Body found in field south of town

On Monday, June 10, Randy Boeckman was plowing a field on the west side of south Hwy 214 just beyond the overpass when he spotted what turned out to be the body of a male. The Department of Public Safety's helicopter, a Texas Ranger, Sheriff Gerjes and his deputies, and the Friona police converged on the scene.

The body was sent to Lubbock for autopsy. It is believed to be that of a Friona man missing since April 24. Officials are awaiting positive identification and autopsy results. Sheriff Gerjes said the investigation will continue into the cause of death. Gerjes said he would issue a press release as soon as more details are confirmed.

Burn ban lifted

During their regular Monday meeting, Parmer County Commissioners lifted the county burn ban effective until June 24, the date of their next meeting. Controlled burns need to be reported to the Sheriff's Office in advance to prevent unnecessary fire calls. Continue to use caution and good judgment in all outdoor burning.

Gary Brown will celebrate 50 years at Friona State Bank

Friona State Bank, soon to be named Friona Interbank, invites their friends and neighbors to help celebrate Gary Brown's 50th anniversary with the bank.

They are kicking off a celebration of President Brown's anniversary as well as a name change by hosting a sausage wrap on Friday, June 21, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on the grounds of the bank.

"Gary has been active in just about every part of our community since his move to Friona," said bank spokesperson Marca Herring. "We encourage you to stop by and join in our special celebration."

Council hears damage report, approves sidewalk sales

The Friona city council met Monday June 10 in council chambers at 619 Main St. with all members present. Mayor Rick White presided. Guests were Police Chief Frank Mooney and new police officer Raul Martinez.

The council approved sidewalk sale permits for Donna Baker and Bi-Wize Pharmacy. Miss Baker will hold a sale in the old Baker Seed Building at 421 Euclid June 14-15. Bi-Wize will have a sidewalk garage sale also June 14-15 at the store on Main St.

No action was taken for a variance requested for a carport at 1411 Euclid because the persons requesting the variance did not have complete documentation from neighbors in the area.

Chief Mooney gave a police department report. His activity sheet for May included four assaults, two thefts, one report of vandalism, and one case of domestic violence with a weapon. He told the council that the hail damaged four police vehicles. Repair will be made in Clovis. One car had a windshield already replaced in Lubbock. That same car sustained damage to the light bar on top of the vehicle. Chief Mooney said it would cost $2,000 to replace. Police officers were out in the hail and rain storm last Wednesday assisting stranded motorists, especially in high water on Hwy 60 near the golf course.

A power outage also had officers monitoring the stop lights on Hwy 60. New officer Raul Martinez was introduced to the council. Chief Mooney said he still had one vacancy on the police force.

After discussion and approval of May accounts receivables and financial statements, the meeting was adjourned. The next meeting of the city council is Monday July 8 at 6:30 p.m. in council chambers, 619 Main St. All council meetings are open to the public.

City warns against dumping shingles

With the hail damage from last week now being assessed, Friona city manager Patricia Phipps reminds residents and roofers that the City of Friona does not have a landfill for disposing of shingles. No shingle dumping will be allowed in the city roll off box.

Roofers will need to find a landfill for dumping shingles. The cities of Hereford, Clovis, and Amarillo have landfills. There is a $1,000 fine for dumping shingles anywhere in the city limits of Friona. Shingles can be dumped in the county dump box on FM2397 west of the Hwy 214 overpass. County commissioner Kirk Frye said an attendant is at the site from 12:30 - 5:30 p.m. Tuesday thru Saturday. There is no scale at the county dump site. Loads of shingles must be weighed prior to dumping.

Roofing companies are required to get a permit from the city. Cost is $10. An information form is filled out and proof of insurance is required. Residents who will be having their roof replaced are advised to make sure the roofing company is aware of the above information.

Hospital scholarship recipients

Parmer Medical Center is pleased to announce the recipients of the fourth annual Parmer Medical Center Community Scholarship Program. The purpose of the scholarships is to promote service excellence in health care for Parmer County by assisting capable and qualified students interested in pursuing healthcare related professions.

For 2013 three deserving students were selected to each receive a $2,500 award. Sajal Patel, a Friona High School graduate, is planning to attend Texas Tech University and has chosen radiology as her profession.

There were two recipients this year from Farwell High School. The first, Olivia Schilling, plans to attend West Texas A&M. Her career choice is in the field of nursing. The second Farwell recipient is Lydia Gomez who plans to attend Odessa College. She plans to become a nurse.

Hospital spokesperson Heidi Eichenauer said, "The PMC Board of Directors and staff all wish a hearty congratulations to each of the scholarship recipients. An additional thank you goes to each of the other students who also plan a medical career and took the time to apply. Parmer County can be proud of the young people in our area."

This home in the Western Addition is typical of the scene around Friona on Thursday June 6 after the hail and rain storm from the night before. Blue tarps covered skylights and windows broken by the hail up to baseball size. Many vehicles sustained dents and broken windows as did many roofs in the area. Insurance adjusters were busy during the week as the repair process began.

Letter to the Editor

Hi Ron,
As always I look forward to the Star and news about one of my favorite places in the world. I saw the notice in last week's paper about a group cleaning the Oklahoma Lane Cemetery and called the person in charge, Tommie Felcher, to tell her how much my sis and I appreciate the care given to that cemetery.

We have several relatives buried there including our little brother, and it is always so clean and peaceful. Just never know what you'll read in the paper. We also received a picture from Bobby Thompson of the decorated graves of our parents and brother in the Friona Cemetery. Not sure who shared that love with us but surely was thoughtful and appreciated.

Darrell Barlow, my daughter-in-law's father and former Friona resident, has had some serious health issues but is on the mend and enjoying the care of his granddaughter who works in the rehabilitation center where he is recuperating. He'll be ther for several days but already looks and feels so much better.

Blessings,
Jacquelyn Magness Franklin

metadata and me

Learned a couple of new words this week. The world is drowning in data so it should not surprise us if the government is mining some of it. When I think of mining it usually relates to coal or gold. I could never be a miner. Too claustrophobic. Can't imagine myself two or three miles underground chipping coal.

Now there is a new kind of miner that doesn't need a hard hat with a light on it. You could have a mining career in a comfy office chair in front of a few mega-computers and "mine" data. Is that a title you could print on a business card? Ron Carr, Data Miner.

I drove to Denton last week on Hwy 287 and Hwy 380. At two gas stations along the way the gas pump asked for my pin number AND my zip code. No doubt the gas pump was owned by a data miner. Why else would a gas pump want my zip code? Guess they want to know where their customers come from.

The current brouhaha about the National Security Agency (NSA) collecting every phone call and every email from every citizen in America and some overseas is interesting. It is not new but has just now become an issue. You have been followed, videoed, and data shared for years. It came to light that we are also spying on Germany's data and boy are they peeved at us.

Finally enough citizens have become concerned about the IRS and NSA intimidation tactics that it has become an issue. Even liberal TV and newspaper s have criticized the intrusion on personal privacy by the Obama government. (Don't say Bush started it).

The IRS and NSA are collecting data, harassing Americans, and when questioned are flat out lying. There is no softer word to use. They are liars.

The big secret facility in Utah, home to the NSA Data Mining Company, is larger than the U.S. Capital. The two new words I now know are metadata and yottabytes. Metadata is data collected from data. A yottabyte is one septillion bits of info. Good to know.

My first digital camera used a floppy disk. Remember them? Then I remember buying a 126 megabyte card on which I could put about 20 photos. Next came 256 megabytes, 512 megabytes, gigabytes, and tetrabytes, all with rapidly increasing storage capacity. One 2-gig card can store about 900 pictures in my camera. Today 2-gig camera cards are obsolete. The smallest you can still buy are 8-gigs all the way up to 64-gigs and more.

Most of us do not need anywhere near that storage capacity and if so we can transfer our data to a tetrabyte-plus hard drive. External hard drives are our own little data mines.

I shouldn't even be talking about bytes and data and stuff because I know nothing much about it. I'm content in my own limited data world. I know about as much today as I ever need to know about life and your data.

The president felt compelled to come out and tell us that they are not listening to our phone calls and reading our emails. I think he would have been better off just keeping his mouth shut about the matter. He basically said "trust us, we are not spying on you." That is sure comforting sir! He made the criticism worse from both Democrats and Republicans.

Another "scandal" is slowly emerging about State Department folks running around the world hiring prostitutes and sexually harassing foreign workers at our embassies. This happened under Secretary of State Hillary Clinton's term. Oh well, I'm sure it is nothing to be concerned about.

What difference, at this point, does it make?

Town Talk II

By Ron Carr • Phone: 250-2211 • Fax: 250-5127 • Email: frionastar@wtrt.net

I was absent when the rain and hail storm hit Wednesday evening. Was in Denton to attend a grandson's high school graduation. Based on the number of vehicle windows, home windows, skylights, and roofs damaged, guess I was fortunate to be absent. Highway 60 flooded on the west side of town causing many stranded vehicles. Friona police were wading in cold water to push cars out of the roadway.

The Chieftain golf tournament scheduled last weekend was canceled due to the hail and rain storm that closed the course. It is rescheduled to this Saturday, June 15. Tee time is 9:00 a.m. 4-man scramble, $240 per team. Music, burgers, prizes. A fundraiser for Chieftain football camps. Several openings so get a team together and have some fun. For more info call Coach Mike Prokop at 575-760-8998.

Anniversaries to mention: Jody and Dee Lewellen celebrated 24 years. Tyson and R.J. Barrett Kerby celebrated a seven year anniversary. (You don't have to be married forever to get a mention here.) Jon and Rachel Douglas chalked up 18 years. Dwight and Gayle O'Brian celebrated 50 years on June 1.

Mentioned elsewhere in this Star are Floyd and Eva Rector who will observe their 65th anniversary June 16. Happy anniversary to all of these June brides (and grooms). Let us know if you have an anniversary to mention. Yes we do glean some of this anniversary info from Facebook.

Representatives from Congressman Randy Neugebauer's office will be in Friona Monday, June 17, from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. at the city council chambers, 619 Main St. If you have any input into congressional matters you want to pass on to Mr. Neugebauer drop by and meet with his staff.

Fireworks sales can officially start Monday June 24 through July 4. The county commissioners will discuss the fireworks situation in the county at their June 24 meeting. In the meantime, TNT has been running a classified ad with us looking for someone to work their fireworks stand.

The Friona Economic Development Corporation will sponsor a Kid Fish Day on Saturday July 6 from 9:00 a.m. to noon at Reeve Lake. More details later on.

The 29th annual Greg Black Memorial Run in Hereford will be Saturday, July 20. The 10K, 5K, 2 Mile run and walk starts at the Hereford YMCA. Entry fees before July 20 are $15/$20. T-shirts and caps are available if you sign up early. There is a lot of info about this race so to learn all about it pick up a registration form at the Friona Chamber of Commerce office.

AgriLife Extension Agent Monti Vandiver reports that very high winds associated with recent storms have added "in-sult to injury", damaging crops, sprinkler irrigation systems, and power poles. Some storms contained damaging hail. The injury to corn at this stage should not result in measurable yield loss. Much area cotton has sustained varying degrees of damage, some of which is severe. To read Mr. Vandiver's entire Northwest Plains Pest Management newsletter go to mrvandiver@ag.tamu.edu.

Slight correction: Last week in the Lions Club News we said County Probation Officer Bruce Gipson had 800 clients on probation. That number should be 508 total probationers in Parmer/Bailey counties. Mr. Gipson said 65% of his annual budget comes from probationer fees. We apologize for the error.

Volleyball and basketball camp for girls in 3rd to 8th grade will be held at the end of July. Volleyball is July 29-31. Basketball is July 31-August 2. Fee for one camp is $40. Discount for both camps is $70. Campers who sign early get t-shirt and cap. For more information call Coach Darrel Ray at 575-749-2880.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a carnival July 2-5 at Reeve Lake. Rides, food, games. Armbands are $15 in advance at the Chamber office or $20 at the gate. July 4 fireworks are still pending at this time.

Friona native Dawn Watson has been hired as the new Bovina elementary school principal. She replaces Darla Sealey who has taken a position in the administration building. Dawn comes from Kelton, near Wheeler where she was school librarian. She was formerly an extension agent in Deaf Smith County. She is the sister of Shana Fleming, Parmer County Extension Agent.

Is there is chicken raising revolution here? Last week I ran into Carolyn Stowers at the post office. She was picking up a box of baby chickens shipped from Iowa. Reminded me of my youth when lots of folks in Hillsboro, including my family, raised chickens. I remember well picking up boxes of baby chickens at the post office or train depot. Several other folks around the area have taken to raising chickens.

Yes I drove to Denton last Wednesday for my grandson Harrison Holmes' Coppel High School graduation. Enjoyed the 75 mph speed limit most all the way. Didn't enjoy the big city traffic, especially on I-35. The graduation was held in the University of North Texas Coliseum. There were about 675 graduates. The coliseum held three graduations each day for four days. It was a busy place with a good share of traffic jams. Enjoyed visiting with my daughters Candee, Kirsten, and Megan. Megan lives in Denton, Kirsten in Frisco, and Candee in Coppell. Megan was my driver. I kept my eyes closed a lot. Was good to get back home on Saturday evening.

Cargill is celebrating its 45th anniversary for the Friona plant. It opened in June, 1968 as Missouri Beef Packers. We will be printing a series of articles and accomplishments at the Friona plant the next couple of weeks.

As I usually do, I attended the city council meeting Monday evening. We have a couple of new council members and a new mayor. They meet the second Monday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at 619 Main St. Most meetings last about 30-45 minutes. These are volunteers who attend to the business of the city.

Although all meetings are open to the public, there is seldom anyone in attendance from the public. In fact I could safely say never. Too bad. It would be good if members of the public sat in on the council meetings to see how city business is handled. I invite you to attend a meeting. I think the council would appreciate it too.

Went by the high school Wednesday morning to have a look in the new activity center. (Photo on the front page.) There is a lot of construction in progress in the high school building. The activity center is huge. Workers are finishing the walls and installing heating, cooling ducts and electricity and all the stuff that goes into the construction. In the high school they are installing all new lighting and set to begin putting on a new roof. It is all a mess right now but there will be a new look when school starts in August. I was told the activity center should be completed in the fall. Then there is the parking lot to work on.

The city pool opened this week, a week late because they had to replace a filter. A big filter according to city manager Patricia Phipps. The plastic chairs they use for folks to sit around the pool were beat up and cracked in last week's hail storm.

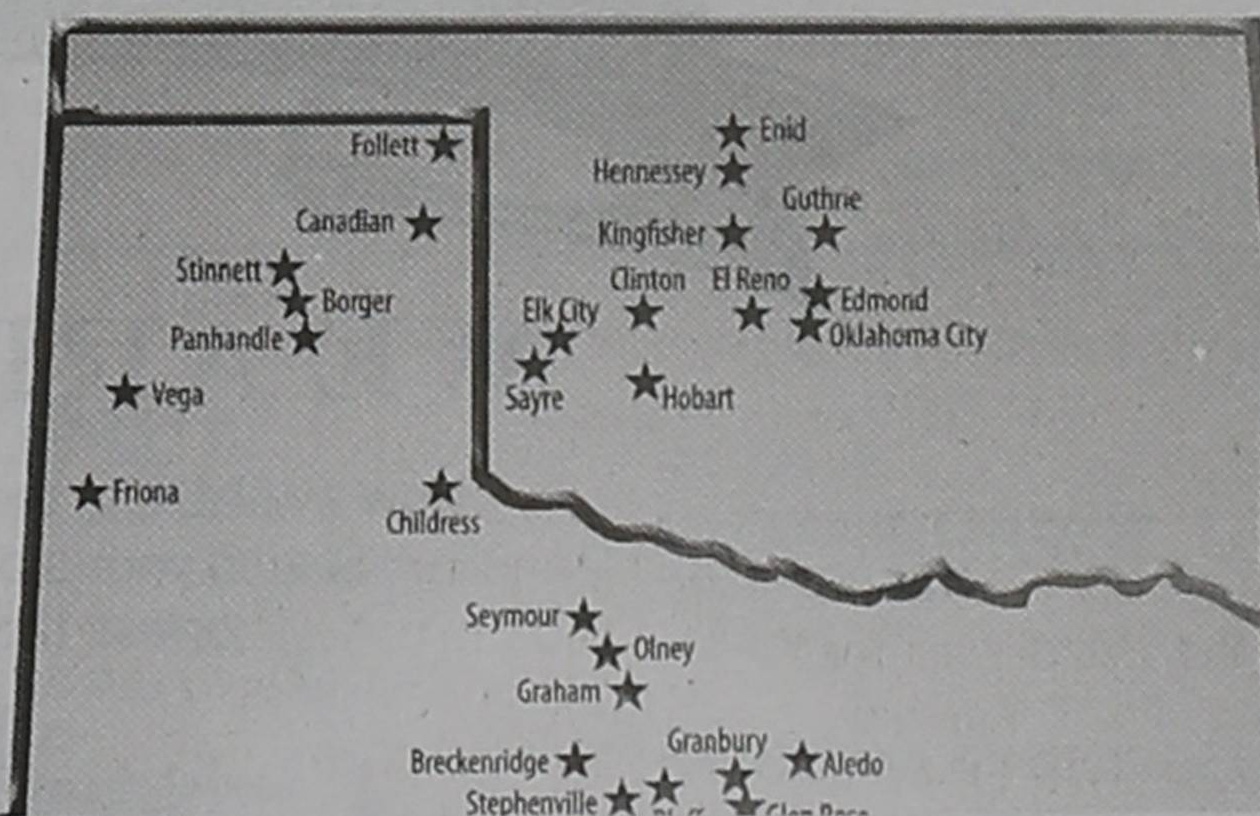

Thanks for reading and supporting our community newspaper. Send along news and photos from your summer vacation or anything else we might be interested in. See you next week. Until then!

Vehicles in Friona took a pounding Wednesday night June 5 as a hail and rain storm buffeted the area. Up to baseball size hail and two inches of rain fell on the area causing high water on west Hwy 60. Friona police officers worked to push stalled vehicles off the road. Local insurance agents said they are receiving up to 60 claim calls per day.

Library Readers Explore the Buzz about Bees

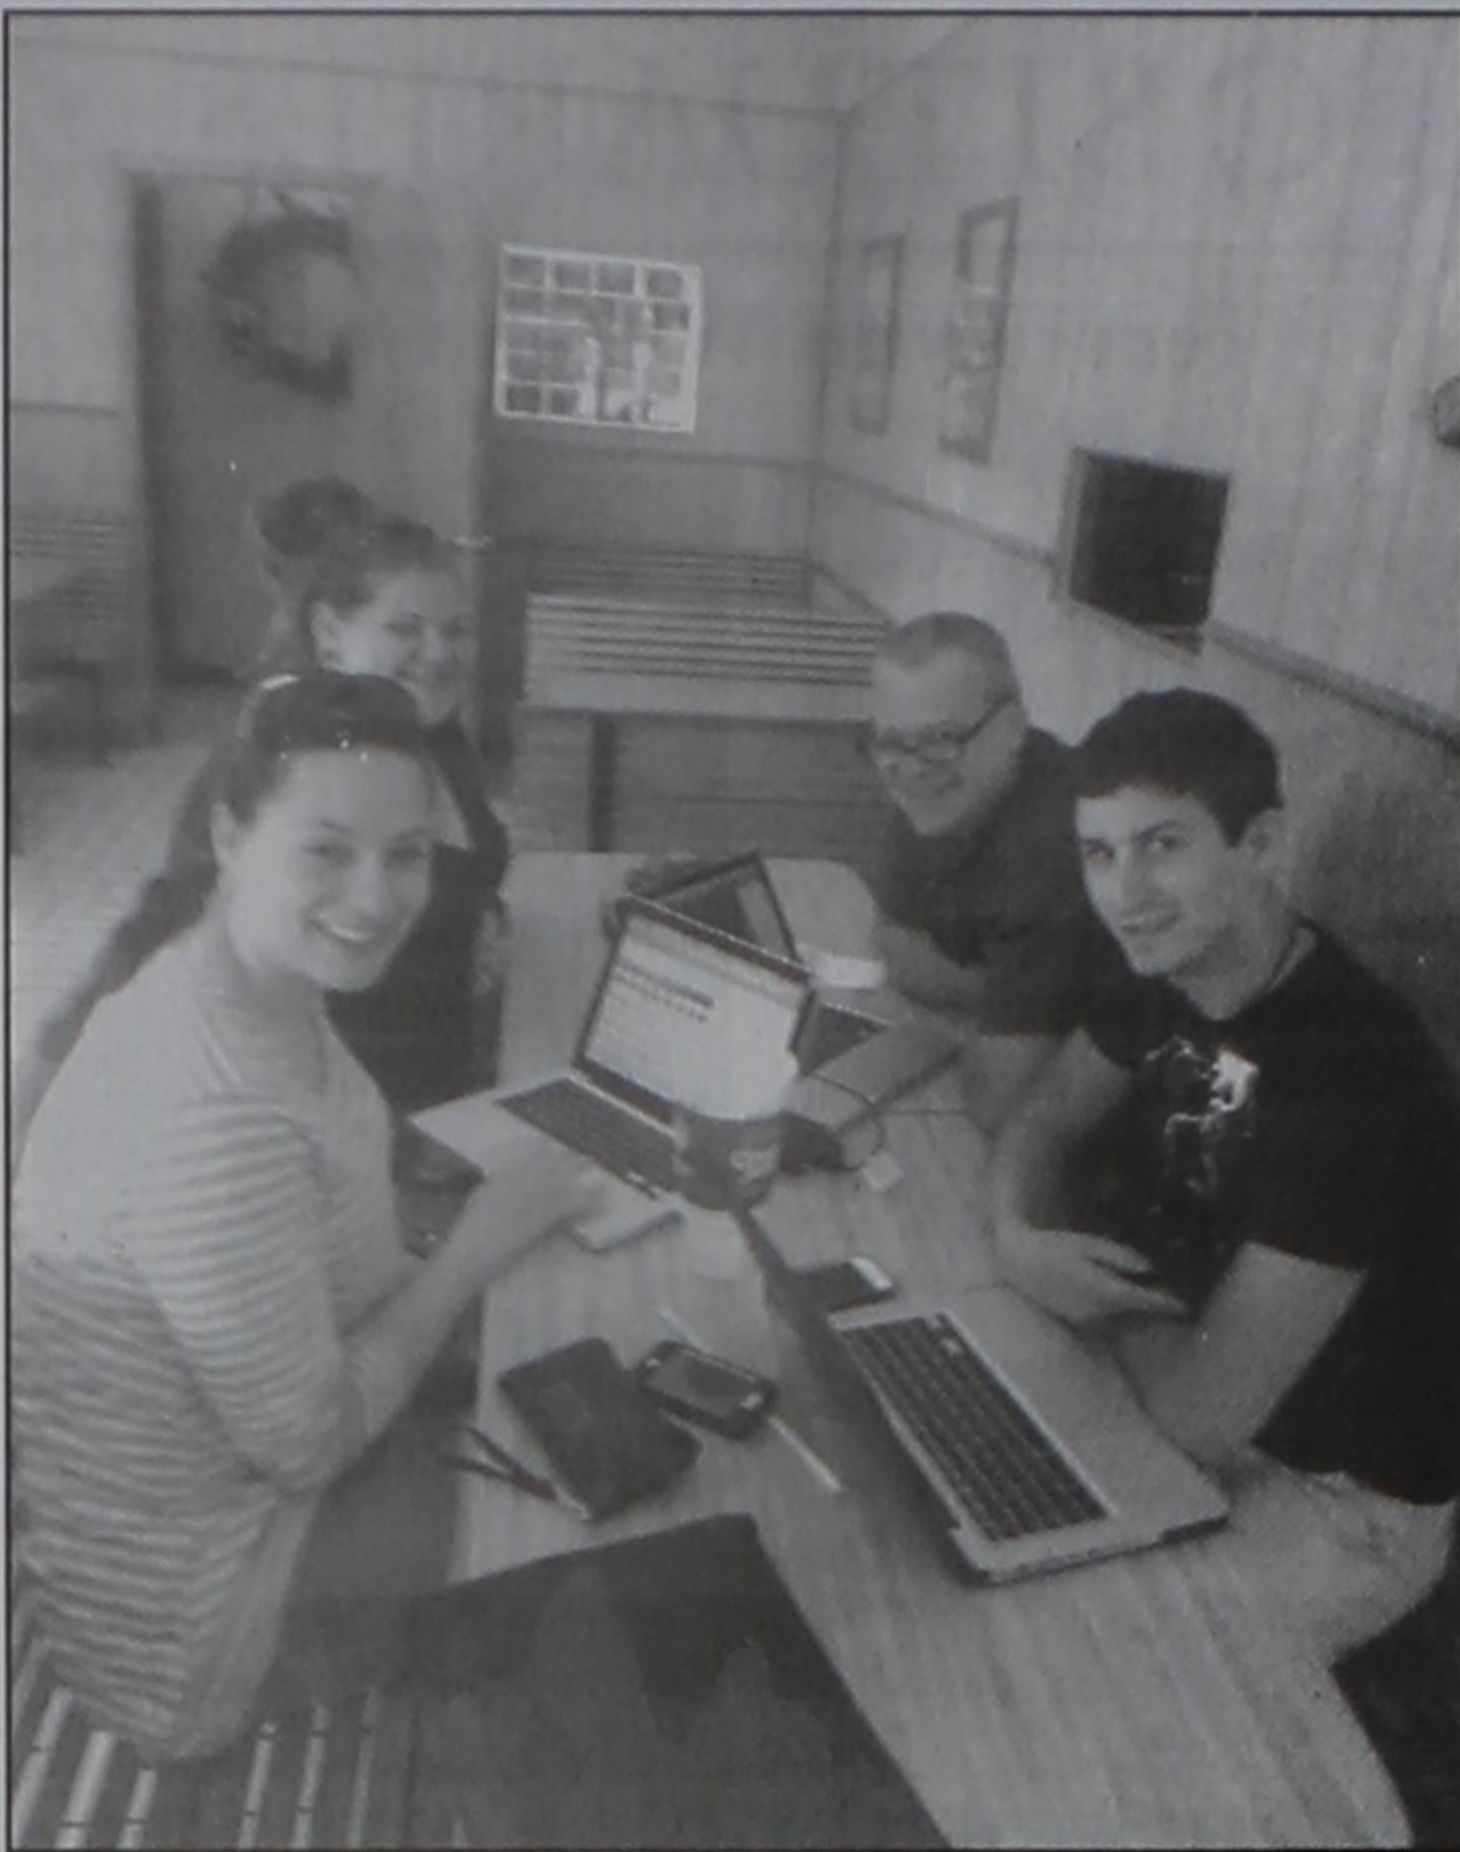

By Darla Bracken

Kim Lehman, aka the Bee Lady, of Austin 'buzzed' into Friona to present the second

Summer Library program for 155 children and 44 adults. Ms. Lehman has been a touring artist for the Texas Commission on the Arts since 2006. She is also a beekeeper, a writer for a national beekeeping magazine, an accomplished storyteller and musician as well as a talented workshop presenter with a passion for 'our tiny little friends-- the honeybees.

Her presentation included the life cycle of the honeybee with songs, puppetry, tools and costumes. Hands-on activities included making a candle out of beeswax, viewing bee wings, legs, antennae and stinger through microscopes, making bee finger puppets, honeycomb rubbings and tasting honey. For a short while, everyone present was as busy as bees in a hive.

Thanks to everyone present: teachers, parents, grandparents for your help with the hands-on activities and to our Friends of the Library for another excellent program. Next week: Happy 50th Birthday Friona Public Library! Y'all come...

Storm chasers visit DQ

Report and photo from Hollis Horton. Wednesday afternoon, June 5, the Dairy Queen coffee drinkers noticed a table near them with four computers and a group working feverishly on them. They were asked what they were doing and they said they were from the Nimbus Storm Chasers and Spotters from Baltimore, Maryland and New York City.

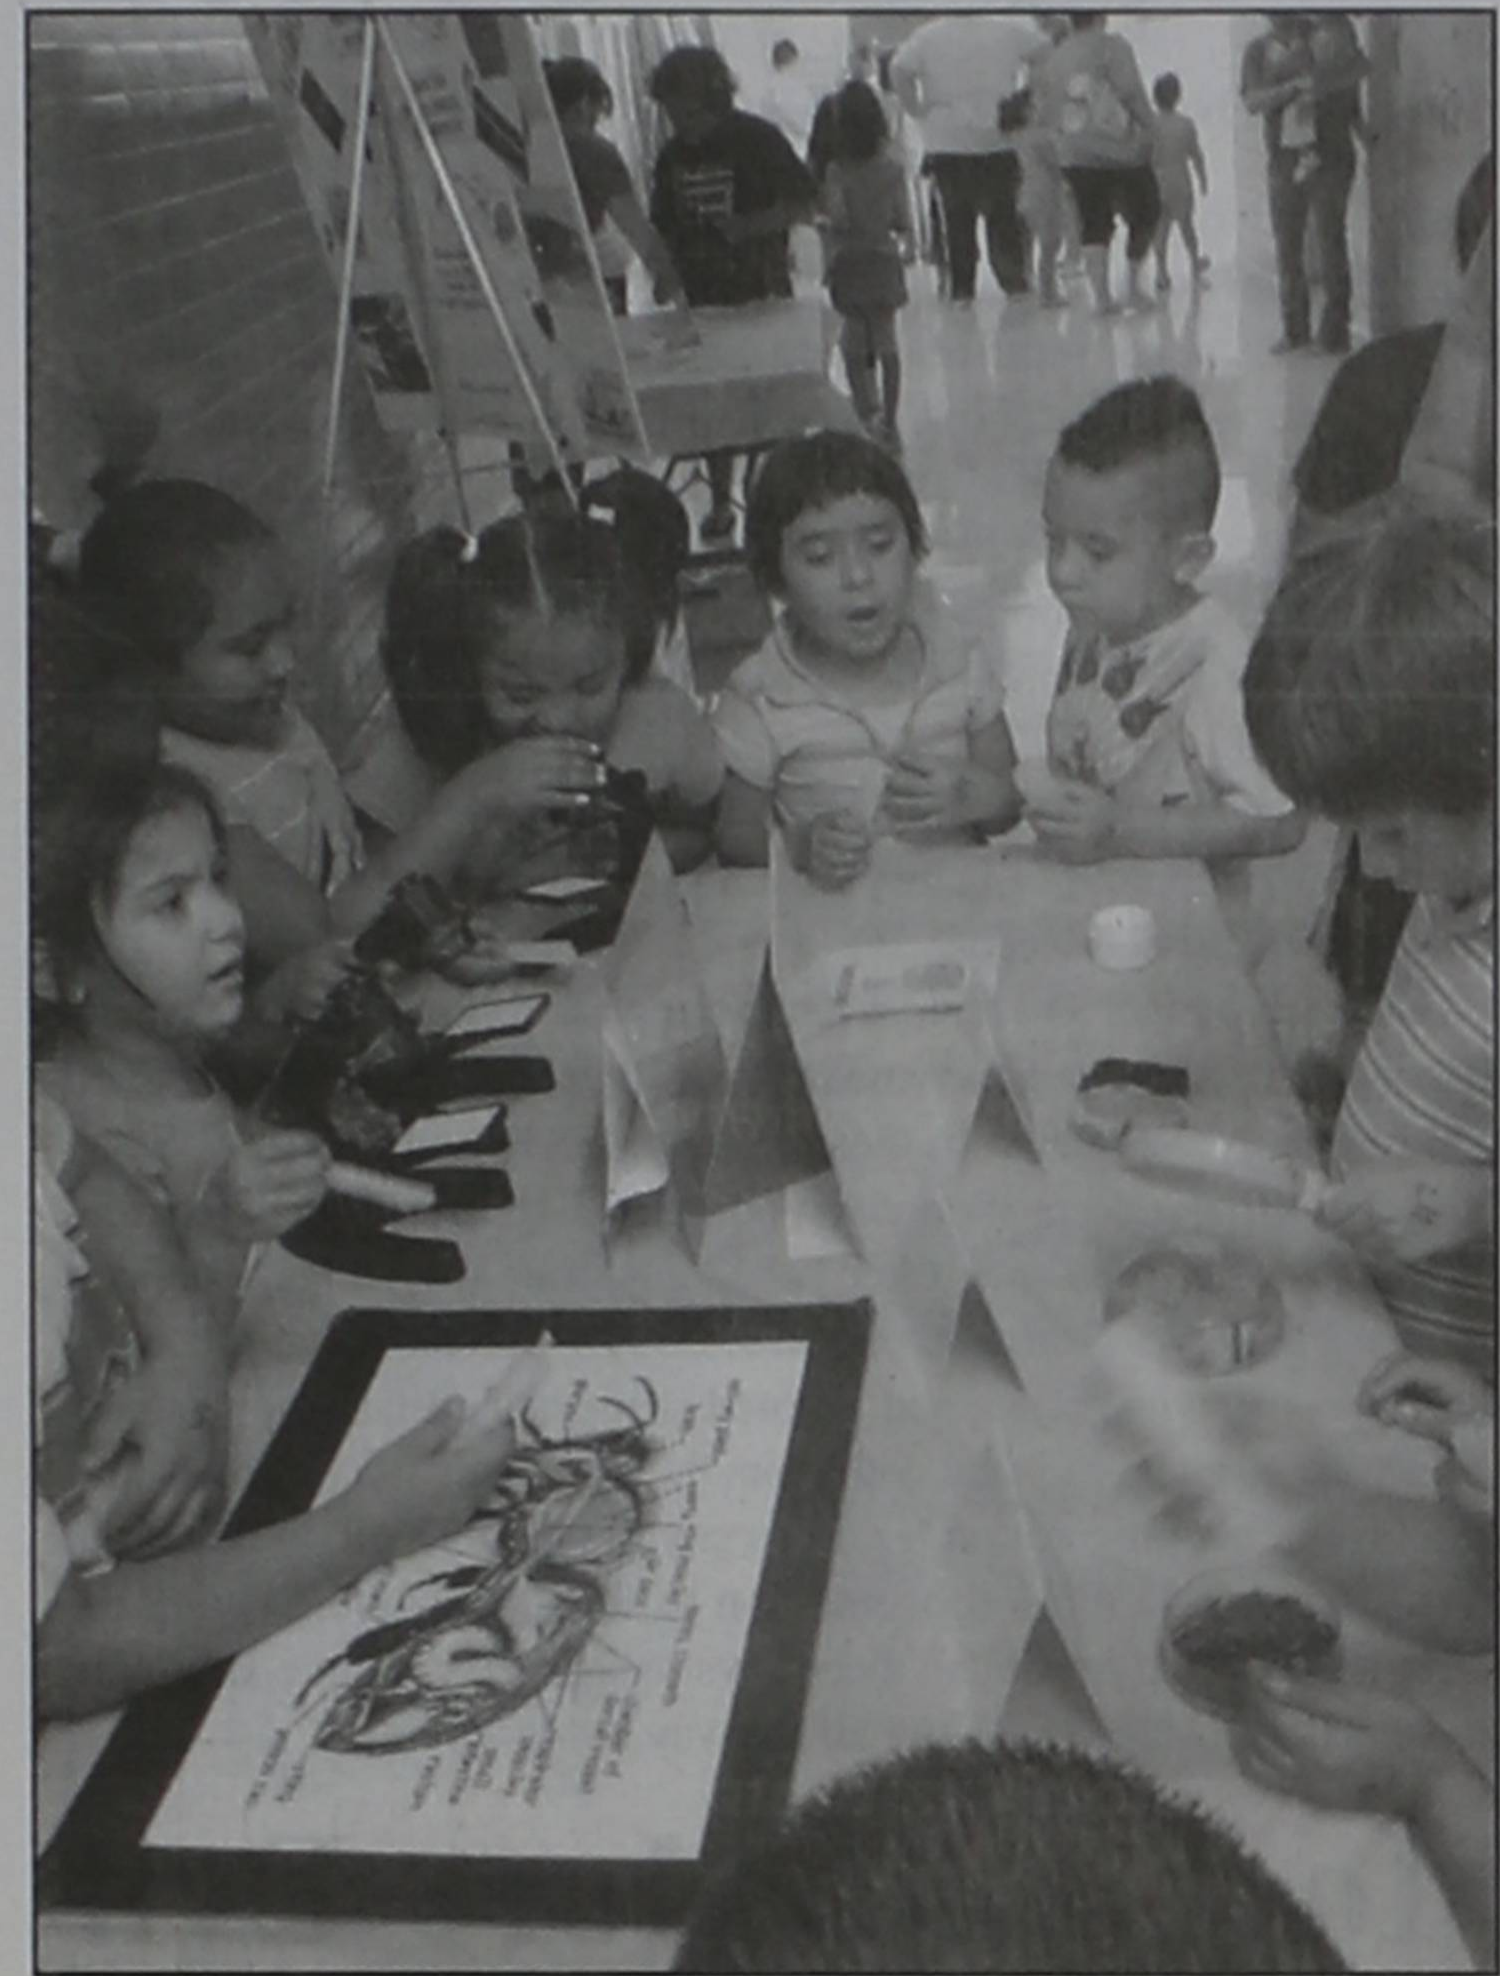

Professor Mark Dempsey of Hunter College in New York City was leading the students of Environmental Earth Science and Meteorology for a month following storms in Texas and Oklahoma. Joey Krastel, forecaster from Baltimore, Maryland, had been in Oklahoma on the huge storms the week before. Their phones, computers, and satellite signals were receiving data to determine where to follow and see the storms. They left headed to Clovis and apparently found the storm since Friona got the big wind and damaging hail that night.

Volleyball/basketball camps

Coach Bryan Masse and Coach Darrel Ray have scheduled their annual Squaw volleyball and basketball camps for the end of July. Junior camps will start with volleyball July 29-31. Instruction is open to future 3rd graders thru 8th grade. Camp will be daily from 9:00 - 11:45 a.m. All campers will get a t-shirt.

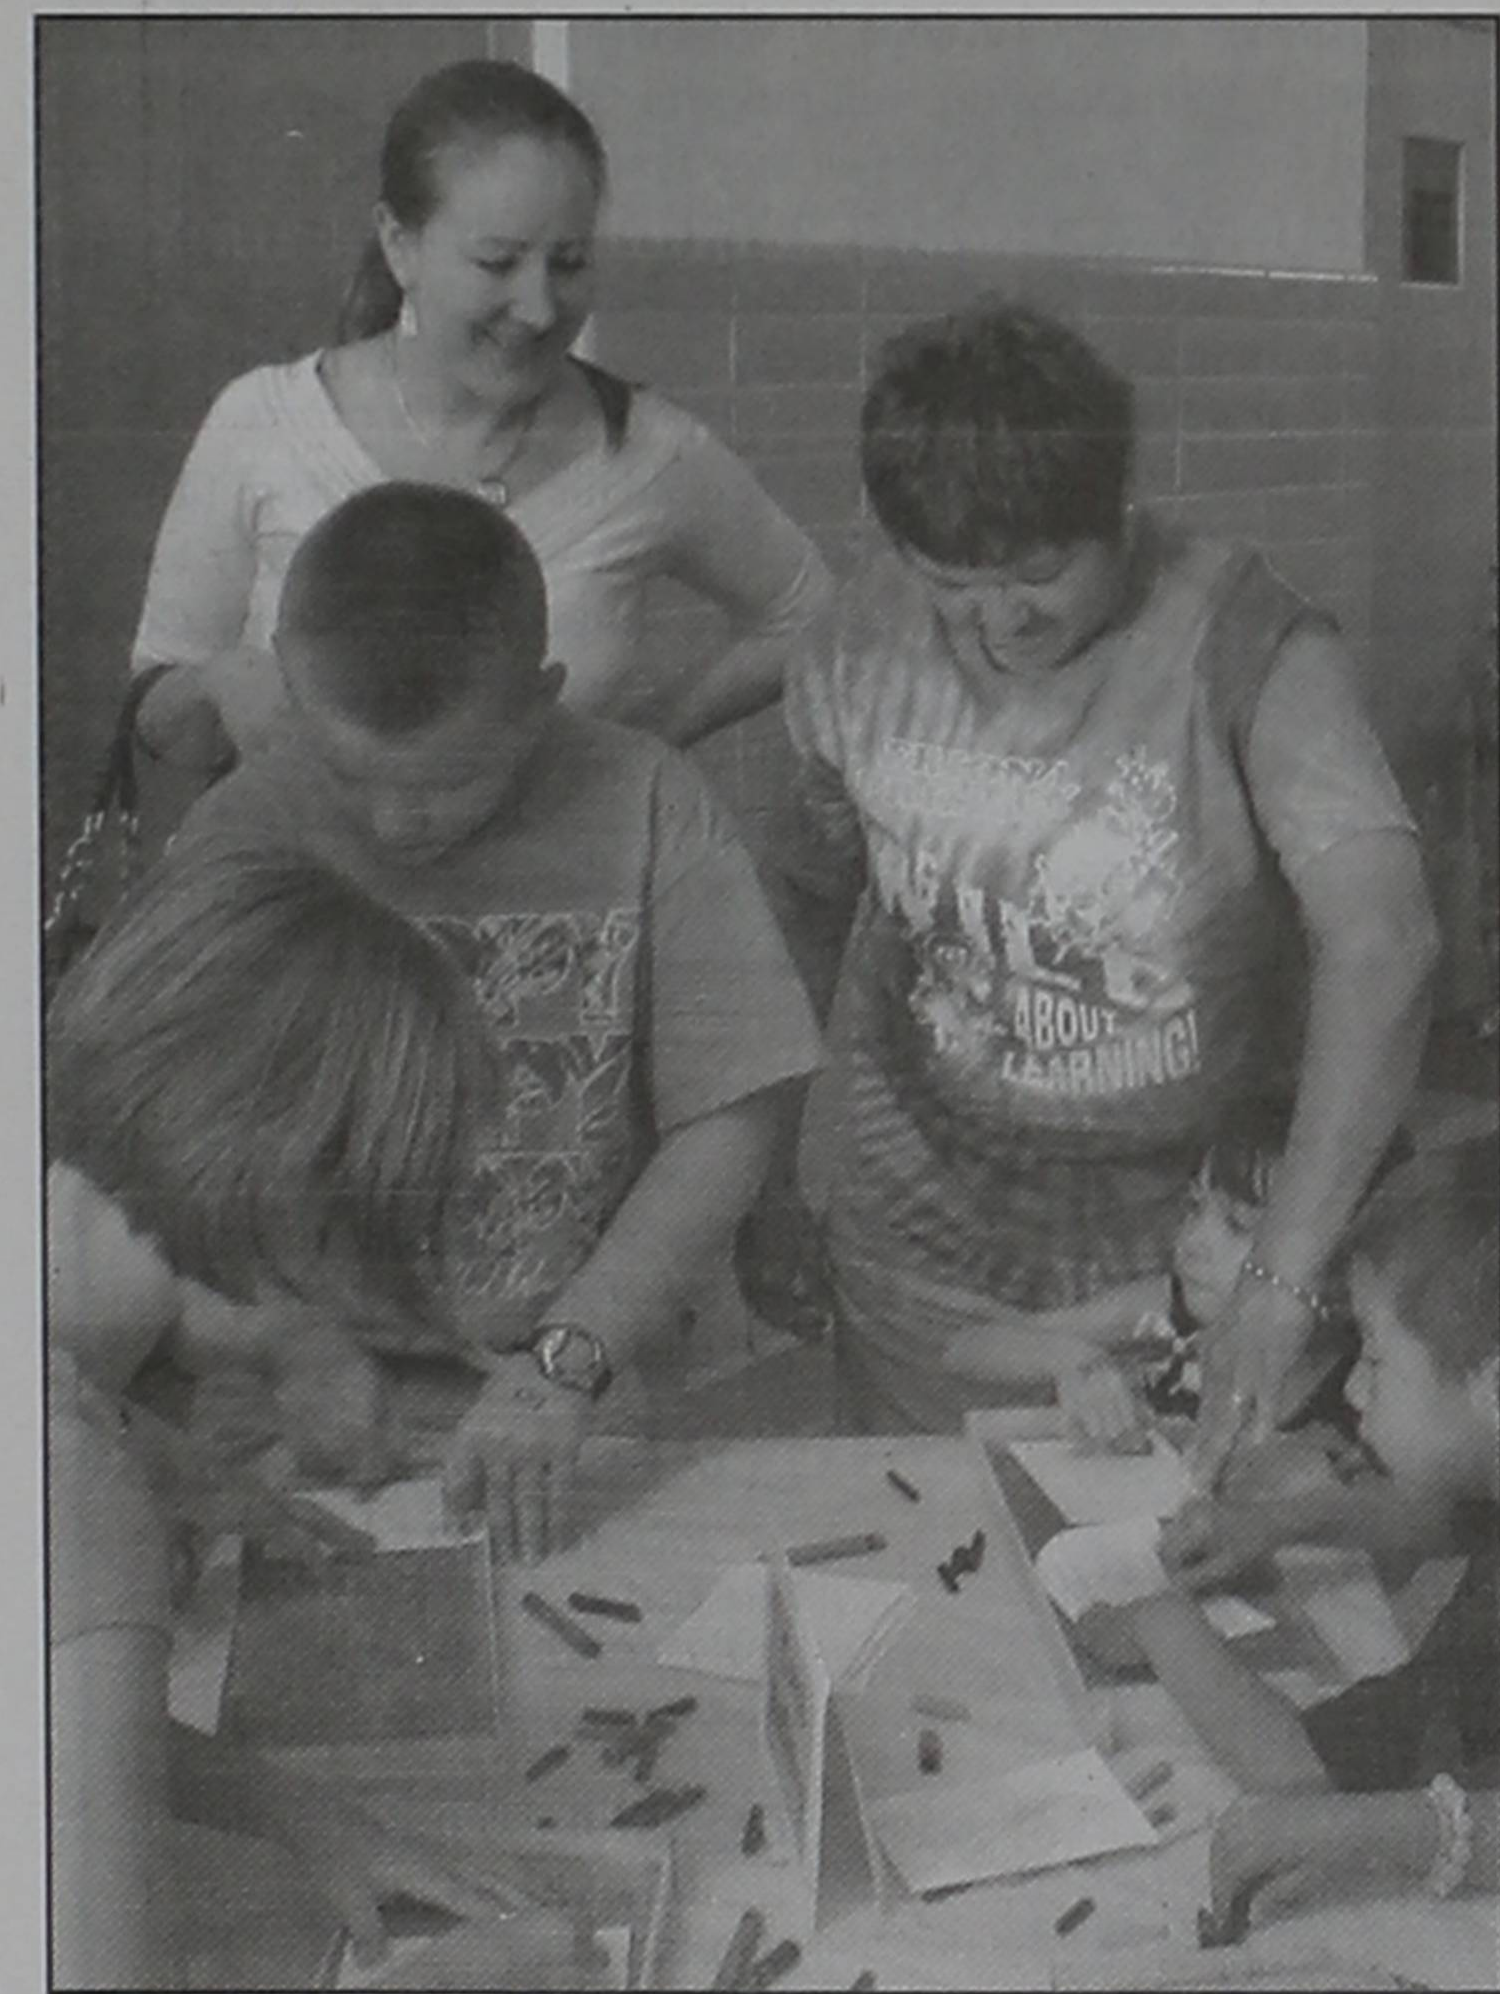

The basketball camp will be July 31 thru Aug 2. The first session will be in the afternoon, 1:15 - 4:00 p.m. following the final volleyball session. Focus will be on basics of the game and will prepare any young female athlete for whatever level of competition they are prepping for.

Each camp is $40 with a discount for attending both ($70). For more information or a brochure, call Coach Ray at 575-749-2880.

Summer SnackPak4Kids

From the local SnackPak volunteers: Hunger does not stop when school is out. We will continue SnackPak4Kids during this time. Children were given voucher booklets at the end of school and they can redeem their vouchers for their SnackPaks every Friday at the elementary/junior high cafeteria. We will be outside on the red benches from 12-12:30 p.m. to distribute the Paks. Our community has been very supportive of SnackPak4Kids and we appreciate the response of not only monetary gifts but also the dedicated volunteers! Let's keep helping hungry kids!

Just for the Health of It!

By Melanie Gallman Braun

"If it doesn't challenge you, it doesn't change you!" How true! So here's a challenge for you... The "Just for the Health of It!" Walking Challenge. What exactly is a walking challenge? There are many ways to do a walking challenge, but the FitnessDynamics version is this:

- A six-week challenge beginning June 24th
- For ALL ages, guys and gals
- Track how many steps you take in a day by using a pedometer
- Set goals to increase your daily step count (and thus your fitness level)
- Report your steps weekly
- Celebrate milestones reached with prizes
- $20

Registration forms are available at Bi-Wize, The Friona Star and WT Services. Registration day is Friday, June 21st! To pick up your walking kit, bring your registration form to the pavilion at Reeve's Lake anytime between 8:00 am and 1:00 pm. You can do a practice lap around the lake to test out your pedometer. Each walking kit will include a pedometer, instructions, a log for keeping track of your daily steps, a body measurement chart (you'll want to record those inches melting away), a milestone chart, a newsletter and a schedule of weekly reporting days.

What's a reporting day? Reporting days are when you turn in your steps for the week. If you've reached a milestone, yay!, you get to celebrate with a prize. Everyone who reports steps will receive a newsletter each week that has fitness tips, quizzes, a "Walk of the Week" (a route drawn out around the city), and just good stuff to know. You can also report your steps by email or text.

The walking challenge is a great place to begin if you're looking to start exercising. Many people put off an exercise program because they "just don't know what to do." If you are already walking, the challenge is a fun change to your routine. The challenge gives guidance and structure in a non-intimidating way. Pedometers are great motivators; they keep physical activity present in your mind instead of as an afterthought. It's not hard to walk those few extra steps when you're close to a goal. It becomes fun to see just how many steps you CAN get in a day. Remember the principle of overload--to increase your fitness level, you must do more than your usual amount of exercise/activity? Pedometers are the bomb for measuring your current activity level so you can set a goal of "more."

Step up to challenge, "Just for the Health of It!" and have fun doing something awesome for yourself!

Fall Wheat seed availability questioned

By Kay Ledbetter

The question of wheat seed availability is still to be answered, because none of it is in the bin yet, according to Steve Brown, Texas A&M Foundation Seed manager in Vernon.

"From a seed availability standpoint, for those of you who will be looking for specific varieties, I would talk to your seed dealers now," Brown said. "Some of those guys are already pulling wheat out of South Texas for varieties that perform up here."

"One of the nice things about some of the TAM varieties is they are very broadly adapted. So, some of the same varieties grown south of San Antonio are some of the high input varieties that grow up here in the Panhandle."

He said seed dealers are already scrambling trying to take care of their customers for next year.

"Some of the wheat looks better than it did two and three weeks ago. I have been surprised at what we are seeing as it continues to grow," Brown said. "In the Rolling Plains and south to Abilene where we had some freezes, but not as many as up in the Panhandle, we had a little rain. Some of the guys who stayed with it are going to cut some wheat."

"The problem we have in that part of the state is most of the wheat we will cut will be off of secondary tillers. We have already had temperatures of 104 and 105 degrees in the Rolling Plains, so this wheat is trying to finish in the heat. So my expectation is test weights will be low."

Brown said the State Seed and Plant Board met earlier this week to consider recertification of wheat seed. In years with a big loss of seed wheat due to natural disasters, recertification can be used to relax the normal requirements for seed certification.

Recertification was approved, he said, but that does not necessarily solve the problem. In some areas of the state where harvest has been completed, it will be impossible to recertify in those areas unless fields were inspected in advance of harvest.

For recertification to occur, the applicant must be a certified grower or conditioner, he explained. The land where the variety is grown must meet all criteria for seed certification. All application paperwork must be completed and sent to the Texas Department of Agriculture and the field must be inspected in advance of harvest.

He explained any big loss of seed is not a one-year problem; it can be a two-year problem. This is because not only the Certified class is affected, but also the Foundation and Registered classes are affected. The Foundation and Registered classes are the ones used to produce the Certified class which is most typically used by the commercial producer.

Early harvest has proven to have much lower yields and test weights, Brown said. Lower test weights indicate that seed count per pound will be higher. Seed counts will be very important for fall planting so producers can make appropriate determinations of how much seed to plant.

"If you lose that Foundation-registered class in your seed production, then the start-up again takes a lot longer. That recertification generally is more likely to happen when you have other places to go to recertify things. But trying to find a field, especially a dryland field, which would meet certification requirements and has any wheat to harvest, is going to be a problem this year."

"Talk to your seed dealers. Most of them can't tell you what they are going to harvest yet, and I can't tell you what we are going to harvest yet either."

Brown said a list a varieties and their performance, as well as seed dealers, can be found by going online to <http://varietytesting.tamu.edu/wheat/> and <http://www.texasseedtrade.com/cms/>.

Dr. Travis Miller, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service program leader for soil and crop science in College Station, said cooler spring weather experienced across most of the state has helped what would have been a 50 to 60 percent loss of the state's wheat yield to be only a 25 to 30 percent loss.

"Although it is still a little speculative at this point," Miller said. "We know we had significant losses - 25 is a conservative estimate and 40 percent plus might be closer."

He said many fields where yields looked marginal after the first freeze events did not receive additional irrigation and will experience higher losses.

Dr. Jackie Rudd, Texas A&M AgriLife Research wheat breeder in Amarillo, said the primary breeding locations that suffered damage this year due to drought and freeze were the Bushland dryland nursery, which suffered heavy losses, and the Chillicothe nursery, which saw 50-60 percent yield loss and a lot of sterility.

"The sterility means we have outcrossing, so we can't go harvest it and think it is self-pollinated, so no seed source there for further breeding development of new varieties," he said.

Bushland irrigated nurseries looked better, but a May 28 hail storm eliminated the rest of it, Rudd said.

"We have a lot of things growing at Castroville, and while we normally don't harvest there, we needed to get what we could," he said. "That field also was broken over by an earlier hail storm, but it was still harvested by hand off the ground and the germplasm was brought back to Amarillo."

Dr. Calvin Trostle, AgriLife Extension agronomist in Lubbock, said as producers scramble around for seed, those who are fortunate to harvest some need to remember the Plant Variety Protection Act.

"Most of these varieties are protected and you have to have permission to do anything other than collecting and cleaning what you can use in your own farming operation," Trostle warned. "You can't sell a protected variety to a neighbor as seed."

For more information on the Plant Variety Protection Act and what can and cannot be done with harvested seed, producers should access AgriLife Extension's "The Plant Variety Protection Act: Information for Texas Small Grains Producers" (E-338), available at <http://agrilifebookstore.org>.

Floyd & Eva Rector 1948

Floyd & Eva Rector 2013

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rector of Lubbock, Texas will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary with family. Floyd L. Rector and Eva Lou Jones were married June 16, 1948 at the Union Congregational Church in Friona, Texas by Rev. H.D. Seago. This church later became a landmark and serves as a museum today.

Floyd is a World War II veteran, having served as a Merchant Marine in the South Pacific and a Corporal in the United States Army. His service is honored with a personalized brick in the Lubbock, Texas Veterans Memorial in Henry Huneke Park. He farmed in the Friona area for over 50 years.

Eva attended Draughon's School of Business in Lubbock and worked at Friona State Bank prior to becoming a wonderful homemaker for her family. She was a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service and served as a Girl Scout leader.

They will celebrate with their children, Gary and Robin Rector of Lubbock and Donna Rector of Rhome, Texas. They will also be joined by their grandchildren Lauri and Kyle Frohbieter of Dallas, Texas and Jonathan and Stephanie Rector of Moore, Oklahoma. They have two wonderful great grandchildren that they adore, Ellie and Blake Frohbieter.

This tree was one of many that were stripped of leaves during last week's hail storm.

The newest Friena Police Officer, Raul Martinez, was introduced to the city council Monday evening by Chief Frank Mooney. After the meeting, council members were shown some of the hail damage to the police car fleet. This vehicle had already had the windshield replaced and received damage to the light bar on top when hit by baseball size hail. It will be a $2,000 replacement. Three other police vehicles and two city pickups sustained hail damage. Roof damage occurred at city hall, Redeemer Center, library, Prairie Acres, and Heritage Estates. City manager Patricia Phipps said insurance adjusters would be here this week to assess damage to the city property.
