TOWN HALL MEETING — U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen stresses a point during his "town hall meeting" yesterday in the Howard County Courthouse. Bentsen fielded questions from a crowd of approximately 150 persons who packed the district courtroom to air their views of government with Bentsen.

Freewheelin' Bentsen

Farmers, PLO, Collins on his mind

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

An animated U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen drew a crowd of 150 Big Spring residents into the sweltering district courtroom of the Howard County Courthouse yesterday for an open and fast-moving "town hall meeting."

The malfunctioning air conditioning at the courthouse did not deter the 62-year-old Bentsen as he doffed his suit jacket, loosened his tie and proceeded to field question from the packed room. Bentsen is seeking his third term as senator against U.S. Rep. Jim Collins, a Dallas Republican.

During the meeting, Bentsen dealt with the farmer's economic plight, the recession, Reagan's proposal to send troops to Beirut to evacuate the PLO, and scorned lobbying efforts against him by the National Conservative Action Committee.

Bentsen launched into the farmer's problem of high production costs and diminishing profits by saying, "The farmer is in the worst shape he's been in since 1934."

Bentsen railed against Reagan's foreign embargoes. "We've got a situation where we've had embargoes on farm products done by Nixon and Carter. Nixon put an embargo on selling soybeans to Japan so they invested a billion dollars in Brazil and now it's a large soybean competitor of ours."

"Carter put an embargo on the export of grain to Russia so it went to Argentina to plant grain, making Argentina our largest grain competitor. I don't think it makes any sense to put an embargo on someone else unless it hurts them more than it hurts us."

He said the American farmer should not be singled out to bear the brunt of foreign policy. He suggested that when embargoes are used they should be enforced across the board rather than in just the agricultural market.

Bentsen advocated an increase of exports on the worldwide market, but hinted the American farmer would need some sort of subsidizing from the government to compete with European countries that subsidize their own farmers.

"What (European countries) say to the European farmer is, 'We'll pay you this price from the product and you go and sell it on the world market and cut prices until you get that market and we'll make up the difference.'" He said there was no way for America to actively compete in such a market.

To help battle the problem, Bentsen said he had asked President Reagan to set up a cabinet level agricultural task force to address the American farm problem.

"We must get the problem dramatized to make Washington see how serious it is. I don't think it knows," he said.

As for the current recession, Bentsen said the only way to climb out of the slowdown is to cut deficits. "If we don't have some belt tightening by everybody across the board you won't see interest rates come down and the economy start to move again."

Bentsen said the budget approved by Congress last month probably will not bring interest rates down or help the ailing economy to recover. Bentsen, who voted against the budget, said he favored an alternate proposal that would have substantially reduced the budget and possibly balanced the budget by 1985.

Bentsen also attacked the National Conservative Political Action Committee for television commercials the group has produced calling Bentsen "too liberal for

JERRY WORTHY
...quizzes Sen. Bentsen

Texas."

"I understand there's a commercial now put on by an outfit called NCPAC, which has a long record of distorting records. They say in some of their campaign literature that they 'can lie through their teeth and no one can do anything about it.'"

"And they say they're going to spend $300,000 to $1 million against me. But I don't think the people of Texas are going to buy that line of garbage (referring to NCPAC's labeling him liberal) or that kind of distortion."

He said NCPAC had singled out a vote of his in 1977 for a 29 percent pay raise he voted to increase government workers' salaries. Bentsen said he voted for the measure only because a commission, headed by President Gerald Ford, asked Congress for approval.

Despite criticism of his record, Jim Collins, Bentsen's opponent in November, is fighting. See story on page 5A.

"The commission said high level government workers were being lost to private industry because of salary discrepancies so I voted for the measure."

Bentsen said that following the pay raise he has voted 14 times against "any sort of raise" in government salaries.

Bentsen was asked how he felt about Reagan's proposal to send U.S. troops to Beirut to evacuate PLO guerrillas.

"I think it would be a mistake to send any of our Marines over there (Lebanon) unless we have an agreement with all parties involved." He was referring to the PLO's apparent disapproval of the proposal.

In a brief press conference after the meeting Bentsen said he feels confident about his race with Jim Collins.

"We've seen general support across the states and polls show me substantially out in front. Of course, it will narrow as November comes, but we'll win and win convincingly."

Bentsen was off from Big Spring to Abilene and Fort Worth to continue his town hall meetings.

Lebanon charges U.S. backtracking

By The Associated Press
Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan publicly accused U.S. presidential envoy Philip Habib today of backtracking on when to deploy peacekeepers in west Beirut and said that threatened "every other aspect" of talks on the evacuation of the PLO from the battered city.

Wazzan said the force, which also would include French paratroopers, should deploy "before or simultaneously with the start" of the evacuation of Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization. "But I have been surprised by a non-Lebanese insistence that the deployment of these international forces should take place after the departure of the Palestinians, which negates much of the need for and the usefulness of these forces."

"All through the talks with Mr. Philip Habib I have been determined to keep the details from official publicity pending the arrival at a final agreement," Wazzan said. "But this new position came as a shock, which I am afraid, would reflect on every other aspect of the talks."

The Wazzan statement was issued by his office and broadcast on the state radio and published in all Beirut newspapers.

There was no immediate comment from Habib, who has been trying for three weeks to put together a peacekeeping agreement that would stage off a ground assault on west Beirut by Israeli forces who invaded Lebanon June 6 to crush the PLO.

Israel's invasion army entered Lebanon June 6 and pushed to the gates of Beirut. It is now threatening to move into west Beirut and crush the last Lebanese outpost of the PLO unless all the guerrillas leave Lebanon.

The Israelis kept up the military pressure, pounding PLO strongholds in two west Beirut neighborhoods for two hours starting at sunset Wednesday.

Brezhnev warns against U.S. force

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev today warned President Reagan against sending American troops to Lebanon, the official Tass news agency said.

Tass said Brezhnev sent a message to Reagan saying that if U.S. Marines were dispatched to Beirut "the Soviet Union would build its policy with due consideration of this fact."

The Tass report did not specify what steps the Soviets were prepared to take in response to the possible contribution of U.S. combat troops to a multinational peace-keeping force for Lebanon.

Brezhnev called on Reagan "to do everything depending on the United States to halt the bloodshed in Lebanon, to end the barbaric extermination by the Israeli troops of Lebanese and Palestinians — women, children and old men," Tass said.

Asked about the report, a U.S. Embassy spokesman, who declined to be identified, said, "We don't comment on private exchanges between our leaders and we are disappointed that Tass did so."

The Palestinian news agency Wafa said Israeli ground troops made three attempts to advance from their positions near the paralyzed Beirut airport, but were stopped by PLO forces.

Brezhnev warns against U.S. force

Tass charged in an unsigned commentary Wednesday night that the plan to send about 1,000 U.S. Marines to Lebanon was "dangerous" and said it would "lead to a further sharp aggravation of the explosive situation in the Middle East."

"Attempts are being made to strengthen the aggressor and in the final analysis to supplement the Israeli occupation with U.S. occupation," Tass said in the commentary.

The Soviet Union has repeatedly called on Israel to withdraw its troops from Lebanon and has said its interests were directly threatened because of the area's proximity to the Soviet Union.

Israel invaded Lebanon June 6 in a bid to crush the Palestine Liberation Organization's guerrilla armies. Israeli troops and their rightist Lebanese Christian allies now ring the last guerrilla stronghold in predominantly Moslem west Beirut. Israel has threatened to attack the guerrilla enclave unless the PLO withdraws all its fighters from Lebanon.

As county plans its 1982-83 budget

Microfilm funds sought

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners continued to fine-tune the proposed county budget yesterday during their budget work session, as they considered department head requests including a $17,500 appeal from the district clerk's office. State 118th District Clerk Peggy Crittenden made the budget request to microfilm and reproduce the court's minutes from 1889 to the present.

Mrs. Crittenden told commissioners the older records are beginning to fade and need salvaging in accordance with state law. She also said the court has no permanent record should the district clerk's office be destroyed by disaster.

Commissioners expressed doubt as to the need for such an expenditure. Commissioner William Crooker, noting one single volume costs $334, asked, "Who's going to go back to look at those old volumes? Should we spend this money for records?"

The district clerk said the older records are examined the most by lawyers and historians. Preserving the court minutes and ensuring a record of those minutes is part of her job responsibility, Mrs. Crittenden said.

Crooker said, however, the microfilming and reproduction would be "going beyond your responsibility."

Commissioner Paul Allen suggested microfilming only the court minutes as a possible solution. The commissioners agreed to consider microfilming after checking the prices. Mrs. Crittenden told the commissioners she would obtain the microfilming cost, but urged the commissioners to "come up and look at the condition of the books" before ruling out the reproductions.

In a non-budget item, the commissioners moved to change the by-laws of the Howard County Industrial Development Corp. at the request of First City National Bank of Houston. The bank issued $2 million in bonds for Western Container of Big Spring after a resolution was approved by the commissioners (who compose the corporation) June 8.

Yesterday's amendment removed the corporation's requirement to have the federal government routinely investigate the company.

The corporation is an entity created to further industrial development in the county.

In other budget action, the commissioners decided to raise the courthouse maintenance budget from $35,000 to $45,000. The increase will take care of planned and needed improvements in the courthouse.

Allen said. (The commissioners were meeting while the air conditioning was not functioning throughout the courthouse.)

Commissioner Louis Brown suggested raising the Knott Community Center budget from $300 to $1,000 in order to fund needed painting and other improvements there. The commissioners approved the change.

County Auditor Jackie Olson, who prepares the budget outline with the help of the county judge, told commissioners the county's revenue sharing money from the federal government is expected any day.

Revenue-sharing funds will be figured in during the final phases of the approximately $4.5 million 1982-83 budget as work on it continues through August.

Check writing -- it's a class act

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Area hot check writers will soon be going to school to learn how not to write bad checks. Howard County Attorney Bob Miller's Hot Check Department is bringing in the National Corrective Training Institute to help local hot check writers.

The institute's program was brought in since fines are not deterring habitual bad check writers, Miller says. The program is not a punishment for hot check writers, but is a means of aiding offenders before their problem worsens, he says.

The program costs the community nothing since the students pay a fee to cover costs. The institute receives no federal funding nor does the county receive any of the fee.

The eight-hour program seeks to change people's behavior individually rather than employ scare tactics, Miller adds.

Persons receiving notification from the county attorney's office to attend the program vs. those wishing to attend must call 267-4221 to enroll in the Aug. 7 class. The class runs from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. that Saturday and the $35 fee must be brought to the class.

Do not call the county attorney's office as the office cannot release information on the institute.

National Digest

Rail strike threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will have to decide soon whether to invoke emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act to avert a strike scheduled for Sunday by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A spokesman for the 40,000-member union said Wednesday the BLE will stage a nationwide strike Sunday night against more than 100 rail carriers unless Reagan acts to appoint a fact-finding board. Such a move, under the railway act, would forestall a strike for 60 days. Any walkout during that period would be illegal.

In Los Angeles, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the president was briefed on the issues in the rail dispute and on what a strike would mean. He said Reagan will receive recommendations soon from the National Mediation Board.

VA head criticized

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The former No. 2 man in the Veterans Administration says veterans are suffering because administrator Robert Nimmo is inept and insensitive and should be replaced.

Allen Clark Jr., a former Green Beret captain who lost part of both his legs after he was wounded by mortar fire in Vietnam in 1967, quit as VA deputy administrator a year ago after only two weeks on the job.

He said in a telegram to Reagan Wednesday the only reason he had remained silent about Nimmo was that he did not want to cause Reagan "undue harm."

John Hickman, public information officer at the VA, responded to Clark's remarks by saying "It's a free country and he's entitled to his opinion."

"You might recall," Hickman added, "that President Reagan last week came out and offered 100 percent support of Mr. Nimmo here at the agency."

Dugan remains in stable condition

LT. Bob Dugan, acting Big Spring police chief is in "stable" condition today at Malone-Hogan Hospital, according to his attending physician Dr. V. Taylor Smith.

The 52-year-old Dugan was admitted to the hospital early yesterday morning after succumbing to a sudden illness, police and hospital officials said.

Although initial reports indicated Dugan apparently had suffered a heart attack, Smith said today that the cause of Dugan's illness has not yet been determined.

Dugan has been the interim chief of police since early April and had made an application for that office on a permanent basis.

City Manager Don Davis said no action has been made to name another acting police chief and that current division heads would continue to oversee the various divisions within the police department.

Probation, fine in DWI trial

A Howard County jury today sentenced Jimmie Lee Sundy, 48, to two years' probation after finding him guilty yesterday in Howard County Court of driving while intoxicated on Feb. 7, 1982. He also was fined $300.

Sundy's first trial on the DWI charge ended in a hung jury as the six-man jury split with five for conviction and one for acquittal on June 15. Howard County Attorney Bob Miller prosecuted the case while Jack Thompson represented Sundy.

Petree receives state award

David Petree, an employee of the Texas Highway Department in Big Spring, recently was honored in receiving the Texas Public Employees Association's "Top Hand Award." The selection was made by the State Membership Committee of TPEA from nominees from each region.

Petree is a member of Region I Big Spring State Hospital TPEA Chapter 52. Petree became interested in joining TPEA while attending the 1979 annual meeting in Austin with his wife, Jessie, who is an employee of Big Spring State Hospital. He said he was very impressed with the association and wanted to become an active member of the Big Spring State Hospital chapter, even though he was not an employee of the facility. He became a member in 1979.

Petree attends the chapter's activities and meetings whenever possible. He informs his fellow employees of the state level and believes TPEA is important in getting good job benefits for state employees. He helps with the chapter's finances by selling aluminum cans which he has collected from the hospital and other sources.

Petree is an active member of the Anderson Street Church of Christ as a preacher, teacher, song leader and director of the church bus program. During his summer vacation, he is a youth counselor at a church camp.

Food stamps

State awaits changes in U.S.-funded program

By GINA SPADA
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — If you viewed the federal Food Stamp Program as a pie, Texas' proportion is about as large as a piece of the crust since the state contributes only administrative help through the Department of Human Resources.

The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, except for one-half of the administrative costs paid by the state.

One of President Reagan's New Federalism proposals that has died would have "swapped" the Food Stamp Program and Aid to Families With Dependent Children to the states in return for the federal government assuming the responsibility for Medicaid.

Although that proposal is dead, welfare officials are monitoring the nation's Capitol and waiting for word on what the situation will be for food stamp recipients in light of the new federal budget.

Washington gives approximately $700 million to Texas for food stamps, with Texas putting in $27.5 million or one-half of the administrative costs.

The program gives persons who meet the income requirements coupons to purchase food products. The stamps may not be used to purchase household goods or alcohol, said DHR chief information officer Bill Woods.

As of February 1982, the average person on the Food Stamp program received $39.55 worth of the coupons. The average size of a food stamp family is 3.2 persons. "That's the same nationwide because that's a national standard," Woods said.

Last in a series

Food stamps recipients can be of all ages, including the elderly. Currently 1.2 million people receive coupons in Texas.

While Aid to Families with Dependent Children (welfare) families are automatically eligible for Medicaid and social service benefits, food stamps families are not.

Now that Congress has agreed on a federal budget, the lawmakers will begin the details of allocating the funds. There were several proposals before Congress that would have tightened the purse strings and made the food stamp dollar last longer, but those might be moot.

One thing that could happen is that additional aid received by a family that is not being counted as income now could be counted as such. This could mean that a recipient might be forced off the food stamp rolls.

Another possibility could be that additional aid is counted as income and the food stamp allotment be decreased because of that.

Currently the department is waiting for word from Washington on what effect the new budget will have on the Food Stamp Program.

Democrats steaming about GOP Social Security ad

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are hopping mad about a Republican television commercial telling voters that Social Security recipients can thank President Reagan for the extra money in their checks this month.

The latter Social Security checks stem from an automatic cost-of-living increase, which Democrats claim the Reagan administration tried to delay and cut. The increase goes into effect each July.

"The Reagan administration failed to delay this year's COLA for only one reason... because we in Congress refused to go along with it," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said Wednesday.

But that's not what the GOP's new $1 million commercial says. The television spot features a grandfatherly postman who smiles fondly into the camera and says he's "probably one of the most popular people in town."

"I'm delivering Social Security checks with the 7.4 percent cost of living raise that President Reagan promised," the mailman says. "He promised that raise and he kept his promise, in spite of those sticks in the mud who tried to keep him from doing what we elected him to do."

"President Reagan has made only a beginning, but he has kept his word and it is a beginning," the mailman concludes. "For gosh sake, let's give the guy a chance."

The commercial started running Tuesday in 56 cities and will continue through July 15. Another 32 cities will be added later.

Ackerly tax rate slashed

ACKERLY — The Ackerly City Council has unanimously moved in a special session to lower the tax rate from 50 cents per $100 valuation to five cents per $100 on real property.

City Secretary Judy Staggs said the lowered tax rate for 1982-1983 was made by the council due to the recent reappraisal of the city's property.

She explained that the past valuations were fairly old and the new values were very high, in some instances, a 2,000 percent increase.

Ms. Staggs added that the city has no minerals and taxes are paid primarily by property owners.

Braniff attendants get Playboy offer

DALLAS (AP) — Some flight attendants who served "coffee, tea or milk" for Braniff International will serve up "cheesecake" on the pages of Playboy magazine.

More than 75 women have responded to the magazine's offer of $500 for posing nude in a feature titled "The Girls of Braniff," said Playboy photographer David Mecey, who is interviewing candidates in a sixth-floor hotel suite in Dallas.

"All we want to do is give the flying male public one last look — a fond farewell," Mecey said. "I guarantee we are not trying to exploit anyone."

But not everyone is so sure.

Jean Jordan, president of Braniff's Association of Flight Attendants, said she was "greatly disgusted" when she heard about Playboy's offer to flight attendants laid off when the airline shut down operations in May.

"I think they are trying to take advantage of people who are down and out," Ms. Jordan said.

Many of the Playboy hopefuls are still unemployed after the airline grounded its flights and filed for protection in federal bankruptcy court in Fort Worth.

"It's an opportunity," said one woman as Mecey tried to persuade her that taking off her clothes for Playboy would enhance her career.

"They are trying to help us, not hurt us. We need the attention to help us get work," said the former Braniff employee, who asked not to be identified.

Playboy touched off a Texas-sized controversy earlier when it put together a pictorial on "The Girls of the Southwest Conference."

And this is not the first run-in between Playboy and Braniff. Two years ago, when the magazine was compiling photos for a feature on flight attendants of all major airlines, then-Braniff President Harding Lawrence threatened to fire any Braniff employee baring flesh for Playboy.

One Braniff flight attendant posed with her clothes on. "She is coming back and will be in the pictorial nude," said Mecey with a smile.

Mecey said 12 former flight attendants for the nation's eighth largest airline will be selected for the feature, which will cost the magazine $50,000 to $75,000 to prepare.

Ocean burnings to resume despite protest

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency will send a research vessel to the Gulf of Mexico later this month to monitor the second ocean burnings of PCBs aboard an incinerator ship.

During the first disposal of almost 700,000 gallons of the toxic chemicals in December, the EPA relied only on on-board observers to record safety and efficiency levels, said Al Wastler, EPA marine protection chief in Washington.

"This is just to make sure that all the data and all emissions are recorded properly," he said of the decision to send the Antelope to take air, water and biological samples from the site.

Wastler said scientists are reviewing data from the December operation but have found nothing that would jeopardize plans for more burns.

The incineration probably will begin in late July and take nine days to dispose of the 750,000 gallons, he said.

"We just had some additional data come in yesterday," Wastler said Wednesday. "I haven't really gotten into this but everything so far essentially confirms our expectations."

PCBs are used as cooling agents for electrical transformers. Their manufacture was banned in 1977 after researchers discovered possible links to cancer and birth defects.

The chemicals do not break down easily and cannot be disposed of at landfills. The EPA considers ocean incineration safer than burnings on land and has designated one disposal site in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Vulcanus, equipped with German-built incinerators, is docked at Mobile, Ala., and has been loading its cargo since June. Wastler said the EPA is waiting to study final results of the first burn before given the ship permission to head to a disposal site 177 miles east of here.

Chemical Waste Management Inc. of Oakbrook, Ill., owns the Singapore-registered ship, which is managed by a Dutch company. The ship's owner has applied for permits to burn DDT, Silvex and a mixture of organic compounds in separate operations.

Some local officials and residents are upset that they did not know about the planned PCB burnings until after the official comment period ended.

The EPA refused to hold a formal hearing once the PCB permit had been approved but conducted an informal meeting in May here.

"What worries us is that they're going to burn it again and they're refusing to give us any information from the first time," said Ted Campagnolo, Cameron County assistant district attorney.

"Even at the meeting, they didn't give us anything of substance," he said.

An observation report filed by TRW scientist Donald Ackerman said two of the samplings of the combustion efficiency were unacceptable, Campagnolo said.

The EPA required the ship to destroy no less than 99.9 percent of the material. Wastler said data shows a 99.99999 percent destruction rate.

Campagnolo said Ackerman also reported vibrations and problems with a camera that recorded efficiency ratings. He said the burning should have been halted when the camera went off.

Vandals blamed for train crash

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP) — Seven teenagers were charged today with tripping a switch that caused a passenger train to careen off the tracks at 60 mph and crash into a spaghetti factory, killing the engineer, authorities said.

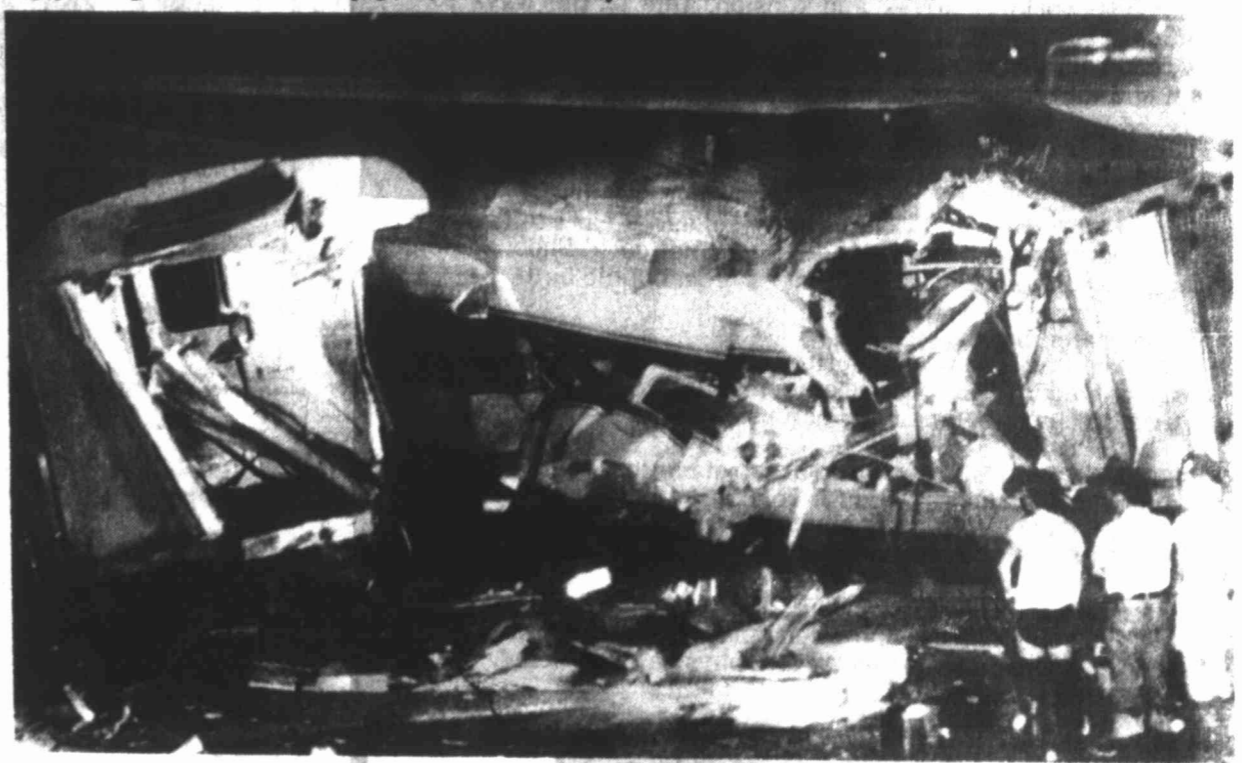

Police Capt. William Gormans said the youths, all from the area of this New York City suburb, were charged with manslaughter. Their names and ages were not immediately available.

"It appears that someone threw the switch and that the switch was in the wrong position," said Martin Robins, deputy executive director of NJ Transit, the state agency that owns the Conrail-operated train. "The train hit that switch at 60 mph and careened off the tracks."

The seven-car train with nine people aboard, was en route from Suffern, N.Y., to Hoboken, N.J., when it derailed about 9:45 p.m. Wednesday, said Fair Lawn Fire Department Chief Ronald Grant.

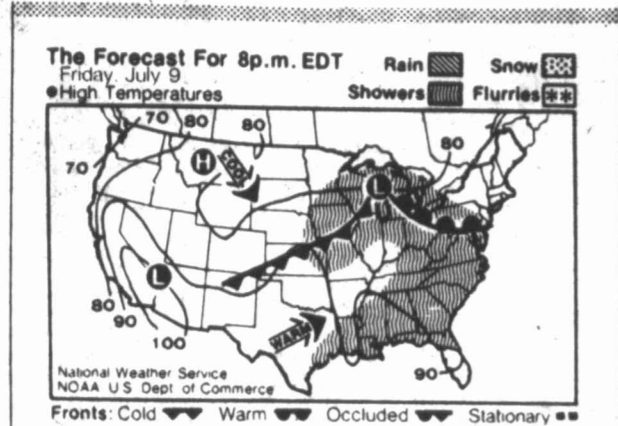

The engineer was identified as John Duffy, in his 50s. He was killed instantly, Grant said. One other person was hospitalized and two other people were treated for minor injuries, officials said.

The train traveled down a siding and smashed through the brick wall of the Columbia Spaghetti Co. factory, leaving behind a gaping hole and passenger cars strewn about, Grant said.

NEW JERSEY TRAIN DERAILS — Officials view the wreckage of a Conrail train which derailed and crashed into a spaghetti factory in Fair Lawn, N.J. Wednesday night, authorities said. One person was killed and several were injured in the mishap.

Weather

Thunderstorms roam Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Widely scattered thunderstorms roamed across northern sections of the Panhandle early today. The rest of the state had clear to partly cloudy skies.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the mid 60s in the Panhandle to the lower 80s in extreme Southwest Texas. Extremes ranged from 61 at Marfa to 82 at El Paso.

Heavy thunderstorms in the Dallas-Fort Worth area Wednesday kept temperatures unseasonably cool. Fort Worth had a high of 82, making it the coolest July 7 on record, breaking a record set in 1906 when the high was 83.

Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies statewide with afternoon and evening thunderstorms over West Texas, spreading into North Texas late tonight. Some isolated thundershowers were forecast for the South Texas coastal area and Southeast Texas.

Highs today and Friday were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging from the upper 80s in the Panhandle to near 100 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 70s.

Rainy weather dampened much of the nation, with thunderstorms and showers over the northern Appalachians, the upper Ohio Valley, northern Arkansas, the southern Plains and Colorado, also causing one death in New York state.

Rain also fell Wednesday on Montana, Florida and from Idaho to Arizona.

It was mostly clear from North Carolina to southern New England, over the Mississippi valley, the northern Plains and the desert southwest.

In western New York, skies began to clear today after thunderstorms killed one person and caused widespread power outages.

Dave DeVries, 25, of Macedon, died Wednesday after a tree was blown on his car, authorities said. His pregnant wife, Katherine, was hospitalized with a broken jaw and arm.

Task force studies proposal

Increase in drinking age recommended

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A task force appointed by Gov. Bill Clements to study traffic safety has taken the first step in an effort to raise the legal drinking age in Texas from 19 to 21.

A task force subcommittee, led by Austin Police Chief Frank Dyson, on Wednesday recommended the increased drinking age as part of an anti-drunk driving package.

Jim Adams, Department of Public Safety director and task force chairman, has said the panel would ask Clements to lobby the 1983 Legislature to raise the drinking age, which was hiked to 19 from 18 last year.

Adams told the task force he has received many letters concerning the increased drinking age and his backing for a ban on drinking alcoholic beverages while driving.

"It almost looks like some of us think it's written in the Texas Constitution you should be able to drive with a beer can in your hand," said Adams.

"It's dumb to drive while drinking and it should be against the law," he said.

Vernon With, regional alcohol specialist for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, told the task force that raising the drinking age and banning drinking while driving would be a "major advance" toward curtailing driving while intoxicated in Texas.

Dyson's subcommittee also called for revamped penalties for drunken driving. Many officials are concerned that current laws make it difficult to get a first conviction, and therefore more difficult to get subsequent convictions which carry stiffer penalties.

Under the subcommittee recommendation, first offense DWI would be punishable by a $200 to $2,000 fine, two days to two years in prison and up to one-year suspension of drivers license. The suspension could be waived in favor of mandatory completion of an alcohol education course.

Currently, first offense DWI can bring a jail sentence of three days to two years in jail and a fine of $50 to $500. License suspension can be avoided by completion of an alcohol education course.

The subcommittee recommended a fine of $300 to $2,000, 15 days to two years in jail and drivers license suspension of 90 days to one year for second offense DWI. Probation could only be granted after a defendant served at least 15 days in jail.

Subsequent DWI offenses now are felonies punishable by up to five years in prison and a fine of $100 to $5,000.

"This is so there be no total escape of jail time on a second offense," said Dyson.

Third offenses would be third-degree felonies punishable by 18-month drivers license suspension and mandatory jail time of at least 60 days.

Dyson's subcommittee also recommended a ban on deferred adjudication for DWI and a 90-day license suspension for drivers who refuse to take intoxication tests.

Mideast is center of attention again

U.S. peacekeeping forces judged successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Reagan decides to commit American troops to a peacekeeping force in Lebanon, it will not be the first time the U.S. military has been sent abroad in a non-combat role.

While it has happened infrequently, the few times U.S. forces have been employed in peacekeeping efforts have been judged largely successful.

They were used in the Mideast on two occasions. The first was in Lebanon in 1958; the second was this year when a contingent of U.S. troops was sent to the Sinai Peninsula to help police the border between Egypt and Israel.

U.S. troops also were used in the Dominican Republic in 1965 with results regarded in this country as successful, although they were widely criticized elsewhere.

American troops stationed in South Korea, Europe and at other military bases around the globe also serve a peacekeeping function. But in Korea they fought a war against invaders from North Korea and China, and the military bases are part of the established U.S. defense network.

In the 1958 intervention in Lebanon, President Eisenhower dispatched 14,000 troops at the request of Lebanese President Camille Chamoun to end sectarian strife stirred in part by Chamoun's pro-West sympathies.

Eisenhower was afraid the government would be toppled and be replaced by a regime oriented toward Egypt and the Soviet Union. There was also fear violence in Lebanon could lead to overthrow of the pro-West monarchy in Jordan.

The presence of U.S. troops ended the domestic fighting and prepared the way for a peaceful transition to a new government. The troops who waded ashore on Lebanon's beaches on July 15 were withdrawn in October without ever having engaged in fighting.

In an analysis in a 1978 Brookings Institution publication entitled "Force Without War," Mideast expert William Quandt said, "Within Lebanon a volatile situation was brought under control after the arrival of U.S. forces."

The Brookings study cited more than 100 incidents in which the United States employed its armed forces for political purposes since World War II.

President Johnson ordered a helicopter landing by 500 Marines on April 28. By the time the U.S. buildup was completed on May 9, there were 23,000 troops in the country.

Nine indicted in drug scheme

DALLAS (AP) — A wealthy dairy farmer and eight other people have been indicted on drug smuggling charges in a case in which a witness was slain execution style, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael P. Heiskell.

Named in the indictments returned Wednesday were millionaire dairy farmer William Tate, 49, his son, Terry Tate, 30, both of Sulphur Springs; Ira E. Borchardt, 34, who now is in jail on other drug charges; Kenneth S. Collins, 34, Dallas; Danny R. Bently, 41, Garland; John Handy Jones, 38, Dallas; James P. Noone, 32, Fort Worth; Glenn M. Rice Jr., 35, Arlington, and Wayne M. Satterwhite, 36, of Elgin.

The nine are accused of conspiring to smuggle 3,700 pounds of marijuana into the United States from Mexico, Heiskell said.

Terry Tate, Borchardt, Collins, Rice and Bently are also accused of smuggling 100 pounds of cocaine into the United States from Mexico.

The federal prosecutor said Fred H. Schmidt, 32, of DeSoto, was named in the indictment as an unindicted co-conspirator. The bodies of Schmidt and his wife, Channa, 22, were found shot to death last Thursday in the trunk of a car in the Trinity River in southeast Dallas County.

Both had been shot twice in the head, execution style, officers said.

Learning how to relax

"Mental Health is for Everybody" is the slogan of the Mental Health Association this year. As President Reagan recently said, "a mentally healthy citizenry ranks high as a national goal."

It takes work for everybody to maintain good mental health in today's world of stress and tension. One of the ways to manage stress is to learn to relax more effectively. Here are a few tips from the Mental Health Association on learning to unwind and master the art of relaxation:

- 1. Relax by trying something new and different.
If you think you'll enjoy an activity — whether its needlepoint or racquetball — don't be afraid to try just because it's new. Take a night course at a community college. Learn to dance. Swim, jog, play softball. Become a gourmet cook. Shoot some hoops. Go for walks. Try ceramics. Take a bubble bath.
- 2. Do something every day.
Once you've hit on your favorite relaxation activities, give at least a half hour of your day to enjoying them. Set goals and live by them. Your mind and body can use a break — regularly.
- 3. Make a personal commitment to relaxation.
Whatever you choose to do for relaxation, give it everything you've got: don't hold back mentally or physically. Your own enthusiasm makes the activity even more satisfying.

THE SECRET to the art of relaxing is finding those activities which give you pleasure, and when pursuing them, committing all your energies to total mental and physical well being.

Around the Rim

By GREG JAKLEWICZ

Thinking ahead

The scene is 2:15 a.m., a quiet night in Anytown, USA, except for the 1000 block of Namesake Street. Bright red fire trucks screech around the corner and pull up in front of the residence of the U.S. Consumer and his family. The once beautiful home is now charred brick and huge orange flames.

As the hoses are unraveled and water spewes over the flames, Fire Chief Letzbee Brave pulls up and rushes over to Mr. Consumer. "Is everyone out of the house?"

"Yes. Thank goodness we even got Fido out from under the kitchen table," he answers. "But wait! I can't believe I've forgotten! In the den! We've got to get in..."

As he charges towards the house, Brave follows. "Who is it? Is it your Uncle Harry from Detroit? The exterminator? Your mother-in-law?"

"No it isn't a 'who'... Mr. Consumer gasps on the front porch. "It's my Sony Trinitron. We can't live without our Sony!"

Cut. That's a take. Print it, please.

AND SO THE American TV-watching public is ready for another commercial from Sony, the one and only. And Akio Morita, president and co-founder of the huge corporation, is ready to make a few more yen off this electronics-starved country.

Morita is the special interview in the copy of Playboy magazine (yes, there is something else inside besides color pictures). The interview proves especially interesting as Morita discusses what's wrong with our country's economy. In the traditional Japanese style, he is frank and to the point.

Morita and the brains that run Toyota, Datsun, Hitachi and other multi-billion dollar businesses in Japan are not among the most popular these days with the American businessman. U.S. industry has turned white in anger over how the Japanese have stolen their market and are putting our boys out of work.

He counters this verbal attack with few excuses or hurt feelings. "Why don't American people buy American products? Because of poor product planning. We make a great effort to find out what the Americans want."

And so Sony puts its energy into thinking ahead, seeing what is being used now and how it can be improved... seeing what works in one area and applying the technology to a new field... seeing that the business is run with efficiency so as to keep things moving ahead.

Morita recalls the time when the

"Made in Japan" label meant cheapness, much like the "Made in Hong Kong" title applies now. He set out to change that image by making superior products and keeping one step ahead of the competition.

He and partner Masaur Ibuka began working together after World War II when all Japanese industry had to start over. They started with tape recorders and were marginal in their success. Then they bought a patent on a transistorized hearing aid and applied it to the pocket radio. The rest of the story can be told in billions of dollars.

LOOKING AT American industry, he says companies have become too concerned with profits and not enough with moving ahead. He says Americans do not take risks in business, instead waiting for sure things documented in analyses and reports.

An example of the money-hungriness is the short term ideas from quarterly reports. The Japanese think in long terms.

The electronics field and auto business are assembly line operations. He says Americans lag behind "because the speed of working in America is a little bit slower" and "...in Japan, we think of a company as a family." Management and the worker co-exist better because the boss is not so much of a superior to the person that makes him money.

In recessionary times, the Japanese do not lay off workers. The company keeps them and absorbs the loss. "The recession is not the fault of the worker," he explains. "In Japan, management and labor trust each other as humans."

Another hindrance to American industry is the constant changing of hands. Japanese business is set up to be run for generations, growing on the basis of continuing education and past experience. He says this helps keep employees from jumping to the competition and blabbing all the secret formulas and such.

MORITA IS a world traveler as he conducts his business and sells his products. His observations of the struggling U.S. industry are so true, it's almost embarrassing. Morita is saying that until Americans quit sitting on their past accomplishments and start putting their brains to work again, we'll continue to have trade deficits and Japanese products all over the house and office.

Until then, we'll be saving Trinitron, Betamax or Walkman before we'll go for the General Electric or Motorola.

Search for missing POWs

WASHINGTON — Commandos are waiting to rescue their long-lost American comrades still being held prisoner in Southeast Asia. All they need is solid evidence of the missing men's whereabouts, and a go-ahead from the government.

President Reagan has promised to take whatever action is necessary to recover soldiers and airmen who are known to have survived years of captivity in Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia. Already, CIA-trained commandos have carried out one raid into Laos last year in search of American prisoners of war.

The CIA raiders made the foray after the Pentagon had studied refugee reports and aerial photographs. The photos showed human shadows that looked too large to be cast by Asians, and an arrangement of logs that appeared to spell out the number 52 on the ground.

At first the commandos were driven back by gunfire. But a month later, two of them managed to reach the camp and take pictures of the occupants. Unfortunately, not one was American, and there was no evidence to show that Americans had ever been held there.

Though that daring raid didn't pan out, the administration is prepared to follow up future leads. One source close to the situation told my associate Donald Goldberg: "It is a current capability. There are people capable of performing that function."

By presidential proclamation, tomorrow is National POW-MIA Recognition Day. The purpose is to remind the nation that there are still more than 2,000 American servicemen who have not been accounted for — more than seven years after the end of the Vietnam War — and that hundreds of them may still be alive.

THERE ARE SOME Americans who need no such reminder. They are the families of the missing men, holding their annual meeting in Washington this week. It is the 13th annual meeting of the POW-MIA families have held.

What nourishes their hope after all these years is the spate of eyewitness accounts of POW sightings in recent years, mostly from refugees who fled Southeast Asia. Just since 1979, the Pentagon has received 372 such accounts. Already this year, 31 witnesses have been interviewed, three of them claiming to have seen American prisoners alive within the last several months.

The State Department takes a skeptical view of these reports, on grounds that desperate refugees will say anything they think will get them into the United States. Yet most of the refugees who provided information were already living here, and had nothing to gain by concocting a story.

The Defense Intelligence Agency is convinced that Americans are still being held prisoner in Southeast Asia. French prisoners were held in Indochina for as long as 25 years before being released.

Yet the Pentagon is reluctant to make public the information it has on the missing Americans. Adm. E.A. Burkhalter, acting DIA director, explained that if the Vietnamese discovered that we knew of an American's whereabouts, they might take steps to rid themselves of the embarrassing evidence.

PRISON BEEF: Californians doing time in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., have accused Bureau of Prisons Director Norman Carlson of making them suffer so he can get a budget increase out of Congress. They also accuse him of having misstated prison population figures.

The unhappy prisoners have requested transfers to facilities closer to home because of overcrowding at El Reno. They claim Carlson has deliberately crammed the El Reno prison to justify his $394 million budget request for next year.

Carlson acknowledged to my reporter Pam Kripke that the overcrowding should make it easier to get his budget approved.

Carlson told Senate and House subcommittees that all four federal prison regions are equally overcrowded. Yet a subsequent Justice Department report lists an underpopulation rate of at least 2 percent at five West Coast prison facilities. And Carlson claimed an increase of 4,000 federal prisoners in the past year, despite Justice Department computer printouts that show an actual decrease of 1,000.

ABOVE THE LAW: Many Americans who have had their disability cut off by the Social Security Administration's review program are appealing their cases to SSA administrative law judges. But they're up against a stacked deck.

Simply put, the agency considers itself above the law as determined by federal courts. An internal agency document puts it baldly: "Federal courts do not run SSA's programs... Administrative law judges are responsible for applying the (Health and Human Services) Secretary's policies and guidelines, regardless of court decisions below the level of the Supreme Court."

EXECUTIVE MEMO: Labor Secretary Ray Donovan has put his suburban Washington townhouse up for sale for $235,000. He paid $215,000 cash for the house last year, and has never lived in it. His real estate agent is Antoinette Hatfield, wife of Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.

Billy Graham

Church is pretty dull

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you believe it is necessary for a person to go to church in order to be saved? I frankly find church pretty dull. — K.O.

DEAR K.O.: Let me say one thing as clearly as I can: It is Christ who saves us through his sacrificial death on the cross. No matter what good deeds we may try to perform to gain God's favor, they are never enough to overcome the problem of our sins. Only Christ can forgive us of our sins.

In other words, simply going to church will not win your salvation — important as church should be for a true believer. What does the Bible tell us about salvation? It tells us that we are separated from God because of our sins. It tells us also that God loves us, and he wants us to be reconciled to himself by having our sins taken away. And it tells us that this is possible because of what Christ has done for us.

How can we be saved? We can be saved in only one way — God's way. We can be saved by turning to Christ in repentance and faith, trusting him alone for our salvation. The Bible promises, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved" (Acts 16:31). That is why the most important step for you to take right now is to invite Christ to come into your life by faith. When you do that, God himself comes into your life and you become a child of God in a very personal sense. As the Bible says, "To all who received him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God" (John 1:12).

Once you come to Christ, then you not only are a child of God but you are also part of his family — sharing in the blessings of God with all others who are his children by faith in Christ. It may be that the reason you find church so uninteresting is that you do not really understand what it means to belong to Christ. But if you will turn to Christ, I believe you will discover a new desire to have fellowship with other believers, and a hunger for the Word of God.

O.I.L. welders are praised

Dear Editor,

I am writing to commend you for the nice article about the contract welders' turn-out for Sam Kirby's funeral service in the Tuesday, June 29 Herald. All too often these welders are treated much like "second class" citizens in Big Spring, and I hope that their loyalty and generosity has proven to all what a fine bunch of men they truly are.

I do not know of many companies whose employees would band together to pay for a fellow worker and friend's funeral expenses and continue to help the family afterward. What a fine feeling to be able to remark "we are a family out there," as Sam was able to say to his wife about the donations before his death.

More than being a family at O.I.L., these men are a part of God's family. I know that there are to be no tears in heaven, but I feel sure God allowed Sam one tear as they stood together looking down at the touching tribute to him. This showing of friends for such a fine man must have been part of his reward for a job well done as a faithful servant.

Sam touched the lives of my family both directly and indirectly, as he must have touched the lives of many for so many to have participated in his memorial.

I know that God has a great blessing in store for each one who contributed not only money, but respect, love, and loyalty, and I feel that the city of Big Spring and its people owe these men a grain of respect and praise.

Congratulations O.I.L., you employ a fine group of welders.

May God Bless Each One of You Richly,

Get off the team

The most repeated reason given for Al Haig's resignation is that he wasn't a "team player." For the Reagan administration this is a cardinal sin. But what does it really mean?

I went down into the White House locker room to talk to a member of the staff.

"I guess it won't be the same old club without Big Al," I said to him as he was bent over tying his shoe.

"We can play without him," my friend said. "Nobody is indispensable on this squad except the Gipper."

"I'm going to miss Big Al," I said. "He added a lot of life to this town. He may have had a short fuse, but to me I'll always remember him as 'The Vicar.'"

"You sportswriters never did know what was going on. Do you know when Al first came on the team, the Gipper was down here taking a shower, and Al handed him a game plan spelling out his own position?"

"I didn't know that," I admitted. "Haig insisted on calling all the signals but no one ever understood a word he said."

"But the Gipper liked him, didn't he?"

"The Gipper likes everybody unless you wake him up when he's sleeping. But the Gipper had to do something. The team was fighting among themselves and the fans didn't know what was going on. So they blamed it on the Gipper because he's supposed to be the captain of the team."

"Let me ask you the big question. Did Big Al jump, or was he pushed?"

"It was a little of both," the Reagan team player said. "We knew we had a problem on our hands early in the season when the Gipper got hurt in a game, and Big Al rushed up to the press box and announced that he was in charge. We couldn't believe it when we saw the films on TV. If we were confused, you can imagine what it did to the fans and other coaches in the league."

"Al gave us a lot to write about," I said regretfully. "The man had charisma."

"He also had a helluva temper. Every time we got in a huddle, he threatened to walk off the field if he didn't get the ball."

"Some of the sportswriters wrote the reason that Big Al was axed was that Cap Weinberger kept tripping him."

"There was no love lost between Cap and Big Al, but Haig antagonized everyone in Gipper's backfield, and pretty soon no one would block for him. They wouldn't even pick him up when he fell down."

"I noticed that. It was one of the reasons he was such good copy."

"I'll tell you what really did Big Al in. Remember when we all went over to play in the Summit Bowl at Versailles? Well, first Al kept complaining about his room. When the game started, the Gipper wanted to hit all the NATO teams hard for playing ball with the Russians. But Big Al kept electing to pass. Then he fumbled on a crucial third down play at the United Nations, and finally when Israel started running all over Lebanon, Al announced on his own he was going down to referee the game. The Gipper wouldn't let him go, so he sulked for the rest of the trip."

"But doesn't the Gipper look bad when he fires the only guy on his team who seemed to know the score?"

"Al lacked the killer instinct. He talked tough, but he was never one to hit the Kremlin head-on. Every time someone on the team suggested throwing the long bomb, Al talked the Gipper into trying to gain a few yards on the ground."

"In Al's position, he had to do that."

"You don't win the big ones if you're not willing to use the bomb," the White House man said.

"I guess Cap Weinberger will have a lot more to say about calling the plays."

"The Gipper likes Cap's style, and we're going to put all our strategy into defense."

"Which means there is more chance of using the bomb?"

"I'm not saying. We'd be crazy to give our game plan away in an election year."

White criticism of record, he's fighting

By GARLAND
 State News Service
 WASHINGTON — Rep. James Collins, who is challenging incumbent Democrat Lloyd Bentsen for the House seat in Texas this November, is criticized for having passed a bill in the House even though he introduced it in the Senate alone.

JIM COLLINS
 Full of confidence

Collins said his legislation would fare better in the Republican-controlled Senate.

In the early rounds of political maneuvering, Collins has been haunted by a bill he introduced last year that would limit senators and the president to one six-year term. Now that he is running for the Senate himself, the six-year limit has apparently looked less appealing and he is considering withdrawing the bill.

THOUGH HE still is "a strong believer" in a six-year term for the president, Collins said he consulted with advisers and now disagrees with the limitation on senators.

"I've found that the sentiment in Texas is to (run) every six years and see where you stand," he said.

Other recent Collins legislation would limit the regulatory authority of the Federal Trade Commission and speed up congressional consideration of an anti-busing bill.

for the sale of phone equipment, the primary product of APC Industries where Collins is the majority stockholder.

Much of Collins' wealth is based on stock holdings, but he said he has abstained from debate on an issue only one time before during a vote on a bill allowing people to own gold.

"I owned interest in a gold mine," he explained.

Collins said the telecommunications subcommittee is one of his primary interests in the House, although his greater concentration has been in the subcommittee for fossil fuels.

"COLLINS HAS been very active on energy issues," said a committee staff member. "Generally, his views are extremely representative of his district," he said noting that decontrol of natural gas has been a primary concern Collins introduced a bill to deregulate natural gas last year, though it was overshadowed to some degree by the decontrol bill authored by Rep. Phil Gramm, D-College Station, also a member of the subcommittee.

"He spends a lot of time applauding those goals (for decontrol)," the staff member said.

One lobbyist on energy for a well-known consumer group said Collins is not taken as seriously as some other congressmen on the conservative aide or energy issues.

"I don't think Collins is very effective with the Energy Action Project," said Edwin Rothechild with the Energy Action Project. "He's far more ideological than practical especially in the committee process. Coming from Texas, Collins alienates a lot more people (on energy) than he brings together."

Collins is fond of citing his high ratings by conservative groups and of comparing his rating with that of Bentsen. The American Conservative Union in 1980 gave him a 85 percent rating, and Bentsen a rating of 86 percent.

Collins also has taken some editorial heat from one of his hometown newspapers for his work on the Energy and Commerce Committee, where he serves on the subcommittee for telecommunications as well as fossil and synthetic fuels.

The Dallas Republican is abstaining from debate on one of the more controversial bills ever to come before the telecommunications subcommittee — an attempt to alter the terms of a government settlement breaking up the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Collins, who is ranking Republican on the subcommittee, cites his ownership of stock in APC Industries, based in Austin, as a reason for not participating though he did take part in debate on similar legislation two years ago. A Dallas newspaper and other critics have said Collins intends to avoid the issue in an election year under protection of a conflict of interest.

A Collins aide handling the bill for the congressman said Collins is not involving himself this time because the current bill would open new markets office has been "largely eliminated," and, "They have confidence in us once again."

He also listed a rebuilding of the nation's defenses as a foreign policy achievement.

He didn't explain, and no one asked, how efforts in the Falklands and the Middle East that ended in war can be considered successes.

In fact, there are those who believe that U.S. inattention to the problems in the Mideast contributed to the conflict there. Sol Linowitz, who was president Carter's chief Mideast negotiator, has said the administration lost valuable time by not following up on the Camp David peace process promptly upon taking office.

Were the Argentines encouraged in their effort to capture the Falklands by the administration's moves to improve relations with a military regime that the Carter administration had found reprehensible because of its human rights practices?

Did the presence of U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick and High State Department officials at a reception at the Argentine Embassy on the very night of the invasion of the Falklands perhaps suggest to the Argentines that the administration didn't disapprove all that much?

Reagan's statement that relations are improved with Europe comes against the background of dismay in Western Europe over the administration's decision to threaten sanctions against U.S. allies if they try to use U.S.-licensed equipment to help build a Soviet natural gas pipeline to Europe.

A senior U.S. official who is an expert in U.S.-European relations thinks Reagan didn't realize the adverse impact of his decision on the Europeans, who feel the pipeline is important to them economically.

Reagan set easy foreign policy standards for Shultz

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's listing of his foreign policy successes has surprised a few people. But one nice thing is they set a standard that shouldn't be too hard for the incoming secretary of state, George P. Shultz, to beat.

"We've had great successes in a number of areas," Reagan said, and then listed them as follows:

—The Sinai peninsula was returned to Egypt by Israel as provided under the 1978 Camp David peace accords.

—Eleven months of cease-fire in Lebanon because of the "herculean efforts" of Philip C. Habib, Reagan's special Mideast peace envoy.

—The "superhuman job" by outgoing Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. to try to keep the peace between Argentina and Britain in the Falkland Islands.

—"Great progress" toward achieving independence for Namibia from South Africa.

—The "disarray with our European allies" which existed when he took

The two students won the trip through an essay contest conducted by the lodges and they will go on the annual "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth" which Odd Fellows and Rebekahs have sponsored for the past 32 years.

Diana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Jones of 1709 Harvard and George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bancroft of 1729 Yale, will depart on their trip July 12 from Irving and return July 27.

The 16-day trip will include four days in Washington D.C. where the students will visit the Smithsonian Institute, the White House and other historical monuments. The group will spend six days at the United Nations after which they will cross the Peace Bridge to Canada.

While at the U.N. Diana and George will compete in a speech contest from which two overall winners, a boy and girl, will be selected to attend the Sovereign Grand Lodge in San Antonio when it meets in the fall. The contest winner will receive a four-year college scholarship paid for by the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows.

Dr. Donohue

Lymph blockage causes swelling

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was having swellings in my right ankle, and it was finally diagnosed as lymphedema. I was told there was nothing to be done for this problem. I still have the swelling. Would you please explain what caused it and what, if anything, can be done for it? — D.P.

Lymphedema can easily be broken down into its two basic parts — lymph and edema. Most people know what edema is. It means swelling. The other part of the word, lymph, requires some explanation.

It begins with the blood, which, as you know, is part fluid and part other constituents — cells, etc. The fluid part of the blood has to be able to leak out of the blood vessels in order to bathe the body's cells. The fluid is the lymph.

After the lymph has done its work for the cells, it has to find a way to get back into the circulation from where it came. It does this by another network of vessels. The network is called the lymphatics. They act as a network of siphons, vacuuming up the excess lymph. If that network is disturbed locally there is a backup of lymph. It stays in the tissues and there is edema — the swelling.

Many times the cause of swelling cannot be pinpointed. Sometimes, there may be scarring from an old infection, and that may cause lymph blockage. There may be a growth interfering with normal network efficiency; again, swelling. If these have been ruled out, you have things you can do to help reduce the swelling. You can wear elastic stockings, and you can elevate your legs above heart level when you lie down. Massage can help get the fluid back into circulation, and there are even pneumatic devices to help.

You may not be able to find a cause or a cure for your lymphedema, but you should be able to control things. Incidentally, now that you know you have this problem, you should be sure to let your doctor know whenever you get an infection in your leg. When an area is affected by lymphedema, an infection there can spread quickly. It requires prompt treatment.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have had angina quite bad. I recently read of a new drug for this, called nifedipine. Have you any information about it? Is it effective? — M.C.

Yes, nifedipine is helpful in treatment of angina pectoris. It works by preventing the blood vessels serving the heart from squeezing down, thus providing effective circulation. The drug also acts by keeping the heart's work at minimum, again easing angina symptoms that way.

Nifedipine is a drug totally different from the nitroglycerine medicines we usually think of when we think of angina. That acts by relaxing muscles, and hence blood vessels, to encourage better circulation.

Most "new" drugs are often only variations of existing ones.

Parents can help children during teen years

COLLEGE STATION — Your nine-year-old may be experiencing the first sparks of his life's philosophy or religious faith.

Your 11-year-old may be establishing character traits she will keep for life.

Ages 9-13, the "in-between" years, are busy ones, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

Parents should pay attention to their "in-betweeners" and help with the special tasks this age group faces, she says.

Mrs. Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"In-betweeners" have special characteristics and feelings. It's important that parents understand these, Mrs. Welch advises. During "in-between years," children may begin to reject adults — or feel that adults have rejected them. They may treat the opposite sex with scorn. And they may look at their own age and sex group as being very important.

Developmental tasks during ages 9-13 concentrate on moral, philosophical and social activities, Mrs. Welch explains.

During these years, both boys and girls need help from parents with these tasks, the specialist stresses.

Parents can help their "in-betweeners" with the following important tasks: become self-directing (doing the "right" thing without being told), form moral judgments, establish character traits, develop a beginning philosophy or religious faith, establish relationships with peers, and participate in group and community activities.

Parents can help their youth during these years in numerous major ways, Mrs. Welch says. Here are her suggestions:

When children behave as children, adults should act like adults. Children feel more secure with mature, responsible adults. Respect your "in-betweeners" as growing individuals — not as babies or adults but as they are.

Use good judgement in timing "discussions" — and punishments.

Take time and trouble to provide natural outlets for individual and group activity.

Have faith and confidence in your child's growing independence.

Act consistently and as fairly as possible without unreasonable irritation.

Remember, each child is an individual — with his or her own set of needs.

Know that children have feelings and emotions that need positive outlets.

Rebekah lodge to install officers

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 will have an installation of new officers July 13 with Myrtle Gring, District Deputy and her team in charge. The installation is formal and members are urged to come.

The July refreshment committee consisting of Lillian Rhyne, Mildred Collins, Mrs. Gring, Iva

Kenney, Ruth McNew and Shirley Wilson. The committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, to decorate.

Mrs. Gring and her installing team will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. to practice.

The lodge also had a meeting July 6 with Olean Melton, Noble Grand, presiding.

Respect children's desires to be a part of their own age group.

Avoid comparisons with other children.

Find ways for your child to know how much you love him or her.

Finally, remember this: happy memories, good times and smooth transition into various life stages is what we all desire.

Dear Abby

Politics make strained bedfellows

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our 70s, on a retirement income and with a few health problems. My husband made a contribution to the political party of his choice during the election-year campaign, and now he is being solicited by every political cause, as well as every candidate running for Congress and even minor offices. We get letters by the boxful requesting contributions for any number of political causes — all marked "Urgent."

When our CPA made our tax returns in April, my husband had contributed over $500 (without my knowledge), of which only $200 was deductible. This made me furious because we can't afford it.

I tried to talk to him about this, but it did no good. I even tried to keep some of that mail from him, but now he goes to the post office and picks it up there.

We even get long-distance telephone calls soliciting money for political causes and candidates. I am worried sick because at this rate my husband will have spent all our savings; then what will happen to us?

GOING BROKE

DEAR GOING: Tell your accountant that your husband tunes you out when you tell him he's spending too much on political causes, so he (the accountant) should get that message to him. (P.S. I hope you're both supporting the party that best takes care of its poor and elderly, because they could be you.)

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the woman who was invited to a bridal shower to be held in a church hall: The invitation read, "Dresses only, please." Her problem — she didn't even own a skirt or dress, but she had a "presentable" pantsuit.

I think it's absolutely gross that a woman would brag that she didn't even own a skirt or dress. She should simply decline the shower invitation and stay home. An "R.S.V.P." invitation does not obligate one to explain the reason for declining. Besides, her explanation would serve only to indicate that she is an ill-mannered clod to even consider coming to a church wearing pants.

APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: Before condemning all women who opt for pants instead of skirts, consider this: There are women who suffer from psoriasis — a chronic skin condition causing unsightly red patches on the legs. Then there are women who wear leg braces. In such cases, long skirts, pants or pajama outfits are a blessing.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very difficult decision to make concerning my dog, Sheba, a 7-year-old Great Dane who has been with me since her birth. She is getting old and set in her ways and she has bad hips.

I feel I would be betraying her if I sent her to "the great bound heaven in the sky," but I don't want to wake up some morning and find a 165-pound dead animal in my house. If I give her away, I know she will die of a broken heart. She's like a member of the family, but something has to be done. Should I have her put to sleep?

ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR ANIMAL LOVER: A veterinarian can tell you if Sheba's "bad hips" are giving her pain, and if they can be surgically repaired.

If Sheba can be kept alive without discomfort, keep her and love her — as she does you.

"The Best of Dear Abby," featuring Abby's best answers and favorite responses during the past 25 years, is now available. You can obtain a copy of this new best-selling book by sending $9.95 plus $1 for postage and handling to "The Best of Dear Abby," in care of the Big Spring Herald, 4400 Johnson Dr., Fairway, Kan. 66205. Local film offices set up

Lone Star State attracting filmmakers

By STEVE BREWER
Associated Press Writer

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Dale Lockett of the local tourist bureau was knocking on the doors of Hollywood movie studios when he met Yoram Ben-Ami, an Israeli producer with a film script set in El Paso.

"We didn't have a deal set with anybody," recalls Ben-Ami. "I liked the way they urged us to come here and offered all the help. That was the lead to bring us here for the locations. Then we started to fall in love with El Paso."

"If we needed something that wasn't here, we changed the script a bit to fit."

Ben-Ami now is shooting "Lone Wolf," a low-budget adventure film starring karate champ Chuck Norris, in El Paso — an activity that will pump more than $1 million into the local economy.

Lockett is the director of the El Paso Film Liaison, a branch of the city's Convention and Visitors Bureau, and his work to attract filmmakers to the city is being duplicated across the Lone Star State.

"A few years ago, the only city that had a local film commission was Los Angeles," Lockett said. "It's still pretty rare, but this year, there's been an increase in the number of cities that have them."

Texas is leading the trend toward local film offices. Lockett said offices now are open in Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Laredo, Abilene and Marshall.

"Texas consistently ranks third (in filmmaking) in the country behind Hollywood and New York," said Dana Shelton, assistant director of the Texas Film Commission. "The future of production in Texas, we feel, is very strong."

The reason for the growth is a trend that is taking moviemakers off the studio backlots and sending them tramping around the country in search of the proper location.

"There are a number of reasons for the move to location production," Shelton said. "One is the availability of lightweight, portable equipment. There's the desire to get away from the watchful eyes of the studio and get to a remote location. Third, with more sophisticated viewers, you have to have authentic locations."

That's where the local film offices become involved, Lockett said.

"We offer them a staff that can go out and do the legwork and look for an actual location and save the production company a lot of money," he said. "It takes a lot of the load off them. We can do in one day what it would take them a week to do."

Ben-Ami said shooting on location in El Paso actually saves him money because he doesn't have to invest in the construction of sets needed on the backlots.

"By using practical locations that are cheaper than Hollywood or anywhere else, you can allow yourself to pay most of the money to actors, stars," he said. "You can put your money on the screen."

Lockett also acts as liaison between the film company and the city, arranging police and fire department cooperation for certain scenes and making sure the company keeps its promises.

"The only way to compete is to make things very easy and uncomplicated," Ben-Ami said. "The local people — like the extras — are terrific. Everybody's anxious to work."

El Pasoans are adjusting to the city's new-found status as a location area. Since the film office opened five years ago, the city has hosted an average of two movies a year, plus a number of on-location television commercials, Lockett said. Titles include "The Border," "The Getaway," "Wrong is Right" and "Resurrection."

Lockett said the city has been rewarded by the economic benefits of hosting the production companies, with millions of dollars going to hotels, carpenters, extras and supply houses.

"There's also the intangible benefits on tourism and the way people look at the city," he said.

Lockett said there was a tremendous outcry from the community after "The Border" was released because the Jack Nicholson film showed only the seamier side of El Paso. But he says "Lone Wolf" may change all that.

"Lone Wolf" has the potential of really doing good for the city," he said. "The key ingredients for having a good movie for El Paso are there."

The movie features Norris as a maverick Texas Ranger who does battle with bad guy David Carradine. The locations range from desert scenes to a car chase in the downtown area.

Skyride lawsuit settled

DALLAS (AP) — Lawsuits filed by relatives of the man killed in the 1979 Swiss skyride accident at the State Fair of Texas have been settled with the family receiving a total of $6.1 million.

The wife and three daughters of Fred Millard, who died when the gondola car plunged to the fair's midway, won a $5.1 million award in state court Wednesday from the operator of ride, Steck and Staph Attractions.

Sandra Millard agreed on Tuesday to a $1 million settlement of her separate lawsuit against the fair and the ride's manufacturer, Von Roll Ltd.

State District Judge Charles Ben Howell awarded Mrs. Millard $2.4 million of the suit against Steck and Staph. The remaining $2.7 million was awarded to the three daughters.

Millard was the only person killed when a gondola car from the ride that spans the fairgrounds fell during the 1979 state fair. Seventeen others were injured, including Mrs. Millard and two of her daughters, Roxanne and Renee.

Howell awarded $900,000 to Roxanne, $875,000 to Renee and $925,000 to Robin, the third daughter, who was not injured in the accident.

Mrs. Millard's lawyer, Wendle Turley, submitted depositions to Howell's court from her doctor who said the woman suffered from severe grief.

The doctors said she has been unable to cope with stress and family problems arising from the accident, and has been unable to work because of a back injury related to the skyride fall.

Mineral

rights case

won by state

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State officials have won a ruling from a state district judge that could bring billions of dollars to state coffers from mineral royalties on public school lands.

Attorney General Mark White said the ruling Wednesday could have far-reaching effects.

The precedent established by the decision in this lawsuit could involve billions of dollars in royalties to the state, said a release from White's office.

Judge Charles Mathews ruled the state retained its right to mineral royalties when it sold a Webb County tract in 1907. Mathews said the state and the Public Free School Fund should receive the royalties from coal and lignite at the 817-acre tract.

White said a ruling against the state would have meant the state and the school fund would have been deprived of mineral rights from 7.3 million acres of state land.

The Webb County tract brought in royalties of $344,613 during the past two years. White said it eventually could bring royalties of up to $3 million.

UNLICENSED — Nightclub owner Klaus Lehman of Phoenix, Ariz., stands in front of the auto license plates customers have been trading for free drinks, a policy he began when he learned that Arizona would be switching from requiring two plates per vehicle to only one. But what he learned only recently is that authorities now are saying car owners must retain that second plate if they were issued two originally.

Two physicians jailed, 3rd sought on rape charge

BOSTON (AP) — Two physicians convicted of raping a nurse were in prison today, while a third doctor convicted in the case was being hunted as a fugitive who may have fled the country. Superior Court Judge James McGuire refused to allow the two defendants who showed up in court Wednesday to remain free pending further appeal. Defense attorneys tried to get the state Supreme Court to order a rehearing or to hold up sentencing, but the high court refused both requests without comment. Another effort in federal court was expected today.

The defendants are Drs. Arif Hussain, 31, a native of Pakistan who lives in Waterbury, Conn.; Alan Lefkowitz, 30, of Brookline, Mass.; and Eugene Sherry, 27, a New Zealander who had been living in New York. Sherry failed to appear and an arrest warrant was issued. He previously had notified the district attorney's office that he would be unable to attend because of an illness in the family.

The Boston Herald American reported today that officials, fearing Sherry may have fled to New Zealand, plan to question Sherry's friends and his fiancée, Ann Blanche. Although Sherry's passport has been revoked, officials speculate he may have obtained an illegal passport or fled to Canada, the newspaper said. Arguing Wednesday against a stay of sentence for the other two doctors, Traft said, "Any further stay would only encourage the two defendants...to follow Mr. Sherry's lead and leave the country." Hussain and Lefkowitz were taken to the maximum-security Walpole State Prison, according to Correction Department spokesman Joe Landolfi.

The three had been sentenced to three to five years in prison with all but six months suspended following their June 10, 1981, conviction for raping a registered nurse in the Rockport summer home of Lefkowitz' parents.

Assistant District Attorney Michael Traft asked McGuire Wednesday to revoke the stay and order the start of imprisonment.

When Sherry failed to show up, Traft demanded an arrest order, saying the action showed "an incredible arrogance."

$15,000 stolen from armored car

McMURRAY, Pa. (AP) — The white-faced, baggy-clothed clowns at the shopping center amused children and parents alike, but the laughter ended when the performers abruptly pulled guns on armored car guards and made off with $15,000.

"Apparently they were very good clowns," FBI spokesman Jeff Kimball said after Wednesday's heist. "They were entertaining kids and their parents for some time as they waited for the guards to come out."

The two clowns were performing for children in the Donaldson's Crossroads Shopping Center parking lot when the guards from Landmark Security Transport Inc. of Pittsburgh walked from a Mellon Bank branch at 1:30 p.m., Kimball said.

The clowns then approached "in a humorous fashion" and pulled out a sawed-off shotgun and a handgun, surprising the drivers, he said.

The costumed robbers were then joined by a man in street clothes, and the three forced the guards into the front of the armored car.

After binding the guards' eyes, mouth and hands with tape, the three men then drove for a short distance, ran the van off the road, down an embankment and into a tree, Kimball said. The guards were unhurt and freed themselves "within a very short time" after the gunmen fled, he said.

Mellon Bank spokeswoman Denise Davis said the guards had just dropped off a customer's night deposit bags when the heist occurred in the Washington County community of Peters Township, about 15 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

Sands voters to decide $2.3 million bond

ACKERLY — Residents of the Sands Independent School District may hold the district's fate in their hands Saturday when they go to the polls to decide on a $2.3 million bond issue to renovate school facilities.

The renovation project includes five new classrooms, lighting improvements, electrical wiring changes, plumbing additions, heating and cooling alternations and other items, according to Superintendent James Blake.

The need for improvement stems from an October visit to the school district by a Texas Education Agency accreditation team, Blake said. Without TEA accreditation schools may not operate. Blake said the team cited the school facilities as the main thing requiring upgrading.

Voters wishing to cast ballots may do so from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Saturday at the Paymaster Gin in the Brown community.

Despite developments, life is simple in northern Canada

By BRUCE BARTLEY
Associated Press Writer

TUKTOYATUK, Northwest Territories (AP) — Draped over the spar of an old sailing vessel sitting high and frozen dry are the hides of a freshly killed polar bear and musk oxen.

Two teen-age natives hack chunks of frozen fish with a rusty machete. A rope stretching from a house to a nearby light pole sags beneath the weight of drying fox pelts.

From outward appearances at least, the subsistence lifestyle is continuing quite nicely in Canada's Northwest Territories.

It's a sunny, relatively warm day at Tuktoyatuk, a village of about 800 located at the head of Kugmallit Bay, north and east of the mouth of the massive Mackenzie River, about 200 miles east of the Alaskan border.

In the native tongue of Inuktitut, Tuktoyatuk roughly translates into "the shape of a caribou." To most it's known simply as "Tuk."

It serves as the principal staging area for oil exploration in the Canadian portion of the Beaufort Sea, and as such it exhibits the bizarre paradoxes common when sophisticated technology is superimposed on simpler cultures.

Modern houses sport reindeer antlers and musk oxen horns from their roofs. Shiny new snow machines sit in front of log cabins weathered gray over the decades.

From the runway used by sleek corporate jets, bulky freight sleds can be seen awaiting the tug of a team of howling huskies. The local reindeer herder tools down the only main street in a shiny new blue Cadillac.

The two teen-agers are too bashful to talk about another polar bear hide on a nearby pole, other than to say it was bagged about a month ago by one of the boys' fathers. Intimidated by the questions and cameras of reporters, the boys fade away.

One little girl asks — no, demands — that visitors take her picture. Another, too shy to pose, wants to see the results immediately. Polaroid isn't unheard of here.

At a sandy drilling pad swelling above the Beaufort's thick ice, Sam Tack says hunting and trapping are still good in the area despite oil exploration activity. Tack is a "bear monitor" for Esso Resources Canada Ltd.

Bear monitor is an industry euphemism for guard. Tack is one of two natives who work 12-hour shifts at the site to keep unwary roughnecks from getting eaten by the thousand-pound polar bears that roam the nearby ice pressure ridges in search of seals.

A scarred 30-06 rifle with iron sights slung across his shoulders, Tack says he hasn't had to shoot away any of the fat white bears this year. But he says that last year he saw six around the rigs where he works for two weeks at a time before taking two weeks off.

When he's off, Tack is a hunter, a whaler and a trapper.

He says he's killed 16 polar bears in his almost 60 years in the Arctic. He and his two brothers killed three in one day, he says, after a bear ate three of Tack's puppies.

He says trapping is good and there are lots of ringed seals.

The airborne visitor has to take his word for it. Visibility is marginal even just a few hundred feet above the ground in the vibrating helicopter. Looking ahead gives the impression of flying through a bowl of old milk. Only occasional glimpses of lightly mottled snow below give any hint of which way is up.

The chopper wheels back over ships of all sizes and configurations locked in the harbor ice, waiting for the brief but glorious summer.

The winds sweeping ashore pack powder snow around a picket fence, leaving just the tops of the cemetery crosses barely peeking above the drifts.

There are plenty of roads now because the thick ice will support travel almost anywhere. But when breakup comes, the only way to get to Esso's base camp on the edge of town will be by boat or plane.

It purposely was built apart, an oil company official says. "That's the way the villagers wanted it."

British commuters make do

LONDON (AP) — Showing traditional stuff upper lip to solve most British commuters are getting to and from work despite a five-day-old national rail strike that has cut service to less than 12 percent of normal.

The expertise people are steadily acquiring is a remarkable story of human ingenuity and adaptability," the London Times said as commuters worked staggered hours, shared cars, slept in offices or the homes of friends and stayed glued to radio stations to find out when rare trains were running.

Traffic began building on approach roads into London early today in a repeat of the seven-mile jams that formed Wednesday, and again there was standing room only on subways, buses and those trains that were running.

Many drivers have become experts in using the maze of side streets in and around the capital to dodge the worst traffic jams.

Press reports today said executives of British Rail are expected to cancel earlier plans to shut down the 11,000-mile state-run network from next Sunday until the end of the strike by engineers.

OPEC considers output ceiling

By LORRAINE CICHOWSKI
AP Business Writer

Venezuela's oil minister is threatening to break OPEC's production-sharing agreement if other countries continue to violate a pact to produce no more than 17.5 million barrels a day total.

Meanwhile, a top U.S. official says foreign steel imports can't be blamed for all the problems facing the domestic steel industry.

Humberto Calderon Berti, the Venezuelan oil minister, told reporters Wednesday that at least three members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries are violating individual production quotas agreed on last March. He spoke after a special meeting of an OPEC committee.

All 13 OPEC ministers are scheduled to meet Friday in a special session to consider the committee's recommendation that they maintain the current total output ceiling of 17.5 million barrels a day.

Addressing the problem of the depressed U.S. steel industry, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige told reporters that the economy and low productivity — not imports — are mostly to blame.

Baldrige, however, left for Brussels, Belgium, to discuss with Common Market officials the problem of European steel being sold in the United States more cheaply than domestic companies can produce it. The Commerce Department ruled last month that seven European countries were subsidizing exports to the United States in violation of U.S. law.

"Imports are not the chief cause of the steel industry's problems," Baldrige said. "They are one contributing cause. The chief causes are the generally bad state of the economy and low productivity."

Steel industry officials declined to comment on Baldrige's statements, but in the past they have said elimination of unfair imports would resolve nearly all their difficulties. Baldrige has said the U.S. steel industry could lose up to $1 billion in each remaining quarter of the year.

In related news, McLouth Steel Corp. received a 30-day extension on a financing agreement that has kept it in business since December. That will allow the company to continue its blast furnace operations until Aug. 31 and its manufacturing operations until Sept. 25.

McLouth has filed for protection from its creditors under federal bankruptcy laws.

In other economic news: —A negotiator with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said his 40,000-member union will strike this weekend over a contract dispute unless President Reagan intervenes. Negotiations with the rail lines broke down May 26.

Thursday Notes

Kelly Rogers is back from Colorado. What's that? He's gone again? Off to Oklahoma, right? Already been there, eh. Going to Fort Benning, Ga., maybe? Say, that's news.

If his teachers ask him to write a "What I Did During My Summer Vacation" paper, Rogers may have to divide it into volumes rather than into chapters.

After coming back from a highly successful two weeks at the U.S. Olympic training center in Colorado Springs, Rogers took off for Oklahoma and won another pick-up load of trophies and stuff. When he got back home, he stayed long enough to check the mailbox.

In it he found a letter from the Amateur Trapshooting Association inviting him to the U.S. International Shooting Championships at Fort Benning in late August. It wasn't only an invitation, but they would grant him $5,000 to make the trip.

The offer was made to junior amateurs Rogers, Fred Nagel, Mike Slonkosky and Don Trimble, all of whom were at the Olympic two-week program. They were selected for the invitational by ATA president Elwood R. Brown.

Rogers hasn't decided on whether he'll make the trip but is leaning heavily towards it. It would be a great way to end the summer and perhaps a great start towards a berth on the U.S. team in 1984.

***
Basketball trivia time. Who was the star of the Howard College Hawks in 1978? Who dominated the conference scoring wars from Howard in 1976?

If you answered Russell Sublet and Marvin Johnson, you've won a free handshake from the writer of this column.

Sublet and Johnson, two of HC's greatest players, were in the area recently. They were in Abilene over the past weekend trying to land positions on a 10-man basketball team that would participate in a California league for free agents, pros and such.

A total of 28 hopefuls attended the BPI Southwest Pro Tryout Camp at Hardin-Simmons and 10 made the team including Sublet and Johnson. HC coach Harold Wilder was on hand to coach and instruct and reports both players looked good, very good.

Sublet went on to Tulsa after he left Howard while Johnson starred at New Mexico. Both were their team's leading scorers during junior and senior seasons. Now both have a shot at pro careers.

***
"All the marbles... Dallas Cowboys." We all know that Dallas is going to be in the Super Bowl this year but it's even more assuring when an outside source thinks so too.

The quote above is from Anson Mount, the famous football forecaster for Playboy magazine.

As Anson sees things, Atlanta will be back this year to unseat the 49ers as NFC West champs. Tampa Bay will rule the Central while Dallas will take the East. In the AFC, it's Miami in the East, Cincinnati in the Central and San Diego in the West.

Dallas and Miami will advance to the Big Game and the Cowboys will take it all.

Included on the Pre-Season All-Pro team is guard Herbert Scott, running back Tony Dorsett and placekicker Rafael Septien representing the Cowboys on offense. On defense, there's only Randy White but he's enough.

Now I'm waiting for Anson to predict whether there will be a pro football season at all. Right now he's unsure, as we all are.

***
The Big Spring Golf Association July Partnership is scheduled Saturday and Sunday at Comanche Trails.

Entry fee is $60 per team and must be turned in by 6 p.m. Friday for the weekend tournament. It will be "Make Your Own Foursome" Saturday with tee-times and flights set up after that day's round for Sunday.

Prizes will be gift certificates to the winners.

Rogers takes 'em in Oklahoma

Big Spring senior takes trap honors

EL RENO, OKLA. — Big Spring's Kelly Rogers, just back from two weeks of instruction in international trapshooting, returned to the American style and won top out-of-state honors at the Oklahoma State Trap Championship Tournament held here July 1-4.

In his first event, Rogers nailed all 100 targets to win the Class AA Open Championship. He followed that with a 91x100 effort to win Class B honors in doubles. That performance moved him up to Class A competition for the state championship.

He hit 96x100 in Open Class Singles to win the Junior Championship and was the middle yardage champion with 94x100 in the President's Handicap. The state championship events finished off the competition and Rogers won out-of-state honors in all three events. In singles, he nailed 195x200 targets to finish as Junior Champion; in doubles, he broke 96x100 birds for Class A honors; and in the handicap event, he hit 97x100 to take Junior Championship laurels.

His performance in the handicap event forces him to move back to 25 yards. He had been shooting from 24 yards and has his sights set on the 27-yard limit for this year.

Rogers is a senior at Big Spring High School and only recently won 10 awards at the Texas State Championships held in Amarillo.

Eckersley to start for AL stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Dennis Eckersley will start and relief ace Dan Quisenberry of Kansas City and Rolie Fingers of Milwaukee are being counted on for late-inning support when the American League tries to halt a 10-year dry spell in the major league baseball All-Star game.

They head the eight-man AL pitching staff selected today. Oakland Manager Billy Martin and AL President Lee MacPhail also chose two other bullpen specialists, Mark Clear of Boston and Rich Gossage of the New York Yankees, for the staff that will go against the National League Tuesday night in Montreal.

Joining the four relievers are starters Eckersley, Jim Clancy of Toronto, Ron Guidry of New York and Floyd Bannister of Seattle. Martin said in Oakland late Wednesday night that he planned to start sidearming right-hander Eckersley against the National League's predominantly right-handed-hitting lineup, although no official league announcement was made.

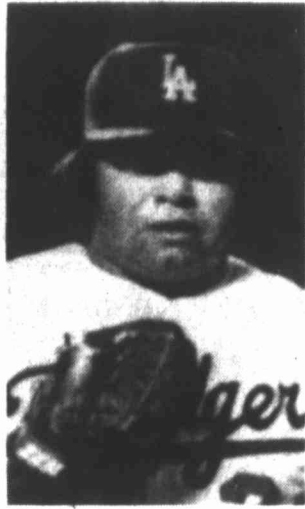

The National League also named an eight-man staff Wednesday, including Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles, who leads the major leagues with 12 victories, and Steve Carlton of Philadelphia, an 11-game winner. Also on the NL staff are Steve Rogers of Montreal, who leads the league with 2.04 earned run average, Phil Niekro of Atlanta, Cincinnati teammates Mario Soto and Tom Hume, Steve Howe of Los Angeles and Greg Minton of San Francisco.

Two Braves relievers who did not make the NL squad had some sour words about their omission. "I deserved to be on it," said Gene Garber. "I'm having the type of a year that I think I should be on it, and I really don't think any National League reliever is having a better year."

Among those on the AL staff, Quisenberry, 4-3 with a 2.13 earned run average, leads the majors with 22 saves this season.

Fingers, 5-5 with a 2.50 ERA, has 16 saves and won the AL Cy Young and Most Valuable Player awards last year when he won six games, saved 28 and posted a 1.04 ERA. His 288 career saves are more than any man in history. He was the losing pitcher in the 1981 All-Star Game, won by the National League 5-4 at Cleveland.

Gossage, selected to an All-Star team for the ninth time, was the loser in the 1978 Game when he gave up four runs in one inning as the NL won 7-3. He is 3-3 with 15 saves and a 2.45 ERA. Clear is 6-3 with 11 saves and a 1.92 ERA.

Eckersley, 9-6 with a 3.25 ERA, is the top winner on the AL staff as Martin chose to pass up Chicago's LaMarr Hoyt and Milwaukee's Pete Vuckovich, both 10-game winners. He has three shutouts and is expected to be the AL starting pitcher, although Martin will not formalize his selection until Monday when he announces his batting order.

Guidry is 8-3 with a 3.53 ERA. Bannister is 8-4 with a 2.85 ERA and leads the league with 106 strikeouts. Clancy is 7-5 with a 3.33 ERA.

Guidry and Bannister are the lone left-handers.

L. A. Coliseum welcomes Raiders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Though the move may not be permanent, Al Davis is ready to take his Oakland Raiders to Los Angeles for the 1982 National Football League season.

Davis, the managing general partner of the Raiders, signed a 10-year agreement Wednesday with the Coliseum Commission to make the move.

He also has a practice field once the season begins and the approval of his players to make the switch, although it means hardships for many of them.

Davis will start selling season tickets before the month is over and in the future will build luxury boxes for the elite among his club's followers.

The commission, by a 7-1 vote, approved an agreement for a 10-year lease for the Raiders to replace the departed Los Angeles Rams, who left the Coliseum in 1980 to move to nearby Anaheim. And in court, there was action to call the club the Los Angeles Raiders.

An advance of $6.7 million, on a loan basis, was part of the pact approved to move the Raiders from the 54,000-seat Oakland Coliseum to the L.A. Coliseum, which seats 90,000.

The switch has been avidly opposed by the NFL, which lost an anti-trust suit in federal court last May 7 and is appealing. Also pending is an eminent domain suit by the City of Oakland, which claims that the Raiders are part of its personal property.

Davis, thwarted in a proposed move in 1980 by NFL court action, said, "I hope now this is the last step to move the Raiders to L.A. for 1982."

Both the University of Southern California and UCLA, who play their home games at the Coliseum, voiced objections to the agreement, mainly because the luxury boxes will delete some seats between the goal lines.

Commissioner Pete Schabarum, a Los Angeles County supervisor, cast the only negative vote and said he saw only a $30,000 per year gain for the Coliseum during the first three years of the agreement.

Los Angeles Coliseum Commissioner J. Stanley Sanders, took issue with that, saying, "Isn't that better than losing $500,000 a year with no professional football team?"

After a lengthy debate, the Commission agreed with its negotiations committee in approving the agreement. A more formal contract will come later.

Surprise teams meet in semis

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Italy, Poland, West Germany and France — all a bit dazed by their success — took their shots at getting to the final of the 12th World Cup soccer tournament.

Italy and Poland met today at Barcelona in one semifinal match, while France and West Germany played at Seville.

The winners will meet Sunday in Madrid for the championship. The losers play Saturday in Alicante.

The pressure seemed greater on West Germany, the reigning European champion playing in the first all-European semifinals in 16 years, and on the crafty giant-killers from Italy, who beat defending champion Argentina and tournament favorite Brazil to get into the semifinals.

Italy took the world soccer title in 1934 and 1938, while the West Germans did it in 1954 and 1974. Brazil was the only team to win three, in 1958, 1962 and 1970.

France's best finish was third in 1958, matched by Poland in 1974.

"We are very satisfied, but we must want to win. The most important thing is to keep our enthusiasm," French coach Michel Hidalgo said Wednesday in Seville.

"I insist only that the players at this stage must show the determination and concentration that has led to our wins over Brazil and Argentina," said Italian coach Enzo Bearzot. "We deserved to reach the final in 1978 and we missed it. I don't want this to happen again."

"The final would be an unprecedented achievement for our team, an enormous reward for us and for the whole country," said Antoni Piechniczek, the Polish coach. A day earlier he had been saying that Poland's only goal was to get to the semis, and that anything more was gravy.

Poland and Italy worked out Wednesday in Barcelona, where the heat has reached record levels — 100 degrees on Tuesday — and the air is full of smoke and ash from forest fires outside town.

"This heat can kill anyone," said Bearzot, who reported that it had deprived his players of sleep. He prescribed a special diet with vegetables, sugar, liquid and vitamins, and expected everyone to be fit for the game.

Italy was without star defender Claudio Gentile and Poland without striker Zbigniew Boniek, a four-goal scorer in the tournament. Both were suspended one game after drawing two yellow penalty cards.

West German captain Karl-Heinz Rummenigge, also a four-goal scorer, was doubtful with a leg injury, and France may be without Dominique Rocheteau, who accounted for half the French scoring in a 4-1 win over Northern Ireland to qualify for the semis.

West Germany was unbeaten against European teams for four years, but shocked everyone by losing to unheralded Algeria in its first Cup match.

Red Sox hold on, 8-5

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Boston manager Ralph Houk, nicknamed "The Hook" because of his penchant for yanking starting pitchers at the first sign of trouble, was at it again.

Starter Mike Torrez took a three-hitter and an eight-run lead into the ninth inning of Wednesday's game against the Texas Rangers.

But when Torrez walked the first batter and hit the next, Houk immediately went to ace reliever Mark Clear — and Torrez didn't even complain.

"I was tired. I needed to come out," he said. "My ears were starting to ring, which is a sign I was dehydrated. It was humid out there."

Clear, making his first appearance in 11 days, was shaky and surrendered five runs — a grand slam home run to Larry Parrish and a solo homer to Bill Stein — before getting the Rangers out in the ninth. But the final was Boston 8, Texas 5 and Clear was glad to escape with the win.

"I just couldn't get anything over, my last ball, my breaking ball, anything," he said. "So I just decided to throw it down the middle and when I did, they hit it out."

"Ralph (Houk) doesn't like for me to get cute when I get behind the hitters, throw them breaking balls and stuff. He wants me to challenge them, so I did and they hit it out. I'm not happy with my performance but we won and that's the bottom line."

For Parrish, who battled a character-testing slump through June, it was his second grand-slam homer in four games and gave him 14 runs batted in during his last seven games.

He said the five-run, ninth-inning rally would prove valuable down the line, even though Texas lost.

"It ought to be good for the team," Parrish said. "Something we'll remember the next time we get in a situation where he have to come back."

"It was good to see us come back and score five runs," manager Don Zimmer agreed. "Parrish is swinging the bat good. That's four home runs in five days."

The Rangers' home run output was matched when Dwight Evans bashed a two-run homer, his 12th, in the fifth inning and the next batter, Jim Rice, planted a solo shot in left, his 10th. Texas starter Charlie Hough, 7-6, then gave way to Paul Mirabella, who was rocked for four runs in the seventh.

American League

Wade Boggs singled, his third hit of the night, and scored on a double by Dave Stapleton. After a walk to Glenn Hoffman, Mirabella gave a run-scoring single to Rick Miller and a two-run double to Jerry Remy.

Then, in the ninth, Hoffman doubled and Miller singled him home for an 8-0 lead.

White Sox 7, Tigers 0

Harold Baines was little a reluctant when it comes to taking a bow. Dave Winfield isn't.

Baines belted three consecutive home runs Wednesday night, capping the binge with an eighth-inning grand slam, as the Chicago White Sox routed the Detroit Tigers 7-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Dennis Lamp.

It was the first time the 23-year-old Baines had ever hit three home runs in a game, but his reaction was rather restrained.

"It felt good inside, but I didn't jump up and down," said Baines, who added that his teammates "practically pushed me up the stairs" to acknowledge the cheers of the crowd after the grand slam.

Baines started his home run barrage with a leadoff shot in the fifth inning off Detroit starter Jerry Udjur to give the White Sox a 1-0 lead. He increased the margin to 2-0 with his eighth home run of the season in the seventh inning, another leadoff blast off Udjur, 1-5.

Lamp, 6-3, struck out seven and walked none in going the distance for only the second time this season.

Yankees 5, A's 3

Roger Erickson, 6-7, worked seven innings, scattering six hits and striking out six in picking up the victory.

Winfield drilled his 15th homer deep into the left-field stands after a leadoff single by Willie Randolph and a walk to Ken Griffey to give the Yankees a 3-0 lead.

Oakland made it 3-1 in bottom of the first on Rickey Henderson's triple and Dwayne Murphy's groundout. They added an unearned run in the fifth. Jeff Burroughs hit a pinch hit homer for the A's in the eighth. The Yankees added two runs in the eighth when Jerry Mumphy delivered a bases-loaded single.

Twins 11, Brewers 8

Gary Gaetti slammed a three-run homer to highlight a six-run second inning as Minnesota pounded out 15 hits and outlasted Milwaukee to post its fourth victory in the last five games.

The Twins, who have the worst record in the majors this season, also got a two-run homer from Tim Laudner.

Robin Yount and Ted Simmons crashed two-run homers for the Brewers, who slipped into second place in the AL East, a game behind Boston.

Indians 8, Angels 6

Rick Waits pitched five-hit ball for six innings to pick up his first victory of the season and Von Hayes belted a two-run homer as Cleveland edged California, extending the Angels' losing streak to eight games and snapping the Tribe's five-game skid.

California scored five runs in the seventh on a two-run homer by Fred Lynn and Reggie Jackson's three-run shot off Dan Spillner, who recorded his 10th save. It was Jackson's 18th of the season and his third in the last five games.

Royals 3, Blue Jays 1

Larry Gura tossed a four-hitter and Willie Aikens and Jerry Martin slammed solo home runs as Kansas City posted its sixth victory in the last seven games.

Gura, 10-4, struck out two and walked one, while giving up Jesse Barfield's seventh home run of the season. Hard-luck Blue Jays starter Jim Clancy, 7-6, yielded five hits in taking the loss.

Mariners 8, Orioles 7

Todd Cruz delivered a two-out, ninth-inning single to score pinch-runner Bobby Brown with the winning run as Seattle beat Baltimore. The victory pushed the Mariners six games over .500, their best mark ever, at 44-38, giving Seattle its 25th come-from-behind victory.

Baltimore took a 3-0 lead in the second inning on an RBI single by Joe Nolan and Al Bumbry's two-run single. John Lowenstein added a three-run homer in the third.

Seattle's Dave Henderson had a two-run double and scored twice.

National League

Chicago hurler Allen Ripley, 3-1, gave up seven hits, including a two-run homer by Phil Garner. Ripley also hurt himself with a run-scoring wild pitch in the sixth inning.

"He did well, except for those two bad pitches," said Cubs' manager Lee Elia.

Padres 5, Phillies 3

Earlier in the day, eight pitchers had been named to the National League squad for the All-Star Game.

But in the steamy visitors dressing room at Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, the spotlight belonged to a left-hander who had not been named — and was not shy to vent his displeasure.

San Diego's Tim Lollar, who will not be in the NL dugout Tuesday in Montreal, increased his record to 9-2 by scattering six Philadelphia hits in seven innings of work as the Padres stopped the Phillies, 5-3 Wednesday night.

"That's his decision," said Lollar, referring to Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda, who will pilot the NL team. "He took what he figured were All-Star pitchers. But I have all the statistics. I'm in the Top 10 in most (pitching) categories."

Dodgers 3, Expos 1

Fernando Valenzuela, named to the NL All-Star team for the second straight year, became the majors' first 12-game winner as he sent the slumping Expos to their fourth straight defeat and their 13th in 16 contests.

Valenzuela, 12-6, scattered eight hits and was buoyed by rookie Mike Marshall's two-run homer in the sixth

Sutton gets 250th win

HOUSTON (AP) — Astros right-hander Don Sutton, not contented with the exclusive club he joined with his 250th major league victory, has set his sights on the lofty pitching achievement of baseball's grand old man.

Sutton pitched a four-hitter Wednesday night and led the Astros to a 5-1 win over the Chicago Cubs. His next milestone will be to match the record of Gaylord Perry, baseball's only active 300-game winner.

"I'd like to go for 300. Now that Gaylord Perry has surpassed that milestone, there's a lot of attention about it," Sutton said.

"It's nice to be included among the bona fide contenders," said Sutton, who became the 33rd pitcher in major league history to reach the 250-victory mark.

Sutton's four-hitter gave him a career mark of 250-188. The 37-year-old right-hander struck out four batters and walked just two for the win.

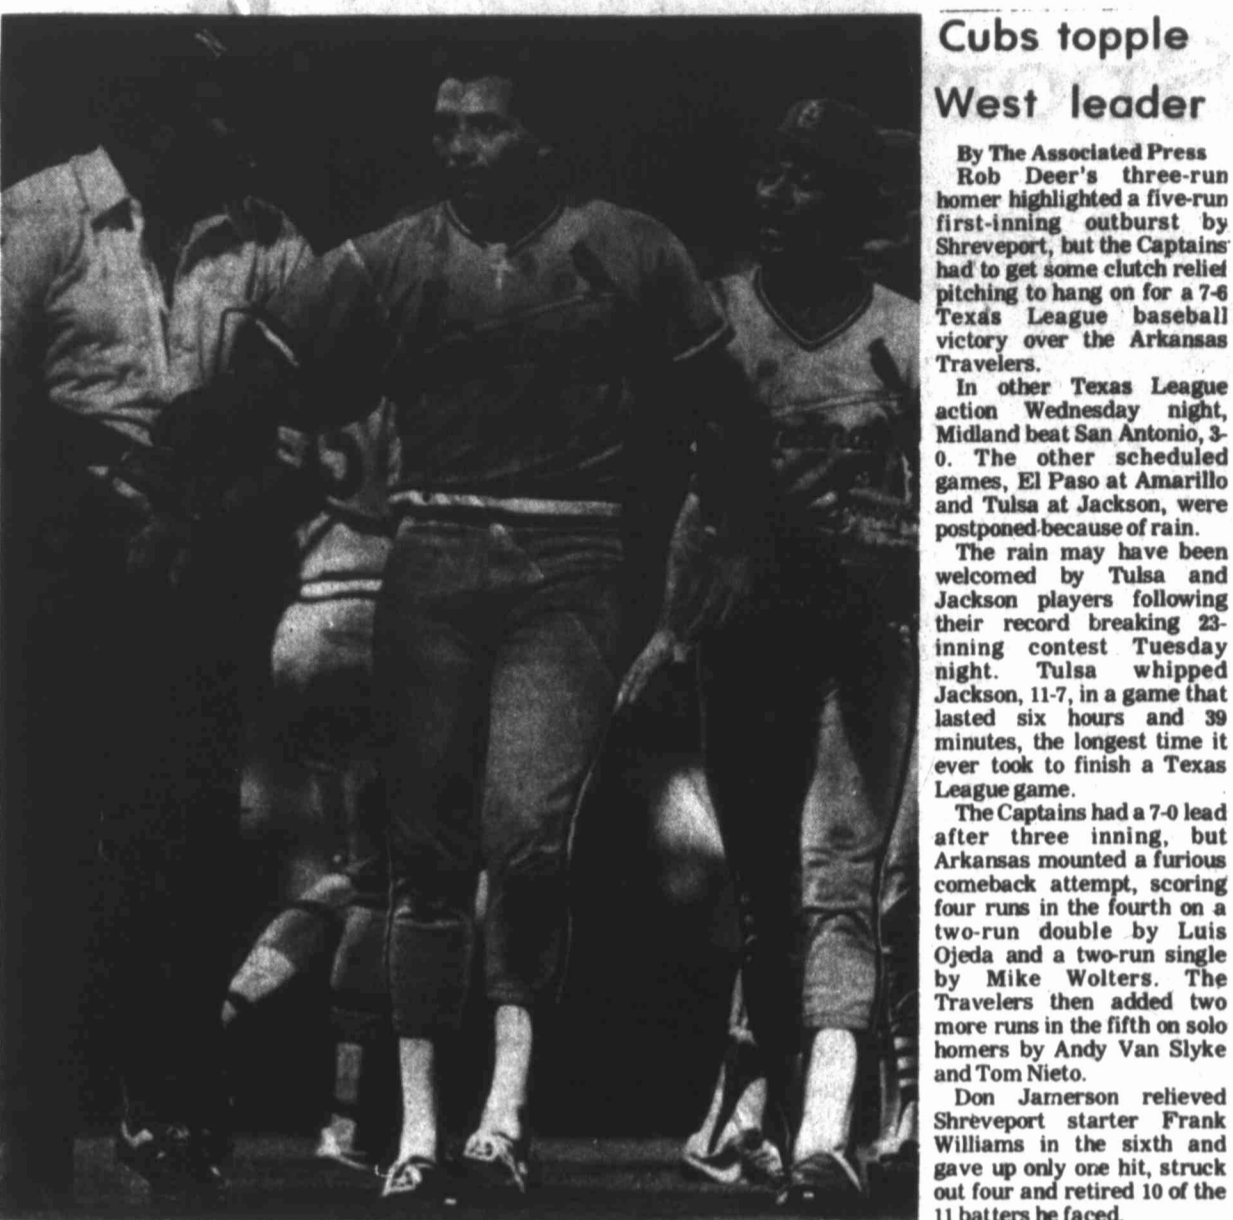

Sutton said catchers deserve much of the limelight pitchers receive when milestones are passed.

"There are two parts to pitching," he said. "One is deciding what to throw, and the other is throwing it. If you're in 'sync' with your catcher, it just makes life a lot easier."

Sutton recorded his ninth win of the season with help from Astros' bats.

Terry Puhl opened the Astros' fourth with a single and scored on Phil Garner's sixth home run of the year. Houston made it 3-0 in the sixth when Dickie Thon doubled, moved to third on Puhl's fly ball, and scored on Allen Ripley's wild pitch.

An RBI double by the Cubs' Jay Johnstone cut the Astros lead to 3-1 in the seventh, but Houston's Jose Cruz singled home two more insurance runs in the eighth.

Cubs topple West leader

By The Associated Press
Rob Deer's three-run homer highlighted a five-run first-inning outburst by Shreveport, but the Captains had to get some clutch relief pitching to hang on for a 7-6 Texas League baseball victory over the Arkansas Travelers.

In other Texas League action Wednesday night, Midland beat San Antonio, 3-0. The other scheduled games, El Paso at Amarillo and Tulsa at Jackson, were postponed because of rain.

The rain may have been welcomed by Tulsa and Jackson players following their record-breaking 23-inning contest Tuesday night. Tulsa whipped Jackson, 11-7, in a game that lasted six hours and 39 minutes, the longest time it ever took to finish a Texas League game.

The Captains had a 7-0 lead after three innings, but Arkansas mounted a furious comeback attempt, scoring four runs in the fourth on a two-run double by Luis Ojeda and a two-run single by Mike Wolters. The Travelers then added two more runs in the fifth on solo homers by Andy Van Slyke and Tom Nieto.

Don Jamerson relieved Shreveport starter Frank Williams in the sixth and gave up only one hit, struck out four and retired 10 of the 11 batters he faced.

Top players to miss big game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Baseball had to decide whether it wanted its annual All-Star Game to be a popularity contest or a real-live competition with flying spikes, and it made its choice.

It's "Mr. America" in cleats and high stirrups. Strike up the band. Let's have it from Bert Parks. Let the guys parade to the plate instead of down the runway while fans applaud to the lyrics of "There you go...Mr. America."

Accept it. It's a parade of baseball's current greats and near-greats. The game itself proves nothing except that once a year in the heat of mid-summer fans want to salute their diamond heroes in one spectacular cluster.

Meanwhile, debate sizzles among the hard-core buffs over the voting process that would allow a .143 hitter such as the New York Yankees' Bucky Dent to lead the balloting until almost the very end.

How can you pass up a guy like Milwaukee's Cecil Cooper with his remarkable statistics — .322 batting average, 17 home runs and 64 runs batted in — even though the top vote-getter is an established star, Rod Carew, hitting .305 with one homer and 19 RBIs for the California Angels?

What were the millions of voters thinking when they dropped Lonnie Smith of the Cardinals to 14th in the voting although his .308 bat, 41 RBI and 41 stolen bases have been instrumental in turning St. Louis into one of the hottest teams in the National League?

Why not Al Oliver, the Expos' splendid first baseman who is batting .325 with 13 home runs and 58 RBIs, instead of Pete Rose (.292) of the Phillies or slumping Steve Garvey (.256) of the Dodgers, both finishing ahead of him for the position in the NL.

How could there be a 1982 All-Star game in Montreal next Tuesday without having Toby Harrah of the Cleveland Indians at third base with his .343 batting average, 15 homers and 44 runs batted in, or Kansas City's Willie Wilson in the outfield, with his speed, fine arm and league-leading .350 batting average?

Easy. Fans vote with their hearts not their heads. If you were a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan, whom would you rather see, up close and in living color — Al Oliver or Pete Rose, the latter a hunk of grit and hustle who is wiping out many of Ty Cobb's proudest records.

Voting by the fans is not perfect. Cooper, Harrah, Oliver, Lonnie Smith — they have legitimate gripes. But they must face the cold, hard truth.

Fans, with a choice, will take the sure Hall of Famer over glossy statistics for half a season. Every time. It's the nature of the beast.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado reducirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de esta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectarían a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

World Cup finale to be televised

SEVILLE, Spain (AP) — American television viewers Sunday will get to see what most of the world considers most important sports event in the last four years when ABC-TV presents live coverage of the 1982 World Cup soccer championship match.

Until this year, the World Cup final has been available mostly through closed circuit television.

Mass viewers were shown only brief highlights on the nightly sports wrapup shows that could not capture the arduous road to the final every four years nor the soaring public frenzy as the championship drew near.

"We were interested in doing it whether live or by tape delay," explained Bob Iger, director of program planning for ABC Sports. "We discovered much to our surprise that they (World Cup organizers) were interested in getting it to the States in a broad way."

"In the past, closed circuit live was the norm, which was a tremendously lucrative venture. But this time they were more concerned with the potential exposure," Iger said.

ABC crews arrived in Madrid Tuesday, and headed for Barcelona the following night to get footage depicting the semifinal buildup for Thursday's match between Italy and Poland.

On Saturday, the network will show highlights of that semifinal and Thursday's other semifinal in Seville between European champion West Germany and France on Wide World of Sports.

World Cup final coverage Sunday commences at 1:30 (EDT) — a half hour before kickoff — with a show explaining the significance of the event, how the teams survived the original pool of 24 national teams that arrived in Spain a month ago, and depicting the fans who followed them.

Jim McKay will do the play-by-play for the final, and former American Soccer League commissioner Mario Machado and veteran soccer journalist Paul Gardner will be on hand for the color commentary.

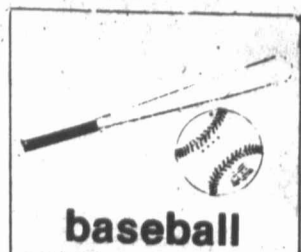

At a time when scholastic soccer programs are mushrooming throughout this country, the network coverage shatters the insular attitude of American sports coverage and pays tribute to the event that this year will be viewed by an estimated 1.5 billion people around the world.

"The worldwide significance of this event is unequalled in terms of a single sports event. People like to think of the Olympics as an event, but we consider it a multi-sport event," Iger said.

ABC executives will be watching the World Cup ratings carefully to gauge its coverage of the 1986 event, which is scheduled to be held in Colombia.

"It's not being done for experimental reasons, but if it is a success, that will encourage us, although I don't see an American network putting the semifinals on live on game day because they are held on a weekday. But this will determine whether we will use more highlights," Iger said.

The only American television coverage of the entire 54-match tournament has been provided by the Spanish language network (SIN), on VHF.

Comer put on disabled list

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Ranger relief pitcher Steve Comer was placed on the 15-day disabled list, effective Wednesday, after breaking a bone in his right foot, team officials said.

Comer was injured when he stepped on a drain while walking from the bullpen to the Texas clubhouse.

Levi underrated golfer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wayne Levi draws little respect, little recognition and small galleries on the PGA Tour.

"It doesn't bother me at all if I'm known as an underrated player. I'm no glory hound," said Levi Wednesday on the eve of the $250,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

The way he's been playing this year, Levi may have trouble avoiding the spotlight much longer.

The only member of the yearly top 10 money-winners playing in the G.M.O., Levi's earnings are just shy of $180,000, by far his best in six tour years.

Distance marks tumble in Oslo

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Dave Moorcroft of Britain set a world record in the men's 5,000-meter race Wednesday night with a time of 13 minutes, 00.42 seconds in the Oslo Games.

Moorcroft broke the record by nearly six seconds. Henry Rio of Kenya had set the mark of 13:06.20 at Knavvik, Norway last year.

Moorcroft's previous best time for the 5,000 was only 13:20.50.

He outdistanced the rest of the field, including Ronco.

Meanwhile, American Steve Scott ran the second fastest men's mile in history and Mary Decker Tabb, also of the United States, ran the second fastest women's 3,000 ever.

Scott, with a clocking of 3:47.69, failed by only 0.36 seconds in breaking the world record of 3:47.33 held by Britain's Sebastian Coe and Tabb, timed in 8:29.72.

DAVE MOORCROFT...5,000 record failed by 2.6 seconds in breaking the 3,000 mark of 8:27.12 held by Ludmila Bragina of the Soviet Union.

U.S., Sweden to play first

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sweden's Mats Wilander is a right-hander with a sturdy two-fisted backhand. John McEnroe is a left-hander whose game depends on touch and a powerful serve.

Yet, the two key players in the Sweden-United States Davis Cup matches, which will be staged here Friday through Sunday, have a lot in common. They both want to play for their countries.

"I would never refuse that honor," said Wilander, who upset some of the world's top clay-court specialists last month enroute to becoming the youngest player ever to win the French Open men's singles title.

McEnroe, who lost his Wimbledon crown last Sunday, has played every Davis Cup match he's been asked to since 1978.

"My mother always wanted me to go to college and play Davis Cup," the New Yorker said following practice Wednesday. "I only went to college one year, so I guess I better play Davis Cup."

Wilander, who is ranked 11th in the world on the Association of Tennis Professionals computer, played his first Davis Cup match last year, losing both his singles battles against Australia. In Sweden's 4-1 victory over the Soviet Union in the first round this year, Wilander won both his singles contests.

The quarterfinal meeting at the Checkerboard here will be the first Davis Cup clash between the two nations since the United States gained a 3-2 victory in Sweden in 1978. In that tie, Arthur Ashe, now the U.S. Davis Cup captain, split his two singles matches as a player.

The victory over Sweden also sent the U.S. to the finals, where McEnroe, playing Cup singles for the first time, led the Americans to a 4-1 win over Great Britain.

Wilander, the youngest member of the squad at 17, will be joined by Anders Jarryd, Joakim Nystrom and Hans Simonson. Jarryd is the oldest player at 20 and also made his Cup debut in 1981.

McEnroe will play both singles and doubles, teaming with Peter Fleming for Saturday's match against the expected Swedish doubles team of Jarryd and Simonson. Also on the U.S. squad are Eliot Teltscher and Brian Gottfried.

Sweden advanced to the quarterfinals by downing the Soviet Union, while the U.S. stopped India 4-1 in its first-round match. The winner here advances to the semifinals against the winner of the Chile-Australia match this weekend at Brisbane, Australia.

Friday's two singles are scheduled to start at 4 p.m., CDT, with the doubles starting at 1 p.m., CDT, on Saturday and Sunday's two singles beginning also at 1 p.m. All of the matches will be televised live by ESPN, the all-sports cable network.

Soviet Union facing another poor grain harvest

By BRYAN BRUMLEY
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Alternating extremes of cold rains and hot dry winds are pushing the Soviet Union toward its fourth consecutive poor grain harvest, according to Western and Eastern European sources.
"It's pretty clear they won't have a good year," said one Western agronomist. An Eastern European source said Soviet experts were warning that "if the weather doesn't improve in the next 10 days or so, the crops will be badly hit."
The U.S. Agriculture Department forecasts a Soviet grain crop of 185 million tons, well short of the 238 million tons in the Soviet plans.

Westerners and Soviets alike are still trying to guess the results of the 1981 grain harvest. Kremlin officials have admitted a poor showing, but have not released figures. Some Soviets have placed the figure below 160 million tons — the lowest yield in a decade.
U.S. officials in Washington predicted the Soviet Union would help make up for last year's bad harvest by importing a record 46 million tons of wheat and corn for the year ending June 30, half of it from the United States.
Soviet newspapers, radio and television carry the usual optimistic reports on the harvest — interspersed with hints of trouble.

The newspaper Rural Life, devoted to farm news, on Wednesday reported a week-long delay in harvesting winter wheat in some areas of the Saratov region of southern Russia.
Areas of western Siberia and northern Kazakhstan, important for feed crops, were reported to be suffering from "hot and dry weather" of the kind that Western experts say badly damaged the 1981 yield.
Last year, agricultural production fell by 2 percent, according to Soviet government figures. Meat and dairy products were rationed in much of the nation last winter, causing widespread grumbling among long-suffering Soviet consumers.

The bad harvest cut feed supplies and hurt Soviet livestock production, according to government figures. Western experts predict Soviet farmers will have trouble rebuilding their herds.
Soviet shoppers are griping again this summer about cool rainy weather that has delayed for weeks the appearance of fresh fruit and vegetables in northern Russia.
The unfavorable weather conditions have already taken a toll on the grain crop, experts say.
The trouble began last fall, when insufficient rainfall resulted in poor germination of winter wheat in the Soviet breadbasket in the southern Ukraine, northern Caucasus and parts of Kazakhstan.

The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, based in Rome, said that the Soviet winter wheat crop was down and that "spring sowings are reported to be lower than in recent years."
A poor agricultural year would be an inauspicious start for an ambitious "food program" unveiled May 14 by the policy-making Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party.

Mountain goats, too prolific, face sterilization

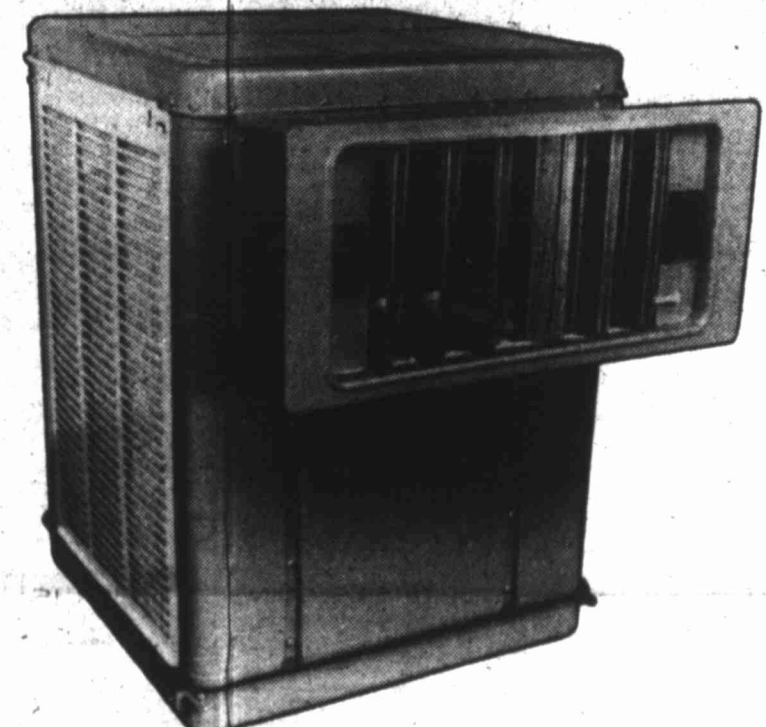

SEATTLE (AP) — Mountain goats wandering on the snow-capped peaks of the Olympic Peninsula face chemical or surgical sterilization to curb their population in what a researcher says may become a necessity for worldwide wildlife management.
The animals, introduced to northwest Washington in 1925, have been protected from hunters since the area became Olympic National Park in 1938. The park's 700 goats now compete with deer, elk, marmots and other native wildlife for forage, severely damaging plant growth in some areas, said Don Jackson, assistant park superintendent.
Dr. Jim Foster, a veterinarian and curator of research at Seattle's Woodland Park Zoo, said a dozen goats will be caught for an experimental program later this month. Some of the goats will undergo tubal ligation — also used in humans — and others will be treated with implants or hormone injections to make them temporarily sterile.
Such fertility control measures would be especially beneficial in areas like Africa, where wildlife is plentiful but human needs for development and agriculture may take precedence, Foster said.
"Unfortunately, that is the way it has become," he said. "The smaller our Earth becomes as a result of population expansion and resource needs, the more we are going to have to be involved in management of wildlife species."
The most promising procedure for the goats is an implant, where synthetic progesterone is implanted in silicone under the skin of a female and absorbed over four years to prevent the animal from conceiving, Foster said. The simplest is a hormone injection, but it lasts only six months, he said.
The implant procedure is used in zoos to control pregnancy in some animals. Foster said mountain goats normally begin reproducing after age 3 and live to about 12, so the implants would render the goats infertile for about half their reproductive lives, while a tubal ligation would leave them completely sterile.
"I think we're going to gain a lot of information regarding potential for wildlife controls," said Foster, who will be assisted by Dr. Stephen Seager, reproductive physiologist with the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md.
The National Park Service has indicated interest in ridding the park entirely of its goats, since they are not native to the area.

Optical firm well into R&D

A small city in West Texas seems like an unlikely place for business with worldwide marketing and licensing. Cosden, of course, has its processes licensed in a score of foreign lands, but in number of outlets another Big Spring firm outdoes Cosden.
This is Neefe Optical Laboratories. Charles Neefe, owner, told the Downtown Lions about it at their Wednesday meeting on the Howard College campus.
Neefe holds 53 patents and has another 20 to 30 pending. While his firm does some manufacturing, its main function, he said, is research and development. It markets contact blanks and other optical blanks under a variety of names to other optical laboratories who frequently remark under their own brand names.
Neefe said that much of the current research is with silanes (silicones) which offer potential for oxygenation through a permeable or porous plastic surface. Most contact lens "pump" oxygen in fluid from the outer edge of the lens, but the new type has the possibility of doing this through the frontal surfaces.
Neefe explained how contact lenses work, and how some materials now are so delicate that they might tear. He mentioned some "extended use" types, but he said he saw little use for these except for elderly and those lacking dexterity in inserting the lens.
Jimmy Holmes presided for his first time as club president and reported on the recent Lions International convention which drew 30,000 (8,000 of them outside the United States) to Atlanta, Ga.
Ebb Grindstaff of Ballinger was installed as president of the international organization, with 1.3 million members in 150 free countries and territories. Dr. James Cave was program chairman.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY Colonel critical of Newsweek

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The retired Army colonel who led the ill-fated rescue effort in Iran in 1980 says the Newsweek magazine account of the mission was distorted and did not accurately recount his actions in the Iranian desert.

"I think the perceptions (in the article) were not well done at all. There were some things said in there that were not true (but) I'm not going to go into details about it," said Charles Beckwith, who operates an anti-terrorist consulting business here.

The executive editor of Newsweek, Maynard Parker, said today the magazine stands by the story.

Beckwith was the leader of Delta Force, an elite group sent to Iran to try to rescue the 53 hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran in April 1980. The mission failed when three helicopters malfunctioned.

CIA sets up screening arrangements

WASHINGTON (AP) - The CIA has set up a "screening arrangement" aimed at preventing CIA director William J. Casey from taking official actions for personal gain, but the new system still allows Casey to buy and sell stock at his discretion.

The new system was established in May, after Casey reported selling more than $600,000 in oil stock in 1981, a year when oil stock prices fell amid a worldwide glut. Also in 1981, the CIA reversed itself and predicted the Soviet Union would not be importing oil in the 1980s.

Government ethics chief J. Jackson Walter called the new plan a "good and thorough system" for policing possible conflicts of interest. But some senators and a Carter administration ethics adviser contend it offers little new protection against the CIA director's misusing information in his stock dealings.

The CIA director is one of a handful of top officials with broad access to U.S. intelligence information, including secret government estimates of world oil supplies. Casey is the only senior Reagan official with such access who neither set up a blind trust nor divested some of holdings before taking office.

Under the screening arrangement, the deputy director John McMahon and other senior CIA officials are to be furnished regularly

Officials search for fire victims

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) - Police expect to find still more bodies in the charred wreckage of two apartment buildings, with the death toll in this city's deadliest fire already a tentative 10.

Firefighters and police searched through the rubble of the two five-story buildings in near 90-degree heat Wednesday, recovering one body.

"It was one of the bodies we expected to find in that area, and we expect to find more tomorrow," said police detective Martin Egan, an arson investigator.

Israel Madera Flores, 29, of Waterbury man has been arraigned on three counts of arson-murder and one count of arson in connection with the Monday morning fire. Police believe they have recovered the bodies of 10 victims, but they can not be sure until autopsies are performed.

'MASH' returns to top

LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS grabbed first place in last week's prime time ratings derby, although it placed only three shows in the Top 10, including two it has canceled.

'MASH' once again headed the list, but the other CBS shows in the Top 10 were 'House Calls' and 'WKRP in Cincinnati.' The latter two won't be returning in the fall.

ABC meanwhile placed six of its shows in the Top 10 for the week ending July 4.

CBS was first in the Nielsen ratings with 12.8, a rating that reflected the lower than normal TV viewing level anticipated for a holiday period. ABC had 12.5 and NBC had 10. The networks say that means in an average prime statement of 'Police Squad' on ABC tied for 37th.

Here are the Top 10 shows: 'M.A.S.H.' a rating of 20.3 or 16.2 million homes, CBS; 'Too Close for Comfort,' 19.2 or 15.4 million, ABC; 'House Calls,' 19.1 or 15.3 million, CBS; 'Hart to Hart,' 18.8 or 15 million, ABC; 'Three's Company,' 18.4 or 14.7 million, ABC; 'WKRP in Cincinnati,' 17.3 or 13.8 million, CBS; 'Laverne and Shirley,' 17 or 13.6 million, ABC; Movie: 'Midnight Offerings,' 17 or 12.6 million, ABC; '20/20,' 16.6 or 13.3 million, ABC; 'Different Strokes' special, 16.2 or 12.9 million, NBC.

The next 10 were: 'The Love Boat,' ABC; 'Private Benjamin,' CBS; 'Cagney & Lacey' special, CBS; 'Fantasy Island,' ABC; 'Quincy,' NBC; Movie: 'Midnight Lace,' NBC; 'Love, Sidney,' NBC; 'Different Strokes,' NBC; 'The Jeffersons,' CBS; 'Happy Days,' ABC.

time minute during the week, 12.8 percent of the nation's homes were tuned to CBS.

NBC's rating was the lowest recorded by any network since the week ending Aug. 7, 1981.

The 20.1 rating for 'MASH' means that in an average minute of the show, 20.1 percent of the country's TV equipped homes were watching the CBS show, Nielsen said.

Two ABC shows, 'Too Close for Comfort' and 'Hart to Hart' were in second and fourth places in the ratings. NBC had only one in the Top 10, a special 8:30 p.m. Thursday episode of 'Different Strokes.'

An episode of 'Cagney and Lacey' on CBS was the week's top-rated new program, No. 13, with a new in-

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Valerie Curtin pounds a typewriter as a secretary on the new ABC series '9 to 5,' and at home she's also at the typewriter as a successful movie screenwriter.

Miss Curtin stars in the series as Judy Bernly, recently divorced and a beginner office worker befuddled by her unaccustomed surroundings in a big conglomerate. The show, based on the hit movie that pitted working women against chauvinistic management, also stars Rita Moreno and Rachel Dennison.

Miss Curtin and her writing partner, Barry Levinson, were nominated for an Academy Award for their first screenplay, '... And Justice For All' in 1978. Two years later they wrote 'Inside Moves' and their latest effort, 'Best Friends,' is in production starring Burt Reynolds and Goldie Hawn.

In '9 to 5,' Miss Curtin plays the role created in the movie by Jane Fonda. She also had the opportunity to recreate her role of Vera in the movie 'Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore' in the CBS series 'Alice.'

"They approached me the first time they tried to do the series," says Miss Curtin, "but the thought of being locked into the first character I'd created wasn't appealing. And I was also under contract to ABC at the time."

When she was approached about '9 to 5,' she met with Miss Fonda. "I wasn't sure what to do," she says. "I wanted to keep writing. But I loved the idea of the people I'd be working with. I tested with Rita and Rachel. That helped me decide. Rita is such a generous actress. And Rachel is a Christmas angel. There is a simplicity and truth in what she does and I'm learning from her."

She says she does not intend to write any scripts for the series. "I'm approaching this project strictly as an actress," she says. "I'm not sure that I'd know how to write for a halfhour comedy. Although I did start out doing that."

Miss Curtin says that with Levinson, with whom she's lived for eight years, "our sensibilities are so similar it's as though it's just one expanded brain at work. We almost never have any conceptual differences. Our only arguments are over who's going to type."

She was born in New York, where her father, Joseph L. Curtin, was a radio actor who starred in the long-running 'Mr. and Mrs. North' radio serial. She made her TV debut in 'Happy Days' and appeared in a number of episodes.

"You don't have time in a series to really define your character the way you do in a movie. In '9 to 5' Judy has a vulnerability that I can identify with. Unlike Vera, Judy is not dumb, just naive. She's newly divorced, a neophyte at life."

She spies James Garner at the next table in the restaurant and borrows a cigarette from him as they briefly discuss his new movie, 'Victor-Victoria.'

THE FALL Life begins anew after rodeo injury

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

You'll see him at almost every rodeo in Howard County. Seated in the grandstands, watchful eyes behind wide-rimmed glasses, he can offer a comment on almost anything, pausing occasionally to squirt a stream of tobacco juice on the ground.

He doesn't miss many rodeos — which is ironic, because an accident at a rodeo 22 years ago drastically changed his life.

Kenneth Williams was a clown then, performing at the 1960 Howard County Junior Rodeo.

It was early in the Aug. 13 performance, during the bareback bronc riding, and Williams was just clowning around.

The bronc had already pitched his ride, and Williams decided he would rope the horse for laughs — something he had done many times before.

"I'd rope him," Williams says, "and when he got to the end of the rope, I'd pull back on it and turn a flip."

This time, something went wrong.

The horse, instead of continuing to run toward the chutes, slowed and turned his head just as Williams gave the rope a jerk to begin his flip.

"It didn't work," he says. "I landed on the back of my head and broke my neck."

"I was in the stands," says Jean Williams, the fallen clown's wife. "I never realized that he was hurt that bad — for a little while no one did."

Williams says he was knocked out when he hit the ground, but apparently he retained some consciousness.

"The guy that was clowning with you went over and you asked him, 'Are my legs still up in the air?'" Jean says to her husband.

"I didn't want to run into the arena and embarrass him," Jean continues, but she did go to the ambulance as they carried her husband out of the arena.

"There wasn't any blood on him, no nothing," she recalls, "and I kept asking him, 'Where do you hurt, what's wrong?' Finally he said, 'Oh, my neck hurts a little.'"

"When they took him out of the ambulance into the hospital, his legs fell off the stretcher. I realized then he didn't know it," Jean says.

The ride to Hall-Bennett Hospital is just a hazy recollection to Williams, filled with snatches of color from the lights and with the wail of the siren.

"I knew something was wrong, because I couldn't move," he says. "But it's such a shock that you don't know what's wrong."

WILLIAMS SPENT one night in the hospital here, then was transferred to a Lubbock hospital.

"I came to in Lubbock when they were drilling holes in my head to put the longs in and straighten out my neck — I remember a nurse's shoes," he says.

That was the beginning of a seven-week stay in the Lubbock hospital, which was followed by a transfer to the Veteran's Administration hospital in Big Spring, where he spent a month. Williams was transferred from the VA facility to Houston, where he spent 370 days in a rehabilitation program.

"The first year was the hardest," Williams says, and his wife agrees.

"I even told her to get away, leave me alone, just go," he says. "You're down so much, you feel like everything's against you. You go through 18 to 24 months of trying to adjust, and you don't know if you want to live or die. You've got to make your mind up whether you want to live or die."

Williams decided he would live.

"You can't quit," he says, "unless you're a quitter. I've always been kind of a fighter, and I felt it wasn't no use to go the other way."

"I found out I'd probably be in a wheelchair for the rest of my life, but you've got to face life," he maintains. "You've got to get out of bed every day. Once you get up, there'll be something to keep you going."

"I was afraid," adds Jean. "He was so active before he got hurt — I was afraid it would be hard on him. But I've found out that it's the ones who were active before that stay active."

Williams has found plenty to keep him going in the years since his accident.

He's been deeply involved with various Paint Horse clubs since 1962, serving as secretary of the Texas club in 1962 and 1963, as secretary-treasurer of the West Texas-New Mexico club in 1963, 1964 and 1965.

Williams, along with two other friends, formed the Howard County Youth Horsemanship Club in 1962.

"We felt like the kids that didn't have the high-priced and fancy horses needed a place to learn to take care of their equipment and horses and to show horses. We felt like it might keep them off the streets and out of trouble."

He's served as president of the club twice, in 1967 and 1979, and is currently serving a three-year term as a director.

BEFORE HIS injury, Williams was a charter member of the Howard County Sheriff's Posse. That organization has awarded him an honorary lifetime membership, as has the youth horsemanship club.

He also does a little buying and selling of horses and tack. "It's something to do," he says.

He also has announced many horse shows and rodeos since his injury, and tries not to miss any of his 12-year-old son's baseball games or 4-H meetings.

But aside from his many activities, Williams says his friends keep him going.

"You can't live without them," he declares. "They've done so many nice things for me that, 'thank you' doesn't seem like enough — you wish you could do something to pay them back."

Glasscock library plan to be unveiled Monday County reviews planned budget

GARDEN CITY — A plan to establish, for the first time, public library service in Glasscock County will be presented to county commissioners Monday. If the plan is adopted, Glasscock County no longer will be counted as one of the 14 or so counties in Texas without a public library, Glasscock officials said.

The plan calls for the county to appropriate $5,000 for 1983 to get the library started. The funds would be used to lease a building in Garden City to temporarily house the library, to hire a librarian at mid-year, and to purchase books, supplies and utilities.

The $5,000 appropriation would qualify the new library to receive a minimum of $20,000 from the state through the Establishment Grant Program of the Texas State Library, officials said.

A planning committee consisting of Martha Beasley, Elena Esparza and Linda Schwartz has been meeting since January with Jim Scheppke, library consultant from the West Texas Library System in Lubbock, to draft the plans. Having completed the plans, the committee distributed copies to interested citizens.

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners resumed their consideration of an approximately $4.5 million 1982-83 budget today.

The commissioners had recessed June 28 to consider the budget individually.

Howard County Auditor Jackie Olson said the proposed budget's expenditures are about $4.5 million — a slight increase over 1981-82 budget expenditures of $4.4 million.

Commissioners are expected to discuss department head requests for increased funding as well as proposed salary increases during today's budget session.

A final county budget is not expected until late August following more budget sessions and public hearings, said County Judge Bill Tune.

Projected revenues for the coming fiscal year are expected to be discussed at a later date.

Dear Abby

Man lives with genital herpes

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter signed "Shook," whose girlfriend had given VD to several men, I had to write because there is one form of VD I wish more people knew the facts about. It's genital herpes. I am a 30-year-old unmarried man who has had genital herpes for 11 years, so I know something about it, but the horror stories I've read and heard about herpes — "incurable venereal disease" — could scare a person to death!

I've talked to several doctors, and they have all told me not to make love when I have open herpes sores because that is when I could infect my partner. I have followed that advice, and in all the years I've had herpes I have had many different partners and I have never given the disease to anyone.

Having genital herpes is just like having a cold or the flu; the virus is always present in my body, but I am contagious only when for some reason my immune system breaks down and the sores appear. This happens only three or four times a year, and each outbreak lasts about a week.

I just abstain from making love when the herpes sores appear; otherwise, I lead a normal sex life. You may use my letter to educate people about herpes, Abby, but please do not use my initials, name or city, because I live in a small town.

LIVING WITH HERPES

DEAR LIVING: When you say that having genital herpes is like having "a cold or the flu," you have much to learn.

How do you know that you have never infected any of your partners? Some women might not even know they have it — or they might be too frightened to tell anyone. For that matter, are you sure you have it? The symptoms of herpes are similar to eczema and syphilis. The only way to identify herpes is to have a virus culture, Pap smear or some other laboratory tests run by a qualified physician or dermatologist.

Your letter reflects a lack of knowledge on the subject. Dr. William H. Wickett Jr., a leading medical authority on herpes, has written an excellent new paperback on the subject in language that everyone can understand. It should be required reading for every high school and college student. It's titled: "Herpes, Cause and Control" (Pinnacle Books). Please read it.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago, one of my roommates (a good friend) asked me to be in her wedding. Of course I said yes.

Since then, we had a falling out, but I thought by now all was forgiven and forgotten.

Well, the wedding invitations arrived yesterday — for everyone except me. I know no mistake was made. I'm stumped as to what to do now. Also, what do I do with the expensive gift I bought for her?

NO MISTAKE IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR NO MISTAKE: If there is, as you say, "no mistake," you can consider yourself excluded from the wedding.

Mexican food—a favorite in the Southwest

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor
Lydia Hernandez, a member of the local chapter Gold Star Mothers, contributes her Chimi-changas recipe to the Recipe Exchange. Chimi-changas are made with flour tortillas, vegetables and ground beef, and are fried until light brown. They are a tasty Mexican dish you are sure to enjoy.

Along with her recipe are additional recipes presented by Dorrie Cook, Girl Scout field executive.

CHIMI-CHANGAS
Lydia Hernandez

Flour tortillas (recipe below)
5 Tablespoons vegetable oil
Meat filling (recipe below)
Shredded lettuce
Sliced radishes
Sliced green onions (with tops)
Sliced avocados
Coarsely chopped tomatoes
Shredded cheese

Prepare flour tortillas. Heat oil in 10-inch skillet over medium heat. Spoon about 1/3rd cup meat filling into center of tortilla. Fold in half. (Fill no more than three at a time to prevent soggy.) Fry chimi-changas one at a time until light brown, (about 1 1/2 minutes on each side.) Drain on paper towel. Place on platter and cover with cloth to keep warm. Repeat with remaining Chimi-changas, adding more oil for frying if necessary. Garnish with remaining ingredients. Makes 16 Chimi-changas.

FLOUR TORTILLAS
Lydia Hernandez

3 cups flour
3 Tablespoons lard
1 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
About 1 cup lukewarm water
Mix shortening, baking powder and salt. Gradually stir in water until crumbly dough forms. Work with hands until dough holds together. Shape into balls on a floured board. Knead until smooth. Divide dough into 16 equal portions. Cover and let stand 15 minutes. Flatten each part to about 4-inch circle. Roll into 6-inch circle stockingnet-covered rolling pin. Cook on hot ungreased griddle over medium heat, turning frequently until bubbles are golden brown. Stack tortillas and cover with a damp towel to keep them soft. Makes 16 tortillas.

MEAT FILLING
Lydia Hernandez

2 lbs. ground beef
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
3 Tablespoons vegetable oil
2 large tomatoes, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup coarsely chopped almonds
1/2 cup coarsely chopped citron
1/2 cup raisins
1 teaspoon salt
1 tsp. pepper
Cook ground beef, onion and garlic in oil until brown, drain. Stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer uncovered about 10 minutes.

PRALINES
Dorrie Cook

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
Combine in sauce pan. Add 1 cup milk. Cook until soft ball. Add 1/4 cup butter. Beat 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 cup pecans. Drop on wax paper. Let cool.
SOPAPILLAS
1 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 Tablespoon shortening
1/4 cup lukewarm water
Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles cornmeal. Gradually add water stirring mixture with fork. Dough will be crumbly. Turn dough out on lightly floured surface, knead until smooth ball is formed. Divide in half, let stand for 10 minutes. Roll each half to 10-12 1/2 inches rectangle about 1/4 inch thick. Cut in 3-inch squares. Fry 3 c. 4 squares at a time in deep hot fat at 400 degrees about 30 seconds on each side. Drain. Serve warm with honey and powdered sugar or cinnamon and sugar.

CHICKEN ENCHILADAS
Dorrie Cook

1 Fryer, boil and bone
1 cup chicken broth
Medium onion, chopped
3 Tablespoons butter

1 can cream of chicken soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 bag Doritos

Doritos, layer of mix, layer of cheese, repeat until dish is full. Always end with cheese on top. Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

lard and salt until fluffy. Slowly beat in corn tortilla mix alternately with broth until very light and fluffy. To assemble tamales, drain corn husks; pat dry. Spread 2 tablespoons dough on center of husks, forming a 3 x 2-inch rectangle and spreading completely to right edge. Spoon 1 tablespoon desired filling lengthwise down center of rectangle. To enclose tamales, turn right side over to center of filling; fold left side over filling, allowing plain part of husk to wrap around tamale. Fold bottom end up over enclosed filling; fold top end down over bottom end. Secure ends by tying a length of corn husk or string around center of tamale. To steam tamales, place a rack 2 inches above gently boiling water in steamer of 4-quart Dutch oven. Stack tamales folded side down on rack. Cover; steam about 2 hours or until done. (To test for doneness, remove 1 tamale from center and 1 from side of steamer. Open corn husks; tamales should be firm and come easily away from husk.) Makes 24 tamales.

Open for business

The response to the creative ideas for businesses was very positive; therefore, here's a few more.

Diane's New Image Beauty Salon in Spanish Fork, Utah, issues a gift certificate which entitles the holder to a shampoo and set once a month for a full year. When the card is punched out, the customer receives a free permanent or haircoloring. She said they sold like "hotcakes."

Lazarus in Columbus, Ohio, staged a "Sour Grapes Sale" explaining that the merchandise looked tempting at first but just didn't sell.

G. Fox Department Stores of Connecticut regularly stages a five-hour Saturday Night Sale which pulls in huge crowds. It is held from 6 to 11 p.m.

Customers get a glass of fresh orange juice (or a whole orange) when using the drive-in window at Northwestern National Bank in Omaha.

Northeast Federal Savings in Watertown, Mass., asked kids (under 12) to draw a picture to be used on the bank's outdoor billboards. First prize: a $250 savings account. The winner was a six-year-old girl who drew a sailboat with this caption: "I'm saving for a sailboat at Northeast Federal. Why don't you?" Over 5000 kids entered the contest and many accounts were opened for children.

A Disco Fair supermarket in Santa Barbara, Calif., took care of the problem of having shoppers sampling their bulk candy by putting a piggy bank in the middle of the display and urging shoppers to continue sampling but to put 2 cents per sample in the piggy bank which would be donated to the Red Cross. The piggy averages $7 a week.

COMPANIES ARE realizing that keeping employees in good health pays off in higher productivity. One company pays the fees for employees who enroll in exercise classes. Another opened a health facility near the headquarters where employees are given physical examinations, attend conditioning classes and weight-control seminars. Absenteeism and workers compensation has fallen off significantly.

Last holiday season, a gas station owner in Spokane advertised "gift certificates" — "A Complete Tankful of Gasoline for $20." He sold 117. Some purchased half a dozen for all members of their family. "December is usually a slow month for us but this year December was our best," he said.

If products are being damaged during shipment, you can now buy "shock shipping labels." These four-inch by four-inch labels contain a tube that turns a tell-tale color when subjected to undue impact — thus furnishing proof when putting in a claim. For information contact Media Recovery Inc., 1435 Round Table Drive, Dallas, Tx. 75247 or call 800-527-9497.

Small companies who sell to the federal government (or would like to sell), subscribe to the Commerce Business Daily. They learn what the government wants to buy and can put in their competitive bid. Annual subscriptions are $130. If interested, write to the Commerce Business Daily, Department of Commerce, Room 1304, 433 West Van Buren, Chicago, ILL. 60607.

The '82 edition of the Farmer's Almanac suggests that paper money should be printed in a different color for each denomination. "It offers instant and positive identification of a bill's value with less chance for error," says the almanac.

The U.S. Navy brought in 50 hungry goats to keep the grass trimmed on the ammunition bunkers at the Oceana Naval Air Station in Virginia Beach, Va. "I've had to pull men off of priority projects to cut grass," the commander said, "It has become a real headache." He figures the goats will save about $20,000 a year in maintenance costs.

Have you heard that Sony and Sinclair will both come out with a pocket-sized television set, one inch thick with a flat screen picture?

A San Francisco architect plans to build condominiums the size of a two-car garage. Each unit will have a living room, sleep area, scaled down kitchen, and a tiny bath and will be in the $50,000 price range.

Only 4½ percent of the 102.4 billion coupons are redeemed but that still mounts up to $915 million in discounts and $300 million in refunds.

ON FRIDAY July 16, Dr. D.H. McGonagill will be celebrating the 25th anniversary of his optical company. I hear he's planning an open house as a way of saying thanks to those he and his staff have serviced with their optical needs for a fourth of a century. He's located at 120 E. Third. Watch for more information on this.

Among those attending the Texas Association of Realtors annual convention in Fort Worth were Janell Davis and Patti Horton of Sun County Realty, Jeff and Sue Brown of Home Real Estate, and Rufus Rowland of Rowland Real Estate.

Patti Horton also reported on efforts of local realtors to upgrade their professional standards by taking the GRI By-Pass test. As president of the local board of realtors, Patti monitored this test when it was given at the chamber office recently. Those who took and passed the test were representatives from Area I, Century 21, Sun Country and Home Real Estate.

Tom Cawthorn is the new manager of Anthony's. He recently moved here from the Vernon store and took over for Bob Johnson who moved to San Angelo.
