Wheat Growers Elated by Present Wheat Prospects; Ample Moisture and Good Moisture Favor Crop

The liberal amount of moisture received this winter in the form of rain and snow, together with the mild weather that has prevailed most of the time has made present prospects for a bountiful wheat crop for the coming harvest one of the best ever known at this time of year, according to some of our leading wheat growers.

Marvin Whaley, who is one of our bigger wheat growers, says his wheat is looking as well or better than he has ever seen it this early in the season. While his early sowing, which had produced a rather rank growth, is showing some yellow blades near the ground, the plants are all thrifty and growing nicely. His later sowing, which had not made the early rank growth, shows no dead blades at all and has the dark green color of thrifty, rapidly growing plants. Mr. Whaley believes that with normal conditions from now until harvest the wheat yield in this territory will be as good or better than the '31 crop was.

Wheat fields throughout the Friona territory and all through the county, are showing beautifully green with excellent promise for a good yield and the occasional showers which have been falling are conducive to a continuation of this promising prospects.

LAMB COUNTY FARMERS PROVIDE OWN MEAT

Lamb county has gone in for feeding itself its own meats, at least as far as farm population goes. Since its county and home demonstration agents began showing new wrinkles in cutting, curing and canning meats more than a year ago there has been a steady increase in farm meat conservation. Folks in 19 communities have been shown the Extension Service Way of handling meat, and 250 families have taken advantage of the new methods, it is reported by D. L. Adam, county agent.

Figures on the last nine demonstrations in 1931 reveal that beefs worth $100 on foot yielded $550 worth of meat products, and that hogs valued at $180 were converted into ham, bacon, sausage, scrapple and other canned products that would require $700 to buy. A county meat show is to be held in early spring to compare the prowess of farm families in putting up quality meat at home.

Car Rolled Over.

On Friday night of last week as a number of Friona young people were returning from a basketball tournament at Farwell, their car whipped crosswise in the road and turned over.

The car was carrying six occupants, with Mrs. Edward Spring driving, and while all of them were considerably shaken up, there were no serious injuries sustained by any of them. One of the young men, Dennis White, received a rather severe cut on the forehead, which, though painful for a time was not serious, and this appears to be the worst injury sustained by any of them.

The young ladies in the car were members of the Friona girls' basketball team and were to have entered the tournament again next day to compete for honors, but their injuries were severe enough to prevent their entering the contest.

A Neat Home-Town Shop.

The writer had the occasion one day this week to visit a neat little shop here in Friona known as Virginia's Hat Shop.

Although this shop is not large as to dimensions, it is well and neatly arranged and is most efficiently presided over and managed by Mrs. Mitchell, the proprietress, whose courteous attitude makes everyone feel welcome who visits her.

While her stock of millinery is not at any one time extensive, she always has a goodly number from which to make selections and is receiving new stock each week, which plan gives her customers new goods always to select from rather than which has been picked over throughout the season. By this plan of management it would seem unnecessary for Friona ladies to have to submit to the trouble and expense of visiting neighboring cities to secure their millinery. Mrs. Mitchell is also prepared to assist her customers with their sewing and dress making problems at any time they may need her advice and services.

Do not fail to read that ad in this issue of the Star. It was meant for you. There's a classified ad there also that will interest you.

Santa Fe Brings Demonstration Train March 26

The Santa Fe Special Agricultural train referred to last week will arrive in Friona some time in March, probably between March 21 and 26. We are pleased to be able to give further information concerning this train, which follows:

Carrying numerous exhibits showing results of tried methods in producing better profits and better living on the farm, the '32 Santa Fe-A. & M. College Farm and Home Special, plans for which are rapidly maturing, will begin its tour of all Santa Fe lines in Texas, February 15, at Navasota. The tour, covering several thousand miles and including 147 stops over a period of 45 days, will end April 6 at Snyder.

As in the case of similar trains in Texas in the past, the agricultural special will be conducted cooperatively by the Santa Fe Railway Company, the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College with the assistance of other institutions and agencies. Official approval of plans and arrangements for the special has been given by F. G. Pettibone, vice president and general manager, and J. S. Hershey, general freight agent, of the railway company, and President T. O. Walton and Director O. B. Martin of the Extension Service on behalf of the college.

The special, a nine-car train, will be operated by the Santa Fe while the exhibits and speakers, specialists in their various lines, who will explain the exhibits and their application to local conditions at each of the numerous stops, will be supplied by the college. Programs will be from two to three hours in duration at each stop and an electrically controlled voice amplifier will be used at the open air meetings.

The special will carry exhibits showing tried methods of making the farm self-sustaining and of cutting production costs. Extension specialists will make brief talks on home improvement, dairying, poultry raising, advanced methods of livestock raising and farm practices. Livestock exhibits for demonstration purposes will be carried on the train.

Exhibits of special interest to women and girls will be included, these arranged under the supervision of Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent of the Extension Service. Farm electrification exhibits showing the many uses to which electricity may be put on the farm will be prepared by the Texas committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture.

Following talks at the various stops, visitors will be invited to go through the train.

Home for Week End.

Miss Lola Goodwine, who is working in Borger, came to Friona Friday evening and remained until Sunday afternoon visiting with home folks. Miss Floy Goodwine, who is teaching the State Line school, also spend the week end at home.

Miss Mary Reeve, who is teaching at Borger, drove home Saturday afternoon, stopping at Canyon on the way and bringing with her from there her sister, Miss Esther and brother, Hadley, who attend W. T. S. T. C., all spending the night and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Reeve, returning to their respective places of work Sunday evening.

Friona Woman's Club.

The Friona Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. F. W. Reeve Wednesday afternoon, February 10, with a good attendance present, and the following program was rendered:

Response, A favorite bit of poetry.

Subject, Poetry and Music.

Edna St. Vincent Millay; Mrs. D. W. Hanson.

Piano duet: Mmes. Lillard and Maurer.

John Mansfield; Mrs. L. F. Lillard.

Vocal duet: Mmes. M. Lacy and E. S. White.

The hostesses were Mmes. F. W. Reeve and F. T. Schlenker, but much to the regret of all the members Mrs. Schlenker was not able to be present on account of ill health. Mrs. Reeve served delicious refreshments designed in Valentine effect.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. V. E. Hart, north of town on Wednesday, February 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Taylor of Waco have been spending the past week here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Taylor, northwest of town. The Taylors are brothers.

Dealer Holding Implement Show Next Tuesday

The annual exhibit and entertainment of the McCormick-Deering line of farm equipment will be held by its local dealers, Buchanan & Rosson, in their show rooms across west of the court house in Hereford from 1:00 to 6:00 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon, February 23. This firm also owns the McCormick-Deering agency at Friona and they are extending an invitation to their customers, patrons and friends of Friona to meet with those of Hereford and enjoy next Tuesday's program.

The entertainment will consist of motion pictures of farming activities and operations, coupled with short talks by representatives of the harvester company, W. R. Aven, assistant manager of Amarillo; W. T. Wheeler, district service manager, and M. M. Hardin, blockman for this region, will be among those appearing for talks.

The exhibition of new machinery will include trucks, tractors, all kinds of tillage equipment, dairy machinery, combines, etc. The firm is allowing special discounts on purchases or contracts for any article in their line of equipment if the order is placed that day. A hammer-type feed mill will be awarded to some visitor at the entertainment.

Ain't It the Truth!

While in attending to the paying of his taxes and insurance, one Friona man put it this way: "Old Daddy Time is much more lively these days. He whoops these years around much more rapidly than he did when I was a boy. Tax and insurance paying days come annually, but are almost together now."

Another Friona man has this to say: "It gets late much earlier than it did when I was a boy."

More Cotton This Year.

Judging from rumors and reports heard on the street and elsewhere, there will be a much larger acreage of cotton planted in the Friona territory this season than has ever been planted here before.

Those who grow cotton here last year seem better pleased with the results of their cotton crops than with any other crop produced, and the fact that the acreage is to be reduced in other parts of the state will have a tendency to make a better demand for the product, and the acreage can be greatly increased here without in any way evading the cotton planting law.

P. T. A. Program.

The Friona P. T. A. will meet Monday, February 22, at 7:30 in the school auditorium and the following program will be given:

Opening song, America.

Opera: Miss Boston's pupils.

Business.

Song: Fifth grade girls.

Candle Lighting Ceremony in Honor of National Founder's Day: Mrs. Crawford.

Talk, Parents, Teachers and Education: Rev. Annis.

Thursday of next week, February 25, will be parents visiting day at which time an Arbor Day program will be given at the chapel period, followed by the planting of two George Washington memorial trees. All parents are urged to visit the school on that day.

The number of horses and mules in the United States continued to decrease last year. This was the only class of farm animals that did not increase last year, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Do not fail to attend the Friona high school poultry show here next Friday and Saturday.

Read all the display ads in this issue of the Star. They are meant for you. Do not miss any of the classified ads. Likely there is something there you want.

Poultry Show Next Friday and Saturday In Parr Building; No Entry Fee; Aggie Boys In Charge

A Happy Birthday.

Miss Bonna Lee Rushing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Rushing, was made unusually happy when a number of her little friends gathered at her home all unannounced to her, to assist in celebrating her tenth birthday, which occurred Monday, February 15.

Miss Bonna Lee received a number of pretty presents from her young guests, and the afternoon was spent in happy games and in partaking of the wholesome and delicious refreshments that were prepared by Mrs. Rushing.

Those present other than the young hostess were Mattie Fay and Dallas Earl Coldiron, Stella Lansdown, Bob Conaway, Thomas Airwood, Louise Johnson, Kathryn Thompson, Waynell Thompson, Virginia Guyer, Lydia Marie Spring and Roberta Rushing. The guests rendered a unanimous verdict that they had spent the afternoon most happily.

The total number of cattle in the United States, says the Department of Agriculture, increased 2.4 per cent last year. This continued the upward trend in production of beef cattle which has been going on since 1928.

It was a saying of Aristotle that education was an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity.

Wayne Farris Has Thrilling Experience

Last Saturday morning while Wayne Farris, an employe at the Texas Pools Elevator here, was doing some work at the top of the tippie, the pulley of the man-lift on which he was standing became loosened and fell.

When he realized that he was due to fall the entire length of the man-lift his mind acted rapidly and ere his fall had gained too much momentum he sprang from it to the second floor from the top and made a landing sufficient to maintain himself until a block and tackle could be arranged to carry him in a chair to the lower floor of the elevator.

Mr. Farris was badly and painfully bruised from his landing on the floor to which he leaped, one leg being so badly bruised as to be numb and useless to him. He was taken to the home of Mr. Sullivan and a physician was called who gave him medical treatment after which he was removed to his room at the Friona hotel where he is slowly but gradually improving.

It was a narrow escape, the man-lift fell with such force to the landing at the elevator floor as to shatter the heavy timbers on which it rests.

Visiting In Haskel.

Mrs. L. G. Simpson left last Thursday for Amarillo, in company with her brother-in-law, Mr. Blankenship, who was a business visitor in Friona that day. From Amarillo Mrs. Simpson accompanied her brother and sister of near Amarillo to Haskel where they are spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cearley.

As was announced in last week's Star, the agriculture class in the high school will arrange and conduct a really good poultry show in Friona Friday and Saturday of next week, February 26-27.

The show will be held in the large Parr building just west of the Friona State Bank, where all necessary arrangements will be made for the proper and attractive display of all specimens and classes and varieties of poultry that may be brought in.

As stated last week, there will be no entry fee charged, and the show is open to all exhibitors who may care to place their birds on display without stint nor limitation, and the show will be judged by an authorized A. P. A. judge.

Prizes will be given for first and second places and ribbons will be awarded for the first four places on old and young pens, and a pen will consist of three females and one male, old or young. Single entries may be made for capons only. Egg entries will consist of one dozen eggs in each entry.

Fowls may be entered on Thursday afternoon and up until noon Friday. Judging will probably be done Friday afternoon, hence all entries must be made not later than noon that day.

For the past four years the class in agriculture has given Friona an unusually good poultry show each year and the one now in process of arrangement promises to eclipse all other efforts. There are 25 boys in the class this year under the able and efficient instruction and training of Superintendent George A. Heath, and they are giving unrestrainedly of their time and effort toward the success of this show.

They ask that all who can will add to the variety of the exhibit by placing entries of their best poultry stock of any and all breeds and that parents and patrons of the school, especially will add to the interest of the show by attending as much of the time as they conveniently can.

While the show is being put on and arranged by the agriculture class, it is being backed and sponsored by the Friona chamber of commerce by an action of that organization taken at a meeting held Tuesday night.

There will be no admission fee charged as the expense of the show will be taken care of by the chamber of commerce and by popular donation. This is a worthy effort on the part of the boys and should meet with the encouragement it deserves through the attendance and financial support of the people of the entire district.

Conflagration Not Serious.

A slight conflagration got started in the F. L. Spring home last Friday night about 9:30 o'clock, but was extinguished before great damage was done.

It appears that a member of the family passed out of one of the rooms, leaving a gas fire burning near one of the windows, and evidently the curtain had waded out near enough to the flame to allow it to be ignited and was entirely consumed, together with a dress belonging to Mrs. Edward Spring, which was hanging near the window. The window frame was seared with the flames, as was also the paper on the walls near by, and the linoleum on the floor.

George Washington

A NATION BUILDER

With the heart of a child, the wisdom of a sage,
He toiled with no self to serve.
He grew in greatness, year by luminous year
Until he carried empire in his brain.
Yet if no Cause, no high commanding Cause,
Had called him to the hazards of the deed,
None would have guessed his power
To build a nation out of chaos, give
To her the wings of soaring destinies.

FIVE YEARS AGO.

(From Friona Star, February 18, 1927)

M. M. Buchanan and Miss Opal Whitefield had been in Clovis.

Mrs. Nina Newman entertained members of the B. Y. P. U. at a Valentine party on Saturday night.

Good oat sowing weather was reported and the Star's classified column carried a line of ads of those having good oat seed for sale.

J. G. Weir had workmen busy building an awning over the sidewalk in front of his store building (now occupied by Frank Fleet).

O. G. Turner and J. W. Parr of the Turner-Parr Trading Co. had begun preparing the ground for the erection of a large storage building for their big stock of tractors and farm implements.

The work of gathering and shelling the immense corn crop grown in the vicinity of Homeland the previous season was progressing nicely under favorable weather conditions.

When the west bound stage arrived Tuesday of that week it had brought with it Mrs. Paul Taylor of Newton, Iowa, and Mrs. R. V. Galloway of Childress, who were former Friona girls. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Miss Lillian Hodges, and Mrs. Galloway was formerly Miss Lucille Woodard.

Rev. D. E. Stark had received a unanimous call by his congregation to remain another year as its pastor.

Word had been received that J. O. Jones who was then in the hospital at Hereford suffering an attack of erysipelas, was improving.

Floyd T. Schlenker, a farmer living west of Friona, had reported his success in growing sweet clover, which he had sown as pasture for his registered spotted Poland-China hogs.

Little Bobbie Conaway, who had been under the care of a physician with a severe attack of tonsillitis, was much improved (Bobbie is not so little now).

Ladies of the Friona Woman's club added a number of entertaining and instructive features to the school house picture show. These features were in the nature of instrumental music, readings and costume sketches.

Hix's wise old bird was telling the people that "Charity should begin at home" and the way to get it started was to buy the supplies for their homes of Hix.

L. F. Lillard was advertising his registered spotted Poland-China hogs of all ages for sale (he has, we understand, some of these fine animals today).

F. H. Hodge was advertising a private sale of cows, heifers and hogs at his farm on the west side of town.

Attend Court Monday.

A number of Friona citizens were called to Farwell Monday to attend county court as witnesses, litigants and counsel.

Among those who were there were A. D. Smith, attorney; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charence Taylor, Charles Roland Taylor, D. H. Meade, D. W. Hanson, T. D. Ballard, F. W. Reeve, Worth Weir, T. J. Crawford, L. G. Simpson and John White. Marvin Whaley and W. C. Osborne were also business visitors in Farwell that day.

"Apology" Appealed to Golf Directors' Humor

At a golf club on the North Shore two professionals are employed, one to look after the course and one to teach. The latter is a veteran Scot of independent character and fearless tongue. Some time back, a writer in the Boston Globe recalls, he said something to a new member of the board of directors which seemed to that individual to be disrespectful. He complained at a meeting of the board and succeeded in having old Willie discharged.

Afterward the other directors felt sorry. Finally the head professional was told to inform him that if he would appear before a meeting of the directors and make an explanation his job would be restored to him.

When, in due course, Willie appeared, the president addressed him benevolently.

"Well, Willie," he said, "tell us what you have to say for yourself; but make it short, for we're in a hurry."

"Oh, I'll make it short," said Willie, in a loud, clear voice. "What I've got to say is, that you can all go to h—!"

For a moment the directors sat in stunned silence. Then, including the one who had made the complaint, they broke into choking laughter. The president was first to regain his composure.

"All right, Willie," he said, "we accept your apology. You can return to work tomorrow."

Upholsterer Word That Has Changed in Meaning

We all understand the "upholsterer" to refer to the person who prepares covers for furniture and who is also an expert at stuffing it. But this meaning is a long leap from its early significance, to which, however, it bears a figurative relationship.

Originally the "holster" was a hiding place or a covering, as in the holster used for a pistol, for instance. And it was from this connection that the words "holster" and "holstering" gradually came to be employed to describe the process of measuring furniture for covers, preparing the covers, stuffing the furniture and therefore hiding it so to speak, that is, hiding its real self.

Add to this the fact that the man who stuffed and covered the furniture frequently held it "up" for sale, and we have a logical evolution of the modern word "upholsterer" in the sense in which it is used today.—Kansas City Times.

Sauce for the Gander

There was a tired business man, a member of that busy clan that shields itself from prying eye behind that good old alibi.

In conference.
He rested in his office chair and ducked a lot of toil and care, and smoked cigars in sweet content and thus his busy hours were spent.

In conference.
Came anxious strangers by the score to camp outside his office door, and angrily they went their way for he was busy all the day.

In conference.
And so he died, and at the gate an angel bade him stand and wait, and said to him with frowning brow, "St. Peter's mighty busy now."

"In conference."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Defense of Hobbies

It was "Tristram Shandy" that made Lawrence Sterne famous, but he had other hobbies than writing novels, many of them, books, shooting, painting and fiddling. His excuse for indulging in so many hobbies was framed in words like these: "Have not the wisest men in all ages, not excepting Solomon himself, had their hobby horses, their running horses, their coins and their cockle shells, their drums and their trumpets, their fiddles and their butterfles? And so long as a man rides his hobby-horse peaceably and quietly along the king's highway, and neither compels you nor me to get up behind him, pray sir, what have you or I to do with it?"

Cross Stone of Virginia

The "fairy cross" of the Virginia Blue Ridge, a reddish-brown formation taking the shape of a perfect cross, is said to be found only in Patrick county, Virginia. Travelers in the West and Southwest may recall that these curious pieces of stone are frequently offered for sale as "Mexican Holy Crosses" at shops at or near Indian reservations, sometimes for only a nickel apiece. The United States geological survey, however, confirms the claim that the "staurolite," or "Cross Stone," an iron-aluminum silicate, is found only in Virginia.

Divorce in Old Egypt

A study made by W. F. Edgerton and published by the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago shows that Egyptian marriages could be dissolved at the will of either the husband or the wife. Furthermore, provision was sometimes made for "trial" marriages—that is, marriages which were in force only for a definite period, agreed upon in advance. There was no divorce in the study says, and the couple remained married until the period of trial

MAKING THE FARM A MEAT FACTORY

R. W. Snyder, Extension Meat Specialist.

Bill Smith sold a choice live hog weighing 200 pounds for $12. His neighbor just across the road sold a litter mate weighing exactly the same for $22. In fact he received almost twice as much for his pig.

Mr. White sold his hog made up in hams, bacon, lard, sausage and the choice loin was cut into chops and roast. He produced from his 200 pounds of pig two cured hams, weighing 12 pounds each, two cured bacons weighing nine pounds, two shoulder butts weighing eight pounds each. The lower parts of the shoulders were ground into sausage with the other lean meat trimmings, making 20 pounds of sausage. The two choice 12-pound loins were sold as pork roasts and chops. All the fat was rendered making 24 pounds of lard.

Quality pigs fed a good ration, such as corn, grain sorghum, barley or wheat, with some protein supplement as cotton seed meal and tankage in equal parts, will produce a quality of fresh and home cured meats that will be in demand, especially if properly handled when killed and cured. Many times more cured meat could have been sold at the Lubbock Meat Show than was available for sale.

To produce a high standard quality cured product hogs should be killed on a clear cold day. The hog should be allowed to hang overnight to allow the meat to cool well thus making the carcass firm before cutting.

The most attractive and best shaped hams, bacon, shoulders and loins can be cut by splitting the hog down the center of the backbone. The pieces to be cured should be trimmed free of all excessive fat and made to look very smooth.

The cure White used was the famous old sugar cure method. Eight pounds of salt, two pounds sugar and two ounces of salt peter were used for each 100 pounds of meat cured. The cure was mixed well and then one-half rubbed on the meat. For best keeping this meat was then packed in a barrel with the skin side down. In just a week the bacons were taken out.

but the remaining meat was rubbed with the rest of the cure. In just 30 days from the time the hams were salted they were taken out of the cure and soaked in water to remove the surface salt. These hams were cured just 2 1/2 days for each pound in the piece as they weighed just 12 pounds.

Pecan wood was the handiest wood that Smith's neighbor had, so he used that to smoke his cured meat. His smokehouse was almost crack proof so that flies and dirt could not get on the meat. For attractiveness the meat was almost perfect. It smelled most appetizing, with a rich reddish-brown color.

Bill's neighbor proved to many of his near-by friends that it paid to sell his hogs prepared as meat rather than as live hogs.

Guests at S. F. Warren Home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Warren were the happy hosts to a number of relatives who were dinner guests Sunday at their farm home three miles west of town.

There guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gahle, Mayon, uncle and aunt of Mrs. Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ficke, Happy, Mr. Ficke being a brother of Mrs. Warren; Herman Ficke, another brother; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shambaugh, Clovis, cousins of Mrs. Warren, and Miss Herta Mayer, Friona, a teacher in the schools.

Now is the time to buy a year's subscription to the Friona Star. Do not miss the opportunity.

Series of Bible Meetings Closed.

Rev. Anderson, evangelist of the Adventist church, closed his two-week series of Bible lectures and preaching here last week.

Rev. Anderson entitled his series of lectures or sermons as a Bible Chautauqua, which it truly was, he taking for his theme each evening an entirely different subject, yet one relating to some phase of Bible teaching, with absorbing interest to Bible students and religious leaders everywhere, and themes pertinent to the salvation of fallen men.

The evangelist proved himself to be master of the subjects upon which he founded his various discourses and was able to give a clear insight into many religious questions and conditions so poorly understood by the masses of the people.

He also proved himself to be an able and interesting speaker, as was evidenced by the continuous audiences that gathered night by night to hear him.

Good Profits from Good Cows.

Dairy cows producing more than 300 pounds of butterfat in the six community dairy demonstration herds in DeWitt county last year made more than double the profit above feed cost of those producing from 150 to 175 pounds of fat, according to J. A. Oswait, county agent.

Nine of the 99 cows in the demonstrations were included in the top class for records covering 11 months, and returned a profit above feed cost of $67.42 each, while the low producing class averaged only $26.68 for the period. Robert Randow, with 22 cows, made a net profit about feed cost of $119.52 in 11 months with production that averaged 270 pounds of fat. Seventeen acres of clover pasture in the winter, and 45 acres of sudan grass in the summer, contributed largely to the yield. Pasture was charged to the cows at $5 per head per month.

The Issues of Today

Address of Congressman Marvin Jones.

Our government has passed thru the formative period. Its foundations were properly laid. The past at least is secure.

But the present and future hold the things that are real moments to those who are living today. It is fitting and proper that we should study the lessons of the past and that we should profit by the experience of those who have gone before.

But with these lights before us we must meet the present day problems.

This is the strangest time in American history. With only six per cent of the world's population and one-twentieth of her geographical area, we produce one-half of the world's finest steel, 60 per cent of her cotton, 60 per cent of her telephones and 80 per cent of her automobiles. There is an abundance of food, feed and clothing within the four corners of this fruitful land.

And yet business is at a standstill. Many people are in want, and millions tramp the streets in idleness. The prices of farm products are far below the cost of production. It is a time to analyze, to take stock, and to endeavor what is wrong with our system of distribution. We cannot blame all of our troubles on world conditions.

Centralization.

It is apparent that there has been too much centralization in government. It is growing top-heavy. It is too expensive. These expenses must be cut. Bureaus must be eliminated. The same applies to state governments and the subdivisions thereof. Some of these have increased in even greater proportion. There must be a revival of old-fashioned economy all along the line.

There has been much talk of this centralization in government, and properly so. I am glad to note that there is a swing back in sentiment.

But there has been an even greater centralizing in business. It has outstripped the centralization in government. In fact, the ever narrowing control of money and business has been largely responsible for the centralizing of government. At least the two have gone hand in hand.

This has tended to destroy individual initiative. It is gradually taking away personal opportunity.

The philosophy of Alexander Hamilton, carried to the extreme by the Mellon financial regime, is responsible for much of our present day conditions.

There has been much talk of doing something for foreign countries, or moratoriums, loans and financing, and not enough of placing our own house in order. Our primary responsibility is to ourselves and our own people, although of course the foreign contacts cannot be ignored.

Special Advantages.

For many years the manufacturing interests of America have been laboring under the banner of protection. During all these years the farmer and ranchman have had very little protection.

We produce a surplus of cotton surplus of wheat, and a surplus of other major farm commodities. No direct tariff can place these commodities on a basis of equality with other tariff-laden articles.

The entire system should be readjusted in such a way as to remove, in so far as possible, this inequality, and restore to the farmer what is now taken away from him in the form of increased prices on tariff-laden articles.

When you destroy the purchasing price of agriculture, a slow, creeping paralysis will naturally begin to affect other portions of the economic body.

There are discriminations in our freight rate system. When industrial commodities are shipped abroad, the freight rate is reduced to encourage exportation.

One of two courses should be pursued: Either agriculture should have similar reductions, or the reasons now accorded industries should be removed, so that the entire freight structure may be readjusted, and thus all commodities treated alike.

If it is right to encourage the exportation of iron and steel and farm implements by reducing the railway rates on exportation, why would it not also be wise to make these reductions apply to wheat and cotton?

A long-established wrong does not become a vested right.

Behind tariff discrimination, behind a discriminatory freight rate system, in the shadow of a non-functioning department of justice, in the presence of a silent chief executive, this country has developed too many mergers, combinations and trusts. The law is being flouted and almost wholly disregarded. These are not idle words—they are cold facts.

Financing.

Too much of the financing of the country has been by the issuance of excessive bonds, excessive common stock, the pyramiding of holding company upon holding company and the selling out of these stocks and bonds in such a way as to require excessive charges if returns are to be paid on this system of financing. Some of these stocks and bonds have been sold throughout the country, which complicates the situation.

The decentralization of business as well as of government, the restoring of individual business opportunity, the placing of small factories in the outlying sections alongside the farm community, the uniting of the two in mutual interest, the stopping of excessive short selling, the entire revamping of the money system so as to do away with the control and dictation of a few men are some of the things that must be brought about. Here lies the sheet anchor of our Republic.

In the readjustment, there should be a greater amount of local control of local ownership, and local production of the needs of the country.

This statement is not made in hostility to any business concern or institution, big or little; but the large concerns, as well as the smaller ones, should comply with the laws of the county in carrying out their business operations.

Immigration. We decry Communism, and properly so. Any person, who being unable to persuade the majority to accept his theories, advocates the use of the bomb or the torch or other violent means of forcing his ideas upon an unwilling majority should be deported. The further admission of such characters should be prevented under immigration laws, which should be strengthened in every possible way. About either of these propositions there is no difference of opinion among good citizens.

An Equal Chance. But while doing this without stint or limit, we should use every effort to remove from our laws those injustices which are sometimes a fruitful cause of discontent. A country in which every citizen has equality of opportunity, is not a fertile soil for wild theories.

The gravest danger of our country is not the soap-box orator, but as he sometimes is. Let us not mistake the form for the substance. The most insidious danger is the selfish, complacent men who undertake to get an unfair advantage in the economic fabric of the country.

These matters are not mentioned for the purpose of discouragement but to stimulate thought. All of us have been in some degree responsible. We have been living in a jazz age, with a spirit of "sally in the moonlight by the watermelon vine". But people are thinking and are becoming more interested in the principles of government. This is encouraging, as governmental affairs are always better administered when the people take an interest.

However, if all discriminations were removed the problems would be only half solved. After all people must work out their own salvation.

Artificial methods usually fail. This is the experience of our own as well as other lands.

After equality is established a real contribution can be made toward the solution for the farm problem by the promoting and finding of new markets for farm products and the waste products of the farm. The great packers have made most of their money out of the by-product of their industry. The same program can be applied to farm production. Local factories should be established throughout the Nation near the centers of production of our great raw materials, so that these may be put into the finished form without expensive long shipments. Industry and agriculture will thus dovetail into each other and will furnish an immediate market for each other.

It will do no good to whine about conditions. We have the resources, the production, the genius and the energy. There is no shortage of labor or supplies. We have mastered the machinery of production. The problem of this day is the mastering of the machinery of distribution. I have explicit faith in the history, traditions and institutions of America, and in the mettle and stamina of her people. She will meet this problem face to face and solve it.

An acre of alfalfa planted last February by J. D. Rippen of Llavaca county was worth $75 to him for hog grazing, and the most valuable acre on his farm, he told the county agent.

Tuberculosis is almost unknown among meat eating animals and it is claimed that the hog is absolutely free from disease. Meat is included in the diet of tubercular hospitals.

People of nations that eat red meat are from two to five inches taller than none-meat eating people.

Local Politics Warming Up; Much Interest

The political pot is beginning to "simmer low" in Parmer county, and especially in Frona, so far as national, state and county politics are concerned.

Several of our good candidates for county offices have already announced their intentions and desires in the newspapers of the county, and have handed in their good money for this privilege, and there are rumors and more rumors of other prospective candidates for the various county offices who will probably make their wants known in the near future through these same channels.

So far there are none of the same candidates of whom the Star cannot speak in highest terms and feel that it is doing the people of the county at large a good turn in so doing.

Candidates for some of our county offices have not yet announced, and it is rumored that when all announcements are in there may be some changes in the roll of county officials, but we feel sure there will be no change in the efficiency of the service the people of the county are now receiving. None of these candidates are asking their home newspapers for any free hand-outs, but are willing to pay for all publicity given them, and the Star is glad to show them any just and reasonable favors. However, we cannot say so much for the many candidates for state offices, whose announcements come to our desk.

As to the national political pot, it is only good natured conjecture so far as Frona citizens are concerned. There is, however, an occasional heated argument as to whether it will be Smith, Roosevelt or some other who will receive the nomination for president. It seems to be taken for granted that no one will be daffy enough to even suppose that Hoover will receive any consideration at all along that line. Some insist that Bill Murray, of Oklahoma, will get the Democratic nomination, and in that event there is no questioning the outcome locally.

As to state politics there seems to be about as much irony as real sincerity expressed with regard to state candidates. There are a number of announcements coming to the editor's desk each week, stating the loyalty and willingness of some dear patriot to cast his life and talents on the state's sacrificial altar to serve the "dear people".

In Wichita Falls is a man who is willing to sacrifice himself as a candidate for governor and whose campaign committee, it appears, would willingly supply us with enough free copy each week to completely fill the Star's news columns, which if accepted would save the editor from sweating blood in his efforts to dig up enough suitable copy to fill at least one page. However, we have scanned these letters closely each week and have been unable to find the least trace or hint of a greenback, post office money order or check of any kind, hot or cold, in return for "any favors you may see fit to cast our way".

The same is true of a man down in Houston or Galveston or some other city in the distant part of the state, who says he is willing to run for governor on the Republican ticket. Now most of our people do not know what that means. But we have also searched his letters in vain for any evidence accompanying lucre.

Then we found on our desk Monday morning a very consoling letter from Mrs. Myriam A. Ferguson, one of our former governors, better known here as "Ma" Ferguson, in which she states that she has yielded to the urgent best of her thousands of friends throughout the state to again dedicate her life to the service of the "dear people" by denying herself the ease and comforts of home life and take upon her shoulders the heavy burden of official duties in which she will be assisted by her husband. Neither was there any presence or hint of stipend for the printer contained in this letter. But perhaps this should not be expected when we consider the soul-trying services rendered when this same aspirant once before bore upon her shoulders the tremendous burden of office.

In conclusion, let us say that practically all of these free-will contributions to our local papers bear these instructions, "for immediate release", and in conformance with which we very gently hold them squarely above the nearest waste basket—not too high above—and then follow instructions.

Japan is educating her people to eat more meat and the Japanese government is spending a lot of money for publicity favorable to meat eating. Japanese scientists claim they will be able to increase the stature of the population two to three inches by getting the people to include meat in their diet.

LIVING STANDARDS RAISED AT LOW COST

A total of 205 farm living rooms in Johnson county were improved in 1931, as an outgrowth of the work of nine demonstrators who made extensive improvements under the guidance of Miss Ora Stone, home demonstration agent.

Most of the improvements were those brought about by the expenditure of very little money, as the records show that a total of only $155.58 was spent. The chief changes made were the improvement of light and ventilation, papering and painting walls, improvement of floors and woodwork, screening and refinishing furniture.

Other home demonstration work in the county resulted in the canning of a six months supply of food by 287 cooperators who followed the lead of 11 4-H pantry demonstrators, and the beautification of 302 farm yards by planting trees, shrubs, lawns improving or removing fences, building trellises and laying stone walks.

Lean beef is the only food that gives strength and sinew without making fat. All athletes go on a meat diet when going in training for any contest or combat. Prize fighters are all great meat eaters and there are no vegetarians among the champions either in sports or athletics.

FACTS ABOUT MEAT EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW

By Theo. H. Lampe.

Beef is the only substitute for milk for children and meat eating young animals, and can be digested and retained in the stomach when even milk fails.

Beef is the best bone builder for growing children of all foods and prevents bone disease and tooth decay.

A large hunk of beef makes the best teething ring possible for a child cutting teeth, and supplies digestible nourishment to under-nourished children.

So simple is the heart of man. So ready for new hopes and joy: Ten thousand years since it began. He left it younger than a boy. —Brooke.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Showing for the last time tonight are James Dunn and Linda Watkins in "Sob Sister," a newspaper story depicting two differing types of news writing. Manager Parker of the Star is making the picture a special attraction by admitting two persons for the price of one ticket; that is, if one person buys a ticket to tonight's show, a friend may be taken in free at the same time.

Tomorrow and Saturday Tom Tyler brings a typical western story to the Star in "Partners of the Trail," which will also show for Saturday afternoon's matinee.

One of the greatest pictures of the past year makes its first showing at the Sunday afternoon matinee at 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock. "Over the Hill," being a talking version of a famous story and former silent movie. James Dunn and Sally Eilers furnish the love interest, with Mae Marsh making a return to the screen in the role of the old mother going "over the hills to the poorhouse". Manager

Parker is to be highly complimented upon bringing pictures of this type to his patrons, the story is one whose sweetness will linger long as a refreshing memory. The picture will also show next Monday and Tuesday.

The prime horror picturization of the past year, if not for all time, comes Wednesday and Thursday of next week with "Frankenstein," a story that strives to surpass the imagination of Edgar Allan Poe in delving into the unreal and impossible to bring to the senses feelings beyond utterance. It is said to be the prize scary story of all time.

What the Mirror Told Ruby Newman.

When I was first made into a mirror, from plain glass, I felt very queer indeed. It took me almost a week to become accustomed to my present position.

About three days after I was placed on sale a nice looking young gentleman came and bought me to honor his ladies ready-to-wear store. This delighted me very much. But not even in my fondest dreams could I imagine the adventures I would now have.

As I was very beautifully framed he placed me in the head department. One day as I was about to get the blues a large, over-weight lady came in. She asked for an evening gown. The lady clerk, Grace by name, showed her a deep blue which matched her eyes and slendered her form. But she yearned for a bright dress. Grace wondered if she were crazy, but brought out a brilliant red evening gown. When this was placed upon her she came and gazed at it. The dress made her look extra large and gawky. But she bought it. It tickled me so I laughed until I shook. Grace thought a young rogue was hiding there and shaking me so the lady could not see well. She stepped behind me so I stood very still. The next day a slim woman came in and bought a dress of very light pink. This should have been sold to a young lady of 16, but was bought by a lady of 35. She looked so comely I laughed until I cried. Grace again thought someone was playing a practical joke on her. Again I silenced myself and she never knew the catch of it all. But sometimes I thought the real reason she retired behind me was so she could laugh without causing any hard feelings.

Afterward I learned to curb my emotions better. There were some very funny and some very beautiful women who came in to the store. Many funny accidents happened and many times I laughed until I cried.

But one day a small boy threw a rock in the window and hit the center of me. I broke into many pieces. I was thrown away. Many children found me and I honored many play houses. But finally the guardian angel gathered me home. As every one must do, I have given only a brief account of my life.

Baptist Church.

Ninety-five were present at Sunday school, and notwithstanding bad weather, there was a congregation present for the evening services. During B. Y. P. U. hour Miss Eva Dilger played a piano solo, The Shepherd Boy, followed by Miss Rosella Dixon in a reading, What Is Living? by Edgar A. Guest, both of which numbers were entertaining and inspiring. Next Sunday evening the young married people's group are to give a special number for that hour.

Prayer meetings are held regularly at the church Wednesday evenings at 8:00 and all are welcome. A training course is now in progress for the benefit of those who wish to avail themselves of such training, which has for its purpose the preparation and efficiency of the Sunday school and its teachers.

Following is the program for the senior group of B. Y. P. U. for next Sunday evening:

Leader: Eva Dilger.
Introduction: Leader.
The Bible picture of Jesus: Rosella Dixon.
Jesus had a real human body: Alice Baker.
Jesus had a human soul: Vaden.
Jesus, the son of man: Hazel Ware.

Chapel Program.

Thursday morning was regular chapel day and the high school met with the grade school. Rev. Annals gave an interesting talk on Salt. The Gushing sisters, Roberta and Bonnie Lee, played a very pretty piano duet. After the program Mr. Heath made a few announcements, after which chapel was dismissed and classes met at 9:45.

Congregational Church.

Attendance at Sunday school and worship hour was about an average. Several young people who are away teaching and attending school were home for the week end and were present.

At the close of Sunday school, Mr. Reeve stated he had received a letter from Rev. D. E. Stark, a former pastor of the church, to the effect that his connection with the church he is now serving would expire about May 1, and that he would be pleased to consider a call to return to this field at that time. Rev. Stark is well liked by members of the congregation and relinquished his pastorate here at his own election. If the church feels financially able to call a pastor at that time he will probably receive the call.

Following the usual devotional program of the church services, Mrs. T. J. Crawford read a radio talk that was prepared and broadcasted by the pastor of Trinity Church, New York City. It was filled with inspiring moral and social truths and deep religious precepts, and was well delivered and listened to with deep interest by all present.

Next Sunday's program as prepared by the committee will be in honor of Washington's birthday, and is as follows:

Leader: Logan Symphon.
Hymn, Old Hundred.
Pledge to the Flag: Congregation.

Song, The Star Spangled Banner.
Talk, George Washington, Leader of Men: Weldon Whitefield.

Song, male quartet: Milford and Lex Alexander, Clyde Goodwine, Charles Reeve.
Talk, George Washington, the Christian: John White.

Prayer.
American's Creed: Congregation.
Song, America.
Benediction.

Community Meeting Program.

Sunday night is the regular date for the Union Layman's meeting which will be held in the Methodist church, beginning at eight o'clock.

The program committee has prepared the following program for the occasion, which promises to be one of the best that has been prepared:

Orchestra numbers.
Hymn.
Scripture reading and prayer.
Singing: Ladies' Quartet.
Address: G. A. F. Parker, of Hereford.

Loss and gain of the Eighteenth Amendment: Prof. Geo. A. Heath.
Vocal solo: Mrs. Johnson.
Reminiscence: Logan Symphon.
Newspaper Propaganda and the Vote.

The general public is cordially invited to attend this program, which will be deeply enjoyable to all who appreciate a truly religious service that is a little different from the ordinary. All are welcome.

Letters received from Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kluskey state that they arrived at their destination in California without mishap of any kind and feeling very well. According to these letters it has been raining there every day since their arrival.

Health Hints

Pyorrhea Can Be Cured.

"There is a popular impression that pyorrhea can not be cured. This is absolutely false, except in those advanced cases where the incurable stage has been reached. It should therefore be very plain that with this disease the proverbial 'stitch in time saves nine,'" states Dr. C. J. Hollister, chief of the State Health Department's dental section of the state of Pennsylvania.

"The secret of a successful pyorrhea cure lies in its early detection and proper treatment. The dentist must have a chance to detect its presence as frequently the patient is more or less unaware of its existence. He must then be given an opportunity to treat it or direct the case to a practitioner who makes a specialty of this type of service.

"One of the main treatment features involves instructing the patient to care for the teeth and the gums properly. As a matter of fact had the victim been sufficiently interested to have acquired this information years before and then had conscientiously applied it daily, the need for pyorrhea treatment would in all probability not have developed.

"Another false idea connected with this affliction is that mouth washes, medicated toothpastes, and patent concoctions afford definite and permanent relief. The fact is that in nearly all pyorrhea cases drugs play little if any part in the treatment. What the family dentist or specialist actually does is to remove the dead membrane which always adheres to the root of the tooth. He also scrapes away tartar which has formed. The failure or success in this treatment is based upon the efficiency and completeness with which the dentist does his work—that, plus the intelligent home care of the mouth.

"It is therefore seen that there is no reason to despair if one discovers that he is a victim of pyorrhea. The main concern in the problem is to have it discovered soon enough.

"Incidentally, pink tooth brush does not always mean the presence of this disease. However, an habitually pink toothbrush is sufficient to send you running for an opinion. Let your dentist decide."

LINDSAY NUNN SEES IMPROVED BUSINESS COMING—FINDS JOHN GARNER'S POPULARITY BROAD

Back from a lengthy business trip to St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Washington and other points, J. Lindsay Nunn, prominent newspaper publisher, is convinced of two things he observed:

A definite upturn in business is expected, and second, John N. Garner has a remarkably growing support for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Asked what the eastern bankers expect of business in 1932, Mr. Nunn said:

"This is rather a hard question to answer. There doesn't seem to be any definite opinion expressed by the bankers as to when there will be an upturn, but I find a feeling that any further change would be for the better. Decidedly they feel that the absolute bottom has been reached. The bankers and business leaders all seem to think that the Reconstruction Finance corporation is going to do a tremendous amount of good for the country and that it will allow certain banks which are carrying so-called frozen assets to borrow money on these assets thereby putting money back in circulation. The concrete help to be expected will come also to the banks which have been closed, a number of them which were not closed because they were broke, but because they had assets that could not be realized on as quickly as money was demanded by depositors. In the case of such banks it seems that it will be possible for them to reopen, borrow money on these slow assets, and then use this money in paying depositors. Naturally, if this is done it means that millions and millions of dollars will be actually placed in the hands of the so-called ultimate consumer, the general public.

Lost Confidence Hurts.

"I heard considerable comment from the various bankers in Chicago and other points on the matter of hoarding. It seems that the banks have been confronted during the past few months with the fact that their depositors were losing confidence, consequently they were not depositing their money in the banks, but holding it out. This tendency seems to have been arrested, and, as one banker in Chicago told me, they feel they have reached the limit on this and now that the government has taken a hand in it, there will be more money put on deposit and the general confidence of the people is returning. None of the bankers seem to think that we will have prosperity 'just around the corner'. They feel that we would probably have a month or two of the low ebb ahead of us, but with a constantly mounting level and that possibly after the summer is over we will see a return of normal conditions. However, the feeling seems to be that the crisis of the banking institutions has probably been passed and the general public is having their confidence restored.

About Politics.

Questioned about the impending party nominations, Mr. Nunn replied as follows:

"I heard more in the east about John Garner, present speaker of the house, than I have heard out here in this locality of the South-west where he comes from. I was very much surprised to find that political leaders, both Democratic and Republican, feel that Mr. Garner will stand a better chance of being elected president, if he is nominated, than Mr. Roosevelt. In Chicago, the Democrats predict that if Roosevelt is nominated, Illinois will go Republican, but that Garner can carry the state for the Democrats. In New York I found a feeling among both Democrats and Republicans that Garner can carry the State of New York, but that if Roosevelt is nominated it is doubtful if he can beat Hoover, although I have never seen a president so criticized as is Mr. Hoover, by both parties. The feeling in Washington is that any Democrat who is nominated will be elected, but of all the Democrats mentioned I find more comment mounting in favor of Ritchie, Baker and Garner, with Garner in the foremost. It is indicated that Ohio will go for Garner in the nomination.

Strange to say, I have heard very little of the wet and dry issue. The main issue before the people seems to be the economic conditions. This is one that is going to work to the detriment of Mr. Roosevelt in securing the Democratic nomination. The bigger business interests of the East seem to doubt somewhat that Mr. Roosevelt will be any saner in governing the country's affairs than has been Mr. Hoover, but the same folks are pointing to the record which John Garner is making ing in the house and pointing out his ability to handle the governmental affairs. There is no question that if Mr. Garner should be elected, he will certainly be president without dictation from sources which are inimical to the country's good. The congress, both house and senate, seems to be functioning more on the order of a board of directors of some huge corporation rather than the prevalent idea of a congregation of politicians. As to the wet and dry issue, of course that will eventually come in the Democratic party, because the other party is going to see that it is thrust into the Democratic party as propaganda to solidify themselves behind Mr. Hoover.

Hoover is probably a victim somewhat of circumstances. It is a fact that on all sides among all classes of people of both parties I heard criticism of his conduct of the country's affairs, yet he will, without doubt, be the nominee of the Republican party.

"Much to my pleasure I found that Marvin Jones, our representative, is taking his place in congress not merely as a representative from this district, but as a statesman for the country at large. Marvin is the head of the agricultural committee, which ranks with the three leading governmental committees, the other two being the ways and means and the appropriations. I gathered from all sources in Washington that Marvin Jones in handling his job well and is paying more attention to the work of the government than in worrying about re-election.

The success which he has attained is due not only to his ability, but to the fact that he has seniority in Congress surpassed only by a few. A congressman, to represent best his district, must have long service behind him, which shows that the district has done well in continuing to re-elect him from term to term."

Turning back to the federal corporation, Mr. Nunn added:

"Knowing Jesse Jones as I do, and judging by the comment which I heard from financial leaders, there is no question but that Mr. Jones will have considerable to say about the operation of this corporation. He will not be a 'yes' man and will remain on the committee only if his views are given serious consideration. However, there appears to be a unanimity of opinion between Mr. Dawes, Mr. Jones and the other committeemen to see that this corporation functions for the best interest of the entire country. Practically everybody is putting their faith in reconstructed business into the operation of the reconstruction corporation, and with the millions of dollars turned loose to the railroads, insurance companies, the larger and smaller banks all over the country, it is bound to bring back better conditions and Mr. Jones' idea will be given grave consideration in every case, because he is regarded both as an outstanding financial leader and as a man of foresight and broad understanding."
