Commissioners Court Reviewed by Graham

Following is a report of the proceedings of the Commissioners Court of Parmer county at its regular session on Monday, November 12, as given in last week's issue of the State Line Tribune, which will be of interest to citizens of the eastern part of the county:

Members of the Parmer county commissioners' court voted at their meeting here Monday to turn down every proposition yet offered them by the state for the paving of two highways through this county.

The state had offered to pave way 33 from this city toward Abilene and highway 7 from here to Abilene county line, if the state would furnish the right of way for the roads. Commissioners considered, however, the state's ultimatum, that to receive free pavement, highway 33 be routed north of the Santa Fe tracks through this county. Attempts of local county officials and members of the state highway department to reach a compromise unsuccessful.

At the meeting of the court Monday Commissioner Lee Thompson of the Farwell precinct, moved to decide definitely against the state of a right of way on the side of the railroad tracks, and only Commissioner J. M. W. Alexander voted against the motion. Commissioners were opposed to the promised new route because it would miss two of the towns in this county. A motion subsequently made by Commissioner Alexander that a vote be held on the proposal so that the will of the people might be ascertained died for lack of a second motion. Commissioner Thompson moved to refuse to furnish a right of way for the paving of highway 7. There was no argument as to where the highway to be routed, and its construction would have required only a road bed along the present route. Commissioners refused to pave one road without paving the other.

The court refused to grant the road asked by a petition headed by H. M. Stokes for the reason that the road was not needed and would not be traveled by enough people. Geo. Eads was appointed official headlight tester at Farwell, and Ernest Englant was awarded a similar office at Bovina. Bills were paid, and the court voted to pay W. W. Hall $15 for expenses which the sheriff had paid personally.

What About the Dog License?

The dog ordinance has been passed by the city commission. The license tags have been ordered by the city secretary. The tags have arrived and a few of them sold, but the commission has made no definite arrangement for either the collection or disposal of the license and many people are asking, "What about the dog license?" It is not hard to get the commission to pass an ordinance, but it is a hard time to enforce it. The city commission should take it for granted that the people ought to know that they have passed it.

Highway News.

Just as we are preparing our last bit of copy for the printer, information reaches the Star office to the effect that the highway committee of the local chamber of commerce has received some encouraging word on the proposition for securing the paving of at least a part of state highway No. 33 in Parmer county. Nothing definite, just encouraging.

Short Course to Dwell On Value of Dairy Cattle

The South needs more dairy cattle. Dairy farmers are always prosperous. The dairy community is a prosperous community. What the dairy cow produces today is sold tomorrow. The range of prices on which dairy products are produced is the same as the range of prices on which they are sold.

The South needs more dairy cattle. This is a matter in which we are all vitally interested.

H. S. Mobley of the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester Company, has agreed to conduct in cooperation with local committees, a big meeting in Friona. At this meeting dairy farming will be discussed.

Mr. Mobley is a practical southern farmer. He knows from actual experience how to produce dairy products on a southern farm at a good profit. He knows how to ship them from that southern farm to a profitable market. He is coming at the invitation of local people to help us solve the dairy problem.

Mr. Mobley is a noted speaker and a leader in community development. He has been talking dairy farming and other subjects all over the South and newspapers everywhere speak highly of his meetings. The Lincoln, North Carolina, Times says:

"Mr. Mobley is a practical farmer and interesting talker. His talks are full of good, practical ideas and he has interesting things to tell the people."

The meeting promises to be one of the real events of the season. Admission will be free and everyone will be welcome.

J. L. Landrum Adds to His Flock of Sheep

J. L. Landrum, who purchased 1000 head of lambs last week and placed on the L. T. Camp farm, this week has landed 900 head of good ewes in Friona. The last shipment of sheep was taken to the M. Lacy and Everett Talbot farms northwest of town where they were placed on pasture. It is reported that W. Y. Preston will have charge of the last flock, while Mr. Camp and son will look after the flock of lambs on their farm.

Closes Garage.

Lee Johnson, who has been operating a repair garage in the J. W. Parr building on Fifth Street for the past several months, packed his tools, closed his doors and departed. It appears that Mr. Johnson had not made known his intentions of leaving Friona, and that none of the people here know of his present location.

Oil Truck and Car Collide Near Dawn

What might have been a serious mishap occurred on state highway No. 33 near Dawn, when Fred Rodgers, who drives an oil truck for the Friona Consumers Company, collided with a Dodge car and wrecked the car seriously. This occurred Friday afternoon of last week.

Both the car and truck were traveling westward, and, according to the information received at the Star office, when Mr. Rodgers first came up with the car it was trailing a school bus and the boys in the car were talking with the pupils in the bus. Mr. Rodgers, thinking that the car would thus trail the bus for quite a distance, steered his truck to the left side of the road in order to pass the car and the bus, but just as he came closer to the car its driver also without warning, it is said, steered to the left to pass the bus and came directly in the way of the truck and a collision was inevitable.

Happily, however, no one was injured, but it required $40.00 to repair the damage done to the car. This the Consumers Company would have willingly paid, but the owner of the car demanded $400 damages and had Mr. Rodgers arrested on two charges, that of attempting to pass another car without giving warning and for speeding.

At his trial on the first charge, which took place at Hereford Tuesday, Mr. Rodgers was acquitted. He will stand trial on the second charge at Hereford on Tuesday of next week.

Ducks and Geese Attract Early Morning Hunters

All indications point to the fact that duck shooting in this locality is still good and drawing plenty of shooters. Each morning those living on roads leading to the country are aroused long before the break of day by the whirr of automobiles passing their homes, all headed countryward and evidently driven by men who are intent on being the first to arrive at some selected lake and be the first to occupy some advantageous position for early duck shooting.

Not only are ducks being bagged in considerable numbers, but reports are coming in daily of the large numbers of wild geese that are to be found at some of the lakes, and several hunters are reported to have been quite successful in bringing home a number of these larger fowls.

Complaints are still heard from farmers that the ducks and geese are destroying their crops that are yet in the fields. J. A. Guyer stated that he was out to the home of his son, William, Wednesday afternoon and found that he had a field of good hegarl which is now in the shock and that ducks had literally cleaned all the grain from the outer bundles of each shock.

The hot water heater at the high school building exploded Wednesday about noon.

F. W. Reeve, A. A. Crowe and F. N. Welch were business visitors in Hereford Tuesday.

Visiting Relatives Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harry drove to Lubbock Wednesday afternoon and returned late in the evening accompanied by his mother and sister, Mrs. Bertha and Miss Ruth Harry, who will spend the Thanksgiving vacation visiting relatives here, including their mother and grand mother, Mrs. M. E. Sympson, with whom they ate their Thanksgiving dinner.

Funds for Relief of Needy May be Had This Winter

There is no need for suffering in our county this winter. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has set aside funds for the relief of the needy during the winter, and these funds are now available.

The relief work is divided into precincts corresponding to the county commissioners precincts, and an organization is being perfected in each of these precincts to handle the relief work than then arises.

Relief is given by assigning jobs to those needing help, upon some community project or public improvement, and the amount of this help is dependent upon the number of days work done by each person.

This is in no sense an alms or dole, and folks should have no hesitancy or false pride in taking advantage of it, since one is required to put in a full day's work and he earns every dollar that he gets.

People who need the money that will be paid for this work are strongly urged to apply for the work and take advantage of the opportunity offered.

It is suggested by the committee in charge that everyone needing relief work should make application at once, so that his name will be on file as soon as possible. In that way plans can be made in advance to give jobs to everyone needing relief. Too, it is desired to spread this relief as widely as possible over the precinct, thereby giving as many persons work as jobs and funds will permit. If you feel that you will need this work, make application at once with J. A. Blackwell, if you live in the local commissioner's precinct, and he will be glad to give you any information available concerning any relief matter that you may desire.

Home for Thanksgiving.

Misses Mary and Esther Reeve and Hadley and Gleen Reeve, who have been away at school, Miss Mary teaching at Borger, the others attending W. T. S. T. C., returned home Wednesday evening to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with home folks. They were accompanied by three young ladies, who are classmates at Canyon.

School Vacation.

School was dismissed Wednesday afternoon for the week in honor of the Thanksgiving vacation. Some of the teachers went to their homes to spend Thanksgiving, Superintendent and Mrs. Heath going to Lubbock, and several of them remaining in Friona.

Robert L. Hicks, Old Citizen, Dies Suddenly

Many were the expressions of sadness and regret when it was learned late Friday afternoon that R. L. Hicks, prominent citizen and former business man of Friona, had suddenly passed away while standing in front of his restaurant south of the railroad.

It appears that Mr. Hicks had not been in robust health for some time and was a sufferer from asthma. He had but a few minutes before his death returned from a trip to the office of Dr. Willis, where he had gone for treatment, and on his return was seized with a violent fit of coughing, which resulted in a pulmonary hemorrhage which caused his death within a few minutes.

The body was taken to an undertaker at Hereford, and on Sunday morning was shipped to San Saba, the home of his parents, for burial.

Mr. Hicks had been a resident of Friona the past 12 years or more, and had been identified with the city's business interests in various lines. He came here as owner and operator of the telephone system, which he later disposed of and opened a wholesale and retail oil and filling station on the lots south of the railroad, where his present business block now stands. His oil business later developed into a cafe and grocery store, with which he did an immense business, his benevolent disposition kept him from making a splendid financial success. His original building burned and with it his entire stock of merchandise, and from that it seemed that disaster in business matters had him marked, but he was an aggressive business man and never gave up.

Robert L. Hicks was one of the most kind-hearted of men, and could never see a fellow being suffer for the necessities of life if he was able to relieve it. He was always ready to share his room and board with the fellow who was down and out and in sore need, and he was just as ready to fly to the relief of the man who had plenty, when such a man was in any kind of need. Wherever he was and he saw a thing needing to be done, he was always ready to do it or lend a hand in getting it done. His genteel and chivalrous disposition could not help but win the approval of those with whom he came in contact.

Of his immediate family here, he leaves two sons, Elton and Bethel, and his brother, Frank Hicks, beside a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Annual Bazaar.

The Methodist ladies will hold their annual Bazaar on Saturday, December 3.

Everyone is invited to take part in this sale in some way. Please donate something to sell, or come and purchase something that has been donated. Your patronage will be appreciated.

M. A. Crum was a business visitor in Friona Wednesday.

George M. Baker returned Sunday from Abilene where he spent part of last week attending the Baptist Convention.

The Call of Peter and Andrew.

"And Jesus said unto them." His first call, given at the fords of the Jordan, was to discipleship; this was a call to apostleship. After the first call they went back to their customary work, but this was a summons to full-time service. "Come ye after me." Walk my way, here and there and everywhere, over the flint-strewn, narrow, rocky pathways of Palestine. Come after me, into the midst of trials, into poverty, to obloquy and death. It was a summons to heroic unselfishness. "And I will make you to become fishers of men." Christ takes men as he finds them, and bids them transform their ordinary occupations into divine stewardship.

The Call of James and John.

"And going on a little further, he saw James the son of Zebedee." This was the James who, on account of his fiery zeal, became the first martyr among the apostles. He and his brother were nicknamed "Boanerges," meaning "Sons of thunder." "And John his brother." Probably the youngest of the twelve apostles, as he lived longer than any, dying at the age of nearly a hundred. He was hardly more than a boy—a wonderful boy—at this time. He had greater insight into Christ's teachings than any other disciples, as his Gospel proves. He also wrote the Revelation and three Epistles became pastor of the church of Ephesus and was sent into exile on the island of Patmos. It is probable that Salome, the mother of James and John, was a sister of Mary of Nazareth, so were his cousins.

"And straightway he called them." Perhaps with the same words addressed to Peter and Andrew. "And they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after him." "The hired servants are there to help their father to carry on the work from which they were called away." "God has a plan for every man's life and his will is discoverable for every life. A means toward the discovery of his will is the practice of stewardship."

O. G. Turner was in Amarillo Wednesday attending to business.

Congregational Church Notes.

There was a larger attendance than usual at Sunday school Sunday morning and a goodly attendance at the church services.

An effort was made by certain of the members during the week to interest many who have formerly attended in the work of the school and church services and to have them renew their attendance. This effort is considered accountable for the increased attendance. It is hoped a still greater attendance may be secured for next Sunday with the end in view of organizing two adult classes, one each for the ladies and the men.

Church services were of unusual interest owing to the presentation of a new feature for such services. Otho Whitefield, member of the program committee, acted as leader and the lesson of the day was presented by Prof. Davis of the high school faculty. Mr. Davis is a singer of unusual ability and illustrated various parts of his theme with songs and this unusual method of delivering a discourse had a wonderful appeal to his audience, which was listened to with rapt attention throughout his program.

Woman's Missionary Society.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in the home of Mrs. W. C. Osborn next Tuesday, November 29, at two o'clock. All the ladies are cordially invited to be present.

A. O. Thompson, abstractor and secretary-treasurer of the Hereford Farm Loan Association, was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Attorney A. D. Smith spent Monday and Tuesday in Clovis looking after business matters.

Laymen's Meeting.

The Union Laymen's meeting held in the Congregational church Sunday night was not so well attended as these meetings usually are, but there was a good-sized audience present.

The matter of selecting officers for the ensuing year was brought up and discussed, and on motion it was decided to leave the selection of these officials to a nominating committee, appointed by the chairman, A. S. Curry. Mr. Curry appointed as this committee Clyde V. Goodwine, O. G. Turner and Attorney A. D. Smith.

The leading feature of the program was a book review by F. A. Spring, he reviewing Stewart Chase's recent book, "A New Deal." Mr. Spring presented a splendid resume of the contents of the book and the trend of thought of the writer, in a very clear and distinct manner. This was followed by a reading of a magazine article along the same trend of thought by F. W. Reeve.

Friena Woman's Club Report.

The Friena Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. T. H. Hughes Wednesday, November 16, and the following program was rendered:

Response: What I think of the youth of today.

Youth Movement Abroad: Mrs. J. R. Maples.

Our Own Youth: Mrs. L. F. Lillard.

"Modrona", a story of modern youth: Mrs. J. R. Roden.

After the program refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mes. T. H. and W. H. Hughes.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. T. J. Crawford, November 30.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Maurer were in Clovis Monday afternoon.

In Gratitude---

While the nation is today expressing its gratefulness for the blessings of the year drawing to a close, may we add with those voices of the business people of Hereford our appreciation of the new friendships won this year and extend the hand of gratitude again to the old friends who have for years been among our most appreciated possessions.

County Home Demonstrator.

Mrs. Tom Foster of Oklahoma Lane community has transplanted iceberg lettuce and giant southern curled mustard from her garden to the hot bed prepared last month. Seeds of broomsdale spinach and two varieties of radishes have also been planted and are growing well. "After each cold night I have gone early in the morning to see about my hot bed, fearing that the plants were damaged, but the temperature has never dropped below 63 degrees," states Mrs. Foster.

The P. T. A. and home demonstration club of Friona have cooperated to can 177 quarts of vegetables to be used in serving hot lunches to the school children. Prizes were offered to the school room bringing the greatest quantity of vegetables, cans were bought by the local P. T. A. and the club members met at the Congregational church basement for all day cannings to can the vegetables brought.

In Farwell the Methodist ladies, Mutual Aid and home demonstration club members have canned vegetables and beef for charity this winter.

The Homeland home demonstration club members have filled more than 300 cans with surplus vegetables from their gardens to be used for charity by the commissioners court, the church and local charity cases. Rhea home demonstration club members also held an all-day canning at which 100 quarts of vegetables were canned for charity.

Nine meat cutting and canning demonstrations have been given in nine communities where a total of 164 persons attended. Because in most instances working space was limited, the groups were limited to 15 women who intended to can beef and who would help their neighbors in meat canning. Men were invited to attend the meat cutting demonstrations. This arrangement made it possible to give more thorough instruction to each person that would have been possible with a larger group.

Pork products prepared and canned at these demonstrations were roast pork, pork chops, sausage, solid pack and fried, ribs, hogshead cheese, liver paste, scrapple and pickled pigs feet. The shoulder butts, hams and bacon were cured.

Beef products prepared at most of these demonstrations were meat loaf, scrapple, liver paste, steak, swiss steak, roast, stew, hamburger, chili, mince meat and corned beef. A 300 pound dressed beef may be canned at a cost of about $10.50 for cans and seasonings, and will fill about 80 No. 3 (2 lb) cans and 80 No. 2 (1 1/4 lb) cans of meat products seasoned, ready to serve, valued at $41.70, depression prices. The December meat canning demonstration will be given in Friona and in some of the communities where there is not an organized home demonstration club. An effort is being made to reach every community in the county early in the meat canning season so that every family that has a beef or hog for home consumption may can it into a variety of products and with a minimum danger of spoilage.

Lewis Harry Visiting Here.

Lewis J. Harry of Canon City, Colorado, arrived here Thursday afternoon of last week and will spend a few days visiting friends and relatives. He is an uncle of Everett Harry, one of our mail carriers with whom he will spend the greater part of the time while in Friona. He is also an old friend and neighbor of the Symson and John White families, and having been in Friona on other occasions, has a number of friends who are pleased to have him visit them.

After a few days here he will go to Lubbock to spend a few days with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Harry, and Merle and Ruth Harry. From there he will go to San Antonio to stay until January and then on to Corpus Christi for the remainder of the winter. He is 60 years of age, and having no family, spends part of his time driving about the country.

Leaving Friona about a year ago he went to the Gulf Coast, around to Florida, visiting interesting places, and up the Atlantic seaboard to Washington, D. C., where he spent several weeks. From Washington he went through Pennsylvania and New York in the spring and early summer, stopping at Niagara Falls, then southwestward to his old home in Southern Illinois, and on to Colorado. During his present trip he plans to avoid the cold of the winter months.

From the above list of notes it seems that the work of highway building and road improvement is going steadily onward throughout the state, but not in Parmer county, where the majority of the commissioners court has ordained that there be no hard-surfacing of highways done, possibly for several years. This action of the court has been taken regardless of the fact that scores of men within our county are sorely in need of the work that would be afforded by the building of the road to provide means for supplying their families with food and clothing through the winter, regardless of the fact that our people are paying for this improvement with their gasoline tax, whether they get the road or not, and regardless of the fact that it will bring into our county an estimated amount of from $250,000 to $300,000 to be expended for labor and materials, whereas it would not take a dollar out of the county.

The writer may be utterly wrong on his viewpoint of this matter, but if he is, he has lots of company.

Thanksgiving Program to Be Annual Affair

The community Thanksgiving program and dinner here, sponsored by Mayor Reeve, was by no means a failure in any respect.

Practically all of the arrangements for the occasion had been left to Mayor Reeve, which caused a few slight delays in the program, but there were about 150 people present to hear the literary and musical parts of the program and the splendid address given by Rev. E. Ray Lansdown, pastor of the Baptist church. In his talk, Rev. Lansdown pointed out a vast number of things and conditions for which his hearers had just cause to be thankful, as compared with conditions which many of our own people and the people of a vast number of the nations of the world are forced to endure.

Prof. Glenn Davis favored the audience with a vocal solo, a folk song of Thanksgiving, which was heartily applauded. Miss Edith Mae Frost very charmingly rendered a Thanksgiving reading and Mrs. Kinsleys primary department of the Congregational Sunday school sang a song. This was followed by a beautiful and well rendered vocal duet by Misses Short and Higbill, with Miss Eva Dilger as accompanist.

Mayor Reeve, after the close of Rev. Lansdown's address, proposed that this be made a permanent affair at Friona, and called for suggestions as to the manner of its perpetuation. Following a short discussion, it was moved by Rev. Annis, pastor of the Methodist church, that the ministers of the local churches here next year be elected as a committee on program and arrangement. The motion carried unanimously.

Following the program, those who had brought dinner spread it on the stage of the theatre where the meeting was held, and a real old-time Thanksgiving feast was enjoyed by all present. The various
