List of Candidates for Places On School Board Grows; All Good Men for This Important Office

In last week's issue of the Star was given a list of three names that will be printed on the official ballot for the coming election for school trustees. These names were W. Reeve, J. B. McFarland and David Mosely.

In addition to these three names following have also been handed to the Star for publication as candidates for the same office: they are A. H. Boatman, living two miles south of Homeland; J. B. McClellan and E. S. White, both living in Friona.

These are all good men and capable citizens of the Friona school district and patrons of the school. The Star is not telling any of the readers for whom they will vote, but each voter should go to the polls on election day and vote for the men whom he thinks will most nearly carry out his own individual ideas as to how our school affairs should be managed, or refrain from complaining afterward should the results of the election be the reverse of what he thinks it should be.

The school belongs to all of us and it will be, to a large extent at least, the kind of a school the board of trustees thinks it should be, for that is exactly what the members are selected for. Therefore, if you would have it the kind of a school you think it should be, support the men in the election whose ideas coincide with your own.

Party at Whitefield Home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield and sons entertained a group of young people at their lovely farm home nine miles southeast of Friona last Friday night. The guests went a merry evening playing the old-fashioned evening games, with few games of bridge as a diversion. Refreshments of cocoa and like were served to the following guests:

Misses Esther and Mary Reeve, Glad and Floy Goodwine, Alice Meyer, Mary Louise Truitt, Orma White, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Buske, B. Buske, Audrey, Milford and Alexander, Leslie Ford, Hadley and Glenn Reeve, Heard, Otho and Weldon Whitefield and Billy Buchanan.

Died of Pneumonia.

A. C. Healey, 2½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hadley, who live a few miles south of Homeland, died at the Hadley home Tuesday morning from an attack of pneumonia.

Funeral services were held in the Church of Christ on Euclid avenue Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with interment in the Friona cemetery.

The bereaved parents have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their time of sorrow.

Friona Woman's Club Report.

The Friona Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. E. F. Sylvester, Wednesday, March 9, with a large number present, and the following program was rendered:

Response: A favorite book.

Review of Outstanding Modern Novels: Mrs. Minnie Goodwine.

Book review: Mrs. T. J. Crawford.

What Federation has done for its club: Mrs. T. H. Hughes.

Guests will be April 13. All guests are asked to respond at all call by naming their native state and telling some interesting things about it.

Mrs. J. R. RODEN, Reporter.

To Attend Illinois University.

David W. Hanson, accompanied by his son, Dayton W., Jr., departed on Thursday of last week to drive through to Tuscola, Illinois, where Hanson's former home, where they will visit for a while with Mr. Hanson's brother, John Hanson, and old-time friends there.

Dayton, Jr., it is reported, will return with his father, but instead will matriculate with the Illinois University at Champaign for the purpose of completing his degree course there. Dayton is a graduate of the Friona high school and has been in attendance at the W. T. S. T. C. at Canyon during the past winter.

Willing to Fight Fire, But Failed to Find It

Sunday night two of our citizens were awakened from slumber by a considerable commotion and noise and a very bright light in their immediate neighborhood. On looking from their windows and seeing the great light and hearing a most confusing commotion, they were assured that a fire had broken out in the home of their neighbor, and immediately sprang from their beds and hurriedly dressed and set out on the run to assist in extinguishing the fire, which, owing to the high wind, was likely to spread over a good portion of the city.

These two men were W. H. Warren and F. W. Reeve, and Mr. Reeve's agility enabled him to reach the scene of the fire first and imagine his surprise and amusement to find that the light was caused by a circle of automobiles that had partially surrounded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sheets, and the great commotion was coming from a group of young people who had gathered there for the expressed purpose of treating the newly married bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sheets, to an old-time, jubilant charivari.

Seeing that his services were not seriously needed, Mr. Reeve turned back toward his home, which was just across the alley, and met his neighbor on his way to the fire. Informing Mr. Warren of the nature of the commotion and the bright light, they both quietly returned to their homes and their slumbers.

But the act showed proof positive that their hearts are in the right place, when they think a neighbor is in need of their services.

Off to Rio Grande Valley.

F. W. Reeve and F. N. Welch left here early Monday morning enroute to Laredo in Webb county, in the Rio Grande Valley, to visit some land owned there by Mr. Reeve.

The immediate cause of the trip was a telegram received one day last week by Mr. Reeve from oil men in that country asking him for a lease for the purpose of drilling for oil on the land.

The applicant agreed to put the well down to not less than 2000 feet, and asked for immediate information as to the lease. Mr. Reeve wired him that he would be there within a week and asked Mr. Welch to accompany him. They expect to be away at least a week and perhaps longer, as the nature of their business may determine.

A Dog Show Here Saturday.

A man from the arctic regions, with a queerly constructed truck body and several dogs made his appearance on our streets Saturday evening and soon had a big crowd of spectators, mostly men and boys, crowded around him.

He said he was from the arctic regions and we are sure he was at that time a long way from home. But he said as it may be, he put on a good free show on the streets, demonstrating the method of travel by dog team and sled, only his sled had wheels as well as runners, and after hitching about 12 or 14 dogs to this sled they took him whirling along the street.

Following the open air demonstration in the street, he gave a show inside the Texan theatre a little later in the evening and those who attended expressed themselves as well pleased with the show, which included many of the tools and household implements used by the folks in the far North.

H. P. Tapp Moves to Littlefield.

H. P. Tapp, who has for the past few weeks been working as barber in Jack Anderson's shop here, has severed connection with the shop and moved to Littlefield. Mr. Tapp spent two days of last week in Littlefield and was here Monday making arrangements to move his family and household property to that place. During his brief stay in Friona he made many friends by his genial and courteous disposition, and these friends sincerely regret to see him leave.

Singing Convention Here Next Sunday

Friona people who are lovers of song music are urged not to forget the community singing to be held here Sunday afternoon at the Texan Theatre.

This promises to be one of the best, if not the best, singing conventions ever held in Friona, and there will be celebrated singers here from other towns and some from a far distance.

Among these attractions will be the Echols brothers trio from Clovis, who will be here and during the program will give some of its best selections in gospel and sacred songs. The leader of this trio is a business man of Clovis and is one of the most popular singing teachers in the Southwest. It is thought that he may be prevailed upon to organize a singing school in Friona.

Another group of singers is the Stamps quartet from Miami, Florida, who are making a tour of the South, and will be in this part of the Panhandle at that time. The Stamps brothers have won an enviable record throughout the South as composers and publishers of sacred songs and music, and this splendid quartet is pronounced one of the best of their organized groups of singers.

No admission fee will be charged and everybody is cordially invited and urged to attend and enjoy the good singing that will be given by these noted artists in song.

Construction Paper.

The Star has just received an assortment of those beautifully-colored sheets known as "construction paper", for use in the home and school.

Teachers and students desiring this pretty paper for their school work may be supplied at the Star office at very reasonable prices. We have also received a fresh supply of card board, both heavy and light, white or in colors. Paper materials which we do not have in stock may be ordered for your convenience.

Water Patrons Soon to Pay for Water Used

L. G. Simpson, city water superintendent, is quite busy this week setting water meters for water users who have no meters.

It is the plan of the city commission to place all water patrons of the city under meter service just as rapidly as is possible.

A. E. Stevick improves premises.

O. E. Stevick, local concrete worker, has reported the completion of a nice job of concrete work for Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stanley at their home in the east part of town.

They have a pretty home there and have just finished a block concrete walk from the street to the front door, other walks from the front of the house around either way to the rear, another from the rear door to the garage, and a concrete driveway from the street to the garage.

This improvement not only increases the convenience of the home grounds, but also adds materially to their beauty and value, and such improvements are always commendable.

"Persistent, continuous newspaper advertising for the past ten years," is the explanation given by the Plough Chemical Company, Memphis, Tenn., for its forward march and regular dividends despite the depression.

City Political Pot Gets Ready To Steam Up

The city's political pot began to simmer a little Wednesday when some citizens prepared a ticket and circulated a petition for the names to be printed on the official ballot for the city election to be held on Tuesday, April 5.

From the best authority the Star was able to secure the names to be placed upon this ticket were M. A. Crum, for mayor; and J. A. Blackwell and D. H. Meade for commissioners. Whether or not other names will be placed on the ballot remains to be seen, but if such is done the Star hopes to be able to give the names of those that may be placed thereon. Mr. Crum and Mr. Blackwell have stated their disinclination to serve should they be elected.

Improves Country Home.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hughes, whose farm home is two and a half miles northwest of town, are having some very substantial and attractive improvements made on their residence.

The most prominent is the construction of a concrete porch on the north side or front of the home, adding convenience and attractiveness to the premises.

A Good Program.

The program rendered at the Union Layman's meeting at the Congregational church Sunday evening was one of especial merit, and kept the quality and interest in these meetings up to their usual high standard of worth and interest.

Owing to the high wind and the amount of dirt being carried in the air, the usual large attendance was prevented, but a fair-sized audience was present and most of those who were to take part in the program were present. A few of the program participants, however, were absent.

Three of the musical numbers were absent and at least one of the readings was absent. Mrs. L. G. Simpson and Mrs. Raymond Mapples each delivered readings of excellent interest and sentiment, and each was well rendered, the readers demonstrating their ability as readers.

Prof. Wayne Eubanks' ability as a public reader and orator is being well known here and his selection on this occasion was well up to the usual standard of his performances and his audience was well pleased with his selection and delivery.

The next meeting of this kind will be held on the third Sunday night in April at the Methodist church unless some of the other churches of the town should express a desire to join in these union meetings.

The usual excellence of quality in the program for that occasion may be expected.

May Buy Star.

T. L. Wright of Borger and Harry Chenoweth of near Panhandle, were business visitors in Friona Monday. Mr. Wright is an employee in the Borger Herald office, and Mr. Chenoweth, his brother-in-law, is a farmer. Mr. Wright was here inspecting the probabilities of the Friona Star as an investment, with a view to buying the paper and plant. They are two very genial young men.

"Sixteen to Gallon," Or Mayhaps a Quart

O. E. Stevick has a patch on strawberries on his place in the southwest part of town on which he says he has raised some of the finest berries he has ever seen, and had he taken more pains with his plants he could have raised many more and much larger berries.

Mr. Stevick stated that he had seen statements in seed and nursery catalogs where it was claimed that 18 berries of this variety would make one quart, and that he had doubted the statement until he had seen the berries that grew in his own patch, of which he believes he could easily have found 16 berries that would make a quart.

Being unacquainted with the best arts of raising strawberries, Mr. Stevick allowed his plants to make too many runners, which says lessened their production of berries, but they have given him instead, according to his estimation, about 20,000 good thrifty plants. He would be willing to let some of these go to his neighbors should they want some of them. In fact, he is carrying an ad in this issue of the Star to that effect. This is no joke.

T. D. Ballard told us of some berries he once saw, six of which were so large as to fill an ordinary quart berry box. Those must have been real berries, too. Then some one else told of strawberries he had seen that had to be cut into quarters in order to get them into a Mason fruit jar. He stated also, with regard to these berries, that they were too large for the amount of sweetness and flavor allotted to them. Anyway that is the kind of berries that appeal to the writer, since I have never seen a strawberry too big to suit me.

High Winds Cut Capers In Friona Territory

The wind, which blew with some fierceness Sunday afternoon and night and Monday, apparently amused itself by performing a number of antics in this locality, mostly to the disgust and discomfort of some of our citizens.

J. E. Ware, who lives three miles south of town, reported that he heard a rattling outside his house and looked out to see his farm wagon backing off across a field at considerable speed. He rushed out and by running overtook the wagon, grabbed the tongue and cranked the front wheels and thus brought it to a stand still.

A number of concrete blocks were blown from the top of the south wall of the new cafe building being erected on the south side of the Texan theatre, causing considerable labor and some expense to replace them on the wall.

Clyde Seamond left his car standing in front of the Friona State Bank and on going out to it a little later found that the wind had backed it down the grade until it had come in contact with a telephone pole near the Santa Fe Grain Company office.

Another citizen reports his chicken house moved some 15 inches east from its proper location.

O. G. Turner, owner of the theatre building here, has announced that he has just about completed arrangements whereby he will become the sole owner of the building and equipment, and will soon be ready to open for regular and steady business.

Mr. Turner has some mighty good shows booked for this week and the Star has printed a lot of snappy dodgers announcing the fact. Watch for them.

Texan Theatre to Open.

O. G. Turner, owner of the theatre building here, has announced that he has just about completed arrangements whereby he will become the sole owner of the building and equipment, and will soon be ready to open for regular and steady business.

Mr. Turner has some mighty good shows booked for this week and the Star has printed a lot of snappy dodgers announcing the fact. Watch for them.

Easter Program.

The Easter program of the Congregational church has been quite busy this week training the young folks of the church for the presentation of an unusually interesting Easter program.

This program will be rendered at the church during the usual worship hour, 11:00 a. m. Sunday, to which the public generally is cordially invited.

Carroll Bowen of Clovis called on friends and relatives here last Wednesday.

Letter from Ben F. Ridge Assures Cotton Growers of Friona Region New Gin Will Be Ready for Crop

Accommodating Biddies Read Advertisement

The following story is credited to a former director of advertising for one of the largest oil companies now doing business in this country:

A merchant kept hens about a mile from his home, and daily his wife fetched home about fifty eggs.

For three consecutive days she found the nest empty. The hen house door was intact and so was the lock; therefore, how had the thieves got into the shed?

On the following morning when she met all the hens on the road nearly half way from the shed to the house. Whatever they were doing there she could not tell.

When she next went to tend to the fire, she was surprised and delighted to find a solution to the mystery. There in the coal bin were all the eggs.

"Now, how thoughtful of those hens to save me the trouble of fetching the eggs," she thought.

She fully understood the matter when her husband got home that night, and told her of having seen all their hens in a row on the fence looking at a new poster that read: "Now is the time to lay in coal."—Zeigler, Illinois, News.

Spent Week End at Home.

Miss Lola Goodwine, who is employed in Borger, arrived here Friday evening and spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Goodwine, and her brother, Clyde V. Miss Floy, who is teaching at State Line school, also spent Saturday and Sunday at home. Each of the young ladies returned to their respective places of employment Sunday afternoon.

To Visit at Nocona.

Mrs. Erwin Johnson and daughter, Miss Jewel, departed Monday morning for Nocona, where they will visit with friends and relatives for several days, spending the greater part of the time in the home of another daughter, Mrs. Otto L. Kile.

She drove into Friona and made the trip with Mrs. F. S. Truitt and daughter, Miss Mary Lou, who were returning to Gainesville after spending a week here at home with Mr. Truitt.

Good Demonstration.

Howard G. Morris, of the Buchanan & Rossow Implement Company, reports a good attendance at the farm equipment demonstration here Thursday afternoon.

There were about 50 men reported present and the weather and soil were in ideal condition for the demonstration.

Leo McLellan Improving.

Leo McLellan, who was taken to the Hereford hospital last week for an operation for appendix removal, is reported as getting along nicely. His friends hope to have him at home again in the near future.

Pretty Linoleum Patterns.

The Star's observer has seen some of the prettiest patterns in linoleum in one of Friona's hardware stores that he has ever seen. By the way, there are some rugs advertised this week at real "depression-breaking" prices. Better look them up.

The Star has some very nice bond letterhead and typewriter and mimeograph paper on its shelves at very attractive prices. Call and see this nice paper if you are in need of anything in this line.

C. S. Waddell, manager of the Friona gin here for the past two years, has received word from Ben F. Ridge, of Duncan, Oklahoma, owner of the gin which burned down a week ago, relative to its rebuilding.

Mr. Ridge stated in his letter to tell the farmers of the gin's territory to go right ahead and plant all the cotton they wish to plant, and that they can rest assured that there will be a good gin on the ground in ample time to take care of the crop and large enough to take care of all they may bring to it.

That is surely putting the gin proposition in a manner to avoid all uncertainty as regards a gin being located at Friona for Friona people have come to know that Mr. Ridge well enough to realize that when he makes a statement it can be absolutely depended upon, which, in this case, means a thoroughly dependable gin with ample capacity to handle the crop, will be re-established at Friona.

FRIONA LOSES IN ONE-ACT PLAY CONTEST AT CANYON

Canyon.—Friona's high school one-act play cast was defeated in the district contest here Friday by the cast of the Panhandle high school. Both schools were playing "Mansions", a favorite of high school actors. The work of the Friona cast which had been directed by Wayne Eubanks, was considered very good. The Panhandle team which defeated it, went into the semi-finals where it was in turn defeated by the Miami high school team, which won the meet.

Miami will represent this district in the bi-district contest, which will take place at Ardmore early in April.

Thirteen teams participated in the meet at Canyon. Prof. W. E. Lockhart was in charge, assisted by Prof. C. W. Batchelder of the Speech department. Judges were teachers of speech or members of the Little Theatre organization in Amarillo. Amarillo high school did not enter a team this year.

The final interscholastic league events of the year will take place in the big literary and field-meet at Canyon April 22 and 23.

L. F. Lillard Home.

Lawrence F. Lillard, one of Friona's highly esteemed pioneer citizens, whose farm home is seven miles northwest of town, and who has been in the Hereford hospital for the past ten days, was able to return home Tuesday.

Mr. Lillard was taken to Hereford where he underwent a surgical operation for hernia, which operation was successful and the patient made rapid recovery to the extent that he is able to be at home. However, he will not be allowed to leave his bed for 21 days.

Mr. Lillard's many friends here are truly pleased to know of his much improved condition and the prospect of his early recovery.

Return to Gainesville.

Mrs. F. S. Truitt and daughter, Miss Mary Lou, who spent the past week here at their home with their husband and father, departed Monday morning on their return trip to Gainesville.

The son, Frank Truitt, is attending college in Gainesville, and is making excellent progress.

The School Proposition.

As the time for the school election draws nearer, there is more and more interest manifested in the election of trustees for the Friona school.

Some contend that too much is already being paid for the support of the school, while others contend that it is hard to spend too much for a good school.

No body hears a word about there ever being too much spent for candy, chewing gum, movies, joy riding and many other such things, but too much for schools is a constant cry.

Here is what the Dallas News has to say about this matter:

"Addressing the business planning conference of university, state and federal research agencies Monday, President H. Y. Benedict of the University of Texas repeated the comparative argument that school men have popularized in recent years. The United States annually spends more for candy than the combined income of its colleges and universities. Our pleasure automobile bill is four times the total expenditure for schools. Texans spend for chewing gum as much as for the University. Their per capita expenditure for tobacco is twice as high as their state taxes. Texans spend twice as much for soft drinks, candy, the movies, the theatres as they do on schools, though the state's per capita expenditures for school of Texas children is only two-thirds the national average."

Pentecostal Church Notes.

The Sunday school lesson was studied with unusual interest, as we were looking into the great lesson of Christ giving himself away as a sacrifice for sin; for when he told the Jews he was the son of God they readily grabbed at the chance of saying He had blasphemed. This was done that the prophecies might be fulfilled where it is said: "He gave himself a ransom for many." For next Sunday our lesson will show how he overcame death, and in so doing shows us how we can also overcome it.

Remember the time, 2:30 Sunday afternoon at the music room of the grade school. Also prayer service on Thursday night.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of conveying our heart felt thanks and sincere appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and words of comfort given us in our hours of deepest grief during the sickness, death and burial of our beloved son, A. C. Hadley.

Methodist Church Notes.

On Tuesday, March 29, from two to four o'clock, at the home of Mrs. O. B. Annis, there will be a social meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society. All women who are interested in the missionary work of the church are invited to come and enjoy this meeting.

On Easter Sunday an appropriate program is to be rendered at the Methodist church at the eleven o'clock hour. The program committee, composed of Misses Boston and Lewis and Mrs. Raymon Jones, has arranged a worthwhile program in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. The public is invited to attend this service. The usual service will be held at the evening hour.

Rev. O. B. Annis who has been confined to his bed for the past two weeks, is convalescent and expects to be able to be in his pulpit Sunday evening.

The choir of the Hereford Methodist church has accepted an invitation to render a program here on the occasion of the next Union Laymen's meeting, April 17. Under the direction of Mrs. J. C. McCracken, these singers are rendering some splendid programs—splendid from the standpoint of both numbers selected and artistic rendition. We trust that the public will keep this program in mind and hear these unusual artists in their line.

The hour will be one of entertainment, but it will be more than that—it will be also a time of inspiration and real worship. There seems to be nothing more conducive to worship than worshipful music properly rendered. This is the aim of these singers.

Smoky Price motored to Clyde, Texas, Sunday and returned home Tuesday. He was accompanied home by his wife, who had spent the past three weeks with her mother at Clyde.

Mrs. Wright Williams, Miss Juanita Crow and T. A. Williams spent last week end at Abernathy with home folks.

Charley Lunsford of Farwell was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Walker of Mills, New Mexico, are spending this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker in Friona.

Mrs. Shelby Jersig and little daughter of Bovina, who spent the past week here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Weir, returned home Wednesday.

Carl C. Maurer, proprietor of Maurer's Ready-to-Wear, is busy making preparations for a big spring sale. See his ad in this issue of the Star.

Miss Winnie Williams of Texico, who has spent the past two weeks with friends here, returned to her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sheets were in Clovis Thursday.

Do not forget to visit the Santa Fe demonstration train here Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

You can buy some mighty nice bond paper in letterhead size at very attractive prices at the Star office.

If you have used machinery for sale, advertise it in the Star's classified column.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Finishing up tonight is a comedy classic worthy of commendation from every source, "The Unexpected Father", featuring Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts in a sketch that warms the hearts of young and old alike. It is easily the best entertainment for weeks. And not to be outdone, those two worthies, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, put in their usual uproarious appearance in a short comedy, "Any Old Port" in which the two famous characters get inveigled into a prize fight that is a riot. To complete the value, Manager J. C. Parker is selling a dollar's worth of fun for special prices, two admissions being accepted for 30 cents, one cent more than the price of one.

The sequel of the famous Zane Grey story, "Riders of the Purple Sage," comes Friday and Saturday, with George O'Brien playing in "The Rainbow Trail," the scenes being laid in the Grand Canyon, the setting conceded the best for all outdoor pictures.

Sunday's afternoon only matinees and Monday evening will bring Ruth Chatterton playing in "Tomorrow's Tomorrow" in what is said to be one of her greatest screen successes, portraying her type of acting and the theme of a story for which she is most noted.

Tuesday and Wednesday will feature a "kid" picture that has made one of the biggest hits of the last year, with little Robert Coogan, playing with Jackie Cooper in "Sooky," which is conceded to be the equal of the latter's "Skippy".

Thursday of next week will bring one of Manager Parker's free shows, one he guarantees to be a good entertainment, with everybody given a cordial invitation to come out without cost.

JESUS RISES FROM THE DEAD

(Easter Lesson)

John 20:11-20

11. But Mary was standing without at the tomb weeping; so, as she wept, she stopped and looked into the tomb;

12. And she beheld two angels in white sitting, one at the head, and one at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

13. And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

14. When she had thus said, she turned herself back, and beholdeth Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

15. Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16. Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turneth herself, and saith unto him in Hebrew, Rabboni; which is to say, Teacher.

17. Jesus saith to her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended unto the Father; but go unto my brethren, and say to them, I ascend unto my Father and your Father, and my God and your God.

18. Mary Magdalene cometh and telleth the disciples, I have seen the Lord; and that he had said these things unto her.

19. When therefore it was evening, on that day, the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

20. And when he had said this, he showed unto them his hands and his side. The disciples therefore were glad, when they saw the Lord.

Golden Text: But now hath Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep.—1 Cor. 15:20.

Time: The resurrection, Sunday, April 9, A. D. 30. The appearance to the eleven, including Thomas, a week later. The ascension, Thursday, May 18, A. D. 30.

Place: Jerusalem, the upper room. The Mount of Olives near Bethany.

Introduction.

"Jesus and the resurrection" was the outstanding theme of the preaching of the earliest church (Acts 2:31, 4:2, 17:18). Every recurring Sabbath—observed by us Christians not on the seventh, but on the first day of the week in commemoration of our Lord's resurrection—should recall it to our minds. And the majority of Christians thing that it is well also upon one particular Sabbath of the year's Sabbaths—Easter Sunday—to concentrate our thoughts upon that victory of life over death in which our Lord perfected his Saviourhood; to go back and stand with the little group of the more devoted disciples around the empty tomb, and be filled with gladness and edified in faith, as they were. For without doubt the resurrection was the supreme transforming that made those wavering, despairing followers of his into heralds and heroes of his cross and martyrs of his love.

The world needs constantly to be reminded of this truth and fact of a living Christ (I am he that liveth, and was dead; and behold, I am alive for evermore.—Rev. 1:18).

The Woman at the Tomb.
The first visitors to the tomb of Christ, after the Jewish Sabbath was passed were women. This is just what might have been expected, for we know the consideration in which Christ held womanhood, so unusual at the time, and the loving response which women gave.

As the women drew near to the tomb, they were wondering how they could manage to roll back the great stone which closed its entrance. But, like most of our worries, this proved unnecessary, for as they reached the tomb they saw that the stone had been removed, and jumped to the conclusion that the Lord's body had been stolen. Quickly that woman of action, Mary Magdalene, ran back into the city to tell Peter and John and stir them up to find the body of Jesus. The other women, however, drew closer to the tomb and there saw two angels who announced Christ's resurrection and bade the women hasten and carry the good news to the disciples.

The Contrast—Despair and Hope.
The contrast between the two pictures of Mary presented in this chapter is striking. First she stands without the tomb, weeping; the early morning is dark and dismal; the loved Master is dead, and there isn't even left the comfort of his tomb: "They have stolen the body of my Lord!" Then suddenly we see her rushing off to tell the good news to the brethren: "I have seen him alive! He lives!"

We all have our dark hours; our time of broken hopes and shattered faiths. But the gospel of Christ is ever saying to us what the Psalmist said, "Though weeping tears with you for a while, joy cometh" (Ps. 30:5). It is the voice of the wheel of nature; bright sunshine and warmth after the gloom and chill; or vernal beauty succeeding winter's death. Passion Week brings out this contrast: Gethsemane, the shameful insults in the Pretorium and council chamber, the mock trial, the cross—dissolve into the life, light and gladness of the resurrection morning.

Christ Appears to Mary Magdalene.
"But Mary was standing without at the tomb weeping." Mary Magdalene, after notifying Peter and John, had been unable to remain away from the spot where her longing love centered. She returned, therefore, to the tomb, from which the other women had by this time gone, reaching it also after the departure of Peter and John. She did not venture to enter the grave, but gave full vent to her sorrow outside. "So, as she wept, she stooped and looked into the tomb." The entrance to the cave-like excavation in the rock was low, and the floor of the tomb was probably lower still. It would be a melancholy pleasure to Mary to see the spot rendered sacred by the body of her Lord, though it had been removed.

The Lesson from the Empty Tomb.
The empty sepulcher into which Peter and "that other disciple" and Mary Magdalene looked may be regarded as one of the emblems of the Christian gospel. It is an "exhibit" of Christ's great declaration at the tomb of Lazarus: "I am the resurrection and the life." Evil can entomb righteousness, but not for long; the coffin and the grave can shut away your loved one, but only for a night, only until the sunshine brings back the morning.

"I Have Seen the Lord."
"Mary Magdalene cometh and telleth the disciples, I have seen the Lord." Doubtless the apostolic band were all together, perhaps in the upper room, excitedly discussing the news of the empty tomb which Peter and John had brought them. Now comes a still more startling confirmation of the resurrection. How thrilled must the beloved disciple have been when he heard Mary exclaim, "I have seen the Lord!"

Peter Sees His Lord.
Sometime on that first Easter Sunday our Lord granted a special, private interview to Peter, the disciple whose denials of Christ during his trials had been such a grief to both of them. But Peter had been more manly than Judas. The despair of the traitor had led to the coward's death of suicide. Peter with true repentance, had fought with his shame, and had determined by a life of heroic service to make up for his terrible sin. This interview was too sacred for Peter to disclose its words or even its nature. Luke merely mentions it (Luke 24:34) and Mark, whose Gospel was, according to tradition largely dictated by Peter, says not a word about it. John, however, was present when Peter was fully reinstated as an apostle, and has given us a full account of it (John 21:1-23) in one of the most moving and graphic of Scripture narratives.

The Two of Emmaus.

The fourth appearance of the risen Lord was to two disciples, one of them named Cleopas, who on that Easter afternoon were walking home from Jerusalem to Emmaus, about 7½ miles from Jerusalem. Luke (24:13-31) tells how an unknown stranger joined them and fell into conversation about the crucifixion of Jesus, showing them from the Old Testament prophecies that the career of the Messiah must have been precisely like that of the crucified Jesus. At their request he went to their house in Emmaus, assumed the place of host at the evening meal, and was known to be the Saviour by his manner of blessing the food. Then he straightway vanished from their sight. At once, late as it was, they walked back the long miles to Jerusalem to report their wonderful experience to the apostles.

"Peace Be Unto You."

"Jesus came and stood in the midst." The plain implication is that our Lord entered the room in a supernatural way, through the door or wall. His risen body was a very real one, as he proved; it could be handled, and it could receive food; yet it evidently was superior to natural laws. "And saith unto them, Peace be unto you." This was the usual form of greeting, but never more meaningful than then. They were terrified, thinking that he was a ghost (Luke 24:37), and their spirits needed this calm assurance.

"And when he had said this, he showed unto them his hands and his side." Luke 24:40 says "his hands and his feet," and that he bade them "handle" him and prove to themselves his reality. "The disciples therefore were glad when they saw the Lord." Their sorrow was turned at once into great joy, as Christ had prophesied would come to pass (John 16:20). "Now let the heavens be joyful! Let earth her song begin!"

Let the round world keep triumph, And all that is therein! Invisible and visible, Their notes let all things blend, For Christ the Lord hath risen, Our Joy that hath no end." —John of Damascus.

Congregational Church Notes.

Following the Sunday school hour Sunday, the congregation enjoyed a rather novel church service by listening to a sermon that was being delivered in a distant city.

L. G. Symson of the program committee had installed his radio on the church rostrum and at the proper time it was tuned in on one of the Amarillo stations, and those present had the pleasure of listening to a sermon delivered by the Rev. Yates of the First Baptist church of that city. The local congregation joined with the Amarillo people in singing the hymns.

On the coming Sunday the worship hour will be taken up with the Easter program being prepared by the primary and intermediate departments of the Sunday school. To this program the entire public is cordially invited.

LEAD IN BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT

—Where the newspaper leads, the community follows. When the newspaper begins to show evidence of retrenchment; when it reduces in quality, the business people of the community feel that it is time for them to retrench, purse strings begin to tighten, and employment is reduced.

—When the newspaper evidences increased confidence in business conditions, when it improves in quality, the business men and the people of the community generally feel that business conditions are improving. This confidence, born of newspaper leadership, grows rapidly, bringing with it improved business conditions.

—The Star is associated with the tremendous National movement, on the part of newspapers, demonstrating to the peoples of each community that their community is on the way to normal business conditions.

We invite visitors to our club, which meets every Friday morning from 9:45 to 10:30 in room 3.

Better English Club, Patrol II.

The English III class, Patrol II, presented a splendid program Friday, March 19. The program consisted of several readings and songs. A dialogue was to have been presented, but one of the characters was absent.

The class meets at 1:45 p. m. and lasts until 2:30 p. m. The teacher, Miss Deaton, and the members cordially invites visitors. We feel that they will enjoy the program.

Tournament.

Don't miss the county baseball, volleyball and tennis tournament that will be held in Frona March 26.

Commercial Law Questions.

1. Jones, who broke the handle of Johnston's axe which he had borrowed, refused to repair the handle. Can he be forced to do so? 2. Doe lost his valuable diamond ring. Roe found the ring, and knowing that it was Doe's started to return it to him. On the way to Doe's house a stray dog ran into Roe, causing him to fall. Due to the fall the set fell out of the ring. On whom does the damages fall? If Doe had advertised for the ring, offering a reward for its return, would there be any difference in the court's decision? 3. Brown borrowed Jones' lawn mower. He used it one day and at night he left it on the lawn near the house. During the night it was stolen. What is Brown's liability? 4. A farmer sold corn to a miller. Neither party said anything about delivery. The farmer delivered part of the corn to the mill, but he refuses to deliver the remainder, arguing that it is the duty of the buyer to call for it. Is the farmer right? 5. Brown went away on a trip. In his absence he left his flock of poultry in Smith's care, who was in turn to receive all of the profits from the chickens while caring for them. Smith, who had plenty of eggs and chickens of his own, exercised no great care in tending to Brown's flock. This caused a decrease on the ground of ordinary negligence. Who is held liable? 6. Jones owed Brown a debt. Brown was unable to pay, so Jones demanded as security for the debt a radio belonging to Brown. The debt was to be paid within one month, but Brown had not paid at the time designated, and Jones sold the radio. Two days later, Brown paid the debt and demanded the return of the radio. Can he get it back?

Commercial Law Answers.

1. Title is the legal right of ownership of certain things or objects commonly known as personal or real property. It is very important to know when the title or ownership passes to the buyer. In case of the property being lost, destroyed, stolen or found, the loss or gain should go to the person having the title—the ownership. 2. The necessary elements of a valid sale are: First, parties competent to contract—vendor and vendee; second, agreement that the title to the thing is to be transferred to the buyer; third, the subject matter, the title to which is in the seller; fourth, the consideration—payment, or the agreement for the payment—of the price in money; fifth, the agreement must result in a legal sale. 3. The goods are at the buyer's risk as soon as delivered. If they are lost or destroyed, after delivery, while in the buyer's possession, the seller can collect the full amount due. 4. In tracing the title of the watch, we find that it is still Hill's and he can recover it. A person cannot sell anything that is not his own. A purchaser does not acquire a better or greater title in goods than the seller. The title to the note would face under the exception of the rule that applies to the watch, and Hill cannot recover his note. If negotiable paper is taken in good faith, the purchaser acquires title. 5. The buyer would suffer the loss because the title of cows passed from the seller to the buyer and the time the contract was made for. "It is immaterial whether the payment, or delivery, or both be postponed to some future time;" and "The goods remain at the seller's risk until title is transferred to the buyer, unless it is otherwise agreed. When the title has been transferred to the buyer, the goods are at his risk, whether they have been actually delivered or not." 6. No. Young would not have to pay for the piano because this is a conditional sale and title does not pass from the buyer to the seller until the condition is fulfilled and the one who has the title is responsible for the loss. 7. Mr. Smith brought suit and the court held that Mr. Jones would have to pay the $80 for the tank, which was the current selling price, since he did not mention the price at the time of the sale. 8. If Brown could prove the thief stole the car through no fault of his own, the loss would fall on the one who held title to the car, or Smith. 9. The mail order house would be held liable because title to the goods was in the seller's name. When a shipper agrees to ship and pay the transportation charges, title does not pass until the buyer actually receives the order. The mail order house will either have to refund the $100 or make a new shipment. They can bring suit against the railroad company.

Miss Winnie Morris of Roswell, New Mexico, who has spent the past three weeks here in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. R. Maples, returned to her home Sunday. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Maples and sons, Virgil and Kenneth, who returned home Sunday night.

SPRING TERM AT W. T. S. T. C. GETS UNDER WAY

Canyon.—The spring term of W. T. S. T. C. got under way this week with no decrease in enrollment. Already Dr. J. A. Hill and his faculty are at work on plans for the mid-spring term, which begins April 21, and for the summer session of 12 weeks, which opens June 6.

College administrators say that students are spending less money than ever known, but that they are doing excellent work in most cases. A large percentage of the students in the Canyon College do light housekeeping, many of them receiving some supplies from home, thus keeping their expenses to a minimum. Entire expenses for the summer session are being estimated at from $65 to $125, the last figure being considered very generous.

Baptist Church Notes.

Attendance was excellent at all services, there being 129 present in Sunday school and about 100 in B. Y. P. U. At the morning service only old songs were sung, and the pastor preached on the text, "Seek ye the old paths, and walk ye in them." Misses Virginia Short and Goldina Highfill sang a duet entitled, "The Old Fashioned Meeting." At the assembly period of B. Y. P. U. Dorothy York sang "In the Garden." Following the B. Y. P. U., Misses Lazalia Hunt and Zelma York sang a duet, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," after which a home missionary program under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society was presented. The program, which was prepared and executed under the management of Mrs. Dixon, Highfill, and Dilger, was interesting, inspiring and impressive.

The baptizing was announced to be held next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at a tank about nine miles west of town on the north road. The pastor announced that he would preach next Sunday morning on the subject, "Would You Know Jesus?" and Sunday night on the subject, "The Ministry of the Holy Spirit." All day services are to be held the second Sunday in April, the day being designated as roll call day. All members of the church are urged to be present on that day.
