Hardesty doesn't hide at post office

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

In many businesses, the big boss hides in an office fronted by secretaries and assistants.

He's not easily accessible unless you have an appointment or your problem requires a heavyweight decision that his employees can't handle.

Not so at the Big Spring Post Office. Postmaster Frank Hardesty is the first man you see when you walk into the facility's general offices and he wouldn't have it any other way.

Hardesty sits in a spacious office surrounded by plaques for civic service, trophies and pictures of politicians (he was once Democratic party chairman in Howard County) and postal regulation manuals. His door is open because, as he puts it, "I love for people to be able to walk into my office. I like to see who's coming in."

FRANK HARDESTY dashes the stereotype of a faceless bureaucrat. He is a man who answers his own phone and looks you straight in the eye.

He is excited this week — Oct. 2 commemorates the 100th anniversary of the Big Spring post office. Hardesty said the Howard County Historical Commission has records that show the first postmaster was appointed in the Spring City in 1882. In 100 years, Hardesty is only the 11th postmaster to serve Big Spring.

Stabbing fatal One dead, three hurt after fight

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

An early morning knife fight left a 22-year-old man dead and three others injured today at a northside apartment complex parking lot, police Lt. John Wolf said.

Richard Samora of Garden City was pronounced dead at the scene — Northcrest Apartments, 1002 N. Main — from two stab wounds to the neck and left chest.

Although police said one of the men admitted stabbing Samora, no arrests or requests for an arrest warrant have been made. "The statements (witnesses and confession) will be presented to the district attorney before we ask for a warrant, because we're assuming this is a fight where self-defense is involved," Wolf said.

Samora's wife, children and parents were notified of his death this morning, Wolf said. The body was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for an autopsy, Wolf said.

Details of the fight are sketchy because the case is still under investigation, Wolf said. Police reports said that Officer O.L. Everett answered a call about 1 a.m. to a knife fight at the apartments and found about 30 people crowded around a black male standing near a white 1974 Chevrolet, blood dripping from his forehead. Samora lay on the sidewalk in front of the car, Everett said.

Everett said he found another injured black male on the hood of a car about 150 feet south of the white Chevrolet. The two men — identified only as Nathaniel Lemon and Anthony Wright of Big Spring — were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The fourth man involved in the incident is Samora's brother, Arturo, who is in stable condition in Malone-

Wolf said statements indicate only one knife was involved in the fight. One witness told police the men also fought with a hammer and a belt, Wolf said.

5 die after Soviet jet crashes

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — A Soviet airliner skidded off a runway at Luxembourg's airport, sideswiped a water tower and exploded into flames, and the government said today that five people were killed and 72 injured.

Initial reports put the death toll at 53. That was revised to 12 and later a police spokesman said the number was no higher than 10. The latest toll was given by Roger Sietzen, president of Luxembourg's national airline, Luxair.

Sietzen, speaking for the Luxembourg government, said all five dead in Wednesday's crash at Findel Airport were Luxembourg nationals.

He said the injuries to the other 72 people "vary considerably."

He said the Aeroflot Ilyushin-62 airliner — enroute to Lima, Peru from Moscow with 66 passengers and a crew of 11 — skidded off the runway after it made a normal approach at the Luxembourg airport.

"Immediately after the landing the aircraft drifted toward the right of the landing strip and came to a standstill in a small woods," he said.

The aircraft, which had sideswiped a water tower, burst into flames but most of the passengers and the entire crew escaped, he said.

Neither Sietzen nor any other government official would speculate on what made the plane shoot off the runway or comment on police reports that one of the engines malfunctioned.

Transportation Minister Joseph Barthel also denied a report published in a local newspaper that the crew members were lax in assisting the injured.

"To the contrary, I would say," Barthel said. "The pilot told investigators he lost control when he tried to reverse engines in a standard braking procedure. One engine may have failed to reverse, sending the plane into a sharp turn, investigators speculated."

Tougher DWI law incentive passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving rapidly to complete action on legislation designed to encourage states to toughen their laws against drunken driving.

The bill was passed by the House on a voice vote Wednesday and sent to the Senate, which passed similar legislation earlier this year.

The House version would establish a three-year, $125 million grant program for states that move to combat drunken driving.

In order to get the bill to the White House for President Reagan's signature before Congress recesses Friday, Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chief sponsor of the Senate measure, said the Senate would adopt the House version.

"The cornerstone of this legislation is really very simple: to make our drunk driving laws an effective deterrent by ensuring that penalties will be swiftly and surely meted out — without exception — in all cases," said Pell.

"It is the certainty of the sanction, rather than the severity of it, that is the key to an effective deterrent; indeed, if punishment is too severe, judges and prosecutors will refuse to invoke it," he said.

Under the legislation, states would be eligible for highway safety grants by satisfying four basic criteria.

The measure includes an automatic 90-day license suspension on first offense and a one-year license suspension for any repeat offense; a mandatory 48-hour jail sentence or 10 days of community service for a second offense within a five-year period; the establishment of 0.10 percent level of alcohol in the bloodstream as "per se" evidence of intoxication; and increased enforcement of a state's drunken driving laws.

A House aide said only two states, Iowa and West Virginia, now could meet the four basic criteria necessary to receive the federal funds. However, he said, Delaware is near reaching the criteria.

Eight other states would have to change their administrative practices to make sure a drunken driver gets his license suspended.

Marine killed in apparent mine blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — One American Marine was killed and three were injured at Beirut International Airport today in what Pentagon officials said "may have been a mine explosion."

Col. Robert O'Brien, a Pentagon spokesman, said officials here were getting "fragmentary information. Indications are that one of the men was seriously injured and that two others are ambulatory."

Don't forget to register

Friday is the last day to register to vote in the Nov. 2 general election. People cannot vote if they are not registered.

Registration takes place in the Howard County courthouse in the tax assessor-collector's office.

In the June runoff primary, the final Democratic and Republican candidates were chosen by approximately 1.3 million voters — out of 14.2 million people in Texas. Less than 10 percent of the state's population made those decisions for the rest of Texas.

First local bale ginned

Coahoma claims the first bale of cotton ginned in Howard County this year. The Wendell Shive Gin in Coahoma ginned "a couple of bales" this morning, according to gin owner Wendell Shive. The first 500-pound bale belonged to Travis Reid, Shive said.

ANIMAL WARDEN LINDA THACKER
...demonstrates skunk trap

Rabies panic erupts in city

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

"People are just panicking," said Big Spring Animal Warden Linda Thacker. "We got seven or eight calls yesterday, and they think everything is rabid."

At the root of the stink are seven cases of rabies reported in the Big Spring area this year, resulting in at least two families having to take rabies shots.

Five of the reported rabies cases were eight miles south of town and one in Forsan.

The worst of those cases occurred in June, when a skunk attacked four-year old Gene Reed of the Tubbs addition. His mother, Vickie Reed, said the boy was bitten "eight or nine times" when he crawled under their mobile home to help his father erect skirting around the trailer.

The state laboratory confirmed the skunk was rabid, and Gene and his parents received a series of vaccinations. None of them contracted rabies.

The other family forced to take shots were Don and Lana Brewer, their two children and a houseguest, after the Brewers' two Doberman Pinschers killed a rabid skunk.

ONLY ONE case of rabies in a skunk actually has been confirmed within the city limits of Big Spring, said Ms. Thacker.

"There's really nothing to panic about," said Ms. Thacker. "This time of year is always bad for skunks."

However, there are times when the wardens should be called, she said.

"Anytime a person or an animal is bitten by a wild animal, they should contact us. If they see a skunk out in the daytime, they should call us — if it's at night, by the time we get out there, the skunk's gone. Anyway, it's normal for them to be out at night. Most skunks come out early in the morning or when it's getting dark — that's normal. Usually, if you leave them alone, they'll leave you alone."

AS A RESULT of the many calls and the nearby confirmed cases of rabies, a government trapper paid a visit to Big Spring and gave the Big Spring animal wardens some advice on trapping skunks.

"He showed us how to set a trap and how to put a sack over it," Ms. Thacker said. "The sack makes it dark and that calms them down — they won't spray then."

Captured skunks are killed, she said, and if the skunk has bitten a person or animal, the head is sent to a state laboratory to determine whether the animal was a rabies carrier.

U.S. economic indicator slips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main gauge of future economic health turned down in August, and initial claims for unemployment benefits soared to a record level in mid-September, officials reported today in a new batch of bad economic news.

The decline of 0.9 percent in the Commerce Department's Index of Leading Economic Indicators followed four monthly gains, which had built hopes of recovery from the lingering recession.

The 703,000 initial claims for state jobless benefits for the week ending Sept. 18 — as reported by the Labor Department — seemed to indicate that things weren't improving much in September.

Commerce's report also said a separate measure of current conditions indicated the economy hit the lowest point of the recession last month.

Officials had said last week the leading indicators index probably had dipped in August, so today's news was not a shock. But it still was bound to be read as a discouraging economic sign.

The index is designed to forecast future trends in the economy.

"At this point, we are in the interim period between a recession and a recovery," Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said in a statement distributed after the figures were released.

"One month's dip in the leading indicators doesn't mean the economy is about to sink," he said.

Police Beat

Man with weapon charged

Police said they arrested 21-year-old Frederico Hernandez of 911 N. Runnels last night on suspicion of unlawfully carrying a weapon.

Hernandez was arrested after his mother-in-law told police someone fired several shots in the air at her residence, Chaparral Trailer Park lot 23 on east Interstate 20, about 12:15 a.m. today.

Police arrested the man about five minutes later as he walked along Hilltop Road. The suspect carried an unloaded .22-caliber blue steel revolver, police said.

Police reports also showed the following:

- A 33-year-old man using the alias Mark J. Mitchell of 916 Munosa, Killeen, was arrested at 12:40 a.m. on suspicion of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Police said they are holding the man for Fort Hood in Killeen. The suspect was arrested at 309 N.W. Ninth after Dale Avant of Wasson Road reported a suspicious person near Kwikee Drive-In Grocery, 510 Lamesa Highway. The car license plate number matched that of a vehicle stolen out of Killeen.

- Manuela Castillo, 27, of 404 W. Seventh was arrested at 11:04 a.m. yesterday on suspicion of theft under $5. The theft was the third in two days at Furr's Supermarket, 900 11th Place. Ms. Castillo was released after paying an $85 bond.

- Klaus Hugo Quernheim, 25, of Gail Route was arrested at 2 p.m. yesterday on several traffic warrants.
- Someone stole a $344.50 flute from a Goliad Junior High locker between 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

- Frank Vasquez of 3800 Connally said someone apparently towed away a 1979 Pontiac Gran Prix he was overhauling at his residence.

Sheriff's Log

Aggravated assault charge filed

Howard County sheriff's deputies report Tony Martinez, 19, of 606 N.W. 11th, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin in connection with a city police charge of aggravated assault. Martinez posted a $20,000 bond to be released. Records show Martinez was not confined in county jail.

- Sheriff's deputies arrested Tommy Jo King, 42, of 2900 Lawrence, on a county warrant of issuance of bad checks. Ms. King posted a $750 bond after being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin. Records show she was not confined in county jail.
- Sheriff's deputies also arrested Sherry Keeton, 22, of 1104 Nolan, in connection with a county warrant for issuance of bad checks. Ms. Keeton posted a $200 bond, set by Heflin, to be released. She was not confined in county jail, according to sheriff's office records.

- Debra Lyn Hall, 26, of Odessa, posted a $1,000 bond to be released in connection with a city police arrest for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Bond was set by Peace Justice Bobby West.

- Dennis Glenn Heffington, 17, of 200 Circle Drive, is in county jail following his arrest by New Mexico authorities on a county warrant of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Hardesty

Hardesty ties for second in service time with 17 years. Only Nat Shick, postmaster from 1933 to 1953, served more years.

Hardesty began his postal career in 1965 after receiving a political appointment. He has been hard at work ever since establishing quality service and getting involved in the community.

"I'VE ENJOYED everyday. There's always something new everyday. I get a kick out of helping people. I want to be responsible to people if they have a problem," Hardesty said.

Hardesty's latest good deed involved a $900 check that a woman left in the post office's copy machine in the lobby.

"Evidently she made a copy of the check and then walked off and left the check in the copy machine. I've been trying to contact her all day. There's always something unusual happening like this," he said.

After trying for two days Hardesty finally contacted the lady at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and informed her he had the check.

"She was sure she had mailed the check. I could just see her getting a call asking where the check was, and then she would think for sure there was a thief in the post office," Hardesty said.

HARDESTY SAID the public has several misconceptions about the Postal Service.

"A lot of people will call me up and ask me where a letter is. They have usually been waiting for the letter and think we've misplaced it somewhere," he said.

"They think we have mail stacked against the wall that we look through, but it's just not so, because all the first class mail we have is delivered everyday.

"However, I always go out and look for it, you have to let them know you're interested.

"One time I was at a convention and heard a story by a woman who had a small post office. She said that she had one customer — a young lady — who came in everyday to get a letter from her boyfriend.

"And one day there wasn't a letter from her boyfriend so she asked the postmaster 'Have you put up all of today's mail?' and the postmaster said yes, so the girl asked 'Then could I get tomorrow's mail?' as if it were kept separate."

Hardesty also defends federal employees against the popular notion that they are lazy and inefficient. He is prepared with several facts and figures to prove the Postal Service is remarkably efficient for its size.

"People think government employees are a bunch of fat, complacent people interested in drawing big pay and getting an early retirement. To say they don't care is ridiculous, there are more dedicated people in here than on the outside," Hardesty said.

He said at the Big Spring post office, production has increased 35 percent over the last 15 years with a reduction of 17 employees. Accuracy at the post office is at 99 percent, according to Hardesty. "Those are the best kept secrets around," he said.

Hardesty likes to "roll with the punches" when dealing with his customers and injects humor into the situation when he can.

"One time a lady called up and was missing her Social Security check. She asked me why we were holding up her check. She said, 'Frank, you all have delivered my check on time for 30 years!'"

"I just told her that was a really nice compliment she was paying the post office by saying we had gotten her mail to her on time for 30 years; of course, I told her I would look into the matter. Her check came in the next day," Hardesty said.

Hardesty believes in community involvement, and this month will be busy as Hardesty has had the local office prepare special envelopes for its 100th anniversary to send to stamp collectors. Also he is actively promoting October as National Stamp Collecting month — an activity he feels does not depend on "age, stamina or the weather."

Hardesty takes pride in promoting a good image for the Postal Service — an image he tries to instill in his employees.

"Sometimes the only contact a person has with the federal government is through the post office. They look up to it for their image of the government, so I feel like I'm representing the government. And if a person has a problem or a question and I don't have an answer, I'll be sure and get them one."

Skunks

Public Works Director Tom Decell said it is unlawful to discharge a firearm within the city limits. Therefore, it is best to contact the animal wardens.

There are some precautionary measures that can be taken, Ms. Thacker said.

Alarmed by the reports of rabies, many pet owners are having their animals vaccinated against rabies, she said. City law requires all dogs over three months old to be vaccinated against rabies. However, there is no such ordinance for cats, even though cats are probably more susceptible to contact with rabid skunks because they share many of the same habits.

Any crawl space underneath a house should be boarded up so skunks can't enter, she said.

Mothballs seem to deter skunks, Ms. Thacker said, but care should be taken to see that other pets or children don't come in contact with the mothballs.

According to Ms. Thacker, skunks, dogs and cats are the animals most likely to catch rabies, although any warm-blooded animal can carry the disease. "People are worried about possums, rats and squirrels," she said. "There's never been a reported case in the United States of one of them carrying rabies."

Lone Star Gas settles for half of RRC request

AUSTIN (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. has agreed to accept less than half of what it had sought from its natural gas customers, with one company officer saying the firm did not want to get tied up in a long hearing.

Lone Star filed a request with the Railroad Commission for an additional $90 million in gas revenue, but cut that figure to $42.9 million after negotiations with customer representatives.

The company serves 536 cities and has more than 1.1 million bill-paying customers.

"Lone Star and the cities recognize the importance of time and want to avoid long regulatory processes," company vice president Douglas Williams said Wednesday.

The proposed settlement — signed by representatives of Lone Star, Dallas and the Texas Municipal League — would increase Lone Star's total revenue by 8.63 percent.

The settlement still must be approved by the commission, which will act on the advice of hearing examiner Michael George, who took testimony Wednesday.

The settlement would raise residential customers' monthly charges by 6.6 percent, and Williams said this was substantially less than the inflation rate since Lone Star's last rate increase nearly three years ago. Commercial customers' bills would increase by 7.1 percent.

Austin lawyer Don Butler, representing the Municipal League, said the cities' major concession was to drop its opposition to Lone Star's request to pass on to customers 100 percent of its gas cost increases. Lone Star now passes on 95 percent of those costs.

Texas kidnapping suspect arrested

RIO HONDO, Texas (AP) — A self-styled "political terrorist" wanted for three kidnappings — including that of a man buried alive for four days — was arrested near this rural South Texas town after a high-speed chase that injured two officers, authorities say.

Ronald Floyd White, 38, was being held today at the Brownsville Medical Center, where he was admitted for treatment of high blood pressure, according to Department of Public Safety spokesman Sherwood Hamilton.

White was arrested about 8:40 p.m. Wednesday on an aggravated kidnapping warrant issued in the abduction of Michael Baucom, 20, of Santa Fe, Texas. Baucom was buried for four days in a narrow box while his kidnappers demanded a $75,000 ransom.

Officers, acting on a tip that White was in South Texas, spotted the man in Brownsville, said Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd.

DPS agents, FBI agents and local authorities chased White for more than 30 minutes at more than 100 miles an hour before slowing him to 80 mph by "bumping him off the road," said DPS agent Bud Peters.

Officers said White masterminded a gang that held Baucom for four days. Three people later were arrested in connection with that kidnapping.

Shortly before the arrests, Houston firefighter Coby Garland Hamilton was approached outside a convenience store about 2 a.m. Sunday by a man who claimed his car had broken down. The man, later identified as White, pulled a gun and forced Hamilton to drive him away.

Hamilton said they drove aimlessly for hours, and that White identified himself as a "political terrorist." On Monday afternoon, White put Hamilton in the trunk of his car and left the vehicle beside the highway near George West. Hamilton freed himself hours later as a wrecker was towing the car away.

Robert Cameron, the third kidnap victim, told police he was driving through George West about the time White abandoned Hamilton's car. Cameron said he picked up a man who was "nicely dressed." He later identified the man as White.

3 deaths linked to cyanide in Tylenol

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The deaths of two brothers and a 12-year-old girl in the past two days were caused by pain remedy capsules that had been contaminated with cyanide, officials said today.

Dr. Edmund R. Donoghue, deputy assistant chief medical examiner of Cook County, said that officials were examining two 50-capsule containers of Extra-Strength Tylenol in which "we have definitely confirmed the presence of cyanide."

The containers were taken from the victims' homes. Donoghue identified the Tylenol as lot number MC2880 and added, "We don't know the extent of the contamination, but we don't think anybody should be taking Extra-Strength (Tylenol) at all."

Police in the two suburbs where the victims lived had been alerted and were attempting to learn the source of both bottles, Donoghue said, adding that the Federal Drug Administration's regional office in Chicago had been notified.

"It is impossible to tell when the tampering occurred," said Dr. Michael Shaffer, chief toxicologist with the medical examiner's office. "We tested three capsules from each container of 50 and one of the three from each contained cyanide."

Lamesa 4-H'ers celebrate week

LAMESA (SC) — Nearly 350 4-H members and 50 volunteer leaders in Dawson County are taking part in special activities for National 4-H week Oct. 3-9.

Among these activities are the 4-H achievement banquet to be held Oct. 4. This year's theme, "4-H Pathways to the Future," challenges members to become self-directing, productive and contributing members of society, points out Jimmy Thompson, assistant county extension agent with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Through practical hands-on learning experiences, 4-H members select and follow pathways that lead to success in personal and career development.

4-H, America's largest out-of-school program for boys and girls between the ages of 9 to 19, is the youth program of the cooperative extension service of the state land grant universities and the United States Department of Agriculture. Some 5 million youth are involved in 4-H across the nation, with 140,000 of these in Texas.

The overall mission of the Extension Service in conducting 4-H programs is the development of youth individually as responsible, productive citizens, says Thompson.

4-H members learn specific skills and programs, such as clothing, nutrition, and animal science, with projects in poultry, beef, swine and sheep.

Halloween execution set for Candy Man

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district judge today sentenced a Death Row inmate known as the "Candy Man" to die by injection on Halloween, exactly eight years after he poisoned his 8-year-old son with a cyanide-laced treat.

"It is no accident," state District Judge Michael McSpadden told Ronald Clark O'Bryan on the Oct. 31 date. "I picked it for you especially. I hope it is the last execution date I set for you."

O'Bryan was convicted in the Oct. 31, 1974, poisoning death of his son, Timothy. He was accused of killing the boy to collect the $30,000 insurance money.

Shaw schedules 'campaign harvest'

State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, in appreciation for the support of the people of Howard County, is sponsoring a free "campaign harvest" Monday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. at the Comanche Trail Park Old Settlers Pavilion.

Featured speaker for the event will be Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock, and entertainment will be provided by local talent. Free refreshments will be served.

Cotton meeting set

Cotton Pool Inc. will discuss the 1983 cotton program, federal crop insurance and FHA programs in a meeting to be held in Seminole Tuesday, Oct. 5.

The meeting is open to agribusiness people and their wives, and will include a dinner. The meeting gets underway at 7:30 p.m. in the Seminole Civic Center.

Persons from Howard County wishing to attend may purchase tickets for $5 at the door or contact Donnie Reid at 263-7990.

Game time is changed

Kickoff time for the Coahoma — Denver City Football game Friday night in Denver City has been changed to 7:30 p.m. instead of 8 p.m., officials of Coahoma High School said today.

Ex-IRS officials doubt benefits of flat tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former Internal Revenue Service commissioners say a single-rate income tax for everyone would only simplify the tax system if there is a wholesale elimination of credits and deductions.

"If we are seduced into believing that simplification requires a flat rate, we will unnecessarily sacrifice substantial equity for minimal gains in simplification," Kurtz told the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday.

There seems little support in Congress for a single-rate plan, chiefly because it would produce a tax cut for upper-income Americans at the expense of middle-income families.

Gephardt, D-Mo., would preserve some key deductions — such as for home interest, exempt a four-member family's first $10,600 income from any tax, limit most people to a 14 percent tax rate and impose a surtax on families above $40,000.

It is not just a desire for lower taxes or simplicity that makes the Bradley-Gephardt bill attractive, Harris said. "To the contrary, its real backing emanates from a sense that most middle- and lower-middle-income families are being had today by an inequitable economic program put forth by this administration and by a well-meaning progressive tax prin-

Although those surveyed by Harris called for fewer deductions, most didn't want to give up their own. Eighty percent want to keep a deduction for medical expenses; 71 percent want to retain a deduction for interest paid on their home; 66 percent would keep the writeoff for charitable contributions; 64 percent want the deduction for state and local income and property taxes.

Beirut: a city united again

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Amin Gemayel today proclaimed this war-torn Lebanese capital a united city and officially reopened Beirut's airport as the first commercial jetliner landed in nearly four months.

"I am very happy to announce today that Beirut has again become the capital of all Lebanon," Gemayel, a Lebanese Christian, said at the tomb of the unknown soldier at the mid-city museum, near the Green Line that divides Beirut into Christian east and Moslem west.

The last attempt to unify Beirut was in November 1976, when Syrian peacekeeping forces entered the city to smother the Christian-Moslem civil war. That try collapsed under the pressure of renewed fighting.

The Lebanese state radio said a Trans-Mediterranean Airlines jet arrived at the airport at midmorning followed by a Middle East Airlines jet, in what was regarded as a symbolic return to normal at the long-closed airport.

Earlier, flak-jacketed Marines swept the capital's coast for mines to prepare an amphibious landing of armor and the last contingents of the multinational peacekeeping force later in the day, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Defense Department spokesman Army Lt. Col. Lee Delorme said the leathernecks' landing operation which began Wednesday was resuming around noon and would take several hours.

President Reagan said Wednesday the Marines would stay at least until all foreign armies have left the beleaguered Middle East nation, and that the leathernecks might remain beyond then.

Defense officials said between 800 and 900 leathernecks landed Wednesday and the rest of the 1,200-man Marine contingent of the 32nd Amphibious Task Force was coming ashore today, bringing to more than 3,000 the strength of the multinational force.

The Lebanese government requested the multi-national force return to Beirut following the Sept. 14 assassination of President-elect Bashir Gemayel and the massacre of Palestinian refugees at two Beirut camps Sept. 16-18.

Sheriff shot dead after he exchanges himself for hostages

BROOKHAVEN, Miss. (AP) — A county sheriff was shot to death Wednesday after he exchanged himself for four hostages held by an armed man, and the gunman was then killed by other officers, Highway Patrol Chief Donald Butler said.

Franklin County Sheriff James Posey, 37, was shot once in the chest from close range, said Lincoln County Coroner Morris Henderson, and was dead by the time he was taken to King's Daughter in Brookhaven about nine miles from the shooting scene.

Butler identified the dead gunman as Derald V. Coghlan, 25, of Brookhaven, who was scheduled to stand trial soon in Magnolia on a manslaughter charge. A Highway Patrol spokesman said Coghlan was shot several times.

West Texas may get rain

By Associated Press

A few widely scattered showers dotted portions of West Texas, the Panhandle and the South Plains today, but skies were fair to partly cloudy over most of the state.

Early morning temperatures were in the 60s and 70s statewide. Pre-dawn readings ranged from 61 at Guadalupe Pass to 78 at Brownsville.

Winds were mostly from the south at 5 to 15 mph.

The forecast called for cloudy to partly cloudy skies with a chance of showers and thunderstorms in West Texas. Mostly fair skies were expected in East Texas.

A flash flood watch was in effect for portions of far West Texas.

WAITING IN LINE — Each day they come, homeless and hungry in the nation's capital, and McKenna's Wagon rolls up its windows to serve them dinner.

McKenna's Wagon

Distributing meals for the capital's homeless

WASHINGTON (AP) — As dusk falls across Farragut Square, thousands of workers pour out of office buildings two blocks from the White House and head for home without a glance at the converted ice cream truck and its curious clientele.

Some 30 to 35 men have lined up, their calloused hands clutching at plastic bags that contain their belongings. They are waiting for sandwiches, yogurt, potato chips and hot chocolate from McKenna's Wagon, a new volunteer effort to feed the city's homeless, destitute men and women.

A lady known as Miss Doris rises from a park bench and follows the men to the wagon for dinner.

Miss Doris sleeps in a parking garage and hasn't eaten all day. She takes one of two sandwiches and tucks it in her tattered shawl for later. "You're just wonderful people," she tells the volunteers in the truck. "I don't know what we'd do without you."

McKenna's Wagon rolled onto the streets of the nation's capital on Sept. 3, providing dinner seven days a week. A dozen volunteers take turns picking up food and supplies, preparing sandwiches and taking the truck on its rounds. Each night, the lines have grown longer along the curbside, as more and more needy people hear about the free meal.

"We're up to almost 300 each night," said Dr. Veronica Maz, a former Georgetown University sociology professor who started the wagon program. "There must be many more people out there than we realize who are hungry, who are sleeping in parks and alleys."

Shelters in the city currently house 467 men and 158 women. There are 193 homeless families in the District of Columbia, according to the latest figures from the city's Department of Human Services. Those families include 424 children.

"Lately we've been seeing mothers and children at a few of the stops," said Ms. Maz. "Some of them are shoeless, and we've found out that some of the mothers and children have been sleeping in the parks. Sometimes they don't come again and we don't know what's happened to them."

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., driver Bob Harris weaves the truck on its daily route to Lafayette Park, Washington Circle, Farragut Square, a triangle at 11th and I streets, Northwest, and Dupont Circle if supplies last that long.

Most of the food is purchased for 5 cents a pound from the Capital Area Community Food Bank, a non-profit, private organization which collects food donated from area supermarket chains. Food, gasoline, cups and sandwich wrap cost just over $100 a week, some of which comes from donations by Washington residents, churches and community groups.

McKenna's Wagon was named after the late Rev. Horace B. McKenna, a local Jesuit priest who worked among the poor. It is a follow-up project to Martha's Table, which Ms. Maz began six months ago to provide a learning center, companionship and a free meal to children from broken or impoverished homes in the city.

Martha's Table, located at 14th and W streets, and McKenna's Wagon, depend totally upon volunteers like Ms. Maz who stopped teaching at Georgetown in 1980.

Ms. Maz says she doesn't miss the academic life, claiming she's "still teaching people. It's just a different group of people. I'm doing something I think is more meaningful to me personally."

At a recent gathering at Washington Circle, several men talked of unsuccessful job hunting and the cold nights ahead. "Have you found a coat for me by chance?" asked John, an elderly man wearing a cotton shirt and thin sweater. John is part of "the bridge community," who live under Key Bridge which spans the Potomac River between the District and Virginia, according to Ms. Ridge.

The old man's eyes brightened when a young volunteer handed a coat out the truck window. "Thank you, Doug. Thank you a lot," he said. "You're a lifesaver."

Jersey judge to teachers: report for detention

A judge ordered up to 100 Teaneck, N.J., teachers to report for a day of detention today at an elementary school cleared of its pupils to house the striking instructors.

In Michigan, Pennsylvania and Illinois, meanwhile, walkouts by 16,530 teachers continued, affecting 290,000 students nationwide.

Talks in Teaneck broke off early today "with absolutely no progress" after resuming Wednesday afternoon, said Don Rosser, a spokesman for the New Jersey Education Association. No further negotiating sessions were scheduled for the 419 striking educators of the Teaneck Teachers Association.

On Wednesday, Superior Court Judge Sherwin D. Lester ordered 50 high school teachers who were randomly chosen from personnel lists to serve three-hour custodial terms in dormitory-like trailers that house Bergen County's work-release prisoners. Fifteen of the 50 were excused for a variety of reasons.

It was the first time this fall that striking teachers were penalized by authorities.

Those teachers and another group of 50 were to be taken into custody today, to be housed from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Washington Irving school, Lester said.

"It's the court's obligation to impose greater and greater sanctions," Lester said.

On Wednesday, several hundred teachers who had gathered in the parking lot of the courthouse cheered and applauded when they learned some would go to jail.

"I wanted no mass arrests, I wanted no confrontations," Lester said during a hearing on his back-to-work order. "There will be no fingerprints and there will be no mug shots."

"I don't care about going to jail, but this is going to damage Teaneck," said David Sosland, an English teacher at the high school. "This is a disgrace. We're not criminals."

Classes for 5,200 students in the district have been taught by substitutes since the teachers struck on Sept. 17. The school board's latest offer would raise salaries by 16.5 percent over two years, while the union was seeking 19.5 percent, according to board secretary Vincent Doyle.

Derailed tankers are still in flames

LIVINGSTON, La. (AP) — Workers wearing air masks and protective suits have found toxic chemicals in soil and streams near derailed tanker cars that were burning today for the third straight day, authorities said.

The town of Livingston remained empty, although about 500 to 600 of the 3,300 residents evacuated after the railroad accident Tuesday were allowed to return Wednesday night to their homes in "a rural area of a rural area" or "side the danger zone," said Sgt. Stephen Campbell.

Early Tuesday, 43 cars of a 101-car Illinois Central-Gulf train derailed on the eastern edge of the town, triggering fires and three major explosions over two days, and forcing evacuation of residents within a five-mile radius.

Even state police and emergency personnel were ordered to stay two miles away from the tank cars, many containing vinyl chloride and other toxic chemicals.

Officials are letting the fire burn itself out over the next few days as the toxic fumes rise into the sky and dissipate.

Hurricane Paul hits Baja

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Hurricane Paul slammed into northwest Mexico early today, packing 112 mph gusts and heavy rains that damaged homes and cut telephone service along the coast of the Gulf of California.

The national weather service in Mexico City said the vanguard of the hurricane passed over the Baja California peninsula late Wednesday and smashed into the mainland in the early morning hours.

The Red Cross in La Paz, state capital of South Baja California, said the winds were felt since noon Wednesday. A spokesman, who did not give his name, said about 85 homes were damaged by the winds and heavy rains.

A spokesman for the Public Security Office in San Jose del Cabo said earlier that about 3,000 families had been evacuated from low-lying areas in his city and in La Paz.

Register to vote now

Tomorrow is your last chance to register in time to vote in the Nov. 2 general election.

If you will be 18 by Nov. 2, and if you are a U.S. citizen and a resident of the county, you can register to vote by going to the tax assessor-collector's office on the first floor of the county courthouse before 5 p.m. Friday.

UNFORTUNATELY, only two out of three eligible voters in Texas are registered to vote. Of the current population, approximately 9.9 million Texans are eligible to register and vote, yet only 6.6 million are in fact registered to vote. Also, voter turnout in the May 1, 1982 primary and June runoff primary was extremely low — only 24 percent and 9.3 percent, respectively.

THIS IS PRECISELY why voter registration must be encouraged. Active citizen participation in the electoral process is the foundation of our government. If we are to remain a viable state and nation, we must not forget our roots — set in the idea of government of, by and for the people.

So if you haven't registered yet, get on down to the courthouse — pronto.

What about cremation?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you find anything in the Bible that would prevent cremation? — Mrs. N.R.

DEAR MRS. N.R.: Cremation was not the normal form of disposing of the remains of a dead person among the Israelites or the early Christians as far as we know. (An exception was the burning of the bodies of King Saul and his sons after their deaths in battle to prevent their desecration by the Philistine enemy, 1 Samuel 31:12 — although even here the bones which remained were taken for burial). One reason cremation was avoided was the strong Christian belief about the resurrection of the body, and the belief that the body was therefore important even in death. Another reason was probably that cremation was commonly practiced by pagan societies (it was common in the Roman Empire), and Christians wanted to disassociate themselves from pagan practices as much as possible.

At the same time, I see nothing that would normally prevent cremation from a Christian standpoint. The Bible underlines the fact that we will be given new bodies in heaven — bodies which are free of sin and its effects. "For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed. For the perishable must clothe itself with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality" (1 Corinthians 15:52-53). But this does not mean there is a strict relationship between the material out of which our bodies are formed and the material of our new bodies.

More important, of course, is the whole question of death and salvation. Each of us will some day die, and our bodies will cease to function. But that is not the end! Each of us lives on into eternity — either in heaven or in hell. Are you prepared to meet God?

Because Jesus Christ rose from the dead, we know that there is life after death and that we will go to be with him in heaven if we have trusted him for our salvation. If you have never committed your life to Christ, I hope you will take that step right now. Preparing for eternity is the most important thing you can ever do.

Around the Rim

BY CLIFF COAN

Life sentence

Jim was a handsome, normal, everyday young man, just out of high school. He had a decent job, and enjoyed his work. Nancy, an attractive blonde with a precious personality, was still in high school, but everyone considered her mature for her age. They were desperately in love.

A pause here is in order; the story is basically true. A few changes have been made — to protect the innocent, as they say.

Jim and Nancy had been going together for several weeks when they first made love. Neither was a virgin, but neither one took the step lightly — they were not cheap. Also, they were convinced that this time was special — they were really in love.

THIS TIME was special, more so than they could know at the time — Nancy became pregnant.

Nancy wasn't stupid, but she never used a contraceptive. "If my mother ever found out, she'd kill me," she said, "besides, if I had them, I might be tempted too often. Anyway, I didn't know anything about which is the best kind — my parents don't talk about things like that."

At first, she wasn't sure if she really was pregnant. After all, she'd been late before. But she had a feeling this time was different.

"You learn a lot about yourself lying awake at night and trying to stop the unstoppable," she said. "I just couldn't face it."

After she made an appointment with an out-of-town doctor and confirmed her worst fears, she had to face the facts. She was definitely pregnant.

"I was stunned when she told me," Jim said. "I just couldn't believe it. I thought surely she was on the pill. We stayed up all one night, just crying and trying to figure out what to do. I was willing to marry her right then, but she wouldn't here of it."

"We finally decided that we'd have to get an abortion," she said. "You do a lot of looking at yourself closely in that situation, and I knew that neither one of us was ready to be married. The realities convinced me that I wasn't nearly as grown up as I thought."

Jim withdrew $500 from his meager savings, and went with Nancy to the doctor.

"I couldn't do like some of my friends have done — just give her the money and say 'See you later,'" he said. "And I still loved her."

THEY DIDN'T talk much on the way home from the doctor's.

"What can you say," Jim said. "Everything seems kind of insignificant after that."

At first, they saw each other all the time, just as they had before. But things slowly changed.

"It was like we had this great big gulf between us," Nancy said. "I felt like they do in these movies where two people see a murder and are afraid to talk about it to each other. I still loved Jim, but things were so different between us."

Gradually, they began to drift apart.

"Nancy changed a whole lot," Jim said. "We had so much that was so private between us, but we were like strangers to each other."

"We just weren't comfortable with each other anymore," Nancy said. "We both felt so guilty."

They're both married now, but the mention of one to the other still gets a reaction.

"You know, if I could change anything in my life," Nancy says, "I would have used some kind of contraceptive, regardless of anything my mother would have said. It wouldn't have changed my personality any, but I could have prevented something that changed my life a whole lot. Every once in a while, I wonder how much different my life would have been."

Reliving high school purgatory

Would anyone alive, having endured the purgatory of high school, ever want to repeat it? Maybe so, but I'm not one of them, and neither is anyone I know. Yet, for some reason people who have survived the experience feel the compulsion every 10 years to commemorate their agony. I refer to class reunions.

So, why did I go to mine, 10 years after escaping high school? There are two answers to that question. The first is that I didn't want to spend the next 10 years being hounded by my mother for not going. The second is that despite my reservations, I figured any event which is so durable a part of the American tradition couldn't be without value.

I was also told that there were some genuine attractions. But contrary to myth, I didn't get to gloat over all my popular, attractive classmates who have fallen on hard times. The unfortunate truth is that most of the popular and attractive people remain popular and attractive. Good looks and charming personalities may fade by late middle age, but at age 28 they're still intact — and in many cases more pronounced than ever.

UNFORTUNATELY, the hierarchy that ruled in high school still rules 10 years later. Habits of deference to our superiors don't vanish with time. In the minds of their classmates the girl voted most beautiful will always be beautiful, and the football captain will always be the football captain. You and I will always be neither.

Not only that, but even kids who were losers in high school generally improve with age. Growing up means losing acne, getting rid of braces, acquiring certain elementary habits of personal hygiene, and the like. Those brainy, book-grinding nerds with thick glasses whom you once looked down on sometimes end up owning their own multinational computer firms and driving Porsches. So, if you were neither the class favorite nor a brainy nerd, you may find things more depressing than ever.

In any event, the only people who go to their high school reunions are those who have done reasonably well. The class Casanova, who went out with cheerleaders while you mastered solitaire, may have lost all his hair, married a shrew and ended up shoveling out stables for a living. If so, you won't get a chance to savor his downfall, because he won't show up.

Reunions are supposed to fill everyone with that old school spirit, erasing past antagonisms in a warm glow. The truth is that high school reunions are uncomfortably similar to high school. And everyone knows that high school is a vicious, ultra-competitive environment, something to make the Nixon White House look like a Junior League meeting.

Now, office politics can be nasty, but you don't have to socialize with your co-workers off the job. In your circle of friends, there may be occasional gossiping and sniping, but at least you can avoid them at work.

In high school, there is no line of demarcation: the people you spend your work days with are the same ones who inhabit your after-hours environment. There is no escape from work life in social life, or vice versa, because they're one and the same. If you don't get along with your classmates, you're pretty well stuck. That's one reason why teenagers are so obsessed with being liked, and why the social competition in high school is so intense.

MOST OF US, given a few years in the real world, learn to laugh at the strange pre-occupations of high school. We've learned that we can live with our strengths and weaknesses, that we can maintain friendships and love affairs, that we can earn a living on our own. High school is painful partly because you don't know any of those things at age 16, and you spend a lot of time agonizing about them.

No doubt the idea behind class reunions is to let you renew old acquaintances under better conditions, and to remind you of how silly it all was and how far you've come. But if your experience is like mine, it may merely bring back all the anxieties and tensions, forcing you to recall what an unpleasant period that was.

I suspect that high school is a wretched experience for just about everyone — the most beautiful girl and the football captain included. You're too young to enjoy the freedom and opportunities of an adult, but too old to ignore the awesome responsibilities you'll soon be forced to assume. Meanwhile, you have to learn to cope with the world on your own, a formidable task. Then there are those profound changes in our mind and body, which are alternately exhilarating and terrifying.

So, why would anyone want to relive all that, even for a few hours? It's like observing the anniversary of a wisdom tooth extraction — an event to be endured stoically and forgotten as quickly as possible. Unfortunately for generations unborn, it's probably impossible to abolish high school. But for their sake and ours, we could at least do away with class reunions.

Los Alamos nepotism

WASHINGTON — Bureaucrats at the Los Alamos National Laboratory responded to my recent exposure of nepotism at the nuclear research facility in typical fashion: They attempted to uncover the whistle blowers, instead of taking steps to correct the abuses.

Officials pored over telephone records of the New Mexico lab in a desperate attempt to find out who had talked to my associate John Dillon. And what terrible secrets had been compromised? That officials had given cushy jobs to their relatives at a time when less favored employees were being laid off.

Los Alamos spokesman Jim Breen said the search of phone records was done to determine whether employees were making unauthorized calls to my office on the Federal Telephone System (FTS). "We have reason to believe FTS may have been used," he said. "It is a criminal violation."

In hopes of preventing any further waste of time and effort, I can assure the vengeful bureaucrats their telephone search was doomed from the start. None of my sources called from laboratory telephones.

Fortunately for the taxpayers and Los Alamos workers, my report inspired other, less perverted investigations of the situation at the laboratory. The investigators are going after the substance of the charges, not trying to unmask the whistle blowers.

A Hispanic rights group, the American G.I. Forum, asked the United States attorney to look into Los Alamos hiring practices. And the Energy Department, which oversees Los Alamos, has launched an investigation by its inspector general.

Spokesman Breen said that the lab itself had requested the U.S. attorney's investigation of the G.I. Forum's complaint, and added that laboratory officials will cooperate fully. Breen said he was not aware of the separate inspector general's investigation.

A spokesman for the inspector general said he could neither confirm nor deny that an investigation was under way. But my sources say the I.G., while focusing primarily on alleged abuse of travel allowances by lab personnel, is also scrutinizing hiring practices at Los Alamos.

MEANWHILE, I have further examples of nepotism for the bureaucrats and investigators to chew over.

One case I reported was the hiring of Susan Gilmore, the stepdaughter of Rosemary Harris, associate director for administration, whose office is responsible for hiring and firing, among other things. Disgruntled employees said Gilmore was hired over more qualified candidates, but Harris denied she pulled any strings for her stepdaughter.

Now I've learned that David Chastain, the stepdaughter's husband, was hired last July as a $2,900-a-month laboratory engineer, even though he does not have a New Mexico engineering license. The Los Alamos spokesman confirmed this, but said "many" of the 879 other engineers at the facility don't have state licenses either. He said the job opening was advertised.

Chief administrator Harris's father, Dr. Payne Harris, also works at Los Alamos. A physician, he originally worked at the laboratory from 1954 to 1962. He was an unpaid consultant in 1979, and became a paid consultant last year.

Dr. Harris has been working under a contract, which extends through the end of the fiscal year today, that pays him $295 for each day he works for the lab, with total yearly compensation not to exceed $20,000. The contract also includes a $5,000 travel budget.

Footnote: The State Department insists that the increase in rural violence in Guatemala "appears, when identifiable, to be largely the responsibility of the (leftist) guerrillas," according to the Foggy Bottom fact sheet.

The State Department also points encouragingly to the fact that Rios Montt has brought a number of former government officials to trial on corruption charges, and has reportedly improved relations between the government and the Catholic Church.

WATCH ON WASTE: When Uncle Sam's tax collectors go after cheats and chiselers, they show no mercy. But when the Internal Revenue Service's bureaucrats decide to spend the taxpayers' money, they can get downright lighthearted.

Just two weeks ago, for example, the Internal Revenue Service's poobahs in the Internal Security Division decided to hold a planning conference for assistant regional inspectors and branch chiefs. Though many of the 36 participants were based in Washington, the site picked for the conference was the Bilmar Beach Resort Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The conference cost about $20,000. An IRS spokeswoman said the price tag would have been roughly the same if the conference were held in Washington, because the junketers got off-season rates in Florida. Uh-huh.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER: Briefings are big deals at the Pentagon. They are, as a recent classified memo pointed out, "an important aid in the Joint Chiefs of Staff decisionmaking process." But they're apparently so important that the big brass can't wait for the actual briefings to find out what they're going to be told at the briefings. The same memo orders that 14 copies of the briefing documents be submitted "as soon as possible before the briefings." So if the general doesn't want to attend the briefing...

CROWDED PLANET: The baby boom in Third World countries may pose a threat to international stability, according to an unpublished Senate Foreign Relations Committee briefing paper.

"The staggering growth of world population," it points out, "will be one of the strongest forces shaping the future of human society." The report predicts that population growth could reach 90 million a year by the turn of the century.

Countries like Pakistan, Bangladesh and Kenya currently have such whopping birthrates that it will "likely result in intolerable strains on the fragile environments and socio-economic systems of these societies," the staff paper notes.

Letter writer is outraged

Dear Editor, I recently sent a letter to your "Mailbag" section which you published in Friday, September 17, 1982 paper.

I was outraged when I read the letter that was signed with my name. The letter that appeared in the paper was not the letter I wrote. Someone at the Herald took the liberty to reword parts of my letter, and they even went as far as to leave an entire paragraph out.

I thought the purpose of the "Mailbag" section was for your readers to express their opinions, not for your staff to rewrite and print as they feel it should have been written.

If you rewrite the letters to your liking before printing them you should do the original writer a favor and not list their name with credit for the letter.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD — Barbara Walters sits with former Secretary of State Alexander Haig, who tells why he quit his job in tonight's "20/20" show on channel 2 at 9 p.m.

Haig talks

Tells Barbara Walters it was a mistake to be secretary of state

NEW YORK (AP) — In his first interview since resigning as secretary of state, Alexander Haig says he decided early in his tenure in the Reagan administration that it had been a mistake to take the job.

Haig realized his error "fairly early on" when he found "opposition developing to one's views merely for the sake of opposing those views — and I began to conclude that was the case in certain instances."

Such unnecessary disagreements threatened the nation's security, Haig added in the interview, made Sept. 16 and to be broadcast tonight on ABC's "20/20" news magazine and "Nightline."

When Haig resigned June 25, he gave no reason other than that American foreign policy "was shifting from that careful course which we laid out" in the administration.

But in the interview, Haig, the White House chief of staff during the last months of the Nixon administration, discussed several of his policy differences with the President Reagan.

He did not say which, if any, caused him to resign, but he did say he had considered quitting "for months" before he actually did it.

"When an official assumes office with a set of understandings, as I did, I would hope those understandings would be abided by," Haig commented in a partial transcript released Wednesday by ABC. Although he accepted the position with the belief he would be in charge of foreign policy, Haig said he soon discovered that "from time to time ... that was not the case."

Haig said he is opposed to Reagan's stand against the Soviet natural gas pipeline. Imposing retroactive sanctions on a pipeline conceived in the mid-1970s could only cause "international hiccups, doubts, concerns and tensions" among our allies and others, Haig said.

"And I also felt that we had an obligation to provide our friends abroad with alternatives," he said, adding, "And we didn't do a very good job ... and we still haven't."

He urged "some more patient, somewhat careful and certainly more extensive consultative cooperation with those who share our values."

Haig said he was "fundamentally behind" Reagan in all his peace efforts regarding Israel and the Middle East.

But if Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin is "worth his salt," he will not be pressured into accepting Reagan's Middle East peace plan if he thinks it is not in Israel's best interest, Haig said.

He noted that his successor, George Shultz, "has made it clear that everything is negotiable," as Haig said he believes it must be.

Report: Soviet nuke edge unfounded

LONDON (AP) — Fears of the Soviet Union gaining over the United States in strategic nuclear weapons are unfounded, the International Institute for Strategic Studies said in a report issued today.

But the prestigious London-based research organization warned the balance of nuclear and conventional weapons in Europe is shifting against the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The conclusions were part of the 1982-83 "Military Balance" report prepared by the private, non-profit institute, which draws members from 50 nations and concentrates on international security, defense and arms control.

The United States has 6,920 land and sea-based warheads compared with an estimated 7,000 Soviet warheads, the report said. But when bomber-delivered warheads are added, the United States, with a larger long-range bomber fleet, has 9,268 warheads against the overall Soviet total of an estimated 7,300, the report said.

However, the institute said this U.S. edge is partly offset by the greater force of all the Soviet weapons — an estimated 6,100 megatons against the overall U.S. total of 3,752.

The report said the Warsaw Pact advantage in Europe stems mainly from the deployment of Soviet multi-warhead SS-20 missiles and NATO's failure to boost its missile arsenal.

The institute listed 4,124 Warsaw Pact long- and medium-range missiles in Europe against 1,643 in NATO's arsenal. This does not include the Poseidon and Trident systems, which are currently arming U.S. submarines but are not necessarily available for defense in Europe.

The report calculated that in a European nuclear war, up to 1,085 Warsaw Pact warheads would penetrate NATO defenses against 275 Allied warheads hitting their targets. It noted, however, the Allies would likely score 563 nuclear hits if Poseidon and Trident warheads were included.

"This reflects the fact that Soviet aircraft are generally newer than NATO's and that (Warsaw) Pact air defenses are somewhat denser" and tougher to penetrate, the institute said.

It said NATO's weakness in Europe is unlikely to be overcome before the end of the 1980s, when it completes the scheduled deployment of 434 long-range Cruise and 108 medium-range Pershing 2 missiles.

But the report said with several small-scale wars being waged around the world, "international security in the 1980s is less affected by nuclear competition than by the growing refinement and spread of conventional weapons."

It said the numerical balance in conventional forces has been steadily moving toward the Soviets over the last two decades while NATO also has lost its technological edge.

The West's need to bolster conventional forces was the theme of a speech Wednesday night in London by NATO's Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, U.S. Army Gen. Bernard Rogers.

Rogers told the Royal United Services Institute that NATO were overly dependent on nuclear weapons because member countries were not prepared to pay for stronger conventional forces.

He said NATO will have to "resort fairly quickly" to nuclear weapons if attacked by the Warsaw Pact with conventional forces in Europe because it lacks the non-nuclear means to stop the Warsaw Pact countries.

But he said if NATO nations would raise defense spending by an annual 4 percent instead of the projected 3 percent it might be possible by the late 1980s to consider reducing the number of nuclear warheads in Western Europe.

American-fathered Vietnamese due in U.S.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Representatives of eight U.S. voluntary agencies left for Vietnam today to pick up 11 Vietnamese-born children given permission to reunite with their American fathers.

The children, aged 7 to 15, were due to arrive here later today and receive U.S. passports before departing separately for reunions in Washington, D.C., Georgia, Texas, Arizona, Oregon, California and Washington state.

They are the largest group of Amerasian children to leave since the end of the Vietnam War in 1975. Diplomats say Vietnam hopes to make political gains through its apparent recent flexibility on the Amerasian issue and on the question of U.S. servicemen still missing from the war.

One father, Gary Tanous, of Vancouver, Wash., left on this morning's flight to Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, to meet his daughter Jean Marie. The reunion ends a two-year crusade which included petitions to both Vietnamese and U.S. authorities.

While some children of American fathers and Vietnamese mothers left Vietnam as refugees through an orderly departure program over the past four years, thousands more remain despite a desire to go to the United States, where they hope to have better educational and employment opportunities.

The voluntary agencies point to the disadvantages that many Amerasians face in Vietnam, where they are often shunned.

Penn Square documentation probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several bankers who dealt with Penn Square Bank say they were concerned about poor documentation on some loans, but they still did business with the failed Oklahoma bank.

The bankers, testifying before a House Banking Committee hearing Wednesday, said officials at Penn Square, on occasion, failed to supply adequate records to back up loans it sold to larger banks.

The comptroller of the currency shut down the shopping center bank on July 5.

Savings and loan and credit union officials are scheduled to testify today at the hearings. About 160 credit unions and S&Ls were caught with more than $100 million in the bank above the $100,000 insurance coverage provided by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

When Penn Square failed, several large banks, including Continental Illinois in Chicago, Seattle-First and Chase Manhattan, held $2 billion worth of oil and gas loans originated by Penn Square. Continental alone had $1.1 billion worth of the loans.

Richard Jaehning, Seattle-First's president, told the panel Wednesday that he made a trip to Oklahoma City to discuss the documentation problem with Penn Square.

He said Penn Square chairman Bill Jennings and president Eldon Beller reassured him that "documentation was improving."

But Seattle-First still sent another bank official, Arland Hatfield, to make a further check, Jaehning said.

Low tar

2 smoker studies came to opposite conclusions — why?

NEW YORK (AP) — The headline read: Low-Tar And Nicotine Cigarettes Pose Less Danger. The story was about a study by the American Cancer Society.

Less than a week later, another headline appeared: Evidence 'Doubtful' That Low-Tar Cigarettes Reduce Health Risk. This time, it was the National Academy of Sciences speaking.

Two studies by distinguished scientific organizations had reached opposite conclusions. Why?

The answer, according to interviews with doctors around the country, is that the reduced risk associated with low-tar cigarettes — if any — is very small.

The American Cancer Society study of 1 million people from 1960 to 1972 found that low-tar cigarettes were slightly less harmful than other cigarettes. Smokers of low-tar cigarettes — defined as cigarettes with less than 18 milligrams of tar — were 26 percent less likely to die of lung cancer than other smokers.

That may sound like an impressive statistic until it is put into perspective. Smokers of low-tar cigarettes are indeed slightly better off. But men who smoke low-tars are still eight or nine times more likely to get lung cancer than men who don't smoke, says Lawrence Garfinkel of the cancer society. For high-tar smokers, Garfinkel said, the risk is 10 or 11 times greater than for non-smokers.

For women, whose incidence of smoking and lung cancer is much lower, the figures are slightly different. Women who smoke low-tars have a slight advantage over other women smokers, but are still three times as likely to get lung cancer as non-smokers, Garfinkel says.

Most studies of low-tar cigarettes have found evidence that they are slightly less harmful. The study by the National Academy of Sciences, which found it "doubtful" that low-tars have any benefits, is somewhat at odds with other studies, doctors say.

The academy study said smokers of low-tar cigarettes — which it defined as less than 15 milligrams of tar — may inhale deeper and hold the smoke in their lungs longer to satisfy their craving for nicotine.

Nevertheless, because the difference between the hazards of low-tars and regular cigarettes is so small, doctors expect studies to disagree.

"When you get a sharp association — such as you do between smoking and lung cancer — pretty much every study finds it," says Dr. Brian MacMahon of Harvard University. "But when you come down to smaller differences, there are so many sources of error that it seems to be the rule that there is disagreement."

In its latest report on smoking and health, released in February, the Surgeon General's office noted some evidence of reduced risk with low-tar cigarettes, but stopped short of recommending that smokers make the switch.

Low-tar cigarettes dominate the $14-billion-a-year cigarette market. In the second quarter of 1982, 63 percent of all cigarettes sold in this country were low-tars, according to John Maxwell Jr. of the New York brokerage firm Lehman Brothers Kuhn Loeb.

Five years ago, low-tars made up only 27.5 percent of the market, Maxwell says.

Lung cancer is not the only disease linked with smoking. Heart disease causes twice as many smoking-related deaths as does lung cancer, according to the American Heart Association.

The cancer society found a "modest" reduction in the risk of heart disease with low-tar cigarettes, according to spokesman Steven Stellman. The National Academy of Sciences said studies generally do not agree that low-tars reduce the risk of heart disease.

Stellman explains one possible reason for the conflict. "Anyone in our study old enough to get heart disease could not have smoked low-tar cigarettes all his life. He would have started on high-tar cigarettes and switched," he says.

ROXANNE PULITZER
In millionaire divorce trial

Couple in court to split $25 million

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A juvenile court counselor has recommended that publishing heir Herbert Peter Pulitzer, who is fighting for custody of his 5-year-old twin sons, receive them because of allegedly bizarre behavior by his wife.

Pulitzer, 52, the grandson of publishing magnate Joseph Pulitzer, is locked in a divorce and custody battle with his 31-year-old wife, Roxanne. She also wants to share his fortune, estimated by attorneys at $25 million.

The trial is in recess today. On Wednesday, Sheri Risenberg, a counselor for Palm Beach County juvenile courts, testified she would recommend custody of the couple's twin sons be awarded to Pulitzer.

She said she made the recommendation because of allegations that Mrs. Pulitzer used cocaine, had adulterous and homosexual relationships and held "beliefs that are somewhat out of the traditional realm."

Palm Beach County Circuit Judge Carl Harper said he would consider Ms. Risenberg's report, but, "It's just one factor. I may reject her report or I may accept it."

Harper also said Wednesday, the trial's eighth day, that he expects particularly offbeat testimony by "Janis the Psychic" to result in an appeal.

Harper ruled that a pretrial deposition made by Janis Nelson, a self-styled psychic who developed a close relationship with Mrs. Pulitzer, would remain sealed but could be viewed by Mrs. Pulitzer's attorneys.

The psychic, testifying on behalf of Pulitzer, testified that Mrs. Pulitzer had affairs with two men. She also testified about seances in which Mrs. Pulitzer held a trumpet — supposedly a conduit for voices from beyond.

On Wednesday, the court counselor said that while Pulitzer seemed to enjoy playing with the twins, Mack and Zack, Mrs. Pulitzer appeared to prefer discotheques. "She seemed to have a really minimal amount of contact with the children," Ms. Risenberg testified.

Two of the Pulitzers' employees, including a long-time house servant and one of the children's nannies, also portrayed Mrs. Pulitzer as a woman who preferred her social life to her children.

Estelle Godbout, who was fired by Mrs. Pulitzer in January as the children's nanny, testified that Mrs. Pulitzer spent many nights with Brian Richards, alleged by Pulitzer to be a cocaine dealer. Asked who would be the best parent, she said: "There's no doubt in my mind Mr. Pulitzer is the better party."

Pirett Barr, who now works as a nanny for the twins, testified that Mrs. Pulitzer said in August she was going to visit her parents. Instead, she went to France with a male friend, Ms. Barr said.

Biker's wish: To leave world like a Viking

CHICAGO (AP) — Motorcycle club leader George "Sonny" Ford said he wanted to leave the world peacefully and "like a Viking," accompanied by the two women he loved best.

Natural gas was to numb them into unconsciousness as they waited chained to a bed in his house; self-immolation would follow in a perversion of a Viking funeral.

But the house caught fire too soon, and Ford and the two women died of flames and heat. The women were heard screaming in their last moments — victims, perhaps, of murder, or merely surprised by pain.

When the bodies were found, charred beyond recognition and handcuffed and chained to the bed, and investigators at first suspected three murders.

But the wreckage and tapes Ford left showed otherwise, and some officials now say the "Night Sinners" motorcycle club president tricked the women into dying with him.

"I'm going to do some rotten things in these last couple of days," Ford said in tapes that he had prepared for his memorial party. "I'm doing it with a smile on my face and devious laughter in my heart. It's not that I'm crazy or drunk or high on dope. This was very carefully thought out. I want to go like a Viking..."

Ford nearly got what he wanted. In the ancient Viking rite, slain warriors were placed on boats that were set afloat and put to sea.

On Sept. 20, he bought a timing device, a 10-volt battery, 15 cans of diesel engine starting fluid containing ether, eight canisters of propane gas and 10 gallons of gasoline.

Officials say Ford, a 35-year-old handyman, planned to pipe in natural gas to knock himself and the two women out before a timing device set off explosions and fire. Before dawn Sept. 21, the fire and explosions did the killing, and the women, at least, had no peace.

Ford lived in a single-story, four-room concrete-block home in Gurnee, 40 miles north of Chicago. The home was surrounded by a 12-foot-high fence, and bore the sign "Secluded Place."

In the small bedroom, authorities found the bodies of Ford, his common-law wife, Patty Lynch, and his girlfriend, Theresa La Nasa, both 29. A garden hose led from a natural gas space heater into the bedroom, and gasoline cans, burst canisters of propane and starting fluid were scattered about.

Lake County Coroner Robert Babcox, who plans an inquest, said all three died from inhaling flames and superheated air. He calls the deaths suicide and murder.

"This will become a textbook example of a disturbed, diabolical personality who contrived and accomplished the Viking rites and took with him two innocent victims who considered him their friend," he said.

Babcox said Ford apparently was despondent because Patty Lynch refused to marry him, because he was losing

'This was carefully thought out.'

I want to go like a Viking.'

control of the motorcycle club, and because a club member had committed suicide.

Gurnee Police Chief Lawrence Dluhos said Ford left two notes and several tapes. One letter, apparently written by Ford and supposedly signed by both women, said the deaths were voluntary.

"It's possible that the women signed the notes to humor Ford. The handwriting still must be verified," said investigator Gregory Garofalo.

Salvage of ancient battleship under way

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — A 125-ton steel cradle was lowered onto the seabed off Portsmouth early Wednesday morning to prepare for the lifting of Henry VIII's flagship, the Mary Rose, which sank in a battle against the French more than four centuries ago.

As storms subsided in the Solent, the waterway leading from Portsmouth harbor into the English Channel, a crane delicately lowered the massive cradle 45 feet onto the seabed.

"Everyone is very tired but enormously relieved we have been able to get it down there," said spokesman Arthur Rogers of the Mary Rose Trust, formed to raise money for the $6.8 million operation. There had been fears the project would have to be postponed because of the weather.

The 130-foot Mary Rose sank in 1545 in full view of King

Henry VIII with a crew of some 700 on board. Fewer than 40 survived.

The cradle, covered with air bags, was dropped 15 feet away from the surviving starboard portion of the Mary Rose hull.

The next step is to jack up a lifting frame built under the silt-lined hull, which has been undisturbed for 437 years.

Cables from the giant floating crane Tog Mor will then lift the ship and lower it onto the 117-by-49 foot cradle. The steel frame will then be raised to the surface and towed ashore.

The final lift to the surface, watched by Prince Charles, patron of the venture, is scheduled Oct. 10.

A&M pigs exercise for our health

By FRITZ LANHAM
Bryan Eagle

COLLEGE STATION, Texas — Pigs, as a general rule, practice a sedentary way of life. They wallow in mud. They eat. They wallow some more.

Besides procreating and dying, that's about all they do. But a group of pigs housed in a small, austere room behind the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University is an exception to the general rule.

These pigs work. Four times a week, they climb up on a treadmill and run. And run. And run. For 30 minutes they run — at a pace calculated to be about 80 percent as fast as they possibly can run. They do this in the service of better health. Human health, that is.

The pigs are part of a research project designed to see whether exercise can decrease or even eliminate the buildup of fatty tissues known as plaque in the body's main artery. That plaque buildup leads to a condition called arteriosclerosis.

When pieces of plaque break away from the arterial wall, they can clog smaller arteries in the heart, causing a heart attack. When the plaque material breaks off and clogs an artery in the brain, the result is a stroke.

"Since half a million people a year in the United States die of complications from this disease (arteriosclerosis) — either from heart attacks or strokes — it's a matter of considerable interest," says Dr. David R. Gross, a professor of veterinary physiology.

Gross is conducting the experiment along with Gijs van Oort, a Dutch-born doctoral student in health and physical education. The work is funded by the university's Center for Comparative Medicine.

Other researchers have posited a relationship between exercise and the elimination of fatty deposits in the arteries. But Gross says most of the evidence is based on studies of human populations, where it's impossible to isolate one factor and say positively that it's the cause of the healthy blood vessels.

"That's always the problem in any study done on humans," Van Oort says. "You can't control all the variables."

"But by using the animal model you can control all the variables," he said. "You can keep them all under the same conditions — same amount of stress, same temperature, same type of handling. The only thing different is the amount of exercise and the diet."

VAN OORT and Gross have divided their collection of 20 miniature pigs into four groups. Pigs were chosen for the experiment because their cardiovascular system resembles that of humans and because, like humans, they are omnivores.

One group gets ordinary pig feed and does no exercise. A second group has regular feed and hits the treadmill for the workout four times a week. The third group gets a diet high in fat and cholesterol and does not exercise. The last group gets the high fat diet and exercises.

Gross describes the high-fat diets "equivalent to someone who ate very, very rich French food every day, along with a half-gallon of ice cream."

For eight weeks, the pigs eat. Then they are put on the treadmill for eight weeks of exercise.

The treadmill is an old machine designed for humans which Van Oort got from A&M's physical education department. He built a wooden cage around it to keep the animals on course and decorated the cage with — what else? — a portrait of the ineffable Miss Peggy.

The cage "looked pretty shabby in the beginning, so I had to do something to cheer it up," Van Oort says.

To entice the pigs to their labors, he places an Oreo cookie on the treadmill. He had learned from another researcher that pigs are quite partial to the popular cookie.

But as Gross explains, when the bill for the Oreos reached the desk of university budget control officers, it did raise some eyebrows.

"So, I sent the famous cookie memo," he says, "detailing exactly what we did with the cookies — with photographs."

What Gross and Van Oort hope to see when the research project is completed is that the pigs on the high-fat diet who exercised have demonstrably less fatty tissue in their aortas than those who ate the rich diet but weren't exercised.

Eight pigs already have run through the 16-week experiment and their aortas have been extracted for in-

Pigs were chosen for the experiment because their cardiovascular system resembles that of humans

USDA may revive plan to buy grain on open market

WASHINGTON (AP) — With another record harvest keeping market prices at depressed levels, the Agriculture Department is thinking about reviving a decade-old plan to purchase grain from the open market, congressional Republicans said Wednesday.

Spokesmen for about two dozen GOP Farm Belt House and Senate members, who met briefly during the morning, said they also would urge Agriculture Secretary John Block to implement a program along those lines.

"I know economists at USDA have been considering this," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind.

Lugar said the GOP group "will present that kind of idea to the secretary" when its representatives outline a package of policy changes they hope will infuse some life into the flagging farm economy.

Rep. Virginia Smith, R-Neb., and other group members acknowledged that the session and their upcoming proposals to the administration are spurred by the November congressional elections and concern expressed by their constituents over current farm policies.

"It serves us well in the timing to get the administration to pay attention to the problem," said Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan. "Maybe we ought to have an election every month."

Dawson Ahalt, Block's deputy assistant secretary for economics, declined any comment on whether a government grain purchase is under consideration. But he added that the situation today is "totally different" from that of late 1971.

On Dec. 3, 1971, a day after his confirmation, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz announced the government would buy grain from the commercial market in an effort to firm up prices depressed by that year's corn crop of more 5.6 billion bushels. Corn blight had depleted the harvest the previous year to less than 4.2 billion bushels.

Ahalt said that following Butz's announcement, the government actually bought only a small amount of corn, roughly 25 million bushels. But Lugar said the impact was substantial as far as setting the floor for a market price and ending speculation that the price would continue to drop.

Roberts said the same kind of program now would "be a signal to people that the market really has bottomed out, that we're not going let it drop any further."

Lugar suggested that a federal purchase program could be financed with at least part of the $175 million to $190 million Congress earmarked this summer for expansion of U.S. farm exports.

4 indicted in earthworm fraud scheme

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted four men on charges of swindling dozens of investors out of more than $243,000 in a fraudulent earthworm marketing scheme.

Prosecutors said the defendants hooked the investors by lying about alleged contracts they had for worms, including one with a food chain to stock earthworms for sale at its stores.

More than 70 people were cheated out their money by World Wide Worms Inc., the government said. The company advertised in the Midwest for investors to pay a minimum of $845 for a four-tub unit of earthworms. The plan was for investors to breed more worms at home and sell them back to the company.

Prosecutors said World Wide Worms said they had a variety of contracts for reselling the worms, including one with a dog food company to use the worms in its products, with a Middle East company to use earthworms for reclaiming desert land and with a suburban village for use in garbage processing.

Named in the indictments are Loyie Sims, his sons David and Michael, and James R. Wolfe, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., all of whom allegedly operated World Wide Worms from December 1977 to April 1979.

Golden Spur Award, Prairie Party and Ranch Day is held in Lubbock

Missing the Annual Golden Spur Award Ceremony, Prairie Party and Ranch Day at the Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock is missing quite an event. The festivities were held at the center on the Texas Tech University campus Sept. 16-18.

More than 1,200 visitors attended the special events and saw the 14-acre outdoor exhibit. Among those attending were Messrs. and Mrs. Kent Morgan, J.C. Broughton, A.K. Guthrie, Jerry Worthy, and the Rich Anderson family, all of Big Spring.

JERRY WORTHY
...elected to
RHA office

The Ranching Heritage Association, which sponsors Ranch Days, elected officers during the weekend's festivities. Jerry Worthy was elected second vice president of the Association.

The weekend was kicked off by a dinner and tour of the Ranching Heritage Center for 62 western artists Thursday evening. The artists, from 13 states and Canada, participated in the first National Western Arts Show at the Memorial Civic Center in Lubbock Friday and Saturday. The art show and sale was reported as netting $50,000, 20 percent of which went to the RHC. A cutting horse training seminar and exhibition using the King Ranch horses, historical seminar and museum exhibit on "The Southwest - It's Railroads," and the Golden Spur Award and Prairie Party highlighted the day's events Friday.

J. Earnest Browning of Wilcox, Ariz. was presented the National Golden Spur Award at the party in recognition of his lifetime of service to the ranching industry. The award extends recognition to a person who has earned a special niche in the livestock and ranching industry through significant contributions which merit national distinction. Browning was the fifth recipient of the award.

The Prairie Party and dance was held in his honor. Rex Allen of "Mister Cowboy" fame and lifelong friend of Browning was master of ceremonies and narrated a slide presentation depicting the life of Browning.

The Ranching Heritage Center is where the story of ranching is preserved for posterity in restored ranch buildings. Visitors relived the days of the rancher, railroader, cowboy and conductor at the center during Ranch Day Saturday. The center features buildings, exhibits, equipment and clothing characteristic to the early ranching days of the west. More than 30 structures came alive during the weekend as authentically garbed volunteers performed ranch crafts and chores, sang and danced to the songs of bygone days and cooking food, such as sourdough donuts, that drew early ranch raves, according to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Ranch Day activities held Saturday included the dedication of the Ropes Depot, another chapter in range history, and a tour of the newly completed Barton House.

The depot was donated to the RHC by Adele T. McGinty-O'Brien of Lubbock in memory of her husband. The late Mr. William J. McGinty purchased the depot in 1974 in hopes to preserve it as a historical landmark. Mrs. McGinty-O'Brien died Friday, only a day before the dedication.

The Barton House is a restored dwelling that depicts the affluent years that came to ranchers at the turn of the century.

Horseshoeing, branding, mule team rides, quilting, cowboy tales, a western movie and a general store open for business was just a part of the activities held during Ranch Day.

The Ranching Heritage Center and Museum is open year round to visitors.

Some viruses fool our defenses

Dear Dr. Donohue: If the body builds up antibody defenses against a particular virus, and if flu is a virus disease, then why does a person get flu many times in a lifetime? Why haven't the antibodies made the person immune? — Mrs. R.P.L.

You have a good question. The short answer is that certain kinds of viruses have ways of changing their structure, and when they do this the antibodies built up in the body against them are ineffective.

For example, the Type A flu virus, the kind involved in pandemics of flu, is capable of changing this way, thus breaking through our antibody defenses. And because scientists have no way of predicting just what new shape the virus will take, it is difficult to guard against it.

This means that a guess has to be made as to what this year's flu virus is going to look like so that a vaccine can be prepared in advance. Sometimes the guess is wrong. The virus that shows up may be in a different form and not "match" the kind anticipated by the vaccine makers.

This is also why no vaccine can be 100 percent effective, and that's why some people, even those who are immunized, may have flu. They are not protected by antibodies made during their past virus infection and the vaccine may not be one that is effective against a new virus strain.

The flu virus is the chameleon of infections, a changeable and adaptable critter with a one-track mind set on causing trouble.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you please explain to me this business of the thyroid gland being involved in hyperactivity and behavior problems? My grandson has been giving his parents a lot of headache. His doctor now says he has an overactive thyroid gland. What does that say? — W.G.

The child's doctor feels that the thyroid gland may be the reason behind his behavior. When the gland makes too much thyroid hormone, the body speeds up. The pulse rate rises, races. The person feels warm, he burns up lots of calories, and he may lose weight even while eating well. Those are the more obvious results of thyroid overactivity.

But, in addition to all this metabolic speedup of the body, the mind can speed up as well. The person with too much thyroid hormone (and that's what hyperthyroidism means) often feels nervous, anxious, fidgety. Emotions may be hard to control. I hope that with appropriate treatment of this child's medical problem, you will notice improvement in his behavior as well.

Now it can be easy for other readers to misconstrue what I am saying. Certainly, not all childhood behavioral disturbances can be placed at the door of the thyroid gland. But when one is, treatment of it results in reversion to more normal behavior.

Nor do I mean to imply that every active child has some kind of glandular disturbance. In fact, on a scale of likely causes, you might put such things near the bottom. You'll find an in-depth discussion of the gland in the booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You." Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

Acceptance conquers age obstacle

DEAR ABBY: These days you hear so much about older women marrying younger men. Thanks for saying, "It CAN work out."

When I was 33, I fell in love with a 19-year-old man. I had six children, no job and no money. He accepted all of us.

Today I am 47, and he is 33. We have eight children (two are now happily married) and we also have a grandchild. The children and I will testify to what a loving husband and father we have, and he will testify to the shower of blessings he has received from us.

When we married, almost everyone thought it wouldn't last, but we considered all the negative aspects plus objections from parents — his and mine — and we decided it could work out if we cared enough about each other.

Yesterday I read an article on marriage and one question was asked: "If you could change one thing about your spouse, what would it be?" Abby, would you believe I couldn't think of one thing? Then I asked my husband that question. He thought for a long time, and finally said, "I can't think of anything either."

LUCKY US

DEAR LUCKY: You may be lucky, but the success of your marriage cannot be attributed to luck alone. For one thing, you're a unique couple — you accept each other just the way you are.

Albert Einstein reportedly said, "Women marry men hoping they will change, and men marry women hoping they will not. So each is inevitably disappointed."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 28923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AAUW elects vice president

The Big Spring chapter of the American Association of University Women held its first fall meeting Sept. 20 at Quail Run Apartments. A potluck salad supper preceded the event.

President Carolee Caudill presided. Thelma Carlile was elected first vice-president and will be in charge of programs and the yearbook, which was distributed. Money-making projects were discussed. A committee was appointed to consider and report on suggestions. Special projects and the disposition of club money was discussed.

Guests included Laurie Newton, Melinda Butner, Andre Sink and Jill Willbanks.

The next meeting is Oct. 18 in the home of Frances Wheat. Lila Brewster will present a book review. Members are encouraged to bring two guests and finger food. A year's free membership will be awarded. College graduates interested in AAUW may call 267-1437 for membership information.

Artists display works in show

Two former Big Spring artists, Nancy Klingler and Lula Belle Klingler, will display their work in the Midland Woman's Club Art Show in Hogan Park during October. A reception honoring the women will be held from 1-4 p.m. Oct. 3.

LONDON (AP) — Shirley MacLaine — actress, singer and dancer — says she's also been a brothel madam in a previous incarnation.

Miss MacLaine, 48, told a reception Tuesday that she believes in reincarnation and has found the bit of personal history after years of searching. She also said she was a dancer in another life.

"The more I realize about myself, the more I realize about other things — and I love the idea of finding out more," she said at the reception, where she announced that she will star in a series of 10 shows next month at the Apollo Victoria Theater here.

'Cheers,' 'Star' 2 warm sitcoms

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK — Just walking in the door, you know that "Cheers," NBC's new wise-cracking comedy set in a sports-crazy bar in Boston, will be a warm and wacky companion of a television show, a delightful place to spend idle time, a five-star watering hole.

You can sense it in the ambiance, the food for thought, the elbow-bending regulars, and in the program's first scene:

A stocky kid, several shaves from the legal drinking limit, struts into the bar. The bartender asks for proof of age. The boy rolls his eyes and says he's flattered. "Wait 'til I tell the Mrs.," he laughs.

He hands over a military I.D., placing his age at 38. They discuss Vietnam for a moment, agreeing that war is gross.

The bartender isn't impressed. No sale. "I'm sorry soldier."

"That's the thanks we get," huffs the kid, rejected and still thirsty.

At the hub is owner-bartender Sam Malone, a former relief pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, whose career was shortened by arm and drinking woes.

TV Tonight

Played nimbly by Ted Danson ("Body Heat"), Sam now is a teetotaler, who keeps afloat while his barmates are sinking. Like any good bartender, he's quiet when a warm shoulder is required, philosophical when an opinion is necessary. Along with the gin, he dispenses plenty of wry.

"STAR OF the Family" on ABC tonight is a sitcom with warmth, two fine lead characters but a script that doesn't measure up. Put this one in the good-potential category.

Buddy Krebs, played by versatile actor Brian Dennehy, is a fire chief whose talented 16-year-old daughter is on the verge of a big career in country-western music. His pride is tempered by anxieties over letting her go and seeing her grow up too fast.

Kathy Maisnik, as Jenny, has a beautiful voice, the kind that forces you to take notice. She's believable as both star singer and daddy's little girl.

The problem is with the firehouse camaraderie that resorts to slapstick and the rest of the characters, including Krebs' numbskull older son, a jock who watches "Mr. Rogers" and lots worse on the boob tube.

Ely, Bonds are worth the price

• "Live Shots," by Joe Ely, MCA Records

This album is the next best thing to seeing this Texas legend perform in a sweaty dive at midnight. "Live Shots" is actually two years old, made up of recordings from Ely's tour with the Clash in England. Ely is rockabilly; he is rock; he is country. Whatever label you prefer, he is good and you can't stand still.

"I Had My Hopes Up High," "Johnny's Blues" and his country hit "Honky-Tonk Masquerade" are among the best cuts. Like he says, Ely wants you to "Treat Me like a Saturday Night."

• "On the Line," by Gary U.S. Bonds, EMI-America

Bonds' second record has been out for several weeks, but has not received the critical acclaim nor the sales credited his first effort. That is a shame since "On the Line" has much and more of the same quality music of "Dedication." The single "Out of Work" is perfect for the times while "Angelyne" is one of the best songs to appear in a long while.

"Angelyne" is one of those tunes that revives the joy of music, the power of a song to make you feel good. "Love's on the Line" is the other side, a searing depiction of a failing love. Bonds is not just a Springsteen foil; he has talent and will be around for quite some time.

A WHALE OF A TAIL — The tail of a whale is a fluke of nature. Here, a right whale lifts its tail out of the North Atlantic, sending a cascade off its flukes. Estimates of these once-plaintful creatures peg their number at about 200.

Tracking a nearly-extinct mammal

By MAUREEN DEA
Associated Press Writer

BAY OF FUNDY, Off The Maine Coast (AP) — All eyes scan the sea, eagerly awaiting a telltale blast of water or the unsignaled surfacing of an enormous black body from the placid Atlantic.

"Whale about a mile ahead!" comes the cry from the bow.

There is a rush of activity aboard the 30-foot Nereid; people grab cameras and Kathy Hazard opens the throttle and steers toward the beast — one and a half times as large as the ship.

For the next nine hours, the Nereid will track 15 of the nearly extinct North Atlantic right whales in this bay between Maine and the Canadian provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Right whales once roamed the North Atlantic. But over the centuries most were wiped out by whalers, who considered the mammals the "right" whales to hunt because they swim slowly, float when dead, and offer large yields of oil and baleen, the precursor of plastic.

Scientists believe there are 200 right whales alive today — at most. Groups of five or six have been spotted off the coasts of Massachusetts, Georgia and the Carolinas, says Scott Krauss, 28, who heads the research expedition sponsored by the New England Aquarium in Boston.

The Bay of Fundy, where Krauss and colleagues discovered the whales two summers ago, is the only spot known to have a large concentration — 61 counted last year — and the only place researchers have found calves.

"We're trying to find out whether this is an essential habitat for the right whale — whether they require the area for survival," explains Scott.

The whales are "close enough to the edge" that they may be destined for extinction, he says. "But it may be that you can protect their critical habitat" and allow the populations to build back up.

"The Bay of Fundy is a unique

habitat for whales, porpoises and seabirds, but that fact is not well known," Krauss says.

Kathy Hazard, who studied bowhead whales in Alaska for six years, idles the Nereid 20 feet from the 45-ton whale. Apparently unfazed by the attention, the whale lumbers through the water as Krauss and Matt Hare snap photos.

Team members Wendy Van Dyke and Jim Cox, a family physician from Athens, Texas, take notes on the whale's behavior and physical markings. This one is given the name "White Tip," for the two white tips on its two tail flukes.

The boat will follow "White Tip" for five hours, watching him flip his flukes as he "courts" various females.

The average adult right whale is 45- to 50-feet long and weighs about a ton a foot. Right whales have rotund black bodies, and many have white bellies.

Like its close relative, the bowhead, but unlike other whales, the right has no dorsal fin. It is the only whale with lumps of thickened skin — known as the "collosity" — on its head. Each collosity is unique, enabling researchers to tell the whales apart.

Krauss says little is known about rights — scientists still aren't sure how long they remain pregnant, how long females nurse their young, or how often they mate: crucial questions in determining their chances of survival.

Nor do researchers understand the meaning of most of their behavior, such as "tail lobbing," or "flipper slapping" — in which the mammals slap their tails or flippers on the water.

"But it's sort of like Big Brother — we just keep watching those right whales and one of these days we'll know more," Krauss says. The research project will continue for at least three more years.

Krauss also says Point Le Preau, a new nuclear plant on the New Brunswick coast, will be dumping hot, but not radioactive, water into the bay and that might affect the mammals.

Thursday Notes

Braves fans are standing in line waiting for Series tickets. I'd hold the cash if it were mine 'cause they ain't yet out of the thicket.

Greg's crystal got new batteries a few ago and his predictions on the baseball races are looking better each day. First the Cards buried the NL East with a late-season surge as George Hendrick and Keith Hernandez picked things up with some clutch hitting. Now the Brewers are four up on the O's and the Angels, despite trying to let KC get back in it, has to win two of three against the mighty Rangers to wrap up the AL West.

Now it's up to the Braves who are currently on the warpath. But after LA is San Diego and the Padres can be the spoiler. This race could very well end up in a three-way tie. Take your coat off and loosen that tie, Ted Turner. You're not teepee-free yet.

This is the weekend for runners. Out in Coahoma, the West Texas Running Club is putting on the Second Annual Bill Easterling Memorial. Runners can run two or suffer through nine miles if they wish for just $1 for WTRC members and $2 for non-members. All the fun, pain, joy and agony starts at 10 a.m. at the Bulldogs football stadium.

This race was supposed to be next week but got moved up. Unfortunately, a trio of fleet-footed runners here at the Herald were already entered in a 2 and 6 miler in Midland.

Mike "Dashing" Downey ran the longer distance in 58 minutes last year and has sworn all week he wasn't going to let an 80-year-old and pre-teen girl pass him this time. And then there's Carol Daniel who has never run in a race before. She's going for two miles and her main concern is not getting that distance confused with six miles.

And then there's this writer who is the veteran of the group with two major races under his belt (you don't wear belts when you run, though). Already he's showing flashes of Frank Shorter...frankly, he would rather run a shorter distance than six miles. What a way to start a Saturday.

In latest district stats, the mighty Steer defense is still No. 2...Big Spring has given up just 683 yards in four games and only 391 on the ground...that's second only to Permian and Mojo is awesome on defense as usual.

Adam Rodriguez has thrown for 257 yards and that's the third best in the league but he's yet to notch a TD pass. Scott Griffin is injured and Alan Trevino has been blanked thus far but Dale Crenshaw flashed signs of breaking the long pass play on several catches against Abilene.

Jay Pirkle shanked one punt last week against Abilene week or he'd drawn closer to No. 2 kicker Matt Waldmann of Abilene. Waldmann had 42 yard average against the Steers and except for a 20-yarder in the second half, Pirkle would have been right there. Still his 38-yard effort keeps him third in the league.

Ron Lewis was held to just 88 yards but maintained his No. 2 standing in the 4-AAAAA stats.

This week, Sands is playing a Thursday night game so I have to go one day early on a prediction.

Lamesa JV at Sands — Coach Jim White's crew is going after win No. 5 for the season and folks around Ackerly town are saying this is the best the Mustangs have done in 15 years...Robby Creswell continues to pile up big yardage and the defense, although it gave up over 200 yards against O'Donnell, notched a second shutout...Lamesa will be young but White says the team has good size...pride is a big factor in this game and the Mustangs will come out on top. (Game time 8 p.m.) SANDS 19, LAMESA JV 14

Even matchups on SWC slate

DALLAS (AP) — Here are previews of this week's Southwest Conference football games:

HOUSTON (1-2, 0-0 in SWC) at BAYLOR (2-1, 1-0 in SWC), 11:35 a.m. — This series has produced SWC champ or co-champ four of last six years; Houston leads it 8-6. The Bears clinched Grant Teaff's 100th career coaching victory last week by topping Texas Tech 24-23. Houston defeated Lamar 48-3 last week with the return of QB Linel Wilson from pre-season injury. Wilson is tied for SWC lead in NCAA passing-efficiency formula, while Cougar ground game is strong test for Baylor defense. Bears rank last in SWC rushing defense and Cougars are third in rushing offense. The game presents a rare statistical coincidence — Houston gains 3.8 yards per game and Baylor yields 378. Baylor gains 280 and Houston yields 278. Cougar Dwayne Love rushed for SWC-leading 192 yards vs. Lamar to rank third in conference at 112 per game, while Baylor's Alfred Anderson is establishing himself as a top runner with 96-yard average.

TEXAS TECH (1-2, 0-1 in SWC) at TEXAS A&M (2-1), 2:45 p.m. (CBS-TV) — A&M holds 23-16-1 series lead, but Raiders are on top by 11-9-1 since joining SWC football race in 1960. The Aggies are opening SWC schedule following 38-27 win over Louisiana Tech that completed non-conference schedule with 2-1 record. Baylor nipped Tech, 24-23, in Raiders' second consecutive one-point decision. A&M pacing SWC in total offense and passing offense behind Gary Kubiak's conference-leading total-offense mark of 252 yards a game. Aggies also have top SWC rushing defense, allowing 84 yards per game, 'ut are ninth in both total defense and pass defense. A&M running game is major question as top three running backs—Earnest Jackson, Johnny Hector and Thomas Sanders—are all doubtful for Saturday due to injuries. Raider QB Jim Hartis fourth in SWC total offense.

NORTH TEXAS STATE (0-4) at SMU (3-0), 7 p.m. — Final non-conference game for Mustangs, ranked seventh nationally. A Mustang victory would assure SWC 11th straight winning non-conference season and give SMU fourth perfect non-conference record in last six seasons. SMU defeated TCU 16-13 last week. Mustangs' Eric Dickerson leads SWC and is second nationally in rushing at 169.3 yards per game. Craig James third in SWC at 111.7 as Mustangs rank second nationally, 376.7 yards per game. Mustangs also second in SWC total defense, third in rushing defense, fourth in pass defense. Eagles played Baylor close, 21-17, in former Bear assistant Corky Nelson's head-coaching debut, have since lost to Oklahoma State, Northeast Louisiana and Southwestern Louisiana. Rusty Hill took over at QB in second half last week, hitting 12 of 24 for 201 yards, including TD throws of 72 yards to Tony Merriwether and 29 yards to Marvin Walker. SMU holds 23-2-1 series lead.

TCU (1-2, 0-1 in SWC) vs. ARKANSAS (3-0, 0-0 in SWC) at Little Rock, 7:05 p.m. CDT (Turner Cable Television) — Razorbacks seek to improve on No. 10 national ranking in AP poll, while Frogs hope to put together back-to-back victories over Hogs for first time since 1955-56. Frogs' 28-24 victory last year ended longest series domination (22 games) in SWC history. Razorbacks one of three SWC teams gaining more than 400 yards a game (408) and are No. 2 in rushing defense (100 yard a game). TCU running game has improved from 74 yards a game last season to 174 per game through first three '82 starts. TCU's Marcus Gilbert has averaged only nine carries a game, but boasts 6.8 average a carry, while Arkansas' Jessie Clark has taken up offensive team's injury slack with 70.3 yards per game. Frogs' Stanley Washington pushed career receptions to 102 in 16-13 loss to heavily-favored SMU last week, now tied for 11th in all-time SWC catches and needs 70 in final eight games for record.

TEXAS (2-0, 0-0 in SWC) at RICE (0-3, 0-0 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. CDT — Longhorns rack up impressive defensive offering against Missouri for road rip to Rice Stadium where Owls want to break slump which has produced 0-3 start. Texas shut out Missouri, 21-0, allowing Tigers just 13 yards rushing and 204 total in recording first shutout in 24 games and the fourth for current senior class. Rice coach Ray Alborn announced junior Phillip Money to start ahead of Michael Calhoun at QB and plans to shake up secondary in effort to gain first win over Texas since 1965, the longest current SWC member-vs.-member win streak. Owls fourth in SWC against the rush (116.3 yards per game) and fifth in passing (133 yards per game). Owls' DEron Miller tied for third in SWC receiving with 11 catches and Vince Courville leads kickoff returners (27.2 yards). Owls allowing 211.7 yards passing but Texas has averaged only 16 passes a game. Texas boasts SWC's No. 2 rushing offense (277.5) and nation's second-best defense against scoring (six points per game). Horns' Darryl Clark is second in SWC rushing and fourth nationally (145.0 per game)

4-AAAAA Picks

Big Spring at Midland — Two recent losses have dropped the Midland Bulldogs down in the league's defensive stats...Bulldogs are last in offense, gaining 597 yards in four games...Big Spring is still No. 2 in total defense behind Permian, giving up just 391 yards on ground in four games (98 per game)...top Midland rusher is fullback Alex Mata with 93 yards...Danny Stephen (sitting out one game) leads Steers with 166 yards and 5.9 avg. per carry...Dogs were punished 37-0 last week by Permian while Big Spring dropped 20-6 decision to Abilene...comparison: Big Spring lost to Lubbock Estacado 12-0 and Mats defeated Midland 23-6...Bulldogs should be in good frame of mind after getting Mojo out of way but Steers are hungrier to prove themselves. (Game time is 8 p.m.) BIG SPRING 16, MIDLAND 10.

Permian at Abilene — Abilene always, I repeat, always plays well in this game...this year should be no exception as the Eagles go for broke against home fans...Permian has been simply awesome so far this year, boasting both No. 1 offense (1,649 yards already) and No. 1 defense (giving up just 115 total yards a game)...Eagles has good 1-2 rushing attack when Darrell Denman is in lineup...if opponents key too much on No. 2 league rusher Ron Lewis, AHS will go to the air behind Steve Stacy...Permian, though, is too loaded at too many positions...besides, next week is the Great West Texas Earthquake when Mojo meets SA's Bobcats. PERMIAN 17, ABILENE 7

Cooper at Odessa — Cooper showed its stuff last week against San Angelo...Odessa showed its stuff against Lee...Bronchos defense is only sixth in yards but has given up very few points...Cougars are uncharacteristic 1-3 but have lost to B'wood, Temple and San Angelo...look for Coogs to explode for first time this year. COOPER 25, ODESSA 7

Midland Lee at San Angelo — Lee was stunned by Odessa last week so you can expect the Rebs to be red-hot for this one...Orange struggled against Cooper and could have lost its No. 4 rankings in the state easily...but, but, but...San Angelo has to play well to get ready for World War III with Permian...Lee will be ready, though, if Bobcats look too far ahead. SAN ANGELO 24, LEE 14

Schedule juggling studied

While both sides in the National Football League players strike continue to snipe at each other for failing to make progress in negotiations, league officials are contemplating ways to recoup the season once the walkout ends.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Wednesday that the elimination of wild-card playoff games might be the most painless way to salvage a weekend of regular-season games.

The wild-card round, with one game in each conference between teams that did not win their divisions, is scheduled for Jan. 2. If the decision is made to drop that round, Rozelle said, the league would move the slate of games from one of the weekends lost to the strike to that date.

Each NFL team has already missed one game and Rozelle has said that if the strike is not settled by today, a second round of regular-season games would be wiped out.

NFLPA on Strike

No one is predicting that today's negotiations in Washington will bring the end of the 10-day strike.

"We will have no new counter-proposals," Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said of today's scheduled resumption of talks, which last were held Sunday in Hempstead, N.Y. "We have 10 items on the table and not only haven't they agreed to one single item, they are trying to get takebacks for disabled players."

"This works two ways," responded Jim Miller, public relations director for the NFL Management Council, the owners' negotiating unit. "They (the union representatives) haven't accepted anything we have put on the table. Their idea of collective bargaining is to reject everything we suggest. We will have nothing new. We are still awaiting a response for our offer of last Sunday to guarantee the $1.6 billion."

At the time, Garvey termed the offer "a false guarantee."

Miller said the talks would resume despite the two sides' stances because "There is no hope for progress unless we are talking." And Garvey observed: "At some point they (the owners) are going to negotiate. At some point the weight of events will trigger a decision to negotiate. Every development takes significance although it is hard to measure immediately."

Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys and chairman of the NFL's competition committee, said Wednesday the league would not necessarily have to make up the games lost to the strike.

"We are not ready to abandon the current schedule," said Schramm, "but I think people will accept a 12-to-14-game schedule without further hindrance. We were playing 12 games as recently as 1960."

Schramm said that a number of factors would come into play before the league decides what to do with the lost games.

"We have to look at the situation on a week-to-week basis," Schramm said.

Rozelle said the league has not determined how many games would have to be lost before it would become pointless to resume the season.

"It's a subjective decision," he said. "The owners would have to decide."

The commissioner said any plan for finishing the season would also have to be approved by the players because elimination of games "eliminates money for players as well as television and gate receipts for the owners."

With no talks held Wednesday, Garvey met with Teamsters President Roy Williams.

The NFLPA issued no official statement on the meeting, but Duke Zeller, a Teamsters spokesman, said the two men talked about Teamster support if the NFL owners try to schedule games without the striking players.

"The bottom line is if it turns out there is going to be a scab season the Teamsters will support the players," Zeller said.

The union also announced in Philadelphia the second of its series of proposed American Conference vs. National Conference all-star games to be bankrolled by Ted Turner's cable television network. But the Management Council said the union would find itself in court if it tried to use references to the American Conference or National Conference or the like.

"They're trademarks," said Miller. "Any use would be unauthorized and legal action would ensue."

Giants, Braves win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants got back on the winning side, beating the Houston Astros 6-1, and also got more sleep than their two rivals in the National League West race.

But they woke up this morning with the realization they'd gained no ground in that race and that they'll play the final four games of the regular season without Chili Davis.

The Giants' players were aware of the bad news about Davis, the impressive rookie center fielder who badly sprained his left ankle in the seventh inning Wednesday night, before they left Candlestick Park. They were slow in leaving, hoping to get a final score from the Atlanta Braves-Los Angeles Dodgers game, but when the last player drifted out, the game in Los Angeles still was going.

"I hope the Dodgers come through for us," said Gary Lavelle, who saved a victory for Allee Hammaker, 12-8, in Wednesday night's game which featured home runs by Jeff Leonard and Davis.

They didn't. The Braves, fresh from a two-game sweep in San Francisco, won 4-3 in 12 innings and now have a two-game lead over the Dodgers and Giants who are tied for second.

The combination of San Francisco and Los Angeles victories tonight becomes even more essential to the pennant hopes of the Giants, who were 10 games back on Sept. 3 but rushed to within one game of the lead after a sweep of the Dodgers last weekend. If Atlanta and Houston should win tonight, the Braves will clinch at least a tie for the NL West title.

The Astros' Joe Niekro, 16-12, was out to help his older brother Phil in Wednesday night's game at Candlestick. Phil beat the Giants on a two-hitter two nights earlier.

Leonard hit a two-run homer in the second and Davis connected in the fifth to give the Giants a 3-1 lead. A three-run rally in the seventh off reliever Frank LaCorte padded the lead.

Niekro had pitched seven consecutive complete games, had a 1.02 earned run average over that stretch but lost two of the games.

The Giants' Davis, his season over unless he makes a remarkable recovery, hit his 19th homer, drove in his 76th run, and stole his 24th base Wednesday night.

Braves 4, Dodgers 3

The Los Angeles Dodgers have been virtually left for dead in the National League West by the hit-and-run Atlanta Braves.

"I think we have to feel good now, like we're in the driver's seat," said Terry Harper after leading the surging Braves to a 4-3, 12-inning victory over the Dodgers Wednesday night. "We're playing good baseball now, and when we're playing well, we can beat anyone."

The victory, Atlanta's sixth straight, put the Braves two games up in the NL West race with only four games to go. In losing for the eighth straight time, the Dodgers dropped into a second-place tie with the San Francisco Giants.

In order for the defending world champion Dodgers to make a comeback, they'll have to play near-perfect baseball the rest of the way — and hope the Braves don't. "We're not going to die," said Dodgers catcher Steve Yeager. "We don't give up. We can't look back. What we have to do now is win four games in a row and hope we get some help."

Harper, who homered earlier, singled home the tie-breaking run in the 12th for the Braves and Jerry Royster's base hit brought in the eventual game-winner.

Reliever Gene Garber, 8-10, who gave up the Dodgers' final run in the bottom of the inning on a double-play ball, was the winner.

Pirates 7, Cardinals 3

Jason Thompson's two-run double sparked a four-run first inning that carried Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Thompson also doubled in the third before leaving the game with a jammed right wrist sustained sliding safely into home on a single by Richie Hebner.

Thompson's two runs batted in gave him 101 for the season and made him the first Pirate with 100 RBI since Dave Parker drove in 107 in 1978.

Reliever Enrique Romo, 9-3, was the winner, holding the Cardinals scoreless over the final 4-3 innings.

Phillies 4, Expos 0

Steve Carlton pitched his sixth shutout of the season and 18th complete game as Philadelphia beat Montreal. The left-hander allowed only Joel Youngblood's single with two out in the fifth inning and Tim Raines' leadoff single in the ninth.

Carlton, 22-11, struck out three to boost his league-leading total to 273. The 37-year-old would be the oldest pitcher to lead the NL in strikeouts. Dazzy Vance fanned 200 to lead the league at the same age for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1928.

Loser Bryn Smith, 2-4, went five innings in his first major league start, allowing all four runs. The Phillies scored in the first on Mike Schmidt's RBI single. Manny Trillo and Ivan DeJesus opened the second with doubles to make it 2-0. Garry Maddox tripled and scored on Pete Rose's groundout to complete the scoring.

Cubs 4, Mets 1

Bill Buckner cracked four hits, including a two-run homer, as Chicago beat New York and snapped the Mets' four-game winning streak.

Mike Proly, 5-3, got the victory in his first start for Chicago, beating the Mets for the fourth time this season with relief help from Lee Smith, who gained his 16th save.

The Cubs tagged loser Walt Terrell, 0-3, for all the runs they needed in the first inning when Ryne Sandberg walked and Buckner hit his 15th homer.

The Mets pulled off a triple play in the third, their second of the year against the Cubs. After Buckner and Jay Johnstone singled, Keith Moreland lined to second baseman Brian Giles, who stepped on second and threw to first baseman Rusty Staub.

Padres 3, Reds 2

Terry Kennedy's two-run single in the 10th led San Diego over Cincinnati. Trailing 2-1, the Padres loaded the bases on singles by Broderick Perkins and Alan Wiggins and a walk to George Hinshaw. Brad Lesley, 0-2, struck out pinch-hitter Rick Lancelotti, but Kennedy followed with his game-winning hit that gave him 97 RBI for the year.

Luis DeLeon, 9-5, got the victory with 12-3 innings of relief.

A DIVE IN THE DIRT — Atlanta Braves third baseman Jerry Royster makes a diving catch of a ground ball hit down the third base line by Los Angeles Dodgers Mike Scioscia during the second inning of Wednesday night's game in Los Angeles. It's the Dodgers, however, that are diving as L.A. lost 4-3 to the Braves for their eighth straight loss.

Dickey on probation

HALETHORPE, Md. (AP) — Baltimore Colts running back Curtis Dickey has been sentenced to probation before judgment for a handgun violation, officials said today.

Bruce Hofmann, District Court clerk, said the 25-year-old Dickey also was fined $20 in court costs by Judge Edward Hardesty for a charge of transporting an unregistered handgun.

Dickey, the Colts' 1980 No. 1 draft choice from Texas A&M, appeared at the hearing Wednesday to plead innocent, Hofmann said.

Under probation before judgment, a defendant who meets requirements can apply three years from the date of his court appearance to have the record of the arrest, charges and disposition of the case expunged from his record.

Texas stops A's

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Rookie reliever Tom Henke celebrated his first major league victory with the Texas Rangers' 5-3 romp over Oakland, but teammates Larry Parrish and Pat Putnam had decidedly different views about the win.

"This has got to be right at the top for me, being brought up at the end of the year," Henke said. "You do some positive things and it can carry over to next year."

But for veteran outfielder Larry Parrish, the final game in the Rangers' home schedule was one more struggle to end the season for a team going nowhere. Parrish drove in the winning run in the seventh inning.

First baseman Pat Putnam, who doubled in three runs, said the game was his final home appearance in a Ranger uniform.

"I've got a lot of good friends here, but I've got to look out for my best interests," he said. "I believe that's with another ball club."

"The last time up, I was thinking it might be my last at bat in a Ranger uniform," Putnam said. "I don't know what's going to happen."

Putnam lined his double to centerfield to clear the bases for a three-run Rangers lead in the fourth. Oakland touched Rangers starter Rick Honeycutt for two runs in the fifth.

Rickey Henderson doubled with two outs to drive in the first run and scored on a Dwayne Murphy single.

Jeff Burroughs slammed a home run high into the left field seats to tie the score at 3-3 in the sixth. Honeycutt allowed two singles after Burroughs' home run, before giving way to Henke.

The 24-year-old rookie righthander retired two batters to kill the rally, and allowed only a single to Tony Armas in his 32-3 innings.

Parrish drove in the winning run with a single in the seventh, and the Rangers outburst was aided by two Oakland errors and a wild pitch.

After driving in the run, Parrish stole second, went to third on a throwing error and scored on a wild pitch by losing pitcher Dave Beard.

Royals 6, Angels 5

The Kansas City Royals have been their own best life-support team the last two nights. Now they need outside help to stay alive in the American League West.

"When your backs are against the wall, when you know if you lose there's no tomorrow, you have to give it all every game," said George Brett, after his Royals again staved off elimination by rallying past the California Angels 6-5 Wednesday night.

California could have wrapped up the division by beating the Royals either Tuesday or Wednesday. But Kansas City rallied for one-run victories both nights, and as a result, California's magic number remained at two while its lead over the Royals dropped to 2½ games.

California returns home to a three-game series against Texas starting Friday night, while Kansas City will entertain Oakland in a four-game set beginning tonight.

"All this means is we have a little more work to do," said California Manager Gene Mauch, who has never won a flag in his 23 years in the dugout — the longest any major-league skipper has ever gone without winning some title.

The Angels, backed by Reggie Jackson's 37th home run and Don Baylor's 24th, took a 5-2 into the bottom of the seventh.

Brewers 6, Red Sox 3

Ned Yost's first homer of the season, a two-out, three-run blast in the top of the ninth inning, enabled Milwaukee to move closer to the AL East title. The Brewers' victory, combined with Baltimore's loss, trimmed Milwaukee's magic number to two.

Boston reliever Mark Clear, 14-10, intentionally walked Cecil Cooper to pitch to Yost.

The Red Sox took a 2-0 lead in the first on Jim Rice's 23rd homer. Gary Alenson also homered for Boston.

Don Money hit his 16th homer for Milwaukee.

Bob McClure, 12-7, got the victory.

Tigers 3, Orioles 2

John Wockenfuss' pinch-hit homer leading off the bottom of the ninth inning dealt another blow to Baltimore's pennant hopes. The homer came off Tippy Martinez, 8-8, who relieved Jim Palmer with one out in the seventh.

The Orioles had tied the game in the top of the ninth on Jim Dwyer's double.

Cal Ripken Jr. hit his 22nd homer for Baltimore while Mike Laga and Chet Lemon homered for Detroit, which beat Baltimore Tuesday night and topped the Orioles twice last week.

Yankees 13, Indians 6

Ken Griffey went 4-and-4 to knock in five runs and Jerry Mumphrey doubled twice and tripled to drive in four, highlighting New York's rout.

Mumphrey's three-run double keyed a five-run fourth inning as the Yankees took a 7-3 lead.

George Frazier pitched four innings for his first save in 63 relief appearances this season.

Twins 8, Blue Jays 0

Brad Havens scattered nine hits and Gary Ward drove in four runs as Minnesota blanked Toronto.

Havens, 16-13, struck out four while walking two.

Ward staked Minnesota to a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning with his 28th homer.

White Sox 6, Mariners 5

Harold Baines' 24th homer and Greg Walker's two-run triple paced Chicago's attack.

Baines' homer, a two-run shot in the first, gave him 104 runs batted in this season.

Winner LaMarr Hoyt upped his record to 18-15.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
 from the CARROLL RIGHTEA INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCT. 1, 1982

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you are likely to be depressed and feel conditions are going against you. If you have a change in attitude, you will be able to gain more security.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A time when you should avoid bringing up touchy subjects with others, especially in the home. Be logical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan a better way of making a good impression on those that are important in your life. Make sure your accounts are in order.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A time when you should exercise particular care in handling business matters. Try to avoid making a costly mistake.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find a way to make your position in life more stable instead of seeking the new and untried. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use common sense in any business dealings you have with others today. Do nothing to jeopardize your health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may be doubtful of the wisdom of close ties, but it is wise to study the situation better. Come to the aid of a loyal friend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The work ahead of you may be dull but must be done to achieve success in the future. Evening is fine for engaging in hobby.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show associates that you are loyal. One who is annoying can be difficult but as the day progresses all works out to your benefit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The situation at home could become difficult but use tact and all is improved. Happiness can easily be yours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you exercise care in travel and avoid danger that is lurking nearby. Be wary of strangers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Strive for goodwill with associates and friends. Any problem at home should be handled in a most diplomatic way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may find delays and obstacles in the path of your progress, so try to be patient. Plan for the days ahead.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have fine, practical ideas, so be sure to give as fine an education as you can. Be understanding and not critical and your progeny will become an upstanding citizen. Give good spiritual training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Duran Duran will use video to become 'No. 1 pop group'

By MARY CAMPBELL, AP Newsfeatures Writer
Duran Duran, after making two recordings, "Duran Duran" and "Rio," has been working on a video disc and cassette to come out this fall.

Nick Rhodes, keyboards player, says, "The record will be played by a laser beam that transfers the sound and vision to your TV set. Linked up through a stereo, you get better sound quality."

"We spent a lot of time doing the videos. We feel in future times they are going to be very important."

Drummer Roger Taylor says, "Videos have been played in a lot of rock clubs with big screens. And they're used on TV, to go with records played on pop shows. Video will be big in homes, too."

"Most bands that have put out video albums have made them in studios," Rhodes says. Duran Duran went, among other places, to Sri Lanka to shoot theirs.

Rhodes says, "When you're going to a location and spending a lot of money, you need to be sure you're going to get exactly what is necessary for your footage. Sri Lanka has big temples, shrines and things. For 'Save a Prayer' and 'Hungry Like the Wolf' of the new album, we wanted cafes and jungle and water and rocks and things. For 'Lonely in Your Nightmare,' we needed a carnival atmosphere and a sort of fantasy. There are a lot of things in Sri Lanka. It has been described as the nearest place to paradise."

Members of the group are actors in the brief plays shot to go along with the songs and Sheila Ming is the woman. Australian director Russell Mulcahy was there to organize and realize the group's ideas.

These three tracks are being put together with previous videos shot in the West Indies, Australia and Japan. There's some documentary footage and one track is animation.

Duran Duran started in 1978 in Birmingham, England, and all five members still live there. When performing began, Rhodes says, "The New Wave had sort of died by then. Business was very slow at the time. There were rockabilly and mod revivals and a new psychedelic revival that lasted about two weeks."

"We wanted to move away from this. We had plenty of new, fresh ideas of our own. People called us New Romantics. We quickly lost that tag. We had nothing to do with a couple of other bands that came out at the same time. We took offense at it; we just wanted to be called Duran Duran."

Taylor puts it, "But we used it as a springboard to get ourselves noticed. When there's a few bands and therefore a movement, the publicity is greater than it is for just one band. That's the up side of it. The down side is that a movement can often die quickly. We didn't intend to die with it."

Rhodes and bass player John Taylor developed an idea of a band. Rhodes says, "We found Roger in Birmingham. We went through numerous guitarists and vocalists until we came across Andy Taylor by advertising for a guitarist. We were getting desperate. "We were chatting away with a barmaid one night. She said she knew somebody, a drama student, who would fit in as a singer with our group."

Roger Taylor says, "We had auditioned about 30 vocalists. Simon Le Bon was getting tired of drama at the time and he fit in really well."

None of the Taylors in the group is related.

Rhodes and John Taylor came up with the name Duran Duran. Rhodes says, "We were talking about the film 'Barefootlla.' We said Duran Duran was a nice sounding name. It wouldn't tie us down to anything in particular; it doesn't mean anything. It was a character played in the movie by Milo O'Shea, a space spook and evil sex fiend. It's not a reflection of any member of the band's character."

Duran Duran knew it wanted its records released by a big company so it set up showcases for itself, invited record executives and got several interested. The group chose Capitol Records. "It was a nice position to be in, able to choose the one we liked best," Rhodes says.

It's hard for a new English band to make it big in America, they say, because of the way radio is structure. Rhodes says, "In England, the charts are still controlled by Radio 1. But they will play a new band a few times and see what reaction they get. They will help bands get a break. I think that's definitely necessary to keep our music scene fresh and healthy. If you get stagnant, it is just boring."

"Foreigner broke through in England last year. J. Geils had a No. 1 hit. Journey had a hit as well. Joan Jett got into the English top 5.

City employees receive pay hike

By CAROL DANIEL
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council approved a seven percent "cost of living" raise for all city employees as part of the $11,303,066 1983 fiscal city budget at last night's council meeting.

Also, councilmen tabled an agenda item to make appointments to various city boards and committees because only one person has volunteered to serve. Those advisory bodies include the traffic commission, planning and zoning board and parks and recreation board.

The council adopted the $11.3 million city budget and a 65 cent tax rate on an "interim" basis since the city and other taxing agencies do not have a certified tax roll to determine a tax rate. The 1982 tax rate was $1.35.

The agencies lack a tax roll because of the number of valuation protests before the Appraisal Review Board. The tax rate establishes what operating revenue each entity receives.

"I want to stress the fact that this is just an estimated rate," City Manager Don Davis said. "Unfortunately the state requires us to make out a budget and establish a tax rate in order to operate. We may need to go back over the budget, review it and perhaps make some changes."

"We don't have the foggiest idea what will come out of that (Appraisal Review Board) office," Davis said. "This represents a lot of work by the council and I think it's a good budget. But until we get that tax roll, the document is meaningless. It only represents what we want the programs to be."

Davis said the budget offers basically the same services as the 1982 budget with adjustments made for cost increases. Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle said the city has frozen all capital replacement and new programs included in the budget until the certified tax roll is available.

However, the council approved that a recommended pay-plan — including an across-the-board seven percent salary raise for all city employees — be implemented Oct. 1.

The budget also includes a $4,000 increase in the city manager's salary — from $41,000 to $45,000 — and designates that a lump sum salary hike of $16,340 be divided between the other six city directors. The increase is to be divided at the city manager's discretion, Davis said.

Included in the interim budget is a $333,456 revenue sharing budget — money obtained through a federal program in which cities and states share revenue from the federal government. Feazelle said the amount allotted to a city is determined largely by local taxes — the higher the taxes, the larger the share. "It's a very unrestricted program, we'll use it for everything from specific items to operations," Feazelle said.

Both the city budget and the revenue sharing budget were open to discussion from the public, however no citizens appeared at the public hearing.

In another matter, the council gave the go-ahead to the city to advertise for bids for a new telephone system. Davis told the council that the present system is outdated — about 10 years old — and is "not even marketed any more." Feazelle said that some people have been unable to reach the police department and public services in emergency situations.

Davis and Feazelle said there may be some cost savings with a new system, including a 30 percent savings on long distance calls. The new system would include a computer print-out of long distance calls, Feazelle said. Feazelle said he could not estimate a cost for the system because of the variety of equipment available.

Additionally, the council decided to utilize a final payment ($150,000) on land purchased from the city eight years ago to pay off a $61,000 note at First National Bank. The $150,000 was not budgeted this year and is on reserve, Davis said.

Roger Brown bought the land near Country Club Road for about $180,000 and made the final payment Sept. 17, Davis said. Davis recommended the money be used to pay off the note, originally $250,000 borrowed in 1973 for street improvements. $190,000 of that debt was paid by assessing property owners for curb and gutter installation, Davis said.

The council also:

• Heard the final reading of an ordinance assessing Vasson Road property owners for curb and gutter installation. The cost will be assessed in 60 equal monthly installments bearing eight percent interest.

• Awarded bids to Russ Chemical Co., Dixie Petro Chemical and Austin White Lime Co. for water and wastewater utilities chemicals for fiscal year 1983.

• Tabled an agenda item to approve specifications and authorize advertising for bids for the new water office building. Architect Daryle Hohertz was unable to present the plans because the survey was not complete.

• Heard the final reading of a resolution to lease a building, land and offices at the Industrial Park to Mullins Equipment Co.

Tickets for Dracula production on sale

The Big Spring High School Theatre Department will present the stage version of "Count Dracula" this Saturday at 8 p.m. The play, written by Ted Tullers from the Bram Stoker story, will be at the BSHS Auditorium.

A second performance will be held Oct. 9 at 8 p.m. at the auditorium.

The cast includes Shelley Mahil as Dracula, Matt Warren as Jonathan Harker, Scott Boland as Heinrich Van Helsing, Joe Murphy as Renfield, Don Brooks as Wesley, Clark Johnson as Dr. Seward, William Bridges as Hennessey, Kim Beckham as Mina and Angie Lee as Sybil Seward.

Members of the technical crew are Shot Smith, technical director; Leslie Martin, assistant director; Hartley Newell; production secretary; Denise Boyd, props; Angie Lee, costumes; Mark Ring, special effects and Ismeal Carrillo, master electrician.

The theatre department designed and constructed all of the props and costumes for the play.

Tickets are on sale now and will be on sale at the door. Students' tickets are $1.50 while adults are $3. Members of civic clubs are half-price at $1.50. For more information and tickets, call 267-7461, extension 65.

Shotgun fired at man in car

Three gun shots were fired at a moving vehicle near N.W. 11th and N. Lamesa at 10:50 p.m. yesterday, police said. Pellets from the third shotgun shell struck the driver, 19-year-old Andy Rubio of 306 N.E. 10th in the back of the head, police said. Rubio was not seriously injured, police said.

Police said Rubio told them he knew the person who fired the shots that struck his vehicle, however no charges have been filed in connection with the incident.

Police reports also showed the following:

• A 16-year-old male was arrested last night as a child in need in supervision after a Fiberflex Products, Inc. security guard told police the juvenile threatened to shoot him.

Police arrested the boy at 11:45 p.m. at the Industrial Park company. The guard, Roy Payne of 902 Bell, told police he knew the suspect because he previously worked for the company.

Payne told police the suspect threatened to shoot him after Payne had asked him to leave the premises. However the suspect did not have a weapon in his possession, police said.

• Shoplifters hit Furr's Supermarket, 900 E. 11th Place, two times in two days, police said. Jana Hernandez Jarden, 25, of 1506 Douglas was arrested at 9:10 a.m. yesterday on suspicion of theft under $5 after a store employee told police he saw someone take make-up items, a comb and panty hose from the store without paying for them.

A female illegal alien was arrested this morning on suspicion of shoplifting eggs, lunchmeat and cheese from the supermarket. Police said theft charges were dropped and the woman would be returned to Mexico.

• Bonnie Newberry, 38, of 2600 Albrook was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated at 1:41 p.m. yesterday. Peace Justice Bobby West set bond at $1,000 and Ms. Newberry was transferred to Howard County jail.

• William Hahler, 27, no address available, was arrested at 11:35 p.m. yesterday on suspicion of theft under $5 and disorderly conduct.

• Debra Hall, 26, of Route 2 Box 113-E was arrested at 2:37 a.m. today on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and traffic citations.

• Judy Robertson of 602 George said she believes someone stole a $1,500 diamond and opal ring from her kitchen between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. Monday.

• Ron Pablosky of 204 Washington said someone stole a $150 AM-FM radio from this truck parked at 7-Eleven, 11th and Settles, at about 1:30 p.m. yesterday.

Girl Scouts begin calendar sales

The 1983 Girl Scout Calendars have arrived at the West Texas Girl Scout Council Service Center. The calendars are sold annually by Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors of the West Texas Council. The calendars will be on sale from Oct. 1-30.

The contemporary image of Girl Scouting is reflected in the calendar by a computer age design. From jumping Double Dutch to career exploration, the calendar captures the 1983 Girl Scout spirit. Memo space is provided on the calendar for each day of the month. The calendar notes such special holidays as Children's Day, National Volunteer Week and United National Day.

The calendars sell for $1.25 with the troop keeping 55 cents for each calendar sold. The calendar is a nationally approved Council sponsored money raising project to help Girl Scouts operate their own troop through a cooperative team effort.

The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

Prospectors Club shows skills

Members of the Prospectors Club sponsored nine display cases at the recent Howard County Fair. Workers from the organization demonstrated saws and polishers and the lapidary skills to make various pieces of jewelry during the fair.

The next meeting of the Prospectors Club is set for Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the club building at 606 E. 3rd. All members are urged to attend as officers for the 1983 year will be elected.

Myrtle Morris, club reporter, said "if you are interested in gems, minerals, rocks, fossils, silversmithing, gold casting, faceting, treasure hunting, lapidary arts and a good time, perhaps the Prospectors Club is a good place to start."

Those interested in the club may write the organization care of Box 1182, Big Spring.

Coahoma stadium name changed

Last week's renaming of Coahoma's Bulldog Stadium in honor of former coach and high school principal Bill Easterling apparently didn't take, as the Coahoma School Board voted Monday to rescind the motion, said superintendent Richard Souter.

Several persons appeared before the board to voice their desire to keep the "Bulldog Stadium" name, Souter said. The board voted to do so, but also voted to erect a brick memorial at the stadium to honor Easterling.

Monday's meeting, the board also voted to change the transfer rule for the CISD by adding "Children of families who have established residency in the Coahoma ISD district and who move to an adjacent school district may not continue as eligible students." Souter said the ruling would not apply to students currently living in another district who had established residency in Coahoma and were attending school in Coahoma. In the future, he said, students who attend Coahoma schools would have to be residents of the CISD.

In a related decision, the board voted to have all new students report to the Coahoma ISD tax office and check their legal residency before enrolling in the Coahoma ISD. The board also agreed to hire a new kindergarten teacher to work with current teachers, Souter said. The classes will not be split and the new teacher will work with all the classes, he added. Applications for a new kindergarten teacher, a new special education teacher and a new aide for high school special education will be received in the superintendent's office for these positions.

In other action the board:

- decided to allow principals and the athletic director to use the new elementary gymnasium for exercise after the elementary PE school day is over.
- appointed a committee of Bruce Griffith, Stanley Phillips and Warren Jeter to interview prospective lawyers for possible employment by the district.
- postponed the decision to tear down the old elementary building until after the Halloween Carnival.

Post to hold Annual Steer Roping and Art Exhibit

Thirty-six steer ropers from nine states and 35 exhibiting artists from eight states will be featured at the 12th Annual OS Ranch Steer Roping and Art Exhibit. The annual event, held to benefit the West Texas Boys Ranch, will take place Friday through Sunday in Post.

The art exhibit will be held at the OS Ranch Headquarters from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. More than 100 works of art will be for sale with many of the artists present at the exhibit.

A Preview Party at 5 p.m. Friday will kick off the festivities with a triple auction, art sale and dance. A Barrel Race will start the day off Saturday at 9 a.m. Along with the Barrel Races will be the Cutting Horse Event and a Washer Pitch. Included in Saturday's activities are a Noon Bar-B-Que, the Johnny Gimbel Show, Calf Roping, Finals Team Roping and Finals Barrel Racing. A dance will top off the evening.

An Old Timers Breakfast

will break the dawn Sunday morning at 8 a.m. A church service will follow. Another barbeque will be held at noon with Johnny Gimbel. Following the meal, the steer roping event and cutting horse finals will be held.

Admission to the festivities is $5 minimum donation each day except Friday. Admission includes both the roping and the art exhibit. Additional information and tickets may be obtained by writing OS Ranch, Box 310, Post, Texas 79356 or calling (806) 495-3958.

Farmers unite to ship goods

ARLINGTON — A dairy case filled with fresh milk is such a common sight that most shoppers take it for granted. But dairy farmers throughout the Southwest know that maintaining an abundant supply of milk for the region's burgeoning population is no small task. It takes mammoth effort on the part of thousands of individual dairy farmers.

In the past few years, urban areas of the Southwest have experienced rapid growth. A substantial influx of businesses and people have been lured by a progressive economy and an inviting climate. With 14 of the nation's 100 largest cities located in the region, new residents by the thousands continue to be attracted to this part of the country.

The changing demographics have had a dramatic impact on the dairy industry. Dairy farmers have discovered that working together in broad-based dairy cooperatives like Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) is the only way to successfully manage fluctuations in supply and demand for fresh milk and the cost of transporting additional raw milk where it is most needed.

This has not always been the case, though. In the early 1950s, moving milk from the farm to the consumer did not demand the precision planning and scheduling necessary today. Milk was produced close to where it was marketed and most of the small dairy co-ops in existence served one dairy processor or, at best, one market.

But marketing milk in the 1980s is a far more complex task. The situation in Houston is a primary example according to E.L. Wise, southern region manager for AMPI.

From his Arlington office Wise said "A few years ago approximately 100 milk tankers a week were required to transport the necessary milk to Houston. Now it takes 55 trucks per day to supply the Houston area. This is caused by a declining milk production rate in an exploding population area.

As the city has continued expanding its boundaries, some dairy farmers realized the land they were holding could be sold very profitably for commercial development.

"However, reduced supplies in some areas are offset to an extent by the increased production evident in other places," says Wise. "New Mexico's production of fluid milk has experienced a dramatic growth increase within the past few years. Favorable food and climatic conditions, as well as improved herd management techniques, have increased per cow production. This means more milk for transportation into areas of need."

Transporting the milk into less-abundantly supplied areas requires a special kind of orchestration. The distances which must be covered in the Southwest region are so much greater than in other parts of the country. It is sometimes necessary to take milk several hundred miles from a producer to a processor.

Milk's perishable nature means that time is of the essence in moving the product. But the overlying concern is, as in any business, one of economics. The huge tankers could conceivably protect the milk from any spoilage for up to three days. With the cost of a tractor-trailer rig approaching $100,000, it is important that milk runs be completed in a 24-hour period. Time delays cost money.

Ireba Griffith shares favorite recipes

Ireba Griffith was one of the faces in the crowd familiar to many who attended the Howard County Fair last week at the Howard County fairgrounds.

As supervisor of the "security sitters" at the fair, Mrs. Griffith put in a great deal of time at the fairgrounds. The security sitters kept an eye on exhibits and goods left at the fairgrounds, in the hopes of protecting items from damage or loss.

Mrs. Griffith is also an accomplished cook, and took time recently to drop some of her favorite recipes by the Herald to share with other in the Recipe Exchange.

Some of her favorites appear below.

PECAN STICKS
IREBA GRIFFITH
1/4 cups shortening (Crisco)
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cups pecans
1 tsp. vanilla
dash salt
1 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
Cream sugar and Crisco, add egg and vanilla. Mix flour salt and baking powder, add to creamed mix. Add pecans. Spread in 8-inch square greased pan. Bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool and cut into squares.

ORANGE DUMP CAKE
Ireba Griffith
1 cup Crisco
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup orange juice
1 Tbsp. graded orange peels
3 eggs
Dump all ingredients into mixing bowl and beat three minutes.
Add two cups flour
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Beat for three minutes.
Add one cup of pecans or walnuts. Mix.
Bake in greased bundt pan in 300 degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Do not open door until cake is done.

VANILLA WAFER CAKE
Ireba Griffith
1 stick oleo, softened
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1/2 cups milk
1/2 tsp. baking powder
one 14 oz. box vanilla wafers, crushed (4 cups)
1 can flaked coconut
1 cup pecans
Cream oleo and sugar. Add eggs, baking powder and milk. Crush vanilla wafers and add to mixture. Add coconut and pecans. Bake in 350 degree oven for one hour.

BAR-B-CUE SAUCE
Ireba Griffith
2 cups catsup
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cups Worcestershire

SAUCE
2 sticks oleo
1/2 cups brown sugar and 1/4 cups granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1 Tbsp. minced onion
1 Tbsp. French mustard dash of salt and pepper, to taste.
Mix all ingredients into two quart pan and simmer for 30 minutes.

CHRISTMAS SALAD
Ireba Griffith

2 cups small marshmallows
1 cup pie cherries or frozen strawberries
1 large container Cool Whip
1 can Eagle Brand milk
1 small can coconut
1 can orange slices (drained and cut into halves)
1 cup pecans, chopped
1 large can crushed pineapples, do not drain
Mix all ingredients, let set overnight.

FRESH APPLE CAKE
Ireba Griffith
1 cup butter or oleo
2 cups sugar
3 cups flour
1/2 cups cold water
3 cups chopped apples
4 eggs
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon, allspice and cloves
1 cup chopped nuts
Cream sugar and oleo. Add eggs, beating one at a time. Mix flour, soda and spices. Add to cream mixture. Add water, apples and nuts. Bake in loaf pan or bundt pan in 350 degree oven about one hour.

DUMP SALAD
Ireba Griffith

1 cup celery, chopped
1 can white corn
1 can green beans
1 small jar pimientos
1 cup onion, cut in small pieces

1 can green lima beans
1 small can English peas
1 cup green peppers, chopped
Mix add ingredients. Add dressing, according to recipe below.

DRESSING
Ireba Griffith

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup Wesson oil
salt and pepper to taste
Mix all ingredients and bring to a boil. Let cool. Pour over salad and toss. Let sit overnight.

BRITTOS
Ireba Griffith

1 dozen flour tortillas, large
2 lbs. ground beef
2 cans (7 1/2 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can water
1 Tbsp. chili powder
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. celery salt
2 Tbsp. minced onions

2 Tbsp. chili sauce (if desired)

1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. white or black pepper

Brown meat until pink is gone. Add remaining ingredients (except flour tortillas) and simmer two hours. Let cool. Put three tablespoons in flour tortilla and roll up. Roll in foil and bake 20 minutes in 300 degree oven.
These can be frozen.

Carnival sponsors needed

Fall is in the air and Halloween is around the corner. Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services is busy planning Halloween activities for the patients.

Friday, Oct. 29, Halloween activities will begin with a parade on the hospital grounds at 10 a.m. A carnival will follow in the afternoon featuring game booths and refreshments. Prizes will also be awarded.

Volunteer Services is in need of sponsors for the carnival booths as well as donated items to be used as prizes. Some items that would be useful to the patients as prizes include: hair combs and brushes, small bars of soap, purse size tissues, toothbrushes, gum, fruit, instant coffee, pens and pencils and memo pads.

For clubs and organizations seeking a service project, this is an opportunity that requires little time and effort. Volunteer Services encourages both individual and group participation in the sponsoring of carnival booths and prizes. If interested, call Volunteer Office at 267-8216 ext. 535 for additional details.

County sets $4.8 million budget

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

After approximately an hour of discussion yesterday afternoon, Howard County commissioners approved the 1982-1983 budget for Howard County of $4.8 million.

The afternoon budget debate began with Commissioner David Barr's opposition to passing a budget without established revenue. Due to the number of valuation protests before the appraisal review board, the county as well as other taxing agencies do not have a certified tax roll to determine a tax rate. The tax rate establishes what operating revenue each entity receives.

"I don't think you can adopt a budget without a tax rate," Barr said. "How can you budget money if you don't have it?" Approving the budget without knowing what funds were coming in is "bad business," he added.

Commissioner Paul Allen argued that the county has "got to have a bottom line on this" before continuing into its fiscal year. The county's fiscal year begins Thursday, Oct. 1. Commissioner William Crooker noted that the commissioners "can always amend the budget."

Barr said the commissioners would lose any influence to set a tax rate. "If we set this (budget) right now, we're not going to have one more thing to say about it. That review board will set the tax rate," Barr said.

Crooker agreed with the loss of power suffered by the county and other taxing entities. He said all taxing entities would lose more money now by using up their surplus finances to finish the year instead of gathering interest. "The in-house appraisal was supposed to save money but it costs the governmental agencies while waiting on the tax roll," Crooker said.

County Judge Bill Tune said the county had to have an adopted budget or the county would "shut down on Thursday." After calling in County Attorney Bob Miller for a legal opinion on the requirement for a budget, Barr moved to approve the budget if it were considered "estimated" and amendable. Commissioners then unanimously approved the $4.8 million budget.

THE BUDGET was also a primary concern when commissioners met with all of the county department heads yesterday afternoon. Commissioners asked the departments to help in holding down expenses until tax revenue is coming in again. No major purchases and operation on "bare necessities" were requested to keep from "having to go on a bond issue," Tune said.

County Auditor Jackie Olson noted long-distance phone calls were one area of reduction while Treasurer Bonnie Franklin added reduced travel to the list. Tune predicted the surplus funds the county had would last five months if everyone conserved. Tax revenue was hoped for by then, he said.

IN OTHER action, commissioners hired a new county extension agent in home economics, Peggy Kalina of Wharton was hired after she was recommended to the commissioners by Roberta Johnson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Ms. Kalina replaces Nina Mahon, who moved to another position outside the county.

Overdue books was the subject of a meeting with County Librarian Judith Gray. Gray told commissioners 427 people had 1,267 books and 47 records overdue at the library from three to six months. She estimated the replacement cost of the items at $19,000.

Commissioners approved putting "more teeth" into the attorney letter mailed to those having overdue books. Charges of theft could be filed against persons having overdue books that ignore requests to return them, Mrs. Gray said. No more "fine-free" times at the library would be used either, she said.

JONILYN AVERY
...elected to office

Joni Avery named secretary

Joni Lyn Avery has been selected secretary of the freshman class at Texas Christian University. Miss Avery is the daughter of Jerry and Johnnie Lou Avery, 4 Bennett Circle.

Miss Avery graduated from Big Spring High School in May of 1982 where she was one of four finalists in the Zales-Herald Youth Achievement Awards for Outstanding High School Students. She was also recognized at the end of her senior year for never having missed a day of school in 2700 class days from pre-school through the 12th grade.

Miss Avery is also a member of the Spirit Wranglers at TCU, and a member of the Purple Hearts, the official hostesses for the campus. TCU is a part of the Southwest Conference Athletic Council. The TCU freshman class has 1650 members. Elected president of the class is David Lang, a political science major from Austin. Vice-president is Anna Maria Reyes, biology major from Houston. Jack Larson, treasurer, is a pre-law major from Bossier City, La.

There were 18 candidates for the four offices.

Miss Avery accumulated 22 hours of college credit at Howard College through the early admission program, CLEP tests and summer school classes before beginning TCU in August. She received a merit scholarship from the Beasley Fund to attend TCU.

She plans to return to Howard College next summer to complete her sophomore year before beginning her junior year at TCU in 1983. Her majors are business management and marketing with a minor in computer science. She is enrolled in the TCU M.J. Neely School of Business.

Mitchell County fair a success

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The 1982 Mitchell County Fair is a thing of the past and, according to chamber of commerce officials, was an unqualified success.

Some 4,000 persons attended the fair, according to chamber manager Linda McCombs.

Saturday's activities were highlighted by the Colorado City Record's "Bake-off," with Mrs. Bobby Hamrick of Loraine winning first place for her loaf of wheat bread and second place going to Mrs. Dera Winn for her seven-layer cookies.

George Walker auctioned off all baked goods to bring some $661.55 for the chamber of commerce. The City National Bank purchased the first and second place entries for a total of $105.

Fair sets new record

By CLIFF COAN
Staff Writer

The 1982 edition of the Howard County Fair is now history, and more people than ever before participated in that history, according to attendance figures.

Howard County Fair president Paul Hopper released final figures for attendance at the six-day gathering Monday at 23,467. Approximately 7,000 of those counted attended Saturday night's edition of the fair.

"We promised you the biggest and best ever fair," Hopper said, "and we did it."

Hopper relaxed underneath his straw hat in the fair office, looking like a man who had spent a long week.

"We had a bigger and better carnival, a bigger steer show, a bigger lamb show, a bigger horse show, a bigger goat show, and more and better exhibits," he said. Rather than claim all credit for the betterment of the fair, he was quick to spread praise.

"It's only through the work of interested people that this can be done — that this can go on," he said. "I would like to personally thank our office secretary Janie Blizard, and directors Neil Fryar, Arnold Marshall, Smitty Smith, Jerry Phillips, Skipper Driver, Geraldine Posey, Howard Armstrong, Charles Phillips and Repps Guitar. Without these people, the fair would not be the quality that it is."

"We hope more people will volunteer their time and efforts so we can use the work this year as a springboard for a second decade of community service," Hopper said.

Hopper also thanked a list of people connected with the fair for ten years or more. Those who had been on the board for 10 years are Neil Fryar, Arnold Marshall, Bill Read and Delbert Donelson. Persons who have been with the fair for 10 years and are now on the board of directors are La Vern Gaskins, Skipper Driver, Geraldine Posey, Jerry Roman, Loyd Underwood, Howard Armstrong, Zula Rhodes, and June Nichols. People who have served with the fair in some capacity for 10 years include Reith Mitchell, Mrs. Neil Norred, Myree Soles, Bruce Wright, Bertie Shaw, Gail Earls, Lola Mitchell, Montey Bunn, Jen Davidson, Pearl Armstrong, Terry Patterson, Ireba Griffith, Mrs. Odele Womack, Mrs. J.F. Sanders, Mrs. Garland Morrison, Neva Clinkscales, Mrs. A.C. Moore, and Maurine Mendenhall.

DO-SI-DO — Members of the Merry Mixers Square Dance Club kick up their heels during the last night of the 1982 Howard County Fair Saturday. Twenty-four people, "plus some extras" participated in the dancing Saturday, according to Merry Mixer president Glen Redmon.

Odds stated are good for thirty days after promotion begins. Odds will be revised weekly thereafter to indicate prizes still available and will be posted in participating stores. Odds effective September 15, 1982. If all prizes are redeemed the odds of winning a JACKPOT prize will be 267,230 to 1.

Just match the number on your Bingo marker to the number on your die-cut card and slip it into the correct position. And when you fill an entire row horizontally, vertically, or diagonally, you win! Get your free Bingo ticket at the check-out lane or service booth each time you come into the store. Each ticket contains 4 markers.

Girl Scouts plan many activities

The Cadet Girl Scout Troop No. 156 has many projects planned for the rest of September and October including a bake sale Saturday in College Park Center.

The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in front of Safeway. Cakes, pies and cookies will be offered.

October events include viewing the musical "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" in Odessa Oct. 2; Girl Scout Calendar sale Oct. 5; a campout at Moss Creek Lake Oct. 8-9; another bake sale Oct. 16th; and a rededication ceremony Oct. 25.

Homemaking group plans first meeting

The Big Spring Chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas will have its first meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 7 in the Big Spring High School Homemaking Department. Anyone between the ages of 18 to 35 is welcomed to attend.

Young Homemakers of Texas is an organization of young people in the community. Its main purpose is to provide educational services to the membership, along with sharing ideas related to homemaking.

Guest speaker will be Shirley Kountz, from Klondike. She will present a workshop on "How to Be a Better You." Joining her will be several of the Klondike Young Homemakers of Texas members.

Door prizes will be awarded, and refreshments served.

Kappa Tau plans supper

The Denver City Annual Western Supper will be held Friday from 5-7 p.m. prior to the Denver City-Coahoma football game. The event is sponsored by Kappa Tau Sorority of E.S.A.

The meal will be held at Denver City Intermediate School Cafeteria, 1001 N. Ave. F, one block east across from the football stadium.

The meal is prepared by some of Denver City's finest cooks. It consists of barbecued beef, homemade cole slaw, pinto beans, homemade bread, homemade peach cobbler, tea and coffee.

Tickets may be purchased at the door for $5 — adults and $5 for children seven years and under.

Notice to Our Customers:

Winn-Dixie has high hopes that the NFL Players Association will settle their dispute prior to Sunday's game. However, if the Dallas Cowboys do not play Sunday, October 3, 1982; Winn-Dixie will hold a random drawing on Sunday, October 3, 1982 at 5:00 P.M. on KDFW Channel 4 to determine the winning numbers. This drawing will be public and will be supervised by the Better Business Bureau. Therefore, do not destroy your tickets for this game. All customer prizes will be awarded as usual.
