How's that? Prison labor

Q. Who is in charge of the inmate labor at federal prisons?

A. Federal Prison Industries, Inc., was established in 1934 to provide work for all physically fit inmates. The program is now directed and administered through the Department of Justice under the direction of the U.S. Attorney General. The inmates at the local prison make cable and pajamas to fill federal contracts.

A 30 percent chance of rain remains in the forecast today. Highs should reach near 60 with northerly winds, 10 to 15 miles per hour. By late this afternoon look for gusty winds of up to 30 miles per hour and blowing dust. Tonight, lows should fall into the mid 30s. On Saturday, highs should reach the middle 60s with northwesterly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Forsan faces school bond issue

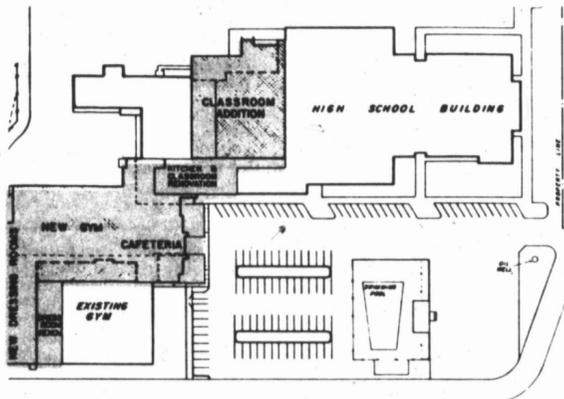

By JIM BROWN
Staff Writer

FORSAN — Voters in this oil-rich school district will decide April 7 whether to obligate themselves for $4 million in construction and renovation bonds which will have minimal impact on individual taxpayers.

District School Superintendent J.F. Poynor said growth of the district is a major factor in the decision to call a bond issue.

"Ten years ago, not a single student lived in what we call the Tubbs addition," he said. "Today we run three large 70-seat buses into the area, and they are usually full."

Poynor said local property owners would not be greatly affected by the bond's passage. A 25 percent tax increase is projected over the life of the bonds, but local property owners now pay only 4 percent of the school yearly budget. Seventy-five percent of the tax base is tied to mineral, utilities and mineral-related property taxes. Most affected by the tax increase that accompanies the proposed bond issue will be companies like Continental Oil, Poynor said. The Forsan schools have active oil wells on school property.

Poynor said the district expects growth in the Tubbs Addition to continue. "Original residents bought several acres and are now subdividing them," he said. "The eight section subdivision will expand at about the same rate over the next several years."

The 550-student district gained 40 new students this year in contrast to the Big Spring 4,916-student system in which enrollment dropped by 283, he said.

The passage of the bond proposal will allow the destruction of a gym built in 1948 and the construction of a new junior high classroom facility in its place.

"The current cafeteria is no longer large enough to feed students without dividing them into shifts," said Poynor. The bond money will build a new gym, cafeteria and community use facility that will be able to better serve the district population. The architect designed the area to host community activities as well as school functions," added Poynor.

The Elbow Elementary school will have expanded classroom facilities, a renovated library, new work area and an expanded student computer center along with a new music room.

The proposal also calls for the construction of a maintenance barn. New paving and major maintenance of existing buildings will also take place.

The bond's passage will provide a master plan for future growth without having to make changes in any of the proposed construction, he said. With the additional classrooms and dining area capacity, the district would be able to house an additional 300 to 350 students.

"The proposed bond issue will be retired by the district in ten years. The district still owes $396,000 on the last bonds approved eight years ago" and they will be retired "within two years," he said.

Reptile wranglers

It's snake, rattle and roll at 22nd roundup

By KEITH BRISCOE
City Editor

What kind of wine do you serve with snake meat? That question might have posed a problem for Kirk Kirkham, who will play host to a French filmmaker this weekend at the Big Spring Rattlesnake Roundup.

But Kirkham, a member of the American Business Club (AMBUCS) participating in his ninth roundup, is not concerned about pleasing a Parisian palate.

"The guy loves Coors beer," Kirkham said. "And we'll be selling plenty of that."

Last September, Jean Mazel, a cinematographer and author from Paris filming a documentary on Texas, made his way to Big Spring in search of the great snake hunt.

Never mind that Mazel was six months too late for the '83 roundup and six months too early for the '84 hunt. Kirkham, a transplanted Coors-drinking Wisconsin native who's all Lone Star at heart, staged a small snake safari for the visitor.

Like Eve, Mazel was beguiled by the serpent.

He's including footage and photos of his Big Spring visit in his film and book, both titled "Texas — Land of the Giants." And the Frenchman had the Gaul to plan a return visit for the 22nd annual rattler roundup Saturday and Sunday at the Howard County fair barns.

"I don't know what he plans to do," Kirkham said of the filmmaker's visit. "I guess he just wanted to see the real roundup."

A bunch of crazy Texans snaring snakes may strike the Parisian as a little in-Seine, but Kirkham says AMBUCS members and Coors officials are not speaking with a forked tongue when they claim there are rewards to be reaped from reptiles.

The snakes, bought by the club from hunters, are sold to restaurants, universities and merchants. The profits, along with admission charges to the roundup, go to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center in Big Spring and the National Scholarship Fund for Physical Therapists.

And the venom milked from the snakes is sent to the cancer research program at Texas A&I University.

Kirkham said he expects 10,000 visitors to the event this weekend. Featured again this year are the Pitmasters, snake-handling showmen from Gainesville, and milking exhibitions by Dr. John Perez of Texas A&I.

Although many roundup spectators get rattled at the thought of fang phlebotomy, "We've never had anybody officially bit," Kirkham said.

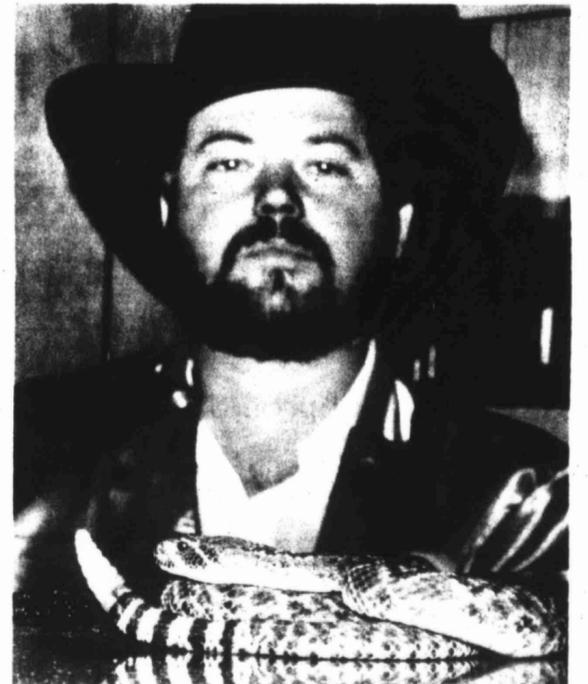

Everyone allowed to handle the snakes, Kirkham said, is an experienced reptile wrangler — he's in tune with the tooth; he's a reptile rocker; he knows how to snake, rattle and roll.

"And we don't mishandle the snakes," Kirkham said, recalling a few years back when the Audubon Society launched venomous attacks against the roundup. "Since AMBUCS took it over, we've cleaned up our act."

Admission to the roundup, which runs from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, is $3 for everyone except students, who get in for $1.

In addition to watching the snake shows, visitors can treat themselves to fried snake meat and reptile arts and crafts.

And for the really curious, Kirkham will explain how to tell a boy snake from a girl snake.

Jury finds Oren Craig guilty of murder

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A seven-woman, five-man jury Thursday night took five hours to decide a 23-year-old Sand Springs man was guilty of murder in the death of "his best friend," James Kevin Harmon.

The 118th District Court jury began deliberating the case at 1:28 p.m. Thursday after listening to final arguments and at 6:30 p.m. reached a guilty verdict against Oren Lee Craig.

Craig is still free on bond, pending sentencing by the jury on Monday. Murder, a first-degree felony, is punishable by five to 99 years or life in prison and a maximum fine of $10,000.

District Attorney Rick Hamby said he "was very pleased with the jury's decision so far." He said he had no idea what kind of punishment the jury would set.

Craig's defense attorney, Jack

Thompson, said he was "feeling pretty good about the verdict" because of the length of time the jury was out.

"About 3:30 or 4 p.m., I was exuberant," Thompson said. "Apparently someone was holding out for a lesser sentence, for voluntary manslaughter, negligent homicide or aggravated assault."

The jury also had the option of charging Craig with aggravated assault, which Thompson was advocating in his closing argument.

Thompson had argued that since Craig was a marksman, he was not intending to kill Harmon, but to wound him "to scare him off."

Craig claimed he shot Harmon, who had been his best man in a failed marriage, in self-defense the night of Oct. 18 in a car wash on Gregg Street.

According to testimony by pathologist Dr. Robert Rember, Harmon died from injuries suffered in the shotgun shooting after surgery to remove his left lung failed to keep him alive. He was shot at close range, about 8 feet away, in the left shoulder. The bullet shattered the clavicle and the pieces of bone penetrated his lung.

According to testimony, the shooting was the culmination of a long-standing feud between Harmon and Craig over Harmon's common-law wife, Teresa (Tessie)

Consumer price rise modest; inflation holds at 5%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose a modest 0.4 percent in February, the government reported today, as a moderation in food price increases gave economists fresh support for their predictions that inflation this year will be in the range of 5 percent.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes declared, "Inflation appears to be pinned to the mat." Other economists, while not as glowing as Speakes, said the news in today's report was good.

One, James Pihers of Georgia State University, said, "Today's report has no evidence inflation is accelerating. There's nothing here to worry about."

Food prices rose 0.6 percent, well under the sharp 1.6 percent gain of January, as damage from several months of severe weather began to ease.

Energy prices were also up. Fuel oil prices rose 6.9 percent, their biggest jump in three years, while gasoline costs, off for the fifth straight month, fell 1.5 percent.

But the overall gain in the Consumer Price Index was less than January's 0.6 percent.

Presidential economist Martin Feldstein said the February advance was "right in line with the administration's forecast" and provided "further evidence that the economy is not overheating."

Excluding the "volatile" food and energy components, he said, the price report would have shown an "even better 0.3 percent rise."

Reflecting the fresh moderation in food prices, cost increases slowed for such staples as meat, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

Beef and veal prices rose 1.7 percent after a 3.5 percent jump in January. Pork prices edged up 0.4 percent after soaring 5.2 percent. Egg prices advanced 2.2 percent, down dramatically from the 21.3 percent gain in the previous month.

Fresh fruit prices rose just 0.3 percent following a sharp 7.8 percent gain in January. Vegetable prices, which shot up 7 percent in the previous month, rose 3.3 percent.

Local telephone service, which posted its sharpest-ever gain in January, 8.5 percent, still rose substantially last month with a gain of 3.0 percent. But the cost of all phone service moderated, rising 1.9 percent, down from the previous month's record 5.2 percent gain.

The increases generally are attributable to regulatory changes accompanying the breakup of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The French connection

An old alliance bridges modern schisms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Francois Mitterrand of France says the quest for peace will be thwarted if the industrialized democracies "allow the underlying causes of war to prosper" by ignoring poverty and economic exploitation in developing nations.

In an address before a joint meeting of the Senate and House of Representatives on Thursday, Mitterrand called for a new commitment by the West "to reduce the level of misery in the world."

"It is my conviction that many of the revolutions and wars in the Third World are rooted first of all in the soil of poverty and economic exploitation," said the French president, who began a two-day visit to Washington by discussing East-West relations with President Reagan.

Mitterrand's visit was continuing today with a round of meetings with high U.S. officials, including a return visit to the White House for breakfast with Reagan and key members of his Cabinet.

Michel Vauzelle, Mitterrand's spokesman, said the French president still hopes to meet the two leading Democratic presidential contenders, former Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Sen. Gary Hart.

Vauzelle told reporters that if a meeting takes place it will be later in the cross-country trip in either San Francisco or New York City.

Mitterrand apparently has bridged the gap between his socialist government and Reagan's conservative administration by his strong support of the deployment by NATO of new U.S. nuclear missiles in Europe.

He defended that decision as essential to correct a military balance he said was "wrecked" when the Soviet Union deployed its own force of medium-range nuclear weapons pointed at European targets.

"But at the same time, let us not be afraid to enter into dialogue with the Soviet Union once the basis and purpose of such talks have been defined in a clear and lasting manner," said Mitterrand, who intends to visit Moscow later this year.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters that Reagan assured Mitterrand the United States is ready to resume suspended nuclear arms control talks "if the Soviets will just come back to the table."

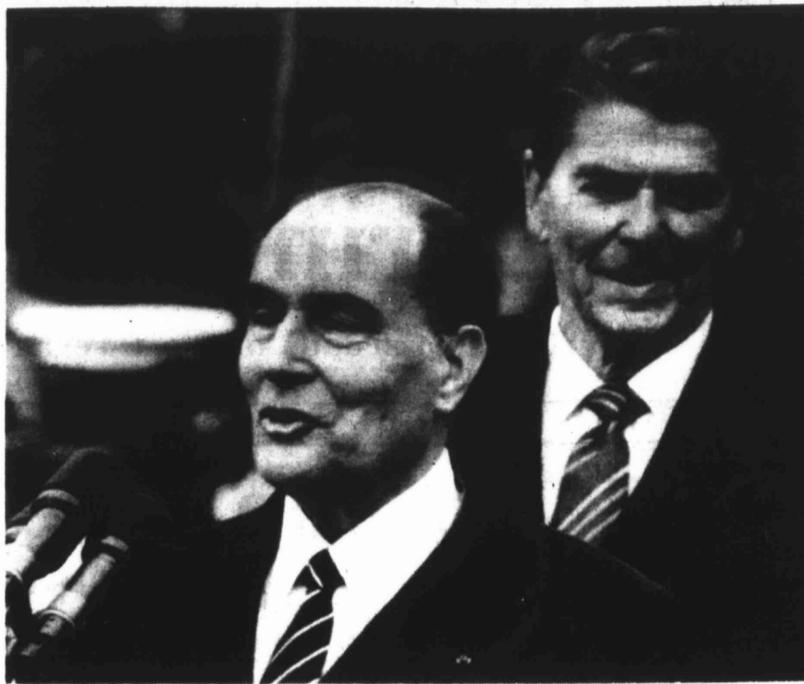

Later Thursday, at a state dinner in the White House, Reagan told Mitterrand in a toast that while the United States is "thoroughly committed" to the defense of Europe, "America also strives to achieve greater East-West dialogue."

"We will continue to work for a more stable relationship with the Soviet Union, one that will lead to better understanding and a relaxing of existing tensions," Reagan said.

In his response, Mitterrand acknowledged that despite the 200-year history of friendship and cooperation between the two countries "our eyes are not always turned in exactly the same direction."

But he said the differences are only occasional and that the common interests of France and the United States are leading them to talk about "inventing the machinery to prevent war and produce peace."

"It serves no purpose to hammer away at building peace while we allow the underlying causes of war to prosper," he said.

OFFICIAL WELCOME — President Reagan stands behind French President Francois Mitterrand during remarks of the visiting French leader to a White House welcoming ceremony Thursday on the South Lawn of the White House.

Two arrested on warrants

Howard County sheriff's deputies Thursday night arrested a Kentucky man and a Taft, Texas, man on separate warrants. Both remain in jail today.

Deputies arrested Eddie Whitehouse, 29, of Calhoun, Ky., on a Jefferson County warrant for driving while intoxicated.

Bond has been denied for Adolfo Maldonado, 40, of Taft, arrested on a Sinton County warrant for revocation of probation.

Roberto Perez Garza, 34, of 908 1/2 Aylford was released Thursday from the Howard County jail on $500 cash bond. He had been jailed on a writ of attachment.

Thomas Edward Cates, 30, of San Angelo was transferred Friday morning to the county jail from the police department on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by County Court Judge Milton Kirby.

Jeannine Bare, no address or age stated, was arrested Thursday by the Dallas County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for bond forfeiture. She was released on $1,000 bond.

Murder

Tate-Harmon. Ms. Tate-Harmon had slept at Craig's house one night in August 1982, Craig testified.

Until the two men began threatening each other, after August 1982, they were "the best of friends," both Craig and his mother testified. Both men had known each other since school days and had exchanged presents on their birthdays — Oct. 19, also the same day Harmon died.

During the trial, defense attorney Thompson described the defendant as a man "fearful for his life" when he shot Harmon in the car wash parking lot. Craig had testified he thought Harmon, later found to be unarmed, was reaching behind his back for a gun with his right hand when Craig fired the fatal shot.

Testimony later showed Harmon to be left-handed.

Craig also testified during the trial that he lied to Big Spring Police Department Detective Bill Price about the ownership of a pair of brass knuckles Craig was carrying when he surrendered to the sheriff's office later that night.

Craig, who said the brass knuckles were his, told the courtroom that he "lied" to Price when he told him Harmon had owned the knuckles and used them to hit Craig in the face before he fired in self-defense.

Thompson said he thought the eyewitness testimony of Richard von Hassell, who saw the argument in the parking lot until a moment before the shot was fired, was damaging to his client.

Von Hassell testified he saw Harmon, hands up in the air and palms open, backing away from Craig, who was pointing the shotgun at Harmon.

"Von Hassell's a credible witness," Thompson said. "I wasn't surprised by the verdict."

Thompson said Craig's case also was hurt by his testimony that on the day of Harmon's death, he went and practiced shooting his four firearms, a 9mm gun, a .22-caliber rifle, a shotgun and another weapon.

Inflation

Medical care costs jumped 0.8 percent, up from the 0.7 percent gain of January and above the average monthly increase of 0.5 percent last year. Physicians' fees soared 1.2 percent while hospital room charges rose 0.7 percent.

Analysts' optimism over the coming months comes in part from a belief that food price increases will continue to moderate as the deleterious effects of last summer's severe heat and drought, coupled with the harsh winter weather, abate.

The bad weather killed off heat-sensitive pigs and chickens while devastating feed grain crops, which in the long run sent beef prices sharply higher.

The nation's fruit and vegetable supplies were also diminished by the weather. Large parts of those crops died in the summer heat and drought while the severe cold of December and January heavily damaged southern citrus orchards.

In addition, poultry and egg prices have risen in recent months in large part because of an epidemic of a deadly influenza among flocks in the mid-Atlantic states.

Even so, some analysts fear that the recent figures indicating a surprisingly strong economy can only mean higher inflation later in the year.

As a result, there is a sharp debate over whether the Federal Reserve Board — the nation's central bank — will move next week at a closed-door meeting to try to restrain the expansion and calm some fears of renewed inflation.

A tightening of credit, though, would tend to boost interest rates, many analysts say. Those rates have been rising up in recent weeks.

Indeed, Speakes today reiterated administration concerns and said, "We urge the Federal Reserve Board to allow sufficient monetary expansion to assure noninflationary growth."

Consumer prices rose 3.8 percent last year for the best showing since 1972. Prices rose 3.9 percent in 1982 after shooting up 12.4 percent in 1980 and 8.9 percent in 1981.

In today's report, the department provided these additional details on consumer price activity:

—The sharp fuel oil price gain followed an increase of 2.6 percent in January. Both months' rises are attributable to unusually cold winter weather. Despite the sharp increases, such prices were still 2.7 percent below their peak of April 1981.

—Gasoline prices, which had tumbled 1.1 percent in January, were 13.3 percent below their peak of March 1981.

—Natural gas prices rose 1.1 percent last month, reversing a 1.1 percent decline in January.

—Meals eaten outside the home rose 0.2 percent while alcoholic beverage prices were up 0.1 percent.

—Housing costs rose 0.5 percent, the same as in the previous month. Homeowners' costs were up 0.2 percent while renters' costs gained 0.3 percent.

—Clothing prices fell 0.3 percent, reflecting sales of winter goods coupled with pre-Spring sales.

—Overall transportation costs were unchanged. New car prices rose 0.4 percent while used car prices were up 1.4 percent.

—Entertainment costs rose 0.3 percent.

All the changes are adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

If last month's 0.4 percent increase held steady for 12 straight months, the yearly advance would be 4.4 percent. The annual rate reported by the department is based on a more precise calculation of monthly prices than the figure made public.

For the first two months of the year, the department calculated that prices overall advanced at an annual rate of 6.1 percent.

In all, the Consumer Price Index stood at 306.6 in February, meaning that goods costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $30.66 last month.

A companion index, the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers, rose a tiny 0.1 percent in February.

This index is widely used in calculating cost-of-living increases in collective bargaining contracts and government benefit programs.

1st spring rain misses Big Spring

From staff and wire reports
Rain, hail and snow which pummeled parts of the state missed the Big Spring area early today as a low-pressure air mass moved southeastward across the state.

Records at the U.S. Field Station north of town showed no trace of precipitation in the area overnight. The system did drop temperatures in the area, however. Big Spring saw a high of 84 degrees Thursday afternoon and a low of 40 degrees during the night.

Today dawned cloudy and cold but skies cleared to partly cloudy by mid-morning. Forecasters say a 30 percent chance of rain remained in the forecast today. Highs should reach near 60 degrees with northerly winds forecast at 10 to 15 miles per hour, increasing to 20 to 30 miles per hour and gusty by late this afternoon. A chance of blowing dust is also in the forecast.

Golfball-size hail hit parts of North Central Texas early today. Widespread showers and thunderstorms, some producing hail, developed along the low-pressure ridge, while snow fell in the Panhandle and drizzle was reported in the Hill Country, the National Weather Service said.

Low-level moisture feeding northward from the Gulf of Mexico combined with the upper-level disturbance from the southern Rockies to blanket the Lone Star State with cloudy skies.

The weather service said the weak, migratory surface low was centered near Abilene, moving to the east southeast at 15-20 mph. A cold front associated with the low trailed southward into Mexico, while a warm front stretched northeast across southern Oklahoma.

A high-pressure ridge was building southward over the Panhandle, falling over the Panhandle. Over the southern two-thirds of the state, warm, humid conditions prevailed.

Winds were southerly at 10 to 20 mph across the eastern half of the state, becoming east and northeasterly near the low-pressure center, and northerly at 20 to 30 mph over the Panhandle and south plains.

Temperatures ranged from the low and mid 30s over the Panhandle and the low and mid 50s across the south plains and far West Texas to the low to mid 60s through central and eastern portions of the state.

Readings in the upper 60s prevailed along the Gulf coast and into the lower Rio Grande valley. Extremes were 30 degrees at Amarillo and 70 at Brownsville.

At least 26 deaths have been blamed on bad weather in the nation since Sunday, including three on Colorado roads from a new storm Thursday and 23 from the slow-moving winter storm that howled out of the Rockies last weekend, plunged 235,000 homes in Kansas and Missouri into darkness and finally parked over Michigan for two days.

Utility crews working around the clock in Kansas City, Mo., hoped to restore power by tonight to 25,000 homes that have been blacked out since Sunday. About 62,000 homes in Kansas and Missouri were still without electricity late Thursday.

Ohio, western New York and western Pennsylvania got their first taste of the storm today.

The storm caused five-hour delays at Stapleton International Airport in Denver on Thursday night, but flights were normal today, said Ron Fano, director of airport operations.

Probe continues to identify body

Howard County sheriff's deputies are continuing to investigate the identity and the cause of death of a body found Wednesday morning in a remote pasture in the county.

Deputies are waiting for lab tests from an autopsy to determine how the man might have died and to aid in identification of the body, they said.

The badly decomposing body was discovered by the county trapper lying in a remote pasture about 12 miles southwest of Big Spring, County Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

The body had no driver's license or other forms of identification except for a Social Security card, deputies said. However, they said the card might not have belonged to the man.

Deputies are also tracing other leads found in a wallet on the body, they said.

Deputies said the case was different from the Eladio Aleman Zubiate case.

Zubiate's remains, found buried Jan. 5, 1983, northeast of Big Spring, had decomposed to the point where a special forensic anthropologist was called in to reconstruct the bones. But deputies "had a good idea at the time" whose remains had been buried in the grave, they said. And they had been led to the grave by a man who confessed to the murder.

In this case, deputies said they do not know the identity of the corpse.

"We don't have any missing person reports," Chief Assistant Deputy Bill Shankles said.

Police Beat

Attempted robbery reported

An attempted armed robbery was reported to Big Spring Police Thursday evening by Sam Decker, owner of Decker Liquor 1012 W. Third.

As Decker locked the store for the evening two Hispanic males approached him, pointing what appeared to be a saw-off shotgun at him and ordering him to return to the store, police said.

Decker broke from his assailants and ran into Betty Lou's Club and summoned police. His assailants fled before police reached the scene, reports said.

The Crazy Horse Saloon at 3204 West Highway 80 was broken into, and an undetermined amount of cash and coins was taken. Pool tables and video machines were damaged, reports said.

The Other Place at 800 West Fourth reported that approximately $120 was taken during the night from pool tables, vending machines and video games, police said.

Steve Watson of 1405 E. 15th reported that his 1978 Thunderbird valued at $4,300 was taken without his permission.

Robert Parson of Route 1 Big Spring reported that his car was broken into while parked at 421 Main. A 22 caliber rifle was taken, and $200 damage was done to the windshield, reports said.

Donna Sinclair's purse was stolen at Rister Photography located in the Big Spring Mall while she was having a picture made, police said. Reports said $40 in cash was taken, along with several credit cards. The purse and billfold were valued at $100, reports said.

Deaths

Sylvester Wright

Sylvester J. Wright, 62, of Lovington and a brother of a Knott man, died at Lea Regional Hospital in Hobbs Thursday morning.

Funeral will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Smith-Rogers Chapel in Lovington. Burial will be at Resthaven Memorial Gardens here.

He was born July 26, 1921 in Loop, Texas. He was a member of the Las Cruces Primitive Baptist Church. He is survived by two brothers, Dalton Wright of Knott and Lloyd Wright of Albuquerque; and two sisters, Mable Messingill of Salem, Ore., and Lola Towns of Lovington.

Other deaths

William Frates MIAMI (AP) — William Snow Frates, 66, a Miami lawyer an civic activist, died Thursday of an apparent heart attack.

Frates' clients included Bebe Rebozo, an associate of former President Richard Nixon, and John Erlichman, who was tried in 1974 in Washington for his role in the Watergate scandal coverup.

BRITT EKLAND and SLIM JIM McDONNELL
Britt marries a Cat

LOS ANGELES — Actress Britt Ekland, divorced from the late actor Peter Sellers in 1969 and later the girlfriend of rock singer Rod Stewart, has married rock musician "Slim Jim" McDonnell, drummer for the Stray Cats band.

It was a private ceremony Wednesday night at the couple's Bel-Air home, Paul Cohen, personal manager of the 41-year-old Miss Ekland, said Thursday.

About 15 family members and close friends attended the wedding which coincided with the groom's 23rd birthday and was followed by a dinner for about 100 people, Cohen said.

It's the first marriage for McDonnell. Films in which the Swedish-born Miss Ekland has appeared include "The Bobo," "The Night They Raided Minsky's" and "The Man With the Golden Gun."

She also has made guest appearances in several television series and starred in "The Hostage Tower" TV movie.

Got married on birthday

LONDON — Composer Andrew Lloyd Webber, who wrote the music for "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Cats," "Evita" and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Coat," celebrated his 36th birthday by launching his latest musical, "Starlight Express" — and getting married for the second time.

The composer was divorced last year.

He and his new wife, former dancer Sarah Brightman, were presented to Queen Elizabeth II at London's Apollo Theater on Thursday night as the monarch attended his star-studded preview.

Cliff heads up drive

NEW YORK — Actor Cliff Robertson will head the American Cancer Society's 1984 fund-raising drive, first lady Nancy Reagan will again be honorary chairman, and for the second year actress Nancy Walker will head the society's door-to-door drive.

Robertson, 58, will appear next month on a cancer quiz program on cable television designed to help viewers determine whether they are at risk of developing cancer.

"Knowing when and how you are at risk is an important first step to personal control of this disease," Robertson said Thursday at a news conference.

He called it an encouraging record that "close to 3 million Americans throughout our nation have been cured of cancer."

Clint goes after Enquirer

SAN FRANCISCO — Actor Clint Eastwood has the go-ahead for a $10 million dollar suit against the National Enquirer.

Eastwood, 53, charges that an April 1982 story about his alleged romantic involvement with two other celebrities was false and that the use of his picture damaged his ability to control the commercial exploitation of his name.

The state Supreme Court on Thursday turned down the Enquirer's petition for a hearing and let stand a ruling in the actor's favor by the Court of Appeal.

Convictions draw protests

FALL RIVER — The convictions of two more Portuguese immigrants in a barroom gang rape drew sobs from defendants and protests from 5,000 marchers, but women's groups hailed the verdicts as offering a "ray of hope" for other rape victims.

Two other men were acquitted Thursday and two had been found guilty earlier in the case, in which a 22-year-old mother of two testified she had been dragged to a tavern pool table, held down and repeatedly raped while a leering crowd cheered "like a baseball game."

The case became a rallying point both for women's rights groups, which decried the abuse detailed by the victim, and the Portuguese community, which alleged authorities were prejudiced against the six defendants, who are all Portuguese immigrants.

On Thursday, John Cordeiro, 24, and Victor Raposo, 23, wept as jurors found them guilty of aggravated rape in the March 6, 1983, attack at Big Dan's tavern in New Bedford. Witnesses testified the two tried to have oral sex with the woman while she was pinned to the pool table.

At the same time, Jose Medeiros, 23, and Vergilio Medeiros, 24, who are not related, embraced their lawyers and were mobbed by friends as they were acquitted. Witnesses testified they kept others from helping the woman and cheered their friends, but did not join in the physical assault.

Cordeiro and Raposo, along with Daniel Silva, 27, and Joseph Vieira, 28, who were found guilty of aggravated rape Saturday in a separate trial, face a maximum penalty of life imprisonment when sentenced sometime next week. They also face possible deportation.

"This is... justice?" Raposo said bitterly, his tears turning to anger as he was led out of the courtroom. "We're Portuguese immigrants. That's why we were convicted."

Jose Medeiros, his eyes reddened by tears, said his friends' conviction "wasn't fair, it wasn't fair at all." Vergilio Medeiros said he lost two jobs and went into debt during the year it took to bring the case to trial. "I'm just so messed up," he said. "In one year they did so much to me."

Two women's groups expressed satisfaction with the verdicts. Priscilla Trudeau, head of the New Bedford Rape Crisis Center, which was formed following the Big Dan's incident, said she thought the convictions "may give future rape victims a ray of hope that the system does work in these cases."

"Our criminal justice system may have some flaws, but basically it's a good one," agreed Darlene Wheeler of the Coalition Against Sexist Violence, which represents 13 community organizations in southeastern Massachusetts.

However, Ms. Wheeler said her group was unhappy with the cross-examination of the woman, who the defense argued was a willing participant and lied to save herself embarrassment. She said the group would make recommendations to the state Legislature about laws to protect rape victims.

Israel faces early elections

JERUSALEM — Burdened by unpopular military and economic policies, Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir has lost a battle in parliament to save his government and is ready to yield to the opposition's demand for early elections.

Five members of Shamir's governing coalition defected Thursday to support the Labor Party's early elections bill. After a 12-hour debate interrupted by three adjournments, the 120-member Knesset passed the bill on a preliminary vote by a 61-58 margin.

Only former Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in seclusion since his resignation last fall, was absent.

"We have to honor the Knesset's decision," Shamir said after the vote, indicating he would not try to bury the bill in committee.

If the Labor Party bill gets through a required series of additional votes, as appears likely, it would be the first of October when an Israeli government was forced into an election against its will.

The vote hit at Shamir's prestige and his hopes of setting a new course for the economy that would help him regain lost ground with the electorate.

The prime minister said he "was not interested in an election campaign that is liable to seriously harm the government's efforts to revive the economy...but the Knesset decided otherwise."

Shamir, 68, was not scheduled to face the voters until November 1985. He inherited the government from Begin six months ago when the ailing leader resigned in mid-term.

Labor's bill and two similar proposals were sent to the Knesset's Law Committee, which is expected to start work next week on choosing a date for elections this summer or early fall. The bills, which are likely to be combined into one proposal by the committee, must pass three more votes on the Knesset floor before becoming law.

An obviously jubilant Shimon Peres, Labor's leader, embraced his deputy, Moshe Shahal, when the vote became known. Later Peres said on television, "The results were better than I expected."

Estes implicates LBJ

DALLAS — Convicted swindler Billie Sol Estes told a grand jury that Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the 1961 murder of a federal official who could have tied the late president to Estes' illegal activities, according to anonymous sources quoted by two newspapers today.

Two former Johnson associates denied the charges, and one of them branded Estes a publicity-seeking "pathological liar." A former aide to Johnson's widow said the charges were "scurrilous," and the sources stressed that Estes' secret testimony Tuesday had not been verified by other evidence.

The reports were published in today's editions of the Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald. The Bryan-College Station Eagle also published a copyright report on Estes' grand jury testimony in today's editions.

Jet door opens in midflight

DENVER — In the third mishap involving a Continental Airlines jet in as many days, a malfunctioning handle allowed a plane's rear stairway door to pop open in midflight, forcing an emergency landing, an airline official said.

The Boeing 727 jet carrying 152 people landed safely Thursday at Stapleton International Airport.

There was no danger of decompression because the inner door of the jetliner remained sealed, said Mike Cinelli, Continental's manager of public relations in Houston.

The plane, Flight 81 from Chicago to San Francisco, was about an hour outside Denver when a warning light in the cockpit indicated that the outer stairway door was open, he said.

A flight attendant looked through the window of the inner rear door and confirmed the outer door was open about a foot.

Highs Saturday lower 50s Panhandle to mid 60s southeast to upper 70s Big Bend valleys.

Spring brings snowfall

A spring storm over the southern Plains lingered today in parts of Texas and Oklahoma, spitting rain and large hailstones and spreading snow over parts of Colorado, New Mexico and western Kansas.

At 1 a.m. EST today, the heaviest rainfall was 1.9 inches at Fort Sill, Okla., while 16 inches of snow was expected in the Colorado Rockies and from 2 to 4 inches in the Arkansas River Valley.

A storm warning was issued for southern Colorado, a severe thunderstorm watch for central and southwest Texas and travelers' advisories for the mountains and plains of New Mexico due to blowing and drifting snow.

Hailstones the size of golf balls pounded Geronimo, Okla., and Coleman, Texas, Thursday evening, piling up to 4 inches deep at places.

Denver was covered with 3 inches of new snow by 1 a.m. EST and stockmen's advisories were posted for the eastern plains of Colorado and western Kansas.

Meanwhile, light snow fell across much of Ohio and West Virginia, lower Michigan, western Pennsylvania and western New York.

Strong winds blew across the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley, with gale warnings in effect for Lake Erie.

Today's forecast predicted snow from the central Rockies to the Texas Panhandle and rain and thunderstorms over much of the southern half of the Plains and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Light snow or snow showers were expected to linger over the upper Ohio Valley and across much of New England today.

The Pacific Northwest and California anticipated rain.

Temperatures were expected to remain below 52 from the Dakotas to New England, dipping into the 30s in the lower Great Lakes region and northern New England.

Jobless figures reflect normalcy

Signs of resurgence in the oil patch are reflected in a pattern of falling unemployment levels and rising numbers in the workforce. Also mirrored in the jobless statistics is leveling of a workforce imbalance created in the last two years. Both indicators are good signs.

Joe Wallis, manager of the Big Spring Texas Employment Commission office, could point to no one source for the most recent month of labor statistics which saw unemployment drop 1.5 percent — a dramatic decrease. He did note, though, what he felt was an indication that "the oil industry has picked up a little."

There are signs that oil field workers, put out of work by stacked rigs that followed an oil patch boom, are slowly but steadily returning to work. There are signs, too, of a leveling off of the number of oil field hands who are in the local job market: In many cases oil field workers tend to gravitate to where the jobs are. And there are positive indications of drillers and operators beginning to seek out crews for work.

What logically must follow a "boom" period is an unsettling shake out in the labor force. The transition from what was in many cases glorious excess is necessarily a painful one. But there are signs that that process is being completed, that the cycle is spent, and that a stable environment is returning.

A clean sweep

In a windy city like ours, the problem of litter is a major one. Springtime blasts that whistle in door frames, sing across awnings and roofs and undo the most meticulous hairdos necessary play havoc with alleyway trash cans. Unsecured paper and garbage is gone with the wind, to become impaled on a shrub or post, flapping as mute evidence of a litter problem.

Cleaning up Big Spring won't be an easy chore. The same winds that whip litter drive sand particles into house paint, eroding the pretty facade much more quickly than in other environs.

But that's not to say the city can't come to grips with the problem. A proposal now before the Chamber would utilize youth labor for summer work to mount a beautify Big Spring effort. For minimal investment, residents can spruce up — and provide pocket money to a teen-age in the process. We hope details can be ironed out to green light this program. It can give the community a spirit of pulling together for the common good. We can make Big Spring shine.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, March 23, the 83rd day of 1984. There are 283 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On March 23, 1775, in a speech at a provincial convention in Virginia, statesman Patrick Henry made a plea for American freedom from Britain, saying "Give me liberty, or give me death."

On this date:
In 1823, the 17th vice president of the United States, Schuyler Colfax, was born in New York.

In 1857, cooking expert Fannie Farmer was born in Boston.

In 1906, the late actress Joan Crawford was born in San Antonio.

In 1933, the German Reichstag granted Adolf Hitler dictatorial powers.

And in 1942, the United States began moving Japanese-Americans from their West Coast homes to inland camps.

Ten years ago: Eight people were killed and a dozen others injured when a gasoline can was ignited and thrown into a crowded bar in Allentown, Pa.

Five years ago: The Labor Department reported that inflation the previous month was running at an annual rate of nearly 15.5 percent — the highest in 4½ years.

One year ago: Dr. Barney Clark died at the University of Utah Medical Center on his 112th day with the world's first permanent artificial heart. He was 62.

Today's Birthdays: Comedian Marty Allen is 62 years old. Former Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson is 46. And basketball star Moses Malone is 29.

Thought for Today: "There is no more miserable human being than one in whom nothing is habitual but indecision." — William James, American psychologist and philosopher (1842-1910).

Russians run loose in U.S. candy store

WASHINGTON — Like sticky-fingered kids turned loose in a candy store, the Soviets are looting the West of its high technology. They are using the information to develop sophisticated weapons and modernize their industrial plants. Yet the House of Representatives and the business community seem determined to encourage this high-tech drain.

U.S. officials believe that more than 150 Soviet weapons systems contain technology derived from Western sources. One secret Pentagon report lists two dozen methods the Soviets have used to obtain this material. They range from legal purchase to outright theft.

The report, seen by my associates Michael Binstein and Dale Van Atta, mentions 14 specific areas where U.S. technology has helped the Soviets "to develop new generations of smart weapons, to dramatically improve their airlift capability, to make their nuclear weapons more accurate and to enhance their command and control with better computers and communications."

Glomming onto Western high-tech material is a booming industry in the Soviet Union. U.S. officials estimate the Kremlin has 20,000 people engaged in acquiring and analyzing Western-produced systems. Most of the 135 Soviet citizens kicked out of 21 nations last year were trying to obtain high-tech secrets.

The most effective way to staunch the hemorrhage of vital technology to the Soviets would be to revamp and strengthen the Export Administration Act, which expired last year. Instead, the House has passed a poorly crafted bill sponsored by Rep. Don Bonker, D-Wash., which would seriously weaken U.S. export controls.

A basic flaw in the Bonker legislation is that it blithely presumes that COCOM, the Paris-based Coordinating Committee of NATO members, has been doing a good job of controlling high-tech exports to the Soviet bloc. It hasn't.

One of Bonker's colleagues, Rep. Toby Roth, R-Wis., has pointed out this weakness in the legislation, which is now in Senate-House conference. Roth notes that there's not a single report or survey claiming that our European and Japanese allies are effectively policing either their own technology exports or re-exports of U.S. goods.

Quite the contrary; in fact one of the few studies on the subject, by the Atlantic Institute in Paris, cites the existence of "a thriving and lucrative business based on surreptitious sale of strategic and military technology to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe." The report's author was told by a U.S. customs agent in Europe: "Everything I touch turns to gold. Every lead uncovers illegal sales."

The report concludes ominously: "In view of the...law enforcement efforts by certain COCOM countries, the cases that are detected and investigated may represent only the 'tip of the iceberg'..."

Roth believes there are simply too many items classified as "Militarily Critical Technologies" to be controlled. Instead of presenting a reasonable list of these critical items, the Pentagon labored and brought forth a mountainous, 700-page volume. The result is that the Customs Service and Commerce Department waste valuable time and effort going after low-grade, obsolescent computers when they could be watching for highly sensitive items.

The CIA has a list of the items the Soviets want most — the gourmet products in the high-tech supermarket instead of the bottles of ketchup. Recognizing the need for selectivity, Roth and his allies are trying to put through an amendment narrowing the list of controlled exports in return for stricter enforcement. But business interests are trying to kill the amendment, hoping to get rid of many existing controls on grounds that they're ineffective.

CITIZENS WATCH: Last year, I reported the government's efforts to cut off subsidies to an impoverished rural clinic in Tierra Amarillo, N.M. — and to collect on past loans that had traditionally been written off. The problem was brought to me by Carol Horowitz, the determined clinic manager. The law has now been changed, leaving the subsidies intact, and the clinic will be able to stay open.

And Ms. Horowitz was recently one of a dozen persons invited to Washington to review the National Health Service Corps and suggest improvements in its operation.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger assured the nation's governors last month that he wouldn't trade U.S. military hardware for Soviet military hardware. Then he added slyly that he also wouldn't trade troops with the Soviets Union because "we wouldn't want all those Russian soldiers running around the United States."

• Mysterious California Dept.: Bob Valenzuela named his San Francisco bookstore "Books for the Price of a Politician." He routinely dresses up his window with pictures of past and present pols. "I like to have fun with politicians," he explained. "We take it all too seriously." He closes his store, he said, on "most holidays" — including Richard Nixon's birthday.

Billy Graham

Mom's worried about kid's wiggle

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I get so embarrassed at our 4-year-old daughter in church. She wiggles all the time, draws, lies down on the pew, and never pays any attention to the sermon or anything. My husband says it is normal and that I worry only because I never have been around children before, but I don't want her to get into a bad habit. Should I forget it and let her do what she wants? — Mrs. N.N.

DEAR MRS. N.N.: I recall a great preacher saying once, "Children have a built-in wiggle!" I wouldn't say "Forget it, and let her do what she wants," because you need to teach her to act properly so she doesn't disturb others. You also want to teach her to respect the Word of God and the church. But don't be overly embarrassed because she seems to pay little attention; most parents know that a child this young has a short attention span and will not understand much of what goes on in church. You want church to be a pleasant experience for her, and (within limits) you should not worry too much about this.

Don't misunderstand me, however. Although a 30-minute sermon may be too much for a young child to absorb, that does not mean your daughter cannot learn about God and his love for her.

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by the Tribune Company Syndicate.

Art Buchwald

Scrooge explains it all

"Mr. Scrooge, thank you for appearing in front of the committee in regard to the confirmation of Her Majesty's Minister of Justice. We would like you to clear up some questions, please. When did you first get to know the nominee?"

"I never really did know the nominee personally, though I became a big admirer of his after he said there were no hungry people in England."

"Didn't you buy his house in Devonshire?"

"No, my employee Bob Cratchit bought his house in Devonshire."

"How did that come about?"

"Well, to the best of my recollection, someone in the Prime Minister's office contacted me and said the nominee had a house for sale in Devonshire and asked if I wanted to buy it. The home had been on the market for 20 months, and the Minister of Justice had already bought a house in Piccadilly. He was carrying two heavy mortgages, which was quite a burden, although the Marley Savings and Loan people were not pressing him for the money."

"Didn't that strike you as strange?"

"Not really. Banks never like to press someone who works that closely with the Prime Minister."

"So tell us what transpired, Mr. Scrooge."

"I didn't want the house myself, so I arranged for Cratchit to purchase it."

"Did your employee Bob Cratchit have the money to buy the house in Devonshire?"

"No, my Lord, I loaned him 70,000 pounds for a down payment and then arranged with the Marley Savings & Loan Company for a mortgage for Cratchit of 240,000 quid."

"At what interest?"

"I believe it was at 11 percent."

"Wasn't that a very low interest rate for a mortgage at that time?"

"Yes, my Lord, but I knew Cratchit had his heart set on the house, and I thought this would be a nice way to make up to him for what I had done to him in Christmases past."

"So then, Mr. Scrooge, Cratchit moved in the Devonshire house."

"No, he sold it nine months later at a loss."

"Why did he sell it?"

"I'm not sure. I believe Mrs. Cratchit didn't like the kitchen."

"When Cratchit sold the house at a loss after you went to all the trouble of loaning him the down payment, and arranging a very favorable mortgage, didn't you become very angry?"

"No, Bob's a very good employee and I value his services highly. If he wanted to sell the house at a loss that was his business."

"What about the 70,000 pounds you advanced Cratchit as a down payment?"

"I forgave the loan."

"Mr. Scrooge, our records show that you are a man not known to throw money away. Why would you forgive a 70,000 pound loan to a lowly employee?"

"The information you have on my frugality is not correct. Over the years I have become the victim of a bad press. The reason I forgave the loan was Cratchit has a crippled son, Tiny Tim, and the burden of paying it back would only have added to his worries."

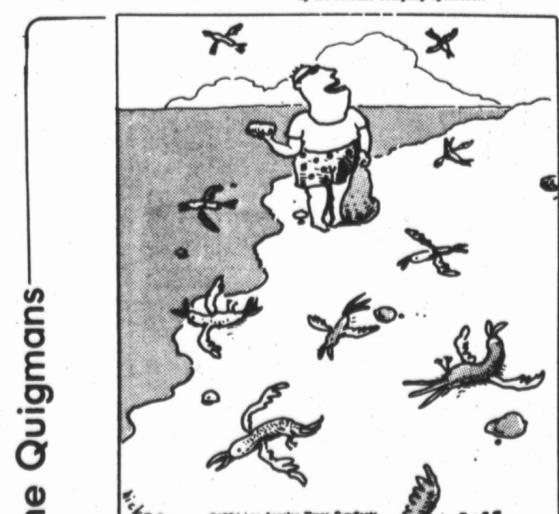

"It's very strange you would go to all this trouble to bail out someone in the Prime Minister's office whom you didn't even know. Did your appointment as Her Majesty's Undersecretary of Commerce have anything to do with your intervention in buying the Minister of Justice nominee's house?"

"Bah, humbug. I was selected for that position on my expertise as a merchant. If I thought helping someone high in the Prime Minister's office out of a financial fix would have anything to do with my appointment, I would have never taken the job."

"Thank you, Mr. Scrooge. Oh, one more question. Can you tell us if you ever saw the former Prime Minister's briefing book?"

Dr. Donohue
Sleep
disturbances

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am writing this letter for an 86-year-old friend who is positive you will have the correct answer! She has shortness of breath and general weakness. She has nightly sweats and they are so severe she changes her nightclothes frequently during the night and puts off getting to bed at night because of this problem. She eats very sensibly. She hopes you will be able to help her, so do I! — R.M.V.

Our mutual friend is really putting the pressure on me. I'd tell her, first of all, that sweating on the chest and upper body normally increases during sleep. That's to make up for the decreased urine production at that time. But her sweating does seem to be inordinate as you describe it.

What I have to say next about environmental factors, as banal as it may sound, often lies behind such perspiration. I mean things like too many blankets or a room too hot or too humid. A moist environment inhibits the natural evaporation of moisture from the skin. I certainly hope her problem lends itself to such a simple explanation and correction. If it doesn't, then we have to consider some of the illnesses that can be associated with the night-sweat problem.

There are illnesses in which such perspiration is a prominent feature — a smoldering infection or diseases like Hodgkin's, Cushing's or pheochromocytoma. Nerve disorders can play a role, as can emphysema; or an overactive thyroid gland can produce such sweating. Even if she had a degree of heart failure, that could increase her tendency to sweat at night or get short of breath. Perhaps of more immediate concern might be some of the medications she is taking. Many can cause such symptoms.

I am flattered by this elderly reader's confidence, but I would like to see her examined firsthand by her own physician. I hope you can convince her to have this done. Even if

Dear Abby

Man lies about his age

DEAR ABBY: I'm confused. I am a 22-year-old woman engaged to be married, but here is the problem:

When we met, he said he was 37. A few months later he confessed that he was 42. A month ago, when he asked me to marry him, I hesitated because of the 20-year difference in our ages, but I decided to marry him anyway because I really cared for him.

Yesterday I found out his real age: He's 49 — soon to be 50!

What should I do?

WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: The important issue here is not so much his "real" age, as his real character. He's not honest. If he gets to 55, sell.

Local artists to participate in Stroud workshop, show

Art students of Virginia Whitten will participate in an art workshop with artist Donald D. Stroud and an open house and art show, Friday through Sunday. Stroud will present three art demonstrations for the students, Friday and Saturday. He also will judge their works entered in Sunday's show.

The public is invited to attend the open house and showing at the home of Londa Henry, 2508 Alledale, from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday.

Stroud is a professor of art and chairperson of the Creative Arts Department at South Plains College in Levelland. He received bachelor's and master's degrees in art from Texas Tech University.

Stroud has done commercial art work in Texas for five years and taught at Monterrey High School in Lubbock four years. His style of painting is quasi-realistic. Stroud has show paintings in many Southwest shows and his paintings are in numerous private collections. He was commissioned to do a portrait sculpture of Dr. John Hogan for Malone-Hogan Hospital, which was completed in 1977.

A $100 donation will be given to the Rainbow Project. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Walter Ross, 2600 Crestline, April 3.

Guests introduced to ABWA

Members lit 24 candles depicting the advantages of American Business Women's Association membership at the Scenic Chapter's Enrollment Event, at the Chamber of Commerce board room, March 11.

Debbie Salazar, 1983 Woman of the Year, presented a brief history of ABWA. She mentioned that the chapter has presented $900 in student scholarships this year.

Guests were Geri Farmer, Beverly Wilkerson, Judith Gray and Gina Salazar. Connie Gatliff and Dolores LeVier had perfect memberships last year. The chapter welcomed Gina Salazar and Paula Bayes as new members of the chapter.

NCAA Tourney Roundup

Hoosiers trip 'Heels

By The Associated Press
The Indiana Hoosiers, unranked and an underdog, once again found a Knight in shining armor. And that was enough to pierce the title dreams of No. 1 North Carolina.

Freshman Steve Alford scored 27 points as Indiana, playing the tough man-to-man defense synonymous with Coach Bobby Knight, eliminated the Tar Heels 72-68 Thursday night in an NCAA East Regional semifinal game in Atlanta.

Indiana led 59-47 with 5:36 remaining before missing four straight front ends of one-and-one free-throw opportunities. North Carolina took advantage and pulled within two before Alford took over and sunk six foul shots and Mike Gioni added two more with five seconds left to preserve the victory.

"Our free throw shooting is usually a key to our winning," Alford said. "I think tomorrow we'll be working on it."

The triumph sends Indiana, 22-8, into the East final Saturday against unranked Virginia, which surprised No. 18 Syracuse 63-55 in the opening semifinal game. The winner advances to the Final Four in Seattle.

In the Midwest Regional semifinals Thursday night in Lexington, Ky., sixth-ranked Illinois stopped No. 11 Maryland 72-70 and then No. 3 Kentucky downed Louisville 72-67. Illinois and Kentucky play Saturday for the Midwest crown.

The Midwest and West Regionals in St. Louis, fifth-ranked Houston, 29-4, takes on No. 16 Memphis State, 26-6, and then No. 4 DePaul, 27-2, plays No. 19 Wake Forest, 22-8.

In the West games in Los Angeles, Dayton, 20-10, goes against No. 15 Washington, 24-6, while second-ranked Georgetown, 30-3, tangles with No. 13 Nevada-Las Vegas, 29-5.

"I think that as is often the case when things get tight, the big lead was crucial to our win," said Knight, whose team was meeting North Carolina for the first time since beating the Tar Heels in the 1981 NCAA championship game.

"The pressure really gets tough when you start missing free throws down the stretch," he said.

North Carolina, which finished at 28-3, offered no excuses.

"We just had trouble getting things going on offense and they made their shots," said All-American Sam Perkins, who led North Carolina with 26 points.

Said the Tar Heels' other All-American, Michael Jordan, who scored just 13 before fouling out with 1:11 left: "Things just didn't seem to go our way."

And North Carolina Coach Dean Smith said his team did not underrate the unranked Hoosiers.

CELEBRATION — Indiana's coach Bobby Knight and the Indiana bench celebrate after their 72-68 victory over North Carolina in the NCAA East Regional semifinals at the Omni in Atlanta.

BSHS thinclads set for Monahans, LISD relays

The Big Spring High School boys and girls track teams will be venturing off in different directions this weekend with the Steers competing in the Sandhill Relays in Monahans and the Lady Steers going to the Lubbock ISD Invitational.

Teams entered at the two-day Sandhill Relays are 4-A members Abilene High, Midland, Midland Lee, Odessa, Permian, San Angelo Central as well as Big Spring plus, Lubbock Monterey and Amarillo Tascosa.

Coach Randy Britton's Steers are counting on points from discus throwers Jimmy Cearley and Randy Lamb who both tossed season bests last week at the ABC Relays.

Dale Crenshaw could score some points in the 300 hurdles. Last week he ran a season best of 41.4. The Steers will be trying to redeem themselves from a dismal showing in the 1600 relay last week.

They clocked a 3:44 after having run a 3:33 the week before. Britton says his team is capable of a 3:25 if they run with consistency.

In Lubbock

As usual the Lady Steers are expected to score points in the relays, providing they can get the baton around the track. Last week at the ABC Relays they were disqualified in the 800 relay, after having the best time going into the meet (1:45.5).

Big Spring will also be the favorite in the 400 relay (48.97) and Pam Palmer and Latresa Cork are counted on for points in the sprints.

Big Spring will field a new-look 1600 relay with the foursome of Trish Clemons, Tina Smith, Teresa Pruitt and Aretha Cork trying to improve on 4:10.6 time.

Other Lady Steers hopefuls are Connie Swinney in the 100 hurdles and Tressa Smith and Palmer in the long jump.

Field events and running prelims get underway at 10 a.m. while finals start at 2:15 p.m.

Hawks reschedule HJC for Saturday, Sunday

With their backs, "definitely against the wall," according to coach Bill Griffin, the Howard College Hawks will attempt to get back on a winning track when they host Hill Junior College in three Region V games beginning Saturday at Hawk Field at 2 p.m. Sunday's contest is a doubleheader and begins at 1 p.m.

"We've got turn things around starting with Hill," said Griffin of the series that was pushed back until Saturday and Sunday. The three game set was supposed to start Friday afternoon, but unstable weather conditions prevailed. Because of the postponement, Howard's regularly scheduled contest against powerful Central Arizona on Sunday has been cancelled.

When Griffin speaks about the Hawks needing a good series he means it. Howard went to Waco last week and played McClennan Community College.

The Hawks came back with a 2-4 Region

V slate after losing three good leads to the Highlanders.

With MCC sitting at 6-0, HC's task is made even more important because the Hawks will face the Highlanders again. HC still has to face last year's second place finisher, Ranger. After HC's mark comes Northwood at 1-2 and Hill at 0-3. Overall the Hawks are 14-11.

"We play 24 conference games, so there is still a lot of baseball left, but we have to start making things happen," said Griffin.

Against MCC the Hawks didn't. "We didn't make any bad mistakes, but the ones we made just came at inopportune times. And we hit pretty well, but didn't have men on base when we did," he added.

Griffin said he will send Steve Carrasco (3-1) to the mound in Saturday's opener while Chuck Ashcraft (4-1) will "definitely throw," one of Sunday's games.

Three meets fill out area track slate

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Area track is in full gear with Grady, Klondike and Colorado City hosting meets Saturday.

The Grady Wildcat Relays will feature 28 teams in the boys and girls division. Blackwell, Borden County, Dawson, Hermleigh, Ira, Loop and Paint Creek will be at the meet. Other teams participating will be Southland, Three Way, Union, Wellman, Westbrook, Whitharral and Grady.

Ira is back to defend its championship in the boys division. Dawson is also expected to be in the title hunt.

Grady is expecting points from 1600 and 3200 meter runner Tarry Farrington who set a school record in the 3200 last week with a time of 11:06.88. Jay Billingly is a hopeful in the hurdle races, having qualified for regional last season. Sprinter Mike Mitchell is a good bet in the 100 meters.

For the Grady girls Shanna Hale is expected to be the top point-getter Saturday. Hale will be running the 1600, 3200 and long jumping. She has a best of 15-5 in the long jump. Sister Brenna could add points in the high jump.

Field events get underway at 9 a.m. while running prelims start at 10:15 a.m. Finals begin at 2 p.m.

Klondike Relays Forsan, Sands, Wink, Robert Lee and host school Klondike will hook up in the Klondike Cougar Relays.

Robert Lee and Sands will be considered the favorites in the girls division, according to Klondike coach Joey McQueen. Klondike's hopes lies with high jumper Patti Harris, 800 meter runner Jacklyn Nance and 1600 meter runner Teri Cave.

Harris has a best of 4-10 in the high jump while Nance has recorded a 2:51.0 in the 800 and Cave a 6:26.0 in her specialty.

Robert Lee is also the favorite in the boys division while Klondike is strong in both relays.

The Cougars have recorded a 3:38.5 in the 1600 relay and a 45.8 in the 400 relay. Scott Runge is expected to score points in the 300 hurdles (41.2) while Ricky Webb (53.1) and Forsan's Mitch Hays (54.0) will be in the running in the 400.

Hays is the favorite in the long jump with a best of 21 feet. Klondike's Tim Cope has jumped 19-1. Todd East of Forsan is a good bet in the high jump with a best of 6-2.

Field events begin at 9 a.m. while prelims start at 11:30 a.m. and finals getting underway at 2:30 p.m.

Lone Wolf Relays

Slaton will be the clear cut favorite in the boys division of the Lone Wolf Relays, which includes Post, Coahoma, Brownfield, Loraine and Colorado City. Slaton was a deciding winner of the West Texas Relays in Odessa two weeks ago.

Host Colorado City should give the Tigers a run for their money, as the Wolves have a good sprint relay (44.63) and 1600 relay (3:31.60).

C-City hurdler Dennis Rivera should give a host of fine Slaton hurdlers a run for the medals in both the 110 and 300. Sprinters Kevin Norman, Joey Ritchey and 800 meter runner Don Randle add depth to the Wolves in the running events.

A good race will be the 1600 meters with Coahoma's Donald Ewing, and Colorado City's Wylie Dakan and Jay Claxton being at the head of the list. Claxton's 4:43.6 leads the way.

Burnett of Coahoma and Armando Rivera of C-City should score points in the pole vault while Coahoma's Jeff Dever and Colorado City's Fred Dakan are hopefuls in the shot put.

Colorado City, Post, Slaton, Bronte and Loraine are entered in the girls division.

C-City's hopes lies with sprinter Sandra Williams. Williams is undefeated this season. See area meets, pg. 2B

Tracksters of The Week

Discus throwers make up the majority of this week's Tracksters of the Week at BSHS. Discus throwers Jimmy Cearley and Randy Lamb scored all the Steers' points last week at the ABC Relays.

Both seniors unleashed season-bests to finish third and fourth. Cearley tossed the platter 149-5 while Lamb got off a throw of 140-0.

Sophomore Milly Correa was singled out for being a hard worker in the discus according to her coaches. She now has reached the 80-foot barrier through hard work and dedication. According to her coaches, she will be a top notch field event competitor as she gains some strength and experience.

Senior Tina Smith has been a vital cog in the Lady Steers' success in the relays this season with her leadership and talent.

Last week at the ABC Relays she turned in a 62.74 on her leg on the 1600 relay. Her second leg time of the winning 400 relay was 12.82 and she clocked a 25.58 for her split on the 800 relay team which was disqualified in the prelims.

Mustangs stampede Steers

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steers were shackled with one hit, a homerun by Jay Pirkle, and were guilty of eight errors in losing a big, 25-2 decision here Thursday to the Andrews Mustangs in a non-district baseball game.

Big Spring is now 6-12 for the year and gets back into 4-A competition Saturday when Cooper comes calling for a 2 p.m. contest.

Besides Pirkle's round tripper, Robert Porras also scored by way of a walk to Jerry Anderson. The Steers did get on base four times through free rides and struck out five times.

Pirkle suffered the loss in going most of the way. Mike Lueschner and Randy Hayworth also saw some time on the mound.

The trio was battered for 16 hits, issued 12 walks, and gave up three homeruns while striking out three Mustangs. Four of the walks and four of the errors led directly to Andrews runs.

SWL turns back Santa Clara in NIT tourney

Southwestern Louisiana's basketball team played taller than expected against Santa Clara in the National Invitation Tournament.

"We knew that getting on the boards was going to be very important for us against such a big team and we hit the boards hard," said Graylin Warner after leading the Ragin' Cajuns to a 97-76 rout of Santa Clara in a quarterfinal game Thursday night.

Overall, the Cajuns outperformed the bigger Broncos 46-26, and it paid off in a lot of second and third shots. Warner was their leading scorer with 22 points.

"We've been rebounding well all year, but we surely didn't do it tonight," said Santa Clara Coach Carroll Williams. "I don't offer any excuses. Santa Clara was quick, well organized and we just ran into a buzz saw."

The victory sent the Cajuns into the NIT semifinals Monday night at Madison Square Garden in New York. Michigan also gained a semifinal berth with a 63-62 victory Thursday over Xavier.

The other two semifinalists will be determined tonight when Notre Dame plays at Pittsburgh and Tennessee visits Virginia Tech.

Led by Warner, all five Southwestern Louisiana starters scored in double figures. Warner scored 14 of his points in the first half and USL, 23-8, went ahead for good with 15:12 left before halftime. At intermission, the Ragin' Cajuns led 46-26.

USL's Dion Brown set the tone of the Ragin' Cajun victory.

GENE GAGE
...youth minister at Hillcrest Baptist

Gage ministers to youth

By RHONDA WITT
Church Editor
Due to Gene Gage 12 years of involvement with youth, he believes young people need a strong and mature role model. That is why he became a youth minister. He is youth minister at Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Before entering the ministry, Gage owned a contracting business. "I surrendered to the ministry at 27 even though I had a successful contracting business, because I felt that God wanted me to become a full-time in the area of ministry."

The example his grandparents and college friends set for him influenced his interest in the ministry. "My grandfather was consistent in his faith as a Christian for over 50 years. My grandmother was the type that exhibited her Christianity by helping other people," he said. "For example, she took care of a family that had spinal meningitis and didn't worry about catching it even though it was contagious."

The youth department at Hillcrest has about 60 people in it. It is designed to involve children in practical mission trips, Gage said. "For example, we are going to take a summer mission trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. to an hispanic church."

The youth program also is designed to promote local community involvement — such as working in hospitals and nursing homes — and to deepen relationships with Christ through Bible study and retreats.

However, Gage's primary goal in his ministry is to help each youth to become more Christ-like and to live a full and abundant Christian life, he says.

Gage's personal goals include pursuing his doctorate and eventually teaching overseas in a seminary. "Originally, my wife and I volunteered for foreign missions and surrendered to the services of starting new churches, but we have to wait until I get some church experience."

Gage's wife, Rhonda, is a nutritionist for Texas coordinating 17 counties. "She chose nutrition in order to help me in the foreign mission field. We work together in doing seminars in health and weight."

Gage attended Cameron College in Lawton, Okla., and Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. He was education minister at Western Hill Baptist Church in Fort Worth. Gage enjoys hiking, reading and camping.

The Gages have two children, Todd, 14, and Heather, 11. They live in Midland and will move to Big Spring this summer.

The Gages moved to West Texas from Fort Worth. "We had heard people in West Texas were careful to newcomers," Gage said, "but we found the opposite to be true. We've found people to be very friendly and warm out here."

Ensemble performs at concert Sunday

The Hillcrest Baptist Church brass and woodwind ensemble will present a concert at the church, 2000 FM 700, at 7 p.m., Sunday. The group includes youth and adult members of the church. Randy Anderson, church music director, will conduct the concert. The public is invited. A nursery will be provided.

By RHONDA WITT
Anna Smith re-elected state president

Anna Smith was re-elected state president of the Texas Women of the Church of God during the group's 12th annual convention in Nacogdoches, March 15-17. Six delegates from the First Church of God attended the convention. "The Walk is Part of the Gift" was the convention's theme. During the convention, a tour of Miller's Crossing was conducted. Speakers were the Rev. June Strickland, pastor of Ira Church of God, and Ruby Smith of Eastland.

The 1985 convention will be in Kerrville, while the 1986 convention will be in Odessa.

THE REV. MAX BROWNING
...leads revival

Revival announced

The Rev. Max Browning, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Monahans, will lead a revival at North Birdwell United Methodist Church at 7 p.m., March 25-29. A covered dish supper will be at 6 p.m., Sunday. Nursery will be provided. The public is invited.

Browning graduated from McMurray College in Abilene and Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. He is presently working on a doctorate of ministry program at the San Francisco Theology Seminary.

Browning has served churches in Colorado City, Westbrook, Hawley, Tingali, Ga., Pampa, Shallowater, Van Horn and El Paso.

Cooking class planned

Christ Fellowship Church is sponsoring a singles cooking school beginning March 30. Enrollment is limited. There is no charge for the class. For information call 263-3168.

Movie to be shown

The film, "I Beheld His Glory", will be shown at 7:30 p.m., March 24 at the Upper Room, 313 Rannels. The public is invited. Admission is free. The film relates the events of Christ's passion, as seen through the eyes of a Roman centurion named Cornelius.

Hennings honored at farewell coffee Sunday

Bill and Joy Henning will be honored with a farewell coffee in the First Presbyterian Church parlor from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday. The Hennings will leave next week to move to their new home in Little Rock, Ark. Henning will assume the duties of Executive Presbyter of Arkansas Presbytery beginning April 1.

Music evangelists preach

Jim and Debbie Grimes, music evangelists, will be at Airport Baptist Church 1208 Frazier, at 7 p.m., Sunday. A nursery will be provided. The public is invited. The Grimes will lead a revival at Airport Baptist Church the week of May 6.

Trustees plan barbecue

The trustees of Baker Chapel A.M.E. Church will sponsor a barbecue beginning at 11 a.m., Saturday. The menu includes barbecue beef, ribs and chicken. Plates will sell for $4.50 each. Meat can be purchased for $6 per pound. Dinners can be bought at the church, located at 911 N. Lancaster, or by calling 267-7158. In some instances, deliveries will be made.

Warnke visits March 31

Mike Warnke, stand-up comedian and evangelist/humorist, will be telling about his life as a hippie, drug addict/pusher, Vietnam Marine medic and satanist priest at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 7:30 p.m., March 31. The public is invited. The event will be interpreted for the deaf.

Warnke is being sponsored by local businessmen "in an effort to reach out to the whole community," according to Randy Gee, coordinator.

BOB SMITH

SPRING FEVER — Bao Bao, a panda bear at the Berlin Zoo, rolls around in his cage in apparent joy over the warm spring days that have comforted the German city this week. Bao Bao is the most popular attraction at the world famous zoo.

School sued for sexual harassment

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Eight women have filed a $3 million lawsuit against the William Mitchell College of Law, contending they were the victims of sexual harassment while working at the St. Paul school.

The suit, filed Thursday in Hennepin County District Court in Minneapolis, also names as defendants some of the school's top officials.

It listed 46 instances over two years in which the women allegedly were touched sexually or subjected to suggestive remarks, and listed 19 instances of alleged retaliation against women who resisted advances.

Most of the alleged cases of touching and lewd comments involve Geoffrey W.

Peters, who resigned as president and dean of the college last November after 11 women filed a sex discrimination complaint with the Minnesota Human Rights Department.

When telephoned at home today for comment, Peters' wife said he was not in. However, he has repeatedly denied the allegations of sexual harassment. He severed his last ties with the law school two weeks ago by resigning as a tenured professor, repaying a second mortgage the school had obtained for him on his St. Paul home and accepting $39,300 in pay and benefits remaining on his contract.

Besides the college itself, the suit names as defendants Geoffrey W. Peters, former dean and president; Michael Carlson, the college's treasurer and comptroller; Peter Hamilton, a professor at the school; and the St. Paul law firm of Oppenheimer, Wolff, Foster, Shepard & Donnelly, which represents the college's board of trustees.

Associate Dean Robert Oliphant also was named, but he was not accused of sexual harassment. He allegedly knew that the women were being harassed but did not stop it.

Peter Dahlen, public relations director at William Mitchell, said Thursday the college would not comment on the suit.

Carlson didn't return phone calls seeking comment and Hamilton's secretary said he wouldn't comment. Oliphant was not at his home or office this morning, and a secretary answering the phone at the law firm said no one who could comment was in.

The suit, filed by seven current or former employees of the college, also alleges Peters frequently suggested that the women's careers would advance if they cooperated sexually.

The suit also alleges that the Oppenheimer law firm, which was hired by the college to investigate the women's discrimination complaint, reneged on an agreement to keep the women's names confidential in exchange for information about their allegations.

Last fall, the school's attorney, Thomas Kane, a partner in the Oppenheimer firm, said his investigation determined that the women's complaints were "unfounded." But neither Kane nor any school officials would say what led them to that conclusion.

After they complained, the suit contends, some women lost their jobs and others were demoted, harassed or threatened with public humiliation.
