BATTLE OF AISNE STILL RAGING

ENGLISH ENTERTAIN GREAT HOPES FROM REPORTED ADVANCE

FIGHTING GOES ON

Germans Offensive Against Center While Allies Attempt To Envelop Flanks

LINE OF BATTLE IS OUTLINED.
London, Sept. 22, 4:55 p. m.—The Times military expert says the allies' line now extends on the east from a point near St. Die through Lunéville, Pont A Mouson, Epinal, Consenvoye, Mont Foucon, Souain, Rheims, Craonne, Ligny, Lassigny and Roisel to Lacaet.

By Associated Press.
London, Sept. 22, 12:10 p. m.—All eyes are now fixed on the western section of the great battle line in France where the allied armies are expected to bend on the German right which already is bending backwards under persistent pressure on the northward of the River Aisne. If the German positions are once carried strategists here believe the whole German front will be in danger. However, perceptible progress is all the light the official chronicler permits himself to throw on the great siege of the fortified positions which now has lasted ten days.

GERMAN REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE.
German reinforcements, according to Belgian reports, have beaten their opponents in the race to the fighting zone and the result is seen in the rapid series of hussar strokes which General Von Kluck has been able to deliver in an effort to stem the allies' envelopment movement around St. Quentin. Thus far the battle of the Aisne reproduces on a larger scale the features of the struggle on the Marne, but whether in the final outcome the victory will rest with the same side is likely to remain a secret for a few days more.
Ten days of the most furiously contested struggle in the history of the war has left the armies in such a position that neither can claim a definite advantage over the other and the result must depend largely upon what reinforcements the opposing commanders are able to control.

GERMANS ATTACK CENTER.
On the River Aisne as on the Marne the Germans are thrusting persistently at the allies' center while the French and British troops are pursuing their favorite movement of working around the German flank. Day by day the allies' line though stationary in the center seems to gain a little ground on the wings. If the report that General Von Kluck has moved his headquarters back to Mone proves true it may be interpreted as a step for removing the danger which might threaten him from an army marching from the west.

IN EASTERN THEATRE.
The third great battle between the Austrians and Russians in Galicia started with a bombardment of Przemysl in which 2,000,000 men are said to be engaged and is expected to be in full swing within a few hours when the whole line along the new positions occupied by the Austrians between Przemysl and Cracow will be involved.

BRITISH STEAMER SINKS; TWENTY TWO DROWNED

Accident Off Coast of Asia Minor Believed Due To Mine Explosion

By Associated Press.
Robison, Asia Minor, Sept. 22, via London, 11:07 a. m.—Twenty-two persons lost their lives by drowning as a result of the sinking of the British steamer Belgian King near Cape Kurull yesterday. The Belgian King carried 120 including her crew. Ninety-eight of them were saved by a Russian steamer. It is surmised the accident was due to a mine, but the real cause has not been ascertained.

VIOLENT EFFORTS MADE BY GERMANS

FRENCH OFFICIAL STATEMENT SAYS THESE EFFORTS HAVE HAD LITTLE RESULT

Germans, However, Have Again Crossed Frontier and Have Reoccupied Donestre

By Associated Press.
Paris, Sept. 22, 2:30 p. m.—The following official announcement was issued by the army office here this afternoon:
"Along the entire front from the Oise to the Woevre the Germans manifested yesterday, Sept. 21, a certain activity without, however, obtaining appreciable results.
"First—On our left wing on the Oise the Germans were obliged to yield ground before the French. Between the Oise and the Aisne the situation remained unchanged. The enemy has not delivered any serious attacks, contenting himself yesterday with a continued cannonading.
"Second—On the center between Rheims and Souain the enemy attempted an offensive movement which was repulsed while between Soain and Argonne we have made some progress. Between the Argonne and the River Meuse there has been no change. In the Woevre district the enemy has made a violent effort. They attacked the heights of the Meuse along the front between Trevaux and Hondcourt, without, however, succeeding in gaining a position on these heights.
"On our right wing in Lorraine the enemy again has passed the frontier using in this operation a number of small columns. Donestre, to the south of Blamont has been reoccupied by the enemy. During the days of Sept. 20 and 21 we captured 20 automobiles used in moving provisions together with all the men attached to them. We also captured on these days numerous prisoners belonging principally to the 40th, 60th, 70th, 80th, 90th, 150th, 140th and 160th regiments of German corps, to the Bavarian Landwehr and to the reserve corps.
"Concerning the Russians in Galicia the rear guard of the Austrian armies have been pursued by the Russians and have suffered considerable losses. Russian troops have come in contact with the Austrian garrison near Przemysl. The heavy Russian artillery is bombarding the fortifications of Jaroslav."

GERMAN SHIPS FIRE WAS VERY ACCURATE
Details of Daring Attack By German Cruiser On English Cruiser at Zanzibar
By Associated Press.
Cape of Good Hope, South Africa, Sept. 22.—Further details concerning the engagement in the harbor of Zanzibar last Sunday morning when the British cruiser, Pegasus, under command of Capt. John A. Inglish was attacked and put out of action by the German cruiser Koenigsberg. It seems that the Koenigsberg approached the harbor at full speed at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. She disabled a patrol boat and then opened fire on the Pegasus. Her shooting was very accurate. She commenced firing at 9,000 yards. The Pegasus replied with all her guns but her artillery was disabled in fifteen minutes. When her firing ceased there came a lull of five minutes, after which the Koenigsberg reopened fire for half an hour. The Pegasus was unable to reply. Nearly all the casualties occurred around her guns and on her upper deck.
The flag of the Pegasus was shot away twice but each time it was raised again and held up by the harines. Evidently little or no damage was done to the Koenigsberg.

SINKING OF GERMAN CRUISER IS CONFIRMED
Berlin, via Rotterdam and London, Sept. 22.—The report of the sinking of the German armored cruiser Cap Trafalgar, Sept. 14 on the east coast of South America by the Cunard Line Steamer Carmanla converted into a British auxiliary cruiser has been confirmed in an official statement made public here. This confirmation adds that the crew of Cap Trafalgar was saved by the German steamer Eleanor Woerman.

GERMANS HOLD POSITION OF GREAT IMPORTANCE
Force of 100,000 Germans Occupy Plateau of Craonne—Position Almost Impregnable
By Associated Press.
London, Sept. 22.—A Paris dispatch to the Express says:
"Military experts here believe that the Germans intend to raise the entire city of Rheims. While the city itself is immaterial from a military standpoint, it is a center of the highest strategic value. The German forces in great strength are close to the city on the north side, while the French batteries occupy the heights to the south. While the German attack is developing at Rheims the French attack is centering toward Noyon. The plateau of Craonne is held by 100,000 Germans while the village is occupied by the French. Blucher, who was defeated by Napoleon on the same ground, declared that 25,000 troops could hold this plateau against any odds."

BRITISH BATTLESHIPS LYING OFF HELIGOLAND
200 in Such Close Formation They Appear, Almost To Touch, Says Tank Captain
By Associated Press.
New York, Sept. 22.—Two hundred British warships lie in battle line in the North Sea off Heligoland, the German naval base so close that at times they appear to touch each other, according to Capt. Skelley of the British oil tank steamer San Lorenzo which reached New York today.
For six weeks the San Lorenzo was with the British fleet as supply ship for the oil burning craft. Outside the Ambrose the channel light-ship entrance to New York harbor, Capt. Skelley said there are two British cruisers and Conard line auxiliary lying in wait for German vessels.

WOMAN FIRES ON JUDGE

MRS. MARY REA ATTEMPTS TO TAKE LIFE OF JUDGE AT FORT WORTH.

6 SHOTS WERE FIRED

Judge Swayne on Bench in Suit Woman Was Contesting, Escaped Untouched.

By Associated Press.
Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Mary Rea fired six times at District Judge Swayne as he sat on the bench here today. Mrs. Rea was contesting her son's suit for the removal of disability as a minor. All of the shots went wild. The woman's attorney interfering and probably preventing Judge Swayne from being killed. Mrs. Rea was placed in jail.
This is the second time an attempt has been made by a woman to kill Judge Swayne. Several years ago a woman attempted to shoot him in a hotel following a decision by the Judge in a suit to which she was a party.
The shooting this afternoon created great excitement.

GERMAN SUBMARINES BLOW UP 3 BRITISH CRUISERS
North Sea Scene Of Attack Which Resulted Disastrously For British War Vessels
By Associated Press.
London, Sept. 22.—Three British cruisers, the Aboukir, Hague and Cressy have been sunk in the North Sea by submarines, according to the official press bureau announcement this afternoon. Continuing the announcement says that a considerable number of the crews of those vessels were saved by His Majesty's ship, Lowestoft, and by a division of torpedo boat destroyers. Trawlers and their boats also aided in the work of rescue. The Aboukir was torpedoed first. The Hague and the Cressy drew in close to her and were standing by to save her crew when they were torpedoed.
The cruisers were built in 1900 and were of a type now obsolete. Each carried a crew of about 800 men. The locality of the submarine attack is not given in the official announcement.

BERLIN REPORT SAYS GERMANS MAKING PROGRESS AGAINST ALLIES
By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 22.—The German embassy today received the following official wireless from Berlin:
"Headquarters reports on Sept. 21st that the attack against the French and English army makes progress. Rheims lies in the French battle line. We regret being forced to answer their fire. The city suffered but orders have been given to spare the cathedral.
"In middle Alsace the French attacks have been repulsed.
"The subscriptions to the German war loan up to the present time reaches 4,200,000,000 marks."

No one was killed or injured, but a big hole was torn in the ground, trees were broken and the doors and windows of nearby houses shattered. Automobiles were sent in pursuit of the aircraft but it soon disappeared to the southward.

ENVELOPMENT OF FLANKS ATTEMPTED BY ALLIES

Germans Driving At Center But Neither Side Can Claim Any Decided Victory

Another day has gone and neither one side nor the other—Germany nor the allies—laid claim to any decisive outcome along the extended battle line in northern France where the supreme conflict of the war up to the present time has long been raging.
The engagement taken as a whole seems to be partaking of the nature of a siege. Both sides continue to hold a majority of their strongly entrenched positions. The German line for one hundred miles is described as virtually a continuation of forts and heavy entrenchments. The artillery fire goes on day and night on both sides and under its cover there are sorties of infantry. Counter attacks follow attacks and occasionally one side or the other gains ground. It would appear today that nothing but a successful flanking movement could have decisive results but neither front has been broken and neither side has been flanked.
Rheims appears to be the center of the most persistent fighting. It is between the lines of battle and the city has suffered heavily. The Germans are described as most anxious to recover that position.
The French official announcement dated at Paris this afternoon says that incessant German attacks delivered yesterday have been unsuccessful land that the Germans have been compelled to retire at more than one point.
The latest official communication from Berlin issued Monday night says the Germans have captured the hill position at Craonne and have occupied the cillage of Betheny, three miles outside of Rheims to the north. This announcement described the Germans also as attacking the strong front fort south of Verdun.
The military experts of the London Times gives positions to the French forces on the left, which if correct, show an advance on the flank of the German right wing under command of General Von Kluck. Up the present time the French line has not been reported north of Noyon. The Times places it at Lecatelet, Rosiel and Lassigny.
Lecatelet is 30 miles north of Noyon. Rosiel is nine miles southwest of Lassigny which is eight miles due west of Noyon. These locations have not been confirmed from any other source, the French war-office merely saying the French left wing was advancing along the right bank of the river Oise. No confirmation has been received from any official source that Gen. Von Kluck had retired to Mone. Germans are said to be fortifying with great haste along the river Sambre from Maubuege to Namur in Belgium but this report also lacks confirmation.
In Belgium the situation shows no real change.
The Russians are before Przemysl and engaging the Austrian forces in Galicia with heavy artillery fire. The Russians claim the Austrians are retreating while Vienna declares that these movements of her armies are merely for the purpose of reorganization. Dispatches from Servian sources lay claim for further victories against the Austrian forces.

ALL OF US MUST RESIST THE DEVIL

CONFLICT WITH EVIL IS INEVITABLE DECLARES REV. CHAS. CLARK SMITH

DEVIL IS VERY PATIENT

It Will Avail Us Little To Resist for a Time and Afterwards Fall Into His Power

"The Conflict with Evil," was the theme of Rev. Chas. Clark Smith at the First M. E. Church Sunday night. His text was James 4:7. In part he said:

"There is a law in the physical universe according to which a moving body follows the line of least resistance. We look into the face of a cloud and observe a flash of lightning. It looks like a ball of fire shooting through space but we notice that it follows a zig zag path. The physicist tells us that there are strata or seams in the air just as there are in a great stone and that the lightning searches out these seams and follows a path where going is easiest. Electricity follows the line of least resistance. This is all very well for an inanimate force but it will not do as a principle for regulating human conduct. To live well one must follow a course of selection and rejection, not with reference to ease but more especially with reference to effect upon the life. Having been endowed with intelligence it is to be presumed that we should live intelligently. As a matter of fact most people live by accident rather than by reason. They take as a matter of course whatever comes and let it have whatever effect it may as though they were not privileged to shape events somewhat and to work toward certain ends. That is to say that most people follow the line of least resistance in living. In the schools pupils are given to selecting a course that offers a diploma for the least work and unthinking parents will encourage this tendency. A graduation from something seems to be the chief goal rather than a meeting of the needs of that individual. If the work offered is a little hard the pupil is allowed to quit school just as if all life could be lived on that plan. Life is full of problems and there can be no living any-way successful without great effort. We should not be seeking after ease in life so much as for development.

"This universal principle holds in the moral life. Experience teaches the necessity of resisting evil. No life can be sheltered that it will not meet with temptation. No life will grow into worthy proportions unless there is a conscious and intelligent effort to eliminate evil from the life and to work into the life those things that are helpful. For the child much of the selection and rejection must be done by the parents. But after a time the youth must learn the principle of choice for himself. We may not believe in a personal devil but we can not escape from the fact of an aggressive spirit of evil which is constantly confronting us with temptation. It is folly to seek to make this a fact of experience purely subjective and to say that if our thought-life were right there would be no such thing as evil. It is not only crass folly to profess this as a matter of thought but it also shows a dense ignorance of human life and history and indicates a spirit of dishonesty in dealing with one's own sin. If we are to accept the story of the Christ life at all we will need to accept the story of the forty days in the desert in which He was tempted to 'Resist the devil.' If the witness of the best men of all history is to be credited we find that they have had to resist the devil. If we have gotten any where with the matter of living we too, have had to resist the devil. The devil does not desire that any one shall make a success of life. He wants to cloud the brain of the successful business man and unseat the steady nerve of the mechanic and pale the beauty from the man's cheek and to turn the happy home into a hell. He wants to blight the bodies of innocent babes and have them born into the world with sightless eyes and deformed natures. He gloats in the heart anguish of mothers and laughs with joy when men grapple each others throats and turn the dogs of war loose upon their brothers. Whether we have a personal devil or not we do most certainly need to resist evil and no man can hope to come to a life worth while unless he develops the power to successfully resist the devil.

"This resistance should be intelligent. It is plain from experience that we must resist and therefore the more intelligently we resist the better. We should know that he has great power and skill. He is not an enemy to be lightly reckoned with. He is not an enemy that is easily discouraged. It will avail us little to resist successfully for a time and then afterward to fall into his power. He is very patient and will continue to try us first in one way then in another. He will disguise himself as a friend and we will need to watch for him as an invading army watches for a spy. You can not tell by the uniform he wears where his sympathies are. That he appears well is no argument in his favor. That his presence is pleasing to us proves only that he has found our weakness and that we are in great danger. We should never fail to look ahead for his ultimate aid for us. It is idle for us to resist at one point and yield at another. He is not particular how he enters the life if only he is allowed to enter. It is folly for us to wait till he has bound us before we begin to resist. No matter how strong we are if we sit idly by and allow him to wrap his silken meshes around us presently we will be bound. How many a poor fellow has weakened late in life to find that the devil has bound him with many evil habits and that now if he ever gets free it will be after a great struggle. How much wiser it would have been for him to have resisted from the beginning.

"In this text the Apostle James calls us to a specialized resistance. He commands us to strike directly at the general in chief of all the forces of evil. If we dethrone the ruler-ship of evil in our lives we have made further resistance easier. It is easier to fight an enemy outside the gates than to grapple with him when he has entered the citadel of our souls. When the devil is seeking the dominance of our souls, he is not particular just how he enters; only that he may effect an entrance. He approaches some in one way, some in another and each one at his weakest point. He is bent on destruction and it matters little to him how he may accomplish that destruction. He goes about sometimes as a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour but most generally he is not a roaring lion. When he gets well under his dominance he is indeed a tyrannical master but generally he is disguised as an angel of light. If only men could be led to identify the slightest temper with the roaring lion they would be far less susceptible to his appeal.

"The devil can not force his way into any life. Jehovah is still ruler of his universe and unless man opens up the way into his life the devil must stay without. There must be an inward response to his appeal before he can come in. There must be permission before he can abide. When we call Christ into our lives the devil must go out. Every individual is master of the citadel of his own soul. Let us remember at all times that if we have evil in our hearts it is because we are willing that it should be there. There is a great power in the power of the will or of evil from our lives if we will cut that power to our help.

"To resist the devil manfully is a sure way to develop our strength. What we want to attain is self-mastery. What God wants us to attain is self-mastery. How strange that we should permit ourselves to be mastered when it is possible when it is God's ideal that we should be masters of self. Many an individual has grown so used to the dominance of evil over his life that he thinks it necessary. He is resigned to his bondage. He is not conscious of power within himself to break the bonds of evil and he has not learned to use the power which God is ready to supply. He does not know the power of his never failing ally. God stands back of every man who will use his infinite power and there is no power of evil that can stand against Him. It is God's purpose that we should be victorious. We must resist in order that we may be victorious, but we need not fight a losing battle. If we will resist the devil he will be compelled to depart because God stands beside the one who puts up an intelligent and honorable resistance against evil. The victorious life is the ideal for all. No one need live a defeated life. Defeat is the work of the devil. God intends us to be victors. Let us unite in company with Him and live the winning life."

GREEK SHOE SHINERS

FINED $19.80 EACH

Kept Shoe Shining Stand Open After 10 a. m. Sunday and "Gassed" Officers

Two fines of $19.80 each were paid this morning by members of the Greek colony here as a result of keeping a shoe shining stand open after 10 o'clock on Sunday. The fines were accepted as a compromise, the cases against the five others being dismissed. It was brought out that the Greeks had been thrice warned by the officers, but had disregarded the advice. Had it not been for the fact that some of them "acted ugly" when arrested, it is likely that there would have been no fines, but they refused to tell their names and in other ways incurred the displeasure of the officers. This morning's fines were based upon a promise to behave in the future.

ASK WHOLESALEERS TO JOIN BUY-A-BALE CLUB

Local Merchants Send Letters to Jobbers and Wholesale in the North

Active steps to enlist the co-operation of wholesalers and jobbers in the buy a bale movement are being taken by members of the Wichita Falls buy-a-bale club and letters are being sent to those with whom local merchants deal, urging them to assist, and pointing out the advantages to them. It is hoped in this manner to secure the taking of a number of additional bales. The letter follows:

"You are probably well aware of the conditions that now prevail in the South with reference to the cotton situation. We have all indications of making a sixteen million bale crop, with the market far below normal; in fact, below the actual cost of production. To market a crop on such a basis as this will mean the failure of many business concerns, and it would require several years for conditions to again become normal.

"In order to alleviate these conditions as much as possible we have organized a 'Buy-a-Bale' club which agrees to buy, so far as possible, one bale of cotton from each tenant farmer at ten cents per pound, basis middling. This cotton is then placed in a bonded warehouse, fully insured and protected from all damages, and the buyer agrees to hold this cotton for a period of twelve months, or until such time as the market reaches ten cents.

"These clubs are being organized throughout the South and warehouses are being built, and in this way we can succeed in holding one-third to one-half of this crop off the market; we firmly believe it will only be a short time until cotton will go to twelve cents. This is not a local matter, but is a proposition that will affect all of us, our big wholesale houses, our jobbers, as well as all of our retail merchants. We want you to join our 'Buy-a-Bale' club and pay ten cents per pound for the bales, which on an average will weigh between 450 and 550 pounds, and hold same until you get your money back. We can buy it for you, store it in our bonded warehouse and send you a receipt for same. Think what it will mean if these 'Buy-a-Bale' clubs buy and hold two million bales off the market, the farmers hold what they can, and cut the acreage 50 per cent next year.

"We do not want any one to donate anything or lose a cent; this is a fight we are all interested in. Do not throw this letter aside, but write or wire us today to buy a bale for you and hold it off the market.

"Trusting that we may have the pleasure of enrolling you as a member of our 'Buy-a-Bale' club, we are, 'Yours very truly,' Member B. A. B. Club, Wichita Falls, Texas.

COTTON ASSOCIATION MEETS AT DALLAS TODAY

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 22.—After many local meetings and much discussion, definite action was to be taken today at the convention of the Texas division, Southern Cotton Association, to show the stand Texas farmers will take in regard to curtailment or storage of next year's cotton crop to offset low prices induced by the European war. Delegates will also be elected to the New Orleans meeting, September 29, when an attempt will be made to fix a minimum price for the staple that will be binding on every member of the association.

Action of the Texas division today was awaited eagerly throughout the cotton belt, owing to the fact that Texas is the largest cotton producing state in the South. What action Texas may take will be reasonably likely to greatly influence the New Orleans deliberations. There will also be elected Today Texas' five members on the executive committee of twenty-four of the Southern Association.

Among interesting addresses before the convention was one by Congressman Hatten W. Summers. Dreams Say that we dream! Our dreams have woven
Truths that outface the burning sun;
The lightnings, that we dreamed, have cloven
Time, space, and linked all lands in one!

Dreams! But their swift celestial fingers
Have knit the world with threads of steel
Till no remotest island lingers
Outside the world's great Commonweal.

Dreams the they? But ye can not stay
them,
Or thrust the dawn back for one hour.
Truth, Love and Justice, if ye slay
them,
Return with more than earthly power.
Strive, if ye will, to seal the fountains
That send the spring thro' leaf and spray;
Drive back the sun from the eastern mountains,
Then—bid this mightier government stay.

It is the Dawn! The Dawn! The Nations
From east to west have heard a cry—
Through all earth's blood-red generations
By hate and slaughter climbed thus high,
Here—on this height—still to aspire,
One path of love and peace climbs higher.
Make straight that highway for our God.

MRS. C. C. SMITH ENTER-TAINS W. W. SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon Mrs. C. C. Smith entertained her Sunday school class, the Willing Workers, very delightfully. This was the initial meeting of the season and, owing to the long vacation, a great many important business matters were to be discussed. The business discussions, election of officers, sewing and conversation occupied the minds of all until late in the afternoon when they were ushered into the darkened dining room, lit with candles only, where delicious refreshments were served by the charming hostess. Those present at this meeting were Misses Grace Anderson, Zella Bond, Ideala McCoy, Thelma Burchard, Goldie Hendrickson, Gladys Zetsche and the hostess, Mrs. Brown was the special guest.

YEOMEN SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN MONDAY EVENING

Monday evening a most delightful surprise, engineered by several of the ladies of the Rowena Circle, was given honoring the birthday of Mrs. L. Deatherage, secretary of the Circle. Early in the evening Mrs. South invited Mrs. Deatherage to her home and in her absence a number of the Yeomen and Circle ladies gathered at the Deatherage home. On her return with Mrs. South the house was found in darkness but as she stepped into the house the lights were suddenly switched on and disclosed two rooms full of friends who were enjoying the surprise immensely. After the honors had somewhat recovered from the effects of the surprise games were instituted and music was enjoyed. The guests had come well provided with a variety of delicious fruit and the evening as refreshments. A number of birthday tokens were received by Mrs. Deatherage to serve as pleasant reminders of the happy occasion. Those participating in this surprise were Messrs. and Mesdames Shuler, Robertson, Douglas, Wallace, Hallowitz, Duhaway, Richardson, Carlton, Mesdames South Jenne and Bailey, Misses Ora Carlton, Rose, Bonnie and Gladys Zetsche, Parker, Mary Andrews, Wheeler, Croffitt, Anna Johnson, Messrs. Smith, Topper, Smith and Talbert.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Monday night the sixty-third anniversary of Rebekah Odd Fellowship was fittingly observed by the local lodges. The lodges at Electric, Vernon and Iowa Park had been invited to attend the celebration and a large number accepted. The visitors were entertained at supper by the local Rebekahs at the home of Mrs. W. M. West. Following they adjourned to the Odd Fellows hall and the very entertaining program which had been arranged was enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program and a social time was enjoyed.

Miss Anna Trimble and Mrs. C. C. Shelton will entertain the officers and teachers of the Intermediate and Junior departments of the M. E. Church. South this evening at seven-thirty at the home of Mrs. Shelton.

The Victoria.
"Our Mutual Girl" is seen again today in her old spirit of daring and adventure. All the town is talking about Lieut. Porte's new machine, "America," and in a spirit of fun Margaret suggests that she take a trip in this airship. Her aunt is horrified but Dunbar carries out the joke and wagers, her a box of gloves, shoulder length, one dozen assorted that she will not. The wager decides Margaret and while the rest of the folks are at tea she slips out quietly, makes the trip to Lieut. Porte's hangar and has no difficulty in persuading him to take her for a short fly. When she is accomplished she returns to her home, before they have missed her and laughingly tells Dunbar that he may pay his wager whenever he likes. Ed Coxen and Winnifred Greenwood are featured in a two part American, "The End of a Perfect Day."

The Gem.
"The Stuff that Dreams are Made of," a two part Edison, shows here today, also "Muff," a two part Selig, a synopsis of which follows:
Janet and Doris Bentham, orphan girls of moderate means in a small New Jersey town, become separated through the impulsiveness of Doris, who is a light hearted girl of sixteen years, winsome-loved and mothered by her devoted elder sister. Doris becomes infatuated with a handsome circus rider, unprincipled but clever. She elopes with him. Her husband trains Doris to become a circus rider. Doris is injured in a fall from her horse two years after leaving home, and finding that her injuries will prove fatal, she makes her husband promise he will give their infant boy to her sister, Janet; also that he will recompense Janet for taking care of and raising the child. Lablanche, the unscrupulous husband, does not care to recognize the responsibility of the child after the death of his wife, Doris, but having some remnant of decency in his heart, notwithstanding his general lawlessness, he takes the infant to the home of Janet, and leaves it with her. Among the crooks is Lablanche, his father. These crooks encourage Muff to engage in a burglary. An old lady is stopping at a hotel and is reported to have a lot of money. She is no other than Janet, the foster mother of Muff, who has come to the city to find her missing loved one. The robbery takes place, but immediately after the flight of Muff is revealed. The horrified Lablanche discovers that he has made his own son an accomplice and that they have perhaps murdered the loving sister of his dead wife, and the foster mother of Muff. The shock reforms Lablanche, who goes West to try and make a man of himself. Muff, thoroughly repentant, returns to his own home with happy Aunt Janet, and his sweetheart Polly.

The Empress.

A tale of the Mexican border, of smugglers, of love, heroism and villainy is "Across the Border," the multiple-reel feature by the Colorado Motion Picture Company, during the retaking of a scene of which the leading lady, Miss Grace McHugh and the camera man were engulfed in quicksands in the Colorado River and perished. Curly Smith, Texas Ranger, notices signs of what he takes to be smugglers while he is on guard along the Mexican border. He follows the American and finds that arms are being smuggled across the border. He is discovered spying on them and is forced to flee. This chase ends in the fall of the ranger over a steep embankment, which is one of the most thrilling bits of motion picture acting and photography seen in many a day. The pursuers turn back thinking that Smith is dead, but a Mexican girl, daughter of the patriot chief, searches for him and in compassion on his suffering takes him to her home, and binds up his injured ankle. He is recognized by the American smuggler and a close watch is placed over him. He falls in love with the pretty little Mexican and she returns his affections. The American smuggler grows jealous of Smith's attentions to Anita and when she tells him that she loves the ranger he plans a fearful revenge. A deadly rattlesnake is procured and an Apache torture is planned. Smith is bound on the rocks and the snake, fastened with a buckskin thong is placed just out of reach. When the dew falls on the ground the dampened buckskin will stretch and the snake will be able to reach the ranger with its deadly fangs. As the minutes go by death, with a forked tongue and glaring eyes waits for him. As the thong grows longer the snake comes nearer until only a few more minutes stand between the waiting man and eternity. Then a shot is heard and Anita has once more saved his life. Happiness is not yet for them, however, as Smith is retaken by the band, but the interference of the ranger's troop is timely and at last Anita and her ranger lover are free to go home across the border to happiness.

The Majestic.

Al J. Jennings, former train-robber and convict, whose life constitutes probably the most remarkable of human documents, believes he has accomplished a great good by having his former deeds of outlawry shown in moving pictures.

"When it was first proposed to put 'Beating Back' the Saturday Evening Post story of my life into pictures, I dissented," Mr. Jennings recently told some friends at the Players Club.

"I will be charged with exploiting myself or rather permitting my friend, Charles J. Hite, to exploit me. That criticism will come. It will be harsh and humiliating, but I must endure it. After a man has paid his debt and the law has been vindicated by his punishment, he should have a chance in the world.

"As things stand at present, this is denied him. I am going to withstand criticism and devote my energies to making lighter the load of those 48,000 men and women, who every year are turned out of the penitentiaries and other prisons of the country. I want them to get a human chance to make good."

This six reel feature will be shown at the Majestic today.

TEXANS RESCUED FROM KNIFE BY WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY

Find Swift Relief From Ailments of Years' Standing With First Dose of Treatment

Many Texans miserably suffer from stomach ailments and disorders of the digestive tract which appear to be particularly prevalent in the South. Many others have found a way to health by the use of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy.

The first dose of this remedy proves what it will do.

T. B. Goodpasture, 802 Sabine St., Houston, Texas, wrote: "I took treatment last spring. I don't think I will have to take any more—it completely cured me."

R. L. Randall, Laredo, Texas, wrote: "I have just finished my fifth bottle of your stomach treatment and passed several gall stones. Your preparation has worked simply wonderfully during my course of treatment."

These people know, because they took and proved it. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy shows you right away. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It gives quick relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many say it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

The wonderful success of this remedy has caused many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's Mayr's. Probably your own neighbors know about the remedy. Go to Foshhee & Lynch and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing among people they know—or write to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist will tell you its wonderful effects. (Adv't)

This paper don't know who it was that started the "Buy-a-Bale" movement, but he deserves a medal.

This is the first day of fall. It is time to lay aside that straw hat and Palm Beach suit. They have comforted us for a season and now need a rest.

Some of the Houston banks have received about $1,250,000 of the emergency currency, but according to George Bailey of the Houston Post, the currency is only available to the emergencies of the higher class.

The Germans admit they have lost in killed and wounded since the war began 35,000 men; the allies claim the Germans' loss is something like 2,500,000, but that is perhaps a little out of line. If the estimate of the allies is correct, then the Germans are still putting up a good front with nearly half their fighting force killed or wounded.

Congressman Henry of Texas has introduced a bill in Congress providing for a bond issue of $500,000,000 to be loaned to cotton growers of their cotton in order that cotton may be held until the price reaches ten cents or above. His plan, in short, is that the money realized from the sale of the bonds be placed with National and State banks in the cotton producing States to be loaned to cotton farmers on their cotton at three per cent per annum, the banks to see that the cotton is properly classified, warehoused and insured, the cost of which the banks are to pay and hold out when the cotton is sold; the banks to receive an interest at the rate of six per cent. It is said this bill has the backing and endorsement of the National Farmers' Union. The object is to hold the cotton until the price reaches 12 cents per pound.

HENRY WATTERSON ON THE WAR

"The heart of man as he surveys the slaughter from afar grows sick and stops beating, the word he faint would speak passes silent from his lips and dies upon the empty air. That is why the poets seem insufficient—the very Kiplings limp and stark—the singing drowned by the wailing.

"Christ! That any man should gloat—that any woman should glow—before such appalling savagery—" "Wolf of the world and yellow-footed kite alike are gleeful, nor but from the tower of Bridges, across the low country to the dome of Cologne, by Ghent, where the peace treaty was made, and Aix, whose Charlemagne sleeps the dreamless sleep, and Liege, the immortal—and up and down the valley, even the beautiful river—nowhere any ringing of bells, nor shouts of glory; only moans over dying and mourning of the dead; from white hoods of Flanders and Rhenish maiden; from palace and cottage; the smoke of Louvain ascending still from earth to heaven—even to the throne of God—in awful, awe-inspiring indictment. To your prayers, ye fools of warrior birth and blood, to your prayers! You know not what you do."

THE WIDENING BREACH.

It has become evident to those who have been observing the course of proposed legislation during the present session of the Legislature that the breach between the Governor of Texas and the Democratic nominees for that position is rapidly widening. The Governor's advocacy of the State Bank measure in flagrant and contemptuous disregard of the declaration of the Democratic platform adopted at El Paso containing a declaration meant to protect the State school fund from exploitation by irresponsible politicians is, of course, the chief cause of the growing estrangement.

The reaffirmance of the sacredness of the school fund and the determination of the Democracy of Texas to throw about it the protection necessary to its preservation was put in the platform by the nominees for Governor, James E. Ferguson. Whether he at that time had any reason to suspect that there would be a far-reaching and determined effort to divert the fund is not known. If it was not, the precaution in putting Democrats on record as uncompromisingly opposed to such action as that now recommended by the Governor, assumes the dignity of

RUSSIA WILL NOT HEAR TALK OF PEACE NOW

There Can Be No Peace Until Kaiser's Ministers Appear at Tents of Allies

London, Sept. 22.—"There can be no peace until the Kaiser's Ministers appear at the tents of the allied commanders and ask for terms."

This is Russia's attitude as expressed by Russian newspapers which have the ear of the government. To all peace proposals from any source than Berlin direct a deaf ear will be turned.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times assumes, from the attitude of leading Russian newspapers, that there is resentment in that country over persistent efforts on the part of the United States to obtain mediation in behalf of Germany.

Russia's attitude, he says, is irrevocable. Russia will not make peace except in cooperation with her allies. Rumors that Russia is seeking territorial aggrandizement are denounced as false and malicious and as inspired by Germany.

Several days ago the Novoe Vremya suggested that it would be well for President Wilson to abstain from offers of mediation on behalf of Germany, because such offers could not be possibly entertained in view of

OBSTREPEROUS DRUNK WAS MUCH CHASTENED

Cursing and fighting, a drunk man was taken to the county jail last night by the sheriff's department and locked up. This morning, sober and considerably chastened in spirit, he pleaded guilty and was assessed the usual fine. He was permitted to go down town for the money and soon returned with a large pile of currency. After paying the fine, he insisted on shaking hands with each of the officers.

FERGUSON WILL SELL COTTON AT EIGHT CENTS

Temple, Texas, Sept. 22.—That he will dispose of a considerable portion of his cotton crop at prevailing prices is the declaration of Governor-elect James E. Ferguson, who believes that prices of the past two days are equitable under existing conditions.

Mr. Ferguson is also an advocate of crease reduction and will set an example by reducing the cotton acreage on his farm. In speaking of the matter, he said, among other things: "It is out of the question to think the South can indefinitely hold all the crop off the market, and I therefore consider it best to let the spinner have a part of the cotton at present prices. Then his interest as well as ours will be to keep the remainder of the staple from bringing a lower price than now obtains. When the spinner buys cotton at 8-12 cents he becomes by virtue of his own interests a booster of prices above that point, realizing that if the raw material goes down his manufactured product goes down with it."

That the government will do very little to help the situation is the belief of Mr. Ferguson.

"The people should not be deceived into believing the government or any governmental agency can do as much for the South as it can do for itself," he declared.

"The merchant, farmer and banker should get together and establish co-operation if they fail to do so then emergency currency, warehouse legislation and political agitation generally will be of little benefit."

The lodges of Moose, Maccabees and Woodmen of the World have joined the "buy a bale" movement as has also the Carpenters' Union, each purchasing a bale today's wagon receipts were 425 bales, the largest on any day within the past five years. One lot of ninety bales raised by Bohemian farmers near Seaton was put on the market and sold at from 8-14 cents upward.

NEWSPAPER PLANT IS DYNAMITED AT TONAPAH

Unsuccessful Attempt to Blow Up Paper Active in Labor Dispute. Tonopah, Nev., Sept. 22.—The office of the Bonanza, an afternoon paper here was damaged early today by the explosion of three sticks of dynamite under the corner of the room occupied by the job printing plant. A corner of the building was torn off and a garage adjoining was damaged. Damage to the job plant was light. The newspaper plant located in another room escaped damage.

There has been friction between the members of the Western Federation of Miners and the Industrial Workers of the World in Tonopah and the Bonanza has taken an active part in the controversy favoring the side of the Federation.

JUDGE GILLETTE PERMITS AL JENNINGS TO PRACTICE IN HIS COURT

The strong hand of the law follows the career of Al Jennings even in motion pictures. A few days ago when "Beating it Back" the story of Jennings' career which will appear at the Majestic tonight, was showing at Denison, suddenly a posse of deputy sheriffs appeared on the scene and seized the picture. The seizure was on a writ of attachment secured by one L. W. Miller who claimed the picture on the ground that he entered into a contract a number of years ago with Jennings for the pictorial rights of his impersonations. This was at the time when Jennings and Jack Abernathy were acting some wolf hunting and other frontier exploits for motion pictures.

When the writ was served there was nothing for J. F. Wall, the manager of the picture-showing there but to accept service. With this went the appointment of a receiver who travels along with the film and keeps it in his possession and handles all the money. The receiver is Roy Dorchester of Denison. He will remain in charge of the picture until the case is tried in court.

Without provocation or at least without a legitimate excuse, a man in the City Cafe last night at about seven or seven-thirty o'clock, slapped one of the waitresses, knocking her over a chair and rendering her almost unconscious. Instantly the affair developed into a free-for-all, when two of the male waiters began to attack the offender. During the course of the struggle a chair was used with such zest that the man who started the brawl was knocked to the floor, in which position he was fast being rendered a badly bruised person when the police rescued him. He was taken to the city jail and later was given a fine for intoxication. The county officers took charge for him and he will face a charge of assault at their hands.

J. E. Barclay, a cotton picker who claims to be one of the best in the State, stopped over in the city for some time today en route from Sherman to Davidson, Okla., where he says he is going to exceed his own record this fall. In discussing cotton picking, Mr. Barclay said that there was lots of difference in the kind of cotton one picks in. In Sherman, he said, the best picker in the world could not pick as much as he could in the western country, because there is a difference in the way it pulls, he explained. He can pick from six to eight hundred a day anywhere west of Henrietta, he said, but east of there, it was difficult to pick as much as six hundred pounds a day.

An eloping couple appeared quite annoyed when it seemed as if every one in the depot knew of their plight and they were the recipients of looks illustrating various shades of feeling from pity to envy today as they waited for a train. The officials had been warned to look for them by the father of the girl in Oklahoma and they were made to show their marriage certificate before being allowed to continue their journey.

H. E. Swindell and family of Frederick motored into the city this morning just before it began raining, on their way to Fort Worth where they will make their home. While it rained they had their gasoline tank refilled and took on needed supplies preparatory to an uninterrupted trip when the elements cleared. They left Frederick yesterday at noon, camped last night and had to rush it to get here before the rain set in this morning. The trip was resumed about ten o'clock and they intend to make their destination by sundown if no serious accident befalls them.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR COTTON WAREHOUSE HERE

First Unit Will Be 120x120 Feet—Receipts Already Being Issued

The contract for the cotton warehouse was awarded Monday afternoon by H. B. Hines, secretary-manager of the Wichita County Cotton Warehouse Association. Charles M. Bislowski Jr., was the successful bidder, his figure being about $1200 for the first warehouse unit. This will be 120x120 feet in dimensions and will have a capacity of 1000 bales. Additional units of the same size will be erected as the cotton comes in.

Work is already under way on the warehouse and there are several bales on the site today. John Morris has been placed in charge and is ready to issue the customary receipts. It will require but a few days to complete the building. Sufficient money has been subscribed to build another warehouse of the same size and it is hoped to care for all other additions out of the revenues for storage.

HUNDREDS OF COTTON PICKERS RECRUITED HERE

This City Sort of Recruiting Station for N. W. Texas and Southwest Oklahoma

Wichita Falls is now a recruiting station for much of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma, for farmers who need cotton pickers, and every day brings a number of cotton growers and employment agents here to secure hands to work in the fields. The crop is larger than that of last year and it has been found necessary to import a number of pickers. At noon, when most of the trains come in, farmers and agents are to be seen at the Union Station with from one to a dozen cotton picking recruits, and many others are taken out by wagon and automobile to nearby farms. Picking is not being pushed as rapidly as usual on account of the condition of the cotton market, and the inability of some farmers to pay pickers, but there is said to be plenty of work for all who want it.

ST. LOUIS WOMEN WILL WEAR COTTON CLOTHES

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 22—St. Louis women have adopted enthusiastically the movement for women to wear as far as possible cotton clothes in order to help create a market for cotton and help out Southern planters. The movement is hand in hand with the "buy a bale" movement here.

The leading society women have endorsed the project, as have patriotic organizations here and in the south. Many chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy have agreed to wear cotton almost entirely in order to create a market. The movement started in Memphis and has spread even to Washington.

troops were fired upon by citizens and that citizens had been provided with guns for this purpose. The Belgian commission which recently came to this country to lay a protest before President Wilson gave the following version:

"On August 25 an engagement took place in the neighborhood of Louvain between German and Belgian troops. The Germans, repulsed and pursued by the Belgian troops, retreated toward Louvain in full panic."

"Many witnesses testify that at that moment the German garrison in Louvain was erroneously informed that Belgians were entering the city. Immediately the German garrison, stationed at Louvain, withdrew toward the station, where they clashed with their own troops which were being pursued by the Belgians. Everything seems to point to the fact that a contact took place."

FRENCH CROPS RUINED; STARVATION FOR MANY

Products Rot in Fields for Want of Harvester—No One to Plant for Next Year

Paris, Sept. 22—Rural France is today a sacked and pillaged country. This year's crop has—broadly speaking—all been lost. Next year's crop cannot be planted. The men who could save the one and plant the other are wearing blue coats and tramping toward the front. France's agricultural ruin for the moment is complete.

"I have forty acres in cut grain lying there rotting," said a crippled man near Dreux. "My son has gone to the war. There are no men left in the country. The government has taken my horses and cattle. This winter we will starve."

It was not far from Dreux that the writer saw an old woman swinging a cradle through the standing grain. Her white hair glistened in the sun. As she recovered from each slow and painful swing she rested a moment and placed a hand upon her aching back.

Ten days before the order came for mobilization this old woman of the cradle was one of the happiest in Normandy. She had five great sons, who live with her upon the farm that had been in her family name since William the Conqueror.

The five sons and their men had been called to the colors. Because their horses were good they were seized by the government.

The writer just returned from a 500 mile tour by automobile and rail through Normandy, one of the fairest districts of pleasant France. Everywhere it was the same story. The year's crop had been a bumper one, but it will prove almost a total loss.

Not one-twentieth of it had been put in stack when the mobilization order stopped the harvest. In every mile of the 500, ploughs are standing in the furrow or empty carts in the field. Patented little black clumps were scattered through green fields. They marked the rotting grain.

"From that moment, pretending that the Belgian civilians had fired upon German troops, the Germans began bombarding the city and kept up their bombardment until 10 o'clock that night. At the place where the affray started not a single body was found of a civilian, proving that the population had not participated in the shooting."

"The houses which had not taken fire were set ablaze by rockets with which the German soldiers were supplied. The largest part of the city of Louvain, especially the Haute Ville,—that is to say, the part comprising the modern houses, the cathedral of St. Peter, the University hall, with the old and famous library of the university, its manuscripts its collections and scientific institutions, the theatre, and many more buildings were at that time consumed by flames."

"The fire continued for several days. Numerous bodies of civilians covered the streets and squares. An eye-witness testified that in one place he counted more than fifty charred bodies—of people; many persons who had taken refuge in their cellars trying to escape and falling into the furnace of the blazing city."

"The fire started a little above the American colleges; the city is entirely destroyed with the exception of the city hall and the station."

"The fire continued for days, and far from trying to stop it the Germans seemed, on the contrary trying to feed it by throwing straw into it. The cathedral and the theatre were consumed by the flames and fell into ruins. The library of the university also is destroyed."

"The town resembles an old city in ruins, in the midst of which drunken soldiers were carousing liquor around bottles of wine and carrying—the officers themselves were installed in arm chairs, drinking like their own men."

NEW GAS WELL BROUGHT IN NEAR LAWTON, OKLA.

A gas well of several million feet capacity in the Lawton field has been brought in. This well is located in southeast corner of southwest 1-4, township 2 north, range 10, and adjoins the farm of Samuel Epstein. The well belongs to Messrs. Chaffee, Owen and Wilson, who leased land from Epstein and Keady, and it is known as the Miller farm. The well was brought in yesterday evening and the gas was struck at a depth of a little over 800 feet. This is the deepest that gas has yet been found in the Lawton field. The gas came with such force that it blew everything out of the well except a lot of casing, which was lifted a considerable distance in the well and dropped back, breaking it to pieces and to some extent choking the well and checking the flow of gas. The fear of the gas supply in the Lawton field heretofore has been owing to the depth the gas was found, which averaged 400 feet, but now that an immense supply is found at double that depth, it is believed the supply is abundant for all purposes. Lawton needs the gas and wants it as soon as it can be piped in.—Lawton Constitution.

QUALITY VS. QUANTITY
When one buys quality in anything you don't expect something for nothing, as in almost every case it is dear at any price. Especially in my business does this rule apply.

A smooth tongued artist will tell you a lot of misleading things, because he don't know that he will return to face your dissatisfaction. We know that we are to live with you and meet you every day. Isn't this enough common sense to satisfy you that we must do our full duty and give value for the amount received?

Our quality is for your satisfaction and success. If you are satisfied we must succeed.

The FIT
Is the feature of the suit. The ill-fitting suit may be the very climax of the textile workers' art in the matter of material. It may be the best fabric it is possible to produce, but if it does not fit, the man looks like a scarecrow. It has been said that the clothes do not make the man. No, they don't, but they can unmake him. Some tailors can take the finest material and make a suit that would make Chesterfield look like a deformity. Our suits are of the best material, and "When we lay the tape the suit fits."

It is a far cry from the wheat fields of Wichita county to the battlefields of Europe, but that is the transition that awaits Beck, Dobbin and others of Wichita county's plow horses. Horse buyers for Fort Worth houses who visit this city state that agents of the English government are buying horses in large numbers at Fort Worth and other Texas points, and the demand for good horses has become much heavier. War times demand many additional horses for cavalry and transportation purposes and while the automobile has replaced the horse to a large extent, there is still much need for horses and the United States is being called upon as usual to supply this demand. Texas, one of the largest horse raising states, is furnishing a large proportion of the horses bought in this country.
