COGITATIONS and

APHORISMS of

Jodok

I have been playing "hokey" for the past few weeks, so far as attendance at Sunday school is concerned, but I attended again last Sunday, and must say that I enjoyed the program quite well. My only remorseful comment is in regard to the fact that the program was good enough that it was well worth the attendance of several more scores of people, but there were less than half a score there to enjoy it. Now, I am speaking with regard to the Adult Class, with which I was permitted to sit.

Well! By some sort of what I call a coincidence, the subject for discussion was "Reaction," either our own or that of one's fellowman, which, as I understand the term, means the mental attitude one has toward any subject or occurrence when first presented to him before he has had time for reflection or mental scrutiny, defined by one as spontaneous decision.

The reason I have termed this as a coincidence, is the fact that I had somewhat to say about reaction in last week's effusion, and as I understand the discussion Sunday, the consensus of opinion rather corroborated my own interpretation of the term. The reason I perceived it to be a coincidence is that it was either such or else it was a pre-established fact that had been prescribed sometime in the dim and distant past, and therefore could not have been avoided, and if that interpretation is correct there can be no such thing as a coincidence.

But a great deal more or importance was brought out in the discussion which was of vast importance and which I had never been aware of, and that it is best for one not to be ready to express a decided opinion on any matter to which he has not given some serious thought. Also the fact was brought out, that one's original reaction may be completely reversed, I learned this; that I shall try hereafter to withhold expressing my reaction to any proposal until I have had time to, at least give the matter some serious consideration. As the years go by I feel myself more and more giving way to such an attitude.

However, I was not always so disposed. There was a time, my reaction to any proposition was prompt and positive, and I was inclined to consider the matter settled, and that my reaction was bound to be correct. That is probably the reason why my friends now take the attitude that any proposition or suggestion, which I may favor is bound to be wrong simply because I happen to favor it. However, they should not do so, for in many instances my reactions are now entirely the reverse of what they formerly were, and they may be correct now, or it could be possible that they were correct in the first place and wrong now; but I feel that in instances where I was originally wrong, I am now correct, especially do I feel this to be true in regard to religion and politics. Another thing I have learned, and that is, that I shall say positively that I am right and the other fellow wrong in matters wherein we differ. I have thus, adopted the plan of reasoning all things until I arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, that is one that satisfies my own mind, but I never think of trying to convince any fellow man that I am right and he is wrong. In this manner I have become more lenient or tolerant with my neighbor's views and am less likely to needlessly wound his feelings, and thus weaken his friendship.

I have freely confessed to having attended Sunday School on Sunday and I now announce that I also attended a "March of Dimes" party given by the members of the local Square Dance Club at the American Legion Hall. I was an invited guest, and did I enjoy myself? Yes, verily. And just why should I not have enjoyed myself, for I found myself to be the guest of about thirteen couples of as fine people as can be found in Friona or any other town, all of whom are my friends and neighbors. They were all men and their wives with the exception of two young people, who were a brother and his sister, and everybody was jolly and care free and all were enjoying a light form of physical exercise and mental recreation, and form the social, business and religious stamina of our local community, and a few couples from neighboring communities.

There was not the least inference of anything rude or impolite. Everything which included the conversation, was genteel, courteous and friendly and could have been observed and listened to by any person of the most fastidious ideas, without the least cause for offense.

And did I dance? Well, I can hardly answer that in the affirmative, but I made the attempt, and did the best that my awkwardness would permit. I would have been beastly impolite had I refused, when as nice a little lady as one can hope to meet anywhere, invited me to become her partner. It was a round dance, at which I had never in my life made an attempt. As to my pose and performance, I can not testify, for I am unable to "see myself as others see me," but I, at least, did not tread on my partner's toes, which, I have been told, is what some others have done.

It had been many, many years since I had seen any square dancing, but I soon learned that there are many of the same dance figures now in use that were popular when I formerly took part in square dance parties, and by being attentive I could easily have gotten through, perhaps, with some credit to myself. But I did not undertake to do so on that occasion. I have not called this a confession, for I most assuredly had committed no imprudence. Going to criticize me? I will appreciate it, because, when you do so, you are at the same time criticizing some of the finest people in the world, for such people were, and I always appreciate being criticized for being in the company of fine people.

During the program, Mr. Gee made a short talk about the propriety of contributing to the March of Dimes campaign, and a small jar was passed through the group, with the result that $100.00 was donated to that very worthy cause. This was an entirely voluntary, and not the proceeds from the admission to the hall, for there was no admission fee charged. Also, during the program, the dancers were served with light refreshments of coffee and doughnuts. All in all, I felt greatly honored by being a guest of so large a group of such fine people. My reaction is fine. How is yours?

The Body's Head

By HERB SWINNEY
Minister of the Sixth Street Church of Christ

The scriptures teach that the church is a spiritual body with Jesus as its only spiritual head. Paul said: "For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church" (Eph. 5:23). One can not conceive of a spiritual head over a physical body or a physical head over a spiritual body. He who contends that there are two heads to the one body makes the church a monstrosity. There is just one husband to one wife and in like manner, there is just one head to the one church. Paul said: "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and man, 'the man Jesus Christ.'" (1 Tim. 2:5). To place more than one being between God and man to do violence to the scriptures. To teach that there is more than one God is no more unscriptural than to teach that there is more than one mediator. Christ is the church's only head (Col. 1:18). He is its only spiritual King (Acts 2:36). He is our Chief Shepherd (Jno. 10:16).

A. D. Smith Is Up For Re-Election As County Judge

In support of my Candidacy for County Judge of Parmer County, Texas, I submit the following. I have lived in Parmer County for eighteen years, was born and reared on the farm in Johnson County, Texas, near Grand View, graduated from High School at Grand View, Texas, and attended the University of Texas for two years, taught school in Johnson County, Texas, for two years, then came to New Mexico and taught school. I lived at Fort Sumner, De Baca County, New Mexico where I taught school for ten years. And for four years, I was Superintendent of Schools at Melrose, Curry County, New Mexico. I went to school in New Mexico and graduated from the Normal University, now Highland University, at Las Vegas, New Mexico, with an A. B. degree.

At the close of my second term as County Superintendent at Fort Sumner, I attended Law School at Cumberland University with the degree of Bachelor of Laws, took the State Bar Examination at Austin, Texas, and received license to practice law in all of the Courts of the State of Texas. I commenced practicing law at Friona, Parmer County, Texas, on October 1, 1931, and practiced law there for five years, then was elected County Attorney of Parmer County and served in this position until May 1, 1945. Since this time I have served as County Judge and Ex-officio County Superintendent of Parmer County, devoting my entire time to the duties of the office, and would appreciate your support for the coming term.

Respectfully yours,
A. D. Smith

PACKED IN ICE—When normal methods of preventing a threatened blowout of an oil well 7 miles off shore at Grand Isle, La., failed to get results, the drilling crew turned to powdered ice. The ice pack plugged the hole by freezing the mud that had packed into the drill pipe. Success of the operation was credited with preventing possible severe damage to three producing wells on the offshore drilling platform that cost $1,500,000 (m). The ice trick is not new to the oil industry, but it is a procedure that is used only on rare occasions. (AP Photo)

Immediate Protection For Children Against Diphtheria Is Urged Now

By PAUL L. SPRING, M. D.
County Health Officer

Sporadic cases of diphtheria have occurred in the Panhandle during the past two weeks. This disease is preventable and there is no reason for allowing it to occur in Parmer County.

If your child is over three months old and has not been immunized, this should be done at once. If there is any doubt about your child having adequate protection, a Schick test should be done.

The incubation period of diphtheria is short, usually between three and five days. During this time there is nothing by which a diagnosis can be made. The onset of the disease is accompanied by a little soreness of the throat and an initial temperature of from 101 degrees to 104 degrees. If seen early the throat shows slight redness, followed by a gray or white deposit on the tonsils. This membrane remains on the tonsils from three to 7 days, and a shorter time if antitoxin is given, however this membrane may spread over the entire throat. Obstruction of the throat may occur and hemorrhage from the nose is not infrequent. In severe cases the pulse is feeble, rapid and irregular. Also nervousness, restlessness and excitement occur. Anemia and muscular weakness develops. The heart action is feeble and the illness will persist for several weeks.

Diphtheria resembles many other upper respiratory infections and is difficult to diagnose early. Prevention is simple and the disease is one of the most severe that a child can endure. If your child is not protected, see your family physician as soon as possible.

W. L. EDELMAN

W. L. Edelman Is Not Candidate For Sheriff But Judge

The Star deeply regrets the commission of the deplorable mistake made in last week's issue of the Star, in the matter of W. L. Edelman's announcement for the office of County Judge and ex-officio County School Superintendent for Parmer County.

So far as the announcement as stated on page one of the issue, the wording was correct, the only error there being in the omission of Mr. Edelman's picture at the top of the announcement. The most deplorable part of the matter was the placing of the picture on page two, with the wording that Mr. Edelman is a candidate for the office of Sheriff, Assessor and Collector, thus being a completely erroneous statement.

Therefore, be it remembered that Mr. Edelman is a candidate for the office of county Judge and ex-officio County School Superintendent, and let us further state that he is a fully qualified in every respect, for the correct discharge of any and all duties of the office he seeks, and we most humbly beg your pardon, Mr. Edelman, for the gross error in last week's issue.

Bradley Family Back From Ft. Worth Trip

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bradley returned home early this week from an extended visit with relatives and other friends at Fort Worth and other points in Central and West Texas.

During their travels they met with a car accident, but fortunately neither of them was seriously injured, but their car was badly damaged which caused them several days delay at Fort Worth while the car was being repaired. Their many friends here are delighted to have them safely at home again.

"Farm Bureau Insurance, Raymond Euler," Whittaker Family Back To Illinois

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Whittaker, whose home is in Eastern Illinois, who had been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McLean, returned to their home early last week.

Mr. Whittaker is a nephew of Mrs. McLean, and in former years had worked extensively in the West including the Panhandle, as an oil well driller, and was well acquainted with this country, and planned to visit a number of places with which he was at one time well acquainted. The Whittakers now have extensive holdings of land lying near the Wabash river, some of which is subject to overflow, and the report of the continually rising waters, caused him to cut his visit short, as they had considerable cattle on their land that was subject to overflow.

1949 Parmer County Invested In War Bonds More Than 1948

The people of Parmer County invested $191,956.25 in U. S. Savings Bonds during 1949, according to the annual sales report received today by Frank A. Spring, county Savings Board chairman, from Nathan Adams of Dallas, state chairman. This compares with sales of $89,635.00 for 1948.

Of the 1949 total, Series E, the so-called "people's bond" accounted for $84,856.25, as compared with $74,835.00 E bond sales in 1948. Series F and G sales were $107,100.00 as compared with $14,800.00 in 1948.

Total sales for the entire state were $191,499,089, as compared with $106,448,280 in 1948. Mr. Adams report said, "This is a decline of 2.5 per cent. However, Mr. Adams declared that sales last year were highly satisfactory in view of economic trends and because of a 3.9 per cent increase in the sale of E bonds, from $139,591,216 in 1948 to $145,114,738 in 1949. Series F and G bonds accounted for $46,384,361 of the state's sales total last year.

Mr. Adams said that the people of Texas today hold more than $1.5 billion in Savings Bonds, a substantial share of which are owned by citizens of this county. These savings, he added, give the community, as well as the individual owners, a high degree of financial stability.

Emmett Day Is Candidate For Commissioner

E. R. (Emmett) Day, present County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, of Parmer County, this week authorizes the Friona Star to announce his name as a candidate for re-election to that office, subject to the results of the Democratic Primary Election.

Mr. Day has just completed the first half of his first term in the office, and states that, if re-elected, he will give of his best efforts toward the faithful and competent discharge of the duties of the office in a manner that will meet the approval of the people of the Precinct, using the experience gained during the past year to the best of his ability. Mr. Day further states: "I always appreciate your suggestions, as through this means we can have a more representative government. Mr. Day will appreciate your support and influence during the campaign and at the polls."

Square Dance Club Donates To Fund

The members of the "Chase the Squirrel Club" held a "March of Dimes" party at the American Legion Hall, Saturday night, which proved to be one of the most successful and entertaining affairs the club has sponsored.

There were about 19 couples present, including some from Bovins and Farwell clubs, and the program consisted of Square Dance Round dances, Schottisches, Polkas, Virginia Reel and other folk dances, with all present taking part.

Toward the close of the program, refreshments of doughnuts and coffee were served and a receptacle for donations to the "March of Dimes" fund was passed around with the results that $109.00 was contributed to that noble cause, $17.00 of which was donated by the club, thus increasing the pleasure of the occasion.

Cars received from connections totaled 9,465 compared with 10,407 for same week in 1949. Total cars moved were 29,969 compared with 31,754 for same week in 1949. Santa Fe handled a total of 30,953 cars in preceding week of this year.

Lee Sudderth Brings In Largest Of Irrigation Wells In Parmer County

Lee Sudderth, who is, perhaps the largest farm operator in Parmer County, last week brought in, what is considered the largest deep well, or the deepest large irrigating well in the county.

This new well produces a ten-inch stream of water, and the pump is set at the depth of 320 feet below the surface. It is stated that there are other ten-inch wells but they are not so deep, and there are other deeper wells, but not so large as this one.

Mr. Sudderth lives a few miles southeast of Bovina and owns a large number of sections of land, that are located in various parts of the Bovina and Parmer areas of the county, and on these sections he now has or soon will have 5 10-inch wells, and 14 8-inch wells, and has arranged to have five or six more sunk in the Parmer area during the coming year. He is planning to spend $300,000.00 in new irrigating wells during the summer of 1950. This new and deepest 10-inch well in the county, is located west of Parmerton Switch, and is the first of nine wells that will be sunk in that area within the near future. Altogether, it is estimated that there will be from 40 to 60 new wells put down in Parmer County, during this year.

Equipment in the way of pumps and engines, is being supplied largely by Friona dealers. The engine on this new 10-inch well, was supplied by the Parmer County Implement Company, and is shown in the picture accompanying this story. The man at the front of the engine is Bud Crump, an employee of the P. C. I. Co.

It is understood that there are now five well-drilling outfits at work in the Parmer County area, mostly adjacent to Friona, and that the lack of greenness is probably due to the effect of the recent low temperatures.

Wheat Prospects On Par With 1949

According to reports received at the Star office, the conditions of the wheat crop is about on a par with previous years at this time of the year.

In the north part of Parmer and the south part of Deaf Smith, according to reports, some fields are looking green and thrifty, while others are not looking so well but those who have made examinations report that there is still plenty of moisture in all the fields at a very few inches below the surface.

Further south in Parmer, and Deaf Smith, it seems that, while the crops are making some growth, only those that have irrigation facilities are making the most growth and greenness.

It is stated by those who have made the investigation, that there is still a goodly amount of moisture in the soil.

Word has been received to the effect that Mrs. Ed White, who has been in the local hospital for the past ten days, suffering from an attack of pneumonia, is steadily improving and is expected to be able to return to her home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Baker were Hereford visitors, Tuesday forenoon.

Herring Company Has Show Monday

The Herring Implement Company, whose place of business is in the north part of town, on the north side of Highway "69" had a very successful day Monday when they entertained about 500 or maybe 600 people, mostly farmers, at their place of business.

During the forenoon, they put on a number of field demonstrations showing the efficiency of many of the farm machinery and implements that are handled by the company. Also, during the forenoon, a nice picture show was given at the Regal Theatre, as a free treat to the school pupils of Friona and neighboring towns and communities, and during the afternoon, another free show was presented for the benefit and entertainment of all adults.

However, what seemed to be the highlight of the day's program was the bountiful dinner of barbecue meats and all the other foods that usually accompany a high class barbecue. It is estimated that between five and six hundred people enjoyed this excellent dinner.

Masons Might Buy Building Here

At a meeting of the Friona Masons Monday night in the Methodist Church annex, it was voted that a corporation be formed to purchase a building, the lower floor of which would be rented to some business concern, and the upper floor would be leased to the Masons.

The cost was estimated to be around $16,000.00, of which shares would be sold to members of the corporation at $10.00 per share. This would make the cost per Mason in the vicinity of Friona at about $130.00. From the 24 men present, Monday night, nearly one third of the amount needed, was raised, and it is assumed that the other Masons who were not present, will be more than glad to do their part in the effort. Anyone desiring to do so may contact Ralph Roden, W. M. Stewart, Leo McLellan, Artis Fallwell, who are members of the Finance Committee.

This off-center fireplace, combined in one structural unit with a bold pattern of bookshelves, is a modern decoration idea presented by American Builder magazine. Wood, marble and brick were the materials used. The fireplace is faced with marble. The low setback to one side of the fireplace is of brick. Edward B. Hawkins of Denver, Colo., designed the unit for a home he built.

HOW TO DO IT

Patching Hole in Wall

When an electrical outlet box or switch has been removed from a plaster wall, patching the hole can be difficult if the lata was cut out. American Builder magazine suggests this method of doing the job.

Cut a piece of stiff cardboard a little larger than the hole. Punch a tiny hole in the center of the cardboard and slip one end of a piece of string through the hole. Knot the other end of the string with a knot big enough not to slip through the hole too.

While holding the loose end of the string, push the cardboard through the hole in the wall. Hold the cardboard firmly in place by pulling the string taut. At the same time, fill the hole with plaster. When the plaster has hardened, cut off the string flush with the wall and smooth the spot with sandpaper.

Texas Legislature To Meet Tuesday To Make Hospital Appropriations

Next Tuesday, January 31, the Texas Legislature will meet in special session to make appropriations for our state hospitals. The bill for food, clothing, medical care and badly needed buildings and repairs will run at least $25,000,000 for the year beginning next September 1.

That is a lot of money — especially when the State doesn't have it, as it does not at the present time.

Letters coming to the Governor's Office from over the State indicate that a good many citizens do not fully understand the present situation. The Governor is often called upon to answer such questions as these:

1. Why is it necessary to have a special session of the Legislature?
2. Why wasn't the state hospital program properly financed at the regular session a year ago?
3. Why do we say that the State has no money for the hospitals, when the Treasurer's Report shows we have around $50,000,000 in the General Revenue Fund and about $120,000,000 in other state funds?

4. What went with that $100,000,000 surplus we were supposed to have had a year ago?
5. Why can't the appropriations for other things be reduced so as to provide for the elementary institutions without raising taxes?

These are perfectly logical questions, and they deserve logical answers. To inform the people about this problem, which is theirs just as it is the Legislature's and the Governor's, I will try to set down the pertinent facts of the situation.

To begin with, our State hospitals are badly run down. Little has been done in a number of years to improve, add to or even maintain the buildings at Austin, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Rusk, Terrell, San Antonio and other long-established hospitals for mental cases and epileptics. The tuberculosis hospitals at Tyler and Mission are army camps; the Meira hospital for senile and mentally deficient children is a former German prisoner of war camp.

Some places are worse than others, but in general we find the hospitals badly overcrowded and many buildings unsafe. The Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools, which has charge of these institutions, estimates that it would take more than $40,000,000 just to eliminate the firetraps and add enough buildings to care in an adequate way for the unfortunate people who are in these institutions today. I have personally inspected nearly all of these hospitals.

This is not a problem that developed overnight, but one that has been building up over a long period of years. The Legislature tried in 1941 and again in 1943 to do something about the existing needs. One appropriation was vetoed by the then Governor, then the war came along and the building program was suspended for the duration.

The late Governor Jester recognized the crying needs of the state hospitals for more buildings, more doctors, more nurses and better facilities for treatment. He advocated a large appropriation for buildings, as well as a larger operating budget. The Legislature last year was sympathetic with his ideas, but heavy appropriations for other purposes used up most of the available revenues. On top of that, a sharp cut in Texas oil production caused an estimated $22,000,000 drop in tax receipts. Announcing he was not satisfied to see the job only halfway done, Governor Jester vetoed the state hospital appropriations for the second year of the biennium.

(the year September 1, 1950, to August 31, 1951). At the same time he promised he would have the Legislature together in January, 1950 to provide for the state hospital operation and building needs.

A few days after that promise was made, the Legislature received shocking news that Governor Jester was dead. His promise, however, must be kept. Otherwise, when another fiscal year begins next September 1, there will be no funds for food, clothing and care for the more than 23,000 people who are now in our insane asylums, tuberculosis hospitals, epileptic hospital and the special schools for the blind, deaf and otherwise physically handicapped.

I think these facts will suffice to answer the first two questions: Why is a special session of the Legislature necessary, and why hasn't the Legislature already provided the necessary funds? Actually, as has been shown, these two questions are one and the same. The thing that matters most now is that the funds have NOT been provided—and they must be.

What happened to the State's money? In another article I will attempt to answer that question with official figures from the State's books. The people of Texas certainly have a right to know.

Breakfast Is Mighty Important For Worker

Breakfast is a mighty important meal and if you want to be an efficient worker, you'll be wise to take the advice of the experts and add some protein-rich foods to your breakfast menu. Louise Mason, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College, says that scientists in the USDA now have the evidence to prove that a protein-rich breakfast can do more to stave off fatigue hours longer than a morning meal with less protein.

Over a period of two years, says Miss Mason, the breakfasts tested ranged from a cup of black coffee to a hearty meal that included eggs and bacon. Those in the experiment consistently reported a sense of well-being when the breakfast contained the larger amounts of protein. Their feelings agreed with the record of their blood-sugar level, the physiological indicator of the body's response to different meals, used in the study.

The favorable feeling of well-being seemed to depend more on the amount and quality of the protein in a breakfast than on the calories from starch, sugar or fat, says Miss Mason. The influence of a breakfast with plenty of protein lasted even into the afternoon, when the workers in the test ate a light lunch of a sandwich and coffee.

It is an advantage to provide about one third of the day's protein allowance in the breakfast, says Miss Mason and some of it should come from such top-quality foods as milk, eggs, and lean meats.

Miss Mason suggests that a copy of the Texas Food Standard will help you figure out the daily food requirements for your family and you can get a copy from your local county home demonstration agent.

Plenty Of Fryers And Broilers Are On The Market

Farm prices in most of the major fryer and broiler producing areas of the Southwest have dropped four to five cents per pound since early January and they are now averaging about 10 cents per pound lower than one year ago.

The southwest area office of M's Food Distribution Programs Branch in Dallas reports that supplies are plentiful and they are urging consumers to take advantage of the situation. The lower prices, they say, can help the homemaker balance her family's food budget and at the same time help the producer to report that present selling prices are below their cost of production.

The extension foods and nutrition specialists of Texas A&M College, say that fryers and broilers can be used to take care of many of the meat requirements for the family. They point out that there are many different ways to prepare fryers and broilers for the family table and recommend that consumers try several of the different methods of preparation. They are always good friend, baker or broiler but try barbecuing a few. The specialists suggest that you visit your local county home demonstration agent's office and pick up a few of the recipes for preparing chicken and meat dishes.

They say now is a mighty good time to store some extras in the freezer-locker box or the home freezer. They will come in handy when unannounced guests drop in for lunch and, too, the family will appreciate changes in the menu. They conclude that the wise shopper will look for these poultry bargains on the next trip to the grocery store.

THE WEATHER

During the past fortnight or more, the weather of the Friona Territory has been pretty much of a sameness, with now and then a few cold days and several rather windy days, with some dirt moving, but not excessively so. Withal, the days have been bright and unusually balmy for mid-winter weather.

There has been no snow, but a few little drizzles of rain have fallen, barely enough to wet the surface of the pavements, but no mud has resulted, and the effect of these small drizzles upon the fields and crops has been nil. But, as a balance to that, there has been no serious damage or injury to the growing wheat from the gusty days.

As this is being written at 8:00 o'clock Thursday morning, there is no wind, the sky is clear and the thermometer standing at about 30.

KITCHEN MEMO
BY JEAN CLARKE

Like ripe olives, some people love bread pudding others abhor it. Molasses Bread Pudding, because of its high flavor, will convert the bread pudding-haters in your family. It contains plenty of body-building iron. Arrange 10 slices diced stale bread in a well-greased baking dish. Beat together 2 eggs, 2 tbsps. molasses, 2 tbsps. sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt. Add 2 cups scalded milk, 2 tbsps. melted butter and pour over the bread cubes. Put baking dish in pan of hot water and bake in moderate gas oven of 350° F. for one hour or until firm. Serves 6.

A coarse quarter-inch wire mesh fastened under the register of your gas floor furnace will catch dust particles. Clean it occasionally to keep free passage for hot air.

Added flavor for gravy: Stir in a bouillon cube while the gravy is cooking.

Store meat or poultry unwrapped in your gas refrigerator because contact with the air delays spoiling.

The rusty scale that drops down from the bottom of your automatic gas water heater should be brushed off the burner about twice a year.

While your noodle soup is simmering on the top burner, add chopped green pepper and chopped pimiento. Or parsley can take the place of the pepper.

Homemaking, Chores Made Easier By Simplifying Work Problems

Home demonstration club members in eight central Texas counties know that homemaking chores can be made easier, because they are using simplified methods in their own homes. They have studied each job, step by step, and have then used this information to work out the simplified, time and labor saving methods they now employ.

Last winter, says Bess Edwards, extension district agent, several leadership training schools were held in her district, by the home management specialists of Texas A&M College for the purpose of training county home demonstration agents and work simplification leaders from the local clubs. These local leaders in turn held meetings and gave demonstrations in their clubs for the other members and before the year was over a lot of things had been done.

In Hood county, the 17 trained leaders held demonstration meetings in seven different communities with 210 women attending. Their work was featured by the county home demonstration agent when a float on work simplification was entered in a county-wide reunion parade. It was a winner. They have simplified such household chores as ironing, dish washing, bed making and the arrangement of utensils in the kitchen.

As a result of the training program in Hill county, more than 250 women have worked out new methods for doing at least one house-keeping job. The trained leaders gave demonstrations to 973 women in the county. They included in their work the home laundry, portable shelves for the kitchen cabinets, rearrangement of sewing cabinet, ironing aids and many have rearranged their kitchen equipment to save steps and labor.

In McLennan county, emphasis has been placed on better arrangements for the home sewing center, bringing the pressing equipment into the center and organizing the garment construction job in an orderly manner to save time and unnecessary handling. Simplified methods have been used by 496 home demonstration club members. Twenty-five families have improved or added a business center to their home. To save time in setting the family table, women have learned how to make and use metal trays. The local county home demonstration agent conducted a training school for 35 leaders and the result—344 trays have been made.

The 40 women and 4-H girls who were trained in work simplification in Palo Pinto county through demonstrations have trained 392 others. Their program has featured better and easier ways to do the family ironing, converting a baby buggy into a cart that is used to make transporting and hanging the laundry wash a less back-breaking job and adding and rearranging the kitchen cabinets.

Work simplification methods have been applied by 143 Boone county homemakers to their household tasks. Five families have added business centers, 19 have assembled and are using household kits and six have added wide ironing boards to their home equipment.

In Falls county, leadership slides have been made of the kitchen improvement work carried out by Mrs. A. E. Godwin of the State community club in a local club demonstration. The slides were shown as the feature of the annual community achievement program. They have been used in other communities in the county to show what can be done when jobs are tackled in a systematic way.

Miss Edwards reports that the program has been well received and that plans have already been made to continue and expand it during 1950. She says the time and labor saved as a result of the program has made it possible for the women to participate in many community activities and it all adds up to better rural living in extension district eight.

SUNDOWNERS WAS FILMED IN PALO DURO CANYON.—"The Sundowners," the Technicolor saga of a Texas cattleman's feud, which opened Wednesday at the Star Theatre in Hereford is distinctive for its wide departure from the customary formula for westerns, even those of the super variety. There is no action in the story, no chase and the hero and the villain work together—up to the crashing climax. The girl is not the unusual unmarried maiden, but is, instead, the wife of a minor character. Robert Sherman and Cathy Downs are pictured here in a scene from the thrilling story of a classic Texan ranch war.

DA Joe Sharp Pays Friona Short Visit

The honorable Joe Sharp of Plainsview, District Attorney for the 94th Judicial District, was a business visitor at Friona, a part of the day Wednesday, and while here visited the Star office with a short, but appreciative visit.

Mr. Sharp is now serving his first term as D. A., and has met remarkable success in the discharge of his official duties, as is evident from the fact that he is to be re-elected to another term in the office.

O. J. Boone of the City Drug Store, reports that the donations to the March of Dimes, collected at the drive here Saturday had not been counted, but there was a steady number of dimes in the box. Free coffee was served during the day, Saturday, by the store, and a dinner for each cup was supposed to be donated to the party fund. O. J. stated that they served 400 cups of coffee that day.

Choice Of Pecan Tree Determines How It Will Bear

The choice you make at planting time will determine the kind of pecans you harvest when the tree begins to bear. That is the reason, says J. E. Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A&M College, why you should choose with care the variety or varieties you'll soon be planting.

Hutchison recommends only published varieties and for eastern Texas they include the Moore, a heavy yielding medium-sized pecan; the Success, a large semi-oval nut of excellent quality; the Desirable, which is large and prolific; the Stuart, an old favorite that is disease resistant and a heavy producer of large pecans and the Mahan, a nice sized pecan with fair internal quality. For Central Texas, Hutchison recommends the Success, Desirable, Mahan and Schley. The best varieties for the western part of the state, according to Hutchison are Burrett, a large oval pecan that bears well and produces an excellent nut; the Western Schley, which produces a long type nut and a good yield and the San Saba Improved, which produces a medium-sized pecan of excellent quality.

These varieties have all been grown and tested in the areas for which they are recommended and Hutchison says they can be purchased from your local nurseryman.

He recommends that you buy trees from three to five feet in height for they are generally considered the most practical for transplanting. Here is his advice on setting the tree. Prepare a hole about three feet in diameter and from three to four feet deep. Place the tree in the center of the hole and spread the roots out in their normal position. Then fill the hole with soil and pack it firmly around the roots. When the hole is about re-filled, pour in several buckets of water then finish filling the hole with loose top soil. The water will settle the soil around the roots and will also give the new tree the moisture it needs for a successful start. After the tree is planted, he says to cut back about one third of the top growth. This will help balance the top with the root system and will usually insure more rapid growth.

When the young tree starts growing, give it plenty of water. Keep the soil moist, and during the hottest and driest part of the summer you may find it necessary to water the tree every week or 10 days. Hutchison says once a pecan tree becomes well established, it does not need as much care as other fruit trees. That's reason enough he concludes for giving it the kind of a start it needs to become well established in a few years.

Word has been received from Rev. George E. Myer, now of Baker, Montana, stating that he will arrive in Friona on Friday, February 3rd to assume his duties as pastor of the local congregation - Christian Church. Further announcement will be made in next week's issue of the Star.

Give Us Back Our Sidewalks, Slim!

I wrote that over an article in the Clarion last week, but I didn't like doing it. After all, the man it was aimed at—Slim Henderson—is a good friend of mine.

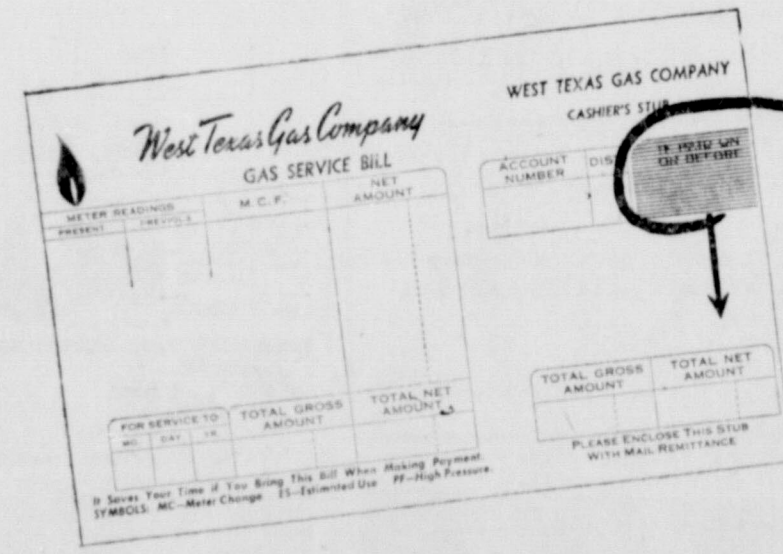

Slim came into quite a windfall last month, and bought the old Clarke place. The deed gave him title to all the land—right down to the street. Then Slim started to take up the sidewalk to make his lawn look better.

I felt it wasn't fair to the town and said so in my article. Next morning Slim comes around and wants to know what I mean—getting folks riled against him. I felt ornery myself, and we had quite a set-to over the whole business. From where I sit, that was foolish. Once we'd cooled off (over lunch and a bottle of beer at Andy's Tavern), Slim decided the sidewalks should stay—for the common good and I promised next time I'd take a good look at the other fellow's point of view before writing any articles about him!

BIBLE COMMENT FOR JAN. 29

Blessing of Christian Gospel Is for Everyone

If we could transport ourselves back through 20 centuries, and see just as it was the world and the environment in which Jesus and His little band of disciples laid the foundations of Christianity, and the Christian church, we should understand something of the wonderment of that beginning, and the seeming miracle of how the church took root and grew.

We can hardly conceive how small, in an outward sense, was the beginning, in an environment little larger than the smallest American state, in a country itself almost insignificant in size, among the great and powerful empires of that ancient world.

The marvel and the explanation of the growth of Christianity are seen in the teaching and mission of the Master, and in the faith and vision that He inspired in His disciples. As if He might have been speaking from Rome, the center of world power, instead of from villages insignificant in the eyes of Rome, He announced His mission as worldwide. He commissioned His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel to all the world, even to its very ends, and he assured them that everywhere He would be with them.

But what was even more significant was the fact that this gospel was for every creature—that in a world in which class distinctions were strong, and the great mass of humanity was in some form of slavery or bondage. The universality and power of that gospel, also, soon became manifest. It was not long until there were saints in Caesar's household (Philippians 4:22), and almost from the beginning slaves found a new inward peace and freedom in their outward bondage. Master and slave, rich and poor, Jew and Gentile, all had their place in that fellowship in Christ, where there were no distinctions, but Christ was all and in all (Colossians 3:11).
