

SWEET N' SOUR

By A. Dill

According to Mother Goose (and that's a good reference) July brings cooling show-ers, "apricots and Gilly flowers." The hot we agree with — the late freeze got the apricots and in case you wouldn't know a Gilly flower from Johnson grass it is the English wall flower (whose American equivalent is the stock) brought to the British Isles by the Romans. (Now — see how much more you know than when you picked up this column? Make reading us a habit — we are just full of educational bits like this).

Gilly flowers may not mean much — but "Corn flowers" do especially when her name is Dana and she's having a birthday — this week — Friday is the (July 27th) but because of the ball game Dana will celebrate with a theatre party Saturday.

Special visitors this week in the W. A. Fetterly home were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fetterly and son of Odessa.

Maude and Fred Hart returned this week from Fort Worth with the best news possible — Russell Hart, seriously ill for such a long time, is vastly improved. The Harts also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hart and Mrs. Ferne Cole of Cresent Oklahoma, and Mrs. Edna Holliday of Oklahoma City who met them at the Russell Hart home. The Harts also brought home news to the many friends of the McFarlane family here in Baird that C. S. McFarlane is critically ill and that Opal McFarlane is with him in his home in Mex-ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Jones claimed their share of happy days this week — they had a visit from Wendell and Laverne Jones and children, Mary Jane and Wendy, and their friend Susan Talbet, of Ft. Worth. Also here to enjoy the visitors were Fayne and Shelba Holings-head and son Neil, plus their special guest, Linda West of Abilene.

Thanks to a nice neighborly tip from a lady who certainly is a good neighbor to all of us (Myrtle Berry) we are able to roll out our own version of a red carpet and welcome new residents to Baird — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nance and son, Kenneth. The Nance's are at home in north Baird.

J. BRICE JONES

On that date, he will turn the keys to the Baird post office building over to Terrell Williams, and retire under the Civil Service retirement program.

Mr. Jones began his career with the postal department on November 11, 1918, the day the Armistice which ended World War I was signed, when he received an appointment as rural carrier out of the Baird office. He served as carrier for Route No. 1 for 34 years and approximately five months. During that time there were only three postmasters. They were Mrs. A. M. Miller, M. J. Holmes and Miss John Gilliland. On April 1, 1953, Mr. Jones received his appointment as acting postmaster. On March 1, 1954, he received his commission as Postmaster from President Eisenhower and the U.S. Senate. His nine years and four months as postmaster gave Mr. Jones a total of 43 years and eight months service with the Baird post office. Mr. Jones is a native of Baird and Callahan County.

TERRELL WILLIAMS

Abilene will have a part in the installation.

Mr. Williams began his career with the department at Ranger in 1927, and served there as sub-city carrier and sub-rural carrier. He transferred to Baird on October 1, 1938 as a clerk, and held that position until 1953, when he transferred to Rural Route 1 to succeed Brice Jones who was appointed postmaster.

He was on military leave from March 9, 1943, until April 1, 1945. He took his basic training at Camp Lee, Va., and was sent to the adjutant general's school at Pennsylvania State Teachers College, West Chester, Penna. After graduation, he spent 13 months as an Army postal clerk in Honolulu, T.H.

On October 21, 1933, Mr. Williams married Miss Maurine Stewart of Eastland. Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their two daughters, Wilda and Debra, live at 906 Cherry St. They are members of, and attend the Baird Church of Christ.

He is a member of, and secretary of the Baird School Board. He is a director of the Lions Club, and served for several years as club secretary. He is a member of the Baird Chamber of Commerce and the Baird American Legion post. He helped organize the Baird United Fund, and was a director for many years. The Baird Red Sox won the Tri-County Junior Teen-Age Baseball League with a 14-1 season record, and will represent the league in the district tournament. Admission to the games will be $1.00 for adults and .50 for school children. Pre-schoolers will be admitted free of charge.

Adequate seating has been provided for the tournament by building two new sets of bleachers and moving the stands from the Little League field. A new electric scoreboard was added this week, and a platform was erected for the scorekeeper and announcer.

Enrollment this year is expected to reflect an increase of almost one fourth, climbing from a total of 304 last year to this year's record number of 400.

College officials expect a freshman enrollment of about 200, and at least 100 returning sophomores. Another 100 prospective students have not yet completed all the necessary requirements for enrollment.

Students from nearly all areas of the state attend CJC, with Cisco, Eastland, Abilene and Ft. Worth areas supplying the majority. Students also come from Brownwood and South Plains areas as well as from Waco, Houston and El Paso.

Area students, or students who commute make up about 50 percent of the student body. Seven students attend CJC from Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Louisiana, New York and Illinois. Three students come from Thailand.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

JOHN GILLILAND

In Memory of my Friend when we were young in Baird.

I don't remember my Mother. She passed away when I was a small lad. Somethings I seem to recall about her. But am sure tis from having my three older sisters tell me so much of her.

About all I can remember is riding out to the cemetery in an open wagon. Us three youngest in the seat with Daddy. And the three oldest sitting in same bottom chairs in back. The hack that served as a hearse going oh so slow. Tho I did not realize what the trip was for. Now I do remember the friends of the family slowly filling the grave. And the sound of the clods as they hit the box that covered the coffin. That sound has stayed with me many years. I never seemed to know that Mother was gone. Yet, well let me tell you.

Returning to town that day we never went straight home. Daddy drove down the street past Mr. Meyers home, the lumber yard and stopped at the Star office. I had never been at this place before. So when he stopped the team and went in. He had to take Sam with him as he was the baby and cried. Lillie, the little sister wanted to go also, then me. I crawled down and went into the office. To me, a little kid, that was just a bedlam of noise. I never knew then what was causing this loud uproar. But it was from the press printing the paper. A man stood at this machine and fed paper in big sheets into the mysterious thing and it came out a printed paper. Right there I said, I am going to do that some day. I suppose ever boy did this at first sight of a large press. Then there was a young woman standing at a table like thing, guess it could be called more like a desk at that. Had a bunch of little square boxes in it. She had in her hand a funny looking thing of metal. Would put a finger in and come out with something and place it in the object she held in her left hand.

Another young lady stood at a machine sticking small pieces of paper at an outfit that roared also. At the desk near the east door as we went in an elderly man sat smoking a large crooked stem pipe. He wore a long mustach. And had more paper on his desk than a Congressman does nowadays. Way at the rear I could hear a steam engine. Of course I knew what that was. But not what its purpose was at this place. These things I learned later as was to make this trip to the Baird Star office five times with Dad, and once with your grandmother. Of course the office had changed many ways since the first time I saw the inside of that office.

The first time was June 27, 1897; second time, Feb. 1, 1898; third time, April 4, 1904; fourth trip, March 20, 1918; fifth trip, June 27, 1922 and the last time was Jan. 24, 1944. Each trip seemed harder to make as was for the same purpose. To have a Letter of Thanks inserted in the Star. The first four times I entered this office I saw the same people there with the exception of Jim Walker. I remember so well those young ladies stopping the work and coming down where we, Dad and I stood. Each with ink stained aprons and hands. The long sleeve protectors reaching above the elbows. And when they reached the desk where we were they spoke so softly, reached out and patted us little kids, and later as adults shoulder and spoke so nicely. Hello Joe. Somehow this seemed to be sufficient at the time. I doubt that any one ever said so much in such a few words to me at any time.

Then just recently, Sue, I read my paper and saw where one of these ladies had passed away. I wish I could have been near before she passed to the great beyond and just said Hello John. Just as she did to me when the many times I saw her. I sincerely believe when my time comes to leave this old world that she will meet me with a smile, no ink on her hands or apron, no sleeve protectors reaching to her elbow. I understand they don't wear those things up where John went. Yet I believe she will meet me and say, hello Joe, am glad to see you.

As ever your granddaddy,
Joe Ellis

Mildred Carter, D. A. Yarbrough and I went to Temple Sunday. I went for check up, D. A. went for treatment. We will see you when we get back.

Burette and Johnny May Ramsey and Linda Hughes attended Workers Conference at Cottonwood Tuesday night.

The Weldon Isenhowers went to Houston this past week on a vacation, they returned Friday night.

Was so sorry to hear of Mrs. Eva Harbers death. I never shall forget her, she was so sweet and good to my aunt, Mrs. Nelson Bailey while she lived in Moran, she and her little daughter, Pearl, now Mrs. Albritton were always doing things for auntie, bringing her food and seeing after her when she was not able to do for herself. My deepest sympathy to you children, may God bless and keep you all, sympathy to her brother and sister which some I never knew.

I see where Moran community singing will be Tuesday night, July 31, at Moran Luncheon Club. I hope to come if possible. I like to hear good singing and try to sing a little myself. Sometimes I hit a note although it might be a sour one. Anyway I like to be with you.

Guess I better scat, be good and I'll see you next week I hope.

It's the Law

in TEXAS

Gifts To Children

People often make gifts to youngsters and sometimes save on income and death taxes as well. The giver may set aside money for children until they become of age or until they need it.

But such gifts may be complex. For remember, there are gift taxes on the subject of the gift, and income taxes on the income from it.

1. The parent or guardian may want to keep control of the money. If they keep too much control, they may not complete the gift and the expected tax savings will go out the window. The parents' control may allow them to take back the gift, and so it is not really a gift.

2. Property is hard for children to manage. They cannot very well make contracts or buy or sell the property. But it costs too much, as a rule, to set up a trust for each piece of property for each child.

And so to encourage gifts to children, the law applies mainly to gifts and stock shares.

This law creates the "custodian" with powers much like those of a trustee or guardian. He is often a parent-donor who manages the stock. He may also invest or sell the stock for the child.

The custodian must act as a "prudent person." He cannot lawfully buy and sell the stock for his own benefit, nor can he be negligent. The gift can only be used for the minor's benefit, and for his support and education. The custodian cannot mingle his own property with the child's. After the child becomes 21 the whole gift or what is left of it must go to him.

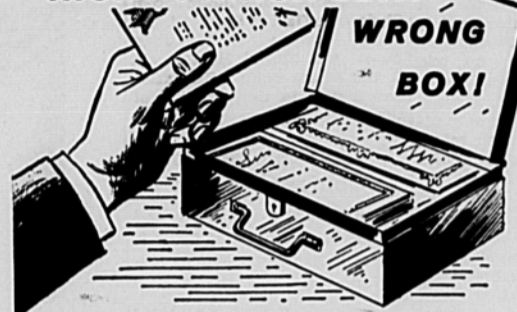

In rare cases, the law may let a giver revoke his gift, as when he gave it in contemplation of the minor's marriage which did not take place. He may also revoke the gift if it was made as a result of undue influence or fraud.

Other ways of giving to minor are also fairly inexpensive. For example, one may create a trust for children which has tax advantages.

Mrs. W. C. Ross has returned to her home in Yoakum, after spending five weeks here with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Fetterly and Mr. Fetterly, who accompanied her home and attended the Yoakum Chapter of Eastern Star while there.

Dr. Salk Coins A Word: Bionauts

"Super stars" of science will make up the research team of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

Dr. Jonas Salk, who will direct the Institute at San Diego, Calif., quite often draws analogies between sports and science.

He once said, modestly referring to his historic role in developing the polio vaccine, that "I just happened to be in the right place to catch a long forward pass."

Today he might select another sport and say that the Institute faculty members are the Mickey Mantles of science—they can hit home runs from either side of the plate. Dr. Salk points out that in recruiting his Institute Fellows he searched for and found versatile scientists "who have all been trained in a field other than that in which they are working today."

Varied Abilities

They possess more than one skill or field of knowledge. They are not limited to biology. Some of the 10 Fellows already appointed are equally at home in higher mathematics and physics, or history and literature.

This unique combination of professional skills, versatility, imagination and intellectual curiosity has been described by many as the magic formula needed today to achieve the conquest of disease—from the common cold to cancer. They believe firmly that an assault on disease of the kind and magnitude planned by Dr. Salk and his colleagues could pave the way to revolutionary breakthroughs.

Just as the Mickey Mantles depend on the baseball fans who pay their way through the turnstiles, construction of the Salk Institute will depend on contributions from the general public.

$15 Million Goal

This summer all across the nation a campaign is in full swing to raise $15,000,000 to build and equip the Institute. The drive is sponsored by The National Foundation through the March of Dimes. It is a renewal of the partnership between all Americans and Dr. Salk—the man who did so much for them in developing the polio vaccine, and will do so much more as director of the Institute.

As another way of describing the scientists who will work at the Institute, Dr. Salk has coined the word "bionauts." "If we can speak of astronauts," he asks, "why can't we think of 'bionauts'—scientists who are capable of doing in biology what has now been done in the fields of space and of atomic physics?" He envisages the Salk Institute as a sort of launching pad for the gifted "bionauts" of the scientific world who will comprise his faculty.

The conditions under which the Salk Institute "bionauts" will pursue their studies are probably unique. The physical as well as the intellectual atmosphere of the Institute has been designed so that the individual scientist can concentrate fully on productive work and thought. Laboratory equipment will of course be the most modern. A highly specialized reference library on biology and related fields will be maintained. The whole environment is designed to spur the Institute Fellow toward daring and unorthodox original thinking on how to reach the goal he is seeking—faster.

Pioneering Projects

In most great universities and other research centers scientists are obliged to invest a great deal of their time in teaching and in administrative detail. There will be none of these time-consuming duties for the faculty of the Salk Institute. Its members will spend all of their time on pioneering projects. Moreover, they will have complete freedom to launch whatever projects they elect and may change the direction of their research if they wish.

Experts familiar with the scientific world and its leaders agree that the 10 Fellows selected thus far are entering the stage of their most productive period. Their average age is 49 years but seven of the 10 are even younger.

Dr. Warren Weaver, vice president of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation and a Salk Institute Nonresident Fellow who is often described as the "elder statesman of American medical research," is 67; but Dr. Melvin Cohn, a famed American biochemist now with the Pasteur Institute of Paris, and a Salk Institute Resident Fellow, is only 38.

A-Bomb Architect

Dr. Leo Szilard, long-time professor of biophysics at the University of Chicago and celebrated worldwide as one of the "architects of the atomic bomb," a Nonresident Fellow, is 63. But Dr. Edwin Lennox, an American microbiologist now also on leave at the Pasteur Institute, and a Resident Fellow, is only 41.

Dr. Jacob Bronowski, of London, a Resident Fellow who is well known in the United States for his books and lectures, is 54. His versatility is outstanding—in mathematics, philosophy and history.

Dr. Salk has remarked that the professional and cultural interests of the Fellows happily overlap. At a recent meeting of several of these scientists in New York City, they chatted with vivacity of organizing competing string quartets at the Salk Institute next year, of sailing and swimming in the Pacific, even of shooting a round of golf now and then. These "super stars" of science who may be expected soon to revolutionize biology and thus "help man make the most of his gift of life" are human beings, too.

Clyde Group Discuss Possibilities For Securing Water Supply

A water supply for Clyde which will assure the Callahan County town a sufficiency to care for expected growth, was one of the principal issues discussed at a meeting in Cross Plains Monday.

The meeting was called by Soil Conservation officials in order to acquaint area people with plans now being discussed to build some 30 dams on the watershed of the Pecan Bayou. The dams will be built, if the project is approved, in the area terminated by Clyde on the west and Burkett on the east.

Weldon Edwards, secretary of the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District, presided at the meeting. He introduced E. J. Hughes of Brownwood, area soil conservationist, who told the group of the proposed water control project.

A delegation of Clyde city officials and business men raised the question of the securing of a municipal water supply for the rapidly growing town.

It was pointed out that present regulations permit a municipality to enter into a project with the Soil Conservation Service in the building of retention dams. Regulations are that the local governing agency may join in the project by assuming the cost of broadening and lengthening one of the dams under construction, and pay only for the additional cost of the project. Mr. Hughes and Paul Kenner, Brownwood S. C. S. engineer roughly estimated that on a normal retention dam costing $100,000, a municipality could serve its purpose by bearing an additional expense of some $20,000 to $25,000. He warned that the figure was just an estimate and not official.

Members of the Clyde delegation went into a longer discussion of the proposal following the meeting. Attending from Clyde were Gaston Swafford, Lee Loper, Lynden White, John Estes and Harold Holden. D. C. Cox of the Baird S.C.S. office had a part in the planning of the meeting.

Johnston Taking Shots for Rabies

Clyde M. Johnston, 65-year-old stock farmer who lives eight miles south of Clyde, is undergoing the series of anti-rabies shots after a calf on his farm died of an illness diagnosed as rabies.

The calf died July 16. Johnston had the animal's head checked after its death, resulting in the rabies diagnosis.

Johnston discovered the ailing calf July 12, at first thinking the animal was suffering from a throat obstruction. Two days later he took the calf to the barn for further examination.

SWEET AND SOUR

 If there's positively a glow around Mrs. Vilia Hill's home it's from the happiness within — this is visiting time for two of Vida's lovely grandchildren, Eleanor and Elizabeth Hill. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hill, are in the process of moving to Tulsa, Oklahoma and are expected in Baird later in the month.

Mrs. Hamrick, Baird's High Schools energetic Homemaking teacher, leaves this week for Austin and workshop for her department there. Mrs. Hamrick is happy over the trip and hopes to return with exciting new ideas for class work, knowing Mrs. Hamrick's work here we'd be willing to say that in the "idea exchange" field she will give other teachers valuable tips too for that lady has certainly had remarkable achievements in her work here.

Also due at the FHA summer class is Helen Ellis. Helen has been visiting her mother here in Baird but will return to her home near San Antonio before the Austin trek.

Cleora Nichols returned this week, not from the Nacogdoches school but from the clinic at the University of Texas. Last minute plan changes sent Putnam's fine teacher to Austin.

Mrs. Roy Denney is home again from visiting children Louise and family and Jim Bob and family in Oklahoma. The happy trip had a bonus award too when Mrs. Denney won a set of china dishes while visiting.

Helma LaCour is a Baird visitor this week — visiting the Raymond Corn youngsters and other friends here.

Vacation plans are exploding like pop corn here in town this week as changes are being made

Mrs. Lera Battles has returned home after visiting with relatives in Portales, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder left Saturday for a 10 day vacation trip to points in New Mexico and to Colorado Springs and Estes Park, Colorado. They were accompanied on the trip by their two sons.

in order for young ball players to meet their schedules. The Vernon Townsends will postpone any out-of-town trips and ditto the Hoot McGowens — this baseball is just mighty important, especially to the fellas involved.

Is your home a happy haven for insects? Do you own a mud dauber all your own? We do. His name is Merton and that's not all — he has a friend, Bessie. They buzz about the place with the carefree abandonment of summer tourists. Once, only once, not realizing it was Merton we aimed a bug spray at the guests. This brought on screams of "Murder! Fiend!" and other descriptive phrases — sooo — Merton travels the premises unmolested. Life on this hill may be maddening, but its never boring.

Miss Janis Abernathy To Teach at Sonora

At Sonora, she will direct the girls physical education program and teach high school biology. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Abernathy of Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Poe and son of Commerce spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gilbreath.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEX. — In an effort to "prevent confusion to occupants, mailmen and the public" when the second of two sleek, pink marble State Office Buildings on the Capitol grounds is completed soon, the State Building Commission re-named them after famous Texas patriots.

First State Office Building — generally referred to as "S. O. B. No. 1" — now is designated as the Sam Houston State Office Building; the second, called "S. O. B. No. 2", was named after John H. Reagan, first chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission and Postmaster General of the Confederacy.

Licensing Study Scheduled — House Speaker James A. Turman named Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont chairman of a new Committee to study operations of Texas Examining and Licensing Boards.

Reps. Sam Collins of Newton, Ben Atwell of Dallas, Don Gladden of Fort Worth and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi will serve on the committee.

Study group was set up to effect "an even greater understanding between the licensing boards and the Legislature," Turman said.

Objects of their research will be the 23 State examining and licensing boards organized for the purpose of testing every prospective practitioner of law, plumbing, cosmetology, barbering or hairdressing and 18 other professions and trades in Texas.

Textbooks Publicized — State Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar sent a list of 203 textbooks, offered for adoption by Texas schools, to all county and independent school district superintendents, and recommended that the list be publicized so the public will know it's available. Textbooks are those which the State Textbook Committee is studying for the 1963-64 school year. Number must be sifted down to 82 by October. This approved list then will be turned to the State Board of Education.

Between September 1 and 15, the committee will hear any objections private citizens may have to the books. Last fall, there were plenty of protests.

Major complaint was that the objectors didn't know which books were being considered in time to examine them fully.

Strong Voice Silent — When the Texas Railroad Commission held its monthly hearing to determine the August oil allowable, representatives from the major companies and independents were heard, but the strong voice of Commissioner Gen. Ernest O. Thompson was missing.

As one oilman after the other went up to urge a low eight-day allowable, no member of the Railroad Commission challenged them. If "the General" had been there, he might have done so, but he was seriously ill in his home in Amarillo.

Property Tax Still Low — The State's Automatic Tax Board kept to the lowest legal minimum when it set the State ad valorem tax rate for next year at 42 cents on each $100 valuation.

Tax boards have kept the State's property "tax take" down to the minimum for several years now. It was up to 77 cents per $100 valuation before a 30-cent general revenue tax was abolished in 1951.

Coke and Tom Green counties and the Dallas County Flood Control District are the only exceptions to the new rate. Rate is 30 cents in three areas.

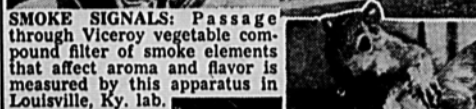

The 42-cent tax rate will provide 35 cents for free public school purposes; two cents for Confederate and Texas Ranger pensions and the State Building Commission fund; and five cents for the college building fund.

Short Snorts
While many other state departments were recommending increases in the biennial budgets, the General Land Office decided to ask for an $82,000 cut. Commissioner Jerry Sadler said new electronic accounting equipment could get cut for the proposed cut.

Attorney General's office received three contributions from independent oil operators this week to help defray the cost of directional surveys to locate illegally-deviated wells in East Texas. General Crude Oil Company of Houston donated $2,500; Goldston Oil Corporation of Houston $1,000; and Vaughn Petroleum, Inc. of Dallas $200.

Callahan County cotton farmers are urged to be on the look out for build up of insects in their crops. When the cotton is loading it is a critical time in the production period. Boll weevils and boll worms can be expected in most fields. To check for boll weevils pull one hundred squares at least one third grown, at random, removing a few squares at several representative places in field. If 15 to 25 percent have weevil punctures, treatment is needed. To check for boll worms examine the terminal buds found in the upper 3 to 4 inches of the plant. Examine 100 consecutive cotton plants and 100 consecutive squares and bolls at several points in the fields. Begin treatment when boll worm eggs and 4 or 5 young worms are found per 100 terminals or 5 per cent of the small bolls and squares have been injured by small boll worms. Need at least two five day interval treatments to do any good and possibly more. The Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects available at the county agents office gives detailed information on insect control.

The 12th annual Beef Cattle Course will be held at Texas A-&M College, July 30th-August 1st. An outstanding program is being planned for the course, programs on calf crop losses, nutrition and breeding problems are just a few of the things to be discussed.

A much asked question of late concerning the cattlemen who had suspects or reactors in the brucellosis testing program is when will those herds be tested. The ruling is that the reactor herds will be tested after 60 days but before 120 days from the time of the first test. The suspect cattle 30 to 90 days after the first or last test. The men working with the program try to test the cattle as soon after the sixty days is up as possible but sometimes can't get to them for several days.

Jerry Corn, who has been stationed at the Army base in Fort Gordon, Ga., received his discharge from the army and spent last week here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Corn, and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corn, who had also spent the week here visiting their parents, on their return to Denton, where Jerry will attend college. Other guests of the Lowell Corns, were their granddaughter, Shannon McKay of Denton, and Fay Borer of Ft. Gordon, Ga.
