ANOTHER CALLED SESSION ON BANK BILL PREDICTED

GOVERNOR TO SOUND PUBLIC SENTIMENT

BILLS ENEMIES CLAIM ITS DEFEAT AT THIS SESSION IS SURE

REACH VOTE THIS AFTERNOON

Believed Governor Would Veto If Amendments Remain—Brelsford Defends Executive

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—The bank of Texas bill, according to claims of its opponents and concessions by a few of its friends is dead for the present session, and it is also generally believed today the governor is likely to call still another special session to try to pass it. Indications are the present session will end Saturday. The Temperance bill, concurrent resolution which the House adopted last night was sent to the Senate for concurrence today and being a privileged matter Senator Townsend announced he would call it up some time during the day. Several senators have announced they will vote for this adjournment.

Both branches by agreement will reach a vote today on the bank of Texas bill. The House agreed to vote at 5 p. m., but the Senate may act earlier. If the Senate should be passed, apparently it would not be approved in its present shape. The Clark amendment adopted by the Senate yesterday for loaning money direct to farmers at six per cent is believed to be sufficient reason for the governor to disapprove the bill. Furthermore the House has pending an amendment that each of the nine directors shall give a $40,000,000 bond. It is said the governor never would approve the measure with this provision in it. The governor has not yet returned from San Antonio. He goes to Tyler tomorrow to speak at the East Texas Fair.

GOVERNOR IS DEFENDED BY SENATOR BRELSFORD

Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—The Senate today passed finally without opposition the Bailey of DeWitt bill to amend state banking laws so as to place state banks on a parity with national banks in participation in the federal reserve. The bill was sent to the House.

The Senate resumed consideration of the bank bill with the Collins amendment providing for referring it to popular vote as the first subject of consideration. Senator Brelsford favored both the bill and the referendum amendment. He charged that certain senators had deserted the bill because Governor Colquhoun proposed it. He said the bill is the greatest pronouncement ever issued from the governor's office. He said although he was a prohibitionist and had never supported the governor he proposed to follow measures rather than men. Senator Townsend called up the House concurrent resolution to adjournment at five o'clock.

FINAL CONSIDERATION OF WAR TAX BILL IN SENATE

Change is To Be Made in Tax On Cigarettes, Based on Number Manufactured

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 8.—Final consideration of the war tax bill began in the Senate today when the measure perfected by the Senate Democratic caucus was reported favorably by the finance committee. Only one change was made in the bill and this will be proposed as an amendment to the tax on cigarette manufacturers. Under the amendment manufacturers making up to 15,000,000 cigarettes a year will pay tax; those from 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 forty-eight dollars and those more than 25,000,000 ninety-six dollars.

CLOUDY WEATHER FOR WORLD'S SERIES

RAIN IS POSSIBILITY, ACCORDING TO FORECAST—STALLINGS AND MACK AT OUTS

ATHLETICS RULING FAVORITES

Long Odds Given—Fans Already Lining Up at Bleacher Gate of Shibe Park

By Associated Press.
Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Today's weather predictions for the world series tomorrow and Saturday said there was no hope for clear weather. The best that can be expected, according to the weather prophecy, is low-hanging clouds and occasionally light rains. If conditions are no worse than this the games will be played.

George Stallings, the Boston manager, said today the refusal yesterday of Connie Mack to permit the Boston players to use Shibe Park in the afternoon was unsportsmanlike, inasmuch as the Athletics are familiar with the lights and shadows of Fenway Park in Boston. It is understood Mack gave the Boston team the use of the playing field in the morning because he intended to use it in the afternoon for his own men, and also wanted to have the field prepared for the big games.

Fans Already Lining Up.

A score of fans last night took their places outside the bleacher entrance to Shibe Park, more than thirty-six hours before the time for opening the gates.

Speculators are asking thirty-five dollars for a set of three five dollar tickets for reserved seats. Three two dollar tickets cost fifteen dollars. Several arrests have been made of alleged speculators. It is said there has never before been such a demand for admission to the games.

Both Mack and Stallings today expressed confidence in winning. All players on both teams are said to be in excellent condition except Smith, Boston's third baseman, who is out of the game. McInnis, the Athletics' first baseman, who has been out with an injured hand for ten days, is said to be ready to play.

LACK OF JURISDICTION CLAIMED IN LANE CASE

McLemore's Attorneys Move To Dismiss Appeal in Congressional Election Contest

By Associated Press.
Galveston, Texas, Oct. 8.—A motion to dismiss the appeal of W. P. Lane in the Lane-McLemore congressional election contest was filed today by McLemore's counsel in the first court of civil appeals. This motion said that under the election law the decision of the district court in this case which favored McLemore is final and that the court of civil appeals had no jurisdiction. Argument will be heard late today.

FRONTAL ATTACKS COSTLY, TRY FLANKING MOVEMENTS

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Oct. 8.—(via London)—According to the latest dispatches reaching from the front, attacks have proved so costly in lives to both sides that they have been deferred. The antagonists are awaiting results of flanking movements. The German soldiers on the center of the line in France live in their trenches. The only warm meal they get is served in the night.

EL PASO JUDGE RESIGNS FROM APPELLATE BENCH

By Associated Press.
El Paso, Texas, Oct. 8.—Associate Justice J. C. McKenzie of the English court of civil appeals resigned today and was succeeded by District Judge A. M. Walthall whom the governor appointed. Walthall was nominated for this place in the July primary. McKenzie was not a candidate.

BESIEGERS ACROSS NETHE AT ANTWERP

POSITION GAINED ONLY AFTER FEARFUL SACRIFICE OF FORCES

ARTILLERY IS TELLING STORY

Unable To Withstand Showers From Guns—Balloons Used For Observations

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 8.—The Germans crossed the River Nethe early Tuesday, says the Times correspondent at Antwerp. This correspondent under date of Sunday, describing previous attempts to cross the Nethe which failed said:

"The Germans had by all accounts a dreadful experience. They completed a pontoon and they came down the river bank in solid masses to cross it. As they came, every Belgian gun that could be turned on the spot was concentrated on them and they were blown away. Blocks of them at a time and still the masses came on. The Belgian officers spoke with enthusiasm of the Germans' steadiness and gallantry with which each company was swept away another was pushed into its place. At last the bridge was shattered and blown to bits and the Germans fell back. Later in the night fire ceased on both sides except at rare intervals.

Big Guns In Reserve.

"The next day the Germans seemed to be reaching the country at large with their shrapnel and now then sending a round and their big guns but they used the big guns sparingly. Perhaps they reserved them for use against Antwerp itself or perhaps were aware that these guns were getting somewhere near the limit of range that big guns can fire. In the last few days there has appeared only one big gun in action. Both sides are using captive balloons for viewing operations and the artillery of each side seems to get a good deal of fun out of aiming at the other's balloon." The London Daily News says:

"The great guns have told the tale. Fighting around Antwerp has been a battle of Krupp's against men. As fast as the Belgians were compelled to withdraw from a position the Germans moved up and occupied it. The Belgians fought bravely and frequently repulsed the Germans but as often as they did so the latter would again bring their artillery into play and drive the Belgians from their position with showers of shrapnel. In their present position the Germans can reach the city even with their second largest gun."

GERMANS CLAIM REPULSE OF ATTACK ON TSING TAU

Report of Removal of General Von Moltke From Command Is Not Confirmed

Tokio announced officially that the German fire from Tsing Tau is slackening. The report, widely circulated, from sources hostile to Germany and that Emperor William had removed Gen. Von Moltke as chief of the general staff, is shown to be untrue by reports from neutral quarters.

GERMAN AEROPLANE DROPS BOMBS IN PARIS, WOUNDING THREE PERSONS

By Associated Press.

MANY BELGIAN REFUGEES IN HOLLAND, DESTITUTE AND BROKEN IN SPIRIT

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 8.—The Hague Express correspondent says South Holland is literally swamped with refugees from Antwerp and he described terrible scenes of despair. At one railroad station, he says hundreds of Belgians sit weeping having lost their possessions. Thousands are housed at Rosendaal in public buildings and barracks and other thousands are cared for in smaller cities.

RUMORED THAT BULGARIA HAS TAKEN UP ARMS ON SIDE OF GERMANY

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 8.—The Central News quotes the Vienna Reichspost as saying that furious fighting has taken place between Bulgarians and Servians and that the Bulgarians have sieged Ispic, Servia. If this dispatch is true it would indicate Bulgaria has entered the war on German's side. There is no official notice of such action and it may be that Bulgarian irregulars have attacked the Servians on their own account.

AEROPLANES CAUSE PANIC IN ANTWERP

CONFIDENCE SOON RETURNS

FRANTIC INHABITANTS STORM STATION IN EFFORT TO LEAVE CITY

Germans Drop Bombs Destroying Seven Houses and Killing Score of People in Town

By Associated Press.
Antwerp, Oct. 7, 7 p. m., via London, Oct. 8.—The panic among the people here was increased today by the appearance at 11 this morning and 3 this afternoon of German aircraft which dropped bombs destroying seven houses and killing a score of people. The large avenue to the railway station became black with a struggling mass of persons trying to escape from the city. Seized with unreasoning fear the residents transported patients, cripples and even occupants of lunatic asylums.

The situation soon changed. While at 2 o'clock even grown men were weeping with terror at 6 o'clock everybody again was certain that the forces would be able to hold out again the Germans, even throw them back across the River Nethe, while everybody was telling his neighbor how far superior the guns were to the German heavy artillery.

Antwerp, Brussels, Namur and Metz Thought To Be Intended For New Line

BELGIANS FATE HANGS ON RESULT AT ANTWERP

Little Nation Faces Elimination From War—Germany's Big Guns Shell City Today

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 8.—5:12 p. m. "Antwerp was subjected to a furious bombardment throughout last night" says the correspondent of the Star at Ghent, "shells from the German sixteen inch guns were falling early this morning in the Place Verte close to the cathedral."

The fate of the Belgian army is a striking feature of the day's war news. Since the withdrawal of the government from Brussels to Antwerp, the entire fighting force of Belgium has concentrated in or about the latter city. Now the fall of Antwerp before the German guns that reduced Liege and Namur is threatened. Advices from neutral sources heretofore disputed German claims that they have broken through the outer circle of fortifications and brought their big guns within range of the city proper.

The Belgian government has been transferred to Ostend. The populace is fleeing into Holland and flags of mercy are flying from the steeples of churches to indicate that these structures if spared will not be used in the defense.

If the city falls the Belgian army has the alternative, barring surrender of attempting to fight its way through a German-invested country to effect a juncture with the allies or retreating into Holland there to be interned until the war ends. The latter course would eliminate Belgium as a factor in the great struggle.

For days Antwerp has been holding out in hope that the allies' last wing would swing around in time to save the city. Recent reports from the battle make it plain aid from that source is extremely doubtful.

Little change on the battle line in France is indicated in the French war office statement today.

FRENCH DENY GERMAN REPORTS OF PROGRESS ON WESTERN BATTLE LINE

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 8.—3:15 p. m. The following official announcement was made this afternoon: "First, on our left wing in the region of the department of Nord the enemy has made progress at no point. At certain points he has moved back particularly to the north of Arras where fighting is developing under conditions favorable to us. The operations of the opposing forces of cavalry are developing almost as far as the seacoast on the north. Between the Somme and the Oise in the vicinity of Roysel the enemy still is in force but we have retaken the major part of the positions which we were obliged to give up. North of the Aisne the numerical strength of the German troops seems to have diminished.

"Second, on the center between Rheims and the Meuse there is nothing to report. On the heights of the Meuse between Verdun and St. Mihiel the enemy has drawn back to the north of Hatton Chattel. He still holds St. Mihiel and some positions to the north of it on the right bank of the Meuse. In the Woivre district violent attacks delivered by the enemy west of Apremont have failed. On our right in Lorraine and the Vosges, there has been no change."

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP DUE TO BEGIN AT THREE O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

By Associated Press.
Amsterdam, Oct. 8.—A report from Antwerp today says the German besiegers notified Antwerp that the bombardment would begin at three o'clock Thursday morning unless the city surrendered.

At The Theaters

The Empress
Dot Farley is featured in a three-part Warner's Feature, "The Price of Crime." The following is the criticism offered by the Moving Picture World:

Although the plot is more than ordinarily melodramatic in this picture production, there are many heart interest scenes concerning a lovely old mother, whose heart is wrung by the waywardness of a disolute son, and a true wife's devotion is wasted upon the same individual. There is much of human nature existing through the first part, which takes place in the East, and the vacillating of the son makes stronger the affection existing between the wife and mother for each other. In the later reels there are some stunts pulled off that are the limit as regards sensational horseanship.

Dorothea Vale found it hard to choose between two suitors—Jack Conway and Jack Livingston. She finally accepts Conway, and after marriage they live with old mother. For a time they live happily. Conway a trusted bank cashier, grows prosperous. Then he begins to go the pace, neglecting his wife for other women. Dorothea learns of her husband's escapades and tries to win him from his ruinous course, without avail. The inevitable happens. Conway is found short by the bank examiner and decides to flee. Detectives, who have followed him to his house, place him under arrest; his trial follows and he is sentenced to a term in prison. Dorothea keeps the mother in ignorance of the true fate of her son, telling her that he is abroad in the interests of the bank. The bank seizes everything of value which Conway had possessed and left his wife and mother in straightened circumstances; but the wife, on the verge of poverty, labors with smiling face and breaking heart to keep the roof over the head of herself and mother-in-law.

Conway manages to escape from prison and, eluding his pursuers, jumps on a fast moving train headed westward. He leaps off the train and is picked up by a band of outlaws. They take him to their rendezvous and when satisfied that he is not a spy they make him one of their number.

His mother is afflicted with a paralytic shock and as a result loses her eyesight. The train in which they are traveling contains a large shipment of gold aboard. The outlaws determine to hold up the train and a female member, spurring her horse forward at full speed, leaps from her saddle and catches the ladder of a box car next to the engine. She compels the engineer to stop the train where her hand is hiding. The strong box is dynamited and outlaws flee with the booty. A posse and sheriff chase them and Conway's horse stumbles and falls. A posse of other horses fall over him, and he is pinned under a pile of struggling horses and men mortally injured. Incidentally he is taken where the mother overhears and recognizes his voice. He dies in her arms, the mother passing away a moment later.

The acting, photography and background are all up to the standard mark.

The Lydia Margaret

A new vaudeville bill will open to-day and the picture offering is unusually good. Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde are seen in a captivating comedy "A Baby Did It," and a pictureization of "Tempest and Sunshine" one of Mary J. Holmes best novels in two parts complete the program.

"Tempest and Sunshine" a novel has been read by countless thousands in this country and England. Standing in the same class with such books as "East Lynne" and "Jane Eyre," it has remained as a popular masterpiece of emotional fiction. Realizing its appeal, did qualities and broad appeal, the "Universal," first of any, have adapted and produced it upon the screen. That its success will be immediate and big need not be doubted, for it not only has the dainty and picturesque atmosphere of years gone by but only has been interpreted by a cast of artists of the finest type, most important among whom are Alexander Hadden, Dorothy Phillips and Howard Campton, Imp favorites.

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" is an old saying that has somewhat passed out of use. But does it carry the truth today that it was supposed to carry when coined? Are women, as the famous English author says, "The more deadly of the race?" One thing is certain, the average woman's love is a jealous one—and there are cases on record where she has resorted to methods to achieve her love that the average man would hesitate at. Tempest, the villainess of this story, was not essentially bad or criminal in her states, but love prompted her to acts of a horrible nature. She acts against her own blood. Yet, was she to be censured? Was "all's fair in love and war" to be applied in her case? In the end she repented and attempted reparation, and while the man who loved and sacrificed for her lay in cold death, still, compassion must be felt for her, for she was, to all a woman with the possibilities of gentle widowhood and motherhood.

While "Tempest and Sunshine" was written years ago, with its locale in the United States during the later sixties, it bears a moral which can be applied in this day with absolute surety. The action has suspense, but its main appeal is to the emotions.

The Gem.
Earle Williams and Edith Storey are featured in a magnificent two-part Vitagraph production, "Warfare in Clouds."

Richard Lawrence, an army aviator, introduces his friend, Count Zurich, to Zenia, his father's beautiful ward. The Count becomes infatuated with the girl and determines to win her. General Lawrence, Richard's father, is ordered to prepare for war, as Prince Duresign is gathering an army to overthrow the government. In a terrific battle, the forces of Duresign are driven back. Zenia and Richard fall in love, he proposes and she accepts him. Duresign's forces are greatly augmented in numbers, surround General Lawrence's army, and the General sends his son in a fast aeroplane for reinforcements. After an encounter with the enemy's sharpshooters he gets safely aside. Count Zurich flies to the enemy's camp and traitorously arranges to bombard General Lawrence's ramparts by aeroplane, for which Prince Duresign is to deliver Zenia's hands after defeating the General's army. Richard, returning in his air machine, seeing what the Count is preparing to do, charges full speed, directly at the Count's machine. With a fearful crash, the two aeroplanes collide in mid-air and fall to the ground in a mass of wreckage. The Count is killed instantly. Richard is badly injured, and Zenia disguises herself and goes to the enemy's hospital to nurse him. She is recognized and ordered shot as a spy. Richard escapes to his own lines, returning in an aeroplane in time to rescue the girl by dropping bombs on the enemy's midst. He swoops down, helps her into the machine, brings her back to his father, where they receive his blessing. Reinforcements arrive, and Prince Duresign's army is decisively defeated, and the warfare in the skies is ended.

The Majestic.

Mary Pickford is seen today in two single reel Biograph pictures, "As It Is in Life" and "A Rich Revenge," a Biograph comedy. As it is at "Mutt and Jeff" and "Slippery Slim" comedy complete—the program. A synopsis of "Slippery Slim and the Claim Agent" is as follows:
Slim hears of Silas Sloe collecting $50,000 from the railroad. Slim has an idea. He rigs up a dummy and places it in front of a train. He then makes believe that it was he that was injured and brings suit against the railroad. A claim agent offers to settle the affair for five dollars, but Slim refuses. During his absence Mustang Pete, who has called on Sophie, poses as Slim when another claim agent appears. Pete releases the railroad of all responsibility, for nine dollars. When Slim returns Sophie tells him what has happened and they proceed to handle poor Pete most roughly.

COMIC CHARACTERS TO BE SEEN HERE OCTOBER 23

"The real ait of the show world" is a very broad assertion. If it were made by Gus Hill, the sole owner and manager of "Mutt & Jeff" it would be completely set down as due to an exaggerated egotism, but, coming from the critic of one of the most important and largest circulated newspapers in the Eastern country, it must necessarily have weight with the theatre going public. The expression is an honest criticism that has been used as a critic of at least ten thousand daily and Sunday newspapers throughout the United States and Canada in the past three years, which denotes unmistakably the fact that an equal number of trained writers, whose business is to see, compare and criticize plays for the benefit of newspaper readers, honestly believe that "Mutt and Jeff" is a new nationally famous cartoon comedy as presented in an elaborate musical comedy by Mr. Gus Hill, is the one and only real musical comedy out of the world of theatricals. Public interest in Fisher's daily cartoons has never flagged during the four years it has been running in more than a thousand of the most prominent publications in the country. Two too clever character conceits, while they represent nothing more than the dash of a pen in the hands of a clever artist with a master brain, have attracted the attention and held the interest of the best men, women and children of America and Europe, therefore it is not to be wondered at that the public never grow tired of seeing "Mutt & Jeff" in real life. "Mutt & Jeff in Mexico" is the title of the new offering which Gus Hill has prepared at the cost of a small fortune for scenery, costumes, story, music and everything that goes to make the most elaborately magnificent musical comedy production the stage has ever held. It all comes to the Wichita Theatre, October 23.

STORY OF "CAMILLE" IS TAKEN FROM REAL LIFE
At the Wichita Theatre on October 10th will be an event of more than usual significance. With a superior cast, correct costuming and a sumptuous scenic production for the five acts of the play. Critics of both Europe and America have been unanimous in their praise of "Camille" which was immortalized by the great Sarah Bernhardt, Olga Nethersole and Clara Morris. It is a play that has made the hearts of millions vibrate with the different emotions. It is a true story taken from life and not a fantastic romance. The characters in "Camille" actually lived. When the elder Dumas who wrote "Monte Christo," "The Three Musketeers," etc., read the novel which was written by his son, he remarked: "Although my writings may be forgotten, 'Camille' will live forever."

The Victoria.
"Samson" in six parts, by many considered the best thing that Warren Kerrigan ever did is showing here today only. Kathleen Kerrigan plays the part of Delilah.
The story of Samson is the story of the strongest men who ever lived; his name today is known to almost every man, woman and child throughout the civilized world, and even to those who do not know his story his name is a synonym of strength. But besides that the thrilling story of the life of this man, to whom God gave power and strength such as no man possessed, and to whom he gave carte blanche in righting his wrongs, is the most spectacular, romantic and tragic of any of the heroes of antiquity.

The film representation which the Universal has evolved from the history of Samson, and told in six wonderful reels follows the account in the Book of Judges with starting accuracy. Nothing is left out. The film shows the anxiety of Samson's parents for a son, the prophesy of his birth and tremendous strength so long as he remains unshaven. Then the camera skips to the period of his young manhood, his courtship of a daughter of the Philistines and his betrothal. On the way to the marriage he slays a lion, and upon returning to the carcass sometime later he notices that bees have begun to hive in it. From this circumstance he propounds a riddle which the Philistines are unable to answer until they force Samson's wife to find out for them. Samson has promised thirty changes of raiment for the solution of the riddle and he is very angry. He casts off his wife, sets fire to the fields of the Philistines and killing thirty men of Ashkelon he disdainfully pays his wager to the Philistines. Then he retires to a cave, whence he is sought out by an army of the Philistines who have determined to kill him at all costs. But Samson slays a thousand of them with the jawbone of an ass and puts the rest to flight. Later they try to imprison him in the city of Gaza, but he carries off the gates of the city. Now Samson meets Delilah who, at the instigation of Sihon, the ruler of the Philistines, entices from him the secret of his great strength, shears his head and delivers him to the soldiers who put out his eyes and after beating him almost to death, put him to work in the grinding mill. Some time later the Philistines give a feast in the Temple of Dagon, sent for the blind Samson to make sport for them while they feasted. He comes, led by a small boy. In desperation at the humiliation put upon him he asks the boy to lead him to the pillars which support the temple, praying to the Lord to give him back his strength this once, he leans upon the pillars and the roof of the great Temple of Dagon comes tumbling down upon the multitude.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by deaf applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by complete restoration of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a tumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. THE TIMES PUBLISHING CO., ED HOWARD, CO.

The Times has often given notice through its columns that it would not accept for publication unsigned communications. The party who sent to The Times today an article signed "F. A. M." will understand by this why it was not published. The Times, for its own protection, must know the author of articles appearing in its columns.

The Governor is quoted as having said he would keep the Legislature in session until Christmas, if necessary for the consideration of his bank bill. In addition to that, the Governor also expects to devote some time in stumping the State to arouse sentiment in favor of the bill. The cost of it all falls on the people. But the people are getting just the kind of government they voted for, and therefore have no kick coming.

When people begin to hoard money hard times start and don't let up until the dollars are turned loose, it matters not how productive the country is. That is the condition of affairs at the present time. The people got scared and began to hoard money. The result is business stagnation. There is just as much money in the United States now as ever before, but the trouble is it is not at work. If you owe the butcher, the grocer or the dry goods man, pay him, and that will enable him to pay the wholesaler. It's the only right way to do business.

Grain exports from Galveston for the month of September, 1914, exceeded those of September, 1913, by 5,500,000 bushels. The reason there is a greater demand in Europe for American grain than ever before, and the longer the European war holds on the greater will this demand grow. This year Wichita county wheat raisers produced 7,000,000 bushels of wheat. Next year, with as favorable season, the county should produce at least double the amount of this year. More farmers have determined to plant more wheat and less cotton. It would be better if they would plant no cotton at all next year.

Governor Colquitt favors reduction of the acreage to cotton by legislation, and has threatened to submit to the present legislature a message along that line. The necessity for the reduction of cotton acreage is apparent, but can a law be enacted that will forbid a man to plant as much cotton or any other crop he chooses on land that belongs to him? It may be that it can be done. Some of us doubted it, however. But then some of us doubted whether one farm could be made as good as another for rental purposes by legislation. The result of that controversy is well known. The candidate for governor who said that it could be done was nominated, and it will be the duty of the next legislature to enact that piece of pure buncombe into law in order to convince them that their candidate was only joking about the matter.

WAR EXPERT STUFF.

Sir: In the last few days I have met a great many persons of fair intelligence who seemed hopelessly at sea regarding the true state of affairs in the European war zone. I pity them. Can't they understand what they see set down before their eyes every day in black and white—and sometimes red? The main facts stand out as clearly as a windmill in a Dutch plain. Briefly, they are as follows: The Belgian army, slowly retreating toward Brussels and Antwerp, is driving the Germans back at every point. The capital is in no fear of a German attack; the royal family has left for the coast.

The fort at Liege still hold out; the Germans are clearing away the ruins, rebuilding the walls and mounting new guns on the fortifications; the Belgian war office declares that the German bombardment is having little effect. The fort at Liege still hold out; the Germans are clearing away the ruins, rebuilding the walls and mounting new guns on the fortifications; the Belgian war office declares that the German bombardment is having little effect.

the position was trifling; peasants in the vicinity left their labors, in the fields and spent three days burying the Belgian dead.

The Kaiser is at Aix la Chapelle; he has gone to Mainz with his entire general staff; he has shaved off his mustache; he has not. The German Crown Prince has been wounded and is in a hospital at Aix la Chapelle; he has arrived at Liege with 500,000 troops to reinforce the besiegers; he has joined the Emperor's staff.

General von Emmich, the German commander at Liege, has committed suicide; he has been wounded by a Belgian shell; he is constantly on the firing line encouraging his men.

Great Britain now has 100,000 men in the field; only three persons know where the field is, and they won't tell. The French army in Alsace is aiming straight at Strassburg, determined to capture the city at any cost; the French have no intention of attacking the place, which is so strongly fortified as to be practically impregnable.

The bombardment of Belgrade still continues; the city was captured three weeks ago—H. in the Sun.

WHY NOT STATE BANKS?

The Houston Telegram gives us at least one interesting bit of information in the following recital: "Unless the Bank of Texas bill is given statutory vitality, the State banking system will go to pieces. That system has been marked for destruction and nothing but the creation of a State reserve bank can save it."

"When the Texas Commissioner of Banking, W. W. Collier, visited Washington a few weeks ago and requested Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to recommend that the Texas State banks be given the privilege of obtaining emergency currency, Mr. McAdoo replied that the granting of such privilege was out of the question.

"When Mr. Collier appeared to another member of the President's cabinet, Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson, to submit to his request that authority be granted Texas State banks to issue emergency currency, Mr. Burleson emphatically refused to grant Mr. Collier's prayer. Bringing down his fist on his desk, Mr. Burleson exclaimed with vehemence, 'There ought not to be any State banks.'

"And there will not be any State banks, unless a State reserve bank is created to give them equal opportunity with National banks to mobilize their reserves and liquidify their credits, after the Dallas Federal regional bank has opened its doors.

"Our idea, Mr. Burleson is that he has little patience with State lines in any particular. It has never seemed to him that he had the remotest sympathy with the principles of government enunciated by Thomas Jefferson. If we are mistaken in this, we shall be only too glad to be set right.

"Why shouldn't there be State banks? And what excuse is there for a National bank? The function of issuing notes properly belongs to a bank. Why should Texas banks have to look to Washington for permission to perform this normal function?

"If the American people can ever once get away from the fallacious idea that the government is the maker of the currency which circulates as money, they will take the Federal government out of the banking business and put it on its own feet. National control of the banking business is a monstrous perversion of power.

"As for a State reserve bank, it would seem that the demand for such must demonstrate itself and not come to us to meet a political exigency. The men who direct the State banks, along with their customers, know whether or not a central reserve bank is needed. It occurs to us that such a bank would be essential were the State banks permitted to issue notes against their assets—a sort of supervisory concern. As matters now stand, if the State banks desire a central reserve bank, we would say, 'give it to them.'"

A STABLE PRICE FOR OIL

Daily events in our governmental affairs emphasize the steady, persistent march of progress. The people's beacon of hope glows from the dome of the national capitol and its rays extend upward and outward in all directions, brightening the political sky. Notable among events that emphasize the trend of the times, is the newly announced policy of the Oklahoma corporation commission, that extraordinary institution of popular government evolved by the tireless brain of Judge Robert L. Williams, democratic nominee for governor. This commission has sought to link progress with prosperity, and it has turned its attention to the sad plight in which independent producers of Oklahoma find themselves. It is undertaking to unfasten from the throats of these independent operators the menacing clutch of the oil trust.

The commission has announced a policy of restricting the production of oil so that a mean and stable price may be established and that the Standard Oil company and its subsidiaries may be thwarted in their evident purpose of acquiring not only the means of refining and selling oil, but the sources of production as well, and that there may be conserved to the state the vast sums lost annually through the economic duplicity of the trust. How this is to be accomplished; how all the manifold and ramified details are to be worked, are subjects to which the commission and those whose cause the commission has espoused are devoting themselves.

It is interesting to note some of the figures evolved by the investigators into the "oil problem;" to observe with what subtle fineness the trust engineers its machinations, and to see the glaring discrepancies that mark its trail of wreck and ruin in Oklahoma.

In 1907 crude oil was selling at 30 to 35 cents per barrel while the refined products were selling at 16 cents per gallon for kerosene and 25 cents per gallon for gasoline. When crude oil was bringing $1.05 per barrel, these same refined products were selling at 16 and 16 cents respectively. Moreover and recently the wholesale prices of the refined products have advanced since crude oil prices declined so markedly.

The present drop in crude oil, if continued at the present mark for a year, will mean an aggregate loss to Oklahoma of over $60,000,000. Our production totals up towards 125,000,000 barrels each year.

The Standard Oil company profits by its policy of cheap crude oil in more ways than one. It is able by this means to so impoverish producers that there is little difficulty in acquiring the attractive properties and acreage of prospective tractiveness.

Now, the Oklahoma corporation commission proposes to correct these evils. Production will be curtailed with the assistance of the new democratic government and legislation be elected this fall. A stable price will be established. There will be no excuse for continued and incessant ups and downs of this great, big game, and Oklahoma's tidal wave of prosperity will swell and roll on and on.—Times Democrat.

BESIEGERS ACROSS NETHE AT ANTWEPP

Numbers of the forts are still holding out with great stubbornness and the threatened bombardment is a desperate maneuver to try and force capitulation to save the city from damage.

The Telegraph correspondent, under Tuesday's date, says: "The enemy's shells fired imposed a severe strain on the Belgian infantry in the trenches. Hour after hour shrapnel burst over them, inflicting considerable casualties. Under this trying ordeal the defenders stuck to their trenches and accounted for every one of the enemy who dared show himself on the opposite bank within rifle range. An instance of tenacity of the infantry was reported at Derlaires, where the commanding officer and aide were in one of the most exposed positions. Sand bags protected them for some time, but at last the aide was killed by shrapnel. The commanding officer placed the body of his junior over his own for protection and lay firing whenever possible from eight in the morning until four in the afternoon."

Soldiers' Long Ordeal. The Reuters' Ostend correspondent says that volunteers are daily enrolling at Antwerp. An Associated Press correspondent writes from Antwerp that the German ships in Antwerp have been exploded so as to prevent the use of the scheldt in Antwerp as a German base. King Albert daily exposes himself to personal danger; the Queen the devoted her time to the hospitals. Most wonderful, however, is the patient, unflinching courage of the average Belgian soldier who has been fighting for nine weeks. Tired, with hollow eyes, unkempt, unwashed and provided with hasty, although ample meals, he is spending his days in the trenches. He never complains.

There is great indignation against the German captain charged with having ordered the burning of Louvain. In private life this man is a lawyer and has only done this, it is said, that he relieves orders from his superior and of his business in question. He will be court-martialed next week and the expectation here is that he will be condemned to die.

EFFORT TO ESCAPE FROM JAIL BLOCKED

SAW BLADE DISCOVERED IN BUNDLE INTENDED FOR PRISONER

PRISONER'S BROTHER IS HELD

Is Given Examining Trial This Morning and Bound Over To Await Grand Jury

J. C. Stanton, aged 19 was bound over to the grand jury today on a charge of attempting to assist a prisoner to escape from the county jail; he was given a hearing before Justice Jones this morning. His bond was placed at $1000. It is alleged that Stanton attempted to give his brother a suit case in which was concealed a saw blade which is used to saw iron or steel. His arrest took place about September 8th. His brother is bound over to the grand jury on a burglary charge.

Jailor Ed Carnes was the only witness placed on the stand at Stanton's preliminary this morning. He testified that Stanton had brought the grip to the jail late one evening and asked to be allowed to carry it into his brother's cell. Carnes said he took charge of the suitcase and told Stanton he could not give it to his brother until he had searched it. Another prisoner had told Carnes of overhearing a conversation between Stanton and his brother which caused him to suspect that a saw was concealed in the grip. When he searched it he found a saw blade about fourteen inches long secreted beneath the other covering of the suitcase. In the meantime Stanton had gone but the next time he called at the jail Carnes placed him under arrest.

It developed in Carnes' testimony that subsequent to the discovery of the saw in Stanton's suitcase a place where an attempt had been made to saw through the plate of the jail was discovered. Considerable progress had been made in sawing out a hole through which most of the jail prisoners might have escaped. Carnes testified that if the saw had been gotten through to Stanton's brother the hole might have been completed.

Comparison Of Rival Infields Is Very Favorable To Boston

In the coming series for the world's baseball championship the infields of the Boston Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans are expected to contribute many sensational plays both offensively and defensively during the struggle for premier diamond honors. In fact it would prove most extraordinary if the reverse should be the case since combinations which include players of the type of Evers, Collins, Maranville, McInnis, Baker and Schmidt, execute thrilling throws, catches and stops in every game of the pennant schedule.

A comparison of the two infields shows that both the American and National League championship clubs have quartets of players stretched around the base lines that are far above the ordinary run of those of the big league clubs. Regardless of whether the players are veterans or phenomenal youngsters, with but a year or so of major league experience they are either leaders or close to the top in their particular position. Just how these two infields will play against each other in the series which begins this week is hard to forecast but an individual comparison of the season's work of each of the eight players most likely to cover the positions from first to third, shows that they are quite evenly matched in general skill with glove and bat.

At First Base. Beginning with first base the Athletics will be represented by McInnis and the Braves by Schmidt. The National League player is older and bigger physically than McInnis but the latter has the advantage of long baseball experience and the 1914 season records prove him to be stronger with the stick. Schmidt has a fielding average of .922 for 130 games which puts him in third in the list of National League first basemen. His batting average for 133 games is .275. McInnis is second among the initial sackers of the junior league with .994 for 147 games. At bat he has a far better average than Schmidt, his record being .317 for 146 games. Evers and Collins will be opposed at second base and here are two names to conjure with. Both are famous and both have had plenty of world's series experience. As the pivotal point in double plays and infield strategy there is little to choose between them. Both cover wide areas around second base and throw in at bettered largely through the assistance of one of its members, Johnny Evers, now playing the keystone sack for Boston. Evers and Maranville go into the world series with one of the most remarkable fielding records in the history of the game. Within ten days of the close of the National League season, this pair had figured in nearly 100 double plays.

Evers, playing an improved game at second base, has never been beaten out by his younger club mate. Maranville took part in eighty-five of the double plays carried off by the Braves, a world's record. With the more numerous opportunities that were developed by shortstop opposition, he was responsible for the inception of fifty-three of these plays. This betters by a dozen the record of forty-two double plays held for several years by Fletcher of the New York Giants. Maranville has been middle man in twenty-six of these combination plays, and at the receiving end of six. With fewer opportunities, Evers has taken part in sixty-five double plays, he started twenty-three, and has finished nine. "Maranville to Evers to Schmidt," in that order, has been the way of twenty-seven double plays. Thirty-nine have been accomplished by the three.

Athletics Lineup Same. The team the Athletics will send against the Braves will be in all probability the same nine men who started in the 1913 series against the New York Giants, barring accidents. Chief Bender is looked upon as the sure money pitcher and there is no doubt that he will be sent in with Wally Schang on the receiving end. The Athletics, while the players are as a whole young in years, form a truly veteran world's series team. With the exception of Eddie Murphy and Schang all the regulars in the 1914 series played against the Giants in 1911. Bender and Plank, along with Harry Davis, Mack's lieutenant who occasionally goes into a game as a pinch hitter, played in the world's series against New York nine years ago.

Physically the world's champions will go into the series in good condition. "Home Run" Baker, who had been below par during part of August and September, has rested and will be in good trim to worry the opposing pitchers. He had been suffering from a cold and later from a wrenched side. His hitting was affected but he refused to lay off while the championship race was undecided.

Only one team within the memory of present day "fans" has nearly approached the extent of the Braves' remarkable progress. That was the Chicago White Sox of 1906 in their dash through the American League teams from seventh place to first. The White Sox were a team of generally appreciated high rank, bowled low with bad breaks during the first of the season. The Boston, on the other hand, were dubbed the "lowly Braves" with little to indicate warrant to better name.

Johnny Evers' Showing. "Tinker" to Evers to Chance, a by word in baseball circles for years as representing the speediest fielding on the diamond in the production of double plays, has been supplanted by the relay "Maranville to Evers to Schmidt." The combination play of the old Cubs' infield has at last been Plenty of Utility Men. The champions are well provided with utility men. Walsh who played with the New York Highlanders in the early part of this year, and Davies, the young college pitcher who is being trained by Mack as an outfielder because of his clean-up hitting ability and speed, are fit to take any outfield position. They have Kopf, a utility infielder of no mean ability. Captain Thomas, the world's series veteran, can substitute for either Schang or Lapp behind the plate and Harry Davis still has some ability as a pinch hitter.

In Philadelphia fans refer affectionately to the Athletics as "the most perfect baseball machine in the world" and an interesting fact developed in going over the records gives strength to this estimate. The Athletics have played in four world's series and with the exception of Mathewson and McGinnity, no pitcher who has ever faced them lasted the entire game. All have been taken out, Mathewson also had been knocked out. In 1905 McGinnity pitched in two games. He was taken out of one and won the other. On the other hand, no Athletic pitcher has ever been knocked off the rubber. The single exception, where a Philadelphia hurler was taken out was in 1911 when Coombs, the "iron man" suffered a rupture in the middle of the game and left the box several innings later because of his injury.

BELIEVE GERMANY FACING SERIOUS GASOLINE SHORTAGE. Supply Thought To Have Been Cut off By War—Consumption Is Enormous

New York, Oct. 7.—Whether Germany has suffered from a shortage in gasoline, as was recently reported, is still an open question, in the opinion of officials of the Standard Oil Company. It is admitted, however, that many of the nation's large sources of supply have been cut off by the war and that Germany will have to develop more and more her own fields to meet the ever increasing need.

It was said in the foreign department of the Standard Oil Company yesterday that Germany was well supplied with gasoline before the war and that as the government probably seized all gasoline in storage at the beginning of hostilities the conflict has not progressed far enough to bring about a serious shortage. Germany's consumption of gaso-lene yearly is estimated at between a million and a million and a half barrels. Of this the United States provides about one-third. For the remainder of her supply Germany draws on the rich oil fields of Roumania, Austria-Hungary, the Dutch East Indies and Mexico. The Standard Oil Company and independent concerns have been able to export no oil to Germany since the beginning of the war. The supply from the Dutch field is now limited on account of Holland's neutrality stand. It is believed that as the war continues Germany will more and more feel the pinch of want in this respect, but that sweeping statements

ACREAGE REDUCTION BILL SUBMITTED BY GOVERNOR

Would Limit Every Farmer To Twenty Acres Next Year. Opinion From Looney

Austin, Texas, Oct. 7.—Governor Colquitt has submitted to the legislature the question of enacting a law limiting the cotton acreage for the next year. Accompanying his message was a bill drawn by Attorney General Looney, providing that no one household or corporation shall plant more than twenty acres in cotton next year. The penalty for violation to be from one to five years imprisonment or a fine not to exceed $5,000 or both. According to the estimate of the governor such limitation will cut down the acreage one-half.

In submitting the question Governor Colquitt declared that he has been contemplating submitting the question for some time, but that he had "entertained some doubt as to whether the legislature had the power to enact such a law." He has determined, however, he continues, to resolve the doubt in favor of the proposition and therefore submitted the bill. The message states that he has been advised by Attorney General Looney that the legislature has the power under the police power of the state to enact such legislation and that Mr. Looney had prepared a bill which in his opinion will stand the test.

It has been known for some time that Governor Colquitt would submit this subject. He is seeking to obtain concerted action by all of the southern states on the question, so that Texas will not be made to carry the burden of the other states. The legislature of South Carolina was convened in special session to take up the question.

As there has been no opportunity for the members of the legislature to read the bill submitted, it cannot be forecast what the probable action on the measure will be. However, many members expressed themselves as being opposed to any action by the legislature on the question of limiting acreage.

At the $17 Tailoring Co. 802 Ohio, you will find suits worth $22.50 and $25 selling for $16 and $17, made to measure.

INDIANA TRAGEDY RECALLS FLORENCE BROWN SHOOTING

Father of Meade Barr Who Was Arrested For Dallas Killing, Shoots Man in Indiana

The killing of Miss Florence Brown in Dallas more than a year ago was recalled by the killing of Daniel Lovelace at Elizabethtown, Indiana, last Sunday by John Barr, father of Meade Barr an Indiana paroled convict charged with the killing of the girl. The Dallas grand jury failed to find an indictment against Meade Barr and he was taken back to the Indiana penitentiary.

"I killed him and I'm glad of it," confessed Barr's father, aged 75, when he was arrested charged with the murder Saturday night of Daniel Lovelace, 55 years old, a business man of Elizabethtown.

Barr's wife, 52 and a nine year old son witnessed the killing and the latter testified at the coroner's inquest.

"Father shot him three times before he fell and two times after he had fallen. Father then kicked him several times in the face."

The shooting took place when Barr met Lovelace in company with his wife. The latter had previously had much trouble.

SELLS-FLOTO HIPPOPOTAMUS SUFFERS FROM SORE THROAT
There are a good many things to cause excitement around a circus. But the one real thing with the Sells-Floto Circus and Buffalo Bill which is to end its season here Thursday, October 15 is when Bon gets the sore throat.

Bon, by way of explanation is the hippopotamus. He has been with the Sells-Floto Circus ever since his babyhood days and he is the privileged character of the menagerie. That is, except when he decides to catch a cold. Then he becomes the menagerie's baby again.

For when anything happens to Bon the attendants sit up nights. They gather near his tank cage, they look at him, they talk in serious tones and worry like a mother and father over a brand new baby. And it's a hard proposition to tell just what to do when an animal which spends most of its time in the water catches cold.

However, the matter usually is solved by Fred Allsaw, the head animal man. With the first wheeze from Bon, hurrying a man rushes out of the menagerie and to the cook tent. A moment and he returns with a flattened handful of dough, hid out like a pie crust. The medicine chest comes open and a "quinine pie" with enough of the bitter medicine to cure a regiment in it, is rolled up in the pie dough. A command and Bon opens his mouth. Allsaw swings an arm somewhat after the fashion of a big league pitcher, while Bon gulps and pops his eyes. The quinine is down.

But that's just the beginning. Whiskey comes next—in spite of the fact that Bon spends practically all his time on the water wagon—or rather in the water tank. Again the huge jaws are opened and a quart of the liquor is poured down him. Then comes the call for the mop.

And then, something after the fashion of a man digging postholes, or cleaning a chimney, Allsaw, the mop saturated with throat antiseptic, swabs out the great tunnel, while Bon blinks his eyes and wiggles his funny little ears in appreciation. It's no easy life for an animal man when a hippopotamus has a sore throat.

Bon is one of the features of the menagerie of the Sells-Floto Circus. Many the stories that are heard of him and he is rapidly becoming a rival of Madame Murphy of the Central Park Zoo as a menagerie character. He is on exhibition every afternoon and evening, as has before.

His performance. He also is exhibited in the parade, which comes at 10:30 o'clock the morning of the show's appearance here.

TIMES WILL CARRY FULL REPORT OF WORLD'S SERIES

Story of Each Day's Game Will Be Told in Afternoon's Issue of Paper

Tomorrow afternoon's issue of the Times will include a complete report on the opening game of the world's series between Boston and Philadelphia. Each afternoon while the series lasts, except Saturday, the Times will contain a complete account of the game of the day and its readers will have the hot dope served to them in the regular issue of the paper.

The difference in time between this city and Boston and Philadelphia enables the Times to present a full report of each game in its regular issue. The use of a special wire has been secured; this wire connects with one at Dallas running direct to Shibe Park in Philadelphia, and each detail of the game, play by play, will be received within a few seconds after the play is actually made.

RAILROADS ANNUAL REPORTS ARE NOW BEING COMPILED

Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—W. E. Fitzgerald, auditor of the Texas railroad commission announces that annual reports have been received for the year ending June 30, this year, from the 107 railroad companies operating in this state. He now is compiling these reports so that their statistics may be incorporated in the annual report of the railroad commission which is awaited with interest. It was said a decrease in net income for the past fiscal year will be shown by the returns.

VICTOR TALKING MACHINE COMPANY BUYING COTTON

Authorizes Local Agents To Purchase Bale at Ten Cents Per Pound on Its Account

Harrison & Everton, local agents for the Victor Talking Machine Co., have received authority from that company to buy one 500 pound bale of cotton for that company at ten cents a pound. The same letter informs that every dealer for the Victor Company in the south has been authorized to buy a bale at ten cents a pound. As there is a Victor dealer in practically every town of more than 400 population in the country and in the cities one dealer for each 10,000 population it will be seen that this means the buying of a number of bales. The letter directs that the cotton be shipped to the company's warehouse at Philadelphia.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WILL PLAY AT VERNON SATURDAY

To Open Its Season There—Six Games Have Been Scheduled So Far

The high school football team's first game of the season will be played Saturday at Vernon instead of with Henrietta in this city, as stated yesterday. The team will open the season against Vernon and hopes to start with a victory. Staff practice is being held this week and the squad is rounding into championship form.

Six games have been scheduled so far. These include a return game here with Vernon, a game with Henrietta, one with Bowie, one at Mineral Wells and the Thanksgiving game with Fort Worth high in this city. The first game on the home grounds will be played on Friday of next week, with Henrietta.

John Tevis has been elected captain of the team for the season. Tevis gave a good account of himself last season and is considered one of the team's mainstays.

MORATORIUM LAW NOW APPEARS VERY UNLIKELY

Austin, Texas, Oct. 8.—That the legislature now holding its third call session will not enact a moratorium law is taken as a foregone conclusion by opponents of such an act. It was pointed out here today that, understanding the governor was considering such a recommendation, the Senate had twice taken a vote on its attitude and each time pledged itself against the proposition.

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION STAYS NEUTRAL IN STRIKE

Directors Take Action This Morning—Membership Meeting is Held This Afternoon

Directors of the Retail Merchants Association declared their neutrality in the Laundry Workers strike at a meeting held this morning. At a membership meeting at 3:30 this afternoon their action will be submitted for ratification.

While neutrality in connection with the strike was not defined it is reported that the attitude of the directors was that the differences between the laundry proprietors and their workers should be left to the interested parties to settle and that the merchants would be doing one side or the other an injustice if they took sides.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS AFFECTED BY EUROPE'S WAR

Companies Hesitate To Plan Tours of South With Conditions As They Are

Big theatrical companies are hesitating about touring the South this season on account of conditions resulting from the slack demand for the cotton crop on which this section is so largely dependent. J. B. Marlow, manager of the Wichita Theatre, wrote in his booking agency in New York City last week to learn why he had not been able to book more high class attractions. The agency wrote back that few of the big companies had as yet booked any tours in the South and most of them did not want to do so as long as conditions remained as at present. The agency, however, promised to book for Wichita Falls the best attractions they could secure. A number of first class attractions already have been booked.

COURT OF INQUIRY HELD, WITH WOMEN WITNESSES

Proceedings Behind Closed Doors This Morning With Prosecutors Taking Action

A court of inquiry was conducted before Justice Howard this morning. Five or six women from the flat district were in the room when the doors were closed as the session was not public. District Attorney Leslie Humphrey and Bruce Greenwood, nominee for county attorney, took part in the inquiry.

Although no announcement was made it is believed the inquiry is in connection with the recent activities of the sheriff's department. It had been announced that the sheriff had given notice to the houses in the district that they must be closed by a certain day.

In all forty-five women were brought before the court of inquiry this morning. None of the officials connected with the court would make any statement concerning the subject of the inquiry, and up to a late hour this afternoon no complaints had been docketed in connection therewith.

It is rumored that the investigation is in connection with alleged irregularities in connection with the collection of fines. It is said the testimony secured at the inquiry will be laid before the grand jury, although there was no official statement to this effect.

FIRELIGHT MEMORIES

Do you remember the once happy faces that lingered round the dear old fire? Can you call to mind the smiling faces that once greeted you, and with the vision there comes a flood of tender memories. Are you fortunate enough to have those dear ones with you still? Or, have they long since passed away? If so, have you done your full duty in beautifying their last resting place in such a way that you are proud of it? Or, does your mind recall to you the negligence and forgetfulness so common to the human race? "Our hearts are full of good intentions, but our deeds fall to show them."

Why not awake from your memories to deeds of pleasant labor? We will help you to be fully satisfied.

A PRESCRIPTION
When sickness invades your home you call a physician, he examines the patient and leaves a prescription for the remedies that experience has taught him are indicated in the trouble at hand. This prescription is written in Latin, the universal language of medicine in order that its names may never change and that it may be understood equally well by the pharmacist of every nation in the world. A prescription may seem a simple thing to you that may be dispensed by anybody like filling a grocery order, yet the laws of Texas require years of experience and a grilling examination of every prescriptionist who practices within her borders. A grave responsibility settles itself about the shoulders of the man who prepares the medicine for those who are fighting for their lives. We are prescription specialists. Experience, knowledge dug from the hard rocks of passing years and absolute honesty are the inducements we offer you for your prescription business.
