753rd Now Up For Evening's Fun and Barbecue Here

Time about's fair play, and that's us folks here in Gatesville and Coryell county, so, 753rd, you're up—just as many of you as can possibly be handled Saturday afternoon and night.

Beginning at about 6:30 or 7 o'clock in Raby Park, Gatesville citizens are going to kill the fatted calf and the bloated bull via the barbecue route, and it's on the house to you men. In these instances, nobody's allowed, but soldiers, that is, the eats.

Then following the feed, the barbecue as many of you Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and other Southern states boys know, will be in the good old hot Mexican style, cooked in a pit or pan, with all the good flavor thrown in.

In the evening, there'll be an entertainment at the high school gym, all of which has not yet been worked out by the ones arranging the affair. Further information will be carried in Friday's issue of the News. Just watch his paper for more along this line.

Rooms! Rooms! Is It Filled or No! Advise C. of C.

If you've a vacancy, room, or apartment, or house, advise the Chamber of Commerce by phoning 58.

If you've one that's just been filled, advise them that too.

The reasons. First, so people can be placed or billeted that are coming. Second, if there are more applications than there are places, this fact will help get Gatesville named a defense housing area which, right now, seems very necessary.

Incidentally, if you plan renting your property to army personnel, it must be passed on by the "billeting" authorities of the U. S. Army. Just though you might like to know. And, too, to rush your renting up, you could list them in the Classified columns of the News, and this week it's half price—it's National Want Ad Week.

"Sugar" Meeting Wednesday Eve Sr. Hi. 8:30

According to Superintendent Ercell W. Brooks, there will be a "city" sugar rationing meeting at the senior high school auditorium Wednesday evening at 8:30.

Retailers, wholesalers, institutions (cafes, bottlers, boarding houses) are all asked to be present to hear a discussion and "working-out" of the sugar rationing.

No "individuals" invited.

PLAY AT BEABODY

There will be a play entitled "Grandpa's Twin Sister", staged in the Peabody school house Friday night, April 24. Every one is invited to attend.

Reginald Franks of Corpus Christi was here during the week end for a visit with his parents.

Artillery Fire to Stop "Civvies" In Camp Hood

Headquarters, Tank Destroyer Command, announced today that firing practice at Camp Hood would necessitate the closing of roads within a specified area to all civilian traffic, according to official notice sent the News by Lieutenant Colonel Wendell Westover.

Emphasis was placed on the danger to all who might enter the area. Heavy weapons will be fired in varying directions and their danger zone extends several miles.

Roads prohibited to all but the military as of May 1, include the Copperas Cove-Gatesville road via Antelope school (Old Georgetown Road) will be closed from Antelope school northward for seven miles to the intersection with Shell Gap road. The road from Pace's Ranch to Gatesville via Eliza will be closed from Eliza north via Graham School House for five miles to the intersection at Brown's Creek School House.

All residents of the area between these roads must evacuate before May 1. The names of those whose property is involved follows:

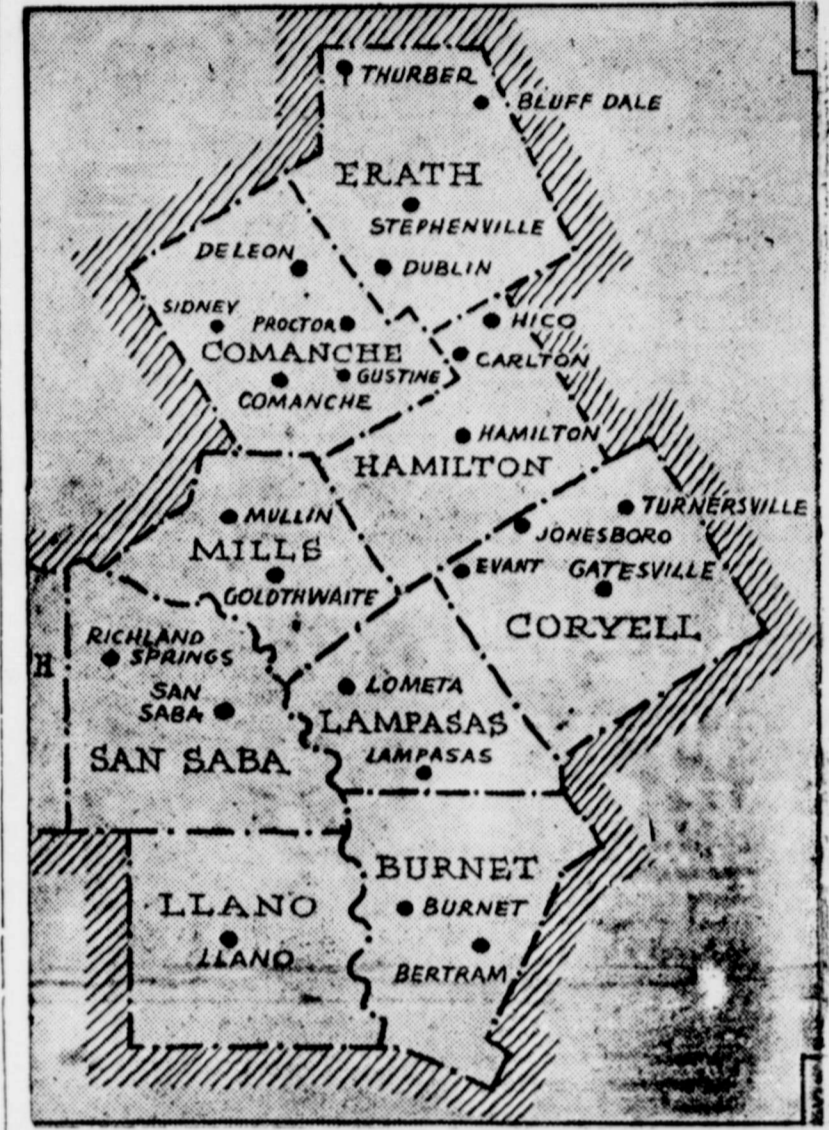

L. W. Cato, Sara B. Sadler, W. K. Sadler, J. W. Gannaway, Carl Goodwin, J. Edwards, Sam Hinson, Esther D. Davis, A. Gannaway, C. A. Fry, Verna Lee Fry, G. W. Wright, S. W. and E. E. Cox, Sam Cox, W. H. Jackson, G. C. Flemming, J. L. Gault, J. M. Manning et ux, G. W. Blackwell, Craig Thomas, C. P. Hill, A. J. Blackwell, J. A. White et ux, I. L. Morse.

Military police will establish road blocks but it was pointed out that entry into the area by any person would represent risk to life because direction of fire will be altered without notice. Both batteries and targets will be shielded from observation, and no visitors permitted. The firing will continue for two weeks, and may be extended.

There you are, the entire thing's official and as we got it. If you don't want to get into a mess, stay out of this area. Second warning.

David Franks of Wichita Falls spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Edgar Franks, and other relatives and friends here.

753rd--893rd! HERE'S A MAP OF THIS COUNTY, SHOWING NEIGHBORS ON 3 SIDES

We've had many requests for a map of Coryell county, and adjoining counties. This one if or the benefit of the men of the 893rd and the 753rd.

It's not so hot, but it's all we've got! And we're glad to pass it on "Arch Royal" Takes Trees, Fences, Everything Sun.

First, in behalf of all the "riders" out at the 753rd Tank Battalion "Tankeo", we're going to take it on our selves to "thank you", Major J. G. Felber and the other officers and men who spent their Sunday off, showing us "Civvies" a good time, for the ride.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Young Cedric Errol, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," learns that he is to inherit the estates and title of the Earl of Dorincourt. He goes with his mother to England to live with the gruff old Earl. The mother, an American woman, is not permitted on the grounds. She agrees to the separation for the sake of her son, who meanwhile begins to win the heart of the tough, old aristocrat.

Chapter Three

The next morning Little Lord Fauntleroy receives further introductions to the grand surroundings in which fate has placed him. He proceeds promptly to make a solid ing round his store. But if he'd known you I'm sure he would have felt quite different."

After Mordaunt departs the Earl tries to divert Ceddie's mind from Dearest by telling him about the pony that is awaiting him. Ceddie will not be put off. He and the Earl are driven to Court Lodge. The Earl does not get out, to Ceddie's surprise.

"Not — not to see Dearest?" he cries.

"Dearest will excuse me," says the Earl dryly. He gazes backward as the carriage is driven away and glimpses the eager greeting between mother and son. His face is bitter.

On the following Sunday at Erleboro Church the congregation is hugely excited. Gossip of the new Little Lord Fauntleroy has filled the countryside. As Dearest approaches the church all the tenants and their wives and families greet her. She has already made a good impresfriend of Dawson, who has been detailed to "take care of him."

"Miss Dawson or Mrs. Dawson?" he inquires of Mrs. Mellon, the housekeeper at the castle.

"Just Dawson, my lord," says Mrs. Mellon. "She is here to do anything you ask of her."

The haughty Earl is impatiently awaiting the appearance of his grandson in the library. Mr. Mordaunt, the clergyman, calls and hands his hat to Thomas, the footman. In the library he finds Ceddie and the Earl, down on their hands and knees, shooting marbles. The sight almost staggers Mordaunt.

"Any good at marbles, Mordaunt?" the Earl asks his amazed caller. He astonishes Mordaunt further by giving him a gracious hand shake. Then he introduces Ceddie as "the new Lord Fauntleroy."

"Fauntleroy, this is the rector of the parish."

Mordaunt has come to plead the cause of one of the Earl's tenants, Higgins, who is behind in his rent. Higgins' wife is ill. Ceddie listens to the conversation interestedly.

"What would you do in this case?" the Earl asks Ceddie.

"I should let him stay and give him the things for his children that they need."

Dorincourt directs Ceddie to write a letter to Newick, the Earl's agent, saying Higgins is not to be interfered with for the present. Mordaunt is astonished. Ceddie writes:

"Dear Mr. Newick if you please Mr. Higgins is not to be inturfeared with for the present and oblige Yours respectfully
"Fauntleroy."

Ceddie tells his grandfather: "I think you must be the best person in the world... I shall write and tell Mr. Hobbs."

"What is Mr. Hobbs' opinion of Earle?" the old man asks.

"He thought — you mustn't mind — that they were gory tyrants and he said he wouldn't have them hang-sion and Higgins has spread far and wide the story of the letter that Ceddie wrote to him. The general opinion is that the new Lord Fauntleroy is "Captain Cedric comes to life again!"

There is excitement when the Earl himself is seen coming to church with his grandson. They enter the Dorincourt pew and Ceddie glances across the church at his mother.

He sees a tablet on the wall showing two figures in antique dress, hand uplifted before missals. An inscription on the tablet says:

"Here lyeth ye bodye of Gregorie Arthure, Fyrst Earle of Dorincourt. Allsoe of Alisone Hildegarde hys wyfe."

"Who are they?" Ceddie asks his grandfather excitedly.

"Some of your ancestors who lived a few hundred years ago," the Earl answers.

After the service Higgins approaches Lord Fauntleroy and begs permission to thank him.

"I only wrote the letter," Ceddie tells him. "It was my grandfather who did it. You know how kind he always is to everybody."

And the Earl, wearing a very grim smile indeed, adds:

"You see, Higgins, people have been mistaken in me. When you want reliable information on the subject of my character, apply to him. Get into the carriage, Fauntleroy."

On the way to the castle the carriage passes Dearest. Ceddie waves while his grandfather ignores her. The Earl engages him in conversation about Dearest, and Ceddie assures him that he misses her greatly even though he sees her almost every day.

"If I didn't live with you," the boy says earnestly, "I should think about you all the more."

"Pon my word, I believe you would!" the Earl exclaims.

Have a Comparatively NEW HOUSE in Camp Area Will Sell ERNEST CUMMINGS

I have just returned from a few days in Texas. It was good to get home and to meet old friends even though in the short time I was there it was utterly impossible to see any large percent of the friends I would have enjoyed seeing. Each time I get home I plan to visit various counties. I do visit several counties, but when you recall that there are nearly one hundred post offices and approximately two hundred voting boxes in our district, you will be able to see how impossible it is for a Congressman to see all of his constituents. Another thing that most people don't think of is the fact that just as soon as I get home, people begin to phone me and to come to see me. I want them to feel free to do this, but I hope that they will realize that I can't always promise to stay at home till they get there. And on the other hand, I hope those who don't come to see me will realize that it is impossible for me to come to the various counties of the district and at the same time see all of those who do try to come to see me. I, therefore, try to do some of both—to see as many as I can at Waco and to visit as many points in the district as I can.

Another item to keep in mind is the fact that when I am home, as I was the last few days, I have no facilities or opportunity to write letters and that I am very likely to lose some of the notes that I make about the matters people discuss with me. It is, therefore, always desirable to write me a letter at Washington giving all the details. We are always glad to try to serve any citizen of the 11th district, but we can only help when we are given all the facts.

Naturally, the news of the recent Japanese success in the Philippines has been most unwelcome here just as it has been at home, but I think that it is a mistake to assume that this reverse was unexpected. On the other hand, the wonderful resistance of our heroic troops and brave Philippine Allies has so far surpassed anything that had been expected that all America should be proud and not discouraged. I know that many families in Central Texas had loved ones on Bataan Peninsula. I know that what suspense the people wait for more details. My own relatives fall within this group. Just as soon as the Army has definite information of any loss or injury, it will advise the family. We are happy to ask that a check be made for any individual, but of course, we won't be able to get any information until the Army prepares its official list.

In the meantime, America should be encouraged by the fine way in which production is getting along. I think we can safely say today that never before has American production moved so rapidly and so smoothly. Apparently, the publicity that has been given to some of the defects in our productive effort and the public discussions that have followed have been productive of good results. Any way, both labor and management seem to be making a serious effort to turn out the goods needed to win the war. This spirit is most encouraging. With it, America can not lose. There are still many evils to correct. There will still be defects. We can not overcome a ten years' start overnight or even in a year, but we can, and we are overcoming it.

Next week the Senate will take up the Connally Labor bill. The House is ready to take up the Smith and Vinson Bills, but I am afraid that the Committees that have been considering these bills are not going to be ready to report. Personally, I feel that the committees have had enough time and that the bills should be brought before us without further delay. If we do not get these bills, we will undoubtedly have a conference report on the last appropriation bill which contains a limitation of profits on defense work. Such a limitation has already been favorably considered by both houses, but in different forms. The two houses must now get together I think they will do this without any difficulty. I voted for the limitation of 6 per cent which the House imposed, but I would be perfectly willing to support the graduated limit contained in the Senate Bill, believing that there should be a definite limitation on all war profits. We don't want this war to produce any millionaires, and I shall vote for all measures to prevent any unwarranted profits.

BETWEEN BOTTLES

By Mat & Joe's "Ghost Writer"

Us men's been quiet a long time. We're goin' to open up now, just like those big tanks of the 753rd do when they hit town, and Mom thinks we are the "Tank Two" when we open up at home.

Joe, he's built more on the "tank" idea, and Pa says I'm built more on the "Tank Destroyer" type—get in and slap and rap 'em and get out.

Now, if you've seen Mr. Barnum and Mr. Bailey's circus, don't them tanks going thru town remind you of their 'lefants' paradin'. They do to us.

We ain't missed a parade yet, not of these Army men. We're just like the Indians that met the Mayflower—we haven't missed a train yet, and what's more, we ain't gointa.

Mom's got us a couple of Kacki suits, and we really do strut our stuff when we get down to Grandma's Flower Shop. Pop don't like for us to "get in the machinery" in the Noos office—besides, we get the uniforms black, and, well, with flowers, you can't get messed up much.

We went to the street dance the other night, but Mom didn't have our uniforms pressed and we couldn't do any "cuttin' in". Those gals and Soldiers were sure doin' some "rug cuttin'." Joe, he's the best in this, every time Pop turns on the radio, he commences shakin' and jivin'. Looks like he is goin' to be a heartbreaker when he grows up a little. They say I'm more of the "quiet type", and you gals all know what that means. Still water does run deep.

With the merchants shorten us on ads cause you folks don't say nuthin, we're goin' to have to cut this short, Pop says. Why don't you tell 'em you did, or you didn't see their add in the News? We might rite more. Well, so long, anyway, and now, it's between 2 bottles, and it's that time now, so so long, from Mat 'n Joe.

P. S.: Soldier, we'll be here Saturday, and we'll show you how to Salute, least, I will. Joe ain't learned yet! Will, if I'm in the notion.

Dear Dora ad Bill:
How's about a cup of coffee? Thanks. I've just had two. They feed us unusually well here. Cafeteria style. We usually have a variety of good meats, snapped beans, corn, soup and potatoes. On each table we have 6 different kinds of Heinz sauces, 4 qts. of Kraft cheese, (4 kinds), coffee, milk and orange juice to drink. Usually ice cream and cake for dessert. One good thing about it you can have all you want of what you want. Still I wish I had one of those good biscuits we had with our chicken one time.

WITH THE COLORS

Here's two letters from Coryell county boys who are in the service in different parts of the USA.

—v—
McCord Field,

I have completed my six weeks recruit training and should be put to duty soon. I am in Q. M. Detachment of the Air Corps and am proud of it. Bill, if you sign up for a cook when you enter you will find it to come under QM.
The Army isn't so bad so don't dread it. You'll find being away from home to be the worst thing to overcome.

I took the platoon I'm in out to drill for an hour and half this A. M. Just keeping in practice. Our Corporal had a sore throat but why he turned it over to me is a puzzle. My first time to give commands. When I quit drilling them he asked me when or where I'd drilled before—said, boy, you are d— good not to have had more than 6 weeks.

So Punk is married. Tell her I was asking about her— from what I hear I wouldn't know the Cozy. Bet it looks good.

I've been writing this sitting on my bunk so bet you have a time reading this.

Be good and drop me a line sometime. I think of you often.
"Rip"

Well, from memory, Rip, we didn't eat like you are now, between 1919 and 1922. The features then were carrots, "slum" coffee in soup bowls, and Saturday afternoon and Sunday "cold meats". Lazy cooking, and a short "mess fund".

—v—
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard are in New York City to appear before the Northern Baptist Foreign Mission Board for their final examinations as missionaries to India. Francis Rutherford from Mitchell Field, Long Island, New York, joined them today for a visit.

Mrs. Laura Butler of Lubbock is visiting Mrs. J. P. Kendrick and other relatives and friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alvis Sr. visited Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alvis and baby son, James Eugene, in Austin Sunday.

Men with the Colors!

According to Frank Slamon, 893rd

NOTE: The News has its tongue hanging out, Captain Fowler Johnson, for that "dope" about your grand outfit. We're going to spread out this heading, and give you a "by-line" when we receive the gab column, news, or what-you-will from your department. Let your letter come, Captain, the receiving end's ready.

We play no favorites to men in uniform.

According to Slamon
Soft Ball Notes

With the announcement of the Battalion Softball schedule, Lieut. Lavin, Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company, immediately called in two ex-major leaguers to guide the destiny of his company in the inter-battalion softball-league. Managing the Headquarters team is Tommy Cox who last year played center field for Baltimore Orioles in the International League, and who led the league in batting till his accident in late August. Co-Manager of this potentially strong club is Rege Leheny who played with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Boston Red Sox, and finished up last September with the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast League. With Cox and Leheny forming a nucleus, and with other players like Ben Whalen and Joe Howley, who were team mates on the strong Gulf Refining team in the Pittsburgh Industrial League, Lieut. Lavin promises that his team will give more than a good account of themselves on the diamond.

With Al Dietrich, Johnny Hornyak and Johnny Knapp, three formed Duquesne University athletes taking the field for the Medical Detachment, Captain Hegarty and Lieut. Shibble expect to give plenty of headaches to their opponents. Though numerically small, the "Pillrollers" have knocked off several of the company teams in practice games. Captain Hegarty has appointed Wilson Hamilton to handle the reins of the team on the field.

Major S. E. Mays, Commanding Officer, has appointed Captain Kerlin, Captain Jones, Lieut. Lavin and Lieut. Kramer as umpires for the opening two games.

Games will commence at 6:00 p. m., and there will be two games

HOME ECO CLASSES FOR BOYS AT HS: ALSO NEWS OF 3rd YR. GIRLS

That's one on us! Home Economics for Boys! General Home Economics Class for Boys of GHS have been making a study of first-aid.

The national emergency, according to our reporter, is the cause of this, and various teachers in the school have been able to make a more thorough study of this necessity.

Care an dtreatment for the different types of wounds, fractures, the anatomical structure of the body and artificial respiration are being taught by Mrs. Lou Hatter, Miss Wilhelmina Cayce, Miss Aurora Youngue, and Earl Worley.

The Third Year Homemaking Class has been making an extensive study of food values and stressing principally the Food for Victory and Freedom theme.

Substitutes for sugar are being studied and also, making salads from fresh fruits and vegetables.

This is the class that served and prepared the table for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

"?", May Be! Looks Like "7" To Us! Logan's Hen Egg

Eggs may come, and eggs may go, but egg stories go on and on and on—that ought to be "ote" instead of etc.

Anyway, we've another egg, brought in by John Logan of Pidoke Star Route.

Folks have seen these strange eggs, and asked us if we did it. Folks, the News prints everything but money and eggs, and we draw the line there. We do sell egg stamps. We positively didn't have anything to do with the contour of these eggs.

Mother Nature and the Old Settin' Hen done it. We'll take the "rap" for a lot of things, but draw the line on these egg markings.

played each evening Monday thru Friday.

Nurses and Soldiers Guests

At a barbecue and dance sponsored by the Junior Class of the Scott and White Hospital in Temple last Saturday night, the Graduating Class of Nurses and forty Enlisted Men of the 893rd Tank Destroyer Battalion played the role of honorees. With music furnished by the old reliable "juke box", dancing got under way immediately after the barbecued dinner and "taps" was blown at 11:00 p. m.

Laugh of the Week

Tech. Brennan, two-ton cook from Headquarters Company, made a formal application for a "wound stripe" after receiving a slight cut on the scalp in an automobile mix up Sunday morning.

"ARCH ROYAL" —

"Ark or Arch Royal", and the Sergeant took us for a "spin" in that bundle of steel and motors. Trees, well, they didn't matter, "nor rain, nor sleet, nor snow, nor rock fences, nor ditches, nor mud." These elephants of the U. S. Army's 753rd Tank Battalion just have a way about them getting on their way, and they don't care what's in that way.

Grandma, Grandpa, Mom, and the Jones Boys, Inc., sneaked rides in Scotty, an untamed "jeep" or "peep", "beep" or whatever they call them, and their account, is that they are Hellcats on wheels. The "up-swing" is okkeh, but that "down-beat" is bad on the upholstery, your own. Grandma and Mom doubled back and took a tank ride, themselves.

When the "half-track" call was sounded, we didn't want to overdo a good thing, so we didn't ride, and the ones that did, tell us confidentially, that they're the roughest yet.

Now, regarding that Arch, or Ark Royal, we were hoping it was not the Ark Royal, because another implement of war by the self-same name went down, and we had no intentions of going down, not with something as heavy as the Ark Royal around our necks. Sergeant, she rode okeh, but, let's change the name to Arch, if it isn't that.

Found out the reason for these names and what they indicate, but that might be a military secret, so we'll keep it.

Thanks, thanks, again, and we understand, Major Felber, yesterday and today also, are "open house" days for the 753rd, and it's implements of war.
