

BOSTON RED SOX WIN WORLDS' CHAMPIONSHIP

HOME RUN IN NINTH WINS FOURTH GAME

PHILLIES STARTED STRONG BUT CARRIGAN'S MEN ALSO DEVELOPE OFFENSIVE.

PHILLIES IN THE LEAD TWICE

Mighty Swats of Lewis and Hooper For Full Circuits Clinch Championship for Boston.

Special to The Times.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—The baseball championship of the world rests upon the Boston team of the American League this afternoon for the second time in four seasons. They defeated the Philadelphia Nationals 5 to 4, coming from behind in the eighth and ninth innings, the mighty swats of Lewis and Hooper for home runs, bringing them victory.

All the Philadelphia fans who could crowd into the Nationals' cozy little park gathered and saw their team acquire a two run lead then lose it, saw another two run lead attained, held for an inning or two then lost again—saw Hooper land on the ball in the ninth, send it to the far right field corner where it took a bounce and went outside the lot, giving the Boston outfielder his second home run of the game—saw their world's championship prospects fade and then flicker to darkness when the Phillies went down in one two three order in the final half inning.

Boston's performance in this series taking four straight games after their opening defeat is surpassed in baseball annals of recent years only by that of another Boston team, the Nationals, last year, when another Philadelphia team, the Americans, went down in four straight games before the "browns" of George Stallins.

A Game of Thrills. It was a game of thrills, of sudden and sweeping changes. Incidentally it was a game that saw the record for home runs in a world's series game broken, four full circuit drives being registered, one by a Philly and three by Red Sox players. Contrary to expectations, Manager Moran sent Major, who met defeat at Boston's hands Saturday, in to take the box against Boston; six hits in two and a third inning were counted off this offering, then he was derrieked and Rixey, a left hander was sent in. One lone hit was all he allowed the slugging Bostonians in four innings and then he weakened.

After Gainer had hit safely in the eighth, Lewis, Boston's left fielder whose hitting has been one of the features of the series, hit a home run, sending Gainer around ahead of him and tying the score; the eighth passed and then in the ninth Hooper completed the Phillies' undoing. Poster worked all the way for Boston and while he pitched some hits only in the first inning did he appear to be weak.

The Phillies started briskly. In the first inning, Stock was hit by a pitched ball and Bancroft singled. Paskert beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Then Cravath hit into a double play that made things look less rosy, but Luderus came forward with the needed two sack drive that scored two runs. Boston came back hard after two were out in the next inning. Gardner unorked a three base clout and scored on Barry's single. In the third inning Hooper, who was first in line for his first home run tying the score. The Phillies upped it in the fourth. With one down, Luderus brought the home fans screaming to their feet with a home run drive. Whitted went out, but Niehoff hit safely, advanced on Burns' single and scored on an error.

The Phillies maintained their two run lead until the eighth when as fourth above, Boston again tied the game up, winning out in the ninth. Up to the eighth, Rixey seemed to be pitching invincible ball but the hard hitters of the Sox found him with a vengeance in that frame.

The weather was clear and warm and many of the spectators in the stands shed their coats to keep comfortable. Before the game Alexander was presented with a floral horse shoe. Umpires were assigned as follows: Klem at the plate, Rigger in left field, O'Laughlin on the bases, Evans in right field.

FIRST INNING.

Boston—Hooper drove the first ball pitched out of the diamond for a single. Scott tried to bunt, but popped out to first. Speaker forced Hooper to a grounder to second. Speaker tried to steal and was out. No runs, no hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Stock stopped one of Foster's shots with his ribs, and was given his base. Bancroft singled to left field, advancing Stock to second. Paskert tried to lay down a bunt, easing the ball toward third so neatly that he was able to beat it to first, filling the bases. Cravath was a great disappointment when he batted into a double play which forced Stock out at the plate, Foster to Thomas to Hoblitzell. But Luderus was there at the right time with a cracking double base drive that scored Bancroft and Paskert. Whitted retired the side with a fly to Speaker. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING.

Boston—Hobbsell was hit on a grounder to first, Mayer covering the sack. The dangerous Lewis went out short to first. With two down, Gardner unorked a drive to deep center that netted him three bases, and scored when Barry singled to left field. Thomas got the third hit of the inning to center, sending Gardner to second. Foster popped out to first. One run, three hits, no errors. Philadelphia—Niehoff struck out. Burns popped out to third. Mayer was the inning's second strike out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING.

Boston—Hooper brought the score even with a home run drive into the far center field stands, the first full circuit clout of the series. The Royal Rooters from Boston went wild in their joy. Scott fled out to center field. Speaker singled to right field. Rixey replaced Mayer in the box for Philadelphia and Manager Carrigan promptly sent Gainer, a left handed batter in to hit for Hoblitzell, Rixey being a southpaw. A double play retired the side, Gainer hitting a grounder to Niehoff who touched second and then threw to first. Two hits one run, no errors. Philadelphia—Stock went out, third to first. Bancroft drew two, and three then fled out to right. With two down, Paskert singled to center field, his second hit in twice up. Paskert's second hit in twice up. Paskert's second hit in twice up.

DELCASSE'S RETIREMENT IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

Man Who Brought About Triple Entente Quits Because of Growing Infirmities.

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 13.—Foreign Minister Delcasse resigned today. His resignation was accepted. The desire to obtain united support of all elements in parliament in upholding the hands of the government in dealing with foreign affairs particularly the Balkans will probably result in other changes in the ministry. The continued ill health of Foreign Minister Delcasse has given serious concern for some time.

Premier Viviani in announcing the resignation to the chamber of deputies said that M. Delcasse first offered his letter of resignation upon returning from his recent trip to England and again offered it last night. The premier declared there had been no discord between M. Delcasse and the government on the nation's foreign policy.

Naval Consulting Board Begins Work By Deciding To Build Big Laboratory

NAVAL CONSULTING BOARD, WASHINGTON, PETER COOPER HEWITT, First Vice Chairman.

The first concrete result of the preliminary labors of the naval consulting board on inventions, created by Secretary Daniels, developed when formal announcement was made that the board had unanimously approved a plan for the establishment of a great research and experimental laboratory for the United States navy. The plan, as adopted, was proposed by Thomas A. Edison, chairman of the board. It calls for the establishment of a laboratory at a cost of $5,000,000 for grounds, buildings and equipment, to be operated at an annual expenditure of from $2,500,000.

The board recommends that the laboratory be located in tidal water of sufficient depth, to permit a Dreadnaught to come to the dock, and that it be near, but not in, a large city. As thus described, the laboratory would be near some large port on the Atlantic Coast. It should not be located at Washington because the depth of water in the Potomac river is not great enough to permit Dreadnaughts to go to the city. The board elected these officers: Chairman, Thomas A. Edison, Orange, N. J.; first vice chairman, Peter Cooper Hewitt, New York; second vice chairman, William L. Saunders, Plainfield, N. J.; secretary, Thomas Robins, Stamford, Conn.; assistant to chairman, M. R. Hutchinson, Orange, N. J. In the picture may be seen Mr. Edison sitting with Secretary Daniels; also, behind them, Mr. Hewitt (indicated by an X); the bearded man at the right is Hudson Maxim, the distinguished inventor.

SCOTT GIVEN 20 YEARS FOR MURDER

JURY RETURNS VERDICT AFTER BEING OUT ONLY 50 MINUTES WEDNESDAY MORNING

DEFENDANT UNCONCERNED

His Mother and Aged Father, However, Break Down When Verdict Is Read in Court Room.

"We, the jury in the case of the State of Texas vs. O. P. Scott, find the defendant guilty of murder and assess his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for 20 years." This verdict, signed by J. S. Bridwell as foreman, was returned shortly before noon today in the case of O. P. Scott, indicted for murder in connection with the killing of Lorene Shaw last month. The jury was out not quite 50 minutes.

The defendant received the verdict with the same outward air of indifference throughout the trial, but his mother and aged father gave way to tears. Counsel for the defense will seek to have a new trial ordered. Lack of Motive Argued. The case went to the jury at 11:13, after the morning had been consumed in argument by W. F. Weeks, counsel for the defense and District Attorney Leslie Humphrey, who argued for the state. Mr. Weeks in his argument contended that the state had failed to show that the shooting had not been accidental or a suicide, and that no malice on the part of the defendant toward the deceased had been shown. In closing for the state, Mr. Humphrey derided the plea of suicide and delivered an attack of marked severity on the defendant. He was interrupted several times by counsel for the defense with objections to his remarks.

COTTON FUTURES ACT HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

By Associated Press. New York, Oct. 13.—Federal Judge Hough today handed down a decision declaring unconstitutional the law known as the "cotton futures act." He rendered judgment in favor of Daniel T. Hubbard and others in a suit to recover damages for an assessment made and collected by collector of internal revenues. Judge Hough in a lengthy opinion said the cotton futures act was technically unconstitutional because the law originated in the senate instead of the house of representatives. "This is one of the legislative projects which to be a law must originate in the house of representatives," he said.

WORLD RELIGION PRIME REQUISITE WORLD PEACE

MIRZA ALI KULI KHAN AT PEACE CONGRESS

Would Embrace Truths of all Religions and Exclude National and Racial Bias

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—A world religion including the truth of all religions and excluding all patriotic, national and racial bias, was declared to be a prime requisite for world peace by Mirza Ali Kuli Khan, Charge d'Affairs of the Persian Legation at Washington, in an address before the International Peace Congress here today. He said: "Humanity, from the dawn of its history, has progressed under the guidance of prophetic teachers from a state of infancy through the various stages of development leading to its maturity. In spite of all obstacles to the contrary, the course of humanity, in the long run, has never been impeded by retrogression."

"The prophets of God, whose gospels were the result of a well-founded optimism aimed at the unity of man because of their due knowledge of the principle of human unity, which in the mind of God had ever been an accomplished fact. Each world teacher accomplished that plan in conformity with the limited capacity manifested by his people."

"God applied his original plan for the unification of Israel through Moses, of the Gentiles through Jesus, of the Pharisees through Zoroaster, of the Hindus through the Buddha, and of the other sections of humanity through other world teachers and prophets. Today, which to the wise and the thoughtful is the day of the maturity of the human race, God will accomplish his noble plan. In the voice raised in all parts of the world in favor of peace, and in the efforts extended by the peace-loving element in the world's population which constitutes the positive, affirmative principle of the human body politic, we find a potent, manifest proof that the Day of Peace has dawned, and is steadily, though slowly, breaking through the dense clouds which temporarily impede its course to the meridian of its glory."

"Although the effecting of a world brotherhood is the determined plan of God, it is for the membership of the human family to cooperate in its realization."

"In our effort to unify the world we must take the lessons taught by the past great religions in achieving the moral and spiritual uplift of their respective people, for no unity of a people existing in a civilized state could be independent of moral and spiritual character. The building of such character has been the task of every true religion."

"As our aim today is the creation of a world civilization, based upon a world unity, we must enlarge our conception of religion to reach the dimensions of a world religion—the religion of humanity."

"Such religion should include the truth of all religions, and exclude all patriotic, national and racial bias."

"The most successful political and industrial steps taken by any nation to ward human betterment are those represented by the federal and industrial institutions organized in the United States; for these American institutions, in their domestic and international relationships, are impregnated with the spirit of justice, altruism and broad humanity which embodied in the Religion of Humanity, because they exude the fragrance of the noble sayings of the Persian prophet of these modern times: 'Ye are all the leaves of one tree and the drops of one sea.' 'Great glory is not his who loves his country, but rather his who loves his kind.'

'America is therefore the field in which the seeds of the world religion are given an opportunity to germinate, and which will extend to the peoples of all times the bounties of the Religion of Humanity. May we not, therefore, look upon America as the nation which is specially chosen by the Almighty to assist in man's progress upward and to bless humanity with the fruits of universal peace.'

AEROPLANE DUEL IN THE CHAMPAGNE DESCRIBED

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 12.—An aeroplane duel was one of the incidents of the battle in the Champagne when the allied offensive was at its height. The French machine loaded with bombs had just set out to destroy a line of railroads back of the German line when the German craft emerged from a cloud. The air battle began immediately. Almost as soon as it started the machine guns of the French aeroplane jammed.

"Dive, dive!" shouted the observer to the pilot. The machine plunged in a swift curve but the German no less promptly continued to fly around the French machine which was hampered by the weight of bombs it carried. After firing his carbine until his supply of cartridges was exhausted it occurred to the French observer that an abrupt landing would be fatal for him and his pilot unless the fuses were removed from the bombs.

He coolly set about picking the fuses and had just finished the task when a bullet struck him in the back and a moment later another shattered one lip. The pilot was hit in the

RUSSIA HARD PRESSED TO MEET WAR DEBTS

Enormous Drain on Russia's Supply of Money and Men Taxing Capacity of Nation

London, Oct. 13.—The enormous drain on Russia's supply of men and the financial strain upon the country are emphasized by the Times' Russian correspondent in a review of the situation in the east.

Russia, he says, never expected the war to last longer than six months. She had sufficient money; an abundance of shells and superabundance of men for such a war.

"She strove hard," the correspondent declares, "to meet the demands for ammunition, but she possesses neither the industrial mobility to support her army adequately. She must depend upon outside help and has to buy from Japan, the United States or elsewhere. Thus the problem becomes largely financial."

"It should be remembered that the Russian ruble has depreciated 40 per cent; that Russia raises nothing by the sale of spirits, and scarcely anything by her tariff on imports, and she also has greater difficulty in borrowing in America."

"For the time being she continues to hold her own. Soldiers' wages and army bills are paid with admirable punctuality and there is a feeling that all supplies will be obtained easily if once the Dardanelles are taken. But those who know the true inwardness of the situation know how much financial difficulty stands in the way of Russia making up lost ground and entering again upon a vigorous offensive."

Taking up Russia's enormous losses in men, the correspondent says they undoubtedly are much greater than generally supposed. No lists are published of losses in the ranks, and it is difficult to gauge the extent of daily casualties.

"There was dreadful carnage in the Russo-Turkish war, but everything in this war has been on a scale five times as large. Enormous numbers of young men who never expected to serve and whose parents believed they were immune, now are being trained. The act of calling them out synchronized with Emperor Nicholas' assumption of command was in a way a further example of Russia's wholeheartedness and determination to cast everything on the altar of the nation."

HEAVIER TAXATION BIG INCOMES IS DEFENDED

is Termed Relief From Disproportionate Share of Governmental Support

Washington, Oct. 13.—Heavier taxation on big incomes as a relief from the disproportionate share of governmental support borne by the poor under direct taxation, was defended today by the government in a brief filed with the supreme court in the pending income tax cases. The brief bears the names of Attorney General Gregory, Solicitor General Davis and Assistant Attorney General William Wallace Jr., and represents months of study by the government's legal talent of all the various attacks on the income tax the success of which would reduce the government's income eighty million dollars a year.

"The ordinary system of indirect taxation upon consumption places upon the poor person a disproportionate share of the burden of government support," says the brief in reply to the charge of discrimination in the additional or surtax on incomes of over $20,000.

"Income tax tends to shift the burden upward. It is undeniable the greater the income the greater the ease with which the payment of taxes is met. Even allowing for the normal increase in the scale of living, he who has the larger income the more easily can shoulder the burden of increasing, as the amount of income increases, not merely the total tax but also the rate of taxation. Congress has determined that the heavier burden can be carried easily by the larger income, and it is not for the courts to say that such classification is outrageous."

Answering a contention that despite the sixteenth amendment, the constitution still requires income taxes to be uniform, the brief urges that the uniformity rule is limited to excise taxes and does not reach direct taxes.

Keep Going. In the goal distant, and troubled the road. And the way long? Add heavy your load? Then gird up your courage and say, 'I am strong.' And keep going.

Is the work weary, and endless the grind? And petty the pay? Then brace up your mind. And say, 'Something better is coming my way.' And keep going.

Is the drink bitter life pours in your cup? Is the taste gall? Then smile and look up. And say, 'God is with me whatever befall.' And keep trusting.

Is the heart heavy with hope long deferred? And with prayers that seem vain? Keep saying the word—'And that which you strive for you yet shall attain.' Keep praying.

Queen Sophia's Influence The Problem

QUEEN SOPHIA, KING CON

IN VENIZELOS

Premier Eleutherios Venizelos of Greece having resigned, the king has informed him that he was unable to support the policy of his ministry, matters in Greece rested for a time at least in the hands of King Constantine. This was the second time within a few months that Premier Venizelos resigned because of disagreement with the king, who is a brother-in-law of the German emperor, his wife, Queen Sophia, being a slator of the kaiser. She has steadily opposed M. Venizelos' policy of cooperation with the entente allies. Following his former resignation general elections were held in Greece, and his party was returned to power by a decisive majority. M. Venizelos was recalled by the king, with whom he effected a compromise and again became premier. King Constantine has insisted throughout the present crisis that Greece's treaty of alliance with year went to the West Side Hospital in Chicago, where she has been taking some additional courses. The managers believe they have a thoroughly competent superintendent. Only one Wichita Falls application was received by the managers.

THE GREAT IMPORTANCE OF THE TOP COAT

New York, Oct. 9.—Early in the season when Paris placed her stamp of approval on the frock of taffeta, and then a little later adopted the one piece frock of serge and gabardine, on Princess and semi-Princess lines, for almost every occasion, a demand was straightway created for the separate coat. Designers are now giving much of their attention to this important garment.

A Season of Separate Coats. It is essentially a season of separate coats. At any public gathering the predominance of the one piece dress with its accompanying coat is very noticeable. Princess and semi-Princess frocks of serge or gabardine, braid trimmed, and rather severe, are preferred for mornings; to wear with these frocks Paris has given us an all enveloping coat also of serge or gabardine; called the coat dress. Then there are many other models on the Redingote order, with yegars extending from collar to hem, one or two designs showing the Louis XVII influence, and the 1870 period, with slender, fitted backs and waists, and full circular flaring basques.

Frocks of taffeta and faille are collars, collars dating from the time of Inchoyables, high Dircopire collars and many others. Often these are of fur, one of the short haired pelts preferably, beaver, muskrat, seal or krummer; and then again they are of the material of the coat, elaborately trimmed with braid embroidery, or a smartly worked out design in Angora wool. This latter is a very new and effective touch brought out at the early Paris openings. Coats, too, come for their share of attention. Some flares, some are made gauntlet fashion, some are cut to fit the forearm snugly from elbow to wrist, where they flare slightly and others are merely straight bands of the same, or a contrasting material. Sleeves on both coats and frocks are varied, most attractive, the models being taken from a number of different clothes periods.

Coats For Sports. Paquin introduced at her recent showing, a coat of suede; at a tennis match some weeks ago, a duplicate of this same coat was worn accompanied by harmonizing coats of velours de laine, velvet, or plush, but Redingote fashion or on short, light fitting flares. Velvet is one of the smartest coat materials of the season. On the Avenue and in the tea rooms every afternoon, one may see any number of smart little frocks of taffeta or faille, with short full skirts and harmonizing small coats, or basques of velvet or plush. Some of these chic velvet basques, fitting snugly over the bust, curving at the waistline, button from the top of the high collar to the pointed lower edge, often forming panier like draperies over the hips. There is no material richer or more becoming than velvet.

The Russian Influence. In the more dressy coats, one notices a decided leaning toward the Russian. There is something smart and youthful about the double breasted, high collared Russian coat, with its trimming of fur which makes it appeal to many. These models are made in various lengths, according to the purpose for which they are intended. One of the smartest coats of the season was designed in Petrograd, green velours de laine, on Russian lines. Colored, capped, and banded around the lower edge with beaver. Large crocheted buttons of antique gold cord closed the coat and finished the wide girde of green velours. A smart little turban of the beaver completed a most attractive ensemble.

It appears as if all the designers ingeniously have been centered on the collar of the coat. There are wide cape collars, Chin Chin collars, Quaker collars, wide crush collars, JA with matching spots, hat band and girde of the suede. It is an unusual fact, but one that is practical for motoring and all out of doors amusements. Stripes, checks and rather vivid plaids are popular for the sport coat as well as the various attractive tweed mixtures. One smart motor coat of plaid, in a subdued tone of gray, noted at the tennis games, was trimmed with emerald green suede, collar, wide belt and cuffs. The effect was unusual and extremely effective. Leather is a trimming detail of many coats this fall.

The huge motor coat or warmly colored plaid, heavy curly cloth, rough tweed, and various other warm, light weight fabrics, is often collared, cut and belted, in suede or kid, in a plain, contrasting color. Leather buttons, too, being used and seam plippings of leather.

A Word on Fur Fabrics. While these fabrics have been used for coats and wraps for a season or two, they have never reached the perfection that they have this winter. At a showing of coats and wraps at the Ritz, a short time ago, these fur cloths were used exclusively. There were baby lamb pelts, cascabel cloths, monkey skin and any number of others bearing the manufacturer's trade names. These materials are especially well suited to evening wraps, and the more dressy day coats. They are warm, light of weight, richly colored and generally satisfactory.

These fabrics are attractive, too, for trimmings, collars, cuffs and trimmings, banded on coats of other materials. An African brown baby lamb cloth is especially beautiful for the last mentioned use.

Wichita Falls, Tex., October 13, 1915

When peace is restored in Mexico and that seems more certain right now than at any time during the past three or four years, it will have a tendency to bring about more prosperous commercial conditions in Texas.

Now comes a Mr. Hefflin of Alabama who gives it out that cotton will go to 20 cents per pound before another crop is produced. He bases his prediction upon the fact that the crop is short and short that there will be a legitimate demand for every bale of the 1914 cotton and if the cotton producers will only warehouse their cotton and borrow money on it at a low rate of interest, the crop can be marketed slowly, or as it is used, and by this method of marketing the price can be made to advance. He may be right. We hope he is, but when some one predicted 15-cent cotton, when it was not selling for half that much, it was then thought the fellow was just merely talking to boost the price up a little, and it may have had that effect. And it may be that 15-cent cotton will be a reality before the 1915 crop is all picked. But 20-cent cotton is almost too good to expect.

You never can tell. For the last six months the president was supposed to be kept at a high nervous tension with urgent official business and anxieties over international affairs. But evidently he was not too busy or worried to do some courting and arrange for a second marriage—the sly old fox.—Kansas City Journal.

The Gainesville Signal very truthfully and pertinently remarks: "With cotton gone past the 12-cent mark an increase in the price of the cotton is good argument that a short crop is the thing." Sure thing, Mr. Farmer. Just cut the average down 10 per cent or more next year and you will get 11 cents per pound for every pound of it.—Sherman Democrat.

Some of the eastern newspapers say that there is more money to the cotton producer when a large crop is produced than there is in a small crop but the cotton producer knows better than that. A large cotton crop possibly makes it possible for the eastern manufacturers to buy cotton at a lower price, and the cheaper they buy the raw product, the more profit there is for them in the finished article. The consumers of cotton goods rarely ever get the advantage they are entitled to when cotton is selling at a low price. The same cotton goods that were selling when cotton sold for 15 cents per pound, are now being sold at about the same price when cotton is selling at 12 cents per pound.

Temple had a religious parade through the business streets of the city Thursday night. We hope this is evidence of a healthful reaction from another kind of demonstration that occurred on the streets of this city one Friday night not many weeks ago.—Waco News.

Don't try to start anything. If you want to enlist among the reformers get out and do something to stop this everyday murder, something that you may do, and quit trying to stop lynching, something that you cannot do until you are able to prove that criminals will be punished under the law. Put this in your pipe and smoke it until you are ready to get busy doing something that is really needed. Lynching is a gentleman's pastime compared with murder that you allow to pass without serious comment.—The Temple Telegram.

Lynchings are bad for any state or community, but in most instances when lynchings occur, the cause can be traced directly to the fact that justice has miscarried. And another curious thing is that, as a rule, those whose feelings have been wounded the greatest because a lynching has taken place and who have the most to say in condemnation of mob law are the fellows who by their influence over courts and juries do more to promote lynchings and mob law than all others. When our laws against crime are so amended as to require the courts and juries to take testimony and render verdicts as the law directs, there will be fewer lynchings.

It is fifty years since the civil war closed, yet there remained at the end of the past fiscal year a total of 396,370 persons on the government's pension roll, receiving pay as "Union veterans," about 33,000 less than a year ago. The total amount paid out in pensions during the year was $156,668,000, compared with $172,417,000 the preceding year. Pension office records show that nearly 1,817,000 soldiers have died since the close of the civil war and that since that time a total of $4,614,643,000 has been paid in pensions to veterans, their widows and children. If the pension roll was an honest one, there would be no objection to paying the real surviving veterans of that war the pensions to which they are entitled under the law, but the burden of a dishonest roll is one under which the taxpayers of the Republic are increasingly crying for relief but which cry remains unanswered because of the exigencies of partisan politics.—Houston Post.

COTTON ADVANCES ON UNFAVORABLE WEATHER

On Upturn Prices Almost Reach High Record Mark for Season Then Reaction Follows

By Associated Press. New York, Oct. 13.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 17 to 20 points today and the active months sold at 29 to 33 points net higher right after the call on a renewed demand from solid lot buyers and bullish reports from Liverpool over the local holiday and an unfavorable view of weather condition. The talk in bullish circles was that the temperature had been low enough in the lower half of the belt last week to practically eliminate the possibility of any crop, while the further rains were considered in favor of smaller crop estimates, and the weather news was supposed to be largely responsible for the strength abroad. December contracts sold at 12 1/2 and January at 13 1/2 shortly after the opening or within 10 or 12 points of the season's high record but at this level there was considerable realizing on Southern cash selling and there were reactions of 9 or 10 points from the best during the early trading.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON LIVERPOOL BUYING.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Oct. 13.—Wheat struck up in price today on account of a sharp advance of quotations at Liverpool where speculative buying was reported to be on a broad scale with supplies still inadequate. Continued scarcity of arrivals of domestic spring wheat appeared to favor an upturn in values.

43 PER CENT OF MAIL IMPROPERLY ADDRESSED Writer Proposes That Double Postage be Charged on Mail Not Properly Addressed (Herbert Quick in Dallas Dispatch) A letter addressed to Zimri Squiggins, Springfield, will probably reach its mark. The postal clerks will try it on each of the 29 or more Springfield in the United States and finally one will be found in which there lives a Zimri Squiggins. If addressed to Edward Johnson

the postal clerks have a harder job; but if it were directed to Edward Johnson, Fountain street, Springfield, the clerks would send it only to Springfield in which there are Fountain streets, and even an Edward Johnson probably would get his letter. In the meantime all the forces of Postmaster General Burleson's great department would have been mobilized to solve a puzzle. It is just as much of a puzzle as if one were to superscribe a piece of mail WOOD JOHN MASS and have it delivered to John Underwood, Andover, Mass. Isn't it fine to have a postal system so efficient as to be able to work out these problems? Yes, but isn't it silly for this efficient department to work them out and to charge nothing extra for doing it? The postmaster of Chicago says that 43 per cent of the mail handled in his office is imperfectly addressed, and that it costs the government $81,000 a month or over a million dollars a year, to do the work caused by the carelessness or ignorance of people using the mails. This is a tax on all of us. That 10 millions is about twice the defect caused by rural free delivery. The burden alone is sufficient to account for the demand for the increase of second-class mail rates. Let me suggest to the postmaster general that the bad address abuse can be easily cured. Nay, more, it can be made actually to yield revenue. And in turning it from a liability to an asset, Burleson may set in motion an educative force, tending to teach us all the value of accuracy. Let all mail imperfectly addressed be delivered with its postage doubled. It is a two-cent letter, let it be marked due 2c, insufficient address. The man wishing to send mail to a person whose correct address he does not know might be allowed to buy insufficient address stamps, to pay the government for hunting it up for him.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

"The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I get sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. As all druggists.

AT THE THEATERS

The Gem. Today's offering is a play that has created quite a sensation wherever shown but the criticism has always been of the most favorable. "The Blindness of Virtue" was written by an Englishman and is now presented by Vitagraph.

This great play teaches of the stupidity of virtues which lead to vice. It convinces that the greatest danger the young girl can be subjected to grows out of her ignorance regarding certain problems of the maturing body. And this ignorance is laid on the head of her mother—whose great duty it is to open her eyes. Ellie, the girl who portrays ignorance, is played by Edna Mayo. Bryant Washburn plays opposite her as Archie, the minister's protege and protector of Ellie.

The Majestic. A two part Kaleid "The Substituted Jewel" one of the Grand Hotel mysteries a three part Vitagraph comedy Broadway Star Feature. Heavy Villains make up today's program. Kate Price, Hughie Mack, William Shea and Flora Finch are featured in the comedy.

The Empress. In "The Running Fight" featuring Violet Henning released on the Paramount program and will be seen tonight at the Empress Theatre. Peter

V. Wilkinson, a Napoleon of finance, deliberately wrecks his trust company and, unknown even to his daughter, Leslie, seizes his ill gotten gains in assets standing in her name.

Wilkinson is intimate with Madeline Braun. She visits him, tells him that she no longer loves him and that she is about to marry Illingsworth. The latter, ruined by the wreck of Wilkinson's company, attempts to shoot him. Wilkinson betrays Madeline past to Illingsworth and later the girl fires a shot through the window of Wilkinson's house, using Illingsworth's revolver, maiming him and kills his private secretary. Illingsworth is convicted of the crime.

Wilkinson finds that he cannot bribe judges and juries as easily as he thought he could. His influence however, causes Eliot, Beckman, who is in love with his daughter to be elected governor. Wilkinson now feels safe, thinking that the man who hopes to be his son-in-law, will write his pardon. Beckman, however, refuses to do so, convinced of Wilkinson's guilt. He does learn of Illingsworth's innocence and causes his release.

Later, however, on the condition that Wilkinson return the stolen money to those from whom he had taken it, Beckman consents to pardon him. Leslie and he are married and live happily ever after.

Gold Medal Awarded The Hudson Automobile

Distributors Schnell & Weaver, who represents the Hudson in Wichita Falls and vicinity, are just in receipt of advice from the factory that there has been received there the official award ribbon of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, certifying that the Hudson Motor Car Company has been given a gold medal in recognition of the excellence of its product. The jury on awards after a most searching investigation has set its official seal on the Hudson. Quality of material is 100 per cent. Design is an excellent. Adaptability to public use and demand is beyond criticism. In addition to the intrinsic merit of the car, the exposition officials testify that the Hudson Company's record, history and standing entitle it to the highest honors that may be bestowed upon it.

The decision of the jury of awards coincides with the public's verdict, said Mr. Weaver yesterday, "It confirms what already has been said of the Hudson by the buying public. The public's decision is made from a keener knowledge even than that of the exposition's jury. It is not by scientific test and examination, but by the more strenuous and accurate test of the open road."

"The motor car buyer's certificate of merit consists of his order," continued Mr. Weaver. "For a Hudson accompanied by a check for the advertised price, with freight to his home town. So many awards of this character have been bestowed upon the Hudson since June, 1913 that factory are entertained of the ability of the dealers and of the factory to deliver and build cars enough to fill all the demands. Where orders have been anticipated by the distributor and provided for by the factory for 1,000 cars, twice that number have been called for by the public."

Mrs. George Hawkins, wife of Sheriff George Hawkins, who was operated on Saturday at the Wichita Sanitarium, is reported getting along nicely and will soon be able to be moved to her home.

LONDON SALOON KEEPERS DOLEFUL OVER NEW ORDER

THE ANTI-TREATING ORDER NOW IN EFFECT

Measure to Prevent Harm to Sold of Liquor Lenders and Cuts Liquor Consumption

London, Oct. 13.—"At a meeting of the Privy Council of the British Empire, the new order of the day was announced. The new order is a measure to prevent harm to sold of liquor lenders and cuts liquor consumption."

This rather cryptic announcement, appearing in black-faced type in today's London papers, meant that the long expected "no-treating" order is now in operation throughout the greater city and that a great change must be made in the social habits of the people.

Though designed mainly to check the custom of providing free liquor to soldiers from the front—especially those who are about to desert again for the trenches—the order nevertheless is applicable to everybody, and its violation will bring upon the offender a heavy fine or imprisonment, or both.

After the order is in force, the appearance in the privacy of the home, the Londoner may not share a bottle or half a bottle with a friend. There is but one exception and that is at meal times. Then a host may provide liquor. But in all saloons, hotels and clubs the words, "What will you have?" are taboo.

Even the exclusive army clubs are affected, and members are asking many questions. For example: Can members wager whiskey and soda on a card game? Can drinks be ordered to seal a contract, or for a toast?

Is an officer leaving for the front to be denied a parting drink with his fellows? Can a glass accidentally upset be refilled?

Saloon keepers are very doleful over the outlook. They say that, with treating barred, the whole atmosphere of the saloon will be changed. Few men, it is argued, like to drink alone, and a tremendous slump in trade is predicted.

Police regulations, it is said on good authority, are about to be issued, closing all night clubs in London, during the entire period of the war. If this reform takes place, it will come as a result of a protest by military authorities that the "night club evil" has become what ought to be a period of rest and recuperation for officers on leave from the front into a prolonged debauch which leaves the men in a worse condition than when they came across from the trenches. It is commonly known that in most of the night clubs a great deal of the "club money" is spent on the purchase of drinks that are not only obtained at all hours of the day and night.

"I am in favor of closing down all night clubs for the duration of the war," said Lord Athlone, provost marshal. "Naturally enough in our supervision, we rarely detect anything. We must visit them in uniform, and it is almost impossible to effect a real surprise. As for the disreputable night clubs, they have about an army of scouts. They watch and report our movements and a club almost invariably knows in advance when we may be expected."

"They all look as innocent as tame doves when we appear. We have no doubt in our minds that liquor is obtainable at many night clubs, and that is quite another matter from going into a witness box and swearing to specific instances. While we are given supervision of those places, we have no powers to do anything except through the courts. The only satisfactory remedy is to close them all down as long as the war lasts."

CHINA BECOMES WORLD'S CHIEF PRODUCER ANTIMONY

Hankow.—As a result of the interruption of German industries, China has unexpectedly become the chief producer of antimony and Hankow is China's chief antimony center.

Before the war there was one antimony plant in Hankow and it was not operated. Now it is working and two others have been established.

More than half of the 40,000 tons of antimony required by the world last year was produced in China, chiefly in Hankow. The price of the metal is uncertain at all times and is now three times as great as before the opening of the war.

Antimony is chiefly used in peace times by the printing trade. A slight amount of the metal is necessary in making type. It is also required in treating lead for use in ammunition, but the proportion demanded is very slight. Ore from which antimony may be obtained is available in several parts of China, but in ordinary times the amount of the metal necessary to supply the world is not sufficient to justify big operations.

TRADE APLENTY. TELEPHONE

"It's in the wood," said the Senior Partner as he hung up his telephone receiver and glanced over the good, big order from a man in Blanktown, twenty five miles away.

And the Bell Toll-calls made that day brought the business with a bang. You can put this same mighty arm to work for you.

Telephone toll costs amount to a very small percentage of your sales—a thousand or so places can be reached at a small cost.

Take a talk-trip.

SOME POINTS IN COMING

PROTEST NOTE TO ENGLAND

Note Now Before President for Final Approval Before Being Sent to Great Britain

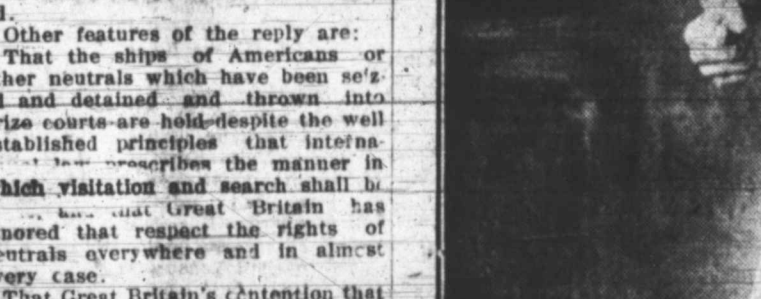

Washington, Oct. 13.-The following are some of the points which will be urged in the note the United States is soon to send to England protesting against interference with neutral commerce: First. Neither international law nor the principle of retaliation can justify the blockade, or the equivalent of a blockade, of neutral ports against the commerce of the United States or any neutral nation. Second. Great Britain with the misuse of the word "contraband" has utilized it to justify the interception of commerce with such neutral ports. Third. Great Britain has from time to time so extended her absolute contraband list that she has substantially declared all the prime articles of commerce through neutral ports will get to the German army, has made them theoretically and actually munitions of war. Fourth. The specific acts of Great Britain in establishing the "prize courts" as the judge of what are munitions of war and in actually seizing articles of commerce on that basis, have put her outside all the rules of international law and the spirit of the declaration of London. The state department holds that a blockade can only be established against a belligerent port by a sufficient naval or land force. It holds, also, that the extension of the character of contraband to prize courts is unjustifiable for the same reason, and in addition because Great Britain herself has heretofore held that it should not be considered. Other features of the reply are: That the ships of Americans or other neutrals which have been seized and detained and thrown into prize courts are held despite the well established principles that international law prescribes the manner in which visitation and search shall be made and that Great Britain has ignored that respect the rights of neutrals everywhere and in almost every case. That Great Britain's contention that the burden of proof of innocence of destination is on the American shipper is contrary to all precedents and to international law and that the United States, even in the Civil War cases cited by the British foreign office, has never held other than that the captor should present sufficient proof to hold the vessel. The whole argument of the United States is one of denial of all the points which are set up in the notes of Sir Edward Crewe. The main point in the last British communication was that Great Britain had a right to no longer consider seizures as diplomatic questions and to remit general that the Home Secretary, Sir John A. Simon, has been forced to issue a statement on the subject. The Home Secretary makes a defense of the Official Press Bureau and shifts much of the responsibility for the present criticisms to the shoulders of the special censors at the front who were appointed by General French. May Be Modified. It may be that the rigidity of the censorship will be abated before long. At any rate, the British public is gradually being given answers to some questions which it has been asking for many days. One of these answers is permitted to be given in a dispatch to the Times from a correspondent at Petrograd. "The Russians are well supplied with ammunition, says this correspondent in telling of the persistent efforts of the Germans to capture Dvinsk. "In the southeast," the correspondent adds, "General Ivanof, has won back more than half the ground he abandoned after the evacuation of Lutsk." He declares that the Germans are operating in their attacks in the Dvinsk region in spite of severe losses. Sink German Steamer. Still another answer to questions of the British public is found in a Copenhagen dispatch published here this morning. This dispatch tells of the sinking of a German coal steamer in the Calmar Sound, Sweden, by a submarine believed to have been flying the British flag. The coal steamer's crew was saved. A German ore steamer was fired upon by a British submarine and was beached to avoid being sunk. Inasmuch as Great Britain had more submarines than Germany at the beginning of the war and has been building them at a rapid rate since the beginning of hostilities, the British people were beginning to demand that they be furnished with a statement of the activities of this branch of their navy.

"CITY BEAUTIFUL" WINNERS TO BE ANNOUNCED SUNDAY

Civic League Will Distribute Prizes to Those Having Prettiest and Best Kept Premises.

The closing of the contest in the Civic League's "City Beautiful" movement which was announced for last Sunday has been a little delayed by reason of some slight changes in the plans and for that reason at the announcement of the prize winners will not be made until next Sunday, when the full list will appear in the Times.

At first it was announced that the members of the Civic League would be considered eligible to take part in this contest but after deliberation this was changed and only honorable mention will be granted to the Civic Leaguers who have the best kept yards. There have been a number of beautiful and valuable prizes given to the ladies of the League for awards in this contest and the people in the various districts have taken a great interest in the upkeep of their lawns. It is planned to make this contest a permanent affair and next year the Civic Leaguers will be allowed to enter yards and flower gardens.

BULLETIN ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

PROPOSED BY SHURTER University of Texas, Oct. 13.—The chairman of the Interscholastic League, Prof. Shurter, announces a new edition of the bulletin entitled "Woman Suffrage" as follows: "This bulletin was originally prepared primarily for use by schools in Texas belonging to the University Interscholastic League, during the year 1912-13, the question for the interscholastic debates that year being resolved, that Women in Texas should be granted the suffrage on equal terms with men. The general demand for the bulletin is so great as to justify the issue of a new edition. This bulletin will be mailed free to citizens of Texas upon application to those outside the state the price is 15 cents." The bulletin contains eight or ten pages of general reference both pro and con, including both books and magazine articles. There are seventy pages devoted to both affirmative and negative arguments on the subject.
