months of age at sale time and will therefore be ready for service in the early summer. Special mention should be made of Erling's King 137249, sired by Lord Erling the best son of Beau Donald. His dam is Estrela 71456 by Freelance and out of Petunia 3d, Mr. Funkhouser's great show cow. We consider Erling's King more promising than either Prince Rupert or Glaucus were at his age, and the latter two animals the general breeding public know to be of national reputation. The next in line is Rushlight 137254 by Beau Brummel jr., 65073. His dam is Imported Wild Rose 80179, one of the best cows, we think, that Mr. Armour ever put through the sale ring, she weighing in ordinary breeding condition from 1700 to 1750. She never had a calf to sell for less than $350. Fourth Fellow 137251 is a full brother to the "tridletts," being a son of the great and wonderful breeding cow Mary W. 59005. Mary W. will be 10 years old this spring and is the mother of ten living calves. Fourth Fellow we consider the best calf she has ever dropped. The rest of our consignment is of this same good breeding and individuality and they deserve your consideration."

Benton Gabbert & Son, Dearborn, Mo., write: "Concerning the nine head we contribute will say that they are individually a good and useful lot, there being no culls or tail ends among them. Four of the bulls are by the Great Columbus, one by Columbus 21st and four by Hesiod 17th. The best Columbus bull is Columbus 40th, a seven-eighths brother to the $5050 Columbus 17th which Mr. Rockefeller refuses to take $20 000 for. We have used him some in our herd and would not part with him at any price if we could use him further. The three other Columbus bulls are all herd headers and should be looked after for that purpose. The remaining animals are good, growthy, curly coated Hesiod bulls."

E. T. Thornton, Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I wish to say in regard to the bulls I have offered in the Kansas City Hereford sale April 8th and 9th, that they have done well this winter and their quality will speak for them in the sale ring. The two-year-old bull Bright, lot 138, is a wonderfully smooth bull with a great deal of character, rich in the blood of Lord Wilton, Anxiety 3rd and Dictator, and from nine cows bred to him last season he has to his credit eight fine heifer calves. The two younger bulls, Sir Robert and Prairie Rose, lots 130 and 140, have great scale and quality—deep bodied, broad backed fellows that stand right on their legs and are covered with a magnificent coat of hair. Their breeding is faultless. These calves do credit to their ancestors, the land marks of the breed."

James A. Gibson, Odessa, Mo., writes: "Will say the bulls I will sell in the combination sale of Herefords at Kansas City April 8th and 9th, are good useful bulls, three of them being of extra good ages for immediate use, ranging in age from 16 to 26 months. The other two will be a little over 12 months old at time of sale. Lawton 106513, the oldest one, has proved to be a sure calf getter as I have used him some the past season and he has turned his cows off extra well. They are in good breeding flesh, but not extra fat, as I have handled them more with a view to future usefulness than flesh."

T. F. Burwell, Colorado City, Colo., writes that he will sell one bull and five females in the Hereford combination sale April 8th and 9th. The bull is Columbus Chief 91371, by Columbus the sire of the $9,000 Perfection and the $10,000 Dale. Columbus Chief now weighs 2,300 and is an extra good individual, of good disposition and very smooth. He is a good breeder and three of the five cows in Mr. Burwell's consignment will have calves at foot from his service, a fourth one being in calf to him. These five females are all of a very desirable quality and but one of them is too young to breed. With this one exception they are tested matrons, and all of them will prove profitable investments for the purchaser.

Oklahoma Statutes 1893.

Every person who wilfully administers poison to any animal, the property of another, and every person who maliciously exposes poisonous substance with the intent that the same shall be taken by any such animal, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding three years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Every person who, with intent to kill, administers or causes or procures to be administered to another any poison which is actually taken by such other but by which death is not caused, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not less than ten years.

Any person who shall deposit any poison or poisonous substance upon the lands or in the building of another person, without first posting up at least three plainly written notices upon such lands and buildings, shall upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than ninety days, or by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Every person who shall, except in a safe place on his own premises, lay out strychnine or other poison within the limits of any town or within one mile of any dwelling house, or any barn, stable or out building used at the time for keeping or shelter of horses, cattle sheep or swine, or within one half mile of any travelled thoroughfare, or on lands not his own, on the ceded lands of this territory, is guilty of a misdemeanor: provided, Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the putting out at any time of poisoned grain for the purpose of killing gophers.

Every person who wilfully mingles any poison with any food, drink or medicine, with the intent that the same shall be taken by any human being to his injury, and every person who wilfully poisons any spring, well or reservoir of water, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Beautiful Sea shells free

Since coming South I have received numerous inquiries for sea shells and now please say to your readers that I am at present living on the seashore, and have made a fine collection of lovely shells from our own shore, the coral reefs and the West India Islands, and that I will send a dozen different kinds, no two alike, and a dozen scarlet sea peas to any one who sends a stamp to pay the postage. Any one is welcome to send, as I have plenty for all.

SPLENDID SUCCESS!

8th Annual Convention, Oklahoma Live Stock Association, Wichita, Kan., Feb. 11-12-13, 1902.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS

Col. J. H. Neff Addresses the Assembled Cattlemen.

Col. Jay H. Neff of the Drovers' Telegram at Kansas City is usually on hand at cattle conventions. He is often called on to speak and has something of interest to say whenever he is placed on a program. His subject was, "Market Reports." He said: "Market Reports, the subject assigned to me, I take to be the publication of the various stock papers published at the stock markets. The stock papers are to the stockmen what the tool chest is to the carpenter, the medicine case to the doctor, or the pulpit to the minister. It is your tool to work at the stock business with."

"I doubt not but what there are some who underrate the importance of the stock paper, but I take it there are some who understand its value. A stock paper above all must be reliable and truthful. I think the publishers of the stock papers endeavor to do this and tell the facts when the market is lower just as quickly as when it is higher. They must tell the truth so their customers will know the exact condition of the market. The commission men prefer to state when the market is lower and higher."

"Before a shipper or a stockman ships he ought to know the truth of the reports. He ought to take all of them that he can and then he will be sure to get the whole truth of the matter."

"You are justified in giving credence to these journals—as they are all going to state things just as they are. The stockmen of the west are a brainy, intelligent class of men. The statistics show that they are brainy forceful men. I have observed in looking over the statistics of these stock papers that a great many are college bred men. The stockmen themselves are brainy men and the men who are taking care of their interests are intelligent men."

"Now gentlemen perhaps some of the men here are handy with the pen, and the chairman won't perhaps let you get up here and tell me what you think of me and the paper, so write me a letter."

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED.

Oklahoma Cattlemen Vote On Measures of Interest.

As a representative of the committee on resolutions, Jerry Simpson read the following resolutions at the convention this morning, which were adopted:

The Oklahoma Live Stock association respectfully represents that it is an organization composed of the principal stock-raisers, feeders and breeders and various commercial organizations of the southwest.

This association in behalf of its constituency earnestly urges upon the congress the great importance and increasing need of federal legislation which will give to the interstate commerce commission adequate power to correct discrimination, remove preferences, abate unreasonable rates, and, where necessary, to prescribe the maximum and minimum rates, making its decision effective, pending any appeal to the courts.

When the present interstate commerce law was enacted in 1887 it was at least popularly supposed, and we believe, clearly intended, that it give to the interstate commerce commission, after due hearing and investigation, the power to say what was a reasonable and unreasonable rate, and to enforce its decisions. Court decisions have also declared that the interstate commerce commission does not have the power to fix rates for the future, either directly or indirectly. As subsequently every complaint that has been or would be brought before the commission involves the question of the reasonableness of rates it can readily be seen that these court decisions practically wipe out the only real power the commission was supposed to have, and limits its usefulness to the collection and promulgation of statistics.

While governmental control over railroad charges through the medium of the interstate commerce commission has been gradually fading away, the general railroad situation has undergone protentious changes. Little independent carriers have been forced to the wall and absorbed by the larger competitors, who in turn have combined with or sold out to other larger competing systems until today, by this centralization, the rail transportation facilities of this country are practically controlled by the scarce half dozen different interests. By these transactions, reorganizations and combinations, added burdens have not only been placed on the men who pay the freight by reason of increases in the fixed charges of indebtedness of the railroads, but has sole remaining safeguard by free competition has been virtually eliminated, so that the public which now has greater need of intelligent and effective federal supervision and regulation of railroad charges, has less protection today than previous to the enactment of the present interstate commerce law.

The general and marked advance in rates during the past three years of unexampled prosperity to the railroads were apparently unnecessary and seemingly unwarranted upon any other theory than the intent of the railroads to exact all they could. The multiple economies of railroad operation, together with the enormous increase in the amount of traffic, would seem to logically suggest a reduction instead of an advance. Their action, however, enables us to unmistakably forecast what they would do, unrestrained by federal control, when by further consolidations or by other agencies, competition becomes entirely stifled.

The members of the Oklahoma Live Stock association recognize that the railroads are powerful agencies of progress and that more than any other factor, they have contributed to the development of the country. The superb services they perform merits our commendation. They expect to pay the railroads the cost of the service they render, together with a reasonable profit.

sonable profit on their investment, we do not want the service for any less, nor ought we be compelled to pay more. We are not presuming to say what are or may be reasonable and fare rates, but we do emphatically protest against the railroads being the sole arbiters of their charges and exacting what they think the traffic will stand, or in plainer language, all they can get.

If railroad rates are fair and reasonable the railroads should not fear any investigation of them by an impartial tribunal. The objections they make against the proper federal supervision of rates by an expert commission confirms the suspicion that railroad rates need regulating.

Either the government must assume at once an intelligent and comprehensive control over railroad charges, or prepare for absolute ownership of the transportation facilities of the country.

For these, among many other patent reasons, the members of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association respectfully request congress to give early attention to this much needed legislation which has already been too long delayed.

Whereas, this convention realize that the long trails and heavy tonnage system of moving railway trains has resulted in the loss of many thousands of dollars to the cattle interests throughout Kansas and Oklahoma, and.

Whereas, it has been the direct cause of loss of life of cattlemen in charge of stock shipments on said excessive trains and long delays in reaching destination; therefore be it

Resolved, That the hauling of trains of stock exceeding twenty cars in number is a menace to the best interests of the stock grower and shipper, and to the life and limbs of the parties in charge of the stock and that railway companies are hereby requested to limit trains carrying stock, to the above size. And, if necessary we request the legislature of Kansas and Oklahoma to protect our interests as a matter of public safety.

Whereas, The long experience of farmers and cattlemen located west of the 100th meridian has proven that a quarter section of land is not enough to make a homestead; that it takes at least acres to each head of stock, cattle and horses; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that the homestead should be increased to a section of land west of the 100th meridian in Kansas and Oklahoma, and, therefore, we ask our representatives in congress to present a bill to this effect and work for its passage.

Whereas, The Oklahoma Live Stock Association has learned with regret that the lower house of congress has passed the bill known as the "McClary" bill, which if it becomes a law, will prevent the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, thereby reducing the market value of cattle at least $2.50 per head, or $21,000,000 each year. Therefore, be it Resolved, that the thanks of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association and the visiting delegates from other cities and states, is hereby tendered to the people of Wichita, for the kindness and hospitality during the session of our association in this city.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association be extended to the United States sanitary board for their zeal in clearing the ranges of the fever tick and extending the quarantine line as far as practicable over the territory covered by this association. Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the United States sanitary board at Washington.

Resolved, That in Hon. Eugene Rust this association recognizes a steadfast friend, we congratulate him on his selection as general manager of the Kansas City Stock Yards company.

Whereas, We have perfect confidence in the incoming executive committee, with full power to act, the matter of the matter of consolidation of this body with the Panhandle association and any change of name involved thereby.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association is hereby tendered to the Wichita Eagle and Wichita Beacon for the splendid treatment this association has received at their hands.

President Wilson yesterday morning announced the executive committee of the association for the following year. The committee consists of: George Carr, Woodward, O. T., Court, Brown, Liberal, Kan.; George Burt, Ponca City, O. T.; Orth Connitt, Cupid, O. T. J. P. Campbell, Ashland, O. T.

WAS A FITTING CLIMAX.

One Thousand People Dance in Garfield Hall.

No more fitting climax to the most successful convention in the history of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association could have been selected than the grand ball which was given last night in honor of the visiting cattlemen at Garfield hall. In spite of the driving snow and cold northern blasts with which the weather man undertook to celebrate the close of the convention, the large hall was crowded with eager dancers long before the strains of the first waltz broke from the band stationed on the stage. ets had been distributed by the committee in charge of the affair and judging from the crowd, every one of them were used. The dance program consisted of 24 numbers and extras were sandwiched in at intervals.

Dancing was commenced at 9 o'clock and from then until an early hour this morning, the merriment continued. Waltzes and two-steps followed each other in rapid succession; the old fashioned quadrille came in for its share of the fun; the Virginia reel was danced and in fact every step known the ball room since the days of Washington.

Daintily gowned society women danced with the cowboys from far-off Texas and Oklahoma, while the city bred men waltzed and two-stepped with the wives and daughters of the visitors. True, some of the cowboys wore their trousers tucked in the tops of their boots but what did that matter? They did not come prepared to wear dress suits and patent leather shoes, but that did not interfere with the pleasure of the evening in the slightest degree.

Not one disagreeable feature marred the occasion and when the last waltz was played, it was unanimously voted that the ball was a grand success in every particular. Fred Dold superintended the order of dances, which was changed somewhat from the original program to suit the pleasure of the dancers. The credit for the success of the ball is due to Fred Dold and W. E. Bolton.

THE ROPING CONTEST.

A cold driving rain did not keep the largest crowd of people ever gathered to witness a field event in Kansas from attending the roping contest at the stock yards Thursday afternoon. Owing to the immense size of the field, it is impossible to estimate just what the attendance was, but it has been placed at from 20,000 to 25,000. On all sides of the 50-acre arena in which the contests were held, crowds of spectators surged back and forth, all trying to gain a vantage point for witnessing the spectacle. Had the weather been good it is said there would have been not less than 30,000 people present.

Lucille Mulhall was easily the center of attraction and when she appeared on the field mounted on a little bay pony, the vast audience gave her an ovation. This was nothing, however, compared to the pandemonium which broke loose when she roped one of the largest and wildest steers in the entire bunch. Men and women shout-themselves hoarse; hats and umbrellas were thrown in the air; horns blared and it seemed as though the multitude had gone wild.

SHE WON FOURTH PRIZE.

Miss Mulhall was the last contestant to appear. The steer selected for her to rope was a large red animal. As soon as he crossed the 100-foot line, the signal was given and with a vicious jab of her spurs the woman was after him. The cold rain had frozen on her rope, causing it to become a trifle stiff and her first throw slipped from the steer's horns. This did not discourage her however and she continued on the chase. Her second throw was made directly in front of the grandstand was without question the best of the afternoon. The rope circled in the air and struck the animal squarely over the head. It was the work of an instant to wind it around his legs and the beast was down. Jumping from her pony, Miss Mulhall quickly ran to the fallen animal and finished the trying process in exactly two minutes and two seconds, securing fourth. Then it was that the audience went wild. She was quickly surrounded by men and women all eager to grasp her hands.

Miss Mulhall accepted the ovation very modestly and soon after left the grounds with her father. Just as she was leaving the hotel to take the Santa Fe train for home, last evening, she requested a Beacon reporter to thank the people of Wichita for their kindness to her and said if another convention is ever held here, she will surely come.

The other contestants rode well, but owing to the slippery condition of the field and wet ropes, record breaking time was impossible. The following were winners:

Jesse Cups, Higgins, Tex., first prize, $100; time 1:3.

Buck Walsh, Woodward, O. T., second prize, $50; time, 1:36.

Jim Seldman, Alva, O. T., third prize $25; time, 1:39.

Miss Lucile Mulhall, Mulhall, O. T., fourth prize, Stetson hat; time, 2:20.

Billy Brakefield, Guyton, O. T., fifth prize, Stetson hat, time 2:28.

VISITORS DEPART.

Wichita today presents an altogether different appearance than yesterday. The hotels are still crowded, but every departing train this morning and afternoon, carried hundreds of visitors enroute to their homes. At the depots, cheer after cheer was given for Wichita and the rear platforms of the coaches were filled with men waving their hats and hands in farewell.

"It was the grandest convention ever held in the history of the association," said Secretary W. E. Bolton, this morning. "Wichita ever did herself in entertaining the members and if any effort had been made there is no question but the convention would have been held here again next year. As it was, Wichita was given sixteen complimentary votes without solicitation.

"The vote yesterday morning on a place of meeting does not begin to indicate the membership of the association and I wish you would explain that to your readers. In a city the size of Wichita, it is impossible to get the fellows congregated in a hall to listen to speeches and papers when there are so many other interesting places to go so that accounts for the small vote cast."

$10,000,000 Capital.

"The Oklahoma Livestock association now has a membership of 550. Nearly 100 new members were added during the convention just closed and the combined aggregate of wealth represented by its members is nearly $10,000,000. The association bids fair to soon become the largest organization of its kind in the world. The Texas Cattle raisers' association is the largest in the world and has a membership of 950. Plans are being made by which it is hoped to effect a combination of the Panhandle association and several smaller associations with the Oklahoma association, and if this is accomplished, it will be the largest by far.

"One thing was demonstrated during the convention which promises great things for Wichita and the southwest in the future. That is the success of the fine stock sales which were held here. With but two exceptions and possibly but one, the sale of Percherons held yesterday afternoon was the most successful ever held in the United States. The cattle sale was also wonderful and means that in the future, breeders of fine stock will not go to Kansas City and St. Louis as they have been doing in the past.

ing that he is going to arrange to hold the largest combination sale of fine stock at Oklahoma City next year, ever held in the west. It will be open to breeders of all classes of stock.

"There is one thing you neglected to publish last evening and that is the resolutions adopted by the association thanking the Wichita Beacon, Eagle and Drover's Telegram of Kansas City for the magnificent accounts you have published of the proceedings of the convention.

"The convention was a grand success. That is all I can say and we thank the citizens of Wichita from the bottoms of our hearts for their courteous treatment to us."

SHORTHORN CATTLE SOLD.

Top Price was $410, Paid for Cow.

Wednesday was a red letter day in the history of Wichita as a live stock center, for a herd of some of the finest cattle in the Mississippi valley were sold at public auction at the Riverside stables, on West Douglas avenue, yesterday afternoon. This was the first sale of Shorthorn cattle ever held in this city, with the exception of the sale of calves at the stock yards on the day previous, and after the sale was over it was remarked that Wichita's reputation as a fine stock center was firmly established.

The crowd which attended the sale was as large, if not larger, than that which attended the sale of the Poland-China hog on Tuesday, and the bidding was spirited. Not an animal was sold for less than $95, while the majority of them sold for over $100. The top price was $410, paid by Clay Harrington, of Clearwater, Kan., for a cow by "Champion's Best." This animal won many prizes at Kansas fairs last year.

The average price on the 52 head of cattle sold was $171.35. The cattle were all from the herd of J. F. Stodder, of Burden, Kan. All the cattle sold are of registered stock.

A horse sale will be held at Riverside stables this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The sales were as follows:

Heifer, by "Gwendoline's Prince" sold to W. C. Edwards, of Wichita, for $205.

Under the heading, "Abortion in Cattle," Louis Walton tells the Live Stock Inspector readers something of direct interest on this subject and asks that other readers contribute a little telling of any remedy in their knowledge. The Live Stock Inspector will be pleased to have letters on this subject.

We have neglected our chicken house, mule and hog departments the past few issues owing to the space taken by the official report of the 8th annual convention of the Oklahoma Live Stock Association, but after this issue we will endeavor to make these departments the leading feature of the INSPECTOR.

Harm is often done to livestock by breeding too young. Greed frequently leads to this; it is a greed that is very liable to defeat its own ends. The effects of this mistaken course are seen in the premature breaking down of sires, in the dwarfed development of females, in the imperfection of progeny, in weakened constitutions.

The person who would succeed in breeding good livestock must continue to select the best and use such only for purposes of increase. The effect of neglect of this will be deterioration. "In a state of nature 'the survival of the fittest' means the ascendancy merely of endurance, strength and general vigor. These qualities are good in their place, but they are not the highest good." The wild Texas cow does not give as much milk or give milk as long as does a representative cow of any of the breeds distinguished for their milking qualities. And yet in a state of nature the untamed Texan could run out the far finer and more desirable animal—the animal that stands for a process of selection, which must be continued if steadily we are to have the most desirable stock.

Equal to 80,000 cattle, Kansas City to fill the greatest canned beef order ever given. The British government has placed an order for nearly five million pounds with Armour, practically all of which Kansas City will furnish.

The 1900 census report of the United States credits the people of this country with now owning $3,000,000,000 worth of livestock. This is three times as much of such property as was possessed here in 1800. The claim is made that at the present time "the United States raises more marketable livestock than all the rest of the world combined."

This office has been advised by a letter from Chas. F. Martin, Secretary of the National Live Stock Association, Denver, Colo., that the President of the association, John M. Springer had appointed the following members as standing committee on sanitary measure: R. J. Kleberg, Chairman, Corpus Chris; W. H. Dalrymple, Baton Rouge, La.; W. E. Bolton, Woodward, O. T.; J. F. Green, Harrington, Wash.; Warran Tripp, Short Falls, N. Y.

A writer in the interest of the home says, and why, pray, is it not the proper place for men and women at that time of night? The work of the day is done. What more is to be done? There has always been a great hue and cry against boys, that they should be made to remain at home of nights. A curfew law for men would bring quite as much happiness to families, particularly to female members. If the father will remain at home after night the chances are that the boys will remain. In many cases the boy who is out after 6 o'clock at night has a father who is away at the same time.

The Barse Live Stock Commission company writes that the market on all classes of fat quarantine cattle has been very satisfactory all week, and closes with a good healthy feeling. The market on good fat, heavy weight Texas has been steady, in some cases strong. Medium weight cattle, if good quality, strong and active, some goes a little higher. Light weights of good quality, if strictly fat, have been strong; light weights of medium quality, have been barely steady. Good fat bulls and cows from fifteen to twenty five cents higher. Good quality of fat calves steady; common and thin calves very hard to sell. All classes of this cattle that have to be used for canners are very dull at the recent decline. The indications certainly look very favorable for all class of good fat cattle.

W. S. Roberts of Garden City Kan. writes: James Cogwill of this place has 264 head of two year old steers on feed, will feed six pounds of cotton seed meal per day until July. L. M. Bland has two cars of choice cattle fed on cotton seed meal per day until July. L. M. Bland has two cars of choice cattle fed on cotton seed meal and he will ship about the 1st of April. Good cattle are hard to get. Lots of good pastures for sale or lease. The W Cowgill ranch is for sale consisting of about 9,000 acres, good fence and cross fences, three wind mills, river front, good ranch house, corral, barn and feed lots. Anyone wishing such an investment will do well to write W. S. Roberts at Garden City, Kan., for price and terms for lease or sale. F. H. Labtoux and Nick Carter have gone to Texas to buy cattle to run in this county. Range cattle looking well but few sales.

General Funston will not return to the Phillipines. He has been given command of the department of Colorado.

The Quannah Cattlemen's convention was a most successful affair. A report of the proceedings will be given in our issue of April 15.

Stockmen report their cattle looking better than they expected them to look at this time of year. It will not be a great while now until grass comes and the stock will make up for lost time.

"I was probably made of dust," remarked an Oklahoman the other day as he plunged into the house and shut the door in the face of the raging wind, "but I can't see any sense in Nature trying to rub it in on me."

An Oklahoma editor relates this: "When first he came to see her, he showed a timid heart; and even when the light was low they sat this far apart; but as their love grew warmer, they learned its joy and bliss and sat up close together."

We call your special attention to the advertisement of the Kansas City Hay Press company, of Kansas City which can be found elsewhere in this issue. This institution has grown in a few years from a small concern to one of the largest in Kansas City. Besides manufacturing Hay Presses and a lot of other farm machinery, they manufacture one of the best gasoline engines on the market.

Kiss, as parsed by a young school miss, is a conjunction, because it connects. It is a verb because it signifies to act and to be acted upon. It is a preposition because it shows the person kissed is no relation. It is an interjection (at least it sounds like one) and is a pronoun because it stands for a noun. It is also a noun because it is the name of an osculatory action, both common and proper; second person, plural number, because there is more than one. Its gender is feminine and masculine mixed. Frequently the case is governed by circumstances and right, according to Rule 15 "If he smite thee on one cheek turn the other also." It should always begin with a capital letter, be often repeated, continued as long as possible and with a period. Kiss may be conjugated but never declined.—Ex

The Chicago American prints the following item, which though essentially true, perhaps overdraws Miss Mulhall's powers to a considerable extent: "Frank Van Ness, an artist in the Masonic Temple, has just finished a life sized portrait of Miss Lucile Mulhall, of Mullball, Okla., sister of the famous 'Bossie,' calling 'time' for the roping and tying of a steer in the open. It took Miss Mulhall, who is known in the southwest as the 'Queen of the range,' thirty-two seconds to do the trick. The painting is now on exhibition in the studio of the artist and will be sent to Fort Worth, Texas, to be placed in the ticket office of a railroad for advertising purposes. Last fall at the carnival held at that place this sixteen year old daughter of Colonel Zack Mulhall, beat the best of the cowboys of the United States and Mexico seven seconds in roping and tying a steer which had a flying start of two hundred feet."

About Abortion in Cattle.

Harper, Kan. March 15th 1902.
 Publisher Live Stock Inspector,
 Woodward, Okla: As your paper reaches probably more cattle raisers than any other paper in the Southwest, I think it would be up-to-date "old timers," in the cow business who are probably the best posted men in the west on a matter which I consider one of the most important matters for inquiry and remedy pertaining to the cattle industry. I refer to abortion of calves which I find has reduced the percentage of calves dropped so that many men get only 50 per cent of calves. In large pastures, where several hundred cattle are handled together a half crop of seventy-five per cent is rather unusual and the old time ninety per cent and up, is not often obtained. Some small bunches of twenty or thirty head will show nearly one hundred per cent, but the abortions sometimes are as bad in these small bunches as in the larger ones. The object of this communication is to induce some of your readers who are full as experience to throw as much light as possible on the matter, and give the suffering cattle-raisers the benefit of that experience. I had my time with it, but for two years have had almost no trouble. One man will say that millet, kafir corn or cane or some other designated feed is the cause. Another man will feed one or all the above feeds and never have any trouble. One man will say that abortion is a disease in the cows and that animals must be isolated after abortion to prevent others smelling of the foetus and aborting through sympathy. My experience, however leads me to believe that this, even if carefully done, will not stop the loss. Still others claim that an entire change of bulls is the one necessary thing. If the ravages of black-leg decimate the herds in the west and Texas fever under the strictest of quarantine regulations still causes great loss. Still others claim that an entire change of bulls is the one necessary thing. If the ravages of black-leg decimate the herds in the west and Texas fever under the strictest of quarantine regulations still causes great loss every year, it is apparent that an annual loss of probably more than ten per cent of the high-grade herds in the west is a very serious matter and worthy of the most thorough experiment and investigation. Through the medium of your paper I trust that we may get more light on this important matter the losses from which I believe are not over stated. Very truly yours,
 Louis Walton.

Blacklegine.

With the opening of Spring the usual danger from Blackleg arises, though the disease has entirely lost its terrors to the stock raisers since the Pasteur Vaccine Company introduced vaccination in the Spring of 1895, or over seven years ago. The success of vaccination when the Pasteur Vaccine is used is too well known nowadays to need any comment. No doubt some stock raisers used to hesitate about vaccinating on account of the trouble and expense in connection with the old powder vaccine with the syringe outfit. However, this was entirely removed by the introduction some years ago of Pasteur Company's "Blacklegine," which is simply the Pasteur Blackleg Vaccine a form ready for use as sold. The only instrument required with this method is a special needle furnished with a handle, which only costs 50 cents, and as each dose is separate there is no waste. Blacklegine and the Blacklegine outfit render vaccination cheaper simpler and more effective than ever. Blacklegine is furnished in single treatment for ordinary stock and in double treatment for choice stock. The Pasteur Vaccine Company is not only the pioneer for live stock vaccination, but has also kept abreast of the times by the improvements that it has introduced.

Sure Cure for Pink-eye.

Louis Walton of Harper Kansas, who has for many years owned a ranche in Harper county on the head of land creek writes:

As there is and has been for about six years, considerable loss of sight and growth in cattle in Southern Kansas from the disease commonly known as "Pink-Eye" and many stockmen do not know how to cure it, I give you below a cure which I have used for six years and never fail to effect a permanent cure in from three to six applications: Nitrate of silver three grains; Sulphate of Morphia one grain one ounce of rain water. Apply with feather, or better, a medium sized camel's hair pencil to the eye-balls of both eyes even if the disorder appears for the time only in one eye, once or twice a day until cured. Druggists usually charge from 15 to 25 cts for the above, which is enough for a dozen cases.

The Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College has in its live stock equipment, Percheron horses; Hereford, Shorthorn, Aberdeen Angus, and Red Polled cattle; Cotswold and Shropshire sheep; Plymouth Rock chickens and Pekin ducks. This stock is kept for use in class instruction and the study and comparison of the different breeds. Along with the pure bred stock, scrub females are kept which are used to study the grading-up process with the different pure bred males. Most of the increase of this stock is sold as only a few individuals of each breed can be kept on the farm on the account of funds. At the present time a fine lot of gilts and boar pigs of the different pure breeds are offered for sale. These were used by the Short Course students in stock judging practice the past winter, and will be disposed of now as another crop will be ready for the spring class. It is a good opportunity to get choice individuals of the different breeds of swine.

A Thoroughbred Animal.

S. B. Oberlander recently sold his famous Aladdin to H. M. Van Dusen, for $600. Aladdin is a beautiful Stallion and the pride of Enid, having been sired by Avignon, the famous horse owned by Ed Weatherly. Everybody knows what Weatherleys horse is, as Avignon has a record of 22 1/4 and is the acknowledged peer in Oklahoma. Aladdin is a horse of grand finish and style and competent judges pronounce him one of the finest specimens of horse flesh in the west. He is a race horse and won the yearling and two year old heats at Enid. Oberlander is a great horseman and disliked to part with Aladdin but the inducement offered him seemed to justify the same, as he has several others sired by Weatherly's Avignon which he believes will become as good horses as Aladdin.

Mr. Van Dusen procured a great comer in Aladdin.—Enid Coming Events.

The regular subscription price for the LIVE STOCK INSPECTOR is one dollar a year. That it is worth the money is attested by the fact that thousands have for many years been paying the price and found it profitable. But the publishers have determined to make it possible to secure the paper at half price. While the subscription price will remain at one dollar a year, every old subscriber is authorized to send his own renewal for one year and one new subscription for one year with one dollar to pay for both. In like manner to new subscribers will be entered both for one year for one dollar. Address, LIVE STOCK INSPECTOR, WOODWARD, OKLAHOMA.

GORED BY ANGRY STEER,

C. R. Rice Was Attacked By Angry Steer.

C. R. Rice was gored by an angry steer at the stock yards yesterday afternoon, after the contest was over. Most of the people had gone away, but he remained around the pens a while longer. The men were driving in the steers that had been roped and tied during the afternoon, and one of them broke and went through the fence on the south side and right at Mr. Rice, who was standing just east of the bridge before entering the grounds. The steer was going right after him, and he stepped to one side, but the steer kept right on and followed his movements and knocked him down.

Before any of the cowboys could rope the steer and drag him away he had gored him through the neck, the horn going entirely through from one side to the other, just in front of the spinal column, and cutting the windpipe. Some of the men had by this time roped the animal and pulled him away, but he dragged the man with him several feet before the body slipped from the horn. The steer tried to toss him in the air, but was prevented by a quick jerk from one of the ponies. This is all that saved the man's life, for if he had been thrown any distance his neck would have been torn open. He was removed to the Wichita hospital and Dr. Traggart dressed the wounds, and at one o'clock this morning was reported getting along very nicely.

Mr. George Cole, who clerks in Riley's drug store, was one of the witnesses, and last night said to a Reporter for the Eagle.

"I was standing near the southwest corner of the field, watching the men drive in the steers from the ground, and they had brought one almost to the gate when he broke away from them and came to the fence. This man was standing almost straight south of where the steer came through, and was the first man he saw, and he started right after him. The man tried to get away, but the steer struck him and knocked him down before any one of the cowboys could reach him. The steer then gored him through the neck and tried to toss him, but was dragged away by the cowboys."

Mr. Rice is a laborer, and lives at 401 Santa Fe avenue. He has a family and the injury will work quite a hardship on them. The wife was prostrated when she heard of the accident.

FAREWELL TO CATTLEMEN.

Wichita Appreciates the Visit of its Guests.

Most of Wichita's guests returned home last night. The late trains were crowded. All went home satisfied with their treatment while in hospitable Wichita, and carried with them fine impressions of the Peerless Princess of the plains.

Now that the city's visitors are gone, the Eagle desires to say that Wichita has been delighted with their visit and hopes they will come again. It can be said, for the benefit of Oklahoma City, where they will gather next year, that they can feel highly honored and flattered upon as being selected as their meeting place. It will take there as fine men as any city can wish to entertain, and ladies the influence of whose presence will be of value beyond mere sordid or financial computation.

Wichita feels proud of the sturdy men and beautiful women of the southwest, and it is a pleasure to say that the home people enjoyed their visit. It has not been a question of dollars and cents with the people of Wichita; it is a question of becoming acquainted with the splendid people of the tributary territory, and in this respect the value and profit of the great cattlemen's convention has overshadowed everything else.

The influence of their presence in the city enlarged the ideas of Wichita people with reference to the possibilities of the city's future in a measure that cannot fail to stimulate local efforts in the direction of attaining Wichita's ambition to be what nature intended her to be—the undisputed metropolis of the great southwest.

To President Abner Wilson and Secretary Bolton and the other gentlemen who contributed to so largely of their effort to make the convention a success. Wichita is indebted, and no mistake will be made in saying that the Peerless Princess' citizens appreciate their work.

Wichita could probably have gotten the convention again next year by having worked for it, but Wichita has too high an appreciation of the friendship of Oklahoma and the great towns in that territory to ask for two meetings of the association in succession. It has felt that it has been highly honored in being designated once, for it is, indeed, a great honor for people to leave their own commonwealth to hold a meeting in a neighboring commonwealth. Few states have ever had such an honor and Wichita and Kansas appreciate it.

The time may come possibly, and probably, that the cattle interests of the southwest, will be united and then, in all probability, Wichita will again press its desire to have the cattlemen meet here and bring their fair ladies with them.

Wichita, in bidding farewell to the cattlemen, congratulates Oklahoma City in getting the next meeting.

FINE HORSES WERE SOLD.

Average Price was $377. Average on Robin'd Stock Second Highest in 21 Years.

The third great sale of fine stock to be held at the Riverdale stables on West Douglas avenue, took place yesterday afternoon, when thirty-six Percheron, Clydesdale and Shire stallions and mares were sold at an average price of $377.92. The top price of the sale was $1,100 paid for Charles M. 224.27, by J. W. Hare of this city.

The sale was probably the most satisfactory horse sale from the view point of the owners of the stock ever held in this city. The bidding was spirited and the crowd was as large as the auctioneers could well handle. The average price on the stock sold by J. W. and J. C. Robison of Towanda, Kan., was $475, which is the second largest price paid at a sale of Percheron horses in the United States for twelve years.

The stock offered yesterday was owned by Snyder Bros., of Winfield, Kan., and J. W. and J. C. Robison of Towanda, Kansas.

The sale of Percheron stallions were as follows:

"Cedric" 28708, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to John Schmidt and Frank Boden, of Tipton, Kan., for $730.

"Va Vite" 25974, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to John Schmidt of Tipton, Kan., for $1,075.

"Drascati," 13151, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to J. B. Goldsmith of Bartlett, Kan., for $500.

"Cowley Boxer" 28711, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to B. D. Shover of Argonia, Kan., for $300.

"Fantome," 25972, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to O. L. Thisler of Chapman, Kan., for $1,000.

"Cowley Peck" 28709, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to B. D. Shover of Argonia, Kan., for $300.

"Cowley Beaumont," 28712, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to F. S. McKeown of Billings O. T., for $510.

"Charlie M.," 22,427, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to J. W. Hare of Wichita, for $1,100.

"Cowley Pride," 28704, consigned to Snyder Bros., sold to Shile Bros., of Coffeyville, Kan., for $450.

"Cowley King," 28705, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to P. H. Marsh of Tonkawa, O. T., for $405.

"Powerful Lad," 26516, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to W. H. Cottingham of McPherson, Kan., for $725.

"Pride of Bourbon," 25637, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to Joe Fox of Greeley, Kan., for $300.

"Gibraltar," 28596, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to E. Mer-shou of Buekner, Mo., for $205.

"Roderick" by "Frascati," consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to L. K. Clark of Grenola, Kan., for $155.

"Perehie" by "Frascati" 13151, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to J. H. Rainey of Eldorado, Kan., for $410.

"Lecou" 15340, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to William Chaffee of Garber, O. T. for $500.

The following Percheron mares were sold:

Wichita Appreciates the Visit of its Guests.

Most of Wichita's guests returned home last night. The late trains were crowded. All went home satisfied with their treatment while in hospitable Wichita, and carried with them fine impressions of the Peerless Princess of the plains.

Now that the city's visitors are gone, the Eagle desires to say that Wichita has been delighted with their visit and hopes they will come again. It can be said, for the benefit of Oklahoma City, where they will gather next year, that they can feel highly honored and flattered upon as being selected as their meeting place. It will take there as fine men as any city can wish to entertain, and ladies the influence of whose presence will be of value beyond mere sordid or financial computation.

Wichita feels proud of the sturdy men and beautiful women of the southwest, and it is a pleasure to say that the home people enjoyed their visit. It has not been a question of dollars and cents with the people of Wichita; it is a question of becoming acquainted with the splendid people of the tributary territory, and in this respect the value and profit of the great cattlemen's convention has overshadowed everything else.

The influence of their presence in the city enlarged the ideas of Wichita people with reference to the possibilities of the city's future in a measure that cannot fail to stimulate local efforts in the direction of attaining Wichita's ambition to be what nature intended her to be—the undisputed metropolis of the great southwest.

To President Abner Wilson and Secretary Bolton and the other gentlemen who contributed to so largely of their effort to make the convention a success. Wichita is indebted, and no mistake will be made in saying that the Peerless Princess' citizens appreciate their work.

Wichita could probably have gotten the convention again next year by having worked for it, but Wichita has too high an appreciation of the friendship of Oklahoma and the great towns in that territory to ask for two meetings of the association in succession. It has felt that it has been highly honored in being designated once, for it is, indeed, a great honor for people to leave their own commonwealth to hold a meeting in a neighboring commonwealth. Few states have ever had such an honor and Wichita and Kansas appreciate it.

The time may come possibly, and probably, that the cattle interests of the southwest, will be united and then, in all probability, Wichita will again press its desire to have the cattlemen meet here and bring their fair ladies with them.

Wichita, in bidding farewell to the cattlemen, congratulates Oklahoma City in getting the next meeting.

FINE HORSES WERE SOLD.

Average Price was $377. Average on Robin'd Stock Second Highest in 21 Years.

The third great sale of fine stock to be held at the Riverpide stables on West Douglas avenue, took place yesterday afternoon, when thirty-six Percheron, Clydesdale and Shire stallions and mares were sold at an average price of $377.92. The top price of the sale was $1,100 paid for Charles M. 224,27, by J. W. Hare of this city.

The sale was probably the most satisfactory horse sale from the view point of the owners of the stock ever held in this city. The bidding was spirited and the crowd was as large as the auctioneers could well handle. The average price on the stock sold by J. W. and J. C. Robison of Towanda, Kan., was $475, which is the second largest price paid at a sale of Percheron horses in the United States for twelve years.

The stock offered yesterday was owned by Snyder Bros., of Winfield, Kan., and J. W. and J. C. Robison of Towanda, Kansas.

The sale of Percheron stallions were as follows:

"Cedric" 28708, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to John Schmidt and Frank Boden, of Tipton, Kan., for $730.

"Va Vite" 25974, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to John Schmidt of Tipton, Kan., for $1,075.

"Drascati," 13151, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to J. B. Goldsmith of Rartlett, Kan., for $500.

"Cowley Boxer" 28711, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to B. D. Shover of Argonia, Kan., for $300.

"Fantom," 25972, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to O. L. Thisler of Chapman, Kan., for $1,000.

"Cowley Peck" 28709, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to B. D. Shover of Argonia, Kan., for $300.

"Cowley Beaumont," 28712, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to F. S. McKeown of Billings O. T., for $510.

"Charlie M.," 22,427, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to J. W. Hare of Wichita, for $1,100.

"Cowley Pride," 28704, consigned to Snyder Bros., sold to Shile Bros., of Coffeyville, Kan., for $450.

"Cowley King," 28705, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to P. H. Marsh of Tonkawa, O. T., for $405.

"Powerful Lad," 26516, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to W. H. Cottingham of McPherson, Kan., for $725.

"Pride of Bourbon," 25637, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to Joe Fox of Greeley, Kan., for $300.

"Gioralter," 28596, consigned by J. W. and J. C. Robison, sold to E. Mer-shou of Buekner, Mo., for $205.

"Roderick" by "Frascati," consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to L. K. Clark of Grenola, Kan., for $155.

"Perchie" by "Frascati" 13151, consigned by Snyder Bros., sold to J. H. Rainey of Eldorado, Kan., for $410.

HERFORD SALE WAS SUCCESS.
All Registered Animals Found Ready Buyers.

he Union Stock yards in this city yesterday. The cattle for this sale were from the well known Hereford farms of Scott & March, Belton, Mo.; Guggell & Simpson, Independence, Mo.; C. A. Stannard, Emporia, Kan., and Mrs. C. S. Cross, Emporia, Kansas.

The weather was unfavorable for the sale and the building of the yards was entirely too small to accommodate the crowd. It was also too dark in the building but when complaint was made Superintendent Dulaney had some of the weather boarding torn off to let in the light and when that failed he had lamps in the building.

Speaking of the sale last night C. A. Stannard of Emporia said that everything considered they were pleased with the sale. He said cattle never sold very high at first sale. He said, however, that he was so well satisfied that he was in favor of making this sale at Wichita an annual affair. After the cattle were scattered through the country and people saw what they were they would pay more for them the next time. He said that Wichita was the center of the greatest cattle section in the United States and here was the place to hold sales for the best cattle in the country. He thought there ought to be an auditorium built near the stock yards that would seat about one or two thousand people, and have a good place in the center to show the cattle. He said it was the custom to hold these sales in the winter time and if there was a good building for the purpose here he thought a great deal of stock would be brought and Wichita would come to be regarded as the place to buy fine stock.

The combination sale was commenced at half past one p. m., and the selling was done by R. E. Edmondson. Following is the list of sales. All the cattle were under two years old.

Making Hogs Profitable.

To be successful with swine it is necessary to make a study of the business. One has first to learn just what constitutes a good hog and why certain points are desirable, and how to breed eliminate undesirable qualities, feed and care of the brood sow and same for the pig from birth to maturity. Necessity of sunlight, warmth, exercise and many other items of detail must have daily attention. Many have been successful in making money with the hog as a partner. Some very cogent reasons for such success were given by S. Y. Thornton, in an address before the Missouri Swinebreeders, Convention, as follows:

The hog has been very properly called the mortgage lifter. I have been raising and feeding hogs for market from my boyhood, with some degree of success.

"I commenced on a farm a mortgage on it for $1500 I had other stock out, paid close attention to my hogs, believing by so doing I would sooner have a clear title to my farm. Then I bought a more valuable farm and mortgaged it for $3000. I stuck close to my friend 'the mortgage lifter,' and in a comparatively short time I cleared the record, and have come to the relief of some that were not on such intimate terms with my old friend as I have been.

"To begin with, it is important to have large, hardy, prolific sows, and enough of them to raise at one litter each a car load when ready for market.

"Choose the breed that will raise the most pigs, of the heaviest weight in the shortest time. Breed for early spring pigs, and all within ten days or two weeks if possible to a thrifty, well developed boar (but never more than two a day to one boar), so as to have the pigs strong, hearty and near the same age.

"It is important to have them all the same color, as well as the same age and style, so they will be attractive to the buyer, and by so doing you will get twenty to twenty-five cents per hundred pounds more than if they lack uniformity. Have each sow named or numbered, and record the date they were bred, and be prepared to care for each sow and pigs by themselves before she is due to farrow, for a little carelessness or neglect on your part at this time will cause you to lose more than you can make on what happen to get through right. The sows should be in good order, but not fat.

"Feed moderately until after the pigs come, and then increase the feed gradually until they are a week old, when the sows should be on full feed. It is important to give the sow some slop before she farrows, to insure a good flow of milk. I have known pigs to get poor, and if the weather was cold, chill to death, because the sow hadn't sufficient milk, while if she had been properly fed for a week before they would have been all right. Feed the sow liberally on good slop and corn and let her have access to the best pasture possible, for a litter of eight or ten, and sometimes eleven or twelve, heavy pigs makes a great demand on the sow.

"For early spring pigs a good growth of rye or wheat is excellent. When the pigs are three or four weeks old they will begin to eat corn and should have it shelled for them. Have shallow troughs and encourage them to drink slop as soon as they will. Feed the pigs well all the time, but during hot weather I think best not to feed too much corn. Feed near the water and shade when the weather is warm, but for the benefit of the coming corn or other crop feed on a clover field where you can utilize the manure, which is the richest of any made on the farm. If pigs weigh one hundred pounds or more when you begin to fatten them, I think sixty days' full feed on corn on a good clover pasture will give a greater gain to the amount of corn fed than if fed longer."

Sand Kill Horses.

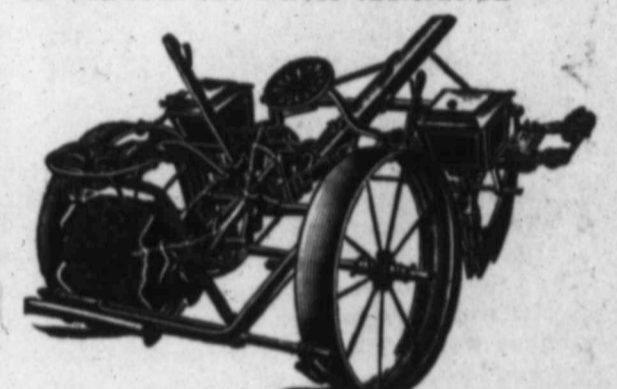

W. D. Berry, of near Blodgett, who recently lost five horses with what is called "blood staggers," concluded to investigate the cause and held a post mortem examination on one or two. In the stomach of one he found 175 pounds of sand. Since then one or two other parties have made a similar examination and have found as much as 25 or 30 pounds of sand, which evidently produced death.

The sand was probably eaten with wheat or other substances where the horses have been pastured. A few mules have also died, but not so many as horses. The loss on the latter has been very heavy, and will foot up several thousand dollars in this county alone. In Mississippi county a similar epidemic among horses is complained of, probably from the same cause.—Benton Record.

The Marvin Smith company of Chicago, whose advertisement appears regularly in these columns, differs from all the mail order houses we know of in being specialists. They make a speciality of handling agricultural implements, farm tools, vehicles of all kinds, and a complete line of saddlery and harness. They have specialized to such an extent along their chosen lines until they now claim to be the largest Agricultural Implement Mail order house in the world.

From our knowledge of this firm and their method of doing business, we are not disposed to dispute their claim. Some idea of the completeness and thoroughness of this house may be gained by a single instance. In feed grinders alone they handle over fifty-seven kinds, styles and varieties. This may be taken as a very fair example of the whole. The same completeness and thoroughness prevails throughout the whole institution.

As may be surmised, it takes a large and complete catalogue to contain, illustrate and describe the various lines handled by this firm. Their large general catalogue contains a list of more than fifteen thousand articles and in every case the description is plain, direct and truthful and the prices which are always such as to save the farmer money, are marked in plain figures. More than all else, we like their methods of doing business. Then tell you exactly what they have, exactly how it is made, exactly what it will cost. They never leave a customer dissatisfied. They do business on the principle of "once a customer always a customer" and treat their clients accordingly. It would seem to us wise to have their catalogue in the house ready by hands at all times. Having the information in the "nick of time" is almost sure to save you money. Write them for catalogue which they will mail you free if you mention this paper.

Senator Money introduced a bill in the United States senate authorizing the secretary of the treasury to acquire by purchase or condemnation a site upon which to erect building, with vaults, heating, ventilation and elevators in a city in Oklahoma, to cost blank dollars. Proposals for sale of site to be made by advertisement in one or more newspapers of the largest circulation, for twenty days, and transmitted to the secretary. The commission is to report all sites and is to receive per diem of six dollars and traveling expenses. An open space of forty feet on each side of the building is asked.

The Boers have released Gen. Menthuen. The general admits that the Boers are pretty fair scrappers themselves.

HOW I LOVE YOU.

I love you with a love as pure
As love I knew in childhoods days.
When a friend said: "Kiss me, sweet,"
Quick my childish lips I'd raise,
As I then paused not to question—
De ming hearts were always true—
So my woman's love is trustful,
And has not one doubt of you.

I love you with a love so true
It, sooth, shall live forever;
And from my heart its tendrils fixed
Nor wind nor tide shall sever:
But it shall grow and bear sweet flowers
That bloom through all the year,
The beauty shedding o'er my path
Till all the way seems fair.

I love you with a love so strong
It lends me of its force,
And is of worthy deeds I do
The oft unconscious source.
It bears me on, till scarce I know
If I am Love's or Love is mine;
And scarce I care, since loving you
I better love the God divine.

WHAT CAN THE YOUNG GIRL DO?

(A Prize Subject.)

A great social question of today, one overlooked by most reform writers, is the question of proper amusements for the girls and young ladies of small towns. In larger places the need of the subject is not so apparent, but in almost every town or city of size the wail is heard from girls: "I wish we had some place to go to for regular good social times together. I mean all of us young people, not merely girls alone. We don't want something always exclusively religious and if we happen to attend a dance or card party the preacher maligns us from the pulpit. We really have nothing to afford us amusement, and life here is fearfully dull." And the complaint is echoed by mothers. Upon them rests a grave responsibility, but they usually wriggle from under it by admitting their inability, and saying their daughters ought to be satisfied to stay at home and study housework, read their books at night and go to young people's church societies on Sunday. Now, among all the women of our Woman's Department there must be many with ideas on this subject—good ideas which might be a boon to others. We want several articles, for the subject has many features. For the five that are best among those first received suitable prizes will be given.

THE WARMTH OF PAPER.

"Did you ever try to sleep under a blanket of newspapers?" asked Mrs.

Templeton, who had driven in to the Ladies' Aid Society from her ranch home far out from town.

A comprehensive shiver was the only response given by the assembled ladies of the Aid Society.

"Well," laughed Mrs. Templeton, "You ought to try it. I had to, last week, during that bitter cold weather. Had company, you know, and just at dark a wagon-load of health-seeking travelers dashed in and begged lodging, and at bed time a troop of belated cowboys from Smith's ranch, and besides all of them there were our own hired hands to care for. An abundance of bedding has always been my boast, but this emergency taxed me to the utmost. Once I had read of the warmth of newspapers, I had great stacks of them I had been saving to put under carpets. These I brought out and placed between quilts on the beds in which were to sleep our own family, and never in our lives did we sleep more comfortably. I put them on thickly and well overlapped. I tried it again a few nights afterward, just to make sure, and with one-third the number of coverings we would ordinarily have used, we were snug as could be."

"Eureka!" cried Mrs. Fleet, the merriest of all those merry Aid Society ladies, "Hereafter, all our donations to the poor must include a stack of old newspapers! Mrs. Secretary, please make a record of this wise suggestion."

"You are pretending not to take me seriously," said Mrs. Templeton, laughing with the rest, "but my knowledge of the newspaper as an effective agent in keeping out cold is based on experience, I assure you. Don't understand me to mean that I think newspapers particularly ornamental—I don't advocate their use as counterpanes, quite, but—"

"That's all right!" interrupted Mrs. Fleet, with much show of compunction; "I'm going to try it myself next cold spell."

FRIENDS.

Words are easy, like the wind;
Faithful friends are hard to find.
He that is thy friend indeed,
He will help thee in thy need;
If thou sorrow he will weep,
If thou wake he cannot sleep.
Thus, of every grief in heart
He with thee doth bear a part.
These are certain signs to know
Faithful friend from flattering foe.

RICHARD BARNFIELD.

THE COIFFURE.

"Simplicity in hair dressing," says Julia D. Cowles, a fashion writer in The Housekeeper, "is a thing of the past, and straight locks are entirely out of style. The fashionable head is covered from brow to nape of neck with softly undulating waves, with twists and puffs and curls."

"Never in the history of hair dressing has there been displayed such a bewildering array of beautiful ornaments for the hair. This is partly accounted for by the fact that the custom of removing one's hat during any evening performance has become generally prevalent, and, since hats are tabooed, ornaments are taking their place, and hair dressing in general is becoming elaborate."

A FEW GOOD SIMPLE PUDDINGS.
Rice Tapioca.

1 quart milk,
3 tablespoonfuls rice,
2 tablespoonfuls tapioca,
4 tablespoonfuls sugar,
Flavor with nutmeg.

Bake slowly about three hours, stirring occasionally at first.

MRS. S. F. B.

CAKE AND APPLE.

Break any kind of cake into crumbs. Place a thick layer of them in a buttered pudding dish, then a layer of stewed apples, another layer of the cake crumbs, apples again, and so on, with a layer of the crumbs on top. Beat the yolk of one egg, two tablespoonfuls sugar, one-half pint sweet milk, cinnamon to flavor. Pour over the cake and apple in the pudding dish. Bake fifteen minutes. When done, spread on a meringue made by beating the white of the egg very stiff, sweetening with one heaping tablespoonful of sugar and adding a few small bits of lemon peel. Brown very slowly. Serve cold.

BERTHA NELSON.

DRIED FRUIT PUDDING.

Pick, wash and soak well, any kind of dried fruit. Chop into small pieces. Put in a pudding pan, alternating with bread crumbs. Pour over it a custard made of two eggs, one pint of milk, two tablespoonfuls sugar. Bake twenty minutes and serve either hot or cold with any sauce.

SAVE THE FEATHERS.

In this western country where it is not the rule for every rancher's wife to have a flock of geese or ducks, there is still no lack of luxurious feather beds. The great numbers of dry land fowls, both wild and tame, make downy feather beds an easy possibility to the housewife who cares to save the softest feathers from every fowl she picks. The feathers can be kept in loose-meshed bags and often swung out doors—the clothesline is a good place—where sunshine and wind will keep them well aired and dry.

WISE SUGGESTIONS.

From a Primary S. S. Teacher.

Dear Aunt Mary:—

I have been teaching a primary class in Sunday school for four years. The following ways I have found successful, perhaps they will help some Sunday school teacher:

Dress neatly and tidily, so the children will be proud of you in the face of others.

Always be sociable with children wherever you meet them. Be interested in their welfare, both in words and actions.

Visit them if they are sick. Take them something that will interest them, such as the excellent copies of fine paintings that appear in Woman's Home Companion and others of our best magazines. (If you can afford the more expensive ones, do so.) They help the child to pass the time pleasantly. It always seems so long to the sick, you know.

Study all the details of the Sunday school lesson so you can tell a connected story.

Always be on hand if weather and health permit. If you are not, the children will grow discouraged and will not attend regularly.

I am able to reprimand my class, both in Sunday school and church, with a solemn shake of the head, and then a smile to the most timid, which tells them they are too noisy and that I do not want to be cross with them.

Make them presents, often, of nice cards, or papers for the quarter. Children always appreciate those things, and they cost so little. It will only take a small part of the tenth of your pocket money.

ONE MAN'S LESSON.

[Dear sisters, have you ever "worked hard all day doing nothing?" Here is a man who can sympathize with you. In accordance with his desire his full name is not divulged. His letter may comfort some poor, tired, unappreciated woman.]

Dear Aunt Mary:—

My wife and the children (there are five of them) have just come home after an absence of six weeks. The day before they came I began to clean up about the house. I wanted my wife to see what a good housekeeper I had been while she was gone. I had not straightened up things to amount to much before that day because I hadn't had time, actually, to do more than cook and eat and wash dishes.

First, I made up my bed real good—turned the mattress, shook up the feathers, patted the pillows, and all that, you know. Next, I didn't know where to begin, there was such a heap of things to begin on. Finally, I poked around in the pantry and found a mouse in the trap my wife keeps in there. Judging from his looks when I took him out, he had gotten caught the day after my wife left. I had wondered why the mice had been so bad. Trap just held one and after he got in the rest simply overran the place and riddled everything. Well, I worked like a Trojan all day. Polished the stoves, washed the coal and grease marks off all the doors, swept, dusted, etc., etc. And then, when the day was gone, I sank down exhausted and looked, and—believe me, I could not tell that a thing had been done, to look at it. But I was sore and full of aches, and so tired I didn't sleep one good hour all night. I'd rather brand cattle in a blizzard, or maul rails, or do anything.

Next day I kept on cleaning up until time to meet the train. And then, after all, my wife looked distressed when she came in, and said: "Dear me, Henry! How dirty and disarranged things do look about the house! It will take me a month to straighten and clean up!" I could but agree with her, yet it was discouraging to me, after all my exertion. I am not rested yet. How in the living world she ever manages to keep things picked up, do the cooking washing, and sewing, look after the house and me and those five children, is more than I can understand. Hereafter I shall fully appreciate the "tedious doing of countless little things which make up the general air of tidiness" about my home.

TWO CAKES FROM TEXAS.

Snowdrift Cake.

2 1/2 cups sugar,
1 1/2 cups butter,
Whites of twelve eggs,
4 cups flour,
1 cup sweet milk,
1 teaspoonful baking powder,
Flavor to taste.

CREAM CAKE.

Two eggs beaten together. One cup sugar. One cup flour. Butter size of an egg. Half cup sweet milk. Teaspoonful baking powder.

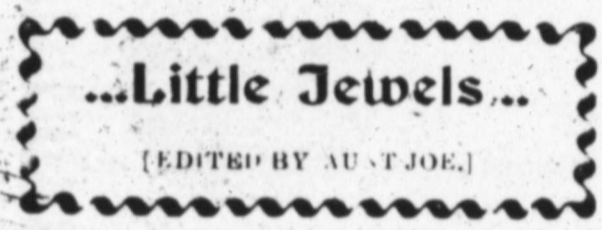

FILLING.

One pint sweet milk, boiled and thickened with flour. One egg, one half cup sugar. A little butter and flavor to taste.

Without the filling this makes an excellent plain cake.

DEAR AUNT JOE:

The cow is a quadruped with four feet which she uses to walk about on. Some have two long horns on the top of their heads which they use to scare dogs and little children. Some have no horns and all have on the opposite end to the head a long slender appendage called a tail which they use to mind off flies. The cow is many different colors and is a very useful animal, giving us milk to drink and from which we make butter.

FLORENCE GRAGG, age 7.

DEAR AUNT JOE:

As the little folks were to write about cows this month I will try and tell you a story of a cow. The cow I am going to write about is red and white spotted with long crumpled horns and we named her "Fifty Cow" because she always persisted in thinking my little sister and I were dogs when she happened to find us out of the yard. One day we were down by the brookside plucking violets when we heard a snorting and pattering of hoofs and on looking up and saw old "Fifty Cow" coming right at us on a dead run. Oh! but we were frightened and started for home as fast as we could, but she bolted right on by us, not seeming to notice us and went splash into the water where she stopped still and began to use her "fly minder" as fast as she could. We hastened on and told our mamma about "our fright" and she laughed and explained that it was heel flies after the cow.
