How's that? Correction

Q. Yesterday in How's That you said that the three starting middle linebackers for the Dallas Cowboys included Chuck Howley. Shouldn't that have read Lee Roy Jordan?

A. Right. The Cowboys have only had three starters at that position, and they are Jerry Tubbs, Lee Roy Jordan and Bob Breunig.

Big Spring and surrounding area has a 90 percent chance of continued rain this afternoon. Highs today will reach only the lower 50s. Look for northeasterly winds, 10 to 20 miles per hour. Tonight, the area has an 80 percent chance of rain. Lows will fall into the lower 40s with northeasterly winds, 10 to 15 miles per hour. On Wednesday the forecast is calling for a 60 percent chance of rain and lows in the low 50s.

Jobless rate down from '83

County unemployment remains steady at 4.5 percent

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The local jobless rate for September is half the level of one year ago and the economy has added almost 1,000 jobs in 12 months, according to labor figures for Howard County released by the Texas Employment Commission here today.

The county unemployment rate for September was 4.5 percent, the same rate as for August.

However, the rate was significantly lower than September 1983, when unemployment was 8.8 percent, higher than the state rate of 8.4 percent at that time.

This September's rate is almost a percentage point under the statewide jobless figure of 5.6 percent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"I don't have a reason for it (the increase in the local labor force)," John Eckley, office supervisor for the Big Spring TEC office said today. "I know it doesn't seem to make sense" in light of other statistics indicating a decrease in Howard County's population. "A lot of housing has gone vacant in the last year," he said.

"As far as any particular reason (why the labor force has increased), I don't know. I would probably question the increase," Eckley said.

"Apparently, we have had a little recovery all along," Eckley said.

According to TEC figures, the total number of persons in the labor force — 17,206 — has increased only about 300 persons from last year when the labor force totaled 16,961.

The significant increase is in the number of persons employed in the county — 16,427 persons in September compared to 15,461 persons a year ago.

Those figures indicate the number of unemployed still actively job-hunting has been cut in half — 779 this September compared to 1,500 one year prior.

Eckley said he is unsure how accurately the figures released today indicate a trend in Big Spring and Howard County, which has been hit by a two-year drought. Industry officials say, however, that the oilfield business is making a steady, slow recovery.

"The Department of Labor changes the figures all around every so often," Eckley said.

A spokesman for the Bureau of Labor Statistics regional office in Dallas said that the bureau provided analytical help and funding for the development of the statistics, "but the TEC are the ones who really crunch out the figures."

A labor market analyst with the TEC office in Austin said the office arrived at the employment estimates from employee reports they received from persons employing one or more workers.

"We have to project forward to get the estimates," Diane Dobie said. "If there is a big difference from quarter to quarter, we go back and check the figures."

"These are definitely estimates. We will revise them in March," Ms. Dobie said.

According to the chief of economic analysis for the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Dallas, Nick Santangelo, the improved statewide unemployment figures indicate a "long-term improvement in the economy."

Coahoma loses only policeman

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Coahoma is a city without a police department.

Brian Jensen, mayor pro-tem of Coahoma, said that Police Chief O.D. Majors handed in his resignation Monday. Jensen had to notify the state the city no longer has a police department operating.

Sheriff A.N. Standard said his department will be "servicing" Coahoma until the city decides what it wants to do.

"I have no idea what we're going to do," Jensen said.

County commissioners approved Majors' hiring by the Howard County Sheriff's department Monday.

The City Council of Coahoma had debated earlier in the month about the possibility of eliminating the police department.

Councilmen Gary Roberts and Jerry Brockman argued that maintaining a police department was not economically feasible.

Roberts said he doesn't know whether the issue of maintaining a police department will be on the Nov. 13 agenda.

"I didn't even know that he (Majors) was going to work for the county 'til Saturday," Roberts said.

Roberts said he couldn't say whether Coahoma will have a police force or not in the future.

"We'd like to get a little feedback from the community on this," Roberts said.

Jensen said he doubts that Coahoma will maintain a police force.

"I assume we will not," Jensen said in speculating about what the council might decide.

Navy jet crashes, killing instructor

AURORA, Colo. (AP) — A Navy jet trainer crashed a mile short of the runway at Buckley Air National Guard Base here, killing the pilot, authorities said Monday.

The crash in a wildlife preserve south of the base occurred at 2:34 p.m. as the TA-4J was trying to land, said Master Sgt. Doug Stanley, a base spokesman.

Earlier, Stanley said two people were killed in the crash, but he later confirmed that there was only one dead.

The pilot, Lt. Commander Steven Lee Brandenburg, 31, of Whittier, Calif., was a flight instructor stationed at the Key West Naval Air Station, in Florida, Stanley said. Brandenburg was on a cross-country training mission at the time of the crash, Stanley said.

The TA-4J is a two-seat version of the Navy's A-4, a single-engine attack bomber built by McDonnell-Douglas, Stanley said. No bombs or weapons were

County declared top disaster area

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Department of Agriculture extended a drought disaster area on Monday to include Martin and Mitchell counties, and upgraded the status of Howard County to a primary county under the disaster declaration.

Howard County was named by the Agriculture Department on Oct. 3 as a "contiguous" county under a disaster declaration.

In the declaration issued on Monday to Gov. Mark White, farmers and ranchers in Howard and Mitchell counties will have access to low-interest loans from the Small Business Administration as well as the Farmers Home Administration.

Martin County was named as a contiguous county in the declaration given Monday, and farmers and ranchers in that counties apparently will have access only to the Farmers Home Administration low interest loans.

The SBA has been reluctant to give disaster loans to contiguous counties in disaster declarations, according to Claiborn Crain, See Relief page 2-A aboard the jet, he added. Base officials were trying to determine if the pilot had radioed in with any problems before the crash occurred, Stanley said. A board of Navy officers will conduct a full investigation into the crash.

7 implicated in assassination plot

BRIG. GEN. LUTHER CUSTODIO

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The chairwoman of an investigatory board accused an air force general and six soldiers today of plotting the assassination of opposition leader Benigno Aquino, and President Ferdinand E. Marcos ordered their immediate prosecution.

Chairwoman Corazon Agrava's 121-page report did not implicate Marcos or his chief of staff, Gen. Fabian C. Ver, 64, in the alleged conspiracy to kill Aquino. Ver, who commands the 200,000-strong armed forces, is a relative and close ally of the 67-year-old Marcos.

Another report expected to name higher officers and more soldiers was to be released Wednesday by the majority of the five-member panel. The chairwoman said she split with the other board members because they concluded Ver was one of the plotters.

But Marcos, who appointed the board, accepted the chairwoman's report during a televised ceremony as if it were that of the whole panel. He ordered immediate prosecution of Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, head of the Aviation Security Command assigned to protect Aquino, and six soldiers in a special civilian court on charges of plotting to kill Aquino.

"God knows my men and I are without guilt in this crime," said Custodio. Marcos ordered Custodio and the other six soldiers confined to quarters.

The Aug. 21, 1983, assassination of Aquino, 50, was at first blamed by Marcos and the military on alleged Communist agent Rolando Galman. It has been a rallying point for Aquino's family and opposition groups, who during a 14-month protest campaign have blamed the government and the armed forces.

In a nationwide television address, Marcos said: "Our government makes manifest to all its desire and its determination to push this case through to the final resolution."

Referring to the protests, he urged Aquino's followers to end "the campaign of intimidation and pressure that has heightened tensions, endangered so many lives and besmirched the very reputation of our republic."

Marcos said the case would be prosecuted by an ombudsman in a special court set up for trying graft and corruption charges against government employees and officials. He asked the investigatory board to assist in the prosecution, See Aquino page 2-A

Man faces deportation

HOUSTON — A 33-year-old Pakistani faces deportation after being sentenced to five years' probation on his conviction of trying to export tiny vacuum tubes which can be used as triggers for nuclear weapons.

Nazir Ahmed Vaid pleaded guilty Monday to exporting munitions without a State Department license under a plea-bargain agreement calling for dismissal of conspiracy to export munitions and lying to the government.

Dentist gets 15-year term

SANTA ANA, Calif. — A dentist has been sentenced to 15 years to life in prison for convictions of second-degree murder in the deaths of three women who had received massive doses of anesthetics in his clinic.

Dr. Tony Protopappas, 39, was ordered Monday to serve three concurrent sentences of 15 years to life. He was convicted in July in the deaths of Kim Andreassen, 23, of Huntington Beach; Cathryn Jones, 31, of Costa Mesa; and Patricia Craven, 13, of Sacramento.

School, ex-teacher sued

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A $2.5 million lawsuit against the city school system and a former teacher convicted of statutory rape for having a lesbian affair with a teen-ager charges the schools with breach of contract.

Betty Amos claims school officials had received complaints from parents about sexual relationships between Highland Heights Junior High School teacher Marlene Moore and other students, and should have protected her daughter.

Publisher faces fine, jail

LOS ANGELES — Sex magazine publisher Larry Flynt faces six months in jail or a $250 fine when he is sentenced Dec. 12 on his conviction of wearing a military decoration unlawfully.

Flynt pleaded guilty Monday in exchange for the government dropping charges of desecrating the U.S. flag and assault on a federal officer, stemming from a Nov. 17 incident when an FBI agent arrested him for wearing the flag and a Purple Heart when he appeared to pay a fine for contempt.

Flynt faced contempt charges after he refused to say where he got a tape recording that allegedly contained a threat by a government informant against automaker John De Lorean, who later was acquitted of drug charges.

Scout leader sentenced

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — A 25-year-old former Boy Scout leader has been sentenced to 2½ years in jail after pleading guilty to raping a 15-year-old member of his troop and sexually assaulting a 12-year-old scout.

Donald Sands also was sentenced Monday to two years probation and given a five- to seven-year suspended prison term.

BEAR HUG — President Reagan is met by a friendly bear as he arrived for a campaign rally Monday in Medford, Ore. After a brief stop, Reagan continued on to Portland. The President will rally in Portland today.

The final leg
Reagan enters backstretch of '84 campaign

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An air of barely restrained jubilation buoys President Reagan's campaign as the front-running incumbent moves into the final phase of his carefully paced re-election drive.

Fresh from his final face-to-face confrontation with Democratic challenger Walter Mondale, Reagan said, "We're entering the home stretch of the campaign, and we've set our sights on victory."

That contagious confidence was evident aboard Air Force One, where the president's wife, Nancy Reagan, resurrected a daily ritual of the 1980 campaign, bowing an orange down the aisle of the plane on takeoff.

Then, exhibiting a cheerful openness that had become a rarity in the past four years, she stopped to chat with reporters aboard the presidential aircraft about what she pronounced was her husband's "great" performance in Kansas City.

But when asked if Reagan's showing in his second debate with Mondale had sealed the president's victory in the election still two weeks away, Mrs. Reagan said she, like her husband, is "superstitious" and would not claim a triumph prematurely.

She left the plane at its first stop of the day, Palmdale, Calif., to pursue her own schedule in the state.

But California Gov. George Deukmejian kept up the beat, introducing Reagan to a hangar full of defense contract employees as "the man who struck out the Louisville Slugger last night in Kansas City." Mondale's staff had tagged their champion with the name of the famous baseball bat after the challenger won the first debate in Louisville, Ky.

Reagan, after touring a B-1B bomber plant in Palmdale and attacking Mondale as a candidate of weakness, coasted through campaign stops in San Diego and Medford, Ore., where crowds of supporters cheered his stock lines celebrating the U.S. landing in Grenada one year ago and criticizing Mondale's tax increase proposal.

Sporting a new American flag lapel pin, Reagan continued to hit hard at Mondale, calling his opponent "more ready to be our problem than our president" and predicting a Democratic victory would bring back "torpor, timidity and taxes."

But they were lines dusted off and stitched together from old Reagan speeches, and the campaign tried out no new rhetoric as it coasted through a long but hardly frenetic day.

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters the meticulously organized campaign, which has been producing texts of Reagan's speeches well in advance — always with some new rhetorical twist — would dispense with advance copies for now.

Reagan, he said, just wants to toy with his standard stump speech for a while, using the lines he has been polishing for weeks.

In contrast to Mondale's marathon run toward Election Day, Speakes predicted Reagan would be on the road only about half the time between now and Nov. 6.

But the spokesman and other aides denied they were coasting on their lead and insisted Reagan would continue to run, as the president puts it, "one vote behind."

Government deports two

NICOSIA, Cyprus — The government has deported two Arabs held for 18 days in connection with a bombing attack against the Israeli Embassy earlier this month.

A police statement Monday said the men were deported on the advice of the attorney general's office because there was not enough evidence against them to hold a trial.

It said Azmi Hussein Mahmoud Salah, who holds a North Yemeni passport describing him as a student, and Salam Moustafa, a computer trainee with an Iraqi passport, were arrested Oct. 4 after a car-bomb exploded outside the apartment building housing the Israeli Embassy.

The bomb damaged the building but caused no injuries. A pro-Syrian Palestinian guerrilla group based in Damascus claimed responsibility for the attack.

Premier toting marijuana

MONCTON, New Brunswick — Provincial Premier Richard Hatfield says police found marijuana in his luggage during the visit of Queen Elizabeth II last month, but he has no idea how the drug got there.

"I told them it did not belong to me," Hatfield said at a news conference Monday. "Obviously, I do not know how it got there."

Hatfield, who has led the Progressive Conservative provincial government for 14 years, said he had hired a lawyer and would say no more about the case.

Hatfield, a 51-year-old bachelor, has a reputation as somewhat of an eccentric. He travels widely and displays some of his extensive doll collection on chairs in his living room.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police refused comment on the marijuana discovery. A newspaper in Fredericton, the provincial capital, reported Saturday that RCMP officers found the marijuana in an outside suitcase pocket Sept. 25 during a routine security search before the Queen's plane left Fredericton for Moncton, with Hatfield and other officials aboard.

Court sentences dealer

GAZA CITY, Occupied Gaza Strip — A military court has sentenced a Palestinian to 5½ years in prison for selling weapons to an Islamic underground group charged with plotting a holy war against Israel.

Naif Saliman Hassan Ghlawi, 29, from the Nuseirat refugee camp, pleaded guilty before being sentenced Monday.

Five other Palestinians pleaded innocent to "establishing an extremist Islamic religious organization to destroy the state of Israel to replace it by a religious Islamic state." Their trial was to continue Wednesday.

The suspects, arrested last February and June and indicted behind closed doors in August, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of submachine guns, grenades, rifles and pistols, many of them Israeli-army issue. The weapons were displayed as evidence in the courtroom.

348 people arrested in massive raid

SEBOKENG, South Africa (AP) — About 7,000 soldiers and police sealed off the black township of Sebokeng before dawn today and searched thousands of homes, arresting 348 persons in an attempt to defuse a two-month outbreak of anti-government rioting.

Police spokesman Lt. Henry Beck told reporters at the nearby white town of Vereeniging there was no resistance to the raid in the township, about 40 miles south of Johannesburg, and no shots were fired. He said 348 people were arrested by midday in one of the largest domestic security operations since the Soweto anti-apartheid riots of 1976.

Beck said the white-minority government was demonstrating to other black townships that "it is our intention to restore law-and-order."

Law and Order Minister Louis le Grange said in a statement that the prolonged unrest was "not only fanned by revolutionary elements but is also exploited by criminal and intimidatory forces. The government has decided that this lawlessness must be curbed with all available means."

Searchlights flashed across rows of small bungalows as the combing operation began about 2:30 a.m. Convoys of armored troop carriers drove through the streets and police in battle camouflage spread out on foot.

Cillie Ramphi, an auto service station attendant, said, "They were on the streets when we woke up."

Some soldiers, carrying semi-automatic weapons, warned themselves at fires. Others stationed themselves along main roads but took no part in the searches.

Police carried out searches, waking many residents with a pre-dawn knock on the door. They distributed pamphlets explaining the operation and urging students to return to school. Cars and trucks were checked at roadblocks.

Police placed orange stickers on houses they had cleared. Individuals who were cleared received orange stickers reading, "I am your friend. Trust me."

Information about your changing telephone service from Darlene Gifford, Manager-Community Relations

Making your bill easier to read

If you're like most folks, you've probably noticed there are more pages in your phone bill since the split-up of the Bell System. That's because your bill now includes charges for several separate companies instead of just one like last year.

Right now, the bill you receive from Southwestern Bell Telephone includes our charges for local service and long distance within your service area. It may also include long distance charges from AT&T Communications and charges from AT&T Information Systems (for leased equipment).

Calls you place through other long distance companies may also be billed through Southwestern Bell Telephone if those companies choose to use our billing service. That makes it easier for you because you get one bill, and you write one check.

Solving the customer confusion

Still, this breakdown of charges by each individual company has caused some confusion. We know that, and we're doing our best to simplify your bill to reflect what you want.

Your bill first started getting a new look in January. At that time, we had numerous billing changes necessary to simply accomplish divestiture.

Starting in February, the company began conducting interviews with customers to find out what short-term changes and long-term changes were needed.

We've put your changes into place

Some of the changes you wanted and we adopted are:

- revising the bill summary page to include adjustments and charges for each company whose fees are included on the bill;
- removing "unpaid from last bill" from the summary page if the last bill was paid in-full;
- numbering pages consecutively to help you reassemble your bill after studying it; as well as others.

Further changes to simplify the bills will be put into place in the coming months.

Would you like more information about the changes on your bill? Call the Tele-Help toll-free number, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. — 1/800-325-2686 (please ask for "extension 84") and request the Tele-Help Booklet No. 2 ("A Guide to Your Phone Bill").

If you'd like the booklet in Spanish, please write: Southwestern Bell Telephone, Tele-Help; P.O. Box 225265; Dallas, TX 75215.

For your information, to date, we've distributed more than 700,000 Tele-Help booklets in Texas in an effort to clear up any confusion regarding our business after divestiture. We're pleased to help our customers get the answers they need.

As always, if you have any comments, I'd like to hear from you.

Congress' signal on birth control

With words and deeds, Congress has honored the long-standing U.S. commitment to assist international population-control efforts. The 1985 budget resolution includes a $290 million appropriation for world family planning programs. The resolution also makes it clear that international family planning organizations deserve U.S. financial support.

The appropriation, and the message, now go to President Reagan for his signature and his implementation. Although he differed with Congress, the president should perform both duties.

The president sought only $240 million in population-control funding, but the amount was not the key issue. Abortion was. The domestic abortion controversy spread to the world last summer when the Reagan administration announced a change in the 10-year policy that banned the use of U.S. funds for abortions overseas. The change went beyond that ban and threatened to cut off U.S. support for the two major world population-control agencies, the U.N. Fund for Population Activities and the International Planned Parenthood Federation.

Congress commendably chose to stand by the previous policy. Knowing that under that policy none of the $290 million will be used for abortions in other nations, the Reagan administration should — and can in good faith — carry out Congress' will.

Art Buchwald
To his good health

I was at a dinner party the other evening, and as is my custom after champagne is poured, I raised my glass and said, "To the president's good health."

The guests, predominantly Republicans, looked at me as if I had just spit on the floor.

"What the hell does that mean?" the host said angrily.

"It doesn't mean anything except I was proposing a toast to the health of the president of the United States."

"The president is in very good health," a White House aide said. "And no one has to toast it."

"I didn't say he wasn't. I was just wishing him more of the same."

"I'll bet," a rich lawyer said. "Reagan is the youngest 73-year-old man I know. You ought to see him on his ranch when he's chopping wood and riding a horse. It's just like the Democrats to bring up the age issue at this time since they have nothing else to talk about."

"I assure you my toast had nothing to do with politics. I didn't even know how old Mr. Reagan was until the debate. I thought he was still in his 50s. To me he'll always be 'The Gipper.'"

"You never would have thought to toast the president's health," a member of Reagan's kitchen cabinet said, "if the president hadn't agreed to lock horns with Mondale against everyone's better judgment."

"The debate had nothing to do with raising my glass to Mr. Reagan," I protested. "Although I'll admit he did look a little tired after 30 minutes."

"If Mondale didn't have so much makeup on he would have looked twice as old as Reagan," someone said.

Letters sow seeds

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I feel numb all over. I always thought we had a good marriage, but a few days ago I found some letters from a woman my husband had met in another city. He travels a lot, but I always trusted him — until now. Should I let him know I have found these letters? — Mrs. F.M.B.

DEAR MRS. F.M.B.: I know you probably shrink from this kind of confrontation. But what is the alternative? If you and your husband do not deal with this together, the seeds of suspicion and mistrust will continue to grow and destroy your marriage. You do not say how explicit the letters are or how recent — but if your marriage is in trouble you need to do all you can to restore it. Your attitude, however, is a major key in how your husband reacts and whether or not you both begin to work together to strengthen your relationship. Avoid angry words, which will only aggravate the problem. The Bible declares, "Stirring up anger produces strife" (Proverbs 30:33). At the same time, he needs to realize that he has hurt you deeply and, therefore, not just try to laugh it off as a harmless event. He needs to repent — and you need to forgive. Then burn the letters and concentrate on ways you both can be better partners and more loving toward each other.

Jack Anderson
Generals cringe at saluting Fritz

WASHINGTON — Walter Mondale's chances of becoming commander in chief of the armed forces may be slim, but the very thought that he might succeed is enough to cause apoplexy among some Air Force generals.

Such is the bitterness with which the former vice president is regarded by the Air Force brass. Some generals say they'd resign if Mondale is elected.

Mondale's enemies in the Air Force blame him for things grandiose and picaresque — from opposing the B-1 bomber and the MX missile to letting his staff spill drinks and steal highball glasses on Air Force Two.

They blame Mondale for letting highly trained pilots be hired away by commercial airlines and even for the Air Force's purchase of greatly overpriced spare parts.

Whether the generals' wrath is justified or not, the fact remains that it exists, and would certainly affect relations between the Air Force and the White House in the event that Mondale pulls an upset next month. Here is their bill of particulars:

• Cutting the defense budget: The Air Force felt Mondale was their main enemy in the Carter administration at budget-trimming time. One official claimed that disgruntlement over budget cuts caused thousands of Air Force and Navy pilots to resign in 1979-1980. The official complained to my associate Dale Van Atta that these highly skilled pilots cost the taxpayers $8 billion to train and they "walked out the door because Carter and Mondale were pennywise and pound-foolish about the national defense budget."

• The B-1 and MX: Mondale was considered the point man in the effort to kill these two controversial weapons.

• Abuse of Air Force Two: Mondale is accused of having abused the privileges of the vice presidential plane by flying frequently to Minnesota to fish and by hosting local politicians to dinner aboard the plane.

The abuse, sources added, extended to Carter-Mondale appointees, who favored inspection trips to bases near golf courses and ski slopes.

"It was not unusual," one official said, "to have the troops kept waiting for a view of the high and mighty while these people were frolicking on the slopes or out on the links."

• Deadbeats and rowdies: Sources complain that they had to dun Mondale repeatedly for a $9,000 tab he had run up for meals, drinks and other expenses aboard Air Force Two. The Democratic National Committee and others eventually paid $7,000 of the bill; the rest was paid recently when my associates Tony Capaccio and Donald Goldberg began making inquiries.

• Inattention to business: According to Mondale's Air Force critics, some of the horror stories about extravagant replacement and equipment costs date to the period when officials, appointed by Carter and Mondale, were too busy with other things to manage the Air Force properly.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: The mail has brought a downpour of political questions. I'll try to answer a few.

Is President Reagan just a front man for political pros who really run the country?

No. He delegates a lot of authority to subordinates, but he has a firm hand on the helm. He's steering the ship of state.

Would Walter Mondale, if elected, give away the store to the special interests that support him?

No. He's an old-style politician who practices the politics of compromise and accommodation. But he's a solid professional who knows how to say "no."

As a professional actor, is Reagan just playing the role of president? What's he really like?

He was never much of an actor. He always played Ronald Reagan, and he's still doing it. The relaxed, affable, folksy fellow you see in the White House is the real Reagan.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

What Mondale would change

To the editor: I would like you to quote nine changes you can count on if President Reagan loses.

1. Increased taxes. Walter Mondale has said he will raise taxes if he is President. President Reagan has estimated an increase of $1,500 a year to the average family.

2. Increased union power. Mondale has been endorsed by almost every big union. They would expect favors to be returned.

3. Mondale generally takes a hands off attitude toward Communist aggression.

4. Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro both oppose weapons currently needed by America.

5. Both Mondale and Ms. Ferraro are big spenders who favor multi-billion dollar increases in federal welfare programs and huge increases in "jobs" programs and massive increases for teachers, Medicare and highways.

6. A more liberal Supreme Court. By January 1985 five of the nine Supreme Court Justices will be 76 or older. Most will retire soon. You can be sure that Mondale will appoint ultraliberal justices to replace them.

7. Forced busing. In the Senate, Mondale was known as "Mr. Busing" because of his support for the program.

8. Federal dollars for left-wing interest groups. Jimmy Carter and Mondale supported handouts of billions of our tax dollars to left wing special interest groups. Groups like Jesse Jackson's Operation PUSH, the AFL-CIO, Planned Parenthood, the Center for Homosexual Education, the Martin Luther King Center for Social Change and many more would all probably receive major federal handouts.

9. Mondale and Mrs. Ferraro both strongly endorse the Democratic platform which calls for: Special treatment for homosexuals; new affirmative action programs and quota systems for schools, colleges and employers; no U.S. troops to oppose Communism; a ban on nuclear testing; increased lending of tax dollars to Third World; increases in public housing and federal regulation of landlords; increased federal regulation in workplaces.

Around The Rim
Take cover

By CAROL BALDWIN
Take cover. The election mud-slinging wars have gone into high gear, and they'll remain that way until the last vote is cast Nov. 6.

Politicians have always resorted to name calling. But it seems a little more pronounced this year as both sides in the presidential race take after each other with insults and jabs.

And both sides must spend hours looking through each others' closets for a glimpse of some skelton to use as a weapon in their campaign. You can't get away with anything on the campaign trail. Not if your opponent finds out about it, that is.

There is good and bad in that. Our government is set up on a system of checks and balances in the hopes that democracy isn't overrun by a dictatorship and that we all continue to hold on to our personal freedoms.

I don't think an occasional slip-up or stupid remark in public is a threat to national security. We're a nation of jokers and everyone tries to fit in with a little joke here and there.

Sure, you have to watch yourself in the public eye, but I'm getting tired of politicians jumping on everything that comes out of their opponent's mouth.

On the presidential campaign level, it seems that the campaign has turned into a battle between two little boys over who's going to take control of the playground. The stakes are much more serious and I'd appreciate truthfulness about the candidate's own campaigns and goals.

I was disgusted when President Reagan joked about bombing the Russians, but I wish the other side had never gotten hold of the remark. Mrs. Bush shouldn't have played name-rhyming games with Mrs. Ferraro, but I didn't think it merited much press.

Both sides had better think carefully before opening their mouths during the next few weeks, because there's bound to be an opponent's aide lurking in the background, ready to run to the boss with the latest slip of the tongue.

And candidates had better brief their relatives on the proper protocol during an election. Any question about your mom, dad, husband, wife, children, cousins, aunts, uncles or in-laws and it's up in front of the cameras again, explaining that you're not sure if there is a problem, or you've never heard the accusation before, but you'll be sure and make amends.

Mondale and Reagan don't stand alone in political mud-slinging. They've had plenty of other politicians to learn from.

But the races are getting down to the wire this time around. I'm going to try and concentrate on the candidates' platforms and backgrounds. And I'll try to stay clear of the punches they're throwing at each other.

Program focuses on preserving lost arts

Kathy Blagrove presented a program on "Tomorrow's Heirlooms" at the Mary Jane Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Lois Ray, Oct. 18. Mrs. Blagrove showed crocheted vests and cardigans and explained how to make them. She also showed examples of English smocking, quilt squares, French hand sewing, and the difference between factory-manufactured trims and hand-loomed French laces and trims. Mrs. Blagrove stressed that many techniques are being preserved that ancestors did out of necessity and frugality. She is associated with Sew What Fabrics, where she teaches many of the techniques that are becoming a lost art.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Carroll Choate, Nov. 8.

Federation representatives to address B & PW members

State and District Federation representatives will speak at the Big Spring Professional and Business Women's Club tonight. The meeting will be at the Chamber of Commerce at 6:30 p.m.

Prospective members may attend the meeting. The speakers will be: Helen Gillespie of the Texas Federation Business and Professional Women's Personal Development and Leadership Training Program; Mary Alice Hamlin of Midland, District Eight director; and Barbara Parks, District Eight treasurer and office manager of the City of Odessa.

The club hosted a wine and cheese party at the Big Spring Country Club, Oct. 18, for prospective members and in observance of National Business Women's Week.

Dear Abby

Expense takes usher by surprise

DEAR ABBY: Please print this so parents will think twice before planning a "sky's the limit" wedding for their son or daughter.

Our son was recently "honored" when a college fraternity brother asked him to be an usher at his wedding. Although this meant a long trip either by plane or automobile, as well as time off from work, our son agreed. What he did not realize (nor was there any mention of this until the day before the wedding), he was expected to pick up a tab of $70 for his tux rental! We were floored when we were informed at the tux rental shop that the wedding had become too expensive for the groom's family, so everybody had to pay for his own.

Since our son is not financially well-off, we are paying for his tux rental.

Weddings with the attendants all dressed alike make a pretty picture, but in my opinion, unless the bride and groom or their parents are prepared to foot the bill, the wedding should be kept on a more conservative scale.

DISILLUSIONED BY FANCY WEDDINGS

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: When the bride and groom select their attendants, they should state whether they will pick up the tab for tux rental and attendants' gowns. Unless the bride and groom are extraordinarily well-to-do, the attendants are expected to provide for their own gowns and tuxes, but this should be clearly understood when the attendants are invited to serve.

 DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation in a nutshell: Last evening I had dinner (alone) at a first-class restaurant. The food was fine, but the service was terrible.

Instead of tipping the waiter the usual 15 percent, I tipped him only 10 percent. He handed it back to me, saying, "Here, you need this more than I do."

What should I have said?

J.D. IN BUFFALO DEAR J.D.: To the waiter you should have said, "Thank you." And to the manager, you should have said, "The service was poor and my waiter was insolent."

Girl Scouts to celebrate Founder Day

For Girl Scouts, Oct. 31 is not only Halloween but also Girl Scouts Founder Day and the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low.

Mrs. Low brought Girl Scouting to America from England in 1912. From its beginning in Savannah, Ga. with six troops, Girl Scouting has grown to more than 2,000,000 members in the United States. The West Texas Girl Scout Council serves more than 3,500 members.

Mrs. Low's home in Georgia is now a registered historical landmark. It is a museum that portrays her life and wide range of interests. Promoting peace and good will among young people throughout the world was one of her chief interests. The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund was established to help Girl Scouts from different countries become friends.

Dr. Donohue

Ear tube

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My 3-year-old grandchild, living in Florida, was diagnosed as having fluid in his ears. I have never heard of this problem. Could you please tell me what brings this on and how it is remedied? — Mrs. S.K.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you please discuss serous otitis media. — H.

The problem represents a disturbance of the middle ear, which is right behind the eardrum. That middle ear chamber has only the most slender of connections to the outside world — the eustachian tube, which extends from it to an opening high in the throat.

The tube is there to keep pressure inside the chamber equalized with that of the outside world. Middle ear pressure drops when the tube gets blocked, and that low pressure draws fluid into the chamber from nearby blood vessels. The condition is called serous otitis media, and it usually is not as serious as it sounds. An allergy, infection, and any number of other situations can cause the tube blockage.

However, if the fluid remains there changes can begin to take place in the lining cells of the chamber and hearing may be affected. The answer often is to re-create the proper inside-outside pressure by inserting a tiny tube (grommet) into the ear drum. As aeration occurs middle ear pressure returns to normal. The problem is solved as fluid stops oozing out of the blood vessels. Incidentally, children, whose eustachian tubes are not fully developed, are particularly prone to this problem.

Don't worry about the grommet. It falls out of the ear by itself in about six months.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been awakened at night with pain in my right hand. When I wake up I have to shake the numbness out of the hand, then the pain disappears. I wonder why I seem to lose blood circulation to this hand? Should it be reported to my doctor? — Mrs. R.J.F.

This sounds like our old friend, carpal tunnel syndrome. That's the compression of the nerve running from the wrist to serve the fingers. It usually happens to the fingers of the dominant hand, reflecting overuse of that hand, as from daily work or other activity.

The pain is often felt at night. Eventually the nerve responds with pain that awakens the person. Sometimes a fabric brace worn at night can keep the wrist extended to ease the problem. If conservative steps such as this don't help, then surgery can be considered to relieve the pressure on the nerve. Yes, definitely report this.

Tests show driver of truck was drunk

LAREDO (AP) — A justice of the peace has ruled that the driver of a pickup truck was legally intoxicated when his vehicle collided with a tour bus, killing three people and injuring 46 members of a Houston church group.

The Saturday morning collision killed the drivers of both vehicles and a passenger in the truck. The wreck also injured 46 members of the Greater New Hope Baptist Church of Houston who were on a weekend shopping trip to Mexico.

"The truck apparently swerved into the bus, so the guy might have lost control, or in his state just swerved," said Webb County Justice of the Peace Raul Vasquez. "The driver of the bus really saved a lot of lives by catching the impact on the driver's corner and somehow he managed to lock breaks and stop the bus without overturning or anything."

Vasquez said tests on blood taken from William Timothy St. Clair, 31, of Corpus Christi, the driver of the pickup, showed he had a blood-alcohol level of .22.

The legal limit for intoxication is .10.

St. Clair, Mario Adrian Garcia, 27, of Freer, a passenger in the truck; and Roy Lee Nowlin, 42, of Houston, the bus driver, were killed when the truck swerved out of its lane on U.S. Highway 59 east of Laredo, striking the bus, the Department of Public Safety said.

Toxicology tests showed Garcia had a blood-alcohol level of .12, also above the legal limit, Vasquez said. The tests showed Nowlin had not consumed alcohol, he said.

Vasquez said because of the toxicology results, autopsies would not be performed on the badly burned bodies of the victims.

An official with the National Transportation Safety Board joined DPS investigators Sunday in an effort to reconstruct the cause of the accident, said DPS Trooper Robert Guerra.

APPEARS AT TRIAL — Rick Kyle, the son of slain Texas tycoon Henry Harrison Kyle, is escorted by attorney Steve Sumner. The younger Kyle is on trial for the death of his father.

Controversial videotape will be allowed in trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge has ruled a controversial videotape is admissible as evidence in the murder trial of Henry Harrison "Ricky" Kyle II, accused of shooting his Texas millionaire father outside their Bel-Air mansion.

Kyle's attorneys had sought to suppress the hour-long tape, in which a carpenter who was staying at the Kyle home describes the sequence of events the night of the murder. But Superior Court Judge Robert Devich denied the defense request when the trial began Monday, said court clerk Judy Pieper.

Jury selection is expected to last "a couple of days," said Deputy District Attorney Lewis Watnick. The trial could take two months, he said.

Kyle, 22, is accused of murdering his father, Henry Harrison Kyle, early on July 22, 1983. Prosecutors allege the younger Kyle, who has been free on $100,000 bail, feared he would be cut out of his father's will.

Kyle's will, filed in Dallas probate court, gave almost the entire Kyle estate to the two sons, with small bequests to two daughters.

The elder Kyle headed a $100 million empire that was based in Dallas and included apartments, restaurants, dairy farms, coal mines and a bank.

Henry Kyle moved to Los Angeles in the spring of 1983 to run Four Star International Inc., the movie and television distribution company of which he was president and chief executive.

Kyle brought with him his sons, Ricky and Scott. They and two others were at the Mediterranean-style home when the elder Kyle was shot to death at point-blank range.

Child dies after attack by hundreds of wasps

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A 21-month-old Georgia boy who was covered by yellow jackets and stung hundreds of times after stumbling upon their nest has died as a result of the attack.

Nico Parker, of Valdosta, Ga., was stung Wednesday at a neighbor's house when he picked up a board covering a huge wasp nest. He died Saturday at University Hospital, officials said.

"It's just a terrible tragedy," said Dr. Lucian DeNicolo, who attended the boy. "Yellow jackets are very cantankerous insects. They can sting repeatedly."

The wasps swarmed onto the boy and also stung a 3-year-old girl who was nearby. The girl was taken to a hospital in Valdosta, treated, and discharged.

Nurses at a Valdosta hospital estimated there were between 200 and 450 sting marks on his body. He was transferred to the Jacksonville hospital when his condition grew worse.

In Jacksonville, the boy's lungs filled with fluid and he developed kidney trouble. On Saturday, the boy's heart began to fail and he couldn't maintain a blood pressure, leading to his death, DeNicolo said.

In Apopka last month, a 7-year-old boy died after he was stung 1,200 times when he disturbed a yellow jacket nest, DeNicolo said.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

CHILL CHASERS — Let the staff at Hester & Robertson make you warm and cozy this winter. Carol Hollingsworth and Carol Cone show off the efficient, new Lennox Pulse Furnace which extracts more heat from the same amount of gas.

Hester & Robertson Lauds Efficient New Furnace

Here's a tip from Hester & Robertson Mechanical Contractors, Inc. on how to get maximum efficiency from your heating unit: have it serviced regularly, particularly early in the season, to be certain it is in prime working order. Today is not too soon; as you know, West Texas weather is unpredictable.

Hester & Robertson now offers sales and service on the new Lennox Pulse Furnace, which is called the "world's most efficient gas furnace." It extracts 200 to 350 degrees more heat from the same amount of gas. This kind of efficiency translates into big savings for you on your heating bill.

If your present gas furnace is over 10 years old, it is probably in the range of 55% to 60% efficient. That means that 45 cents of every heat dollar you spend is wasted.

Lennox technology has made the Pulse easy to install and service. Slim and trim, it can be installed in minimal space.

Hester & Robertson installs combination cooling/heating central units the year around. The new 1985 TESCO rebate is now in effect for consumers — both residential and commercial — for the installation of high efficiency units, including room air conditioners. For more information contact Hester & Robertson or TESCO.

The firm also services and installs heavy equipment for heating systems in schools and other large installations.

You'll like the friendly, helpful staff at Hester & Robertson. If you've been thinking about a new furnace or new central unit, or need a pre-season check-up they're just a phone call away — 263-8342.

There's no obligation for an analysis of your heating requirements.

The firm was established in 1971 by Roy Hester and Sam Robertson.

Coahoma success story

This column deals with a success story about the Coahoma Bulldogs varsity football team, or maybe I should call it a survival story.

You say what's so special about a team with a 3-3-1 record? While their current record is isn't spectacular, the way it has registered the record is.

What the Bulldogs have gone through is enough to make most teams completely fall apart, especially if there are only three and four senior starters offensively and defensively on a 24-man-squad that is three-fourths underclassmen.

At the start of the season everyone knew it was going to be a transition year for first year head coach Bruce Mitchell and his Bulldogs, due to the loss of valuable lettermen and good size.

Going into the season Mitchell and his staff of Craig Bessett, Billy Kidd, Kim Nichols and Ken Kelso made some changes in the Coahoma offense, hoping to add more scoring dimensions to a lagging offense.

But as the season got underway things started to go wrong from Mitchell and his boys. First, All-District senior linebacker Martin Bejarano was lost for the season with torn ligaments in his knee. He then was proceeded by the other three starting linebackers, all going under the knife. Luke Yarbar, a sophomore who also doubled at fullback is the only one to return to action after suffering a shoulder seperation.

The other two starters, Clifford McCartney and Robby Henry have missed the season thanks to torn ligaments. Like Bejarano, Henry and McCartney are seniors.

By the time all injuries to the linebackers came about, coach Mitchell admits his head was spinning around and around. "I was beginning to wonder if I was living right," laughed Mitchell. "You hate to see this happen for the kid's sake, but you have to on and find somebody else to play."

First he moved Dale Hodnett to fullback and Jimmy Yanez, "a 120-pounder who thinks he is a 200-pounder", according to his coach, to tailback.

Well Mitchell finally got his linebacking crew together and the Bulldogs stayed healthy for a couple off weeks. Then Old Man Injury begin calling on the 'Dogs again, only this time it was the hands and not the legs.

In a 34-7 district opening loss to district favorite Colorado City, starting singal-caller John Swinney suffered a broken thumb on his throwing hand. Enter starting wide receiver Brian Calaway who had almost 200 yards total offense against a tough C-City defense. Swinney still plays defensive safety for the Bulldogs and has eight interceptions, cast and all.

Next Mitchell moves up starting junior varsity quarterback Chris Parker and inserts him at Calaway's wide receiver spot in the game versus Crane. So now you have a receiver-turned-quarterback and a quarterback-turned-receiver hooking up with each other.

Mitchell's logic worked to perfection as Calaway and Parker hooked up five times for 80 yards and a 30-yard touchdown in a 15-12 win.

"We knew we would have to have a backup quarterback when John got hurt," said Mitchell. "Chris is a good athlete, he probably has the best hands of anyone on our team."

The contest was also a costly one also because starting defensive tackle Shawn Justiss suffered a broken hand to match the broken hand fellow tackle Barry Stafford suffered in the Big Lake game.

But a broken hand has just about as much of a chance of keeping Justiss and Stafford out of action as a broken thumb did Swinney.

"Its been like shuffling cards, I never recall making so many changes. The young kids are coming around doing a good job. In my 11 years of coaching i have never been around a group of kids with this kind of attitude. They are a good bunch of hard workers with a lot of character. They never give up."

Not only that but if the Bulldogs can get by tough Sonora at and winless Ozona, both home games; it would set up a showdown with powerful Ballinger the last game of the season for a possible state playoff berth. Although the thought is verly likey and pleasing to Mitchell, he and the 'Dogs are taking one game at a time.

"Right now our mind is on Sonora, I feel real good about our chances. If goes down to Ballinger, then everthing else is out the window, it's just one big game. Everyone looks at what the predictors say, but they just measure talent — they can't measure heart."

Sounds like a success story to me.

LA, Dickerson drive Atlanta, 24-10

ATLANTA (AP) — Eric Dickerson was fuming.

"They really hacked me off. They have no class," the Los Angeles running back said of the Atlanta Falcons' defenders after helping the Rams to a 24-10 National Football League victory Monday night in a nationally televised contest.

Dickerson, who ran for 142 yards on 25 carries, including a 10-yard touchdown run, charged the Falcons with hitting late on numerous occasions and was particularly incensed at Atlanta defensive back Tom Pridemore, for an alleged tardy hit on only his second carry of the night.

"It was No. 27, I don't know his name. I think he wanted to do a head stand or a hand stand on my back after I had been down what seemed like five minutes," he said. "It was right there on the sideline and a referee was right there and said he didn't see it. I think somebody needs glasses."

He said that wasn't the only cheap shot, but "that's the way they play. I guess that's what the coaches down in Atlanta teach them."

"I'm not saying it's dirty, but I don't think it's real good football. If they want to play that way, they ought to go to Russia," said Dickerson.

The 6-foot-3, 220-pound speedster, however, didn't let it bother him in his performance, scoring the Rams' first touchdown on his 10-yard sweep after only 1:03 of the second quarter before letting Henry Ellard do the rest.

Ellard, the NFL's leading punt returner, who helped set up Dickerson's score with a 29-yard punt return, caught a 9-yard TD pass from quarterback Jeff Kemp only 1:08 later, then closed out the 21-point second period with an explosive 69-yard score on a punt return with 39 seconds left before intermission.

Mike Lansford closed out the Rams' scoring with an 18-yard field goal in the fourth period. The Falcons, who had beaten Los Angeles two weeks ago 30-28, could manage only a 39-yard field goal from Mick Luckhurst in the second quarter and scored in the closing minute on an 18-yard pass from Steve Bartkowski to Stacey Bailey.

Ellard, a second-year player from Fresno State, who suffered a bruised thigh and sat out the second half, said his punt return TD "wasn't the end of the game" for the Falcons "but, it probably was a big letdown."

In addition to the offensive performances by Dickerson and Ellard, Rams' Coach John Robinson said the key difference from the loss two weeks ago was the defense "which just played better."

"That's two weeks in a row that we've basically kept a team from scoring until the game was out of reach," said Robinson. The Rams defeated New Orleans 28-10 a week ago and now have won four of five games for a 5-3 record.

The Falcons, whose offense has been missing the last two games, losing a 19-7 decision to the New York Giants a week ago, managed only 217 yards against the Rams, 73 in the second half, and dropped to 3-5.

"We've got to start thinking about stringing some wins together," said Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski, who hit on 20 of 31 passes for only 144 yards.

"We're not going to have many friends until we do."

Most of the crowd of 52,861 left early in the final period after booing the home team on several occasions. The Falcons managed only 11 first downs.

Team owner Rankin Smith had criticized the team after the Giants' game for its performance and Bartkowski alluded to it after the game.

"I saw a lot of effort out there, even though it wasn't reflected in the score. We need to find a way to correct the things that are breaking us down," he said.

"There may be a lack of commitment — a commitment to each other. But I don't want to elaborate on that. I've done put my foot in my mouth, so I'll just leave it at that," said Bartkowski.

NOT-SO-FRIENDLY CONFRONTATION — Eric Dickerson (29) of the Los Angeles Rams scores a touchdown as Atlanta Falcons Tom Pridemore (27) goes over him during Monday night football in Atlanta. A game in which the Rams won 24-10. After the contest Dickerson accused Pridemore and the Falcons with being unclassy players because of their dirty tactics.

Mavs trade Garnett, Stansbury

DALLAS (AP) — Mavericks General Manager Norm Sonju says the Dallas team has traded a liability, forward Bill Garnett, for an asset — the Indiana Pacers' first-round draft choice in the 1990 National Basketball Association draft.

"Acquiring Indiana's first-round in 1990 provides us with one more asset which could prove to be very valuable," said Sonju.

The Mavericks also traded guard Terence Stansbury to the Pacers Monday. The trade enables Dallas to continue its plan of building through first-round draft choices.

If the Pacers' pick is among the seven best that year, the Mavericks instead would receive Indiana's 1991 draft choice.

Garnett, a 6-9 forward drafted fourth overall in 1982 from Wyoming, "never was able to reach our full expectations for him and hopefully he will be able to earn minutes at Indiana that he would have had difficulty receiving here in Dallas," Sonju said.

Coaches said Garnett has excellent jumping ability but never played consistently well for Dallas. In his two seasons, Garnett averaged 5.7 points per game and 4.8 rebounds.

Sonju said Stansbury, a 6-5 guard drafted in the first round this year from Temple, "was beaten out by Howard Carter, who was not on our roster when we drafted Stansbury."

Stansbury said he thought the trade was fair, and that he had gained valuable experience.

He missed nearly two weeks of training camp because of a contract dispute with Dallas, and was competing with Carter and Tom Sluby for one guard spot on the Dallas roster. Carter hit 5-of-8 shots for 10 points in Dallas' final preseason game, and neither Stansbury nor Sluby played.

"We're very happy for our organization," said Pacers player personnel director Tom Newell. "This will be a different-look Pacers, and with the addition of Stansbury and Garnett, this puts us in an area of quality athletes."

Texas 5-A schools will vote on super conference

AUSTIN (AP) — Some 250 Class 5A high schools will vote this winter on a proposal for a "super conference" state football playoff starting in 1986 that would include some of Texas' larger schools.

The University Interscholastic League's 20-member Legislative Council voted Monday to place the 32-team "super conference" proposal on the annual referendum ballot, which is subject to approval by the State Board of Education.

The new playoff concept would place most schools with enrollments of 2,000 or more into the "super conference" bracket if they finish first or second in their district football races.

If schools under 2,000 finish first or second, they would go into the regular Class 5A playoff. The third place team, meanwhile, would be the "super conference" playoff entrant, regardless of enrollment.

UIL Athletic Director Bill Farney told the council details of the plan still need to be worked out and is far from perfect. But he said that a special committee extensively studied inequities in the Class 5A enrollment bracket, saying 1,310 is the bottom figure, with no upper limit.

"This is the best the committee could do," Farney said.

Farney declined to speculate on how 5A schools may vote on the proposal. Results will be announced next February.

Hawks-Queens to face international foe Thursday

The Howard Hawk-Queens will get a taste of international competition Thursday when they host the University of Chihuahua, Mexico in a scrimmage at 8 p.m. at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Hawk-Queens coach Don Stevens is hoping that his scrimmage will be better than his team's past three practice tittls versus Western Texas College, New Mexico Junior College and Odessa Junior College.

"I must be coaching downhill," said Stevens, "because we have been looking more ragged in each game. We need to work in game-like situations."

The contest will be played under national rules but Stevens stated there is a strong possibility that later Howard may go to Mexico and play Chihuahua using international rules, which feature a larger but lighter ball.

Stevens feels that Chihuahua's strong pressure defense will help his team in the long run, plus he stated that Chihuahua's players are older and more experienced than his players, thus giving the Hawk-Queens valuable experience.

This year's version of the Hawk-Queens has seven freshmen on the squad, one Stevens labels as "a good crop of players". Returning letterwomen are Molly Early, Debbie Hall, Alex Provencio, Diane Dickson and Allison Dickson.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — During Bear Bryant's long reign as the Alabama football coach, his players would raise four fingers after three quarters of play, signifying that the final quarter was theirs.

KEY PLAYERS — Jim Brown, left, listens to Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton speak to those assembled at Chicago city hall Monday where Payton received a city medal of honor. Alabama football taking its lumps

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — During Bear Bryant's long reign as the Alabama football coach, his players would raise four fingers after three quarters of play, signifying that the final quarter was theirs.

It usually was.

Rarely did the Crimson Tide blow a lead as the final 15 minutes ticked off and many times Bryant's teams used that period to rally for victory.

Now, Tide opponents can hardly wait until the fourth quarter, a deadly quarter-hour for this year's 2-5 team.

Alabama had Boston College down 31-14 in the third period but blew the game. Georgia Tech jumped to a 16-0 lead and the Tide could manage only six points in the third period. Vanderbilt outscored Alabama 14-8 in the final period for its victory. And on Saturday Tennessee outscored Alabama 18-3 in the last period to overcome a 24-10 lead to win.

Alabama's only victories came against lowly Southwestern Louisiana and nationally ranked Penn State. In the Penn State game, Alabama did play well for four periods and won on two second-half field goals.

Alabama is at its lowest ebb since 1957, the year before Bryant, when it went 2-7-1.

The loss to Tennessee put the Tide, with an 0-3 Southeastern Conference mark, at the bottom of the league in which it won 13 titles in Bryant's 25 years.

The Tide still faces Mississippi State, Louisiana State, Cincinnati and Auburn and a loss to either would give it its first losing season since 1957. LSU and Auburn both are nationally ranked.

So, Alabama faces the bleak and highly likely prospect of not going to a bowl, something that has not happened in 25 seasons.

Since Ray Perkins took over from Bryant prior to the 1983 season, Alabama is 10-9 and 4-5 in SEC.

"Alabama hasn't given up."

wrote Sports Editor Billy Mitchell of The Tuscaloosa News. "And it's unlikely the Tide will become unraveled by an unfavorable record."

Wrote Sports Editor Phillip Marshall of The Montgomery Advertiser: "With a 2-5 record, the time has come to build for next year and the years after. What it is not time to do is start talking about firing the coach."

Runnels end season with two wins

LEVELLAND — Both Goliad and Runnels volleyball teams ended their season last night with Runnels coming away with two victories while Goliad won one and lost one.

The Runnels Red team, coming off a third place finish at the Snyder tourney this past weekend, won their matches 7-15, 15-4, 16-14. Diane Fish and Collette White scored nine points each, behind a good team effort, according to Runnels coaches.

They end the season with a 10-2 slate.

Meanwhile the White team ended their season at 6-3 with 15-2, 15-4 match wins. Kathy Burrow led all servers with 17 points while Tracy Schaffner added five points. Debbie Pulver was cited for her fine overall play.

GOLIAD B ROMPS

The Goliad B team rallied for 15-3, 15-6 wins behind the 18 service points of Vanna Walker. Irene Leyva added four points. Good play was turned in by Tonya Heiman.

The A team fell in two consecutive matches, 0-15, 4-15.

A Big Spring WINNER!

Marianne Brown
Director, Northside Community Center

"The people on the north side of town felt isolated, and many of them simply did not know where to turn when they had problems. Some just needed a friend to talk to." That's why Marianne and her husband, Chestnut, and a friend, Isroe Cooper, organized the Northside Community Action League and set about to establish a community center. Marianne, president of the League, worked long hours every day to locate a building, inspire volunteers to fix it up, get donated furnishings, line up townfolk to serve as advisors, and finally to minister to citizens who turned to her for help. The Center, which opened in 1983, is funded strictly by community donations. "Without the people of Big Spring, we couldn't have done it." Although she now receives a small salary, the hours and self involvement are tremendous. Why does she do it? Marianne knows what it's like to be displaced; she was a German war refugee as a child. Recently the American Red Cross asked her to serve as Chairman of Military Service, handling about 18 cases a month. The Browns came here from Tacoma, Wash., five years ago; Chestnut is with the Federal Prison Camp. "We had other choices, but we want to raise our children in a small town." Trained in psychology and sociology, Marianne also serves on the board of Rape Crisis Services of Big Spring. The Browns have two children, Freddie, 11, and Marlo, 10. Marianne enjoys reading and knitting — and is "a fanatic about Egyptology."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, OCT. 24, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's full moon suggests that you get rid of whatever has been left undone early. You will find you have a considerable amount of ingenuity and resourcefulness to use.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into policy matters with your partners. Consult with an expert and get the advice you need. Enjoy evening social life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Meet the expectations of your loved one in the morning. Then you can get at your work and handle it well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle your responsibilities effectively. During spare time, enjoy yourself at a hobby you like to pursue.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Be sure to do what kin expect of you in the morning. Later, be with congenials for a good time.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Handle correspondence and plan travel matters in the morning. Later, you can have a fascinating time with friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study financial status and contact those individuals who can help you to improve it. Get surroundings improved.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Continue that course you started that can bring you greater gains. Tomorrow, you can get started on the work required.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Finish collecting the data you need. Talk your ambitions over with bigwigs who can be of assistance to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Complete some work of a personal nature in the morning. Plan some campaign that can bring you your finest wishes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Early contemplate several options for gaining greater success. Get together with friends in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can reach the right decision about some new venture in the morning. Go along with those in authority.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure you keep promises made in business for profitable results. Planning a trip for some good purpose is wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be a very sweet and cooperative young child. Upon reaching adulthood, can become most dynamic, so prepare your progeny for this change by providing spiritual training. Teach to work with the hands.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
