Why Men Marry. Lo, every man who marries, For love he does that same, And to the hearthstone carries True love's immortal flame.

Some wed for love of beauty, And some for love of wealth, And some—'tis very human—For simple love of self.

Some wed for love of pride, And some for love of duty, And some out of love of fun, Take into them a bride.

And some whose feet are weary And who would cease to roam, Who find the long road dreary, They wed for love of home.

One common love, though leads us Each one to take a wife, And to the altar speeds us, Whatever doubts are rife.

With her the grave we'd walk to, And falter not nor balk, To have some one to talk to, Who likes to hear us talk.

NEW YORK FINDS THAT SPINSTERHOOD IS NOT NECESSARY TO GOOD WORK

SCHOOL BOARD MISTAKEN

Statistics Show Single Women, As a Rule, Do Not Make Best Teachers

New York, Jan. 7.—Hymen apparently has won another victory. It is by way of vanquishing the august New York Board of Education, who attempted to put the ban on married teachers and directed their antagonism particularly to teachers who became mothers.

At its last meeting of the year the board of education received a report from Superintendent of Schools William H. Maxwell, the figures of which would go to show that teachers increase in efficiency after being married, although they are absent from their duties many more days in the year than when they are unmarried.

One Teacher Dismissed. Before receiving this report, Superintendent Maxwell, the board, by a unanimous vote of those present, dismissed Mrs. Jeanette Orman Ginn, a married teacher, on the ground that she concealed the fact of her marriage from the board.

Maxwell, in his report, said there are approximately 1,300 women teachers in the New York public schools who are married or have been married.

The figures showed that marriage improved the teachers' standing in the matter of discipline and also brought up their instruction average to a remarkable extent.

Chinese Farmers Spin and Weave Much of Their Own Cotton in Stead of Selling it

College Station, Texas, January 3.—That this is an era of agricultural development, study and progress in China, no less than in the United States, is the statement of H. Y. Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 7, 1914

Down in Mexico about one man in fifty cares anything about voting if the votes cast in the presidential election there recently is any reliable indication. Here in the United States and in Wichita Falls, Texas, conditions are different and every man ought to want to take some part in his government. It will be impossible to do this without a poll tax receipt. Pay your poll tax; don't be a Mexican.

President Wilson is not pleasing everyone. Among the number is Col. George Harvey. In truth, Col. Harvey has been displeased with Mr. Wilson ever since Mr. Wilson refused to take the advice of Col. Harvey, and that other famous colonel earlier in the presidential campaign. The break between the Democratic candidate for president and the two colonels was at the time when the colonels proposed a plan for the raising of campaign contributions that did not meet with Mr. Wilson's approval, and he politely turned it down. This, of course, offended the two colonels. A further disappointment to Col. Harvey is that his friends were grooming him for an ambassadorship, and so far has failed to land the coveted plum. Colonel Harvey is thereby not only displeased, but disgusted with the President, who managed to gain the nomination and election without the hearty support of Colonel Harvey and his famous journal. It's all too bad, but can't be helped.

What do you think of this? On Christmas morning a big dray backed up to the telephone exchange in Wichita Falls and unloaded. Accompanying the dray-load of boxes of candy, fruit and nuts was the following letter signed by practically every merchant in the town: "We, the undersigned, wish to present this token of our appreciation to the young ladies who have given such efficient service in the telephone office, and to express to you our sincere good wishes for a merry Christmas and a happy New Year." The offerings totaled 100 pounds of candy, 12 crates of oranges 15 crates of apples, 3 large sacks of nuts. We publish this item with some reluctance for we fear that it means an exodus of the young ladies who work on the Brownwood exchange. Everybody likes to know that their efforts to please are appreciated—even the newspaper men are included in the list.—Brownwood Bulletin.

The reason for this is that the Wichita Falls telephone exchange has the sweetest bunch of girls of any exchange in the state, or in the United States for that matter. When everything does not go right, and the customer says things he or she ought not to say, they do not "sass" back, but make us feel ashamed of ourselves for losing our temper by their lady-like replies. That's what all that drayload of Christmas remembrances meant. We were simply trying to forget that we had even spoken unkindly to them.

It is large enough to yield shade. And the old man worked on as he made answer: "You speak truly. But suppose no one had planted shade trees before I came? This will be here for those who come after me." "Have you planted any shade trees during 1913, brother? We hope so. It is a blessed privilege to be able to do so. But if you haven't there is yet a day left. One may do much in a day—and no year should go without each one of us planting some shade trees for the rest and happiness of those who will come after us: This is an allegory, it's message easy of understanding.—Waco Tribune. We are now in the new year of 1914, but this is shade tree planting time, and we must not live for ourselves alone. Look around and see what those who are now gone done for our comfort, health and happiness and then ask yourself if you are doing something for the enjoyment of those who are to come after you.

PUBLIC PRINTER LEADS BUSY LIFE

IS ONE OF MOST STRENUOUS PERSONS ON GOVERNMENT PAY ROLL

OTHER WASHINGTON NEWS

Senator Lane of Oregon Tells Story of His Life in one Line—Margaret Wilson is Democrat

Washington, Jan. 6.—There is one man here who is powerful glad whenever Congress decides to take a little rest. He is Public Printer Ford. It is Ford's job to print the Congressional Record, Uncle Sam's only daily newspaper, which contains the full report of what transpires in Congress. The Congressional Record is a daily book rather than a newspaper. It is printed at night in the big government printing office and no matter how late the session lasts, copies are always on the desks of the members by ten o'clock the following morning. Every other sort of government printing can slide when it comes to the Congressional Record. That it "must" and it goes through first. A tremendous force of employees is necessary to handle the Record with the accuracy, speed and facility required. The book frequently runs 10,000 words and press times is as busy a period as that same moment on a great metropolitan newspaper. Moreover, there must be any typographical mistakes in the Record, the smallest fragments and placing them is installed.

Senator Lane of Oregon, has set an elaborate system of proof reading Congressional Dictionary. His biography occupies exactly one line—and a darn skimpy line at that. It is: "Harry Lane, Democrat of Oregon. Term expires March 3, 1919." Besides the monumental biography of Senator DuPont, of Delaware, who tells of every job he ever held, and of every civil war engagement in which he participated, Lane's history is most refreshing.

In front of a desk in a tiny little anti-room of the department labors the son of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Francis H. is working just as hard as an attorney in the division of frauds cases as though his dad isn't a cabinet member and as though the President of the United States and a whole lot of other prominent folks weren't present at his wedding early in the fall. "I can hardly call myself a Washingtonian yet," he said. "But I like it here."

Even the rats of New York City are getting extravagant habits. If a $500 nest made in a shoe box, of $5 and $10 bills now in the possession of the treasury department is any criterion. The shoe box full of mutilated currency has been turned over to Mrs. A. E. Brown the government's veteran expert, who is picking out the smallest fragment and piecing them together and expects to be able to redeem the whole amount.

Only the larger pieces were sent at first but such large portions of some of the bills were missing that the treasury officials only made good $452 of the whole amount. Thereupon the rest of the nest was forwarded here and if three-fifths of all the bills can be found the entire $500 will be made good.

Although Miss Margaret Wilson is the president's daughter, she acorns to ask for more consideration than anyone else in anything she does. Only a few days ago, she sat in line in the district commissioner's office awaiting a chance to see Oliver P. Newman, chief commissioner and her father's appointee. The office boy had not recognized her, so she waited for a half hour or more just like an ordinary citizen.

qualified to fill the office which he seeks, and if elected the Times feels sure that he will do his utmost to make Wichita Falls the very best legal city in the state. He has ever had the most respectfully solicited and will greatly appreciate the votes and support of all.

J. P. Jackson for County Commissioner. The Times is authorized to announce J. P. Jackson as a candidate for County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. He is now serving his first term in this office, and has shown his efficiency and ability as a county commissioner in all respects. In the matter of road building, while not entitled to all the credit for work that was begun and not finished before he assumed the duties of commissioner, should receive what credit is his due, and no will dispute but that some few miles of good roads have been constructed under his supervision. During the recent wet spell the county roads, or most of them got in very bad condition, but Mr. Jackson says if the present good weather holds up he will have them in good fix soon, but if prevented by rain from doing this work, then, to use his own language, he can promise the voters "nothing but good crops." The Times respectfully submits his candidacy for the consideration of the voters.

DRAMATIZATION OF FOX NOVEL PROVES SUCCESS John Fox Jr. never wrote more entertainingly for an appreciative public than when he so deftly drew the character of June in his really charming novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The wild mountain girl is a typical if not unique American stage character. Eugene Walter, the able dramatist constructed from the book a play that is American in core and parings. It was regarded almost instantly by one of the biggest successes ever staged.

TEN PER CENT MONTHLY DIVIDEND IS DECLARED

Developers Oil Company Stockholders Divide $10,000—Keep Surplus For Drilling Purposes

Stockholders in the Developers Oil Company received their regular monthly ten per cent dividend checks this morning. When the company first began to pay dividends something over a year ago the monthly dividends were only five per cent a month. During the past few months, however, ten per cent has been paid each month.

The capitalization is $100,000 making the monthly disbursements $10,000. It is the policy of this company always to have enough money left over to drill another well so that if it should turn out to be a dry hole that fact would not interfere with the regular dividends.

Practically all of these classes showed a substantial increase over the 1912 receipts. IMPROVEMENTS AT WATER PLANT

NEW PUMPS WITH 9,000,000 GALLONS CAPACITY ARE TO BE INSTALLED

WILL INCREASE PRESSURE

Other Recent Betterments at Plant Have Been Extensive, With Still More Planned.

Three new pumps, each with a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons per day, are soon to become part of the equipment of the Wichita Falls Water Company; ground was broken yesterday for the building which will house the new machinery. The new pumps are to be electrically driven and will bring the total capacity of the water plant to about 12,000,000 gallons per day.

The pumps will provide a working pressure of seventy-five pounds, as compared with the forty-five to fifty pounds pressure now exerted. In addition, there will be equipment to give a pressure of 100 pounds in case of fire. The stand pipe will not be discarded, but will be retained as a sort of emergency plant. At present the plant has one steam driven and one electric driven pump, so that the improvements will more than treble the pumping capacity of the plant.

Manager F. N. Lawton expects to have the building completed and the pump installed within two months. In ample time for the heavy demands that will be made upon the plant when warm weather returns.

A high pressure fire pump is to be installed and will be brought into use whenever there is a fire.

With these improvements started, the plant has just completed several other betterments; these include the installation of a new boiler, for which an addition was built on the east side of the plant. The pumping plant addition is to be on the west side. A high tension line to the factory addition has just been finished, giving good service for that district. This line carries a normal voltage of 6600 with an extreme capacity of 12,000 and provides power for Ball Brothers plant and the other industries.

It is possible that the improvements during 1914 will include a 1000-horsepower turbine engine, but this is not assured. The plant is already capable of 1500 horse power, but it is felt that an increase is needed to be ready for future demands.

Spending Much Money Here. Since the Strickland interests took over the plant here, more than a year ago, very extensive improvements have been made. In addition to those at the plant, enumerated above, there have been extensions of the service pipes and service wires in practically every part of the city and the company has spent a great deal of money here, indicating an abiding faith in this city's future. The plant is already one that would do credit to a much larger city, and with the recent improvements are completed, it is believed Wichita Falls' needs in the way of power, light and water will have been provided for some years to come.

SEVEN YEAR SENTENCE IN ALVA JOHNSON CASE

Is Convicted on Robbery Charge Originating in 1909 and Two Witnesses Have Since Died

Seven years confinement in the State prison was the penalty assessed against Alva Johnson who was convicted on an indictment charging highway robbery, by a jury in the district court this morning. The case went to the jury Tuesday afternoon and the verdict was returned about ten o'clock Wednesday morning.

The crime for which Johnson was tried was committed in 1909 and since that time the State's main witness and one other important witness have died. Johnson who had once before been convicted and a new trial ordered had forfeited his bond and been out of the State. Recently he returned here and the officers learning of his return finally located him in Muskogee where he was being held by federal authorities for alleged transportation of liquor. Constable Frank Burns went up and brought him back here for trial. Judge Martin who was district attorney at the time of his former trial and District Attorney Scurry were both disqualified and J. T. Montgomery was appointed special judge and Bernard Marks, special district attorney for the trial.

LEGISLATURE OF NEW YORK OPENS

TAMMANY SENATE ACROSS HALL FROM REPUBLICAN ASSEMBLY IN CAPITAL

SULZER IS WITHOUT PARTY

Elected as Progressive He is not Included in Caucuses and Conferences of Members

Albany, Jan. 7.—With a well blessed Tammany Senate glaring across the corridor at a defiant Republican Assembly, the New York legislature of 1914 convened here today. It is the first New York legislature that ever had an impeached governor in its membership and the first that has had a free lance Assembly, although the Republicans elected a majority of the members.

The Republicans had looked forward to this session as an opportunity for them to enact such progressive measures as workmen's compensation, direct primaries and reform ballot. A Republican conference in New York pledged the Assemblymen to these measures, but the Democrats forestalled the gathering of this political ammunition by passing these same progressive bills during the final days of the special session of the Democratic legislature.

Former Governor Sulzer now an Assemblyman, bears the unique distinction of being virtually "a man without a party." He cast off the Democratic following his impeachment and was elected to the Assembly on the Progressive ticket. The Progressives however, have not included him in their conferences and have not numbered him as among those to be relied upon by their party.

Just where and when the trouble will begin is the problem. Former Governor Sulzer is apt to vie with Assemblyman Hinman in getting in a stiff resolution to investigate everything Democratic and Hinman wants especially to dig into the expenditure of the millions that have failed to finish the large canal. Sulzer wants most of all a general uncovering of Tammany Hall's use of money at elections but is not averse to any inquiry that would show up graft.

It is hinted that the Democratic minority will join with the Independents to do anything that will make real Republican trouble, but this feature of the session will develop as opportunity offers.

At the outset the leaders will try to stave off the immediate introduction of investigation resolutions. They prefer to have but few and these deadly, but admittedly it will be hard to hold back Sulzer and several more of the determined Independents.

The Senate although powerfully of the Tammany persuasion is disposed to be really good. With the governor and with fear to do otherwise it fairly well squared accounts with the people by the reform legislation put through at the close of the extra session. Now it sees no real reason for legislation unless the governor has something further in mind. Of course the usual "regular bills" will be introduced and very likely these will come in early. Otherwise the Senate expects simply to keep an eye on the Assembly and be prepared at all times to do the governor's bidding.

Since Governor Glynn is out to make a record and has decided that he will advise the legislature by message from time to time, rather than hand out everything at once, developments will have to be awaited from this source also.

I know that's a very easy statement for anyone to make, but it's considerably harder to demonstrate the truth of it, and if I wasn't positive that I could measure up in every detail of such a statement, I wouldn't make it, as I value my reputation for honesty both in actual service as well as in advertising too highly to make any statements that are in any way highly colored.

I do all my own buying, selecting all the meats personally, and therefore I am able to guarantee to anyone—to you—not only rapid, accurate service, but the very finest quality of meats of all kinds that come into the state and all meats and service at a fair, reasonable price.

That's one reason why I claim the right to ask your meat business during this year.

Once There Was an Outfielder

Who was built like a battleship and his whole bone arm and pennant shaped face made him look like the game depended on him and that the big league could not go much further without him. As a hitter he made the big league scouts reach for their field glasses.

One day he was drafted from the high grass circuit into fast company where "a little old raise in salary is construed to mean enough money to buy a Kansas wheat farm." He showed up in front of the grand stand where cushions are three dollars a throw looking fit as a fiddle, hard as nails and rearing to go. The old scouts who had been looking them over since 1889 decided he was the man who invented the game. They put him in the tryout and he showed that he could hit in a saars breadth of the horsehide, could nearly get the longest flies to left field and could peg in home almost in time to head off the score. They sent him back to the bushes.

Some drug stores get the goods to you almost on time. Others handle your business almost right. Some give near service and approach satisfaction. Come on, send us your orders. Play the drug game with us and you be the umpire and you'll have to do some wicked pitching if we don't hit the ball.

PARCELS POST AGAINST OLD HIGH LIVING COST

Washington Women Have Plan Which Would Practically Eliminate the Middleman

Washington, Jan. 7.—High cost of living will have a big fall taken out of it if plans formulated today by Washington women who belong to the Housekeeper's Alliance can be carried through. Perfection of the plans laid today, say leaders of the Alliance, would mean complete elimination of the middleman and the middleman's profits. Although even the most sanguine of the leaders do not believe perfection will be reached, they expressed confidence today that a long stride toward material saving in the purchase of such household goods as milk, eggs and truck farm products will result. The plan is to make as full use of the parcel post as is possible. The chief problem discussed today was the matter of practicable containers for milk and eggs. The plan is to get into personal touch with farmers throughout Maryland and Virginia and to get household goods direct from the producers via the parcel post. Whether the Alliance will appoint agents to canvass the farmers or whether the women will canvass by mail was not settled today. This question will be taken up later. It was decided however, to begin at once a campaign among Washington housewives to increase membership in the Alliance so that goods can be purchased in large enough quantities to mutually benefit the producer and the purchaser. Only by buying in large quantities it was declared, can the farmers be brought into line and sell at such prices as will mean a real saving for the consumers.
