CONVENTION WRAP-UP

By J. O. GILLHAM
CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO, Aug. 17—The 1956 Democratic National Convention now is a matter of history, and the candidates have been nominated and the platform on which they will run has been adopted.

Although there were some differences of opinion on both the candidates and the platform, they apparently were resolved satisfactorily, with the convention ending in an atmosphere of harmony and agreement.

The platform committee worked hard for two weeks prior to the big event, and their product was practically complete when the conclave was assembled. Rep. John McCormick of Massachusetts was the chairman, and did a remarkable job in drawing up a platform satisfactory to nearly all elements of the party.

McCormick's hardest job was, of course, to hew a plank on civil rights which would please both the North and South. One had to be an expert in diplomacy and in putting together English words to come up with something which suited everyone.

When the platform was submitted on the floor for approval, there was some debate, half-hearted and made only for the record. Those delegates who thought the civil rights plank not See TRUMAN LOSES GROUND Page 2

BROWNFIELD POLICE ACTIVITIES

It's School, School and More School For Members of Police Department

By JOHN ANONYMOUS
Brownfield News Staff

For the past two weeks, it's been school, school and more school for members of your Brownfield Police Department. Chief Nolan Lassiter said this morning that his men had studied some 15 subjects and "we just hardly had been tapped."

Here from Lubbock as instructors are the following: Aubrey Elliott, resident agent of the FBI; and Lt. W. A. Cox, Sgt. O. C. Foster and Sgt. Jerry Hoover, all of the Lubbock department.

Here are some subjects on which the policemen will take exams Friday: criminal law, search, moving of prisoners, patrolling a beat, public relations, authority of police, testifying in court, stopping and approaching violators, criminal investigation, liquor law, search and seizure and scientific aids to police.

The schooling mentioned above is a part of the "new look" in your Brownfield Police Department. Other new items: uniforms. Yes, the men this week now are wearing their new tan uniforms.

Patrolmen James Tippit returned to duty Wednesday after being confined at home because of illness. Patrolman Frank Hyles will be out most of this week with same.

You're right, and you can do it. You can turn right on a red light after making a complete stop. Much confusion has been prevalent on the score, and Police Chief Lassiter cleared it this morning. You'll soon be seeing these signs on all city traffic lights: "No U Turn" and

"Right on Red After Stop."

Here are the men who keep watch over us while most of us are asleep at night: Captain Aaron Zeigler, and Patrolmen Tippit, Jack Seales and A. L. Findt. They're on the job, too, as the editor of the NEWS can vouch.

In the wee hours of Wednesday night, the editor, after putting part of the paper "to bed," decided to "blow the soot" out of his jalopy on his way home. Coming out of an alley, who should be waiting for him but Patrolmen Tippit and Seales. With the friendly—but firm—admonishment, "You're throwing too much sand and gravel," ringing in his ears, the editor made his way meekly home.

Here's silent "thank's" to Patrolmen Tippit and Seales—there just might have been a small child playing in that alley. Brownfield police have a job to do, and they're doing it in the manner which everyone expects of them.

Here's a summary of records in the department concerning accidents, injuries and deaths due to traffic mishaps within the city limits since the first of the year: zero deaths and three injuries. There were 11 accidents in January, 6 in February, 9 in March, 10 in April, 12 in May, 18 in June, 16 in July and 8 thus far in August. Total: 90.

One DWI charge was filed by the department this week against a truck driver who had only about six blocks to go before he reached the end of a long drive with a load of lumber. He didn't quite make it, turning over at the intersection of Main and North Street.

Spraberry Oil Found in Terry

Additional Spraberry production has been uncovered on second drillstem test of that horizon at Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp. No. 1 Waters, west-central Terry County wildcat operation.

Most recent investigation was from 8,200-290 feet, tool open four hours, with a weak air flow throughout the test. Recovery was 5,310 feet of gas in drillpipe, 540 feet of free oil, and 180 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut sulphur water. Flowing pressure was from zero to 300 pounds and 15-minutes shut-in gauge was nil.

Previous test, between 8,202-44 feet, was of three-hour duration to recover 3,600 feet of gas and 70 feet of free oil, plus 30 feet of oil and gas-cut sulphur water.

Operator was drilling ahead below 8,362 feet. Operation spots 1,750 feet from north and 890 feet from west lines of Section 118, Block D-11, C&M RR survey. There is no nearby Spraberry production.

George P. Livermore No. 1 Pool, proposed 5,300-foot explorer 10 miles north of Tokio, drilling 5,095 feet in lime.

Texas Co. No. 1 Black, six miles southwest of Gomez 'onsite, drilling 12,351 feet in chert.

Kay Kimbell No. 1-B S. T. Murphy, six miles north of Tokio, drilling 7,253 feet in lime. This is a development in the Prentice-Lower Clear Fork area.

Third Annual Field Tour Being Planned By the Soil District

Air-conditioned buses—that's what they'll ride in, the area farmers and businessmen taking part in the third annual field tour of the Terry Soil Conservation District.

The date: Sept. 20. Time, place of departure and route have not been determined, said R. J. Purtell, TSCD supervisor and secretary.

Working in close cooperation with the agriculture committee of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, soil district supervisors have plans to bring here many dignitaries from throughout the state. In conjunction with the retail committee of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, see THIRD Page 6

Harvest Festival, Oil Industry Week Are 'One' This Year

It's a break from the past: The two weeks, Oil Progress and Harvest Festival, will be combined this year, and among the Harvest Festival queen candidates this year will be Miss Oil Progress of 1956.

"Should she win the HF title, she'll thus be owner of two titles," explained John Hansard, general chairman of the Oil week.

Open house will be the rule at the 44 firms here connected with the oil industry, said Hansard. Open house dates are Oct. 8-16.

Hansard also said that Miss Oil candidates should register at the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce. From that group will be selected Miss Oil Progress.

Judges will be Chairman W. B. Nance of Mid-Continent Supply; Phil Gaasch of Gaasch Construction Company; Tucker Johnson of Hughes Tool Company; R. J. Evans of Shell Pipe Line Corporation; Loyal E. Sloan of J. P. (Bum) Gibbon Company; Donna Bagewell of Stanolind and president of the Desk and Derrick Club, and Maxine McMillan of Kobe, Inc., and of D&D.

Hansard explained further that tentative date for the Oil men-Businessmen Banquet is Oct. 9, in American Legion Hall. The oil industry will occupy a huge section of the Harvest Festival parade.

The stage is set for explosive action beginning Aug. 30 in the Sheriff's Posse Arena. The occasion: Brownfield World Championship Rodeo.

The event will be heralded at 5 p. m., opening day by the huge traditional parade in downtown Brownfield.

Posse and chamber of commerce officials have been working feverishly the past several weeks with but one purpose in mind: to bring Brownfield a history-making rodeo — and at reasonable prices.

Some of the best killer-stock in the world will be made available for the three-day event, furnished by Duke Gibbs of Belton.

BULLETIN: Mayor Arlie Lowmore this morning officially proclaimed Aug. 27-Sept. 1 as "Western Week" in Brownfield.

Tickets to each of the three night performances: $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Box seats: $1.50.

Whorton Rites Are Held

ROTARY GOVERNOR HERE—Rotary International's belief in the motive and principle of profit was reaffirmed here last Friday by the governor of District 183, Rex Webster of Lubbock, pictured above on the left. Said Webster: "If you don't believe in the profit motive in this country, then you don't believe in our system of government." The governor spoke to Brownfield Rotarians during his official annual visit. With him are Newell Reed, club president, and John Kendrick, immediate past president. Webster, using the voice which has gained him repute in West Texas, reminded his audience that " . . . you should give service because you should have a desire in your heart to do so if you are a Rotarian." He based his address on the International's slogan, "Rotary has no excuse for existence other than service." Here from out of town were Floyd Stark of Seminole, and Hedley Bailey, Bob Walker and Leon Rosson of Levalland. The Rev. Ralph O'Dell said an invocation. (Staff Photo) strong enough wanted to make a show that they had done their best. Those from the South, who thought the plank too strong, also made their pleas.

The feeble-hearted opposition indicated, however, that the Southerners knew they could not prevent the platform's adoption.

Chairman Sam Rayburn of Texas first called for a vote on the substitutes for the civil rights plank, declaring after a voice vote that the motion had failed. His action brought some cries from the audience that he had made a mistake in declaring the motion's failure.

Said Rayburn, in his dry voice: "I think I have taken enough voice votes in my life to tell when the 'Noes' are the loudest." This brought a laugh from the crowd, and that was the end of the fight on the civil rights plank and the platform. Immediately thereafter, the entire platform was adopted on a voice vote, with few dissenting.

Stevenson is in the enviable position of not being under any obligations to him, whatsoever, for Truman stayed with Harriman until the very last.

Truman really was a sad sight when it became apparent but will not take them, leaving them good for the night rodeo performance.

One can hardly escape the rodeo atmosphere. It's spread thick throughout the downtown section, what with bunting, flags and signs.

"TEXAS TUXEDO" — Slick Collins is pictured above, rarin' to go in his Texas Tuxedo, specially designed and made for Bing Crosby. The suit is on display in Collins show window for the rodeo week. The suit was born this way: Bing Crosby was denied a hotel room in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, because he was wearing Levi jeans and a hunting jacket — the clerk did not recognize him. Levi Strauss Company, hearing of the incident, immediately measured Der Bingle for the tuxedo shown above. Slick will return it to the company after the rodeo. (Staff Photo) work. It is going to be interesting to see what the American people think about it.

It also will be interesting to see what Adlai Stevenson, unquestionably the Democrats' ablest available candidate, can do about unseating Dwight Eisenhower, who undoubtedly is popular throughout the country.

I would say that Richard Nixon, the Republicans' give-away of our natural resources, their inept farm policies and the health of the President will be issues to watch.

The Democrats say that they will not make an issue of the President's health; yet, we know that a lot of Americans who dislike Nixon are going to give it a second thought before voting in November.

It has been of great interest to me to see the American system of selecting our President and Vice-President in action. Although it may not be the perfect system, I firmly believe that we have the best government in the world and that we usually elect good and capable men to these high offices.

Sam Rayburn, incidentally, turned in a masterful performance as permanent chairman. This was not the first time he had served as such. Because he has been speaker of the House longer than any other man in history, he certainly knows how to preside over a meeting.

Rayburn, who also made a fine speech and was a power behind the scenes, worked closely with Senator Lyndon Johnson, the two of them getting most of what they came to Chicago to get; namely, a satisfactory civil rights plank in the platform and reasonably acceptable candidates.

I use the words "reasonably acceptable" because both men liked Adlai Stevenson for the presidential nomination much better than any of the other leading candidates, including Averell Harriman.

The South simply would not have taken Harriman, and I think that if he had been the nominee, that area would have balked. Rayburn and Johnson, along with most of the other delegates from the South, realized that Stevenson was the outstanding man of the Democratic Party, and that he is admirably equipped for the Presidency.

The South, including Texas, did not want Kefauver for vice-president and few southern delegations ever voted for him. Kefauver had incurred the enmity of the South as a member of Congress by nearly always voting with the North and East on civil rights.

The South never could forget what it called "this betrayal of the South" on civil rights legislation. While Kefauver did have some claim on the vice presidential nomination by virtue of his withdrawal from the campaign in favor of Stevenson for the top spot, he was not the man Adlai would have preferred as his running mate.

The opinion of most observers was that Stevenson would have preferred Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts or Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Adlai Stevenson played very smart politics by telling the convention that he would leave it up to them to select his running mate. The action was a break from long custom of the top nominee naming his own choice.

Many here agreed that the ex-Illinois governor had put the Republicans on the spot, since it is apparent that Eisenhower has hand-picked Nixon for the second man on his ticket, and this despite considerable opposition from some segments of the Republican Party.

The idea that the delegates really had a hand in the vice-presidential race certainly went over well with them.

One definite result of the convention was the establishment of Adlai Stevenson as the titular head of the Democratic Party, in addition to being its nominee for the next President.

Former President Truman came to Chicago with a considerable following and with the firm conviction that he could stop Stevenson. He tried to do this by throwing his support to Harriman, which support he announced the day after his arrival here.

Truman, because he is our only living Democratic ex-President and because of Stevenson's defeat in 1952, had retained his position as head of the party, and undoubtedly a large following, particularly in the big cities.

Regardless of what you might think of Harry Truman, you must admit that he is a man of great courage and a fighter for what he believes.

He came to Chicago with the firm belief that he could dictate to the convention. He failed.

man, G. I. Sims of Route 3; Lahey, L. O. Moorehead of Route 2; Tokio, W. E. Brantley of Route 2, and Johnson, C. D. Wise of Route 2.

Of the 10 nominees, five will be named, on the basis of the number of individual votes each receives, to the following positions: community committee chairman, vice-chairman, member, first alternate and second alternate.

Miller explained that the county convention for naming the three-man county committee will be held Sept. 28, a tentative date. Attending that convention will be the nine newly elected community chairmen.

ed to recognize that the Democratic Party is one of NEW faces and that the rank and file of the delegates were convinced that if the party is to regain the Presidency, they must do it with a new leader.

This leader must be a 1956 model and not a 1948 model, and Mr. Truman failed to realize this fact. The result was that he is no longer a power in the party. He no longer can tell Adlai Stevenson and the new party bosses what to do.

One writer said that Truman was "disgraced," however, I would say that he still has a following, but is certainly no longer the potent force in the party.

Mrs. Hardy is tournament chairman, and serving with her are Mrs. Cruce, Dorothy Kirschner, Gwen Henderson, and Virginia Zorns.

The 1956 edition of the Brownfield Quarterback Club will be officially organized Monday night at 7:30 at Cubs Stadium. The vice president in arrangements, Clyde "Junior" Bond, made the announcement in the absence of last year's VP, L. J. Richardson.

Bond said, "Invitations are issued to everyone in the city, particularly to those people who have sons and daughters in school this year." He stated further, "that we want to have the biggest and best club in Brownfield's history."

In announcing other arrangements for Monday night's meeting Bond outlined a proposed program, with L. J. Richardson acting as master of ceremonies for the evening. The program consists of a watermelon feed for all attending. The introduction of coaches, showing of new equipment and uniforms, a display of the new lighting system, school yells to be lead by this year's cheer leaders and a probable band concert.

High School Band Director Fred Smith was out of town when the arrangements were made but every effort will be

HOW TO WATCH A RODEO . . .

Sponsored By The Terry County Sheriff's Posse

The Rodeo clown, when he steps into the arena in his striped shirt and baggy trousers, becomes a dual personality.

Ruidoso Downs Card

A full schedule of racing will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday with the feature being the Barbara L. purse for quarter horses. Post time Saturday and Sunday is also 1:30 p.m. and Saturday's features will include the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Maturity and the New Mexico Quarter Horse Futurity.

The racing season ends Sept 9 at Ruidoso Downs. made to have a brief concert at the opening meeting, or at least an appearance by the band members.

The feature of Monday night's meeting will be the election of officer's for the coming year and the planning of future programs. No definite meeting time for the club was set at yesterday's meeting but it will be either Monday morning or evening following each Friday's game.

Like the clown in the circus, he is there to entertain.

Unlike the clown of the big top, he is there as a foil. Life-saving is his mission in the brahma bull riding events.

Throughout the long afternoon, the rodeo clown goes through his work. Like his kindred soul of the big canvas top, he works on new acts and new antics to add sparkle to his performance.

But it's the brahma bull riding that brings out the real daring of these Pagliaccios of the rodeo arena. That's the time to watch the clowns if you would appreciate their courage and importance.

The brahmas hold an everlasting grudge against people. Left alone, they'll turn on a fallen rider and do their best to gore or trample him.

Pickup men, such as those who help the rider down in bronc riding, are of little value in bull riding. The brahmas won't let the horses in close enough.

Brownfield Championship Rodeo Will Be In Brownfield August 30, 31 And Sept. 1

So the clowns do the life-saving stint.

You'll see them move in on foot to distract the bull and give the cowboy a chance to dismount and reach safety. A rider often takes an awesome breath-jarring slam when thrown and the clowns must get the bull away from him and keep the furious animal busy elsewhere until the cowboy is rescued.

They taunt and tease—and with the funnyman's natural flare they add thrills to their deadly serious performance. The crowd enjoys it, so often without realizing just how important the act is to the man who just left the animal's back.

There is a business that requires much study. Bulls are individualists. No two react alike. Like a great pitcher who knows the strength and weakness of the batters he'll face from day to day, the rodeo clown must know the peculiarities of hundreds of rodeo bulls, forgetfulness as a clown lets a bull draw tantalizingly close. One miscue, a moment of the clown may go to the hospital.

The taunting and teasing has a long range purpose, too.

Bulls have good memories. They keep thinking of the clown in his ridiculous shirt and baggy pants. And the clown became the No. 1 target just the moment the bull is free of the man on his back.

Its no wonder a top rodeo clown knows the most important part of his audience is made up of the participating cowboys. To pass muster, the clown must be a great foil in a serious act—while being funny!

Rodeo Clown

TO THE RESCUE OF A FALLEN RIDER — The Rodeo clown moves in to take this furious bull off his intended victim. Brahmas will even attack horses therefore the fleet-footed clowns must be used in this event rather than mounted pickup men to save the contestants. This life-saving function makes the work of this funnyman deadly serious and the most dangerous job in rodeo.

Kate Greenway's

Tyrolean Mood

editorially featured in August
Rib-hugging vest effects, full gathered sleeves, and yards of rick-rack. These are the pretty peasant details that tell the season's most talked about fashion story.
Translated from the Tyrol in wonderful crease-resistant cottons, each with the famous Kate Greenway signature—a hidden pocket in every skirt.

a. Jumper-effect dress in J. P. Stevens satin-striped gingham adapted from an exclusive imported design; solid broadcloth blouse-top, lined bib front 3-6x, about $5.95.

b. Dan River's woven plaid gingham in red or blue, make-believe vest in solid black. 3-6x, about $4.95; 7-12, about $5.95.

To start, we'd like to quote Mrs. John Benson: "We certainly had a wonderful vacation at the Crazy Water Hotel in Mineral Wells, thanks to the many people who voted for Nancy in the Miss Little League Contest. I wish I could thank each one personally but realizing that is an impossibility may I use the paper and issue our sincere thanks and appreciation to everybody in Brownfield. We, wished all could have been along." Mrs. Benson, of course, was referring to the vacation awarded the family by virtue of Nancy being selected to wear the Miss Little League Title for 1956. From the reports brought back by the Benson's this corner would like to go on record for recommending the Crazy Water Hotel as a ideal vacation spot. Thanks too, to Fred Brown the hotel manager. Fred, make way for me, next year. Orchids to you all and members of your staff.

Our town is dressed up for the Rodeo and it looks delightful if you haven't seen the decorations, come on to town. Speaking of the Rodeo; did you know that no longer is rodeo a strictly Western sport. Last year there were 56 R. C. A. — approved rodeos west of the Mississippi and more rodeos in New York than in Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico or Wyoming. Another fact: The rodeo season is the longest in the world of sport, starting in January and ending in November.

The biggest day in the rodeo season is the Fourth of July. Take for instance 1955 . . . there were 42 rodeos on this weekend with a total purse of $116,625 before entry fees were added. How about this? Last year there were rodeos in 35 states and Canada. One final fact, if you please: Rodeo is the only major American sport that has never had a scandal, partly because of the attitude of the men in the sport and partly because of the futility of bribing or dealing with a wild bronc, a bull or a dogging steer. We don't think you need any more facts to entice your attendance because on top of all of this, the outstanding fact is that you will enjoy the show. Be there.

Doug Cox, Charlie Keese, Don Powers, J. B. Huckabee and Junior Bond . . . what a coffee klatch. Learned one thing from it though . . . Mrs. Keeses shq do lak dat wata melon. Although they weren't there, Elroy Payne and Farris Nowell will be on Coach Cox's staff at BHS.

"We've had field tours before," explained Homer Causeman, a district supervisor, "but the Sept. 28 event is to eclipse them all."

Brownfield Teachers To Take Part In One-Week Workshop Beginning Monday

More than 102 teachers of the Brownfield school system will take part in a one-week workshop, which begins at 9 a.m., Monday, in the high school's auditorium, the first event ever scheduled in the new structure.

The workshop program was released this morning by Delwin Webb, coordinator of curricula in the schools.

First-morning activities will include an address by Elsie Parnell of Mineral Wells, president of the Texas State Teachers Association for the 1956-57 school year, an organization which will have some 60,000 members next year. Her subject: "Proud to Teach."

On Monday, the Brownfield High School band will perform for the teachers, under the direction of Fred Smith. In addition, there'll be group singing under the leadership of A. V. Wall, new choral director.

By 10:30 a.m., opening day, the group will be ready for the coffee, which will be served by all PTA's in the city. Later, all faculty and staff members and members of the school board will be introduced.

A language arts consultant of Dallas, Miss Marie Williams, will consult with the workshop group Monday afternoon and Tuesday. On Tuesday also, Mrs. T. Dearthment of Dallas, supplementary reading specialist, will be available for consultations.

Wednesday: Frank Medley, associated with Field Enterprises, publishers of The World Book, will have sections concerned with the discussion of research.

'Bag of Bulbs' Project Pushed by Local Lions

Brownfield Lions pushed ahead this week with plans for their "Bag of Bulbs" campaign. Based on the club's goal of sight preservation, the project is the group's method of raising money for buying glasses for the needy. The "bag of bulbs," a $2.02 value for $2, will consist of four 60-watt, four 75-watt and four 100-watt bulbs. The Lions will sell from door to door between 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., Sept. 10-11.

Miss Parilee Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Nelson of 402 East Hill, will be among 116 students to get their degrees Friday at Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene. She'll receive her bachelor of science degree in the University Baptist Church.

MEETING IS SET

M&M Club Seeks Library Group Here

An attempt will be made here Sept. 6 to organize a Brownfield chapter of Friends of the Library. Sponsored by Maids and Matrons Club, representatives of all Brownfield civic, service and women's groups will meet at 7 p.m. in Seleta Jane Brownfield clubhouse. Principal speaker will be Mrs. H. G. Godeke of the Lubbock Friends of the Library. Purpose of such a chapter, explained M&M officers, would be to stimulate public support, understanding and use of the library and to improve the services, resources and quarters. Mrs. E. C. Davis of M&M said this morning, "To cherish a unique American institution—the free public library—Friends of the Library groups are organized to meet local needs." Mrs. Davis urged "a good representation by all groups in Brownfield, for the Sept. 6 meeting." Maids and Matrons has been operating the public library here for more than 50 years, said Mrs. Davis.

It hurts from both the personal and civic viewpoints to lose men like him—they're hard to replace, because the world isn't full of them. We welcome W. C. (Coot) Arnold to Brownfield. He's to replace Winton, and has done so.

Speaking of rodeos, it look like we will have the best all-around rodeo Brownfield has produced in a long time, maybe ever! All are professional cowboys, trick riders extra good clown, excellent announcer outstanding producer—and the tickets are costing only $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Sounds like a bargain to me. How about you?

Would you like to have a free cup of coffee and donut, or a coke on election day? If so, go out to Smith Machinery Company on Saturday and see the all-new tractor, Model 445. Suppose to have numerous new features.

It is good to see the Chamber of Commerce retail committee working on plans for giving Brownfield a genuine Christmas spirit. The group is a committee within the Chamber of Commerce and set up to delve into problems of the retailers.

Jim Bayless is chairman of this committee, which has been meeting regularly for several months. Perhaps you noticed that several parking lots in town have been cleared and as soon signs are made, effort will be put forth to get all employees and employers cars off the square and other busy blocks in town, so that you as customers will be able to find parking places close to where you plan to shop. Tuesdays, Saturdays and Dollar Days are the periods when customers have trouble finding parking facilities. This committee now is working to raise enough money to buy a giant Santa Claus, 28 feet high, to help lend a little atmosphere during this year's Christmas Season.

With plenty of parking space available and beautiful Christmas decorations, there's no reason why people should not want to do their buying in Brownfield.

Chamber of Commerce Mgr. Joe Satterwhite said this morning that Brownfield's chances for getting an enlarged, CAB-approved airport were practically "in the bag." He explained further that the airport transactions hinged only on the federal government's fiscal year.

The Brownfield chamber learned this week of 76 new memberships (individual) in the Highway Association. Brownfield and the area will be the target during the next two weeks of the association's representative, who will be seeking memberships. The chamber's highway and roads committee officials explained this morning that "memberships and money are needed to bring the Highway 51 ideal to a successful conclusion."

TO SHOW HERE—Mrs. Alyce Hart of Lamesa, rapidly rising West Texas artist, will bring 58 of her religious paintings, done in colored oils, to First Christian Church at 8 p. m., Aug. 29. Her program that night will consist of colored slides of her paintings, which she'll describe in detail. The 58 originals, all based on the Book of Revelations, will be on display in Fellowship Room. The Lamesa artist's showing here was announced this week by Truett Fache, president of the adult Sunday School class at First Christian. "There will be no admission charge and no collection plate for this showing," said Flache, who, with Joe Satterwhite of the church, went to Lamesa last Sunday to view the paintings. "They're amazing, and they'll amaze you," said Satterwhite. Mrs. Hart's paintings are based on interpretations of the visions in Revelations. The picture above, one of the 58 originals, is based on the vision in Chapter 2. At an exhibition of the National Amateur Art Association in New York, it received the show's award as an outstanding example of oilpainting. Mrs. Hart has been painting since she was 16 years old. Footsaving Education

By Barney Doss
Are pre-walking shoes important?

The harm done by outgrown pre-walkers is very important. The younger the child the softer the bones. Many children have the beginnings of bunions before they wear any shoes because their feet were bound in the feet of outgrown pajamas.

Pre-walking children should wear shoes only when the house is cold enough that he needs mittens on his hands. Parents marvel at the way their babies flex their toes when they take their shoes off but they seldom think of the fact that using those muscles is the only way known to strengthen them. Even good fitting shoes discourage exercise.

We have a tradition that feet should be hurt and not seen. It comes to us from our ancestors whose feet were a sickening sight but have you noticed pictures of the royal family of England? The baby's bare feet hanging out? Hail the Queen! If it ever becomes stylish to wear shoes only when shoes are needed we will all have healthier feet and shoe-men will not be faced with the impossible task of making abnormal feet comfortable in normal shoes.

Now! Four "Pickup" truck choices with the same money-saving payoff!

Ford Trucks cost less

These four huskies have a lot in common—starting with lowest all-around cost. They're priced low. Rugged construction and modern Short Stroke power are designed to keep running costs down. And Ford trucks with their proven longer life have traditionally high resale value.

Here's something else they share—features you'll find on no other trucks!

Short Stroke power, V-8 or Six!
Ford alone gives you a choice of modern Short Stroke power—and what a choice it is! Ford's 167-hp V-8 is the best-selling best-proved of all truck V-8's. And Ford's 133-hp Six is the only Six in this field with Short Stroke design!

Driverized comfort and safety!
You get exclusive seat shock snubbers to smooth out the ride, the widest-opening doors, and widest standard rear window of any cab! Lifeguard safety features, too, for added protection and peace of mind.

Ford trucks last longer
Using latest registration data on 10,502 Ford trucks, the insurance experts prove Ford trucks last longer.

INDIANS PERFORM HERE—The Indian Centenary Choir attracted much attention when it performed here last Friday night in First Methodist Church, what with its native dress and instruments. The group is pictured above rendering one of its bhajans, or Indian hymns. The singing group was organized in commemoration of 100 years of Methodist work in India and Pakistan. Members were guests of Brownfield families during their stay here.

Lightning-Fast Rodeo Action To Explode in Sheriff's Posse Arena

When the action explodes in the arena of the Terry County Sheriff's Posse rodeo, Aug. 30-Sept. 1, area fans will see another professional edition of the roughest competitive sport in the world.

As one of the 500-odd rodeos approved each year by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association, the Terry County Sheriff's Posse rodeo will be in the sport's major league, conducted under nationally recognized rules that assure the spectators of the best stock in a hard riding contest open to the best cowboys in the business.

Among the top contestants that plan to enter here is Doyle Riley, the calf roping specialist from Ballinger.

Like all R. C. A. rodeos, the contest here will be built around the five standard professional events, bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling and brahma bull riding. To tempt the top hands to bet their skills against their entry fees, the rodeo has put up a purse of $1,125, $225 for each standard event.

All entry fees will be added to the purse and every dollar won in competition here will count one point in the standings for the annual world's championships.

In addition to the standard events, there will also girls' barrel racing for a purse of $125.

In professional bareback bronc riding, the rider has only a simple leather handhold on a surcingle, no saddle or rein. He

The latest Minneapolis-Moline tractor, the "445," will be displayed Saturday by J. E. Smith, owner and manager of Smith Machinery Company at 1301 Lubbock Road.

"In addition," said Smith this morning, "we'll serve hot coffee and doughnuts all day. Forward the close of the program, a handsome door prize will be given away."

On Sunday, we turned our eyes toward the skies, along with hundreds of others throughout the county—no rain. Many farmers have just about abandoned their dry-land acreage, and others have moved the deadline for rain to make its play much closer.

Premiums are now snow-balling for Frank Tuttle, who ginned the county's first bale at 9:26 p.m., last Friday. The honors fell to the new South Gin, Inc., which observed its formal opening Saturday.

Brownfield Jaycees sponsor the annual "first bale" contest here. Tuttle picked the cotton from his irrigated farm near Johnson Community. A total of 1,825 pounds of seed cotton produced the 453-pound bale. He planted Paymaster on April 16, fertilizing with 200 pounds of 13-39-0.

The Terry County Farm Bureau Queen for 1956—she'll be selected at 8 p.m., today, in Brownfield High School gymnasium. To date, there are five entries: Donna Sue Christopher, Ardeth Herring, Sabra Welcher, Yvonne Herring and Barbara Gay Russell. Refreshments will be offered.

Angular leaf spot, resulting from a fungus in the soil and almost impossible to control, could reduce yield of the 1956 South Plains cotton crop and probably will result in some color in the fiber, a spokesman of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange said Saturday.

An unusual agricultural show was held Sunday at Texas Tech—a bantam poultry breeder's exhibition. "Bantams are miniature fowl which have descended from any of a number of dwarf breeds," said W. C. Homsley, director of the event.

Disappearance of cotton in the 1956-57 marketing year is expected to total more than 13 million bales, compared with only 11.3 million in the 1955-56 period, which ended July 31, according to the Cotton Situation report issued recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Prospective production of Texas' 1956 cotton crop is placed at 3,600,000 bales, nearly half a million less than in 1955, but the South Plains crop is expected to exceed the '55 production.

The Aug. 1 estimate predicted a crop of 1,460,000 South Plains bales, some 150,000 more than the 1955 harvest. Thus, SP farmers, drastically cut in their 1956 cotton allotments by the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation

Water Table On Plains Showing Some Decrease

(Editor's Note: The following article was written for Progressive Farmer Magazine by Louise C. Allen, well-known instructor in the Journalism Department of Texas Tech.)

By LOUISE C. ALLEN

How far are we from the "bottom of the Plains water barrel"? How much has irrigation cost us this season? Where do we go from here?

Two agencies—the Texas Extension Service and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District—give us some facts and figures on the picture as a whole.

In the 42 counties making up the Texas High Plains, 17,767 farms are now irrigated. These include 4,339,493 irrigated acres, about 80 per cent of them planted to cotton and grain sorghum. The other acres include alfalfa, corn, small grains, permanent pastures, and vegetable crops.

More than four times as many wells are now in use than in 1918.

Eight years ago, almost three-fourths of the wells in use had a pumping capacity of over 700 gallons per minute. Now slightly less than one-half have that pumping capacity.

In 1948, the pumping lift was 82 per cent of the wells was less than 125 feet. Now less than

OF NEW MM 445 TRACTOR

Smith Machinery Schedules Showing

The all-new "445," Minneapolis-Moline's latest tractor, will be on display Saturday at Smith Machinery Company, 1301 Lubbock Road.

Owner J. E. Smith said this morning that the showing of the new MM product will be held in connection with an open-house and that free coffee and doughnuts will be served, in addition to the presentation of a handsome door prize.

Said Smith, in talking about the "445: These new futuristic tractors and farm machines have everything a farmer could desire, because farmers all over America helped design them."

Two years ago, MM researchers sent questionnaires to farmers, dealers, county agents and agricultural experts. Gist of the questions asked what these people want in a tractor.

A result of the questionnaires, Minneapolis-Moline has produced a tractor which dealer Smith describes as "revolutionary in appearance and mechanical features, but primarily functional in design."

The show date, once again: Saturday, Aug. 25. The place: Smith Machinery Company, 1301 Lubbock Road.

one-fourth are still pumping at that level.

Estimates on the drop in water storage since 1938 are available for 13 counties through the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. The figures are not all for the same month, but they give us a key to work by:

Hockley County's figure is the most recent—a 23 per cent drop as of July 1, 1956. Cochran's taken June 1, was 13 per cent. Lubbock's in May was 37 per cent. Lynn's in April, 32 per cent. Approximate declines for Lamb and Parmer in January were 9 and 5 per cent, respectively.

Other estimates are for months in 1955, Deal Smith, 8.7 per cent (July); Castro, 18 (August); Potter, 8.5 (September); Armstrong and Randall, 14 per cent each (October); Floyd, 13 (November); and Bailey, 5.4 (December).

The rapid increase in number of wells from 1950-54 caused more than a decline in water levels. An extension service survey covering the four-year period, in the 12 counties where more than 80 per cent of the irrigated acreage is located, also indicated changes in pumping lift, well performance, and operating cost.

In the surveyed area for those four years, 49 per cent of the wells which had been in use before 1950 lowered pumps. In the heavy land area, 54 per cent of the pumps installed before 1950 were lowered one or more times, and 30 per cent of those installed since 1950 were lowered. Exclusive of pump re-

'Tar Spots in Cotton' Costly

Cotton producers of Texas and the nation are being asked to take every possible step to keep tar spots out of their cotton. The problem has become serious enough, says Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist, to warrant a belt-wide campaign of elimination.

"A chief source of contamination" says Elliott is believed to come from the use of tar coatings for pick sacks. Tar spots may also get into the ungned cotton from tar tracked into the trailer or wagon, from tar thrown into the cotton when the trailer is pulled over roads coated with tar or from tar spots left in the trailer or truck.

During the hot weather which usually is prevalent during the cotton picking season, close attention should be given to the problem of tar picked up from roads or driveways either by the vehicle or on the feet of those working with cotton.

It's an easy matter to track the tar into the cotton, says Elliott, for the wheel of the trailer is often used as a step for entering the trailer and tar carried on the wheel or tire is easily transferred to the cotton or to the sides or floor of the trailer or wagon.

Cotton manufacturers are penalized for materials contaminated with tar spots. By checking on the origin of the contaminated cotton, the mills can tell exactly where the bale was produced.

At least one manufacturer already has called on producers in an area where cotton has been bought for years to eliminate the tar spots or lose their market (not in Texas).

Right now few items are more important to cotton producers than markets and Elliott advise farmers to do everything possible to help hold what they have and gain more.

The specialist advises growers to check the sacks of pickers who furnish their own sacks to make sure no tar is present and to also caution the pickers on tracking tar into the truck, trailer or wagon. If sacks must be bought, don't buy those with a tar coating.

RED CHINA WANTS ROLE

Suez Hassle to Tax Dulles' Diplomacy

We can fervently hope that Secretary Dulles' second trip to London for round two of the Suez hassle will serve his countrymen better than the first. And we can hope too that he is pondering on the policy statement voted almost unanimously by the Congress as a part of his own State Department's appropriation act for the present fiscal year.

Section 110 of Public Law 603, signed by the President on June 20th states: "It is the sense of the Congress that the Communist China Government should not be admitted to membership in the United Nations as the Representative of China."

It would seem equally clear that it is the sense of the Congress — and the sentiment of the American people as expressed through that body — that neither should Red China be permitted to sit down in any other international deliberative gathering of which this country is a part.

Mr. Dulles should try hard not to confuse the nationalistic ambitions of Egypt's President Nasser with the dedication of the Reds, Chinese and Russian alike, to the global annihilation of free men.

Latest political highlight from the Presidential press conference was the Chief Executive's announcement that he would undergo another complete physical examination before Election Day "to determine that there has been no change in my situation".

The President then reminded his hearers that he had previously said: "If at any time I have any reason to believe that I am not fit, as I believe myself to be now, I will come before the American public and tell them." This, President Eisenhower emphasized, would be his last word to his press conference on the subject of his health.

Next day, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt revealed that her husband has been assured by his physician within three months of his fourth nomination (and six months before his death from cerebral hemorrhage) that he was in good shape to undertake another term in the White House.

One difference between the situations of 1944 and 1956 — that most Americans will consider significant—is that the 1944 check-up was not made with any thought of publication.

THE AMERICAN WAY

WELL SAID AUSTRALIA!

By George Peck

(EDITOR'S NOTE: George Peck is Chairman of the Board of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Executive Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

By George Peck

"O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us To see oursels as others see us! It wad frae mony a blunder free us, And foolish notion."

Readers of this column will recognize the above quotation as having been taken from "To a Louse," by the immortal Scotch poet, Robert Burns. What brings it to memory is an article which appeared in a recent issue of "FACTS," a publication of the Institute of Public Affairs, published in Australia.

In these days when Russia sneers at our Capitalistic System and many of the nations outside the Iron Curtain are critical of the very economic system which has permitted us to shower billions of our American dollars on them, it is a great relief to find a kind word expressed. But read what the Australian publication had to say:

"Record of Free Enterprise" "Free enterprise is an economic system in which the people are free to make their own business decisions on their own initiative, with the barest minimum of government controls."

"It contrasts with systems where practically all economic decisions are made by governments, as in Russia, and other systems subject to extensive government controls."

"Under free enterprise, America has achieved the highest standard of living in the world, a standard which is the envy of many nations. Free enterprise has given a car to practically every income-earner, has put a refrigerator in 93 homes in every 100, a washing machine in 81 homes in every 100 and television sets in 74 homes in 100. It has made America the greatest economic power in the world, on whose bounty many nations depend."

"When government controls were removed and free competitive markets restored, war-shattered Western Germany made a miraculous recovery. The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Butler, recently stated that Western Germany was moving ahead "much faster" than the United Kingdom.

"Free enterprise has given Canada a standard of living second only to the United States and the most spectacular post-war development of any country."

"Free enterprise gets results. The record proves it."

The writer of that article must be rather puzzled at the knowledge that the U. S. A. is slowly but surely abandoning "The American Way" which has been responsible, as he puts it, in making "America the greatest economic power in the world on whose bounty many nations depend." He must find it very difficult to understand how even one single individual, fortunate enough to live in this country, and to enjoy the fruits of our "free enterprise system, can entertain the idea of abandoning it.

Yet, it is a fact that there are millions of Americans who fall for every sociastic scheme that is proposed by our left-wing legislators at Washington. Would that (to paraphrase Bobbie Burns) "some power give these foolish individuals the gift of seeing themselves as others see them, so that they may be freed from blunder and foolish notion." That would go far toward helping to save our free enterprise system for those of us who realize its greatness and do not wish to lose it.

HIGHLIGHTS and SIDELIGHTS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — Campaign headquarters of Price Daniel, Ralph Yarborough and Will Wilson have been beehives of activity.

Daniel and Yarborough have gone all out to win the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas.

Wilson has campaigned even harder than he did in the primary, in order to increase his lead in the Attorney General's race.

But withering Texas heat has sapped campaign enthusiasm among the voters. Interest that developed in the July primary has dwindled considerably.

Last month brought the largest primary vote in Texas history—1,576,870 in the Governor's race. However, if the second primary vote beats that of two years ago it will surprise everyone.

Nevertheless the conservatives and the liberals are working for a big voter turnout on Saturday.

Delegates Return Home — Weary Texas delegates to the Democratic National Convention have returned home to face still bigger task.

Their goals: (1) to win undisputed party control at the Sept. 11 state convention and (2) to swing Texas back to the Democratic column in November.

In both efforts they will have the guidance of two of the party's most influential leaders — U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Hopes are based on the mild civil rights platform plank adopted at the Chicago convention. Both Johnson and Rayburn are credited with significant roles in gaining this "moderate" victory.

Many of the Texas delegates say they will have a had time selling the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket in this state. There is considerable muttering about the prospects of victory in November. And Former President Harry Truman's cracks at Stevenson didn't help a bit.

Drought Aid Program Launched — Federal and state machinery are grinding out a three-phase drought aid program for Texas farmers and ranchers.

Action came as mounting disaster conditions caused federal officials to release "one of the bleakest crop and cattle situation reports in 22 years."

Present plans would provide (1) certificates good for $1.50 per hundredweight toward feed grain purchases, (2) certificates for $7.50 per ton to buy roughage and (3) Farmers SEE HIGHLIGHT Page 3

"You can't sell me that outfit!"

HE SEEMED CONVINCED — and, could be, I was wasting my time with this bristling barrier. But I had to find out what made a smart lawyer like Fred Lesner so opposed to the chamber of commerce. And in the next breath he told me...

SO THAT'S IT! As I listened to him tick off his objections, it was clear enough. Fred thought the businessmen and merchants were getting all the breaks, and couldn't see how any of the chamber's activities could help men like himself.

IT WASN'T HARD to show him how lawyers and other professional people benefited... how stimulating business, industrial and civic progress brought him new clients... and why every professional and business man was on the same team when it came to growth and prosperity of the community.

IT MADE SENSE, TOO, when I said... "The only way the chamber could avoid disagreements would be to adopt a do-nothing policy. And after all, it's easy enough for you to get on the inside and help change and direct its activities. The little matter that prompted my call could change all that. All you have to do is join yourself."

AND JOIN HE DID! Fred said... "Since you brought that team business up, I guess I know where I belong. Any fan can applaud or heckle. As suits his fancy. But when you're playing it a different story. It was for Fred. You ought to see what a good case he makes out for chamber membership now, and how many lawyers have joined us in the last three months."

must spur the horse over the point of the shoulders on the first pump out of the chute, and should spur to the end of the ride to win. He must hang on for eight seconds and cannot touch the horse or the rigging with his free hand.

In calf roping, the contestant works against a stop watch. He tries to rope a calf, dismount, flank the calf and tie any three feet together in the shortest time possible. He gets two tries if he carries two loops made up into the arena.

To make a qualified ride the saddle bronc rider must spur the horse out of the chute as in bareback riding and stick it out for eight or ten seconds depending on the rules agreed on here. He rides an "association" saddle whose standard design has been approved by the R. C. A. and has only a rough braided rope rein to hang onto.

If he loses a stirrup, touches the horse, saddle or rein with his free hand, he's disqualified. And to earn the winning marking he should spur the horse from shoulder to cantle board throughout the ride.

The steer wrestler drops from the saddle of a highballing horse to the horns of a galloping steer, brings it to a stop and twists it down until all four legs are pointed out free. His is a race against time. To help the steer run straight, he has a helper, or hazer, riding on the pairs, the average cost of lowering a pump ranged from $445 in the heavy-land area to $587 in the sandy-land area.

Additional capital investment on farms making improvements in irrigation facilities averaged $7,600 in the sandy-land area, and $6,642 for all the farms surveyed. The cost of irrigation facilities on new farms developed during the 1950-54 period averaged $9,810 per farm.

The 1954 average water cost per acre more than doubled the 1947-49 average. Increased hours of pump operation, increased investment, and a decrease in the acres irrigated per well combined to raise water costs.

It is time to think about how best to use the rapidly disappearing supply of water still remaining underground. Water conservation has been effected on many farms by use of underground concrete tile or surface pipe distribution systems.

Carefully terraced or bench-levelled land helps to bring about efficient use, both of pumped water and that received from rainfall. Stopping irrigation on cotton and grain sorghum in August, to prevent unnecessary plant growth and late maturity, has reduced water waste.

opposite side of the animal. Rodeo's roughest contest is brahma bull riding. The bull rider has only a loose rope without knots or hitches that is held around the bull solely by the pressure of the rider's grip. He must ride for eight seconds with one hand free. But the ride is only half of it since the brahmas are always ready to kill a man with their hooves or horns.

Stock at the Terry County rodeo will be furnished by Duke Gibbs of Belton.

The Terry County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo will run Aug. 30-Sept. 1, and will feature three performances.

Home Administration loans to refinance debts on family size farms.

Initial details were worked out at an Austin conference of U. S. Dept. of Agriculture officials, Gov. Allan Shivers, Agriculture Comm. John White and the Texas Emergency Drought Committee.

USDA is providing $1 million to finance the roughage program. Gov. Shivers has allocated $100,000 from his emergency funds for administrative operations.

Texas reaction to the federal offers ranged from "fairly satisfactory" from Governor Shivers to "too little and too late" from some South Texas farmers.

USDA's weekly report on Texas agricultural conditions termed the drought "one of the most severe on record." It reported pasturage conditions "lowest since 1934" and feed crops "very short" over most of the state.

Water Texas' major reservoirs was down 20 per cent during July, from 1955. Average storage was 51 per cent of capacity.

As evidence of "critical conditions" the State Board of Water Engineers' monthly report cited these further statistics: (1) July rainfall was less than half of normal. (2) Observation wells continued a decline to all-time lows in five West Texas. (3) Dwindling streamflows and decreasing storage resulted in water rationing in many cities in all areas.

More Safety Aids Asked—Next year's Legislature may be asked to double the present 470 man state highway patrol.

Such an increase was urged by Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, in a talk before the Texas Safety Association Women's Conference.

Cost of safety precautions is cheap compared to accident costs, said Garrison. Property loss alone has exceeded $15 sections of the state. Nationally prospective production of the 1956 cotton crop is placed at 13,522,000 bales, about 8 per cent below the 14,721,000 of last year.

billion in the past 20 years.

A legislative program being pushed by the Association includes: (1) more patrolmen, (2) county-wide traffic courts, (3) state-financed driver education, (4) prohibiting sale of fireworks, (5) chemical tests for drunken drivers and (6) laws to punish juvenile traffic offenders.

Bigger Highway Program Started — Expanded highway building under the new federal program is off to a fast start in Texas.

In the first tabulation since U. S. aid bill passage, the State Highway Commission received low bids totaling a whopping $18,494,416. Of this, some $5,847,628 was represented by six bids for improvement of federal interstate routes.

SHORT SHORTS—Contract awarded in Texas during July soared to $36,021,029, highest point since July, 1952. A "School Problems Forum" has been scheduled by the Texas Association of School Boards for Oct. 14-15 in Austin. Board members have been invited to bring questions for group discussion and consideration by a panel of top educators.

Texas' oil allowable for September was set by the Railroad Commission at 73,505 barrels a day less than August. Permissive production will be 3,290,954 barrels a day on a 15 day producing pattern.

Taxes on whiskey brought into Texas from Mexico totaled almost $1 million last year. Last week's audit of the Texas Liquor Control Board showed 1955 collections at $905,801, compared to only $379,544 in 1954. A portable, classroom bleacher has been developed by University of Texas engineers. It is designed to give from 15 to 25 students a "close up" view of teacher demonstrations.

Streamlining of State Library services might save Texas tax money, reports the Texas Research League. An extensive survey was made by the League, at the request of the Library Commission. Gas companies continue to hammer at the state for recovery of millions paid under the old natural gas padding tax law.

Latest to win a judgment was the El Paso Natural Gas Co., victor in an Austin district court case. It was one of several companies which paid the tax without formal protest.

Personal Service . . . John Deere Style

When a service is tailor-made, it's personal service. And that's exactly what we intend our Personal Service, John Deere style, to mean to you. We believe it's designed to meet your own particular farming requirements . . . to help increase net profit on every farming operation. . . .

What's more, this equipment, designed for your farming, is backed by our own personal service—a fully equipped shop, manned by skilled mechanics trained in John Deere servicing methods . . . a complete parts department, stocked with only genuine John Deere parts that fit properly, last longer. These services are available to help you maintain 100% John Deere performance and, in turn, increase your net profit down through the years.

When we first took on the John Deere Line, one fact seemed obvious—greater returns from farming could be realized only when you farm efficiently and economically. John Deere Equipment provided the answer to this problem then; even more so today. It's equipment that leads the field; it's soundly engineered; it's efficient, dependable; it's equipment that's economical to own and operate.

TO THE CITIZENS OF TERRY COUNTY . . .

This is not a political announcement. There seems to be some question about the elevator at the court house in Brownfield. As to who should have keys to the elevator . . . Now there are only 5. Before the jail break there were too many keys out the past few years. The ones who had keys to the elevator had access to your sheriffs office and jail. I had the locks changed for your protection and mine. You elected me to do a job as sheriff of Terry County and I can truthfully say I have done everything for the interest of every Terry County voter and to the best of my ability.

The elevator opens on the ground floor by keys and does not open again until the top floor which is inside of the jail. It does not stop on any floor but the ground floor and the top floor. My deputies and I would be more than glad to take anyone up and down on the elevator so that you can see for yourself. You are cordially invited to visit the jail or office at any time. We would like for those who haven't seen the new jail and its operation to visit it and let us explain to you how your jail is being handled. If you will come and visit the jail I believe you will understand why the locks were changed.

Almost every town handles their keys as they are being handled here now and some towns even stricter, for instance, we invite you to check Lubbock and Lamesa.

Sales of U. S. Farm Goods Abroad Show Increase This Year

Surplus agricultural commodities valued at about 1.5 billion have been sold to foreign countries in exchange for their own currency since Sept. 1954. Of this, sale of $759 million worth was arranged for in the first six months of 1956, says Extension Economist John G. McHaney.

He reports that the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service has had primary responsibility for these agreements for sales of surplus commodities. The program of foreign surplus sales was provided for by Congress under Title I of Public Law 480. To date, 59 agreements with 27 countries have been arranged with 27 of the agreements coming during the first six months of 1956.

Commodities sold for foreign currencies include wheat and wheat flour, feed grains, rice, cotton, tobacco, dairy products, poultry, fats and oils, dry edible beans, fruits and vegetables, meat products, cotton linters and seeds. In terms of dollar value, wheat flour leads the list of the commodities exchanged ($526 million worth), with cotton seed second ($358 million).

The foreign money received is being used to buy strategic materials, for developing agricultural markets abroad, payment of U. S. debts, and loans to friendly countries for trade and economic development.

Public Law 480 provides other ways of disposing of surplus farm commodities. These include shipments for famine relief and other assistance

WEEKLY INSECT REPORT

Fleahoppers, Cabbage Loopers, Aphids And Lygus Bugs Damaging Terry Cotton

Hot and dry weather prevailed during the past week. Such weather conditions prevented any marked increase in the activity of most insects, but some heavily fruited cotton showed heavy shed of small bolls because of the stressed conditions of the plants.

Fleahoppers were reported in medium to heavy populations in some fields. In most instances the insects should not pose a problem since plants are well fruited.

There seems to be little change in bollworm infestations over the previous week. Medium to heavy infestations were found in some fields in Dawson, Gaines, Hale and Lubbock counties. A majority of the cotton has not developed sufficient infestations to require control. Since most recently reported infestations have been of small worms, cotton should be checked regularly for eggs and hatching.

Lygus bugs were found in medium to heavy infestations in Hale, Hockley, Lamb and Lubbock counties. The insects were observed in light infestations in many other fields. Cotton should be checked for increasing infestations and control effected before squares and small bolls suffer heavy damage.

Cabbage loopers appeared in medium to heavy infestations in some fields throughout the area. While disease continued to kill large loopers, many fields had rather heavy hatching and increased ragging of leaves. Although these insects are hard to control, infestations can be reduced to a point where serious ragging will not occur if treatments are applied while worms are small.

abroad, donations for foreign and domestic relief through non-profit voluntary agencies and inter-Governmental organizations and barter contracts.

Under all these programs, about $3 billion worth of agricultural commodities has been disposed of since the beginning of operations under Public Law 480 in 1954.

Leafworms were reported in light to medium infestations in most localities. In most cases infestations were not sufficient to require control.

Aphids occurred in damaging infestations in scattered fields of cotton in Hale County. These insects were also observed in spotted heavy infestations in Floyd and Lubbock counties.

Information contained in the Cotton Insect Situation release has been compiled from reported received from county agents, voc. agri. teachers, personnel of Texas A & M College System, branches of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, commercial cotton inspectors, chemical companies and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klein are visiting her relatives in Georgia this week.

HOW TO WATCH A RODEO.

In old Cheyenne on July 4 1872, some cowboys staged an impromptu contest steer riding and the first instance of what was to become one of the five standard events of rodeo was recorded.

It was the cowboy love of betting and the common cowboy boast that "I can ride anything with hair."

Brahama Bull Riding HITTING THE HARD, HARD GROUND — A bull rider gets dusted by a high kicking brahma. The rider must hang on for eight seconds, and a flank strap that is pulled up tight as the bull leaves the chute.

Until the bad tempered brahmas were first run out of the chutes back in 1920, there was a time when the cattle industry had settled down being milder and more tame.

But the brahmas brought the wildness back—and then some. In India, whence they came the brahma is called a zebu and is considered divine.

After they have tossed their rider they will try to trample or gore him. And on the back of the arena, weighing as much as a ton apiece the most skilled rider sometimes seems no more than an irritation.

As buckers, they are fast, powerful and crafty, spinning ducking away, hooking up with the rider with their horns, twisting and mixing up their tricks with seemingly endless variety.

At the rodeo you'll see the bulls clear the rail birds as they range around the arena after the ride, sending the on-looking cowboys scrambling for a higher position above the powerful horns.

Before you get into the arena, the bull rider has to depend on a fast pair of legs—or the close-working rodeo clowns—to save his life when the ride is over.

The bull rider has a simple loose rope to help him keep his seat that must have knots or hitches so that it falls away when the ride is completed.

After the rodeo you'll see the bulls clear the rail birds as they range around the arena after the ride, sending the on-looking cowboys scrambling for a higher position above the powerful horns.
