FAKE FORT DRAWS ATTACK BY GERMANS

TOWN OF PONT-A-MOUSSON WITNESSES SEVERE FIGHTING EARLY IN WAR

TREE TRUNKS LOOK LIKE GUNS

Deceive Germans, Who Lose Heavily In Their Efforts to Capture the Town

By Associated Press. Pont-a-Mousson, Nov. 14.—Astride the last three inch gun of a column of artillery, flanked on either side by a Bavarian soldier with fixed bayonet, Monsieur Bertrand, a round shouldered, white haired veteran of the war of 1870 and deputy mayor of Pont-a-Mousson was carried from the city as chief hostage of the Germans in the procession which marked the end of the occupation by three Bavarian regiments.

Pont-a-Mousson is a quiet town of twelve thousand inhabitants, the possession of which was valuable to the Germans only because of its bridge which furnishes a convenient crossing of the Moselle on the road from Metz to Toul. It was attacked early in the war, partly for this reason and partly as the result of the defective vision of captive balloon observers, who mistook for fortifications the antique ruins of a castle at the village of Mousson on a hill to the east of the bridge.

Bombs Kill Civilians. The first bombardment of the town early in August was not followed up until the first days of September, when a captive balloon appeared in the air across the river and German aeroplanes commenced maneuvering over the town. They dropped 200 bombs, killing six and wounding a great number of civilians, but it was not until the 5th that the ringing of the tocsin announced to the citizens that the Germans had appeared on the other side of the river in force. The solemn tones of the bell were still heard when a terrific dull explosion shook the windows of every house; the bridge from which the town derives its name was no more and immediately after blowing it up the French troops, in too small number to cope with the enemy, quit the town.

The captive balloon was seen again to rise in the distance and soon after the German heavy artillery began to play on the dilapidated antiquity castle on the hill. During thirty-six hours they showered great projectiles on that spot, literally pulverizing what remained of the walls, occasionally diverting a shell to the tower after which they crossed the Moselle on improvised bridge and rushed up to the assault of the supposed fortress, which they found as quiet as the grave. No French soldiers had ever occupied it, and what the Germans took for guns from their captive balloon were simply cleverly disposed tree trunks, and the fire which replied occasionally to their guns, complete the illusion came from behind the hill.

Bloody Fight Ends. The story of the occupation of this town is quite the same as has been so often told of other towns; hostilities, proclamations and requisitions but it did not last long. The morning of the 6th the impressive music of the French three inch guns was heard in the town; at the same time a French aeroplane was seen to dart through the sky in the direction of the captive balloon, which hastened to descend. These were the preliminaries of the battle of Dieulouard, to which no dispatches have referred by name, but which was one of the bloodiest in the action of General Castelnau's army defending Nancy.

A continual procession of improvised ambulances passed through the town toward the bridge that night and other wagons with a more greivous mission turned to the railroad station, where inhabitants, led and their houses by order, saw loaded to all kinds of flat cars, horse carts, cattle cars the bodies of those that fell that day at Dieulouard. They were piled as high as they could be packed and in the early morning these wheeled charnel houses were hauled across the frontier toward Metz.

Bavarians Disappear. As for the 6th Bavarian infantry, not one of its regiment was ever seen again in the streets of Pont-a-Mousson, and three days later the other troops of occupation left the town.

September 23rd the Germans made their last attempt to re-capture Pont-a-Mousson, ending in a charge on the Hill of Saint Genevieve. The French position at the summit had been bombarded during the morning and by 9 o'clock the fire of the French seemed to have been definitely silenced. The order for the assault was given and to the music of the fife and drum, the Bavarians started up the slope, meeting no resistance until they arrived within a hundred yards of the first line of trenches. Almost to a man the first line went down under the first volley that received them there. Others rushing on to take their places fell over their comrades. The ranks came on as if those in the rear had seen nothing of this slaughter and the machine guns and rifles swept them down in some places it was impossible to close the ranks because the piles of bodies separated them, and finally these heaps of dead and dying became the rampart behind which some of the assailants sheltered themselves to protect the retreat of those that were left. The Saint Genevieve Hill was strewn with bodies and the soil saturated with the blood of the Bavarians and all efforts to reach Nancy from that point were definitely abandoned.

TREASURES IN ENGLISH HOME

Chatsworth House, Belonging to the Duke of Devonshire, Crowded With Works of Art.

Chatsworth house, whose literary treasures have been diminished by its present owner, owes its existence to the first duke, a man of extremely catholic tastes, says the London Chronicle. He not only employed a carver, whose work is so good, if not better, than Grinling's, he was himself a supreme judge of art and architecture. But while he could write odes and compose sonatas, he also loved racing and cockfighting, suppers and masked balls. He lost bets running into thousands with equanimity, and was considered by the ladies to be the handsomest fellow of his time. One of these worshippers, when he died sang of him as one

Whose awful sweetness challenged our esteem,
Our sex's wonder and our sex's theme;
Whose soft commanding looks our breasts assailed,
He came, and saw, and at first sight prevailed.

No duke of Devonshire added so lavishly to the treasures of Chatsworth as William Cavendish, the sixth of the title. In 1812 he bought the library of the bishop of Ely for $10,000. Ten years later he added John Kemble's dramatic collections, for which he gave $2,000. All he did was done magnificently. The great conservatory, covering an acre, which afterward served as a model for the Crystal palace, was his work. On his special coronation mission to the czar of Russia he is said to have spent £50,000 more than the government allowed him, a prodigality which so touched the heart of Nicholas that the monarch afterward paid the duke a visit at his Chiswick villa.

WASN'T LOOKING FOR FREAK

Young Man Realized That Girl of His Choice Was Much Like Rest of Her Sex Today.

A proposal was imminent and they both knew it. He talked politics for a while, but that topic was soon exhausted. Finally he reached for her hand.

"Dearest!"
She said nothing.
"You know that I love you."
More silence.
"I want you to be my little wife."
Her silence must have given him a slight chill. He switched off to practical talk.

"I get $25 a week, Mabel, and I feel sure that you think well of me. How about it?"

The girl looked at him steadfastly. "George," said she, "I like you well enough, but I'm going to talk to you frankly. Listen. You want me to marry you on $25 a week. I have no interest in the home. I play bridge for money. I smoke cigarettes. I require expensive clothes and continual excitement. I can't cook. I wouldn't learn. I know very little that would be useful. Now, under these conditions, do you still want me?"

The young man smiled indulgently. "Certainly I want you," he answered. "Why should I have a wife any different from so many other men's wives?"

Prevents Electric Fraud.

An interesting method of preventing fraud in the use of electricity has been devised by an Italian engineer. The practice of offering heating and cooking devices for current used in power is becoming more and more general, but with the ordinary constant potential current it is difficult to detect the use of lighting devices on circuits intended only for power and heating purposes. This engineer advocates the use of special circuits on which the current is subject to extreme fluctuation of voltage at rapidly recurring intervals, which would make it practically impossible to use lamps, because of the flicker in the lights. As the current is not entirely interrupted and the normal voltage is almost immediately restored, the proper operation of power or heating apparatus is not interfered with and the rightful use of the circuits for their respective purposes is assured.

Father's Good Point.

Little Elizabeth had been offended in some way. She went off into a corner and turned her back on the family.

"I'm mad," she exclaimed sulkily. "I wish I didn't have any father or mother."

"That's wrong, dear," said her mother. "We are the best friends you have."

"Well," said Elizabeth, doubtfully. "I don't mind having father; he doesn't hang around here much, but I'm getting awful tired of the rest of you."

Not Much Out of His Class.

Hearing a noise at the kitchen entrance, the man of the house slipped quietly to the rear door and suddenly opened it. The grocer's delivery boy was there with a basket containing a dozen eggs, a pound of butter and some Roquefort cheese.

"Oh, it's you, is it, Billy?" said the man. "My wife is always afraid when she hears a noise here, especially after it begins to grow dark. She thinks it's a robber."

"Well, she needn't change her mind on my account," gloomily responded the grocer's boy, handing over the goods and presenting the bill, which called for $1.87.

$100 IS RAISED FOR GIRL'S INSTITUTION

MASS MEETING IS HELD IN INTEREST OF PROPOSED TRAINING SCHOOL

SEVERAL SPEAKERS ARE HEARD

Effort Will Be Made To Increase This City's Contribution To Total of $500

As a climax to the special week devoted to raising funds for the Girls Training School a mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the First Christian Church. While the attendance was not what was desired, still there was no lack of interest, the program carried out was excellent, and the appeal made at the close of the meeting met with a gratifying response.

That Wichita Falls should contribute no less than five hundred dollars as her share in this work, was the opinion of those present and a subscription of nearly one hundred dollars was taken up at the meeting. A committee was appointed to go before the Commissioners Court and ask for an appropriation from them, this contribution to be outside of the five hundred dollars to be raised by popular subscription.

Each club woman in the city has been solicited by a chairman in each club for one dollar or more, as she can contribute, and something like three hundred dollars will be collected in this way. By benefits at the motion picture theatres and in various other ways more money will be raised.

Several Speakers Heard. Yesterday afternoon's program was especially fitted to the occasion. "Where Is My Wandering Girl Tonight?" sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. Thompson, Miss Agnew, Mrs. Stranko and Mr. Bradley. "Whom have you Helped Today?" solo by Mr. Bradley, and "Throw Out the Life Line" by Mrs. Thompson and congregation were the musical numbers of the program.

Mayor Britain, Judge Martin, R. E. Huff and F. E. Walters were the speakers of the afternoon. Mayor Britain spoke from his own experience as mayor of the crying need of some institution for the girls and told of cases of girls in the city and district court, not offenders to a great degree, but nevertheless offenders. For these girls the penitentiary is the only place open, or the county jail, and in many cases the offenses did not merit this punishment. On leaving the court the majority took the only way open to them and left all hope behind, he said.

"Originated in Wichita Falls. Judge Martin's talk was along the same general lines as that of the mayor. He spoke at length of the fallacy of the government taking so much care to conserve the national resources, the forests and fuel supply and neglecting the greatest of the national resources—its girlhood. During his address mention was made of the fact that this bill for the state home for delinquent girls originated in Wichita Falls. While the Y. W. C. A. rest room was being maintained here some three years ago a young girl from the country, after a vain struggle to earn her living, wandered into the rest room. The ladies in charge became interested in this particular case and upon investigation found that this girl was only one in many. Representative Henry was interested and bent all his energies during his term in the legislature to secure the passage of this bill for the establishment of the state school.

Judge Huff attended to the financial side of the meeting, after hearing and endorsing the remarks made by the speakers preceding, and in a short time a good sum was subscribed with a promise of much more. A plate of feeling was taken up and the benediction then pronounced by Rev. Datson of the Episcopal Church.

The Idealist. They laugh at him, they mock at him, They smile at him, they knock at him, They scoff and scorn and banter all his ways.

But through him and all his vision Earth put off its old derision, And the ages climb to sunlight thru the shadow and the haze.

They leer at him and sneer at him, They peer at him and leer at him, They call his fancies idle and impossible to use.

But through him and all his bubbles Men throw off their sordid troubles And are bathed in freshening beauty of sunshine and the dews.

They deride him and they grieve him, They declare they can't abide him, And they call his lofty purpose a chimera of the brain.

But through him the world advances, In his dream time builds its chances, And he sheds the spiritual sunshine when the rest are shedding rain—Exchange.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I bought and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms. It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

At The Theaters

The Empress. "The Million Dollar Mystery" the fourth from the last installment, is showing here today, also "The New Jangler" a Keystone with Chas. Chaplin and "The Right to Die," a two art Bronche.

David Walters loses heavily in the stock exchange and rather than face his wife and daughter with failure, he determines to commit suicide. He takes poison, but the dose is not strong enough to kill him. He falls into a troubled sleep, in which is shown him in dreams, the fate of his family. He sees his wife and daughter reduced to poverty. The latter is forced to work in a factory where he is humiliated by a disreputable man with money, but who has only the best instincts. He wanders through the scenes suffering the tortures of being damned, but powerless to help his loved ones. When he awakens from this nightmare, he finds his wife and daughter well and happy and his supposed losses, gains.

The Majestic. Essanay presents "Ambushed" adapted from the Munsey Magazines. In three acts a thrilling drama of love and mystery, featuring Francis X. Bushman.

Young Frank Mitchell, who terms himself a modern man of law, is summoned to draw up the will of Lady Mabel, who wishes to leave her entire estate to her favorite niece, Mabel, and nothing to Bothwell, her nephew, except in the event of Mabel's death, when he would inherit everything. Bothwell learns of the contents of the will and straightway plots to get Mabel out of the way. He secures the assistance of Smith, a daring criminal and the two take Mabel by force to a deserted house, situated near a lake, just outside the city. Young Mitchell by accident learns of Mabel's plight and plans to rescue her. He makes his way to the deserted house and overhears a lot to kill the heiress. The criminals finally set fire to the house and Mabel escapes. Mitchell and Mabel are married and the drama comes to a happy conclusion.

The Gem. Alice Hollister, John Mackin and Robert Walker are featured in a two part Kaleid. "The Devil's Damsel," "Wins and Tremble" an Edison comedy, full of fun from the very first foot of film and two cabin split reel comedies complete the program.

The Lydia Margaret. The vaudeville bill opening today is novel to a degree. One of the acts is "Enoch, the Man Fish," an act that bears the stamp of extreme novelty.

ATHLETIC PITCHERS WILL STAY IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Not Believed Bender, Plank and Coombs Will Join Teams in Any Other Circuit

By Associated Press. New York, Nov. 14.—The startling announcement that Connie Mack had asked waivers on the Philadelphia Athletics' trio of pitchers, Bender, Plank and Coombs, furnishes a sensational climax to the sensational baseball season. Many explanations, aside from the rather vague one put forward by Mack, have been offered, but the only reasonable certainty is that Mack, as well as the magnates of the American League, knew full well that Bender and Plank at least would never leave the junior major league. Coombs, because of his long illness, is considered a negligible quantity. Plank has a grand pitching average of .646 and a world's series average of .200 since joining the Athletics. Bender has a better record, his league pitching average for twelve years being .550 and his world's series average .534. Notwithstanding their age, from a baseball standpoint it is likely that both will be placed with some other American League clubs during the shifts and readjustments sure to take place this winter.

Colonel George W. Goethals is being boomed for the Republican presidential nomination in 1916. Those who are backing him say he is the one Republican who can unite the two branches of the party and poll the full Republican strength.

"My ambition is to give Texas a business administration." Is the way Governor-elect James E. Ferguson puts it. Just the thing this grand old State has needed for a long, long time, and here's hoping that she will get what our new governor has promised. Peanut politics and politicians of that same variety have hurt the financial interests of the State more than can be well-estimated.

Seventy-five pardons will be granted by Governor Colquitt on Thanksgiving day. Doubtless, the governor will be criticised for the exercise of his power, but let that be as it may. If it is a weakness in him, it is one that most people will admire. The recipients of those pardons will have something to be really thankful for and all will have a chance to come back.

There is a five-dollar counterfeit gold piece in circulation, so we are informed by government officials. If the scoundrel who has it and wants to find a victim, he need look no further. It has been so long since we have seen a gold piece of any denomination that we could not detect a counterfeit from the real genuine article.

If it is lawful and right for the United States government to keep all cattle afflicted with the foot and mouth disease under an epidemic in several of the Northern, Eastern and Middle States, and yet it is unconstitutional for the government to render aid and assistance to the Southern cotton grower, who is losing by far more in dollars and cents than are the owners of diseased cattle in the States mentioned.

The New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges opened today, as also did the federal reserve banks. The prediction is being freely made that these two agencies combined will make cotton sell for eight cents before December 1st. But that is not yet enough. To leave the produce a profit, cotton should never sell for less than 10 cents.

It is a long distance from the closest German port or base of supplies to the point on the north coast of Ireland, where that splendid English fighting ship is reported to have been sunk on October 29th, and if the work was that of a German submarine, as is supposed by some, then the English navy—the most splendid on the sea—can have good cause for alarm. If a German submarine can travel that great distance, sink such a splendid ship and make its get-away without ever being seen, it was a most wonderful piece of work, and if they did it once, it can be done again and again. The probability, however, is that it was not the work of a submarine, but that of a floating mine. And if a mine, it is hardly possible that it could have been placed there by the Germans.

COTTON GINNINGS NEARLY DOUBLE FIGURES OF 1913

Report For Wichita and Archer Counties is Given Out By O. P. Maricle

Cotton ginnings in Wichita and Archer counties are running nearly to figures compiled by O. P. Maricle, government crop reporter for these two counties. Up to November 1, Wichita county gins had ginned a total of 8288 bales, as compared with 4176 up to the same time last year. In Archer county the total was to the same time in 1913.

LONDON ALARMED BY GERMAN BUILDING

BIG CONCRETE PRINTING PLANT HAS POSITION OF MUCH STRATEGIC VALUE.

ULTERIOR MOTIVE IS DENIED

Discovery, However, Increases Public's Fear That Hostile Spies Have Been Busy.

By Associated Press. London, Nov. 14.—London has been greatly excited by the report that a German owned music-printing plant in Willesden, a prominent manufacturing suburb of London has an immense building whose heavy concrete foundations, floors and roof are well adapted to the use of siege guns.

Designs By Englishmen. However, the English architects who designed the building and supervised its construction eight years ago say it is similar to many other printing plants and has no heavier foundations and floors than are required where heavy machinery is to be installed.

Strategically Situated. In discussing the Willesden factory, the Sunday Times says: "In a situation which commands an almost uninterrupted view of the great tract of London which lies between Willesden and the Crystal Palace is Blackrook a building whose roof, floor and foundations are constructed of exceptionally thick concrete and might conceivably be employed as the emplacement of a heavy gun. In fact, one of those seventeen inch howitzers for which such careful arrangements were found to have been made in 1906 and 1907 and named after the German Emperor, was at least available for the use of the German command."

Secret Wireless Outfits. "It is highly probable that there do exist such places around London and in the neighborhood of our great fortress positions which have been carefully prepared for siege runs and the chief value to our mind, of the Willesden discovery is that it may be expected to stimulate authorities to search for them.

The suspicion that many wireless equipments are operating in London was justified by the discovery of such a plant in the home of a German professor. As wireless apparatus can be operated for so short a distance without an outside tower the discovery of illicit wireless stations is very difficult. The Times advocates that the war office issue a statement stipulating that persons found sheltering such apparatus will be treated as spies and handed over to military power."

EXCITING EXPERIENCES MARK VOYAGE OF LINER

Is Fired On By German Cruiser and Reported Sunk But Makes Safe Escape

By Associated Press. London, Nov. 14.—The Pacific liner Ortega which arrived in Liverpool October 20 from Valparaiso was fired on by a German cruiser, probably the Leipzig, on September 19. When the Ortega discovered she was being chased she made for the dreaded Cape George at something over her trial trip speed.

They found themselves in an uncharted lagoon, which was really a roundabout entrance to the Strait of Magellan. It was decided to navigate this unknown waterway and a small boat was sent ahead to take soundings. After much difficulty the known but unfrequented waterway of Smyth's Channel was reached.

On reaching the Atlantic further excitement was in store as H. M. S. Glasgow and Monmouth both chased the steamer until she was recognized as British.

SLAUGHTERING OF CATTLE IS RESUMED AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Slaughtering of live stock at the Chicago Union Stockyards was resumed today after a nine day quarantine. Receipts for today were estimated at 800 cars, including 8,000 cattle, 15,000 sheep and 8,000 hogs. This estimate is about one-third the usual Monday receipts. Hogs sold forty to fifty cents higher when the stock yards resumed business today, after the nine-day quarantine due to foot and mouth diseases. Receipts were only 19,000 head, considerably less than the average for Monday, but more than had been expected in view of the areas under quarantine. Monday receipts in normal times approximate 39,000. Cattle prices advanced only ten cents as compared with closing prices just before the yards were closed. Speculators were said to be almost the only buyers of hogs.

KHEDIVE OF EGYPT IS PREPARING TO JOIN TROOPS

By Associated Press. Berlin, Nov. 16.—According to reports reaching here from Constantinople the Khedive of Egypt will leave the Turkish capital shortly to assume control of the Turkish operations against Egypt. He will be accompanied by a suite of fifty persons.

DR. HILL PREACHES FINAL SERMON TO CONGREGATION

Will Leave Shortly For San Antonio—Joint Services Are Held Sunday Night

One of the largest congregations that ever gathered in the M. E. Church, 250th, was present Sunday morning to hear the final sermon by Dr. J. W. Hill, the retiring pastor. The big auditorium was packed almost to the limits of its capacity. Special music was a feature of the exercises.

In his sermon Dr. Hill dealt more particularly with the duty of the church to the pastor who will succeed him and said the congregation should remember that whoever came here would be the selection of the church authorities, entitled to the support of the members without criticism. Last night the congregation of the church was joined with that of the First Presbyterian Church, the sermon being by Dr. J. L. McKee.

FRENCH DENY REPORTED AGRICULTURE FOREST DEFEAT

German Statement Regarding Conditions There is Contradicted Today in Paris

By Associated Press. Paris, Nov. 16.—A semi-official explanation of the French position in the forest of Argonne was brought forth today by the publication in the German press of a statement that the French had been completely driven out of the Argonne, while the siege of Verdun was proceeding. Regarding the statement, it is declared the French are advancing now from three to six miles further forward than they were a month ago.

MEXICAN IS WOUNDED BY WOULD-BE HIGHWAYMEN

By Associated Press. Brownsville, Texas, Nov. 16.—Three highwaymen at one o'clock this morning held up and attempted to rob four Mexicans in a wagon on a country road about four miles from this city. A threat by one of the men in the wagon to draw a pistol resulted in one of the highwaymen shooting him. He was wounded in the left lung, but not seriously. The highwaymen made their escape.

TRAINLOADS OF GERMAN DEAD REACHING BRUSSELS

Red Cross Nurse Says Cars Are Piled High With Bodies, Which Are Burned

By Associated Press. Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 16.—The National Swiss today published a report from a Swiss, who is doing Red Cross work at Brussels, Belgium. "The number of Germans wounded arriving here is uncountable. Trains, which are called cemetery trains, full of piled dead soldiers continue to arrive from the front. They contain bundles of dead, that is, four bodies tied together to facilitate transportation. The bodies are burned promptly in special furnaces erected for that purpose."

DISAPPEARANCE OF EDITOR IS CAUSING MUCH ALARM

By Associated Press. Nov. 16.—Disappearance of M. I. Thompson of Avar, Oila, is causing wide spread alarm and diligent search in North Texas. Thompson was editor and owner of the Tribune at Avar; Mrs. Thompson was postmistress. Thompson left home a week ago presumably to look at a print in press in Canadian and has not been heard from since. No cause can be developed for his absence. He was candidate for the Oklahoma legislature on the Progressive ticket.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED BY MINISTERS' ASSOCIATION

The Ministers' Association in the last regular meeting by a rising vote passed the following resolutions: "Whereas, Dr. J. W. Hill, the pastor of the Southern Methodist Church, will soon move to San Antonio, Texas. Be it resolved: 1. That we express our high appreciation of Dr. Hill as a fellow minister and co-worker in Christ. 2. That we have lost a strong man from the work of the church. 3. That the city as a whole be the removal of Dr. Hill has lost a man that has always been ready to prove his citizenship by his deeds. 4. That we commend him to the ministers of San Antonio as a man that can be trusted and depended upon in the work for righteousness in their city. 5. That we assure Dr. Hill that our prayers will go with him to his new and greater field of service. May the blessings of the Great Head of the church be realized in his work in the future as they have in the past."

CATHEDRALS CROWDED IN PARIS DURING WARTIME

Effect of Conditions Upon Religious Devotions of People Seen in Many Instances

By Associated Press. Paris, Nov. 16.—The cathedrals of Paris are crowded each Sunday with persons who have been awakened to new devoutness by the war. Every day there is a continuous flow of faithful in the churches of every parish in Paris, burning candles to their patron saints. They are mostly women, but the men are in far greater proportion than has been seen in the churches in many years. Among these men are many wounded, who make their way painfully to the altars on crutches in order to perform their devotions.

In the improvised chapel at the Pasteur-Lyceum building, where the American Military Hospital is located, an altar was provided at one end for the Catholics and at the other end for members of the Church of England, while a place was made in the center for the Protestant Non-conformist services.

A party of officials of the Burlington system, including A. D. Parker, vice president of the Colorado and Southern, and Louis Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, passed through the city today on their special train, bound for Denver. The party returned this afternoon after an inspection of the Wichita Valley. Mr. Hill is a son of James J. Hill, one of the greatest railroad men the country has ever known. The special reached here yesterday from Fort Worth, leaving at once over the Wichita Valley.

HOW TOWN OF VERRENIU FARED AT GERMAN'S HANDS

By Associated Press.
Verreuil, Nov. 16.—"It matters not," cried the old Abbe, crossing himself before the gaping hole in the front of the parish church at Verreuil. "God is eternal and by His grace we shall survive."

The six-inch shell that went through the hole had carried the door with it and blown out part of the side wall. A smaller hole in the clock tower marked where a three-inch projectile had cut through, and the dial lay shattered. Abbe Schmidt's feet. Another shot had torn from its hanging the old church bell, which in its fall had crossed through the front and obstructed the entry. Another shot had made a great opening in the roof and the shell exploding inside had demolished the altar and the reliquary lay buried beneath a heap of stone, mortar and splinters. But the four walls remained erect and the steeple seemed to hold its pointed head up with the same dignified fortitude with which the venerable Abbe braved the iron hand of the destroyers.

Five days before the Germans had made a short forced halt around Verreuil, and when they passed through it was to seek shelter for a great number of victims of the French artillery which had halted in its retreat to check the pursuers. The vicar of the parish was among the 20000 priests with the French army, whose line already extended far to the south. Most of the inhabitants of the parish had fled or sought refuge, and the Abbe Schmidt was nearly alone to aid the German surgeons and nurses to take care of these grievously torn soldiers, most of whom lay upon bundles of straw in the church itself. For three days, night and day, he cared for the enemy's wounded with the same devotion as if they were of his own country. Then, in the frantic hurry of the retreat before the allies, he endeavored, as far as possible, to ease the pain caused by their transport into all sorts of improvised ambulances.

The last of the wounded had scarcely quit the town, when the booming of cannon was heard from two directions almost simultaneously, and from the German lines the shells began to fall into the little village. When the French came through, the church was wrecked and no longer a possible shelter for the French wounded.

The following day was Sunday, and in the morning Abbe Schmidt, with the aid of a few parishioners, succeeded in hanging the bell from a beam saved from the church, due to the reliquary from under the debris, erected an altar in the street and said mass before the largest congregation that had gathered in his parish in many years.

This is only one of the many incidents showing that, after drifting for a century toward unbelief, France is reviving to a considerable degree its religious devotion under the soul-movng influences of war.

CANDY FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Candy which can be pulled is always a delight to the childish heart, and taffy will hold a warm corner.

Taffy.—Take two and a half cups of brown sugar, half a cup of butter, four tablespoonfuls of molasses, three tablespoonfuls of water, two of vinegar, and boil twenty minutes, adding a teaspoonful of vanilla. Cool and pull.

Peanut Candy.—This is most delicious when made properly. Shell a pound of peanuts and crush them with the rolling pin until like coarse bread crumbs. Boil together, stirring constantly, a pound of light brown sugar and six ounces of butter for eight minutes from the time the first large bubble appears. Add the nuts and pour at once into a greased pan. Mark off in squares almost immediately, as the candy hardens very quickly.

Mexican Candy.—Boil together two cups of brown sugar, one cup of milk, one cup of granulated sugar, one tablespoon of butter and a tablespoonful of starch. Cook all together until a hard ball is formed when dropped in water. Flavor with vanilla, add a cup or two of nuts, beat until nearly cold, then pour out on a plate. Slice when cold.

Cocoanut Cream Candy.—Boil together a cup and a half of sugar, a half cup of milk and two teaspoonfuls of butter twenty minutes, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Remove from the fire and add a cupful of cocoanut and a half teaspoonful of vanilla; beat until creamy and pour into buttered tins. This is especially delicious poured over chocolate fudge.

Fig Brittle.—Melt one pound of white sugar in a granite sauce pan; stir in one-half pound of chopped figs, then pour into a greased pan an inch thick. Cut in strips and serve.

GERMAN SPIES CONTINUE OF ANNOYANCE TO FRENCH

By Associated Press.
Paris, Nov. 16.—"On coming out of a dirt road, descending from Verdun," says an officer who is quoted in the Paris Midi, "I crossed a miserable creature leaning heavily on an oak staff. He limped along painfully as if he were wounded and doffed a greasy hat in humble salute. I responded absent mindedly and went on my way."

"An hour later, a dull rattling as of the cracking of branches and the bursting of a shell in a thicket beside the road, brought us back to the realities of war and at the same time to the wandering vagabond—the only creature who could have so soon and so accurately posted the enemy on the position of my little detachment. We turned aside from this dangerous route and by a crossed road reached the main road leading to X....."

"I continued to think of the vagabond, who now clearly appeared to my mind as one of those soft mannered spies of whom we have seen so many in this war, who follow their tortuous way seeking information as the mendicant seeks alms, filtering, insinuating, scenting, listening, watching, then disappearing into some secret underground route by which he bears his fruitful harvest to his chiefs, then coming back in the role of the conqueror, serving as a guide to the invader."

"Suddenly, there before me appeared the man, gliding out of the thicket. He also had taken the roundabout way and after posting the German battery, had at once started on a new hunt for information."

"I rushed upon him, and he gave a start of surprise, then his greasy hand went to his eyes in the gesture of wiping away tears."

"Your papers," I demanded. He produced a greasy trace of writing on them and with here and there the clever imitation of an official visa. No safe conduct, no passport. "If he had no papers it was because the mayor had been shot, or the notables of the town had fled. The village existed no more; the children even had been shot."

"Take him in charge." Two men on either side execute the order, then the spring of steel hidden beneath the rags of the vagabond shows itself. The man is upright, tall, robust, aggressive, the eye flashing and the voice defiant.

"If you want to take me, you'll have to bring a vehicle, for I'll never walk." Then he sees his mistake, his form bends again, his voice becomes humble and supplicating. "I'll go wherever you like, my good sir."

"Too late. No more doubt possible. The vehicle is dispensed with—a stone wall at the entrance to a village is sufficient."

Wichita Falls cotton buyers were disposed today to wait until prices on the cotton exchange steadied before buying much cotton. Prices were lower at the close. Some cotton was bought on a basis of 6 7/8 for middling, but it was said that the close of the market, which was 45 points down, would not warrant that price.

DESIRE FOR LONG LIFE IS DISCUSSED

IS SUBJECT OF SERMON AT M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY EVENING

MEN WHOSE WORKS SURVIVES

Many Whose Labor Was Little Known at Time Recognized After Their Deaths

How a man's works and influence survive long after the man's physical existence comes to an end, and how long life, in this sense, may be attained, were interestingly set forth Sunday evening at the First M. E. Church by Rev. C. C. Smith, the pastor. The subject was "The Secret of Long Life," and the text was from Isaiah 11:27, "He endured as seeing him who is invisible." The pastor said in part:

"Whether or not we consider this a good world it is very obvious that the great majority of us want to stay here just as long as we can. As for the few who take matters into their own hands and seek release from this life, we who prefer to stay here seriously question their sanity. So that the verdict of humanity is practically unanimous in favor of the proposition that this world is a good world. We covet long life. We may not know just why. Sometimes we say that God gave us the instinct of life. Doubtless this is so. At any rate we want to live now and religion stirs within us a profound desire to live forever. We have ceased hunting for the fountain of perpetual youth, out we have not ceased aspiring to live always. There is a life which is continuous, which what we call death only changes as to a manifestation but does not affect as to reality. This life is built around the principle of the text. 'He endured as seeing him who is invisible.'"

"The present day stresses very much the matter of physical well-being. Scientific men have pointed out much weakness in our modern ways of living and have earnestly set about to correct some conditions. Very naturally fanatics have sprung up on the crest of this wave of reform and excesses are not uncommon. Some have made it into a quasi-religion until people are led to give more attention to physical pain than to spiritual problems. Physical comfort and well-being becomes the god before which they bow down and worship. We are in danger of getting our bodies so close to us that they will blind our vision for larger things. Perpetual youth is not for the body and never was. Eternal life is for the soul and has been from eternity. What we need to emphasize supremely is the acquiring of that principle by which it may be said of us as it was of Abel of old, 'He being dead yet speaketh.' It is laudable because in harmony with divinely implanted instincts for one to desire to live as long as possible here on the earth. It is worthy of any of us to desire to live that we will make a little place in the world and so continue to live after we have laid down our physical bodies. It becomes us to desire very earnestly eternal life and to fix on the relative values which the phases of this life have as compared to life eternal.

Tardy Recognition of Worth.
"It is very seldom that the worth of a good person is known until the place which he has filled is empty. It is seldom that a good father or mother is appreciated until there is a vacancy in the home. The value of a strong man to the community is felt most usually after he has passed away. That is simply another way of saying that one may so live as to project his life into the future years and live after he is dead. It is plain from the pages of history that great men seldom live to enjoy their fame. Socrates was a great man and yet when he should have been held in the highest esteem he was compelled to drink the poisoned cup and died not knowing what he had done to further the thought of mankind. Plato lived to be near eighty years but died before his power of intellect was fully recognized. The reformers of the middle ages all died before their work bore its choicest fruit. Moses the greatest man of ancient history and the peer of any man in any age was called home however. They still live in influences which they set going and will continue to live so long as humanity endures on the earth.

"It is well for us to search for and if possible find out the secret of the lives of great men. Only a few can become world famous but the secret of their successful lives will make ours successful also—within their necessary limits and will help us to do better work than otherwise. We may not attain nobility in the sight of men but we may all attain nobility in the sight of God. The important thing is to attain the spirit of nobility for by the spirit within us God measures us.

"All noble living is inspired by invisible leadership. The painter and the poet are moved by the powers of leadership other than that which arises within. The great paintings and poems seem actually to have been inspired of God. The Master seems to have been back of the pen and the brush. The great inventors have a fashion of appearing just at the right time in civilization. When some inventive need arises some how the man is at hand with the apparatus to meet the need. Is it presuming too much to suggest that God times the man and the need? The reformer comes when a crisis is on. We are inclined to think that God brings the man for the hour. And this will be true down through all the ranks of life. It may be somewhat more noticeable in the prominent positions but the common place man whose name never gets into history seems often to have been fitted into his niche as verily as the great man. One would need to attack the very foundations of divine leadership in the life of Moses, and the fact that this great leader's life has been projected down through the ages with ever increasing volume is due to the fact that he followed the invisible leader. Christ himself lives today in the thought of men for the same reason. He endured as seeing him who is invisible. The Christ life considered historically is the most perfect illustration of this principle which we can find.

Christ's Place in History.
"When he was crucified He was accorded only a few words by the historian Josephus and a half century later He was given brief mention by a number of historians. Pliny speaks definitely of the Christians, on the whole in a complimentary way which shows the meager place which He had in history as late as 100 A. D. But today He is written in and through everything that becomes of permanent record and history is being reconstructed with Christ as the center. Aside from the divine life within Him He lives today in the thoughts and works of men as never before. So great is the volume of His life that were it taken out of civilization it would wreck the whole fabric. We might forget Moses and his work would go on, but we cannot forget Christ, and if by some means we should efface Him Christ's life would die with Him. But within His limits man also may project himself upon the future. John Wesley ordered this truth inscribed over the Wesley tomb in the epitaph which he formulated. 'God buries his workmen—but carries on his work.' Forget Moses, Elijah, Isaiah, Peter, Paul, Luther, Wesley and Christianity goes right on. The invisible leader of these and other great men has unobscuredly extended their influence. We unconsciously share in the power of these great men even in this day. It is almost improper to say that they lived so many years. They still live in the hearts of millions of people. They found the secret of long life. They found the real fountain of youth. Their lives spring up ever new in the influences which they have sent down through the ages.

Dreams Seldom Realized.
"The dreams of our lives are seldom realized in full. The poet's poem is not all that he longed for. The painter's picture does not reveal all that inspired him. But it is better to dream great things and fall short of doing them than to have no vision and do nothing. 'What I long to be and are not comforts me,' said Browning. What we long to be shows very well what we may be and it is indeed a comfort to know what may become if we will. Our invisible leader is beckoning us on over to better things. We will live longest and best if we follow Him. He will so live that when our bodies are laid away the life will go marching on. We may find perpetual youth by projecting ourselves down through the future.

"Finding one's leadership essentially marks the beginning of one's life. Leadership determines the direction and hence the outcome. It is a crisis in one's life when he stands debating what impulses he will follow. If he shut himself up to the physical only he necessarily shuts himself up to the few years that are allotted to the physical. If he chooses to follow Him who is invisible, he chooses to follow that which abides, which is not affected by physical change. He chooses life, prolonged life, eternal life. Our instinct of life properly understood reaches after all in this direction. It is life we crave. We are not so concerned about the body as we are with life. If we fix our souls on the invisible we too shall endure."

The Fort Hill football team, which was to have played the Wichita Falls eleven yesterday, failed to arrive, which to the disappointment of the local fans and players. No reason was advanced by the soldiers for their failure to come.

GAME WITH AMARILLO TEAM PLANNED BY HIGH SCHOOL

Panhandle Eleven is Victorious Over Vernon Saturday and Locals Want Game.

Tentative plans are under way for a football game between the Wichita Falls and Amarillo high school teams in the near future following Amarillo's victory over the Vernon team last Saturday by the score of seven to three. Up to that time Vernon was Wichita Falls' most formidable rival for the Northwest Texas honors, but Amarillo's victory puts the Panhandle city in the running. Amarillo is to play North-Fort Worth high on Thanksgiving for the Northwest Texas championship and an effort will be made to have Wichita Falls and Amarillo matched before that time. Wichita Falls defeated Vernon more decisively than Amarillo did although the game was forfeited.

It will be difficult to arrange a game with Amarillo, especially as Wichita Falls has a game with Bowie scheduled for next Saturday, but it is likely that an effort will be made to do so.

TWO STORES ARE DAMAGED BY FIRE EARLY SUNDAY
Maricle's Feed House and Dillard's Candy Kitchen Suffer Severely From Flames
The stocks of both Maricle's feed store and W. L. Dillard's candy kitchen adjoining were almost completely ruined in the fire early Sunday morning. Only a wooden partition separated the two stores and this was burned as well as most of the roof covering both. Smoke and water ruined the stocks in both places. The firemen were unable to locate the flames until they had driven the smoke out and this was difficult work as the flames had reached a quantity of feed stored at the rear of the feed store. A just explosion after the firemen had entered the building knocked them to their knees and caused them to lose control of the hose. The suffocating smoke and the "wild" hose caused them to beat a retreat. All fortunately reached the street.
The fire is believed to have been caused by defective wiring. Mr. Dillard had left money in his cash register. When he was summoned and reached the scene he went into his store to get this money and when he touched his cash register he received a shock that almost knocked him down showing that the current had been short circuited in some manner.
The building is owned by John Haier of this city and Fernaux and Wilson of Dallas. It is probable that it will be replaced by a better structure. Maricle's feed store opened for business this morning in McCarty's old stand on Indiana avenue.
Another alarm was turned in from the same place Sunday afternoon the smoldering flames causing some one to send for the department.

AGED WOMAN, ALMOST BLIND FAILS TO MEET SON HERE
Expecting to meet her son, D. E. Robertson, here, an aged and almost totally blind woman arrived from Stephenville yesterday practically penniless. The son whom she had expected to meet had evidently not received the letter telling of her coming and he could not be located.
Captain Robb of the Salvation Army saw that she was cared for last night and this afternoon sent her back to Stephenville, where she will remain until her son, who is believed to be in this section, is located.
The fire department responded to a call this morning from the residence of O. B. Cecil at Sixteenth and Lamar streets, where a fire was burning out. No damage was done.

Kansas City Grain. By Associated Press. Kansas City, Nov. 16.—Wheat No. 2 hard, $1.06 1-2 to $1.07; No. 2 red, $1.06 to $1.07. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 65 1-2 to 66 1-2. Oats—No. 2 white, 47.

Chicago Futures. Chicago, Nov. 16.—Reports that European bids were the highest in more than two weeks tended today to put strength into wheat. After opening one-eighth to one-fourth off to one-fourth to three-eighths up, prices made a slight general gain and then steadied at a little above Saturday night's level. Cold weather had a bearish effect on the corn market. The opening, which varied from one-eighth to three-eighths lower, was followed by an additional moderate decline. Oats showed sympathy with the weakness of corn. Wheat closed steady. Corn closed steady. Closing: Wheat—December, $1.14 1-2; May, $1.20 1-2. Corn—December, 67 1-4; May, 71. Oats—December, 49 1-2; May, 53 3-8.

Fort Worth Live Stock. Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 16.—Cattle receipts, 7,000; steady; beefs, $5.50 to $7.50. Hog receipts, 2,500; steady; bulk, $7.50 to $7.75. Sheep receipts, 1,800; steady; lambs, $7 to $7.50.

New Orleans Cotton. New Orleans, Nov. 16.—Spot cotton, quiet; sales on spot, 350; to arrive, 440. Middling, 73-4.

"SUCCESS HAIN IN HOLDIN' A GOOD ONE, BUT PLAYIN' A POOR ONE WELL," said Alfred Henry Lewis. A rugged fact clothed in the vernacular of a student of the school of experience. Experience keeps a school for fools, but all her students do not belong in the first division by a good man thousand. The man who knows human nature learned it, not from books, but from meeting the million. The man who knows how to do things learned it from doing things. The would-be pilot who has lived in a port all his life and has seen thousands of ships piloted in, who has watched the pilots operations, but who never took the wheel in his own hands would never be permitted to steer a million dollars' worth of merchandise or a cargo of human lives into port, however loud his protestations of proficiency or his apparent ability to do it. The experience of years is what we offer you when you send us your prescriptions.

You Get What You Pay For

We clean and press your suit for one American dollar. When you pay us the dollar you get a dollar's worth. When you pay more you are buying inexperience. When you pay less you are kidding yourself. The saving is in your mind and not your pocket book. "THE DOLLAR IS RIGHT;" more is too much; less is not enough. We clean your suits right. We make them stay clean until you soil them again. Phone us one time and tell us where and when; then forget it—the trouble is ours, and the suit will be there when you want it.

WEATHER BRINGS MORE DUCKS; HUNTERS BUSY AT LAKE

The wind yesterday and the cold weather today have brought thousands of ducks and a few geese to Lake Wichita, and the hunters are bringing in big bags. Ducks of almost every kind that are known in this section were killed on the lake yesterday, including a few mallards, which are usually the last ducks to arrive here in the early winter.

MACK TAYLORS Mrs. E. L. Darwin Inspector of the Department of Food and Drug Inspection, State of Texas, with headquarters at Austin, following a recent visit to this city stated that our store was one of the cleanest and most sanitary that it had been her pleasure to inspect. Others of this city, including Mrs. J. A. Kemp, voiced a similar sentiment after making an inspection. We are proud of this distinction and shall strive to further establish a reputation in this regard. Mack Taylor THE RED CROSS DRUG STORE Phones 184-882 820 Ohio Read Our Ads on Pages 3, 5 and 7

The Sentiment

That prompts us to mark the last resting place of our departed friends and loved ones, is that spiritual better self. Pride alone would not fill our cemeteries with simple tributes of love and respect. A memorial speaks alike to the learned and the unlearned, to great and small setting forth the virtues and commending the good deeds of our loved ones to us from day to day.

WHAT KIND OF A PLACE WOULD OUR CEMETERIES BE WITHOUT SOME TOKEN OF REMEMBRANCE TO POINT THE WAY TO THAT LIFE BEYOND THIS VALE OF TEARS? Our success proves our worthy efficiency. Come to see us.
