Rep. Shaw files bill to save SWCID

By JAY ROSSER

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf in Big Spring has been on pins and needles financially this legislative session and two West Texas lawmakers are trying to prevent that from happening again.

But, there's a lot of ifs involved, the largest being whether or not the Legislature will appropriate enough money to keep the facility's doors open in the future.

Legislation filed Friday by state Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, and Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, would give management and full funding responsibilities of the school to the Texas Education Agency to operate as a public senior college or university subject to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System regulations.

The school now is under the direction of the Howard County Junior College District. The legislative proposal, if approved, would phase-out local operation of the school in favor of state control by 1988.

The school's campus, about 65 acres, would also be deeded to the state.

Currently, Howard County Junior College District officials are fighting to obtain a $7 million, two-year appropriation for the deaf school. Lawmakers now are reviewing two state budget proposals for the 1984-85 state fiscal years. Under the Legislative Budget Board's plan, the deaf school would receive a two-year appropriation of $2 million where Gov. Mark White's budget package recommends a $3 million spending level for the biennium.

The legislation filed Friday by Shaw and Montford would open the door for increased state funding in the future, basically by removing a legal stumbling block that prohibits community colleges from receiving state money for construction.

That money, and other maintenance expenses, must be paid for with local funds.

At the request of House Appropriations Committee Chairman Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox is reviewing whether the deaf school is legally a branch of the junior college district and thereby not entitled to state funding for construction and maintenance.

"The problem is we can't get the kind of funding we need because it is viewed as a community college," Shaw said. "This legislation is designed to ensure that we don't have to go through this bureaucratic game with the state year after year."

Howard County Junior College District officials have threatened to close the deaf school unless the state provides the $7 million in funding, a figure which includes a $2.6 million request for new construction and renovation.

Essay winners big believers

Eunice Choate believes in Big Spring because she can't turn her back on a friend.

For her convictions, Mrs. Choate of Route 2 in Big Spring has won $300 in gift certificates for her first-place entry in the Big Spring Herald's "We Believe in Big Spring" Essay Contest.

The essay contest was open to all residents of the six-county circulation area of the Herald. Two other winners and two honorable mentions were also named in the contest.

Mrs. Choate, the lyricist for Multi-Media Advertising, says she is going to give her gift certificates to her husband, Sonny, because he suggested she enter the contest.

"I had no idea I would win," Mrs. Choate said. "I've never turned in anything I've written before."

Big Springers may remember that Mrs. Choate wrote the Railroad Centennial Song for Howard County's Centennial celebration last year.

Margaret Bradley of 1206 Elm was the second-place winner in the essay contest and was awarded $200 in gift certificates. A freshman in Howard College's nursing program, Ms. Bradley says she plans to use her certificates for school clothes.

Asked why she entered, she replied: "Just to see if I had a chance." She is the daughter of Charles Bradley and Josephine Stephenson of Big Spring.

Third place and a $100 gift certificate went to Phyllis Martin of Box 968 in Big Spring. Ms. Martin captured third place with a poem about how Big Spring is a family and more than a city. Honorable mention kudos went to See Winners, page 2A

Gibson Co. reorganizes, 'not closing'

ODESSA — Gibson Distributing Co., Inc. has reorganized its management team in an attempt to streamline the company and fend off rumors that certain stores were to be closed in the Permian Basin.

Carl G. Miller, chief executive officer for Gibson, said Friday the discount chain-store company has become aware of increasing rumors that say company is in poor financial shape and planning to close several stores in the area.

Miller denied the rumors, saying "we are not closing any of our stores." Miller added there were "absolutely" no plans to change the present operation of the Big Spring store.

The top management shake-up included the appointment of four new executives and enlarging the responsibilities of three other officers, according to Miller.

Miller also said the company has started new management techniques to improve operations.

"Recently implemented management controls are resulting in improved cash flow," he said. "We are especially pleased that we are meeting our obligations to our vendors in a more timely way."

Added to the Gibson's management team were John E. Hower, vice president; Fred Copeland, softlines merchandise manager; William Goodwin, director of stores; and Ed Sheppard, manager of data processing.

Hower has 30 years of retail experience including eight years with Pamida, Inc. of Omaha, where he worked as both grocery supervisor and hardline merchandise manager for 200 stores.

Copeland has experience as a softlines buyer and merchandise manager. He also has served as a domestic buyer for a 354-store chain, Bill's Dollar Store, headquartered in Jackson, Miss.

Goodwin has 17 years of retail management experience with W.E. Walker Stores, Inc. and Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Sheppard joins Gibson's with 25 years of data processing experience in retail, industrial and financial service companies.

Reagan delivers primer for school

'Begin by welcoming God back'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said Saturday that "welcoming God back in our schools" and improving basic skills, discipline and competition can reverse what he called a two-decade decline in American education.

A Democratic spokesman, citing administration cuts in federal education programs, promptly denounced Reagan's proposal as "shortsighted and doomed to failure." A spokesman for school administrators termed the president's cuts "calculated attempts to destroy public education."

"It's time to face the truth," Reagan told a noontime radio audience in his regular Saturday broadcast. "Advocates of more and more government interference in education have had ample time to make their case, and they've failed."

While federal spending on education increased eightfold in the last 20 years, Reagan said, "Scholastic Achievement Test scores went down and down."

Actually, the long slide in high school seniors' SAT scores is over, the College Board of Princeton, N.J., which administers the SATs, has said. The scores on both math and verbal exams leveled off in 1981 and rose last year for the first time since they reached an all-time high in 1963, six years after the Soviet launch of a Sputnik satellite set off a crash re-evaluation and redirecting of American educational priorities, the board has said.

Even if the rise continues as expected, however, it is unlikely the test scores will achieve their level of 20 years ago, if only because most high school seniors take the exams today, whereas only the academically inclined third that planned to go to college took the standardized SATs in 1963, academic experts have said.

Reagan said that in order to strengthen the national defense, modernize American industry and move into the era of high technology, "we need a smart and highly skilled work force. Yet, only one sixth of our high school graduates have taken junior-and-senior-level courses in science and math. And many U.S. high schools do not offer sufficient math to prepare graduates for engineering schools."

However, according to a report of the College Board last year, a students in record numbers are taking math and science courses in high schools across the country.

Speaking from his weekend retreat at Camp David atop Catoctin Mountain in Maryland, Reagan said, "We must move forward again by returning to the sound principles that never failed us when we lived up to them. Can we not begin by welcoming God back in our schools and by setting an example for children by striving to abide by his Ten Commandments and the

Energy boss: decontrol or gas disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission warned Saturday that unless Congress acts quickly to solve natural gas pricing problems, there "will be a disaster in the gas market" for both consumers and producers.

"Rules governing natural gas prices must be changed, and they must be changed soon," FERC chairman C.M. Butler III told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. The commission oversees the gas pricing system.

The panel finished four days of hearings on President Reagan's plan to remove all controls from natural gas by 1986, a plan Reagan says will cut prices and end the complaints of consumers who have been hit by price hikes of 40 percent to 50 percent a year.

But Reagan's plan faces stiff opposition in Congress, where more than 20 bills have been introduced, ranging from partial decontrol to reimposition of prices already lifted.

The 1978 law, enacted at a time of gas shortages, lifts price controls on

Harte-Hanks to open D.C. news bureau

Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. is opening its own Washington bureau on Monday for its 13 daily newspapers in Texas.

The two-man bureau, designed to provide local coverage from Washington for the firms' Texas newspapers, including the Big Spring Herald, will be located in the National Press Building with other major U.S. news bureaus.

"The Washington Bureau will allow our readers to receive from Washington improved news coverage which affects all our lives. It also reflects the Harte-Hanks commitment to provide people in our markets local news of high quality," Schlosberg said.

He said it is not Harte-Hanks' aim to compete with existing wire services, but rather to provide additional information, much like the Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau supplements wire reports now.

Tucker Sutherland, president of the Harte-Hanks Metro Group and publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times, oversees bureau operations in Austin and Washington.

"We have been so successful with this type of coverage in Texas with our Austin Bureau that we're looking forward to the same high quality of reporting from the Washington scene," said Sutherland.

Sutherland said the purpose of the Washington bureau will be to localize national stories for the 13 Texas newspaper markets.

The newspapers are the Abilene Reporter-News, Big Spring Herald, Bryan-College Station Eagle, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Corsicana Daily Sun, Del Rio News-Herald, The Denison Herald, The Greenville Herald-Banner, The Huntsville Item, Marshall News Messenger, The Paris News, San Angelo Standard-Times and Wichita Falls Times and Record News.

The Herald was receiving localized Washington news coverage primarily from the States News Service organization.

Washington correspondents Bill Garland and Phil Swann will provide the localized Washington report.

Garland, a University of Texas graduate, was bureau chief of the Texas Capitol report for The Daily Texan in 1974. His background includes reporting for The New Mexican in Santa Fe, N.M.; associate editor of Petroleum Independent, a bimonthly magazine of the Independent Petroleum Association of America in Washington; and reporting on the Texas desk of States News Service.

Essay contest winning entries

The following are the three top essays in the Big Spring Herald Essay Contest.

"I believe in Big Spring because of the people who live and love it."

I'm not talking about the city fathers and civic leaders. We have some who are exceptionally foresighted, and who are generous with their time, money, and talent. We have others, as every town has, who only seem capable of adding grit to the gears of progress.

I believe in Big Spring because of the people who don't make the local news and never get their picture in the newspaper: the Home Folks. The ones who moan and groan and gripe about everything.

The ones who announce to one and all that we'll never have a winning team in anything, and then show up at every high school sports event to scream their lungs out for the Steers. ("And by darn — look at them kids! Don't tell me they ain't winners!")

I'm talking about the ones who'll give you a pain in the neck sticking their noses into your business, and then warm your heart by being the first to reach out a hand to help you when you really need a friend.

I'm talking about the ones who stop to help when your car breaks down and they don't know you from Adam. They'll spend all the time it takes to get you going again and won't take a dime for their trouble. ("Just glad I could help you.") They're the ones who shake their fingers in their kids faces this morning and told them they'd better learn to do things for themselves because "No one's gonna do it for you!"

I'm talking about the people who have lived here all their lives. Who have worked and been laid off, and had to tighten their belts to make it until they could, thank God, work again.

They are the people who smile at you on the streets and in the stores and hold the door open for you when your arms are full.

They are the ones who feel free to say whatever they dang well please about Big Spring because "By George, it's my town!" But Heaven help the out-of-towners who say anything against it to them. ("Just hold on there, buddy. You don't know what you're talking about.")

I believe in Big Spring because I believe in these people. To do otherwise would be to turn your back on a friend."

By Eunice Choate

"I believe in Big Spring because Big Spring has: Beautiful people who care about one another and our community. Integrity in all decisions made for our community. Great community leaders and great community spirit. Sincere care for our citizens and our community. Proud citizens who take an active concern in our community. Respectable background in business.

Eunice Choate ...1st place

Interest in our community and civic activities. Noble qualities in every respect. Golden opportunities for all."

By Margaret Bradley

"The Declaration of Independence states that the government will be of the people, by the people, and for the people. I believe that statement stands true for cities as well.

Big Spring has always been a city rich in values and concern for the fellow citizen... it is more than a city, it's a family.

Some might have said, in the good ole' days, "The railroad will build this town," But when the passenger cars were boarded up, It didn't get these people down.

Sure, we've seen our disappointments, For instance, when Webb took up wings and moved on, But the peoples' spirit stood strong with pride, And used the grounds to build upon.

You can say that I'm proud to be part of a town, That doesn't sit back and mope, But one that looks at the past with pride, And toward the future with hope.

Big Spring is a town that didn't stand still— But worked hard to see that it grew.

And the people aren't here to see through each other, But to see each other through.

Lubbock, Waco, Austin, Dallas, and Ft. Worth too, Big Spring, there's no one like you! Travel the cities, see the world, no matter where you roam, I'll take Big Spring every time, For there's no place like home!"

Senator's death ruled a suicide

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — State Sen. Audrey Beck committed suicide by cutting her wrists, a state medical examiner ruled Saturday.

Ms. Beck, 51, a five-term senator who was to have been married Sunday in her hometown of Storrs, had been missing for 24 hours before her car was found Friday morning on a gravel road in rural Willington. Her body was found a few hours later about 50 yards away.

An autopsy was performed Saturday at the chief medical examiner's office in Farmington. Dr. Malka Shah, who conducted the autopsy, said she died of "self-inflicted slash wounds of the wrists."

The medical examiner's office declined to release any information about the time of death.

Friends knew she had been under strain since her divorce in 1980 from Curt F. Beck after 28 years of marriage.

"The divorce came as a shock to her. It was something she had no inclination of, no suspicion of, and it really set her back," said House Majority Leader John Groppo.

She had planned to marry Charles McLaughlin, a neighbor and English professor at the University of Connecticut, on Sunday. McLaughlin was divorced from Althea McLaughlin, who has since married Curt Beck.

Reagan

"We must do a better job of teaching the basics, insisting on discipline and results, encouraging competition and — above all — remembering that education does not begin with Washington officials or even state and local officials. It begins in the home, where it is the right and responsibility of every American."

Rep. Harold Washington, D-Ill.

who was catapulted to national prominence two weeks ago when he won his party's nomination for mayor of Chicago, delivered the Democrats' official response to Reagan.

Improving the quality of education is "obviously an important national priority," Washington said. But he said Reagan's call for action "is misleading when compared to the actual record of the Republican administration," which he pointed out had cut federal funds for education in each of the last two years.

Reagan renewed his call for tuition tax credits for parents who send their children to private or parochial schools, proposed a voucher system that would permit parents of disadvantaged children to use federal funds to help pay private school tuition and called for establishment of an educational saving program to help parents save for their children's college education.

Gas

Continued from page one Jan. 1, 1985, from offshore gas and "new" gas discovered after April 1977. But it retains indefinitely price ceilings on "old" gas found before then and includes complex mechanisms that mandates 28 pricing procedures.

The Reagan plan would allow all pipelines and producers to renegotiate their existing long-term contracts. Backers of the plan argue that producers could then get higher prices for old gas while pipelines could get lower prices for new gas.

"The most urgent problem is that natural gas prices are now on average too high," Butler said. "Consumers are being required to pay prices that serve no rational economic purpose; producers with new supplies are finding it impossible to market their gas."

With the prices fixed by the law rather than changing with the natural fluctuations in the marketplace, Butler said, congressional action is needed or consumers will turn to less costly sources of energy. Producers will lose customers and may go bankrupt, he said.

OPEC stalled over crude production quotas

LONDON (AP) — OPEC ministers failed to reach agreement on the crucial issue of production quotas during their 10th emergency meeting here Saturday, and Venezuela's oil minister warned a price war could drive oil prices down to $20 a barrel.

The average world price of oil is currently about $32.50 a barrel.

The oil ministers of the 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries have been trying to settle longstanding differences on dividing the cartel's share of the world market.

Some ministers say they have agreed in principle on a $5 per-barrel cut from the official price of $34 a barrel, but that such a cut would be contingent on an agreement on production quotas.

The current OPEC official price often is undercut on the spot market — that is, sales of oil not under long-term contracts.

Venezuelan Oil Minister Humberto Calderon Berti told reporters Saturday that competition with non-OPEC exporters could drive oil prices in general down to $20 a barrel.

"If we start fighting, all of us, it will go down to $20 a barrel," Calderon said.

Some oil ministers were meeting here Saturday night, although there were no indications that any major developments were imminent.

Calderon, in unusually candid remarks, stressed that his was not the only dissatisfied country.

"I believe there are several countries that are not happy," he said, adding that he meant "at least two or three more." He declined to identify them.

In Caracas, the Venezuelan Energy Ministry said Calderon would return home if no agreement were reached soon. No specific deadline was given.

Calderon's comments appeared to contradict an assessment of the talks earlier Saturday by Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani, who said: "I am optimistic. I think that we will reach an agreement."

Asked whether an accord was reached to cut the $34 official price to $29, he said: "We already have agreed on that."

If the talks end with no agreement, the price of oil on the open market is expected to continue sliding, possibly forcing Britain and other non-OPEC oil exporters to cut the price of oil sold on contract.

A world price war would have a devastating effect on the economies of some oil-exporting countries such as Venezuela and Mexico, which are saddled with huge foreign debts.

In an effort to dry up the world oil glut, which is cutting sales and prices, OPEC is trying to set a formal limit on each member's production.

"We are the only country that will reduce its production," Calderon said. "All the others (want to) remain where they are or even increase their production from the present level."

Calderon added that Venezuela could not afford to accept the cut in oil production that was proposed by other OPEC chiefs.

"I told them we are willing to decrease (production), to cooperate with the others, but we have some limits to our sacrifice," he said. "We have to pay our debts this year."

Saudi Arabian minister Yamani, whose country is the world's biggest oil exporter, said he believed OPEC could reach a full agreement.

El Salvador to launch 'Vietnam' military drive

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Government troops will soon launch a new campaign, in many ways similar to one used in Vietnam, that will combine a large-scale military operation with a major effort to woo civilians away from leftist guerrillas, informed sources say.

The plan involves technical help from U.S. Agency for International Development officials, some of them slated for full-time assignment to villages, according to the sources, most of whom spoke on condition they not be identified.

Some compared the plan to the Civil Operations and Rural Development Support Agency — known as CORDS — that provided medical care and economic relief to war victims in Vietnam in the late 1960s. It was coordinated with Operation Phoenix, aimed at liquidating the Viet Cong underground in villages.

"CORDS is probably the best analogy I can think of, although this plan has its (Salvadoran) own conceptions in it," said a U.S. military adviser.

The plan, said to be contingent on the Salvadoran government getting an additional $110 million in U.S. aid, calls for about 10,000 soldiers to sweep through a key province in east-central El Salvador, Western and Salvadoran sources said.

One aim of the month-long sweep will be to destroy guerrilla strongholds; another would be to cut off routes through which the rebels receive military supplies, principally northern regions near the Honduran border.

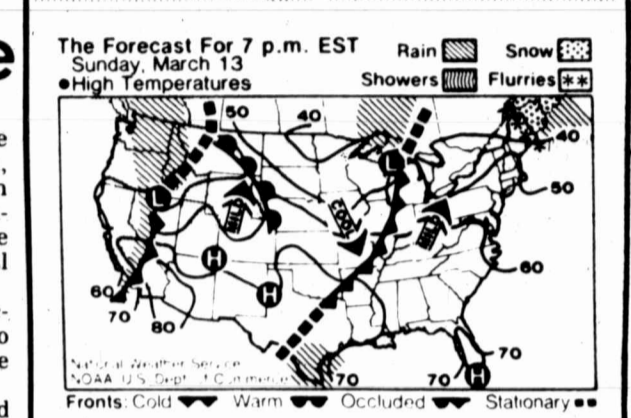

This, in itself, would be the biggest operation since the civil war started 41 months ago, with a toll to date of 42,000 people killed. The largest previous operation, lasting three weeks in February in northeastern Morazan province, involved 6,000 troops and was widely viewed as only a limited success.

Once the shooting subsides in the new operation, soldiers and government officers are to spread out into the countryside in a coordinated program to rebuild war-torn villages and provide social services.

The plan is intended to reclaim at least some of the key agricultural areas currently dominated by the guerrillas in their fight for power here. Western sources said no exact date has been decided yet, but the operation will probably begin at the end of summer.

Speculation is that either San Vicente

Storm lashes East Coast

By The Associated Press

A massive Atlantic storm spread rain and snow along the East Coast today, as scattered showers and thunderstorms hit the Great Plains, the northern Rockies and the Pacific Northwest.

The weather makers in the West were two cold fronts, one off the coast of British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest, and another that extended across central Wyoming, northwest Colorado and sections of Arizona.

A low pressure system off the coast of New Jersey spawned the eastern rains.

Today's high temperatures were to stay below 50 degrees from North Dakota to the mid- and north-Atlantic coast, with temperatures in the 30's in the northern Appalachian states.

Balmy weather, with highs in the 70s to low 80s, was forecast for California, southern Arizona, New Mexico and the western half of Texas.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 5 degrees in Marquette, Mich., to 67 in Phoenix and Yuma, Ariz.

Other reports:

—East: Atlanta 35 windy; Boston 33 thunderstorms; Buffalo 29 cloudy; Caribou, Me., 32 drizzle; Charleston, S.C., 41 fair; Cincinnati 34 cloudy; Cleveland 31 cloudy; Detroit 28 fair; Miami 47 fair; New York 40 rain; Philadelphia 34 rain; Pittsburgh 29 freezing drizzle; Washington 41 cloudy.

—Central: Bismarck 34 fair; Chicago 26 fair; Dallas-Fort Worth 39 fair; Denver 39 fair; Des Moines 29 cloudy; Indianapolis 32 cloudy; Kansas City 25 fair; Minneapolis-St. Paul 25 fair; Nashville 36 cloudy; New Orleans 43 fair; St. Louis 48 partly cloudy.

West Texas — Partly cloudy. Highs mostly in the 60s and 70s until dropping Wednesday to the 50s and 60s. Lows Monday morning and Tuesday morning in the 30s and 40s southeast and extreme south cooling to low 30s north to mid 40s southeast and extreme south Wednesday morning.

South Texas — Good chance of showers or thundershowers, decreasing from the west on Tuesday, becoming partly cloudy Wednesday. Highs in the 70s, lows in the 50s.

Guerrillas ambush troops

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Guerrillas ambushed a troop truck, killing at least one soldier and wounding many others, authorities said Saturday. The rebels also bombed a freight train and cut traffic to parts of southeastern El Salvador.

The guerrillas ambushed the truck late Friday at Las Garcitas, on the main north-south highway 25 miles north of San Salvador in Chalatenango province, local military sources said. Judicial authorities said at least one soldier was killed and many wounded in the attack.

At least four civilians also were reported shot to death Friday in political violence. They were the latest of more than 42,000 victims of the 41-month-long war between the rebels and the rightist, U.S.-backed government.

The guerrillas tossed a firebomb at a freight train late Friday, setting fire to a few cars near Apopa, seven miles north of San Salvador.

Guerrillas also cut virtually all highway traffic to Usulután, a cotton-growing center and provincial capital of 65,000, gasoline station owners and residents said.

On the main highway from San Salvador to Usulután, the guerrillas burned at least one bus at Tierra Blanca, 55 miles southeast of the capital, residents said. Guerrilla roadblocks at the site prevented most traffic from passing through the area to the provincial capital, gasoline station owners said.

They said guerrilla threats to burn or blow up any vehicle on roads in the area also halted bus traffic between Usulután and the city of San Miguel, 15 miles to the east.

After a 10-day mop-up operation by 1,200 troops, the army was in control of about two-thirds of the northeastern province of Morazan, as far north as the Torola River, according to military sources and residents of San Francisco, the provincial capital. Rebels continued to control the one-third of the province north of the river, they said.

Soviets warning sailors against jeans, porno

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin warned its merchant seamen Saturday to stop trafficking in pornography, designer jeans and other "gaudy Western rags." It said rubles spent illegally abroad go to spies and "anti-Soviet scum who are trying to penetrate our country."

An indignant report in the Young Communist League newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, said it was high time to take steps against "the stream of brand name jeans" and other "gaudy Western rags" brought into the country by Soviet sailors.

Just as serious, the newspaper said, was the illegal exchange of Soviet currency to purchase clothes, tape recorders and cassettes, and pornographic pictures in waterfront shops catering to Soviet seamen, particularly in Singapore.

Around the Rim

By CAROL HART

Unsettling feeling

The other day I skidded up to the stop sign at Sixth and Scurry and just happened to glance up at the Settles Hotel.

I've looked at the Settles for 26 years now and never really thought much about it. But at that split second I was stricken with the idea of it being torn down. Instead of the Settles looming up over the West Texas prairie, I saw a gaping hole in the sky.

Instead of racing away as I had planned, I sat there gazing at the old hotel. The guy behind me, obviously not in the same frame of mind, honked his horn and brought me out of my trance. But the idea of the Settles being torn down left me with an unsettling feeling.

THOSE OF US who have lived in Big Spring for any length of time can testify that the Settles Hotel is very much a part of history. I can't picture Big Spring without it.

I think you can feel more homesick in your own hometown than in any place else on earth. Too many places I remember as a kid are gone now. For example, I thought Webb Air Force Base would always be there, but the government took it away. I remember the old, but now extinct, Crawford Hotel. There was an old-fashioned drug store in the basement and when my sister and I were very small, we went in there for ice cream.

And I remember the Settles being quite a showplace. When we were very small, my parents would take us downtown, which seemed like a very busy place to a 5-year-old kid. And the Settles loomed overhead, demanding respect. At various windows there would always be people looking down on us. We used to stand on the sidewalks and look up to the top of the hotel, then spin around and watch the Settles make circles in the clouds.

There were different shops around the base of the Settles. And inside I was never quite sure what was going on. There are a lot of stories connected to that place.

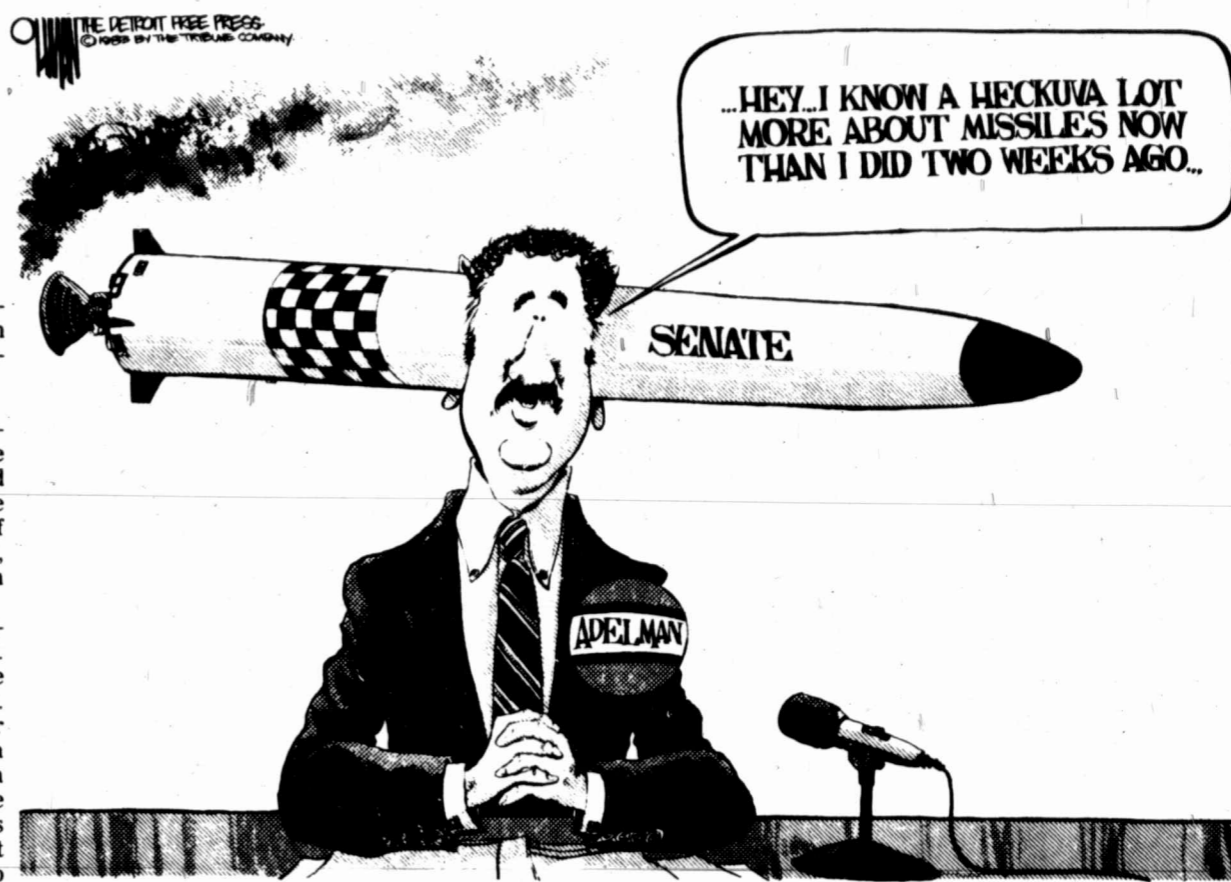

Most of the Settles history took place before I was born. Some of the people who stayed in there were Elvis Presley, Jack Benny, Gene Autry, the whole Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team, and Lawrence Welk. Welk and his band at one time played in the ballroom. And I've been told Herbert Hoover and his son stopped off for lunch there one day. There were also rumors of gambling and other activities. It was an exciting place. It brought some big-city life to Big Spring.

WHEN I WAS older and the Settles had become run-down, some friends and I ducked inside and went exploring. It was the first time I'd ever been in the upper floors of the hotel. I thought it was beautiful, even though it was suffering from neglect.

But the best thing about the Settles is the view from the penthouse. I was up there one time to take photographs for the newspaper. I've been in the World Trade Center in New York City and sat in a revolving clubroom at the top of a hotel in Houston, but I think the view from the top of the Settles doesn't suffer by comparison. At night, Big Spring turns into thousands of twinkling lights nestled in the rolling hills. And the sky overhead is filled with stars. It's beautiful.

I hope we can save the Settles. The old hotel looks so mournful with broken-out windows and curtains flapping in the wind. I'd like to see people at those windows again and see the lights come on there at night. It might make the old hometown feel more like home.

A solution to Energas problem

Dear Editor,

To Mr. Dearl Pittman, Energas Corporation:

I have a solution to the problem of elderly persons on fixed incomes being unable to pay their bills on time.

Each person who is a bonafide social security recipient may place on file with Energas an affidavit stating he is a social security recipient and that he needs special help in paying his bill to avoid a late charge.

I agree late charges should be assessed to people who are habitually late because they don't like paying bills but our elderly are a different matter. Your computer can be programmed with a special notation on people's bills who have filed an affidavit so that the late charge will not be assessed or added to future bills.

We all know that Energas is a profit-making organization and that is as it should be in the free enterprise society that we all enjoy. But there is a limit to profit-making and I don't agree in making a profit off of old people's late charges because their checks don't come in time to pay their gas bill on time.

I hope you will give this some thought. There are several organizations who cater to our elderly and they are a viable part of our community, our state and our nation. I say it's time someone took a stand in their behalf.

Very truly yours,

PAT CRADDOCK

Old people need a break

Dear Editor,

I would like to know why Mr. Dearl Pittman, district manager of Energas, said there was nothing he could do about the late charge to old people like Mr. Lee Hogg of Coahoma.

I can tell him how to help them. Energas could give our older people — say 65 or older — a 5- or 10-day grace period. All they would have to do is prove they were 65 and they would not be charged for late payment.

Mr. Pittman, I know this would not break Energas, not at the rate you all charge for gas. Give the old people a break.

Thank you.

A message from a con

Dear Editor,

Please call this letter a message from a con to a teenager.

If you are a teenager and you are using drugs or alcohol on a somewhat regular basis, you have a problem. That problem will get you nothing but trouble. It might be cool with the gang you are running with, but will they help you when you get busted?

I know. You won't get popped. You are real careful. Right? I was real careful too. Now, I am an ex-professional drug addict and alcoholic. I am also doing a 10-year prison sentence.

The life I lived in the free world was great. Lots of cash, nice pad, and a bad car. It was a real blast, I thought, but my addictive personality won out. I had a habit to support. That meant taking bigger risks with whomever I dealt with. I never planned on getting busted, never imagined coming to prison again. I lost everything I owned because I let drugs and alcohol ruin my life. Instead of using my brain, I used my vein.

Prison isn't a nice place to visit, much less live in. If you have any hang-ups at all with drugs or alcohol, please get help.

Please kids, don't ignore this warning. That is what started me on my long road to misery. Remember, it may be a lot of fun now, but prison is no fun.

It is your life, live it like you want. But, if you overlook your hang-ups sooner or later you will get busted. Please seek help before this happens. I care, and want to see you use your brains and not your veins. Take it as professional advice.

Sincerely,

Do something about Gregg St.

Dear Editor,

I am a newcomer to Big Spring. All in all, I find this town to be a pleasing segment of population that, more or less, exists on a different plane from that of the rest of the world.

The people are easy to meet and Big Spring's leaders are easily accessible, contrary to prevailing opinions extant. I have seen a tremendous amount of potential in Big Spring's actual raw production of goods, over surrounding counties, as very encouraging.

Yet, there remains one problem that, unlike other large cities where the area is great and randomly dispersed, can be dissected and studied. This problem area ranges from 12th to 20th Streets on Gregg.

Take the time to consider your offspring. In the eyes of your children you see reflected their worlds. Their worlds consist of many things that they have learned. Things that the adult population has taught to them as a whole. Their habits have been handed down to them by their parents by the process of imitation. Most of the things that we have taught our children have been decent upstanding habits and manners.

A few of those things have the tendency to disrupt and cause disgrace, to wreak havoc on the rest of the system that has been instilled into the younger generation's way of thinking. Today, medical science is a very reliable profession, despite uninformed, indignant screams to the contrary. Physicians are successfully completing tasks that, even 10 years ago would have been considered to be ludicrous if seriously brought to light, such as the U. of Utah's artificial heart, to name one.

Today, medical science has indisputable proof with absolutely no room for error concerning the danger of such addictive drugs as alcohol, nicotine, and T.H.C. (the active ingredient in marijuana).

The problem is obvious. In view of the evidence, the prosecuting parties must, without any question, execute a swift and sudden judgment upon the heads of those responsible for such common problems of the citizenry as:

- (1) The inability to drive safely down or up Gregg Street on any Friday or Saturday night of the year without being sure that if one drives judiciously one will not become engaged in an accident of incalculable damage.
- (2) Noise Pollution. Rock and roll is not the answer, contrary to popular belief. Again, the noise level of a stereo receiver cannot be regulated by statute. Yet, the responsibility is that of the parents.
- (3) Irresponsible sexual activity. Again, the parents' responsibility.
- (4) Fights and disturbances stemming from the uncontrolled assemblage of such a large number of our younger, less experienced counterparts.
- (5) Litter.
- (6) The wastage of gasoline and even more precious, the wastage of time.

I believe that every person is given more or less equal chances. It would truly be an unfair God that doled out more opportunity to another person than he did to myself. I feel that as a thinking human with purposes intent upon bettering myself and others, I could possibly lend the solution a hand.

More than probably a diversion of sorts, yet quite the realistic solution, legal and comprehensive, that is needed.

I judge that a "Quiet, Hospital Zone" sign placed strategically in front of the fine Dr. Cowper's Clinic would do the trick.

Upon the breaking of a car from a less-than-orderly procession, a citation would be issued by one of the city's policemen or women. After an undetermined number of citations were issued, the city's coffers would be appreciably higher in monetary respect, and the offenders' gas tanks empty, leaving them with time to discover new realms of interest, constructive things that engage the mind. I find no flaws in my logic.

I mentioned this very thing to our city manager the other day in passing. He was appreciably cognizant of my suggestion. This was only a few days ago, so he probably has not had the time to administer his attention to it, personally. I am sure that public response to this annoying and dangerous problem will be appreciated.

Bobby Maxwell does great job

Dear Editor,

I have played golf at Comanche Trail Municipal Golf Course for five

By MARGARET BAUM

If you want to know when Spring will come, don't depend on the mesquite trees — just watch for the softball players.

Even now, when occasionally there's still frost on what's left of the pumpkin, they're surfacing. The ballplayers. They're calling the house. "Are we gonna have the 'Over Forty' team again this year? I sure wanta play."

You bet there'll be an "Over Forty" men's softball team this year in Colorado City — especially after last year's stellar season of one win (9-7 over the Lorraine "Pop-A-Tops.") The season's closing ceremonies saw the "Over Forty" aggregation walk off with the sportsmanship trophy. One player said, "We deserve the trophy just for being able to walk."

"Over Forty" team members not only walk, they can hit, catch and throw — not nearly as well as years. However, looking back, I also played from 1954-1958 at the same course. There have been several people criticize the management. Mr. Bobby Maxwell has provided our Municipal course. I was a member of Webb Air Force Base Golf Course from my retirement date of January 1971 until the base closure in May of 1978.

Our WAFB course was one of the finest. Much to my surprise, when I and other friends began playing the Comanche Trail Course in 1978, we only had grass on two greens as I recall, numbers 6 and 10. The remaining 16 holes were less than half-covered by grass. This is all in the past. Since hiring Bobby Maxwell as pro at Comanche Trail Golf Course, everything has improved. He has covered rocks on holes 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 16, 17 and 18.

Today, we have grass on all of the greens, which are said to be equal to or better than the ones at the Big Spring Country Club.

Last fall, the Golf Course was taken out from under Bobby Maxwell's management and given to the supervisor of the Parks and Recreation Department. It is rumored that the City Council has hired an agronomist, which is probably in line with what Councilman Larry Miller relayed to me in 1982 when a "fully qualified" greenskeeper was hired for the course. The greenskeeper they hired at that time previously worked for the WAFB Special Service as a worker at Webb AFB Golf Course. He lasted three days.

Today, the Golf Course, the greens and the management is the best it has ever been. Trying to fire Bobby Maxwell will lead only to the degradation of the golf course.

I have never seen a member of the City Council take any interest in the Golf Course. To my knowledge, no member of the City Council has ever offered anything but criticism for the Golf Course. Not one member of the City Council has ever visited Bobby Maxwell in the Clubhouse or asked for a tour of the Golf Course and no member of the City Council even plays golf at the City Course. I observed the supervisor of Mr. Maxwell coming to the Clubhouse, looking at the number 9 and 18 green, turning around, getting in his car and leaving without a word to Mr. Maxwell.

Are they assuming the business at hand or going on rumor?

The city revenue for C.T.G.C. has increased each year for the past five years. Are you basing assumptions on rumor or fact?

Bobby Maxwell works from daylight until dark at the course. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell run the club and course with the dedication and responsibility that comes with the word pro.

The City Manager and his underlings, along with members of the City Council, should ask Mr. Maxwell to give them a tour of the Golf Course before they all make another mistake.

Out to Lunch

By MARGARET BAUM

What's on first

they could 20 or 30 years ago, but do they have fun! And the support of the crowd is terrific. The fun's contagious — it creeps into the stands. And there are times those men in their forties and fifties give the young players a run for their money — and grin at each other.

What a diverse group it is. One man approaching 60 climbs off his tractor just in time to get to the ball field. Another leaves the school administration building to suit out, while an insurance representative leaves his desk to warm up. A city policeman changes from his uniform into an old pair of jeans and a t-shirt and a minister leaves his pulpit as soon as he can — he's the pitcher.

Pulled muscles and strained backs are common for team members, but, at a minimum are major injuries which perhaps Medicare will cover. The group's hoping one of its star players has made a full recovery from last season's broken shoulder, which was sustained during a burst of steam going "home." The player insisted he was making a "hook" slide, but one teammate teasingly replied, "Aw, you stumbled and you know it."

Only one player has a complete uniform — he looks sharp. But the lack of matching playing garb doesn't daunt the rest, for they exuberantly jog out on the field in old warm-ups, shirts they wore to paint the house and whatever tennis shoes they can find for a little traction.

Wes Wood of Loraine commented, "If Howard Cosell labels boxing 'debauchery' and college athletics 'jockocracy,' then the 'Over Forty' team must be 'depaunchery.'"

White's sin taxes

By JIM DAVIS

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Gov. Mark White promised us innovative financing to rescue us from the state government's suddenly discovered financial crisis.

What does he finally propose?

Sin taxes - the traditional cripples that are the easiest taxes to pass; bonded indebtedness that makes good conservative Texans look in the direction of New York and shutter, and increased state fees, but not on hunting or fishing.

Nice try, but are these things really innovative?

Some of these proposals may work, but we somehow had been led to expect something a little more exciting, something more classy.

We'll give him points for one thing: it took guts for a father of three young children to propose a tax increase on video machines. How will his kids explain such a thing to their friends, or rather their soon-to-be former friends?

Personally, I think it's the best idea he has had since he cut that symbolic lock off the Governor's Mansion. But how about some real innovation? Let's tax those mind-fogging monsters on the basis of noise, say a dime for every beep of Frogger.

The downside of that is that the amusement machine industry would try to avoid the tax by making silent machines. I suspect that would end the whole videogame mania because probably half the fun of playing is irritating people trying to quietly eat their hamburgers and french fries nearby.

That could cause taxes on amusement machines to drop drastically and thus cause more financial problems for the state.

Proposing higher taxes on "sins" such as cigarettes and liquor isn't innovative, but with a little imagination they could be made that way.

White's proposal would simply increase the percentage of liquor taxes. That allows opponents to argue that it hurts the "little man" who likes to have a couple of beers after work.

The innovative answer to that criticism: A progressive liquor tax. The more people drink, the higher tax they pay, just like the federal income tax. Bartenders would be so busy trying to figure the tax they wouldn't have time to mix many drinks, and we'd solve the DWI problem to boot.

Carrying the idea a step farther: Drop the tax on Texas Pride and Kassel beer and tax the dickens out of scotch. White should remember to dance with them what brung him, and everyone knows that Democrats drink cheap beer and Republicans sip scotch.

***

The whole pro-tax movement in state government the past few months has resembled one of those games where you maneuver little marbles around to make them drop through a hole.

First to drop was Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. As soon as he was re-elected in November he revealed his belief that a tax hike might be necessary in the 1983 session.

Members of the Texas Senate, where Hobby presides, began falling in line with dire warnings of financial problems.

Gov. Mark White first said no new taxes would be necessary. Then he said he hoped no new taxes would be necessary. Then he told the Legislature last week there were three things they could do and any two of them would solve the problem. One of them was to raise luxury taxes, but White didn't exactly say they had to raise taxes - not exactly. But in reality, White has fallen through the hole and either doesn't know it or won't admit it.

Texas House leaders, including Speaker Gib Lewis, still are sounding the alarm against new taxes, but they are being pushed ever closer to the drop-through hole. If they refuse to join the movement, the scene could be set for a real legislative donnybrook before the session ends in late May and the chances for a special session to settle it will loom greater.

A House ethics panel created by Speaker Lewis will investigate Lewis' failure to disclose all his business interests on his legally required personal financial statement.

Such in-house investigations usually raise questions about how impartially they will be carried out.

Veteran's housing bill may stimulate economy

By State Rep. LARRY DON SHAW
Democrat-Big Spring

In the Texas House of Representatives, bad bills seem to come around far too often, while the good bills are few and far between. The bills that are most popular with lawmakers and voters alike are those that stimulate the economy, create new jobs, inspire a partnership between government and private enterprise, help a large number of people and most important, don't cost the taxpayer a single penny. Therefore, I welcomed the opportunity to co-sponsor a proposed amendment that actually meets those qualifications.

The bill, HJR 44, is also known as the Veterans Housing Assistance Program. Basically, it is a program to lend Texas veterans a $20,000 down payment so they can purchase a home. It's patterned after the existing Veterans Land Program, which provides a long-term, low interest loan for the purchase of rural land.

The new proposal was spearheaded by Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and has won the endorsement of state leaders, including Gov. Mark White. I believe the housing program holds great promise of stimulating the economy through new construction. According to predictions, the program would spur construction of 25,000 homes, resulting in the creation of at least 45,000 new jobs. That last estimate is a conservative one, based on the home-building industry's figures of 2.5 jobs per house.

The program will be financed through a $5 million bond issue that will be repaid entirely by the borrowers. As to whether administration of the program will require another large bureaucracy, the answer is no. According to the plan, the state will issue bonds and provide the $20,000 down payment. Lending institutions will make the actual loans, administer the program and assure that all bonds are repaid. The General Land Office, through the Veterans Land Board, will simply certify whether an applicant is a veteran or not and the veteran will have to qualify for the loan in the same way any home buyer does now - by demonstrating that he can meet the monthly payment.

Following its expected approval by the Legislature, the bill provides for the proposed constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters. Upon adoption, Texas veterans will then be able to apply for a loan from the Housing Assistance Program. This loan can be used as a down payment in conjunction with their other mortgage from a private lending institution. The existing Veterans Land Program, which incidentally has provided some 80,000 Texas veterans with low-interest loans, will remain unchanged.

We have 525,000 Vietnam veterans in Texas and more than one million other veterans who can benefit from this program.

Dog leads police to $1 million in stolen jewels

AMARILLO (AP) — "Risky" usually spends her working days at airports sniffing for narcotics. But when police detectives took the German Shepherd to a local warehouse, she uncovered $1 million more than they had bargained for.

Detectives opened a bin Friday that was singled out by the dog at the warehouse. Inside, they found suspected narcotics. Underneath the plastic-sealed white powder was a cache of diamonds and jewels that officers believe were stolen by a major ring operating in the Texas Panhandle.

"Some of the diamonds are large," Davis said. "We have not had the diamonds appraised but we are estimating their value roughly at between one-half million dollars and $1 million. "It's beyond the imagination," he said.

The recovered diamonds and jewels will be placed on display at Amarillo police headquarters while detectives try to identify the items.

Detectives, acting on a confidential tip, seized a large quantity of a white powder believed to be methamphetamine and arrested one man at his central Amarillo home, Amarillo Detective Captain Jimmy Davis said.

Donald Wayne Strout, 32, of Amarillo, was charged with aggravated possession of a controlled substance and three counts of theft and held on bonds totaling $250,000, Justice of the Peace L.B. Bartlett said.

Davis said police expected to make several more arrests in connection with the case. He said police believe they have uncovered a major burglary and fencing operation in the Texas Panhandle.

The diamonds were removed from their mountings and stored in clear plastic packages or plastic vials, Davis said.

Davis said the storage firm was not involved in the case.

"The storage firm had no knowledge of the stuff being there and the firm cooperated fully," he said.

Footnotes from County Library

Rob and Laura in new book

By ROSE von HASSELL, CATALOGUER
Do the names Rob and Laura Petrie bring back some fond memories? If they do, you might like to come to the Howard County Library and check out the book "The Dick Van Dyke Show", by Ginny Weissman and Coyne Steven Sanders. The authors give a complete history of the show starting from the pilot "Head of the Family," starring Carl Reiner, to finding the right person to play Rob Petrie.

Some stories were taken from real-life experiences of the cast and writers of the show. One such instance was the story of Richie and the woodpecker. This was when Richie was assaulted by a woodpecker and was told to wear a pith helmet. This really happened to the son of Ann Guilbert Morgan who played the neighbor Millie.

There are many photographs to go with the story and it's a book you will want to keep going back to.

If you are interested in weaving, we've gotten several new books on different techniques of weaving. "Backstrap Weaving" by Barbara Taber and Marilyn Anderson not only gives instruction in this primitive form of weaving but goes into the history and background of backstrap. The reader is shown how to set up the loom equipment and there are step-by-step instructions on how to weave.

The first project shows how to make a decorative backstrap. The authors then go on to present a series of variations on the loom techniques with projects such as a belt, table runner and bag to weave while learning.

This book presents traditional techniques and designs, authentic Indian weavings and contemporary garments and hangers.

"Ikat" by Lydia Van Gelder shows us another form of weaving. The author starts off by showing us the works of well-known weavers and fiber artists and explores the many possibilities of application of these techniques.

The next few chapters gives us information on equipment, designing, warping for ikat and dyeing the yarns. The final four chapters each cover a specific type of ikat such as warp, weft, double and compound. A series of projects follows, organized in a clear-cut format and illustrated with photos and captions. Anyone interested in understanding and applying these techniques to their work will find this book an extremely valuable source of information.

Joseph Wambaugh, the author of many books including "The Blue Knight" and "Glitter Dome", has written another one titled "The Delta Star". In this police novel he mixes the think-tank world of Nobel Prize chemistry with the underworld of cops and killers.

In October 1981 a Soviet submarine carrying nuclear-tipped torpedoes runs aground in restricted waters and the story makes world headlines, but the police at Rampart Station of the Los Angeles Police Department have a few more immediate problems to worry about, such as murder and other crimes to solve. One of the detectives finds a link between the Soviet sub and the L.A. murder when he comes across a set of scientific symbols called delta to delta star. This book follows the gripping tradition of Joseph Wambaugh's previous best-sellers, but with a new scientific twist.

So whether you want nostalgia, a hobby, or a good novel to read, why not come to the Howard County Library and see what we have to offer?

Ex-president tours West Bank amid Arab protests over visit

JERUSALEM (AP) — Palestinian youths threw stones at the motorcade of former President Jimmy Carter today as he drove through Arab towns and Jewish settlements in the occupied West Bank to view first hand one of the key points of controversy in the Middle East.

The youths hurled a few stones at the tail end of Carter's motorcade as he passed through the Arab city of Ramallah, five miles north of Jerusalem. No one was hurt and it was unlikely that Carter saw the incident.

Israeli soldiers briefly chased the attackers and scattered a crowd of several hundred Palestinians watching the motorcade pass.

In the Arab sector of Jerusalem, police wounded a Palestinian in the foot and an Israeli civilian was hit by a rock during a demonstration that had no clear connection to Carter's visit.

The army reported scattered disturbances in Hebron and Ramallah, but there were none of the violent outbursts that marked Carter's earlier venture into the West Bank.

The Palestinians identify Carter with the Camp David accords with Egypt, which laid out a plan for limited self-rule in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, but fell short of the Palestinian demand for full statehood.

Carter's two-hour drive took him past several of the Jewish settlements that have sprung up in the former Jordanian territory captured by Israel in 1967. During and since his presidency, Carter has scored Israel's settlement policy, saying the Jewish villages and townships were obstacles to peace.

From the road he could see as many as a thousand new apartments under construction, evidence of the latest drive by the government of Prime Minister Menachem Begin to boost the Jewish population in the West Bank, now estimated at 25,000.

East German art show's nudes raise Red eyebrows

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's first national art exhibition since the communist government gave artists permission in 1978 to paint what they want has come under fire in the official press for its lack of works symbolizing "socialist heroes" and for a nude painting deemed too explicit.

The show has touched off a national debate on whether the government's policy of artistic freedom is being abused.

The nude painting is the work of Willi Sitte, an artist who also is a member of the Communist Party's powerful Central Committee.

His "Couple on a White Sheet" — a nude man and woman — was assailed in a viewer's letter published by the Dresden Communist Party newspaper Sachische Zeitung. Wrote the viewer: "Is this not going too far? Must love, intimate love at that, be fully shown on a painting?"

Sitte's painting and the others are on display at the 9th Art Exhibition of the German Democratic Republic in Dresden, which opened in October and features 3,045 works by 1,511 artists.

The official news agency ADN described the exhibition as "a unique opportunity for an overview of five years of development of art" in East Germany, but said many visitors were disappointed at the lack of works reflecting "the optimism and confidence of our political views and our socialist way of life."

Other official publications complained about the lack of the traditional socialist-hero type of painting.

The 1978 government decision gave artists the green light to follow the schools of their choice so long as their works are neither "decadent" nor "formalistic."

This encouraged a trend away from the Soviet-inspired works dominating the East German art scene after World War II. A favorite subject of this school is a giant figure clutching a flag or hammer.

But grumblings in the official press are nothing new to Central Committee member Sitte, who drew press criticism two years ago after displaying "The Rock Singer," a full-length frontal view of a nude man.

Sitte was expected to weather the new storm. His second painting at the Dresden exhibition, "Shift Change in a Salt Mine," showing several nude workers toiling off, was praised by Neues Deutschland as a work "worthy of discussion as a portrayal of socialist people."

Soviet sculptor Lew Kerbel is considered a good example of the more traditional communist artist. He created the larger-than-life head of Karl Marx at Karl-Marx Stadt in lower Saxony.

3 hurt in West Bank riots

TEL AVIV (AP) — Police shot and wounded a Palestinian youth Saturday, and two Israelis were reported hurt as Palestinians threw stones in the Old City of Jerusalem and in the occupied West Bank.

The military command said an Israeli officer was hospitalized after being struck on the head by a stone in Halhoul, 15 miles south of Jerusalem, and a curfew was imposed on the town. Disturbances were also reported in the West Bank towns of Ramallah and Nablus as Palestinians threw stones at Israeli cars.

In Jerusalem, police spokesman Ziv Rotem said an Israeli civilian was injured by a rock and an Arab youth was hit by police gunfire as Palestinians threw stones as passersby in the walled Old City.

The troubles erupted a day after Israeli authorities said they had foiled an attempt by Jewish extremists to take over the hilltop compound within the Old City that is sacred to Moslems and Jews. Jerusalem's police chief, Commander Yehoshua Caspi, said the action could have caused "a most serious conflagration" between Arabs and Jews.

Rotem said Arab youths threw stones from rooftops onto the narrow lane from Damascus Gate to the Western or Wailing Wall, Judaism's holiest shrine. One Israeli was injured, and when a police patrol was stoned, the officers fired, wounding an Arab in the foot, Rotem said.

The stoning incidents occurred only a few hundred yards from the alleged target of the Jewish extremists who were arrested after midnight Thursday and rounded up in the large plaza in front of the Wailing Wall. Forty-five were arrested, but two were released later.

Police said some in the group were armed with submachine guns, and others had axes and shovels to break in through ancient underground passages to the Moslem-administered sacred compound.

Jews revere the area as the Temple Mount where the biblical temples were built.

Q. We are considering taking back a second mortgage to sell our home. What should the term of the loan be? Should we conform to traditional mortgage payoff terms?

A. No. Keep the term of the loan as short as possible. It should be kept to one or two years and not go over three years. The longer the term of the loan, the deeper the discount will be when and if you sell the loan. Also, remember, longer term loans are also harder to sell. Some mortgage brokerage companies charge a 10% commission to sell a two year loan, and 15% to sell a three year loan. A property originated and serviced mortgage will probably be easy to manage.

Gemayel sends note to Reagan

BEIRUT (AP) — President Amin Gemayel sent Lebanese elder statesman and former Prime Minister Saeb Salam to Washington Saturday to deliver an undisclosed personal message to President Ronald Reagan.

The message deals with affairs of interest to Lebanon. That's all I can say now," Salam told reporters before boarding the plane for the hastily arranged trip. "My mission is to help bring about an evacuation of foreign armies from Lebanon."

A three-man delegation took the same plane to join Lebanese Foreign Minister Elie Salem in his talks with U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz on ways to speed up an agreement to withdraw Israeli troops.

Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan, who met with Salam and Gemayel at the president's house before Salam's departure, said Salam would provide support for Salem's mission in Washington.

Salam said his mission was separate from Salem's talks with Shultz, "but I hope my presence in Washington at the same time of the foreign minister's talks will help resolve the issues at stake."

Salam, 78, is a friend of U.S. Special Envoy Philip C. Habib and was the key intermediary between Habib and Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat in last summer's intricate negotiations to evacuate the guerrillas from Israeli-besieged West Beirut.

USFL wins opener

Seeking more drama, it almost could have been described, "One small step for professional football; one giant step for sportskind."

From Washington, D.C. to Los Angeles, the United States Football League took its opening kickoff in new territory and razzled-n-dazzled its huge crowds by scoring on its first weekend plays from scrimmage.

Although the teams played in some strange lands — Birmingham and Tempe, Ariz., huddled around some new rules and ran things like fullback dives at a different season, there was nothing foreign about this newest game in town. Those catching the action on television were pleasantly surprised to see good ole red-blooded American football, and not some watered-down version of our national pastime like that played in the Great White North.

Curiosity once got the cat and last weekend scored a victory over the winter-bleary sports fan. With the major and cable networks crammed too full of basketball games between the likes of Wahoo State and Southern South Dakota Tech, Freddy Fan was able to fiddle with the dials and by Herschel, come up with pro football. He could hardly believe his binoculars when he saw 260-pound linemen rumbling downfield and fire hydrant-sized placekickers from rural Lichtenstein kicking field goals.

The USFL — Undoubtedly Sports' Finest Lesson — had landed. Not quite with the impact Apollo 11 had on mankind almost 14 years ago, but a solid touch-down on new soil just the same.

Tube-bound sports fans were Blitzed on first down; they dressed up for the game in their Wranglers; they found out about Federal Express — wait, was that one of the commercials or a recap of the Los Angeles and Washington games?

Thanks to ABC, the entire nation was introduced to the USFL. With the network's high camera angles and sportcasters' enthusiasm from kickoff to emptying of the stands, the games resembled an important college telecast. Perhaps it was names like Walker, Carter and Ramsey building that feeling; after all, that trio was playing in bowl games just over two months ago.

Speaking of Walker, the commanding General of New Jersey's football army debuted rather unspectacularly. Dodging the big boys is a little tougher than avoiding the tackles of the fellas from Tech.

The USFL has set out to trek the great sporting unknown. Its mission: to go where football has not gone before. The vehicle from this notional journey: the Free Enterprise.

For all the controversy swirling about in the sporting galaxies of late, the USFL is merely a means to tap the bountiful economics of professional athletics. While it is still ridiculous to pay a man over $1 million a season to play games, even the sourest of fans can't fault the founders of the USFL for trying to make a buck.

Remember, a good idea and implementing it into the marketplace is the stuff of which successful business is made.

And so the USFL conceived its product: springtime football. It marketed its product through television contracts and signing top quality players. It made sure the contraption would fly by hiring men like George Allen to pilot the teams.

Executives will tell a college grad he can't aim for the new without taking along some of the old. Players like Greg Landry, Coy Bacon, Raymond Chester and Chuck Foreman rose from the pages of NFL scrapbooks into the lineups of USFL teams.

No, not much has changed. Sure there's a two-point option after touchdown, sure the pass interference rules have been altered, sure the designs on the helmets are new. But they still play the game in four quarters, still sing the "Star Spangled Banner" before kickoff, still charge premium prices for 50-yardline tickets.

America's pastime lives on. The monopoly of the NFL has been shattered; there are now two markets where the football player can sell his wares. Only one question and one problem remains... Why doesn't Texas have a team (where are you all barons when we need you? And since we don't, who do we cheer for?)

HEATED HURDLES RACE — Stanton's Tommy Esparza, left, gets a step lead on Dennis Rivera of Colorado City during the running of the 110 high hurdles Saturday at the West Texas Relays in Odessa. Rivera recovered to finish seventh in the finals of the event but Stanton had the better overall day, finishing second in the AAA team standings to Kermit.

Rutledge races to lone gold

BHS girls 4th at West Texas Relays

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

ODESSA — Things like muffed handoffs can really make a difference at a track meet.

While no team was going to outrun Permian on this day, the little things cost Big Spring High from taking second place at the first running of the West Texas Relays in awesome Ratliff Stadium here Saturday afternoon.

Permian swept to two relay victories late in the day to take the team trophy with 87 points. Andrews was second with 38, Cooper third with 37 and the Lady Steers tied with El Paso Eastwood with 36 points. Six more schools scored 30 or more points in this division which included 23 teams from all classifications.

Coahoma, although battling with the bigger schools, managed 16 points to outscore 10 other teams.

The highlight of the day for the Lady Steers was the 400-meter dash. Shell Rutledge, the senior speedster who was third in the 200 at the Region I-AAAAA meet last spring, ran the race in place of her specialty which was scratched from this meet's agenda.

Doubling the distance didn't phase her as she clocked a 59.17 to win by over two seconds over Amanda Ramirez of El Paso Hanks. Coahoma's steady Tobie Henry was third in 61.99.

Will she continue to run the 400? "No, next week it's back to the 200," she laughed.

Although the win collected 10 points, Rutledge was more impressive in her quarter leg on the 1,600-meter relay team. Taking the baton in last place by 30 yards, she passed four runners to finish fourth. With a better start on her anchor leg competition, she might have caught Monahans and Jefferson which came in two and one second ahead of her respectively.

Mistimed handoffs on the sprint and 800 relays hurt Big Spring. The Lady Steers were third in the 800 but handoffs between Monique Jones and Tina Smith and then between Paula Spears and Shell Rutledge slowed BSHS to a 1:49.2. Big Spring was just too slow in the sprint event, finishing two seconds slower than Friday's prelim time of 51.3. Saturday's time didn't make the top six.

On the bright side, all three relay times in the second meet of the year are near last year's season bests.

Freshman Aretha Cork was fourth in the 100 in 12.93 while senior Janet Fleckenstein ran fifth in the 100 hurdles in 15.78.

Without Carla Jackson — now running track at Abilene Christian, the Lady Steers were much weaker in the field events. No points were scored in the long or triple jumps. Coahoma, however, fared well in the field. Sophomore Becky Creech cleared 5-0 for fourth in the high jump while senior Vickie Buchanan was third in the discus with a 111-3 toss.

Permian broke away from the pack when Juanita Kelly sped to a 12.04 first place clocking in the 100 and Kay Redman hurdled to a win. While Cooper won the 400 relay (51.89), Permian captured the 800 (1:44.91) and the 1,600 (4:07.17).

TAKING IT ON IN — After taking the baton in last place, Big Spring High 1,600-meter relay anchor Shell Rutledge runs the Lady Steers to third place in the final event of the afternoon. Big Spring tied El Paso Eastwood for fourth place in the girl's division of the West Texas Relays Saturday.

Stanton second in 3-A division

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

ODESSA — When you ask Stanton High track coach how his team might fare in the District 8-AA meet, he'll wriggle up his lip and mutter something about "third or fourth."

Must be a tough district. All the Buffaloes did at the West Texas Relays Saturday was finish second in the Class AAA division — remember they are an AA team. Stanton scored 76 points to finish behind power-laden Kermit which outdistanced the 15-team field with 121 points.

See complete results for Class AAAAA, AAA and girls divisions in Scorecard, page 4-B.

Things don't go as well for three other local and area teams at the two-day meet. Colorado City scored 16 and Coahoma 10 points in the AAA division while Big Spring got just a point from Scott Griffin's sixth place discus throw to lag behind in the AAAAA race.

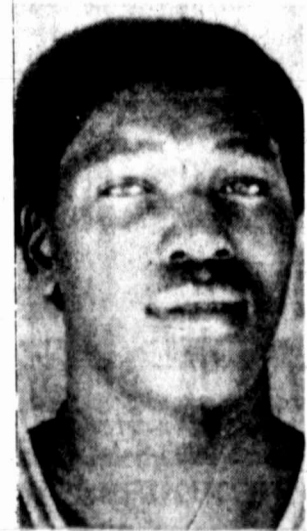

Things went so well for Stanton that the Buffs won even when they didn't. Stanton's Rudy Ruiz fought off Rocky Barnes to give his team first in the 1,600-meter relay but Stanton took first when their opponents were disqualified. Stanton ran a very respectable 3:28.67 with Maurizio Iaquaniello, Rocky Barnes and Mark Helms handling the baton before Rocky Barnes.

In fact, the major problem for Stanton — aside from Kermit — was the announcer's pronunciation of Iaquaniello's name. While the name's Italian, the stadium speakers boomed a more Spanish-American surname.

Rocky Barnes garnered another first for the Buffs, winning the open quarter in 51.15. Brother Robby was third in the 800 (2:07.64). Helms finished second in a photo finish 100 meters (11.14) and jumped to sixth in the long jump (20-7 1/2). Iaquaniello (23.3) and Bobby Barnhill (24.55) were fifth and sixth in the 200. Tommy Esparza was fifth in the 300 hurdles (43.46).

The Buffalo sprint relay was second in 45.0, just nipping Kermit and finishing behind Permian's junior varsity team. (See 'Others' on page 4-B)

AKEEM OLAJUWON

UH kills Frogs for SWC title

DALLAS (AP) — Seven-foot center Akeem Olajuwon's shot blocking, rebounding and inside scoring lifted the No. 1 ranked Houston Cougars to the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic title Saturday with a hard-earned 62-59 victory over Texas Christian.

Houston, which has won 22 games in a row, upped its record to 27-2 going into the NCAA tournament next week.

TCU, which fell to 21-10, still stands a strong chance for its first NCAA bid since 1971 following its 61-59 upset of No. 6-ranked Arkansas in the semifinals Friday night.

Olajuwon, a sophomore from Lagos, Nigeria, blocked two shots, collected 10 rebounds, and scored 19 points.

in five tries while TCU was making its first visit to the finals.

With the score tied 39-31 in the second half, Olajuwon muscled inside for two baskets as the Cougars ripped off 10 consecutive points.

Benny Anders came off the bench to give the Cougars three buckets and steady Michael Young consistently canned his soft jumper, scoring 15 points for the game.

TCU gave the Cougars some problems with its tenacious matchup zone and forward Doug Arnold found his shooting touch, scoring 16 points. Arnold fouled out in the final minute of the game.

Houston held a slim 39-38 halftime lead thanks to the inspired play of Olajuwon, who had two blocked shots, a rebound and 11 points in the first 30 minutes.

The Cougars saw a 10-point lead melt away in the final two minutes of the game as they missed free throw after free throw. However, the Horned Frogs, who came from 11 points down to beat Arkansas, started their comeback surge too late.

With the score 60-57, TCU had a chance but Dennis Nutt's 25-footer was off the back of the iron. Larry Micheaux was fouled getting the rebound and hit two free throws for the Cougars to ice the game.

High-scoring TCU guard Darrell Browder was held pretty well in check by the close guarding of Young. Browder finished with 13 points, most of them coming from long range jumpshots.

Benavides claims 3rd boxing crown

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Jessie Benavides of Corpus Christi became the first boxer to ever win three state Golden Gloves titles in three different weight divisions when he earned a unanimous decision over Harry Washington in Saturday night's finals. The 19-year-old used his ring savvy and a stinging right jab to frustrate Washington and win his fourth state title. Washington, a 16-year-old from Fort Worth, had eliminated defending bantamweight champ Conrad Sanchez of Austin on Monday night. Benavides has won championships as a light flyweight, flyweight and now a bantamweight. He, along with two other 1982 state champions, advanced to the National Golden Gloves Tournament, which is slated to begin March 21 in Albuquerque. Benavides will be seeking his third national title. Also winning were welterweight Vincent Releford of Fort Worth, last year's light welterweight champion, and featherweight Robert Franco. Releford knocked out Dallas' Kenneth Cleveland in the second round and Franco won a narrow decision over Fort Worth's Robert Guy.

Light Middleweights — Dwan Lockman, Fort Worth outpointed Warren Williams, Houston.
Middleweights — Gilbert Taylor, Dallas, outpointed Elton Dublin, Fort Worth.
Light Heavyweights — Antonio Sweeney, Houston, outpointed Clarence Dewberry, Wichita Falls.

Super Middleweights — A.D. Lamb, Tyler, stopped Elton Powell, Odessa.

Nicolette's lead widens to 6 shots

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — While golf's more glamorous names fired and fell back, longshot Mike Nicolette placidly put together a windblown 71 and stretched his lead to an impressive six strokes Saturday in the third round of the $350,000 Bay Hill Classic.

Nicolette, not yet a winner in five years of PGA Tour activity but the leader all the way in this event, was the only man under par after 54 holes over Arnold Palmer's troublesome Bay Hill Club course.

Nicolette completed 54 holes at 209, four under regulation figures. He led the first round by two shots, the second by three and now, the third by six — by two shots the biggest third-round margin of the season.

And he left some of the world's finest players, scowling in frustration, far in his wake.

"The thing about it," said Australian Greg Norman, "is that nobody put any heat on him. He just played along, conservative-type golf and didn't have to do anything cute or smart to try to shoot a low number."

Norman, winner of the Australian Masters and the Hong Kong Open in his last two starts, shared second at 215 with Spain's Seve Ballesteros.

"Six shots, that's a lot of ground to make up," said Norman, who put a ball in the water and made double bogey on the 17th hole. He had a third-round 72, one over par.

"I just have to go for it tomorrow. He can be caught. For the first three days, I was trying to play a patient game in the bad winds. Now I'll have to change my attitude, be very aggressive tomorrow."

Ballesteros bogeyed two of the last three holes for a round of par 71.

D.A. Weibring was one stroke behind the foreign stars at 70-216.

Jack Nicklaus, who also missed the green and bogeyed that extremely difficult 17th, once got to within six strokes of the lead but, with a 73, finished the day eight shots back at 217.

He was tied with Bill Rogers, Larry Nelson and rookie Donnie Hammond. Rogers had a 72, Nelson 74 and Hammond 75.

Tom Watson, the current British and U.S. Open champion, had a 74 in the winds that remained brisk and gusty but were much less severe than the gale-force blasts that raked the course Thursday and Friday. He was at 219.

PGA champion Ray Floyd also had a 74 and, at 219, was 10 shots back going into the final round of the chase for the $63,000 first prize — more than Nicolette has won in his entire career.

Nicolette played the front side one-over, but got back to even with a 4-iron to three feet on the 10th. He played erratically over the next three holes, but one-putted to save par on all of them, including a 20-footer on the 13th.

A 2-iron to eight feet set up another birdie on the 14th.

But he couldn't escape the 17th. He missed the green there — very nearly got it in the water — bladed his chip across the green and then played his next close for a bogey that, he said, "could have been a lot worse — much worse."

"I've got to keep on playing aggressively. There's no such thing as playing it safe out here. I'll just go out and give it my very best shot tomorrow," he said.

MY REBOUND, MY MAN — Borger's Terrence Shepard (40) grabs a rebound during his team's Class AAAA championship game against Waxahachie Saturday. Shepard scored 16 points but Waxahachie won the state championship with a 79-66 victory.

Dimmitt gains AAA state title

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — All-state guard Kevin Cleveland led fast-breaking Dimmitt to an 81-54 Class 3A championship victory over Van Vleck on Saturday, for Dimmitt's second straight title.

Cleveland, a 5-foot-10 senior and the son of coach Kenneth Cleveland, stayed in the game until only 40 seconds remained despite the big lead and flipped in 24 points.

He and his father hugged each other on the sidelines after he left the game.

The state final game was a rematch of the 1975 championship when Dimmitt beat Van Vleck 49-43.

The victory capped a 38-0 season for Dimmitt, which has now won 44 consecutive games since a loss late last season to district opponent Littlefield.

Van Vleck never threatened after Dimmitt broke a 24-24 tie with 4:26 left in the second quarter. The lead mounted to 76-50 with 1:09 remaining in the game before coach Cleveland inserted four subs.

AAAAA Bryan 71, Paschal 54

AUSTIN (AP) — Point guard Billy Chambers directed a blistering offensive show by Bryan as the Vikings raced past Fort Worth Paschal 71-54 in Class 5A Saturday night for their first state basketball championship.

Six Vikings scored in double figures, including super sub Kenny Keller who tallied 11 points to go with 14 he scored in Bryan's 64-63 semi-final victory over San Antonio Sam Houston Friday.

Chambers swished his first six field goal attempts, and Bryan built a 56-41 lead before four fouls sent him to the bench with 1:27 left in the third quarter.

The Paschal loss was its second in the finals in two trips to the tournament. The Panthers lost by two points to Houston Cashmere in 1975.

AAAA Waxahachie 79, Borger 66

AUSTIN (AP) — Quick-handed junior Todd Alexander led a full-court defense that forced 23 turnovers and also pitched in 27 points Saturday as Waxahachie whipped Borger 79-66 for the Class 4A state schoolboy basketball title.

Alexander, an all-tournament choice last year when Waxahachie was runner-up to Beaumont Hebert, also hauled down a game-high 12 rebounds even though he is only 5-foot-11.

AA Morton 91, Bartlett 69

AUSTIN (AP) — Morton won its third championship in 12 years on Saturday by beating Bartlett 91-69 in the highest-scoring Class 2A title game in the 63-year history of the tournament.

Morton's 91 points was one short of the 2A record in a championship game as Sweeney scored 92 points in 1954. Bartlett's 69 points was the most by a loser in a 2A title game — one more than Bartlett scored in the 1980 finals.

A Snook 76, Nacogdoches 70

AUSTIN (AP) — Snook stretched its string of state titles to six by overwhelming Nacogdoches Central Heights 76-40 in the Class A title.

Bandits steal by Panthers, 19-7

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Rookie running back Greg Boone rolled up 157 yards on 31 carries, including a 7-yard touchdown sprint, as the Tampa Bay Bandits defeated the Michigan Panthers 19-7 in a United States Football League contest Saturday night.

The victory before 38,789 fans gave the Bandits a 2-0 record and dropped USFL Central Division foe Michigan to 1-1.

Boone rushed five times for 35 yards in a third quarter scoring drive before plunging over for a score that put Tampa Bay ahead 16-7. Zion Andrusyshyn's extra point attempt bounced off the upright.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Bandits took the lead on a 6-yard pass from quarterback John Reeves to wide receiver Eric Truvillion, who made a circus catch in the right corner of the end zone. The score capped a 41-yard drive.

Michigan pulled to a 7-7 tie 42 seconds before halftime on a 3-yard pass from quarterback Bobby Herbert to tight end Mike Cobb. The touchdown culminated an 83-yard drive in which Herbert connected with Cobb for 12 yards, wide receiver Anthony Carter for eight and 22 yards and running back Tony Ellis for 27 yards.

After the half, Tampa Bay grabbed a 10-7 lead on a 32-yard field goal by Andrusyshyn, set up by an Ellis fumble at the Panther 28. Bandit cornerback Jeff George recovered the loose ball.

In the fourth quarter, Andrusyshyn missed a 27-yard field goal attempt before hitting from 33 yards out to close out the scoring.

Reaves, who led the USFL in passing coming into the game, completed 12 of 27 passes for 154 yards. Herbert connected on 18 of 33 tosses for 223 yards.

Gault sprints, hurdles

Tennessee trackster doubles gold at NCAA

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Tennessee's Willie Gault won the first sprint-hurdles doubles in the 19-year history of the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday, while Southern Methodist and Nebraska won the men's and women's titles, respectively.

Gault registered his victories in the 60-yard and 60-yard high hurdles only about 20 minutes apart. One — the hurdles — was easy. The other — the sprint — was controversial.

First, Gault, also a standout kick-returner and wide receiver on Tennessee's football team, took the hurdles in 6.98 seconds, with Milan Stewart of the University of Southern California a distant second in 7.12.

The sprint, however, was much closer. But after long deliberations by the judges, Gault was declared the winner in a five-man blanket finish in which only three-hundredths of a second separated the first five places. Gault and Calvin Smith of Alabama were timed in 6.18. They were followed by Mark McNeil of Houston in 6.19, Bruce Davis of Baylor in 6.20 and Darwin Cook of Southern Cal in 6.21.

The two titles were the first for Gault after five second-place finishes in NCAA competition, indoors and outdoors.

Alabama Coach John Mitchell requested that the judges reread the photos of the finish of the dash, but no official protest was filed.

"It was too close for me to tell," said Gault. "All I know was that there were people on both sides of me." Gault's two triumphs were not enough to carry Tennessee to the men's team title.

SMU, buoyed by victories by shot putter Michael Carter and weight thrower Robert Weir, won the championship — its only other national title was in golf in 1954 — with 43 points.

Villanova finished second with 32 points and Arkansas was third with 29 points from the total of 16 final events.

In the women's team race, Nebraska amassed 47 points in 13 finals, beating Tennessee, which was runner-up with 44 points. Stanford took third with 28.

Several records were broken in the two-day meet at the Silverdome, which attracted a record crowd of 15,060 for Saturday's 28 events.

The most significant mark was the world indoor best of 3:37.08 by Tennessee's women's mile relay team of Sharietta Barksdale, Joetta Clark, Cathy Rattray and Delisa Walton Floyd. The previous record was 3:40.46 by the Los Angeles Mercurettes in 1981.

In the same race, Morgan State, the third-place finisher in 3:39.58 behind Nebraska (3:38.16), was credited with an American record because the first two teams ran with at least one foreigner.

The University of Arizona's Meg Ritchie, from Scotland, erased the collegiate record in the women's shot put with a toss of 56-11<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>, breaking the mark of 55-11<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> set last year by Marita Walton of Maryland.

Another collegiate record was broken in the men's two-mile relay, as Villanova's quartet of John Borgese, John Keyworth, Mike England and Marcus O'Sullivan clocked 7:21.90. The Wildcats had set the mark of 7:22.6 last year.

The meet records broken included the 18-5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> by San Jose State's Felix Bohni, from Switzerland, in the pole vault, and the 7-6 by Houston's Brian Stanton in the high jump. Both won on fewer misses, Bohni beating Brad Pursley of Abilene Christian University and Stanton defeating two-time defending champion Leo Williams of Navy.

Aside from the men's 60, the closest race of the day was in the men's 1,000, as Indiana's Jim Spivey edged Richard Tuwei of Washington State, 3:59.95 to 3:59.96, with a lung at the tape.

Spivey's attempt at a distance double failed, when he finished third in the 1,000, behind Edwin Koeh of Richmond, the winner in 2:08.59.

Villanova had the most winners among the men. In addition to the sizzling victory in the two-mile relay, the Wildcats got triumphs from Carlton Young in the 440 in 47.17 and John Marshall in the 880 in 1:51.23.

Carter's shot put victory, his third in NCAA indoor competition (he also won in 1980 and 1981) came with a heave of 66-9<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>. His teammate, Weir, won Friday's only final, with a meet-record toss of 76-5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> in the 35-pound weight throw.

Other men's winners included Indiana's Sunder Nix in the 600 in 1:10.51; Colorado's Mark Scrutton in the two-mile in 8:29.29; Arkansas' Michael Conley in the triple jump at 56-6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>; Jackson State's Reginald Kelly in the long jump at 26-6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>; and Oklahoma in the mile relay in 3:11.21.

Nebraska, last year's champion in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women national meet, won the first women's indoor NCAA title with only one first-place finisher — Janet Burke in the 60-yard dash in 6.75.

Tennessee placed first in three events. Besides the crackling mile relay team, the Lady Vols got victories from Floyd in the 600 in 1:20.21 and Clark in the 880 in 2:06.02.

Other women's winners were Candy Young of Fairleigh Dickinson in the hurdles in 7:47; Diane Dixon of Ohio State in the 440 in 53.47; Tina Krebs of Clemson in the 1,000 in 2:28.58; Aisling Molloy of Brigham Young in the mile in 4:44.87; Patti Sue Plumer of Stanford in the two-mile in 9:45.54; Wisconsin in the two-mile relay in 8:53.68, and Alabama's Disa Gislandottir, from Iceland, in the high jump at 6-2.

Miss Lewis leaps to record

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Carol Lewis, the younger sister of track star Carl Lewis, broke her American indoor women's long jump record with a leap of 21 feet, 6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> inches Saturday at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Lewis, a University of Houston sophomore from Willingboro, N.J., had set the indoor mark of 21-5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> at last month's National Indoor Championships in New York.

BASEBALL BALLET — Los Angeles Dodger Greg Brock and Houston Astro Bill Doran show fine form when Brock attempted to steal second early during Saturday's exhibition game in Cocoa, Fla. Brock knocked the ball loose and was safe on the play. L.A. won the game.

Rangers win; Astros fall again

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Back-to-back muffs by Atlanta second baseman Randy Johnson paved the way to Texas' three-run rally in the eighth inning and the Rangers padded the Braves 5-3 in an exhibition baseball game in front of 1,853 fans at Municipal Park.

Johnson made consecutive bad throws to second after picking up easy grounders after Rick Behenna had walked Tommy Dunbar and Larry Biittner with two outs in the eighth.

The first error allowed the Rangers to tie the game, the second pushed Texas ahead, and Billy Sample's single added an insurance run.

The winner was Odell Jones, who hurled a hitless final two innings for Texas. Behenna took the loss though he didn't allow an earned run.

Sample had two hits for Texas in his first action since a four-hit game against Baltimore two days earlier. He also drove in two runs.

The 6-foot-8 right-hander, whose fast-ball was once consistently near 100 mph, was the National League's starting pitcher in the 1980 All-Star game.

Did chiropractic work affect JR?

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros pitcher J.R. Richard may have suffered a near-fatal stroke in 1980 because of a chiropractor's treatment just hours before he was stricken, a former team doctor has suggested in a sworn deposition.

Dr. Harold Brelsford is one of four doctors named as defendants in a pending malpractice suit filed by Richard.

"It has come to my attention that J.R. had a manipulation of his neck shortly before the episode, and I wonder if that may have contributed to the occurrence of the stroke," Brelsford said in the deposition, taken last May.

The chiropractor, Dr. Jack Christie, denied that his treatment was related to the stroke. Richard suffered the stroke July 30, 1980, the same day as the treatment.

The 6-foot-8 right-hander, whose fast-ball was once consistently near 100 mph, was the National League's starting pitcher in the 1980 All-Star game.

Los Angeles 8, Houston 5

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Seventh-inning home runs by Mike Marshall and Franklin Stubbs led the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-5 exhibition baseball victory over the Houston Astros Saturday.

With Los Angeles leading 5-4, Marshall led off the seventh with a home run off Houston reliever Bert Roberge. Stubbs hit a two-run homer off Roberge later in the inning.

Pedro Guerrero homered earlier for the Dodgers. Bill Doran homered for the Astros. Marshall, Guerrero and Houston's Scott Loucks each had two hits.

The ragged early spring game included seven errors, four by Houston, and three passed balls. The Dodgers are 4-3 and the Astros 0-3 in spring games.

Wolfpack stuns Tar Heels in OT

Atlantic Coast

Virginia 96, Georgia Tech 67

ATLANTA (AP) — Othell Wilson scored 18 points to pace second-ranked Virginia's balanced scoring attack in an easy 96-67 victory over Georgia Tech, pitting the Cavaliers against surprising North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball final.

North Carolina State shocked No. 5 Virginia, 19-10, scored 11 of his 15 points in overtime to eliminate the defending national champion Tar Heels from the three-day tournament at the Omni that concludes Sunday with the final at 1 p.m.

In the nightcap of the doubleheader, Virginia, 27-3, broke open a close contest by reeling off a 17-2 string, with Wilson scoring eight of his 15 first-half points in that span.

Ralph Sampson added 10 of his 16 points in the first 20 minutes as Virginia eased to a 50-34 halftime lead. Tech, 13-5, never got closer than 15 points in the second half as Virginia built its margin to as much as 31 points.

Rick Carlisle added 17 points for the Cavaliers, who shared the regular season ACC title with North Carolina, and knocked off Duke 109-66 in a first round tournament game.

tourney crown for the New Yorkers, who finished in a tie with Villanova and B.C. for the regular-season championship this season.

St. John's deadly field goal shooting helped make up for its 17 turnovers. B.C. shot 38 percent from the field, while committing only four turnovers. St. John's shot 75 percent from the field in taking the halftime lead, despite 10 turnovers.

Big 10

Indiana 81, Ohio St. 60

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Randy Wittman scored 24 points and Jim Thomas added 17 as seventh-ranked Indiana opened a 20-point halftime lead and coasted past No. 16 Ohio State 81-60 to win the Big Ten basketball championship Saturday.

Indiana needed the victory to claim the title outright and got an automatic entry into the NCAA tourney. Ohio State could have claimed a share of the title and an automatic bid.

Indiana is now 23-5 and 13-5 in the conference. Ohio State, slipped to 19-9 and 11-7. Tony Campbell and Ron Stokes had 12 points apiece to top the Buckeyes.

Metro

Louisville 71, Memphis St. 68

CINCINNATI (AP) — Milt Wagner and Scooter Mcray rallied third-ranked Louisville from a 10-point deficit midway through the second half to lead the Cardinals to a 71-68 victory Saturday over No. 17 Memphis State in a Metro Conference basketball tournament semifinal game.

Louisville and Memphis State were tied seven times in the first half before Louisville fashioned a 43-38 lead going into intermission.

Wagner finished with 17 points for the Cardinals, 28-3. Lancaster Gordon added 13, and McCray and his brother, Rodney, had 12 apiece.

Haynes had a game-high 23 points for Memphis State, 22-7. Keith Lee scored 15 points, and Bobby Parks had 12.

Pacific Coast

UNLV 66, Fresno St. 63

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Eric Booker hit a three-point, 25-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining in overtime to give ninth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas a 66-63 victory over Fresno State in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association tournament final Saturday.

The game was tied 63-63 with 1:44 remaining in the extra period after Fresno State's Bernard Thompson made a short jump shot. Eldridge Hudson then missed a jump shot with 31 seconds remaining and Fresno held the ball for the final shot.

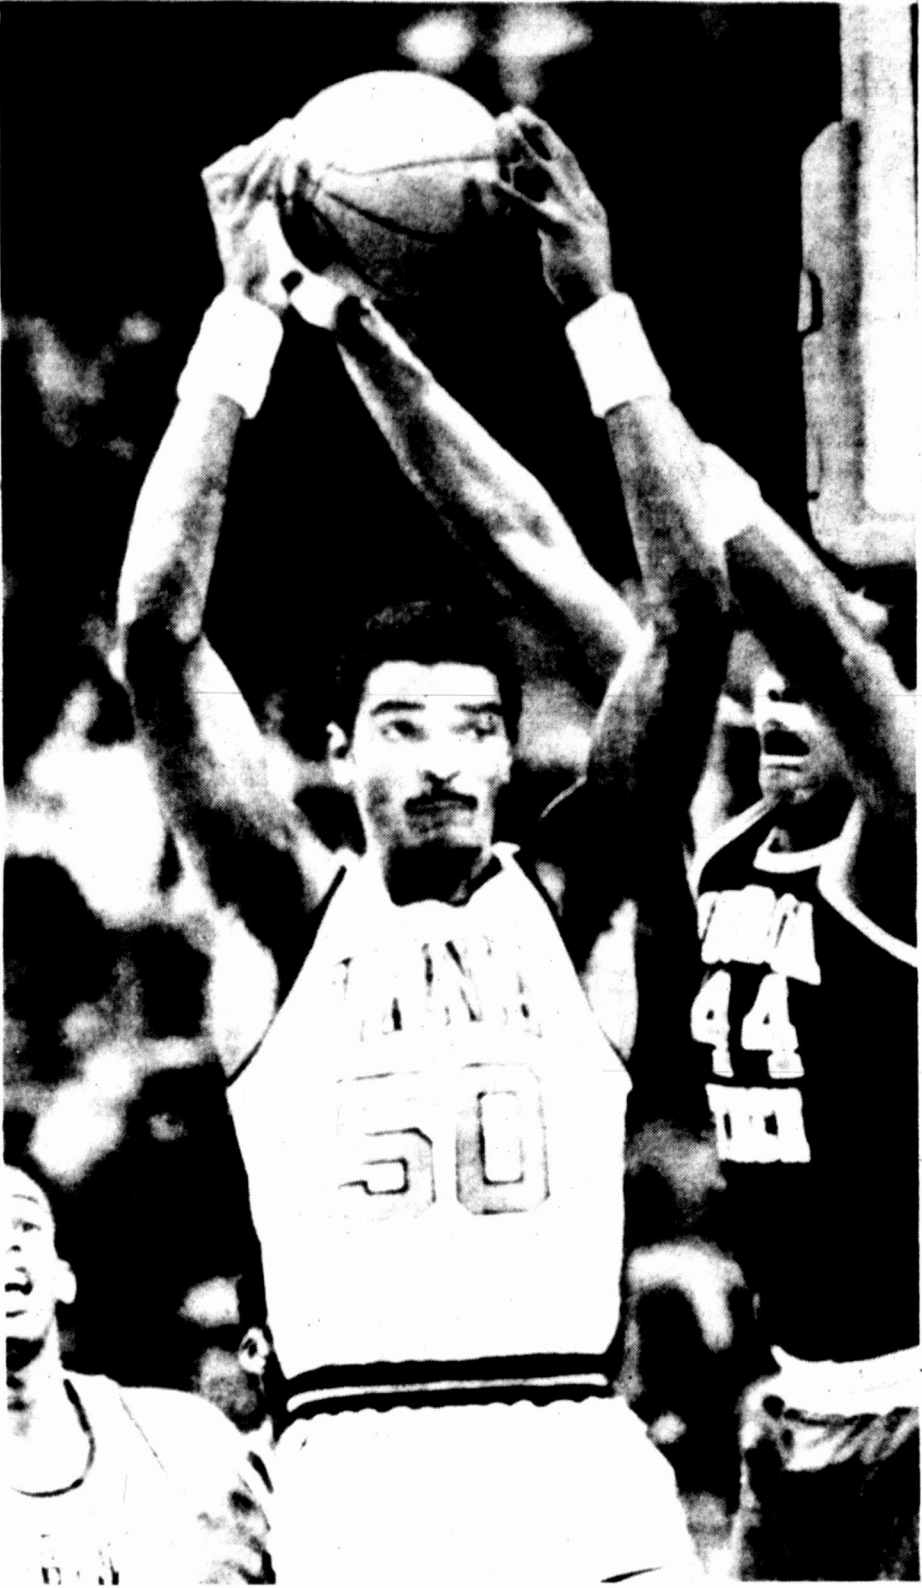

With five seconds to go, Booker stole a pass, dribbled up court and fired in his game-winning three-pointer. It was Booker's only score.

Southland

Lamar 75, North Texas St. 54

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Junior guard Lamont Robinson's 24 points paced Lamar University to the Southland Conference basketball championship Saturday night as the Cardinals whipped North Texas State 75-54.

Lamar gained the league's automatic NCAA tournament berth and extended the nation's longest homecourt winning streak to 68 games.

CAVALIER IN CONTROL — Virginia center Ralph Sampson (50) grabs a rebound Saturday over Georgia Tech center Tim Harvey (44) at the Atlanta Omni. The Cavs won their Atlantic Coast Conference tournament semifinal game 96-67 over Tech and meets North Carolina State for the championship Sunday.

Baseball Steers third in Abilene

ABILENE — Big Spring ran out of pitching after five tournament games but returned home with a third place trophy from the Abilene Invitational Baseball Tournament Friday.

After splitting two games Thursday, the Steers advanced to the loser's bracket finals with a 4-2 victory over San Angelo in eight innings and a 7-5 win over Abilene. Cooper collected nine hits off three BSHS pitchers, however, to eliminate Big Spring 15-7.

The Cougars advanced to the tournament championship game with the win over the Steers, facing Lubbock Coronado. The defending champs had blanked Cooper 8-0 earlier in the tournament and made it a sweep over the Coogs with a 5-3 victory in the title game. Coronado won all four of its tournament games.

"We just ran out of pitching," said coach Frank Ibarra. With rotation starters Adam Rodriguez, Jinx Valenzuela and Tom Cudd used up, Ibarra turned to sophomore Jay Pirkle against Cooper. Pirkle, David Renteria — elevated from the junior varsity for the tournament — and Dean Gartman failed to hold Cooper in the consolation finals.

The Coogs jumped off to a 10-0 lead before Big Spring rallied for six runs in the fifth. David Anguiano keyed the rally with an RBI single. Greg Badgett slammed a three-run homer in the sixth to ice the game for Cooper.

"They were tired. When you play three games in one day," said CHS coach Andy Malone, "it's pretty tiring for any team."

Prior to the loss, which dropped the Steers to 6-5 on the year, Big Spring yielded two solid back-to-back games.

After tumbling to Cooper 4-3 in eight innings Thursday, Big Spring needed more overtime to eliminate San Angelo. With the score tied 2-2, Danny Arista and Pirkle rapped two-out basehits. Bobcat shortstop Scott Bingham overthrew second on Mark Warren's ground-ball, allowing both BSHS runners to score.

Valenzuela went the distance for the Steers, giving up just four hits, striking out eight and issuing one walk in the early morning game.

The Steers met Abilene for the second time this season at 1 p.m. And like the first time, the Steers clipped the Eagles by a two-run margin.

With the score tied 3-3 in the fifth, Pirkle lined an RBI single and Alan Trevino knocked in two runs with a two-out basehit. The Steers stole 10 bases in the game.

Cudd, removed from Tuesday's game against Snyder because of a sore arm, went the distance against AHS, scattering eight hits to improve his record to 2-1.

The Steers open District 4-AAAAA play Tuesday with a 4 p.m. rematch against Abilene. Rodriguez, 1-2, is the probable starter for Big Spring.

Big Spring golfers struggle

SAN ANGELO — Abilene Cooper's No. 2 team, paced by medalist Ryan Heller's total of 153. Big Spring coach Howard Stewart. "It's tough on them to play these good courses."

Cooper fired a 633 team score to defeat Lubbock Coronado by five strokes. Andrews recorded the second best round Friday over the San Angelo Country Club course with a 322 to finish third with a 657.

Big Spring finished 21st among the 22 teams entered. Junior Ronnie Martinez fired a 95-89 — 184 to lead the Steers. Big Spring dropped Thursday's score of 408 over Bentwood down to a 363 Friday.

Other BSHS scores were sophomore Jamie Hernandez, 96-89 — 185; senior John Rodriguez, 100-88 — 188; sophomore Mark Gutierrez, 117-97 — 214; and freshman Larry Garcia, 141-119 — 260.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Center Artis Gilmore battled Joe Barry Carroll underneath the basket and managed to score 32 points to lead San Antonio past Golden State 131-120 Saturday night in National Basketball Association action.

Carroll, the Warriors' center, tied the score at 106-106 with a dunk with 7:01 left in the game. But Gilmore took control, scoring nine of the Spurs points in a final 25-14 spurt.

George Gervin tallied 16 points for the Spurs, who boosted their record to 40-25 while Golden State fell to 25-40.

Phoenix 105, Houston 94

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TODAY, MARCH 13, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: One of those days when a change in your attitude toward others can be beneficial. Study the philosophy you would like to follow.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): A good day to get together with close ties but do nothing to spoil your relationship with others. Take time for recreation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Attend the services of your choice early in the day. Make constructive plans for the new week. Be logical.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Your intuitive perceptions are working accurately now, so follow them and you can solve many problems.

Voight's new film a reel of life

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Photographs as large as posters paper the walls of actor Jon Voight's office at the Burbank Studios. They show his two fresh-faced children.

The actor-producer is a divorced father, whose children, Jamie, 9, and Angelica, 7, live with their mother, Marcheline, Voight's second wife.

In his new film, "Table for Five," he plays another kind of divorced father — one who becomes responsible for his children only after a family tragedy.

"Table for Five," which co-stars Richard Crenna, M. C. Parkins, Marie Christine Barraut and three talented youngsters, was made by Voight and partner Robert Schaffel for the new CBS Theatrical Films. Voight plays a former golf pro and errand father who takes his children on a Mediterranean cruise, then finds he must assume the important role in their lives.

Voight's own performance as a divorced father has been different. When his former wife lived in California, the actor moved nearby so he could spend time with Jamie and Angelica. They are now in New York, and Voight spends as much time as possible in the East.

"Naturally, I was deeply frightened that the divorce would injure the kids," he says. "There is a tendency to become overly watchful, but that can be destructive, too. The bottom line is what's best for the kids."

Voight said that he and his former wife agreed to tell their children about the divorce in a straightforward manner. "This is what we have decided; we're sorry, but we have to do it," he said he told them.

"I'm scared about it, but they're not," he said. "They have strong personalities, and they have reacted well, though I'm sure they can't escape the sadness of having their parents separate. When Jamie and Angie are 18 or 19, then I'll know whether I was a good father. Maybe."

"Table for Five" came to Voight early last year. The script had been written by David Seltzer ("The Omen") and was apparently drawn from his own experiences as a divorced father. Voight and Schaffel, both divorced fathers, began hunting for a director. Because they had only 14 days to film on a Mediterranean liner, they looked for a director from television — where less time is spent to do a film than in feature films.

"We were lucky to find Robert Lieberman, who had done feature quality work in 'Home Run for Love' and 'Will,' the Gordon Liddy story," Voight said. "To our amazement, he turned out to be a divorced father, too. So was our cinematographer, Vilmos Zsigmond."

They only had two months to prepare for filming, and that meant a frantic search for three young actors. The first find was Robby Kiger, 9, who had played Glenda Jackson's son in television's "The Patricia Neal Story." Roxana Zal, 13, who had done a McDonald's commercial, proved a natural for the daughter.

The biggest problem was casting the adopted son, a teen-age Oriental.

"We were in deep trouble," Voight recalled. "The studio was putting a lot of pressure on us, and we couldn't find anyone. We were getting real depressed, but we were determined to resist the pressure."

"The casting ladies asked us to try 'just one more.' This boy walks in, and he's physically lovely, with a nice grace and a real peace about him, no extra energy. I had him read a little scene, and he was good — not too much acting. Then I played an emotional scene with him, and he was great, better than he did it in the movie."

The boy was 14-year-old Son Hoang Bui, a Vietnamese who came to the United States after the fall of Saigon.

"Table for Five" is the second film by Voight-Schaffel Productions. The first was "Lookin' to Get Out," which Paramount released briefly last year. What went wrong?

WARMING UP — Veteran actor Anthony Quinn, 67, although suffering from the flu, goes through a series of warmups before his performance of "Zorba" at a Detroit theater. Quinn spent a minute on his head before rushing out for the play's hectic choreographics.

TV character mad over DWI

NEW YORK (AP) — "M.A.D.D.: The Candy Lightner Story" is both an indictment and an endorsement of the American legislative system.

Monday's crusading and intelligently written NBC movie shows how one determined woman manages to break down the barriers against strong drunken driving laws — obstacles that only a democratic and lobbying country would put up in the first place.

The judicial system doesn't get off lightly, either. Drunken drivers are quickly back on the streets, and the point is made that juries are made up of citizens who have driven under the influence, and they tend to go easy on drunken drivers.

The fact-based movie is about Candy Lightner, who founded Mothers Against Drunk Drivers after her daughter, Cari, was killed by an intoxicated motorist who was out on bail on a previous drunken driving charge.

Candy, played passionately by Mariette Hartley (James Garner's wife in the Polaroid camera commercials), is a divorced mother of three, who is so non-political she isn't even registered to vote. What turns her into a flaming advocate is Cari's death and then the feeling that the legislative and judicial systems aren't listening.

Willard Kohler (James Gannon) can barely stand, but he gets behind the wheel anyway. His car is weaving along the road when it drifts inside the bicycle lane and strikes Cari. Kohler leaves the girl to die.

'Slab Boys' slob cast needs translator for dopey dialect

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a new British play on Broadway — stop me if you've heard this before — called "Slab Boys." It looks at the working-class lives of slab boys, lads who mix paint at a carpet factory in Scotland.

The first thing you notice is that the Yank cast uses what I gather are Scottish accents. The second thing you notice is that the dialogue often sounds like a glib collision between Glasgow and Liverpool.

It'd be wise to bring an interpreter to "Boys," a ferociously energetic comedy-with-tragedy set in the factory's grimy old paint shop on one payday in the winter of 1957.

Written by John Byrne, a former slab boy, and staged by Robert Allan Ackerman, it's conducted at a whizzbang pace, full of brisk entrances and exits, bellows, shrieks, shouts and occasionally some very funny sight gags.

On those occasions you can understand the dialogue, you suspect there may be a good play afoot. But this production, bowing Monday, has a fatal flaw: It substitutes accents and energy for intelligibility.

What it noisily seems to say is that lower-class life is drab indeed (hello, a new idea) and that the drabness shown here can only be fought with humor, promotion to a better job as a designer, or by a clean getaway.

The show revolves around the last, escape, the secret goal of Phil (Kevin Bacon). He's one of the slab boys, a tough, cocky kid who way deep down is both sensitive and a gifted artist who wants to escape to art school.

His closest pal is an untalented slabber, Spanky (Sean Penn), with whom he mercilessly torments a third slab boy, Hector (Jackie Earle Haley), a homely nerd. By the second act, they're claiming they're only trying to bring him out of his shell, and you almost believe them.

When not merrily abusing Hector, they're busy needing the others in the ensemble: A gabby tea lady; a busty young "sketcher," an officious former slab boy-turned-designer (he has a pimple-pocked face the lads make cruel sport of); a fat, bellowing boss who lies about his war record, and the "new boy," a young, eager-to-please preppy type.

In the course of the evening, Phil does many things: Ruins Hector's clothes and one ear while trying to update the boy's look; tries to get the lovely sketcher to be Hector's date at the factory dance; shouts at his boss, who roars right back; proves to have a suicidal mother, and gets fired.

A few surprises ensue, one involving his boss, the other his dreams of art school. But you always know Phil eventually will be forced to face the real world, and no doubt himself.

Bacon is fine as Phil, but you'd like to see this great young actor in a role other than what's becoming his trademark — the "Diner" kind of punk whose bouncy swagger and brash manner hides his intelligence, pain and vulnerability.

Happy Birthday to BESSIE MAYFIELD, DIANNE JONES, DORAINE PARKS, HANDLEY DRIVER, JEANE CARNEY and RAY McMAHEN. They all had birthdays this week.

JIM AND JEAN LANCASTER were in Austin Feb. 18 to attend the swearing-in ceremony and reception for their daughter, PAMELA LANCASTER. Ms. Lancaster was appointed by a unanimous vote of the Austin City Council Feb. 15 to be an associate municipal judge in Austin's Municipal Court. Robert D. Jones, president of the Travis County Bar Association, administered the oath. The Lancasters said that although the judge could not get her robe zipped, she made a very nice acceptance speech.

Prior to her appointment, Judge Lancaster worked for two years as a prosecutor in the Travis County Attorney's office. After graduating from University of Texas School of Law in 1980, Ms. Lancaster was managing editor of "Voice For The Defense," a journal published by the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association.

JIM BOB AND LISA COATES, natives of Howard County, are moving to Pampa. They have been named as general managers for a Quick Stop complex which will include a convenience store, quick-lube center, automatic car and truck wash, mini-storage units and gas and diesel stations. They will have their grand opening May 1. Until next week...

Texas Gardener tips

Build your own strawberry factory

You may have the wrong soil and conditions in your yard for growing strawberries, but here's a solution that should bring anyone in Texas success — build your own strawberry factory in a hanging basket! All you need is a large, wire-type basket, a good potting mix, sphagnum moss, fertilizer, and several healthy plants.

Choose the same types of plants you would use if you were planting them in the ground. In South, Central and much of East Texas, the varieties Sequoia, Tioga, and the newly-developed Cardinal do well. Sunrise, a heat- and drought-resistant variety, is well adapted to North, Central and East Texas. If you garden in the colder areas of the state, the more hardy Ogallala and Fort Laramine are recommended.

Plant your strawberry basket in late winter after severe weather is over (you can plant it earlier if you protect it from the elements).

Line the inside and top edge of the wire basket with moist sphagnum moss an inch thick to prevent the loss of potting soil. Put about 2 inches of moist potting soil (not garden soil) in the bottom. Begin planting near the bottom of the basket and work upward in a circular pattern. Poke planting holes through the basket at soil level and insert strawberry plants at 6-inch intervals.

Make sure each plant's roots are in the soil mix and the crown is in the moss lining. Continue the procedure until the basket is filled with soil within 1 inch of the top. Plant the top of the basket with 4 or 5 plants, concentrating the plants more toward the edge of the basket. Water the basket often and fertilize it weekly with a water soluble fertilizer.

Before you know it, you'll have mouth-watering strawberries right from your own back porch.

Water leak is costly

Don't flush money down the toilet. Just one leaky toilet can waste up to 78,000 gallons of water a year, adding about $150 to your water bill.

To check for leaks, remove the tank lid and flush the toilet. As the tank starts to refill, put a leak detector or some dark food coloring in the tank so the water turns a solid color. If color shows up in the toilet bowl, your tank is leaking.

Doctor discusses 44 million potential soccer legs

Dear Dr. Donohue: With the tremendous surge of public interest in soccer, many players' physical condition is probably far behind their enthusiasm for the sport. It would be helpful if you could point out some of the hazards and suggest ways to prevent them. — C.Y.C.

Without doubt, soccer is the most popular sport in the world, and we have tended to be somewhat insular in our view of it until very recently. It's a dynamic and high-collision sport made somewhat more hazardous because of the relative meagerness of protective equipment possible.

Injuries can be expected, and I'd like to discuss one important one, which for want of a better term we can call "soccer leg." With an estimated 22 million soccer players on this planet, that figures out to about 44 million potential soccer legs.

We are not used to contact sports in which the hands and arms are not permitted to touch the ball, and this requires a different kind of coordination. A common complaint among soccer players is pain at the very inner, top part of the thigh. It comes about in this way: The player spots the ball on the ground to his side prior to propelling it downfield. To do that he must kick his leg laterally with great force and to the limits of its range of motion. It's an awkward maneuver. The leg must come across the body.

Our "soccer leg" results from the extreme lateral motion, which places stresses on the muscles at the inner, top part of the leg. They can easily become torn. I hope that most soccer coaches today are aware of this unique sport injury and include strengthening of those muscles to avoid serious tears. Many good sports training books include soccer conditioning programs.

As you know, soccer is one of the few team sports that demands both muscular endurance and great aerobic abilities. Most injuries occur when the player is beyond limits on both. So aerobic training programs are vital along with those that stress muscular strength and endurance. Many of the same conditioning exercises used in football or ice hockey can be used effectively for soccer.

Treatment of soccer leg is that used for any severe muscle sprain — rest and ice for the first two days, keeping ice in place for 30 minutes at a stretch. As the acute injury settles down, heat and warm compresses and warm whirlpools are used. A final word: Coaches of young soccer players would benefit from just a brief chat with a local high school or college coach to get some basic tips on proper training.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I've just been diagnosed as having subluxation of my shoulder joint. This is due to certain movements of my arm. Can you comment? — S.I.

When a joint comes completely out of its socket, you have a dislocation. When it comes only partially out of the socket, that's subluxation, and it's a frequent problem with the shoulder joint — which resembles a ball sitting in a socket.

The ball part of this arrangement has a natural tendency to be levered out of the socket, as when you swing at a golf ball, for example. However, muscles keep it from coming out completely. Subluxation can happen once and not be of any great concern once the joint gets back into place. But when a shoulder partially dislocates time and again, damage is done to the joint. The shoulder is considered unstable. You live on a precipice, always wondering just what you can and cannot do.

So a continuously subluxating shoulder joint should be corrected surgically. That will prevent permanent damage to the joint and let you return to your sport. I suggest you make an appointment with an orthopedic doctor. He can evaluate the status of the joint and make suggestions for correcting your problem.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

CONVERT TAXES INTO RETIREMENT INCOME

Every wage earner is eligible to have an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) regardless of your annual salary. Each year until you reach the age of 70 1/2 you may contribute up to $2000 to an IRA.

DOUBLE TAX BREAK. Each year you may deduct the full $2000 right off the top of your total income when you file your income tax. Deduct $4000 if you file a joint return with a working spouse and $2250 if you file with a non-working spouse. This is your first tax break. The second is even more significant. The interest earned on your IRA is tax deferred until you retire...as early as age 59 1/2, if you wish...when you'll probably be in a much lower tax bracket. Over a thirty-five year period you could accumulate as much as $604,714* in interest on the $70,000 you will have contributed to your account. If you paid taxes on that amount, and you were in a 30% tax bracket, you'd only have earned $195,763 when you retire.

HIGH INTEREST PLUS DAILY COMPOUNDING. Your IRA earns high Certificate of Deposit rates and is compounded daily. This means the first deposit you make continues to compound every day until you withdraw it when you retire.

AND...YOU PAY NO FEE OR COMMISSIONS.

CALL 267-7443 AND OPEN YOUR IRA BY PHONE

It is quick and convenient. We'll ask you for the pertinent information needed to open your IRA. Then we'll pre-assign you an account number and send you a form to sign and date. When we receive it back with your initial deposit...any amount from $100 to $2000...you will have started on the road to a wealthy retirement.

*Based on 10% annual interest rate, compounded daily.

WHERE'S THE WEDDING?

Most weddings are held in the traditional places + church or synagogue, home or backyard. In recent years, though, people have been choosing more one-of-a-kind locales to celebrate their nuptials. Here are a few of the more unusual:

***
A stewardess was married to a pilot on a particular flight between Miami and New York + the same flight on which the couple had met the previous year.

***
Two professional water skiers in Florida got married on skis; the minister shouted the ceremony from the rear of the boat. Rumor has it that the ceremony was interrupted when the flower girl fell off her skis.

***
An usher and a candy-seller at a movie theatre got married on the stage between showings of a double feature.

***
Two acrobats were married 150 feet above ground on a double trapeze.

***
As far back as 1935, a 73-year-old man and his bride were married eight feet under Puget Sound. They and the minister wore scuba gear and were connected by telephone wires.

Nibblers may be losing weight

Nibblers rejoice Eating numerous small meals throughout the day helps you lose weight, according to some specialists. Eating frequent small meals helps you burn more yellow fat (which you have too much of if you're overweight.) through most of your waking hours.

A small meal also releases a smaller amount of insulin - and this helps decrease the hormone's power to prompt fat storage. Plus, frequent meals helps keep glucose and insulin levels in your body balanced, and this helps you avoid the glucose drops that bring on hunger pangs.

Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or Spring, Texas 79720.

Skin chicken

There's more than one way to skin a chicken. To do it the easy way, use a paper towel instead of a knife. The paper towel grabs the chicken skin and allows you to quickly pull it off along with any underlying fat.

The meeting was conducted by Dorine Zilberg, president, who appointed a program committee for 1983-84. Plans were made for involvement in National Music Week, slated the first week in May.

The next meeting will be April 13 in the home of Gaye Cowan, 518 Edwards Circle.

Clothing can be creatively recycled

Recycling the clothing that hangs in the back of your closet into useful wearable garments can be both economical and creative. A great deal of satisfaction can come from making yesterday's clothing into today's fashions. The main reason behind recycling is saving money but there are several questions to consider before starting a recycling project. Below is a checklist to help you decide whether or not to recycle. You should be able to answer "YES" to most of these questions before you begin your recycling project. The garments you decide against recycling should be disposed of to make storage room. Give them to someone who will use them. Or use them to your advantage at a clothing exchange or garage sale. A Clothing Recycling Workshop will be presented 9-11 a.m. or 7:30-9:30 p.m. Thursday, March 24 in Youth Hall of First Methodist Church. This free workshop is sponsored by the Social Concerns Committee of First Methodist Church County Extension Family Living Committee and Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Child care will be provided.

Is the fabric worth using? Check to see that it is not worn or discolored. Hold it up to the light and look through it for "thin" areas.

If only part of the fabric will be used, can it be combined successfully with another fabric?

Do you have the time to spend on planning and making a recycled garment?

Do you have the sewing skill and imagination to do a good job? If not, can you get help?

Will the fabric be suitable for the new government? Consider this carefully when making children's clothing from adult garments.

Does the present designs of the garment lend itself to being cut or adapted into a new design?

Will the new garment fit into your wardrobe? If you will need special accessories or coordinates you should consider their cost as part of the new garment.

Can the garment be recycled without looking made-over or homemade?

Have you priced the trims, notions and other supplies that will be needed for the project? Think twice if they will cost more than purchasing or making a new garment.

Are needed trims and other supplies available? Consider shopping time and expenses in the total cost.

Each workshop participant is asked to bring a garment they would like to recycle. For more information phone the County Extension Office 267-8469.

All educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

13 MARR 13

Dear Abby

Mitzi Gaynor gives marriage tips

DEAR ABBY: A lot of people think that if you're in show business you stay married for about an hour and a half. Nuts!

To make a marriage work, you have to have more going for you than just "love." You have to like and respect each other.

In our case, Jack and I are best friends; we have to be. We've been married for 28 years and haven't been apart for more than a few days.

In order to get along with your guy, you have to play his game. If he likes watching sports, start the game off by sitting on his lap. If he likes to eat, learn to be a good cook. If he gets sick, nurse him as only you can. Instructions and prescriptions are great, but he needs you.

For the past 16 years, I've performed in over 60 different cities, a real cross section of America, and let me tell you, the insecurities and uncertainties about marriage are the same in Chicago, Houston, New York and San Francisco.

The song says, "Woman needs man and man must have his mate" — well, girls work at it! A lot of marriages break up because people get bored. I say, "Girls, get interested in parlor, bedroom and bath!" Love,
MITZI GAYNOR (BEAN)

DEAR MITZI: With all the letters I get from losers in the marriage game, how refreshing to hear from a winner! Your letter made my day.

***

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who is very nosy when she comes over to my house. Right away she starts looking in my cupboards and closets. And even my drawers!

I told her I didn't like it, but she doesn't listen to me. Now I am thinking maybe I should tell her that if she doesn't stop inspecting my house she can't come over anymore, but she is one of my best friends and I feel that it would be hard for me to tell her this.

CONFUSED (AGE 10)

DEAR CONFUSED: You have a decision to make. You can tell your friend that if she wants to continue to come to your house, she will have to stop looking in your closets, cupboards and drawers. And if she does it anyway, stick to your word and end your friendship.

Or, let her do as she pleases and put up with it. If you learn at age 10 how to prevent people from pushing you around and taking advantage of you, you will have learned a valuable lesson that some people never learn. You are within your rights to demand privacy. Don't be a softie.

***

DEAR ABBY: To settle an argument, I am asking for your opinion. In the event of an evening wedding, which seems to be so popular these days, the groom is left with a full day to do as he pleases. So to pass the time, he has a few (maybe five) beers — two hours before the wedding is to take place.

Abby, do you think morning wedding ceremonies would solve the problem?

HAWTHORNE, CALIF.

DEAR HAWTHORNE: If the wedding must be scheduled in the morning in order to ensure the sobriety of the groom, the marriage is in trouble from the first "I do."

***
Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HOLD UP — Easter Seal Society has announced plans for a Hold-Up Campaign to raise money for handicapped persons in Howard County. Area youth will participate in the campaign which will be held April 9. Kim Blount, above, is already ready to hold-up drivers at major intersections to collect money for the handicapped.

Hold-up campaign to assist society

All area youth are invited to share in a community service project in conjunction with the Easter Seal Society Hold-Up Campaign. Proceeds from the campaign will go to handicapped persons in Howard County.

The youth will be disguised in western wear, masks and carrying money bags. They will be easily identified as Easter Seal participants by their official badges.

Organizations will be contacted by telephone to determine how many members will participate in the event. Persons participating will be assigned locations in either local malls or at major intersections for the actual hold-up campaign to be held April 9 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Organizations with any questions about the campaign or who have not been contacted may contact Sharon Andrews at 267-5708.

Wedding policy

Weddings are published in the Sunday Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. A wedding form, available at the Herald, should be filled out, signed by either the bride, bridegroom or a member of either family and in our office no later than noon the Wednesday before the wedding.

The information may be accompanied by a photograph either of the bride or the couple. A black and white glossy 5 x 7 inch print is preferred. The picture must be of sufficient quality to reproduce in the newspaper. Pictures may be picked up following publication.

If a wedding writeup is turned in after the wedding the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Forms for wedding stories may be picked up at the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry. Writeups may be brought in to the department or mailed to Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Please call our office if you have problems or questions. Our number is (915) 263-7331.

Brides registering one or more China or Stoneware pattern with THE ACCENT SHOPPE Bridal Registry have the privilege of using our Silver Punch Bowl Set and Brass Coffee Service for their wedding reception.

Reservations are on a "first come, first serve" policy and should be made as soon as possible to insure availability.

You know you want sterling, but there are so many patterns to choose from! Here at THE ACCENT SHOPPE, we suggest that once you've narrowed your choice, you ask to see a place setting in the patterns you like. Notice the shaping of spoon bowls, fork tines and knife handles. Look at serving pieces too, for it's on these larger pieces that you see the beautiful design in its greatest detail. Finally, use each piece. Feel it in your hand for comfort and balance. Most fun of all: imagine it in your home.
