Absentee Voting Starts Monday For July 28 Democratic Primary Election

By JERRY STOLTZ

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayfield are leaving on a snazzy expense paid vacation trip next week. They'll stay at the Del Coronado Hotel across the bay from San Diego, Calif., for two weeks with five days of it including the Republic National Life Insurance convention.

The only difference between Ed's leaving and mine, in that he's coming back and the Stoltz family is going for good. Of course that doesn't mean we won't be back to visit, but we are moving to Lovington in the near future. It was the hardest decision of a lifetime for both Wilma and I, and of course the kids swear they aren't going to move.

But the opportunity in Lovington is exceptionally good, thanks to Dave Worley. Brownfield has been good to us, and we hope that we have been good for it.

Poets really wax sentimental on this subject, and since we have another week of writing this column before us let's talk about something more interesting. Take sex for instance.

Alton Chapman came up with the answer to a question on that subject at the Rotary banquet Thursday.

This fellow asked his wife, "why are women so beautiful and dumb?" She replied, "we are beautiful to make you love us, and we are dumb so we can love you!"

And from that to taxes—despite drouth, etc. Jake Geron reports collections are ahead of last year. They mailed out about 400 delinquent notices. See NEWS-VIEWS, Page 6

Absentee voting for the July 28th Democratic Primary will start Monday in the County Clerk's office according to County Chairman Leonard Lang.

Persons who will be vacationing or out of town on the 28th may cast their votes at any time in the Clerk's office. Persons who are unable to go to the polls because of their health may send in a signed application requesting a ballot with their doctors affidavit testifying to the state of health. The ballot must be notarized.

Political activity has increased during the past week with practically all candidates "beating the bushes" and placards appearing on every utility post in town.

The two Brownfield candidates for State Representative J. O. Gilham and Robert Bowlers, Jr., spoke in Levelland Wednesday at a Fourth of July political rally. State Senatorial candidates also appeared at the rally.

Terry countians will have the opportunity to hear and see all of the candidates on Monday, July 16 at the Home Demonstration Council sponsored county-wide rally. It will be held at the Lions Baseball Field.

Newell Reed Is New Rotary President

Alton Chapman, former Rotary District Governor of Floydada, installed New Brownfield Rotary officers Thursday night and in the process spoke in glowing terms of the local club's community service program.

"No club in the Rotary world has as fine a community service program as you do here in Brownfield," said Chapman.

The speaker also recounted various experiences he recently met with during two weeks of work in New York and Pennsylvania with Rotarians from countries all over the world.

He charged newly installed president Newell Reed and vice-president Morgan Copeland with the duties of their offices with impressive words in the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall.

A quartet composed of B. F. Hutson, Dale Travis, Alvir Davis and Roy Priest sang several numbers.

Retiring President Johnny Kendrick recognized several members of the club for their efforts during his term of office.

Building Continues Slow But Passes Half Million

Commercial building continued steady during the month of June, but otherwise Brownfield building fell off to total $39,900. This puts the half year total at $572,795 with a good chance to eclipse the million dollar mark for the fifth time in the history of the town.

To show how much of a drop there has been in residential building compared to 1955, there were six new homes listed in the June building permits a year ago, this year only two. That 3 to 1 ratio is probably close to a true comparison.

However Dewey Rogers started work on a new masonry building and glass greenhouse at 105 W. Broadway to cost $10,000 and Roy Collier is building an $18,000 tile and brick funeral parlor at Brownfield Funeral Home. The latter will count in the July total.

The eight permits issued in addition to Roger's include one at 1015 Tahoka Road where Gene Gunn is converting the existing carport into a kitchen at an estimated cost of $700.

D. C. Murphy is building a $700 addition to the residence at 1004 North Second.

The only new residence being built is the $9,000 frame house with attached garage at 1504 E. Cardwell.

R. T. Wilson took out a permit to move a frame residence in a 507 South A, $3,500.

Mrs. C. N. Dyke is putting a $1,000 addition on her residence at 502 North Fifth.

Warren Scudday is building a $2,000 residence at 804 South Sixth.

John E. Morris moved in a residence with attached garage at 213 E. Buckley, estimated cost $12,500.

Graham Smith is having a carport and storage room built onto his home at 1202 E. Cardwell for $500.

Dollar Day Winners

Dollar Day gift certificate winners in Brownfield Monday were as follows:

Mrs. W. T. Hollifield of Route 4, at Cobbs.

Ora Mae Rutledge of Route 2, at Collins.

Mrs. Glen Baker, Box 32, Wellman, at Dunlaps.

Winnie Shults, Route 5, at the Fair Store.

Mrs. W. B. Downing, 315 Tahoka Road, at Fentons.

OOPS!—No need to run, however, from the two 4-week-old skunks shown above with their youthful owners, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. (Jerry) McCarver of Gil-Park Apartments. The boys are Chip, 6 months, and Donnie, 4 years. Donnie is making up to Butch—or Stinky. Chip has his eye on Stinky—or Butch. With their musk sacs removed, skunks make traditionally fine pets. These two were found at the rig site where McCarver is employed by Lowe Drilling Company.

Mrs. Robert Helms Is Auto Accident Victim

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert B. Helms, 50, Plains, who was killed at 2:15 p.m. Monday when her automobile went out of control on U. S. Hwy. 380 near Plains were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist Church of Brownfield.

The Rev. Bob Robins, Baptist minister from Levelland, officiated. Burial was in Brownfield Cemetery.

Mrs. Helms had lived in Plains for about four months and had lived in Odessa prior to that for nine years. She is a former resident of Tokio, having lived there from 1919 to about 1947.

Mrs. Helms was pronounced dead on arrival at Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City following the one car mishap. She apparently lost control of her car as it was travelling at high speed. The auto left the road and came to rest 170 feet beyond the end of the pavement in a pasture.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Helms is survived by a son, J. T. Snow of Levelland; a brother, George Lasiter of Brownfield and two sisters, Mrs. A. W. Willett of Bowie and Mrs. Homer Eubanks of Hurst.

Jaycees Sponsor Jr. Golf Tourney

Terry county junior golfers, boys who will not have reached their 18th birthday by August 20th, will shoot for two expense trips to Brownwood and the State Junior Jaycee tournament Monday and Tuesday at Brownfield Country Club.

B. F. Huston, chairman of the Jaycee committee, said the boys will shoot 18 holes of medal play golf starting at 1:30 p.m. each day.

The two low scorers will receive expense paid trips to be held July 19th and 20th. Caddy fees are not included in the expenses.

The top four players at Brownwood win expense paid trips to Fargo, N. D. in August to the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior tournament.

Amateurs also shot for medal honors in the Fourth annual invitational on Thursday. Three days of match play golf will lead through the finals on Sunday.

Indications early Thursday were that this year's championship flight would be the "fastest" in the history of the tournament.

The Hardys won the Father-Son event with a gross 160 min-

In winning the Flag tourney Graham shot a 74 and then used six more of his eight handicap strokes to get to within 75 yards of the cup on the 20th hole.

Jon Cowser was seven yards back of Graham in placing his flag. He shot a 78 with a 12 stroke handicap.

Sherwood Gill was third and came within four inches of sinking his putt on the 19th. Bob Duke was six feet from the cup on 19 to gain fourth place.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Line and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gage fished over the week end at Colorado City.

News is mighty scant this week. Unless things pick up within the next 24 hours, I must really apologize for such a scrawny section this week. Guess everyone is vacationing . . . or maybe the heat's got them. Anyway, please don't forget to call me at 3858 and give me your news each week.

The Miss Little League contest has narrowed down to ten contestants now and will go into the finals Sunday. The winner will be determined as the contestant who sells most number of tickets to the mother's game, which will be held July 19. All proceeds go to the Little League, and the lucky girl will receive a five-day trip for herself and her parents to a resort, all expenses paid. Be sure to buy your ticket from the contestants of your choice. Incidentally, seeing the mothers playing ball should be worth a quarter, don't you think?

Bernice (Mrs. Virgil) Crawford called me the other night just before she and her family left on a month's vacation to give me a timely household tip. I think it's one we can all use and appreciate. Fill polyethylene freezer containers with homogenized milk and freeze for future use. This is wonderful in many ways: Bernice says her family finds it useful due to the fact that they always seem to return from a trip sometime in the middle of the night and there's no milk in the house for breakfast. She just remove a container of frozen milk from the freezer and by the time breakfast time rolls around, there's your milk for cereal and coffee, and it's just as fresh as a daisy. Seems like this would be a grand idea for travelling, too—just put a carton of frozen milk in the icebox that you carry in the car, and after you get down the road apiece, it's ready to use. It's equally useful for picnic trips, too.

Have had many people stop me this week and say, "Is that the hat?" It's real life-saver, too, kids. It's kind of like olives and avocados and limburger cheese . . . once you get used to it, you don't notice the oddness anymore.

I was watching a TV program this week . . . the one Art Linkletter has his quiz for school kids on . . . and he had a bunch of 10 year old kids on. He made the statement that this was the age when kids gave each other nicknames. Well, I was quite a bit older than 10 when I got mine and maybe that's one reason I'm partial to my nephew Jimmy Walker (who runs Platter Party at KTFY for the teen agers). Jimmy gave me my nickname of Gee Gee because he couldn't quite handle my real monicker . . . for which I'm very grateful. Nicknames always sort of fascinate me. I have a brother-in-law whose nickname of Sonny has stuck with him all these years and although he's as tall as a redwood tree and past 21, he's still Sonny. At present he's taken to calling his younger son "Shorty" . . . a nickname I certainly hope won't stick. And then there's Whitey Cruce . . . I wonder if that will stay with her?

Have had quite a few requests for my mother's famous pear preserve cake. Sure hope we don't have any mishaps with these ingredients: ¾ cup butter, 2½ cups sugar, 4 eggs, creamed together; 1 cup pear preserves (home made ones are best), 1 cup pecans; 3 cups flour and 1 teaspoon each allspice, cloves, and nutmeg, sifted together; added alternately with 1 cup buttermilk and 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk. Pour into pans and bake at 350 degrees 35 to 40 minutes. When cool, ice with: 1 cup sugar browned in skillet and 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, and butter the size of an egg, boiled to the hardball stage. Add one teaspoon vanilla and beat. One half cup pecans can be added if desired.

This pear preserve cake if one my mother has been making for years and it stays moist and good as long as it's around, which isn't very long. It's the kind of cake our mother always makes me and Helen on our birthdays, and although I've made it several times myself, mine never tastes quite as good as "Bob's", which, incidentally is my mother's nickname.

Please don't forget to shoot me your news, kids. I'm afraid I'm going to get the pink slip in ye olde pay envelope if I have many more weeks like this.

AROUND THE CLOCK—E. C. Pool and Don Simmonds are shown here working their emergency equipment during the 20th national Field Day on the R. J. Purtell farm southwest of Brownfield. Such training, conducted voluntarily, has enabled the amateur to fill in during disasters which disrupt normal wire communications and overload police, fire, utilities and other radio systems.

Amateur Radio Club Cooperates In Nationwide Radio Emergency Test

The South Plains, and Terry county in particular, was buzzing with activity recently as members of the Terry county Amateur Radio club joined in a nationwide radio emergency test. Two-way radio stations drawing their electricity from a gasoline-powered generator operated around the clock with eight club members working in shifts.

The occasion was the 20th annual Field Day sponsored by the ham's national organization, the American Radio Relay League.

About 10,000 amateurs took part in the exercise designated to prepare amateur radiomen to serve in disasters such as floods and tornadoes of the past year.

Club members set up camp on the R. J. Purtell farm five miles southwest of Brownfield with their emergency equipment and made 73 contacts with practically every state in the 48 from New Hampshire to Oregon and California to Georgia. They also reached out to Vancouver, B. C. in Canada for one contact.

Members participating included E. C. Pool, Rudy Simmond, Jack Purtell, Don Cope land, Don Simmonds, Lewis Simmonds, R. J. Purtell and B. W. Young.

Rains Brighten Crop Prospects, Some Hail

Dry Terry county farm lands soaked up from an inch and a half to three inches of moisture this week to brighten crop prospects considerably. However some hail damage was reported.

One strip of hail hit north and east of Gomez and another was reported south of Union school.

But Terry county missed the rough weather on Wednesday when tornado funnels were forming to the southeast. One funnel was sighted and clearly seen for about ten minutes to the southeast, possibly within Terry county, but probably in Dawson.

MR. and MRS. DALE WRAY FULFORD

Mary Ruth Mason Is Married To Dale Wray Fulford in Double-Ring Rites in Meadow

Miss Betty Ruth Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Mason of Route 1, Meadow, on June 17 became the bride of Dale Wray Fulford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. (Jake) Fulford also of Route 1.

The double ring ceremony was held in Meadow Baptist Church, where Miss Mason was given in marriage by her father. Officiating was the Rev. J. T. Harvey Scott of Petersburg Baptist Church.

Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Sue Fulford, and best man was Truett (Doc) Babb of Slaton. Bridesmaids were Mary Ann Swofford of San Angelo and Jackie Pendergrass of Meadow.

Ushers were James Fulford of Brownfield and Lonnie Fulford of Lubbock, brothers of the bridegroom, and Weldon Mason of Brownfield and Wendel Mason of Meadow, brothers of the bride. Candle lighters were Janice Davis of Brownfield and Janice Hancock of Dublin, cousin of the bridegroom.

"I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me"—these were sung by the Rev. and Mrs. Alton Polk of Meadow, accompanied at the organ by Glenda Balew, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Mason is a graduate of Meadow High School and is employed at Bowers Liquefield Gas, Inc.

Following the ceremony, before an archway of greenery and an altar adorned with candles, a reception was held in the church annex, where the receiving line comprised Mrs. Jerry Andrews, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lonnie Fulford, Mrs. Wendel Mason and Mrs. Weldon Mason.

From a wedding trip to Austin, Mrs. Fulford chose a white linen dress, with black and white matching accessories and a corsage of black carnations.

The couple are at home at 1105 North First in Brownfield. Both are graduates of Meadow High School, and he is employed at Bowers Liquefield Gas, Inc.

The bride's wedding gown was an original model of white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over net and satin, designed with portrait neckline holding criss-cross yoke of pleated tulle.

The fitted lace bodice was of elaborate embroidery of iridescent sequins and seed pearls outlining the yoke, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. From the deep point of the center front waistline stemmed a voluminous, floor-length skirt, made of tulle, fully shirred. The immense fullness of tulle, net and satin fell in a small "sweep" at back and was worn over hoops and crinolin to emphasize the fullness.

Her veil of silk illusion was joined to a tiara cap of iridescent sequins, beads and seed pearls to match the dress.

FIRST 1956 COTTON BLOOM? — Carroll Rowden is pictured above examining what he believes to be the first cotton bloom for this year in the county. Date of bloom: June 27. Type of cotton (irrigated): DP&L. Rowden's 15-acre stand, located immediately west of Veteran's Hall, compares with any in Terry at this stage. In addition to the DP&L, he has 2-3 acres of long-staple Pima, "planted only to see what it would do." About two years ago, when another farmer reported the "first bloom" 10 days later than his, Rowden wanted to get the late one "on record." (Staff Photo)

Texas Projects Are Included In Huge U. S. Plan

Final State and Federal clearance of the first locally initiated Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act projects was announced on June 8 by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson and three Texas projects . . . Cummins Creeks, Lower Creek and Upper Brushy Creek. The Texas projects are the largest, from the standpoint of acreage involved, of the 13 upstream projects approved in 9 states. The Cummins Creek Watershed includes 204,896 acres in Lee, Fayette, Austin and Colorado counties and is sponsored by the Burlington-Lee, Bastrop-Fayette, Colorado and Austin-Washington Soil Conservation Districts and by the Commissioners Courts of Lee, Colorado and Fayette counties with cooperation of the Cummins Creek Watershed Association. The Lower Brushy Creek Subwatershed consists of 138,240 acres in Milam and Williamson counties and is sponsored by the Texas Soil Conservation

ENTRIES ARE URGED

FB Queen Contest Slated for August 23

Here's an entry for the little black appointment book: Aug. 23. The occasion? Selection of the Terry County Farm Bureau queen for 1956. Machinery for choosing the queen was set in motion this week when Texas Farm Bureau regulations governing the event were received by TCFB.

First and only entry to date is Miss Donna Sue Christopher, 17-year-old daughter of Ray Christopher of Route 5. The Brownfield High School senior is 5 feet 7½ inches tall and weighs 125 pounds. Her weekly column, "Summer Session, BHS NEWS," appears in the News-Herald.

General chairman of this year's contest is Mrs. Odus (Kathleen) Waiser, TCFB's office secretary at 110 North Fifth—where entries are being accepted.

"Our deadline for registering contestants is Aug. 15," explained Mrs. Waiser. "We are expecting at least nine entries, one from each of the communities in the county."

The general chairman released the following rules of eligibility: 1. Contestant must be daughter or sister of a TCFB member actively engaged in agricultural production. 2. She must be single. 3. She must be at least 16 and not more than 22 years old on Sept. 1, 1956. 4. Exceptions: Daughters of state or county directors, all FB employees, presidents and secretaries, and previous state winners are not eligible.

Mrs. Waiser and her assistant general chairman, Mrs. H. K. (Hub) King, have named the following committees and members:

Decorations, Mrs. Clarence Lewis, chairman, and Mrs. Virgie Travis, Mrs. B. Y. Howze, Mrs. C. E. Hicks, Mrs. Jess McWhorter, Mrs. G. E. Ashburn, Mrs. Leonard Willis and Mrs. Al Tittle.

Program, Mrs. Delton Tatum, chairman, and Mrs. Marion Bowers, Mrs. Hubert

STUBBLE MULCHING — Farmers say the big reason for stubble mulching is to condition land to hold more water. In the picture above, a tractor operator is doing just that on the Fain Smith farm, some 3 miles east on Tahoka Road. Smith is mulching barley and rye stubble, and in the processing is cleaning the land by killing the Johnsongrass. His equipment is merely a tool bar, similar to the Graham-Hoeme but carrying shears instead of chisels. Smith is working about four inches below the surface, leaving most of the stubble on top as a cover. He is not laying the land open to drying out by the sun and wind — and it will not blow this fall and winter. He'll repeat the operation as the weeds warrant it. Here are five good reasons, says Smith, for his work: To protect against wind and water erosion, to increase the ability of his soil to take in water, to reduce evaporation, to keep organic matter on the surface which reduces crusting, and to improve soil tilth and make tillage easier.

the farming angle

By DON RYNUM
Farm Editor

Blue panic grass planted less than two months ago is thriving mightily on the Elmer Edwards farm 14 miles southwest of Brownfield.

Edwards, who lives in Lubbock, is a man much concerned with "preventing this land from blowing and eroding, and we might have part of the answer in grass."

A number of Terry farmers have helped to set the trend here toward more grass.

Most of them have expressed satisfaction with the green stuff.

George Weiss is keeping watch over his weeping lovegrass, as is Winfred Tucker. Tucker also has 10 acres each of Indiangrass, side oats grama and switchgrass.

Others who have put down grass: Homer Causseaux, Indian and weeping love; Al Muldrow, weeping love; Royce Hester and Walter Fulton, weeping love; L. P. Lewis and Kyle Adams, switchgrass; George Bartlett, Indiangrass and E. E. Kirk, blue panic. Fulton also has Caucasian bluestem and switch.

Much of the grass was planted with Terry Soil Conservation District's new seeder, and much of the weeping love is ready to combine now.

Probably the outstanding authority on Terry county grasses in A. R. Hodges of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service's Brownfield office, who has traveled many miles during the past two months advising with farmers and overseeing much of the grass planting.

Hodges released the following yields in pounds which can be expected per acre for different grasses. The figures are deliberately low.

Save The Soil And You Save Terry County . . .

Soil erosion in the United States is resulting in losses costing more than $3,-800,000,000 a year. Directly or indirectly YOU, the American taxpayers, must pay this bill.

Soil erosion losses are measured in terms of lowered soil productivity on farms and ranches; damage from siltation of reservoirs and depletion of fish in streams; damage within cities from floods and streambank erosion; and damage to watersheds supplying water for municipal and irrigation users.

These losses are purely monetary and do not include the serious effects of soil depletion upon the physical and moral health of the people.

The Terry Soil Conservation District has been organized to check erosion losses. See the district supervisors or representatives of the Soil Conservation Service about a complete soil and water conservation program for your land.

LONG RANGE PLANNING GOOD BUSINESS

Joe and Hazel Fight Traffic in Brownfield

Joe Brown lives in a Texas city named Brownfield, population 25,000 according to the 1966 census estimate. Joe's a pretty even-tempered fellow — except at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At that time, he gets caught in the darnest traffic jam trying to drive home from his office.

Joe's wife, Hazel, is even milder tempered than Joe. That is, except when she runs downtown to buy something that back in 1956 would have taken only a few minutes. But in 1966 she could usually get a park within the block she wanted to shop in. Here in 1966, only 10 years later, she's doing good to find a park in four blocks.

You catch both Hazel and Joe on a day when they've both had their traffic troubles and things are rather short-tempered around the Brown home.

What's the matter with Joe and Hazel? To put it bluntly, they are victims of poor planning and lack of cooperation. Brownfield is like a lot of other Texas cities: like Topsy, it "just grew!"—sure the streets are straight, maybe they are even too straight for safety.

Sweetwater Nets A Whopper

It can be done in West Texas. Flintkote Gypsum company of New York is putting a new plant valued from $6 to $10 million and providing employment for 200 to 300 persons at Sweetwater.

Although availability of raw materials is of main consideration it still took a lot of work to induce the industrial firm to Sweetwater.

Congratulations are due those who put in the hours and effort it took to make the grade. It is also encouraging to others in West Texas to see that industry can be brought into this area.

THE AMERICAN WAY

PEOPLE PREFER PRIVATE POWER
With each passing day it is becoming more and more apparent that Mr. and Mrs. Average American are in favor of leaving the production and sale of electric power to the investor-owned companies. Whenever given an opportunity in a free election to register their preference, they decide against public power.

On June 19, the citizens of Ogdensburg, N. Y., voted down by 2,694 votes to 1,1730 a proposal for a municipally-operated electric system. Under the proposal, the city would have acquired the electric distribution system of the Niagara-Mohawk Power Corp. within the Ogdensburg city limits and used these lines to supply homes and industry with power purchased from the New York State Power Authority.

The Authority had reserved 35,000 kilowatts for Ogdensburg in case the voters had decided on municipal operation. The Authority at present has no power plants, but it expects to begin generating power in 1958 or 1959 on the St. Lawrence River near Massena, N. Y. The percentage of the votes cast against the politicians' political power was 61.4 percent.

Naturally, Earl J. Machold, president of Niagara-Mohawk, was delighted with the result of this referendum. In a statement following the election, he said:

"I would like to express the thanks of Niagara-Mohawk to the people of Ogdensburg for their vote of confidence in the company and in private enterprise. The vote was certainly a personal tribute to our employees in Ogdensburg and their long and able service. We are especially grateful for the vigorous support given us by the Citizens Committee, by organized labor, and by hundreds of other individuals from all walks of life.

"This was a very significant vote because a representative group of people in New York State had an opportunity to make a clear-cut choice between service from a politically-managed power system. They chose private enterprise by a wide margin."

This Ogdensburg election was the latest of a series in which voters have registered overwhelmingly their preference for electric service provided by an investor-owned business-managed electric company.

In this column some months ago I reported an election held in November of last year by which the citizens of Stevens County, Washington, by a margin of over 71 percent voted to get out of the power business—to sell the electric power and light properties of the Stevens County Public Utility District—a public power organization—to the investor-owned Washington Power Company.

Within the past month, I reported here that the voters of Lake City, Florida, in May rejected by a majority of almost 3 to 1, a proposal that the city take over municipal ownership of Florida Power & Light Company's electric service facilities.

And please get this! On June 12, 1956, voters in Jackson, Mississippi, voted overwhelmingly in favor of granting Mississippi Power & Light Co. a new 25-year franchise. The vote was 4,080 to 67, or a ratio of 60 to 1. No, that's not a typographical error—the ratio was sixty to one.

On April 25 this year, members of Sandy Cooperative, Sandy, Oregon, voted 571 to 99

Letter To the Editor . . .

Dear Staff:

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the part that your organization had in making the clean-up campaign for 1956, the success that it was. The City Council and the City Officials really appreciate the time and effort that was put forth during this clean up campaign. The results of the clean up campaign are more noticeable in some parts of our city than in others. Certainly there are some parts of the city where there was a greater need for cleaning up than in other parts. Public sanitation is a never ending problem that we have to work at the year around. It is impossible for our Health Department to obtain the results desired without the co-operation of the citizens and particularly civic organizations as yours. Our objective should be to keep our City clean all year and our special efforts during clean up week.

Please feel free to call on the City to help in anyway possible to realize this objective. Let me say again that we sincerely appreciate your efforts put forth in the recent clean up campaign. May we look forward to next year.

Sincerely yours,
Arlie Lowmire
Mayor City of Brownfield

Dear Mr. Davidson:

Thanks for your letter in regard to weekly newspapers. The weekly newspaper is one of the indispensable parts of our democracy. Our metropolitan areas are important, but the backbone of our country is the small community, the towns, small cities. The weekly newspaper provides many channels for progress, understanding, and community enjoyment. I know something about this from firsthand, as I regularly receive about fifty of them.

Sincerely,
George Mahor

STRICTLY FRESH

GRASS roots movement: when a wife gets huffy to mow the lawn.

Now that the spirit's gone out of the Breyde Murphy controversy, we'll have to depend on politicians to put us into those deep slumps.

A New York Stater put his dog in his car, and turned to talk to a friend. The car rolled down an incline, went through a block of park, ran over 13 steps, crossed a road, went 30 feet through a playfield, rode over a six-foot ledge, landed in a sparsely wooded area, passed between two trees with inches to spare, crossed another street, and came to a rest against a park bench. The man chased the car, got back in and drove off; the dog was a little nervous.

It takes a heap of heaping to make a heap a heap.

He was a brash young politico, who thought he was aiding the party, but the old-timers just said, "Sit down, you're rocking the vote."

to get out of the power business by selling their electric properties to Portland General Electric Co.

The smart citizens of Baker, Oregon, last year voted by a considerable majority for private ownership of the city's natural gas supply.

Last November, the citizens of Amherst decided they'd had enough of public power. They voted to sell the village's electric generating plant and distribution system to Ohio Edison Company.

The town of Cassville, Wisconsin, in January of this year voted 339 to 3 sell its municipal power system to Wisconsin Power & Light Co. Those 3 who voted "no" must indeed be lonesome souls.

And so it goes. Just give the people a chance to vote—to make a clean-cut decision—and they'll take private power over political power. They leave the public power zealots no legs to stand on. One wonders why these advocates of the put-the-government-in-business philosophy persist in promoting their ill-conceived, destructive ideas. At least one must concede to them the virtue of consistency in their lack of economic horse-sense.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Politicians are waving their banners. Party leaders seek to rally their cohorts. But right now Texans are far more concerned about water.

Farm and city dwellers alike are hard hit. Years of drought have added up. Sizzling summer temperatures, unabated since the last of May, have finished off crop prospects for 1956 in many areas.

Few expect relief before the end of summer. Most despair of some time ago of rains that would "really break" the drought.

In Austin and elsewhere attention focused on the oft-bitter scrambles for dwindling streamflows. Prolonged and frequently heated testimony has been heard by the State Board of Water Engineers on water rights from the proposed Canyon Dam in South Central Texas.

San Antonio sought permission to take 100,000 acre feet of water annually from the lam. It is the only way, said San Antonio officials, that the city can meet its future water needs.

Guadalupe Blanco River Authority strenuously opposed the request. Joined by citizens of some 20 small towns in the area GBRA contended that the city allocation would not leave enough for downstream users, nor enough to operate a hydro-electric plant.

Testimony is expected to continue for several weeks. Ultimate decision probably will set a precedent for future controversies.

Farther South, the Rio Grande reached its lowest point since it stopped flowing completely in 1953. Falcon Dam was shut down, and a watermaster was appointed to ration the dwindling supply among Valley cities.

Legislators making up the state water resources committee came out with an idea for the future. They proposed a $100,000,000 Texas Water Development Fund. Controversy over whether to finance water conservation by an ad-valorem or water-use tax defeated the program last session.

This new approach of financing through bonds would bypass the difficulty, said proponents. But it would take a long time. First, legislative action; then a constitutional amendment by the people.

Meanwhile farmers are leaving their parched fields and looking for work in town to support their families.

Labor Unions Are Active—Members of Texas Labor unions are working hard to place Liberals in control of state and party offices. And, a politically-confident tone prevailed among some 1,000 delegates at the State Federation of Labor convention, here.

Union labor leaders, who played a mighty important part in ousting the conservatives from control of the Democratic party, have openly announced that they will campaign to: 1. Elect Ralph Yarborough governor; 2. Elect legislators friendly to labor; 3. Defeat Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey; 4. Gain control of the state Democratic Executive Committee.

Labor Law Decision Pending—Texas' right-to-work law now awaits state Supreme Court ruling, possibly July 11.

Opponents and backers of the law clashed sharply in final arguments before the court. Union attorneys declared that the Texas case parallels a Nebraska case. See HIGHLIGHTS, Page 5

WHEAT MARKETING QUOTAS?

July 20 Referendum Will Decide Issue

Marketing quotas for the 1957 wheat crop have been proclaimed by Agriculture Secretary Benson.

July 20 has been set as the date for a referendum when wheat growers will decide by ballot whether the quotas will be put into operation.

Should two-thirds of those voting favor quotas, they will become effective.

Producers who are affected by the marketing quotas—and eligible to vote in the referendum—are those farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat as grain next year.

"This marks the fourth successive year," explained Benson in his proclamation, "that abnormally large wheat supplies have required the proclamation of marketing quotas for the next crop.

"It is the third successive year for which the national acreage allotment has had to be set at 55 million acres, the minimum specified by law."

Benson continued: "All the wheat we are likely to need from 1957 production, determined according to the formula in the legislation, could be produced on about 12.4 million acres. If it were not for the legal minimum, the national allotment could have been dropped to that level.

Huge Surplus Thorn

"The plain fact is," he said, "that despite valiant attempts to channel more wheat into exports, we still have enough for the marketing year beginning July 1 (last Sunday) to take care of all our domestic and export needs for more than two years.

"The carry-over again will exceed a billion bushels. While we are hopeful about holding down the carry-over into 1957-58, wheat continues as one of the most serious problems in the whole farm economy."

The secretary concluded: "This situation points up the need for the Soil Bank which farmers can use to bring about additional adjustments in production without further reducing their incomes."

Brownfield Students Attend Summer School

The first summer session at Hardin-Simmons University began June 4 and will extend through July 12. There are 2 students from Brownfield enrolled in this first session.

Besides numerous courses offered to undergraduate students, Hardin-Simmons University offers courses leading to graduate degrees, summer band school, boys' activity school, driver education, girls' swimming school, piano clinic, recreation program, and a workshop in string methods at various times during the summer.

eration with the Forest Service and other federal, state and local agencies and groups.

"The watershed approach," said Secretary Benson, "emphasizes the growing attention to natural resource conservation through undertakings that relate to farm-by-farm conservation work to the needs of entire small watersheds, rural and urban, public and private.

The 'watershed way' is a proved sound approach to the problems of conservation land use and flood prevention on our tributary streams."

Farsighted farmers plant grass for the following reasons:

1. All conservation cropping systems include grasses or legumes, or both.
2. Grass is the best method of protecting soil from the wind.
3. It can be used in a rotation on cropland to produce feed and to protect and improve the soil.
4. It is the most economical feed for livestock.
5. Grasses improve the soil structure and add much needed organic matter.
6. Grass improves the tilth and fertility of the soil.
7. It is the best known soil builder.
8. It is well adapted to grazing.
9. Grass fast is becoming a cash crop, and it is a cultivated crop which responds as such.

Though rather spotted, last Sunday night's rainfall measured 1.14 inches in the Brownfield area and up 1.5 inches throughout the south and west part of the country.

Farmers gleefully trekked their dryland cotton fields Monday, knowing that the rain was in the nick of time to prevent complete loss in some cases. Current talk has it that "this just might be one of our best years in many a year."

Accidents are never cheap and that's why safety always pays. Farm accidents in the United States each year cause economic losses of one and one-half billion dollars, to say nothing of 14,000 accidental deaths and more than one million injuries.

The period July 22-28 has been proclaimed by President Eisenhower as National Farm Safety Week. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council urges every Texas, especially those living in rural areas, to join with their neighbor in conducting community and countywide safety program. "The life saved could be your own."

Cotton mills consumed 713,940 bales of fiber in May, compared to 704,029 in the like month of 1955.

Cotton showed rapid improvement in both appearance and fruiting during the past week. Such satisfactory progress was due to ideal weather conditions and a reduction in thrip infestations in a majority of fields. The thrips reductions were brought about partly by heavy rains in the previous week and by final early season insecticide applications.

Bollworms have been reported in light infestations in Terry, Cochran, Crosby, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock and Lynn counties. All fields, according to the latest cotton insect control report, should be checked closely for appearance of eggs and worms.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture sold 1,567,278 bales of cotton on bids June 12 for special export, resulting in the biggest sale of cotton by the government.

The minimum price at which the cotton was sold, basis middling 15/16 at average locations, was 25 cents-a pound. Previously the Commodity Credit Corporation had sold the cotton at 27½ cents at average location.

D. C. Prince, secretary of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, reported 98,306 bales of area cotton were sold in the export program.

Lamesa sold the most, 16,906 bales, followed by Lubbock, 16,732; Brownfield, 4,523; Levelland, 501; Littlefield, 7,504; Morton, 76; O'Donnell, 3,864; Plainview, 15,732; Ralls, 13,688; Slaton, 9,404, and Tahoka, 9,376.

dieldrin treatment kills thrips and fleahoppers . . . pays off in higher cotton yields

Photograph shows results of test performed at Texas A. & M. (1954). In this test, the dieldrin-treated plants produced almost three times (2.84 times) as many blooms in a three-week period after treatment as did the untreated plants injured by thrips and fleahoppers. Photo courtesy of Texas A. & M.

Results of this test prove without a doubt that treatment with dieldrin really pays. Dieldrin controls thrips, fleahoppers and other sucking insects. Cotton gets a good early start . . . you get better quality cotton and earlier harvest . . . less chance of heavy loss due to early frost.

Dieldrin provides long-lasting protection. Days after application dieldrin still has lethal effect. Two to three applications at the recommended dosage—1/10 lb. of actual dieldrin per acre—does the job. Dieldrin dusts are smooth-textured, free-flowing. In a spray, dieldrin forms top creaming emulsions . . . eliminates nozzle clogging.

Profit from this conclusive test. Use dieldrin early this year. Your insecticide dealer has dieldrin formulations and information on latest methods of application best suited for your use. Don't delay—get dieldrin now!

New Highway Policy — An important new step in state policy has been announced by the Texas Highway Commission, for administering the new Federal highway aid program.
If and when the state provides it more money, the commission will begin to assume part of the heavy cost of right-of-way — now borne wholly by cities and counties. This for highways of the primary state system not included in the new federal interstate system.

Capitol Area To Be Doubled — Plans for a vastly expanded, 25-square-block Capitol area have been unveiled by the State Building Commission.
Originally the commission had outlined plans for extending the grounds northward two full blocks to 15th street. This would provide space for the new office building and state courts buildings, due to be started sometime next fall.
In adopting the official Capitol master plan, the commission designated future Capitol area all the way to 19th and pinpointed location of two more future office buildings.
Local Option Election Voided — A local option liquor election is not legal if held in an area less than an entire justice precinct.
By this ruling the Third Court of Civil Appeals made "wet" a large section of Austin which had been "dry" for 21 years. It cast doubt on similarly held elections over the state.
The decision is subject to review by the Supreme Court.
Retail Sales Up Again — By early June Texas retail trade had bounced back from its spring slump. But it failed to match the 1955 average. Sales rose 11 per cent from April to May. Durable goods were up 13 per cent. But for the year as a whole, they are still substantially behind. Reason given by analysts is overproducing and overselling by many automobile and appliance makers last year.
Short Snorts — State recovery of veterans land funds was increased to $1,299,418 after an Austin district court rendered a judgment for $45,000 against J. Paul Little of Crystal City. Little has been loser in four suits totaling $179,000. Two more are pending in Texas'

THE LAND OF THE FREE

One of the first landmarks the European traveler sees as he approaches this country is Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty. The artist here has deftly drawn a broken chain across the background of freedom's holy light, signifying that oppression and human slavery cannot exist in a land of free people. But freedom involves much more than an unshackled body and the possession of civil and political rights. One may possess all these and still be a slave to his own weaknesses. True freedom encompasses the mind and soul of man as well as his body and his political relations. Men are enslaved by vicious habits, by their ignorance, prejudice, selfishness and hate. Religion is the mother of freedom, and the Church has been its chief and most constant exponent. Jesus said, "The truth shall make you free," and the truth is embodied in the Holy Scriptures. No chains can fetter the soul of the man who dwells in the light of God's freedom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Brownfieldites Attend Meeting To Organize Area Girl Scout Council

Organization of a new Girl Scout Council which will serve nine South Plains counties got underway last week with the first meetings of the eight committees which will work out the plans for the operations of the council.

In sessions which began Tuesday morning and continued through Wednesday, there were approximately sixty representatives from eighteen towns in the area in which girls now have the privilege of participating in Girl Scouting through organized troops. Meetings were held at the Lubbock Scout House and were assisted by Virginia Burgess, Professional worker from the Dallas Office.

With the organization of the proposed council more and better scouting will be made available over these nine counties. In towns where the activities have been carried on through lone troops with willing, but sometimes inexperienced and untrained leaders, there will be available professional help and a training program which will enrich the lives and experiences of all of those participating in the activities, from Brownies to leaders. There will be an expanded program of recruiting and training adult personnel which will, in turn, allow more girls to participate in the program. In the towns where councils have been operating, the scouts and adults will profit from working with the other council towns and will have access to the additional training and facilities provided by the council.

Expanded facilities will include camps which will be for the use of the entire council area. Both troop and day camps will be provided for the girls, thereby widening the scope of activities for many girls on the South Plains.

All committees which participated in this meeting were well into their plan of work by the end of their meeting and all were looking forward to January 1, 1957, as a goal for chartering this new council.

Attending from Brownfield were Mrs. Lal Copeland, nominating committee, Dr. Bob Hoey, Budget and Finance, and Mrs. J. M. Teague, Program.
