COLUMN LEFT

With apologies to Bil Sheehan:
The gate was broken down between heaven and hell, and St. Peter appeared at the break and called to his adversary:
"Hey, it's your turn to fix the gate. Remember our agreement?"

Remember the old fellow who carried the lantern searching for an honest man? Well, that man has evidently been found!
Leo McLellan last week received a very, very unusual letter from a fellow in Oklahoma who some years ago lived in this vicinity.

A number of citizens have approached the city commission regarding improvement of the city park. And we want to add our insistence that something be done.
There is no justification for any park unless it provides a pretty landscape or affords a playground or resting place for those it serves.

Why cannot this park be levelled and seeded just as any other park in cities of the area? Then why could there not be placed tables and chairs or playground equipment?
The time to act on this appears to us as NOW, enabling full use of this plot during the summer months ahead.

Thanks for the comments on the red overprint last week telling of the rains.
One reader asked, "But what are you going to do next - in fact, we're wondering what you'll do upon the second coming of Christ!"

Which reminds us of the old country boy, West Texan, of course, who became very interested in a revival meeting in progress; he had attended every service, contributed heavily, and had knelt in prayer for all his neighbors.

The minister was very enthused, and was counting on old Joe to come forward at that last service when the call went out for those who wished to enter the kingdom. But Joe remained in his seat. Walking down the aisle the kindly and concerned evangelist asked the reason for Joe's sudden apathy, whereupon the following answer was given:
"Certainly I want to go to heaven, but if it's all the same to you, let me stay down here below this spring, 'cause it's been raining on my place for the first time in 10 years, and I just want to sit back and watch those cattle graze on the greenest grass."

County Commission Goes All Out For Securing Pavement North of Farwell In Contrast to Strikingly Similar Proposals Submitted in Mid-County

The "ear" on this page reads "Too many people don't care what happens so long as it doesn't happen to them."
For some reason, this quotation came to our mind as we checked the minutes of this week's meeting of our own county commissioner court.

Now, some time ago citizens of the Friona area asked for permission to vote on bonds for construction of a road in this precinct, one that would be paid for in this district, in no way affecting the economy or taxes or road allotment of other districts. You well remember the cold shoulder the "citizens committee" received, the promises made and not kept, etc.

But this week another worthy project came up for discussion, BUT THIS ONE WAS IN THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF THE COUNTY, a paved road leading into Farwell from the north. Both this proposal and the Friona one had definite merits, serving the taxpayer. But action was taken on the Farwell proposal by every man of the commission, in contrast to the rude tabling of the mid-county road.

Here's what happened:
A letter was written to S. C. McCarty, District Highway Engineer, dated April 28, from which we quote:

"Mr. N. L. Tharp, who lives approximately 3 miles north of Farwell has agreed to contribute $30,000 to $40,000 for the purpose of paving the State Line road, and we request that you pave this road at this time from a point in U. S. Highway 60 to a point as near the State Line as the policies of your department will permit.

"We call to your attention that this road has already been dedicated as a farm-to-market road and has been given a temporary preference as No. 9. It is our thought that since private money is now available to pave this road, that it could be paved without interfering with other farm-to-market projects in this county

" . . . we respectfully request that you give this matter your immediate attention and advise us what you desire us to do in the furtherance of this project."

The letter was written on motion by H. L. Ivy and second by C. H. Jefferson, and the letter proper was signed by every commissioner and the county judge.

Also . . . the letter was written on Aldridge and Aldridge stationery! Doesn't the county have a letterhead of its own, showing the recipient immediately that a county is being heard from, rather than first appearance that a private law firm is the writer?

We are in no way criticising the Tharp road, it seems on the surface to be a good project; but we emphatically point out the parallel in the methods of construction of this road and the one serving the central area north of Friona . . . yet, how pitifully opposite was the reception and courtesies of the inconsistent commission!

Leon Hart Named Lone Star Farmer Of Littlefield District; Will Enter Area Competition at Canyon, May 10

The naming of Dale Hart as the Star Lone Star Farmer of the Littlefield District of FFA chapters this week heaped additional honors on this FFA worker and on the local organization which seems to have the habit of chalking up honors wherever they compete.

Hart's application was selected the best submitted in the district on the basis of outstanding FFA supervised practice and project program records. Requirements for this honor are set up by the state.

The Lone Star Farmer committee also approved the applications of Ralph and Frank Reed for Lone Star Farmer degrees.

Hart's herd of 29 Milking Short horns has copped honors at the Tri-State Fair, Panhandle Plains Dairy Show, Parmer County Fair Parmer Junior Livestock Show and at the Clovis Fair. This dairy program and his row crop project have been termed two of his more successful projects. He grows row crops on 120 acres rented from his father.

A senior in the Friona High School, Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hart, Friona.
The Friona Lone Star Farmer will compete on May 10 at Canyon with winners from seven other districts, and at this time the winner of Area I will be selected

Rockey Is Awarded Trip to Austin by Legion Post 206

H. V. Rockey junior student in the Friona schools, will attend the annual Boys State at Austin in June, it was announced today.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion posts of the state, and local Post 206 this year awarded the expense paid trip to a local boy for the first time.

This statewide meeting, to be held in June, will be conducted just as a state political unit, with all state officials being elected by usual process through conventions caucuses, and final balloting; then the elected officers among the boys will receive training in their respective posts, affording a real insight into the democratic processes of good government. . . . a comprehensive study in Americanism.

Cotton Meeting Is Scheduled Friday Night At Friona

A county-wide cotton meeting will be held tomorrow night at the Friona High School Auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

Joe Jones, county agricultural agent, has called this get-together which will be similar to that held last year at Oklahoma Lane.

Alen C. Gunter, state entomologist with the Extension Service will discuss the 1952 insect control program, also outlining the beneficial insects to the cotton plant.

Also present will be Fred Elliott, cotton works specialist from the Extension Service. Elliott will discuss seed treatment, mechanical and chemical grass and weed control, a variety of recommendations for machine harvesting, defoliation, and ginning of mechanically harvested cotton.

Both Gunter and Elliott will have colored slides pertaining to the subjects covered.

With the greatly accelerated cotton production in Parmer County, a full attendance is urged at this annual meeting.

Editor's Comments:

Banquet is Postponed

The Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture banquet, originally scheduled for next week, has been postponed.

Though preparations had been going full speed ahead during the past week, a noted speaker had been engaged, and even editorial comment already printed in this issue of the Star, the banquet was postponed by the directors last night when negotiations fell through for someone to feed the large attendance expected!

We only hope that this banquet can be held at a later date, possibly in June, with even a better program and carefully laid plans. We have the assurance of the CC board of directors that this will be done.

Frank Streetman, who was to speak to the group, certainly is dubbed one of the outstanding speakers of the Southwest, and we hope that he, or possibly an even better known personality such as Martin Dies, the governor, or comparable speakers can be obtained.

There is no better rural-city fellowship and opportunity for getting acquainted than that afforded by such a get-together, and we are hoping the postponement will not lessen the interest in cooperative enterprise here, but rather will result in a better program.

Editorially Speaking . . .

Monday Morning Musings:

Not a Bad Economy at That!

Just when we had despaired of finding any economy moves in government administration, along comes a friend who points out some very real red-tape cutting that is interesting, though probably impractical in the wide open spaces here.

It seems that in several localities, Denver, Colorado, for one, the county government has been dispensed with entirely! And successfully. Someone noted that all the politics was controlled by the town which housed the majority of population in the county, many of the law enforcement bodies were overlapping and at one another's throats; well, it was rather silly for the police departments to have the very same "beat" and identical duties, both being supported by the taxpayer's money, yet channelled through two mediums - the county on one hand and the city on the other.

This is a trend that might well be worth watching - for our financial structure, just as a large building, has its points of strain, and when that strain becomes too great, ruin or drastic changes will surely follow. And we trust the changes will be wise; so the thought of no county government, together with countless other proposals, will not be so far-fetched.

Just to Set the Record Straight

We like the eloquent words of the Weslaco News editor who never hesitates to call a spade a spade - and doubly so when socialistic and bureaucratic tentacles make their inroads into the established principals of individual freedom in America.

It seems that a Brooklyn Congressman, John J. Rooney by name, made a whirlwind 24-hour inspection of the valley, thus becoming an authority on its problems, and winding up his visit with the, in typical big-shot character, by saying, "We give . . . I mean by that, the Federal Government gives . . . farmers here money to build the Falcon Dam. We give money for the Anzalduas Dam . . . etc"

To which our editor friend, Brad Smith, replied: "We give . . ." Listen Rooney, Texas "gives" the United States Government millions upon millions of dollars a year more than the grand total of all Federal grants and Federal monies coming back to Texas combined. Don't come down here telling us: 'We give.' You haven't got a single penny to "give" that we Texans haven't previously paid into the Federal Treasury . . . and watched you let some of it get away in waste and corruption. You and some of those two-bit bureaucrats in Washington haven't got a dime to give anybody that the hard-hit, hard-pressed but loyal taxpayers of this country haven't sweated to pay in. And anytime you boys think you're the Government of this county and we Texans are mere tax-paying serfs, you're as crazy as a boll weevil with a shot of DDT, and the same thing is going to happen to you, one of these November days, that always happens to the boll weevil."

Unique Program Assured; You'll Profit by Attending

We can promise you that the program for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet coming up next Tuesday will be one you'll find hard to forget. We've heard Mr. Streetman, "The Mayor of Saskaqua" on previous occasions, and we can assure you he is one of the most unusual and entertaining speakers making the banquet circuit.

But aside from this, there are more practical reasons that we have in mind in urging your attendance. This is our home, our community; its destiny is in our hands . . . yours and mine, and under this truism it can be only as good as we wish it to be. What we put into it is what we will receive. So whether you deem this particular banquet of special importance or whether you have been active in the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture organization, we believe you will be better satisfied with your contributions to the community if you'll step out, attend this program with your family, and renew your efforts to be an active, aggressive citizen of the community. At least attendance will help you know what's going on - what that other businessman and farmer is thinking!

Where Should We Meet?

Speaking of the C of C banquet - is there anything needed more in our community than facilities for public gatherings? What is the proper rote: a special auditorium and dining room large enough to accommodate large crowds OR more liberal use of the existing school facilities? Certainly the school should be a focal point of community interest, and with the public feeling welcome for any meeting in its auditorium, would a more united community result? what is your idea as to an ideal solution?

For a BETTER COTTON CROP

PROPER SEED TREATMENT MAY MAKE THIS DIFFERENCE

The photo above shows ten good cotton seedlings, well on the way to the kind of growth which can produce a good crop of cotton. This is the result you may expect when properly treated cottonseed is planted . . . seed that has been treated with a recommended seed disinfectant.

Below, the effects of seed decay, sore-shin, and both pre-emergence and post-emergence damping-off are illustrated. This seed was not treated and this is one reason why it is often necessary to replant.

Treated seed can be planted 3 to 5 days earlier - can get off to a good start even in cool weather. Once a good stand is established and growing well your chance for a better cotton crop increases.

The Law and You

By Robt. (Bob) Kirk

DO YOU KNOW what the law regarding Partition is?

Partition is the means by which several owners of property may have their individual interest in the property divided out and set aside to them. Every owner of any interest in land, no matter how small, may have his interest in such a case, he is entitled to have, set aside to him the value of his interest, and to receive the same in money.

Thus where there are joint owners, either arising by mutual purchase, or where there are heirs who have acquired a joint interest in property upon the death of a parent or relative, any one of the individuals who is entitled to an interest in the property may compel a partition of his interest in the property. Property not subject to division in such a way that each can get his fair share of the same, is ordered sold by the court, and the proceeds from the sale can then be divided in proportion to the interest of the various parties owning an interest in the property.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON THIS SUBJECT, SEE YOUR LOCAL ATTORNEY.

How to Be Safe in the Water

Y.M.C.A. Rules for Water Safety

Do You Remember...

23 Years Ago

A number of the young people of Friona had gone to the canyons between Amarillo and Canyon and spent the day picnicking and viewing the scenery.

The Friona Star and the Hereford Brand, which had been owned by Seth E. Holman, was purchased by the Nunn-Warren Publishing Co. and first publication under the new owners was May 1st. Mr. John White remained as manager of the Star.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Lillard and son Harold had driven through to Hollis, Oklahoma and spent the week visiting with friends and relatives.

The term of the Friona schools was coming to a close, with the graduation of eighteen seniors on the night of May 10th. The baccalaureate sermon was to be preached by Rev. J. Edd Morgan and Dr. J. A. Hill was to make the commencement address.

A harmonica contest was staged on Monday night by the Chamber of Commerce committee. Nine contestants had entered this contest and first prize went to J. R. Lunsford of Young County while W. W. Camp, who lived west of town, took second and Herbert Jaes of Friona received third. Mr. Charley Gonc of near Bovina won the old fiddlers contest held in Friona the winter before and was entertainer at the harmonica contest, giving several numbers on the fiddle.

J. A. Blackwell, manager of the Blackwell Hardware and Furniture had devised and installed in his store a novel contrivance for the purpose of comparing grades and prices of articles kept in stock with those secured from mail order houses. This was a large board on which he fastened a variety of articles of everyday use on the farm and home, two of each article. One of these was taken from the store and one from the mail order house, with the prices marked on each. The mail order articles also had the transportation charges affixed. This plainly showed that not only was the mail order patron the loser in actual dollars, but in many instances he also lost in the quality of the article.

Friona people who had been allowing their stock to run at large inside the city limits were notified of the fact that a poundmaster had been appointed by the city to impound all stock found at large and to assess a fee as provided by the new city ordinance.

The revival meetings held at the Methodist church for two weeks were closed Friday night. These services had been conducted by Rev. J. Edd Morgan of Texarkana.

A new high-powered electric meat slicer had been recently installed in the T. J. Crawford store, to enable customers to get their meat cut to any desired thickness.

The public park had been put in splendid condition through the efforts of Mr. Milholland

GRASS ROOTS

I have several comments to make on Mr. Gillentine's reference to the "Moon" First It is a little doubtful as to our local editor having any legitimate comment to make on this subject after his own confession of ignorance of wheat farming. It is hard for me to believe that any person living in an area where his bread and butter depends on agriculture one hundred percent, to admit such a thing. I'll be glad to loan you one of my books, Jimmie, which in a very simple, easy to understand language, will explain to you where your living comes from. Secondly - if Jimmie has any information concerning the moon, it no doubt ties in with moonshine and moonburn - the latter available only on lonely country lanes. I'm sure the age limit will eliminate Jimmy on all counts. Now concerning "Sign Seeding" . . . All of us know that all different seasons are controlled by the movement of the earth in its orbit. We plant during the season in which the desired crop is adapted and that is about as far as I'm going to run my neck out. Back to the textbook idea for a minute. During my Army days, I was traversing the Atlantic, and I had the opportunity to glance through one of those astronomy things I couldn't begin to decipher it. I worked out a couple of problems concerning myself personally, and had myself back in the states in six months, and in perfect safety all the way. Eleven months and thirty combat missions later, I came home. If the turnip crop worked out the same, there were a lot of "turnip-less" tables in the U. S. that year.

To end this nonsense - I plead ignorance. Jimmie, you asked for pasture seeding during the time when the moon is right. I have seedings going in all the time, and I keep close records on them. Some of these will undoubtedly be seeded during the proper signs. I would appreciate further information when the proper signs occur, and if you good folks will bring me the information I'll turn Mr. Jimmy's proposition into a research experiment, and report results from time to time in this column. One further point and I'll get on to something else. I am horrified to think that anyone would think I would take up for Urlin Streu—perish the thought!! The boss man and I spent Thursday and Friday at the Bushland Experiment Station, west of Amarillo, visiting and listening. We feel that we picked up a lot of new pointers that will be of interest to many of you. The first day was dedicated to the control of noxious weeds and Friday was taken up with new developments in pasture grasses: The discussions were led by leading plant breeders and weed control specialists in the state. I used most of my column sniping at Jimmie, so will save some of the juicy morsals picked up there, for further journalistic plunges. Will note some of the highlights here: - Control of Bindweed, Blue Weed, and Johnson Grass. Adapted varieties of pasture grasses, both dryland and irrigated. Incidentally, this doctor from Oklahoma who led the discussion on grasses must read the same textbooks I have. He even went further than I did on the things that grasses will do for a farming program.

On the way back from Amarillo, we visited a couple of the dryland seeding we instigated this spring Mr. E. L. Brown must live right, because it appears that every seed he planted is up. Robert Wagoner had all of his hundred acres but twenty seeded when last week's rain stopped him in the middle of the field. He is getting grass up all over the place, and if he doesn't get in there and finish pretty soon, I'm afraid it's going to hide my grass seeder. Intermediate Wheatgrass is leading the way with Blue Grama and Side Oats Grama running a close second. The Buffalo will be the last to germinate, as expected, but I feel fairly sure that the dryland seedlings are off to a good start and am sure the growers are happy with the results. This Intermediate Wheatgrass seedling is a sight to see. Any of you who are familiar with grass seedling would appreciate the quick and vigorous germination of this highly palatable, early season grazer. Quite a bit of "bally-hoo" this time. This really isn't a feud J. T. E.

Miss Brannon Shows Magic of Fixing Square Meals from Small Appliances

Most women just take their small appliances for granted—never giving thought to what they can or can't do. Did you know that with an electric roaster, coffee maker, toaster, mixer and combination waffle iron and sandwich grill that most any kind of food can be prepared? Just think—complete meals with only these small appliances!

This might be the solution to the problem for young marrieds who have just found a house but not very much to go in it. Maybe the wedding checks do not total enough for the kind of range they want, and there is no need to compromise on an investment of that kind; but the wedding checks would buy all of the small appliances they would need to provide wholesome, well cooked food prepared in a variety of ways. No delicatessen for this young couple.

Every dollar invested will pay high interest over a long period of years. For instance, the roaster is a fine supplement to an electric range for it will roast the holiday turkey to perfection, thus freeing the range oven for rolls, pies, etc. It will hold large quantities of food quantities to serve fifty people. It can be used for the hot-water bath type of home canning. And since it is portable, it is ideal for keeping foods hot on picnics.

Does it sound impossible to get so much in practical living from such a small investment? As the old proverb goes, the proof of the pudding is in the eating; so here is a day's menu planned around the small appliances.

The Pink Bollworm

There was near-panic among cotton people and government agencies following the discovery of the first Pink Bollworm in Texas in 1917. "No-cotton zones" were proclaimed excitedly everywhere the insect was found.

The worm had been a serious pest in many parts of the world, including China, Egypt, Brazil, Argentina and Mexico. But still almost nothing was known about its habits and life history. And there was as much confusion among those trying to combat it in early days in Texas as there was hardship among the growers, who suffered from the "no-cotton zones" proclamations.

Now we know that no cotton zones are futile in Texas as long as there is a plentiful supply of Pink Bollworm across the border in Mexico. We've also learned that since the worm bores its way deep into the cotton boll we can't get at it successfully with insecticides.

We are coping with it effectively, however, by following cultural practices based on the knowledge we've acquired of its life history. The cotton grower can change his procedure—the Pink Bollworm can't change its fixed habits.

We know it propagates in the growing season. So in the warmer areas, with a long growing season, we shorten the breeding time stantly at Medium speed. SLOWLY add remaining vinegar and lemon juice beating constantly on medium speed until thick. Makes 2 cups.

Chocolate Milk Deluxe
1 scoop vanilla ice cream
1-2 cup or 1-4 pint
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons thick chocolate syrup.

Put ice cream, milk, syrup into drink mixer container. Beat 1 minute or until blended at HIGH speed. Makes 1 2-3 cups.

can invade any part of Texas. And it is important to get at it quickly when it shows up in a new area.

Anyone finding a worm resembling the Pink Bollworm in cotton areas thought to be free of the insect should place it in a bottle of diluted alcohol and send it to the Entomologist for Pink Bollworm Control, Texas, Department of Agriculture, Austin, with full information as to date and place of collection.

DEBATE ON THE NEW IMMIGRATION LAW

The House is now engaged in debate on H.R. 5678, a bill to revise the laws relating to immigration, naturalization and nationality. This bill is designed to bring the immigration laws up to date, to weed out obsolete provisions, to close loopholes and to provide strict enforcement. A number of attempts have been made during the debate to amend the bill for the purpose of relaxing the present and proposed requirements for entry into this country. All of these amendments have been stricken and it does not presently appear that any of them will be adopted. The debate has been prolonged and in many instances very heated. The present immigration policy is based on "national origins" of U. S. population as shown in the 1920 census. Under this policy Great Britain alone has a quota of 65,721 out of the total immigration quota of 154,277 annually. Britain annually uses only a small percentage of this quota. It was argued by one member of the House that this policy resulted in more than two million unused quota numbers between 1930 and 1948. This same member offered an amendment to pool the unused quotas of such countries as England and Ireland and to give these unused quotas to countries like Italy, Greece, or any other country having an annual quota of less than 7,000. The House overwhelmingly voted down this amendment. It likewise soundly defeated an amendment offered by another New York member that would change the census figures being used from the 1920 census to the 1940 census. The result of the amendment would have been to give substantial increases in quota to a number of the Continental and Near East countries. Another amendment offered by another New York member proposed to grant to Italy 46,000 quota numbers which went unused during World War II. It was argued by the member that although Italy was our enemy during World War II, her alliance with Hitler was the doing of Mussolini and not of the Italian people. This argument didn't have much effect on the House. In fact, it caused quite a bit of laughter. The amendment lost by the overwhelming vote of 77 to 21. Another amendment was offered by another New York member to allot unused quotas to benefit separated families, skilled workers, religious refugees, and hardship cases. Although the amendment might have some emotional appeal in the language used, I am glad to report that the House did not permit sympathy to override reason, and defeated the amendment 73 to 23.

Almost every argument that was made to relax the immigration laws was based on the premise that unless the laws were relaxed, this country would be charged with discriminating against minorities and denying many potential immigrants their right to enter this country. It was quickly and clearly pointed out that entry into this country by an immigrant is not based upon any right of the immigrant, but on the contrary is a most precious privilege made possible by the graciousness of the citizens of this country. The theory of discrimination was also knocked in the head by the remarks of some good Southern Democrats. They pointed out that every time some so-called minority group wants some concession they immediately cry out that "if you Americans don't grant us what we ask, you are guilty of discrimination." Actually the Americans have succumbed to these entreaties so many times that the so-called minority groups have actually become the preferred groups, and the ones being discriminated against are the solid basic Americans. It has actually reached the point that when some of these minority groups want something that they can't possibly justify they base their arguments on three premises: Number one, they claim that such legislation is needed because it will help in the fight against communism; Number two, they claim that they are being discriminated against; and, Number three, they appeal to the Christian charitable characteristics of the American people. It is high time for the American citizens to wake up and put a stop to these campaigns designed to blind our reasoning powers by an emotional smokescreen. The best way in the world to fight communism is to create an immigration screening process that will separate the sheep from the goats and keep these reds, pinks and fellow travellers out of the country, and at the same time devote our waking hours to cull out and deport the ones who have gotten into this country in the past through loopholes in the law. The great majority of the communist sympathizers that have been uncovered in this country are people who have accepted the hospitality of this country and sought protection under our laws and our way of life. They are nothing less than the vilest scoundrels and traitors that can be conceived, and the quicker we put a stop to it, the

THE CUTS IN THE BUDGET

A great clamor has gone up about the many cuts that the house made in the several appropriations bills, and it has been said that Congress will be forced to stay in session until many of these cuts are restored. I can tell you that this Congress is not going to be stampeded into restoring these cuts by any such threats; and keeping the Congress in session is not going to change its temper. The money that we have provided is adequate and in many instances should be more than adequate to meet the needs, and I for one am not going to subscribe to any policy to add any more to the public debt or to put any more burden on the taxpayer's back.

Weed Control Measures Listed As Of Immediate Importance by Agent

County Agent, Joe Jones, urged this week that area farmers declare war on bindweed, Johnson grass, and blueweed and to control them before they become more widespread.

The county agent says that bindweed is commonly known as possession vine, spreading both roots and seeds, and it has increased at an alarming rate over northwest Texas in the last ten years.

Much bindweed is still found in small lots of 1-2 acres or less, and it is a constant source of infestation for the remainder of the farm and surrounding areas.

When the weed is found in small patches, it should be eradicated, regardless of the cost, Jones added.

Cultural practices that will prevent the spreading of the weed should by all means be followed when cultivating through bindweed lots. However, before eradication can be accomplished, farmers will probably have to resort to either selective or non-selective herbicides. When non-selective herbicides are used, farmers should realize the rate it takes to kill bindweed and that it will leave the soil unproductive and nearly bare for a limited length of time. This depends on the soil and what is used Jones adds.

According to the county agent there are several non-selective weed killers or soil sterilants, which can be used to help in control or eradication of bindweed. Included are sodium chlorate, 800 lbs. to the acre or 5 lbs. per square rod; borascue, 4,800 lbs.

to the acre or 30 lbs. to the square rod; concentrated borascue, 2,580 lbs. per acre of 16 lbs. per square rod; atlaside, 1120 lbs. per acre or 7 lbs. per square rod; and polybor chlorate or polybor. All these are used at different rates and at different times applied to give varying kills, Jones says. Generally speaking, fall treatment followed by spot treatments in the spring gives the best results. Farmers wanting more information should contact the county agent's office.

In the use of selective weed killers, 2-4D is available as esters, ammenes sales, and a sodium salt. The esters and ammenes salt are liquid and the sodium salt is powder. One form is usually as effective as another when equal amounts are used, the county agent points out. Esters, however, are preferred on favorable growing conditions for bindweed control.

Best results are usually obtained when the weed is sprayed in the bud or bloom state, Jones says, and the most instances, the bindweed will soon be blooming, making this a good time for the use of 2-4D. One lb. of 2-4D acid per acre to date has given better results than lower rates of application and as good as higher rates, it is explained. Water is satisfactory carrier for 2-4D and ground spray equipment is adequate to apply the mixture. It must be remembered, however, that, on land where crops are growing, farmers should use the least amount of 2-4D that will do the job. The eradicator can harm growing crops when used in quantities too large. It should also be remembered, Jones says, that 2-4D does its best job with any weed when the weeds are actually growing.

COMPETE WITH CROPS

Weeds compete with crops for moisture, plant nutrients and sunlight, the County Agent points out. Seeds have been reported germinating after remaining in the soil 40 years. With this in mind, anyone can see the difficulty in bindweed eradication, the agent explains. So, to accomplish weed riddance, farmers have to be as persistent as the bindweed. Jones advises that spots ten feet beyond the bindweed area be treated.

JOHNSON GRASS

Discussing Johnson grass, Jones says the same sterilants are used as for bindweed, but different rates of application are practiced. Rates are found on the container; best time for application is when the grass is actively growing in the boot stage to bloom stage.

It should be remembered according to Joe Jones, that some of these sterilants are fire hazards.

Roy V. Smith Opens New Real Estate Firm On Highway Location

Roy V. Smith, formerly of Hereford has opened a new real estate business in Friona, erecting a newly-built office on Highway 60 just west of Herring Implement Company.

Smith is well-known in this locality, having been engaged in the real estate business for a number of years at Hereford. Here he will deal in oil leases and royalties and real estate.

Smith is moving to Friona and will make his home here.

CL

The potato men are taking note of the Friona territory, and it looks like potatoes will join the increased list of diversified crops taking hold here. Of course a limited number of farmers already have successfully grown and marketed potatoes here, but we predict many, many more in the future.

Potato men have been investigating possibilities of a shed here, and probably one will be erected if sufficient interest is shown by growers. Do you want this added crop and industry here? Let us know your thoughts on this, and if enough interest is shown, we're sure the area will vie with Hereford for the potato honors. With the present shortage on the retail shelves here, it might not be a bad idea!

day afternoon and made pin cushion during application.

BLUE-WEED ERADICATION

For blueweed control good cultural practices will aid greatly in eradication, as in bindweed and Johnson grass. Blueweed spreads 99 per cent by the roots, Jones says if farmers will clip the tops of this weed each time they appear, stands can be reduced. Blueweed, although spread chiefly by roots, do not spread readily by cultivating through them and dragging roots to other parts of the field, as do bindweed and Johnson grass.

For best control other than cultural practice, use of two lbs. of amdene 2-4D acid, 1 gallon of diesel fuel mixed with 3 gallons of water as a carrier, can be used per acre. It will be necessary to use some substance such as Dref to make oil and water into emulsion, he says. It should be remembered that blueweed should also be growing actively at the time applied; and as a precaution to remember not to apply 2-4D in or near a cotton field or other crops, which are susceptible to 2-4D. Equipment in which 2-4D is used should not be used in applying insecticides to cotton, fruit trees, gardens, etc. the county agent warns. The equipment can be cleaned of 2-4D but it requires a special cleaning compound and extreme caution should be exercised, Jones concluded.
