"We Bathe The Nation" New City Slogan Here

After an all night dray, followed by a day of dust, sweat, toil and a few tears, the best thing which Gatesville could, and did give some of these boys who have "gone somewhere on the globe" was a nice cool shower.

This has been going at about 800 a click and well, we just wanted to keep that Old Coryell county soil here.

We're tickled to hear about the Chamber of Commerce and the local school authorities collaborating on this and we therefore place a "plum of accomplishment" an army "A" if we may in their hair or on their chests. That's grand, folks, and 'twas a pleasure to be of service to the "service."

LEO M. BROWN HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 1

To the People of Commissioner Beat 1:

I want to take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation and thanks to the voters of Beat 1 for the votes I received in the first primary.

Therefore, I take this method of asking you to look into my past record and asking each of you to give me consideration and support if possible in the next election day.

I am trying to see each of you personally before August 22, but the time is short and I may not be able to do so. Please accept this as a personal solicitation for your vote and influence. I promise a fair and square deal to all.

Yours respectfully,
LEO M. BROWN,
Candidate Commissioner Beat 1.
(Political Ad. 1tc.)

JOE WHITE HAS A STATEMENT FOR CORYELL VOTERS

To the Voters of Coryell County:

I desire at this time to express to you my appreciation for the many favors shown me during my campaign, and the splendid vote given me in the primary election.

I will do my best to merit the confidence that you have placed in me.

Sincerely yours,
JOE WHITE.

ROY EVETTS HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 2

To the People of Beat 2:

I deeply appreciate the votes I received in Saturday's election. I take this means of thanking each of you who voted for me and those who voted for my opponent. I thank you for your consideration. Now that I am in the run-off, I am asking each of you for your careful consideration and if possible, your vote on Saturday, August 22.

Sincerely,
ROY EVETTS,
Candidate Commissioner Beat 2.

Cafeteria Blows Up At Blue Bonnet; Details Lacking

Late yesterday while testing for gas leaks at the cafeteria at Blue Bonnet Ordnance Plant at McGregor, the gas was ignited and one of the cafeteria walls blew out.

Talking to Charlie Hall, editor of The McGregor Mirror, about 7 o'clock last night, we were unable to find whether anybody had been killed or not. One worker from Blue Bonnet returned to Gatesville and said there were several injured but how seriously was not learned. One unnamed man had head injuries and another received a broken leg.

Cranes were being used at that time to take the wall away so the wreckers could search the ruins.

J. H. BROWN HAS STATEMENT FOR CORYELL CO. VOTERS

To the Voters of Coryell County:

I take this method of thanking those who voted for me for their loyal support. I deeply appreciate the vote given me and hold no malice against those who voted against me. When the army camp moved in near Gatesville, as usual there was a great influx of undesirables that followed. It has taken all of the time of both myself and my deputy, day and night, to cope with this condition, but I feel that I have held it down to the minimum. This being true, I was unable to make a campaign.

I had to decide between letting such lawlessness go rampant and making it, so I chose to do my duty instead of making the campaign. I will continue to do my best to meet the situation until January 1st when I will retire as sheriff of Coryell County with malice toward no one. I am deeply grateful to all who voted for me and used their influence in my behalf.

J. H. BROWN,
(Political Ad. 1tc.)

A. M. (Bub) BERRY HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 1

To you good friends of Beat 1, I just don't have words to express my sincere gratitude and thanks to each one of you for that good vote I received in last Saturday's election. And I earnestly solicit your support and influence in the second primary.

Yours truly,
A. M. (Bub) Berry,
Candidate Commissioner Beat 1.
(Political Adv. 1tc.)

NOTHIN' DOIN' IN DISTRICT COURT THIS WEEK; MON'S JURY

Nothing to report, was the answer given by District Clerk Carl McClendon, when queried by the News Thursday. Guess everybody took off to watch trains. We did.

GOT YOUR HOUSE RENTED; "YES," OR "NO" CALL C. OF C.

That's it. If you've got your rooms rented, call the Chamber of Commerce, so they won't be sending folks out through the hot sun disturbing you and needlessly tiring the "lookers."

If you haven't got your rooms rented, for gosh sakes, call the Chamber of Commerce and tell them. People are walking the streets right here looking for accommodations. Twenty-five were placed Wednesday, just to give you a rough idea what's being done.

From June 20 to July 20 thirty-five dwellings units were rented, that is, apartments or houses and 178 rooms. There must be more.

Sometimes I wonder if all this drivel is worth the effort that it takes to write it. I sit for hours trying to get a good idea for a column but things never seem to pan out the way that I plan. So I give up trying for a novel idea and in its place I'll give you the usual stuff and stuff.

"Fashion Boy" LeConne has taken a fancy to all sorts of will beasts and seldom the night goes past that he doesn't have one of the smelly things in his bed. Funny thing that a guy like that will want to live with such creatures. They say that he is trying to import a snake from Panama for the coming month. If such a thing ever takes place either the reptile or "Fashion Boy" will suffer.

The boys who were furloughing are back and once again we are one happy family. Some of the guys came in a day before they

The best looking guy we have here in the camp is a guy by the name of Kulasik and I hear tell that he is being chained to the bed every night. OAD PAINTER HAS A STATEMENT FOR VOTERS OF BEAT 4

To the Voters of Beat 4:
I wish to express my sincere thanks for the nice vote I received in the first primary. I am grateful to each of you.

I am sure a number of people have wondered why I did not solicit any votes prior to the first primary Saturday and I desire at this time to explain why I did not do so. In January or February of this year I told Tom Chambers and also Oscar Taylor that I was not going to be a candidate for reelection and I did not think it right or fair to those two gentlemen for me to solicit any votes after making that statement even though my friends placed my name before the people and for that reason I did not ask anyone to vote for me or solicit votes in any respect. Now having been placed in the run-off with another and having kept my word to Mr. Chambers and Mr. Taylor I feel free to solicit as many votes as I can possibly get.

Due to the war conditions and the rubber shortage I can not make a house to house canvass but will see as many of you as possible. To those of you I do not see please consider this as a personal solicitation for your vote, and influence in the second primary.

Sincerely yours,
OAD PAINTER,
Candidate Commissioner Beat 4.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
When Steve Larwitz's adoration of his beautiful young wife, Brenda, leads him to seek quick riches by a series of shad deals, he runs afoul of dangerous underworld interests, and an attempt on his life results. Brenda begs him to cease his operations and go abroad with her. When he refuses, she conspires with his friend and lawyer, Slant Kolna, to have Steve brought up on income tax charges which, Slant reforms her, will put him in jail and out of harm's reach for a year. But Slant, who secretly desires Brenda and has his own ideas for Steve's future, conducts Steve's defense in such a way that he is sentenced to ten years in Federal prison. Brenda engages an apartment across the bay from the prison to be near Steve, and the thought that she is waiting for him there gives him comfort. Brenda becomes friendly with Mary Bogale, another "rock widow," and on a nocturnal walk they encounter a strange but attractive youth, Tim Nolan.

ever produced.
A delivery boy entered the vestibule, rang Brenda's bell, and addressed the speaking tube. "Package for Miss Bentley."

Nolan whispered to his dog, "Go on, Smitty, follow that guy." Smitty's forte was obedience. He sauntered into the apartment at the heels of the delivery boy; and Brenda found herself in possession of a great Dane with the legend on his collar plate: "My name is Smitty. If you find me call Prospect 6760."

When Tim Nolan presented himself at Brenda's apartment in response to her telephone call, she was outraged to see who it was. "Why, of all the petty con-ning —"

"I know, I know. It's collegiate and underhanded, but you forced me to it. Mind if I sit down? I'm exhausted. Do you realize this maneuvering has taken up practically my entire morning?"

"Must I make it, definite last definite. Come away, Smitty. Bentley doesn't like us." Before they left, he suggested to Smitty that he kiss the lady goodbye. In the resulting tangle of dog and girl, which caused Brenda to collapse with helpless laughter, Nolan resumed his seat. He kept it for quite awhile...

All the way out to the flying field in the station wagon, Nolan had been talking about planes, particularly about a marvelous something which he called G-6.

Chapter Four

Tim Nolan's telephone conversation continued for quite awhile. In fact, it went on and on, while the two girls fumed, and Mary began calling out comments to him through the booth door. Meanwhile they saw an empty cab draw up in front of the drug store.

Slant's amorous warning still preyed on her mind.

and made a rush for it; they ran a poor second to the sailor and his girl who climbed in.

When they returned to the booth, its occupant was just emerging.

"See what you done!" Mary berated him. "You and Morley sure fixed us up. It's going to be hours before I get home. Say, you got a car?"

The young man looked at them curiously. "Yes."

"What about a lift? After all, it's your fault?"

He graciously offered them a lift anywhere they might desire to go, and led the way to a dinky little station wagon parked outside. Brenda declined the favor, but Mary climbed aboard, said good night, and was on her way home.

The telephone awoke Brenda a few hours later. It was Tim Nolan, who said he felt that he simply must report to her that her friend had reached home safely.

"It was quite an experience — I'm sure you'd be amused at the details. Could I give them to you at luncheon tomorrow?...I see. How about dinner then?"

Brenda declined, firmly though politely. "No, thank you... Yes, that's quite definite. Goodbye."

In the morning Mary arrived with an epic headache, and reported that her boss had fired her from her manicurist's job for being late. Brenda mixed her a large glass of bromo seltzer, and scolded her for giving her telephone number to Nolan.

"I suppose you told him where I live, too?"

"Absolutely not! He tried — but that's the one thing I held out on."

At the same moment, nevertheless, Nolan was patiently lounging in the vestibule of the apartment house. With him was one of the largest Great Danes that particularly large breed of dogs had

When they drove onto the field and alighted, a light, fast plane was just making a beautiful landing a short distance away. Nolan led her over to the plane, from which a French Army officer emerged. Two or three other French officers and a couple of American officers joined them.

To Brenda's amazement, all began congratulating Nolan fervently upon the performance of the plane. The Frenchmen spoke to him anxiously about delivery of a couple of hundred from his plant. All agreed that it was the fastest thing they had yet seen in the air.

Brenda looked at him, for the first time really impressed. "This is quite a discovery, Mr. Station Wagon Driver."

"I'm sorry. I thought this would all be over before we got here. Come on. I want to show you something."

He propelled her to a ship that turned out to be his own private plane. "Look — isn't she a beauty? Look at those lines. There's poetry in them!"

She remained non-committal. He insisted on showing her the interior. Before she knew it, he had slammed the door, and announced that they were going for a little ride.

"Oh, no I'm not," said Brenda, making for the door. "I let you talk me into coming down to see this thing, but I'm not going for a ride."

"Afraid?"

"I like to keep my feet on the ground."

"Stop dodging — you are afraid. Don't you know what you have to do when you're afraid of something? Face it!" He pushed her gently into the seat beside him. She felt the plane speed down the runway and in a moment they were off the ground.

ALEUTIANS IMPORTANT

Behind the army-navy attempts to blast the Japs out of the Aleutian islands is more than natural antipathy to having an enemy on American soil or the fear of an invasion of Alaska.

These are important. But, in addition, events in Egypt may mean that more than ever we shall have to use these vital stepping stones of the Aleutian islands to carry the war to the heart of Japan.

To get the full significance of the picture it is necessary to recall that ever since Pearl Harbor there has been an honest difference of opinion among U. S. war strategists as to whether we should concentrate on fighting Japan in the Pacific or Hitler in Europe.

At one time, shortly after Pearl Harbor, high-up U. S. naval advisers worked out an elaborate war plan, which is no longer a secret, for concentrating almost all our naval strength in the Pacific and making a direct attack on the Japanese islands—at a time when the Japs had their lines dispersed to Manila, Singapore and the South Seas.

But the plan meant leaving the Atlantic coast relatively unguarded, also virtually abandoning convoys to Britain and Russia. In the end it was decided that the Russian front was all-important and must be supplied at all costs. The wisdom of this decision seems to have been borne out by subsequent events.

Japs Worried.

However, those who urge the all-out war in Asia have persisted, and their argument has been strengthened by recent developments. One is the fact that the Japs, obviously scared at the prospect of a second front in Asia, are fighting feverishly to clean out the Chinese before China gets important help from us. Fear of a second front in Asia also was why the Japs nipped part of the Aleutian islands.

Main development, however, was the defeat at Tobruk and the serious Nazi threat to the entire Near East; for if the Near East falls, with its vital supply route opened by American railroad engineers from the Gulf of Persia to the Caucasus, then it may be absolutely imperative to open new supply lines to Russia via Alaska and Siberia.

And, even more important, the entire focus of the war, so far as the United States is concerned, may turn to the Far East; for, if Hitler secures the oil of Iran, Iraq and Mosul, it may be the wisest strategy to knock Japan out of the war first—because the Nazis will have the resources to continue for a long time.

WHAT IS AN EXPERT?

When Federal Communications Chairman Lawrence Fly appeared before the house interstate commerce commission recently, he was asked by Representative Clarence Brown of Ohio:

"What is your definition of an expert?"

"Well," replied Fly, "I once heard an expert described as any damned fool away from home."

"Do you pick your experts at the FCC on that basis?" inquired Congressman Brown.

"No," said Fly. "We generally take them from the industry, where they have proven their worth."

"I am asking these questions because of a peculiar experience I had recently," explained the Ohio congressman, and went on to tell how a congressional committee had referred him to an expert on accounting, "a young man who graduated from college in 1939 and was still a trifle wet behind the ears."

A short time later, Brown continued, he called at the War Production board on another matter and was referred to an "agricultural expert." Lo and behold, the expert proved to be the same young man.

"Following this, I again called at the WPB on a matter pertaining to metal," said Brown. "This time I was referred to an expert on copper and, believe it or not, Mr. Fly, it was the same agent."

Benefits to Federal Land Band Borrowers

Farmers and ranchmen of this territory served by the Coryell National Farm Loan Association will save approximately $48,840.00 during the next 2 years through continued low interest rates on Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans, Mr. M. Blakenship Secretary-Treasurer of the association reported Monday.

This saving, Mr. Blakenship explained, results from legislation recently passed by Congress, which continues through June 30, 1944, the 3½ percent interest rate on long-term Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner Loans.

The Coryell National Farm Loan Association has approximately $1,628,000 in loans outstanding.

IN OUR

Camp Bullis, Det.,
Camp Bullis, Texas.

Mr. Mat Jones,
Coryell County News,
Gatesville, Texas.

Dear Mat:

Writing you from the wilderness of Camp Bullis, which is 28 miles northwest of San Antonio. The most wonderful ranch country one could find. The government has bought several ranches, which includes 90,000 acres.

One old stone house they say is over 100 years old, "a beautiful old ranch home." A spring of water in the house, big trees surround the front and the rear of the house sits against a mountain.

From the front you can see over several thousand acres. All the stone, of course was hand cut. Grass is knee high, as there hasn't been any stock on it for several years.

All kinds of game, deer by the thousands. They are almost tame, wild turkey, quail, what game there is left in Texas is here at Camp Bullis.

Sure, it is protected by Uncle Sam. Range riders live in these old ranch homes. They ride the range everyday. I understand they have an open season, "one week every 5 years." You wouldn't have to get out of your tent to get your limit, and you wouldn't lose over 15 minutes of your time. From listening to the old timers talk, it's just like Texas was 100 years ago. "It's a wilderness."

Visited another ranch home here at the camp. Its an old stone home, remodeled. A beautiful place. The government owns it now. No one lives in it, and it has hard-wood floors, private baths in every bed room. Petrified wood as pillars for the front porch, shipped from the petrified forest of Arizona. A large swimming pool fed from ever-lasting springs; bird baths, walks, rock barns. It is built near a ravine and reminds me a lot of Dr. M. W. Lowery's home. This place was known as the Panther Spring Ranch. It's a palace sitting back four miles from the road; not the highway, but just a country road. It would be at least 15 miles from the highway. It was the best modern equipped ranch that I ever saw, with thousands of acres surrounding it. This palace was not all together built to live in, but to die in.

The only earth that was ever plowed upon these ranches were just gardens. This ranch was an empire to itself.

If you and your family, or anyone from Coryell county wants to see deer by the hundreds from the car, just drive through the camp. Come down some Sunday and see Texas as it was 100 years ago. It is still here in the wilderness of Camp Bullis.

Mat, no news to write. As everybody knows, the war is going on. W. Lee O'Daniel is going to keep his seat in the Senate. Can't get no tires, not much sugar, and John P. Reesing shaking his front door 30 minutes before he is sure it is locked, as everyone knows all of this. I can't add no news to this letter.

FOOD FOR FREEDOM

By Sidney G. Gibson, Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

4-H Club and Home Demonstration Club Poultry Demonstrators are counting the eggs gathered daily and keeping a record of them. They are counting the cost of feed grown at home, feed bought, oyster shell bought, and other expenses and keeping a record of it. They are putting down prices received from sales of eggs, fryers, hens and value of those used at home. They are keeping up with number of hens culled out of their flocks and the number that have died during the month. By subtracting the total expense from the total income they can determine the profit or loss from their poultry demonstration. A report card received from the poultry demonstrator at the Slater 4-H Club, Donna Williamson, showed a profit of $38.92 during July with 95 hens and 150 fryers. A report card submitted by the Home Demonstration Club poultry demonstrator at Mound, Mrs. H. W. Bragewitz, shows a profit of $6.87 during June for her 50 hens. The record shows that in addition to this profit, eggs sold paid for feed for 75 growing chickens that are not in production yet.

An interesting Home Demonstration Club program was prepared by the members of the Better Homes Club at Mound. This was a meeting with out the Home Demonstration agent present and the club members took parts on the program. They demonstrated their favorite kitchen gadgets. These included kitchen tongs for lifting hot foods from boiling water, egg whippers, potato peelers, lemon and orange squeezers, food choppers, nut meat choppers. A prize of a set of measuring spoons was given to the club member whom they voted to have the most interesting one. They agreed on the potato chipper shown by Mrs. W. H. Winters. This gadget consisted of a metal frame with a spike in it to pierce the potato and a crank. As the operator turned the crank the potato rotated and a blade sliced it into a thin ruffle ready for frying as potato chips.

A 2-foot stake driven in the ground, a layer of short sticks on the ground, some clean hay on them and tied to the stake is the foundation of storage for a week's supply of root vegetables. The vegetables are placed in the hay, covered over with more hay and plenty of dirt shoveled over them making a mound shaped storage structure. A V-shaped piece of tin is placed atop the 2-foot stake and held in place by bailing wire weighted with rocks which provides protection from rain. These mounds have recently been constructed at Purmela, Pidcoke, Harmon, Union, Mound, The Grove at Miss Sybil Basham, Mrs. L. Kemp, Mrs. L. Hill, Mrs. Roy Gallegly, Mrs. Jessie Miller homes, respectively.

So It's the Navy

Maybe one reason why Iowa boys like to enlist in the navy is that after a battle the admirals can put some of 'em on a home-ward bound ship for a furlough, while the army men who go overseas are bye-bye for the duration.—Des Moines Register.

The two most remarkable human traits are man's ignoble, craven, greedy badness and his noble, courageous, unselfish goodness.

Mr. Ward Burris, Sports Editor, The Express, San Antonio, Texas.

Dear Wardie:

My raddio was a smelling the other night and I thought I had a hort, but it was just one one of them poltishuns a callin' another one names. No wonder it has been so hot and sultry the last week. One poltishun said to another, "You ain't fit to eat with pigs," and the other one shouted back, "you're a liar, I am too."

I was down to Camp Hulen the other day and had dinner with the soldier boys. We had something that might have been hase, loowed like stew, tasted like soud, and I guess what it was was one of the cook's military secrets.

I seen a sign in front of a movie last week what said, "They Died With Their Boots On and Shorts." Some of these movies could improve if they'd shoot less pictures and more actors.

I was a lookin' at the real estate ads last Sunday and I asked Uncle Tobias how he'd like to see a model home. And he said, "Fine, what time does she go home, and where does she live?"

Unk got on another jag this week. He was perty well organized. I found him down in the lot a feedin' the cow milk, and a tryin' to get her to sing, "It all comes back to me now."

I see where Rollie Hemsley was dropped by the Reds and signed up with the big leaguers. Goin' from the Reds to the Yanks is like being fired as cashier and made president of a bank. Old Lady Luck slapped Rollie right in the puss with a World Series check.

I'll be seein' you, Pal. Keep 'em Flyin'.

serve and write of them, for at one time and at the same time he was postmaster, lieutenant-colonel of militia and justice of the peace in the little community of Webber's Prairie.

The Postal Predicament

"When the mail route up to Austin was opened," he wrote late in life, "we were allowed an office in Webber's Prairie. I was appointed postmaster, with a certain percentage of all the money I took in to pay me for my trouble. That was long before the advent of postage stamps, and the charge for letters was twenty-five cents, payable at either end of the line. Letters were consequently few and far between."

A man named Peter Carr was the first mail carrier to serve under Smithwick, and it so happened that Carr was too accommodating to think of collecting those postage fees on letters he delivered. It wasn't long before Smithwick began to suspect that something was wrong with the system and not much longer before he discovered what the trouble was.

"I then straightway notified the postal department that unless they would furnish a locked pouch I would throw up my commission," he wrote. "I served a year or more, using my dwelling house for an office, and never got a cent either for my services or office rent."

His Judicial Career

During that year Smithwick got his commission in the militia. It paid nothing. At about the same time he consented to be elected justice of the peace—though, as he put it in his customary ironic way, "I was not selfishly inclined and had no desire to monopolize the offices"—so that he might marry his friend the school master.

"On the bench," he wrote, "I was a shining success, not one of my decisions ever being excepted to." That, it appears, is because he made none. The only case settled in court, apparently, concerned a Lipan Indian who proved that a white settler had stolen his horse, and it was settled only when Smithwick, preplexed by a situation just the reverse of normal, asked the Indian what ought to be done. "Oh, turn him loose," the Indian replied, and he did. Otherwise, his official acts consisted of four wedding ceremonies.

"When my time expired my constituents were anxious to again invest me with the judicial ermine," he wrote; but he declined the honor, seeming content to retain only his commission in the militia. He had never collected a dollar as justice; so he told the people he thought the office should "go around," assuring them however, that when it came his turn again he would bear the burden like a good citizen.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

NOAH SMITHWICK: CIVIL OFFICE DE LUXE

A considerable debt of long standing is acknowledged by Texas social historians to puckish old Noah Smithwick, whose famous volume of memories, "The Evolution of a State," is perhaps the best loved of all the books that came out of its early days. Illuminated by his acute powers of observation and his great sense of humor, it is probably the best existing book on the human side of Texas history.

Smithwick came to Texas several years before the outbreak of the Revolution and stayed on until long after it became one of the United States, wandering on then to California. And during his stay in the Southwest he seems to have picked up and stored away in his memory most of the interesting bits of information and good stories available. Students in the University of Texas Library's unequalled Texas Collection have found few books there more delightful than his.

One of the aspects of life in old Texas which Smithwick illuminates in his memories is the everyday, commonplace workings of civil government in the Republic. He was in a good position to ob-

COMMANDO NOTES: Most part of last week, this battalion participated in a Commando Course which lasted approximately three days. The battalion finished the course with a fine record. Staff Sgt. Roger E. Ronning of Company C, was the champ of the course. He broke all previous battalion records in the Obstacle Course. He made that in 3 minutes and 5 seconds. The battalion also underwent several other interesting courses, which are too lengthy for discussion. All in all it is a very interesting course. Officers such as Major Kibrell, Captain Slater, Lt. Davis and other officers and non-commissioned officers, deserve a word of praise for their demonstration work and instruction.

THIS 'N THAT: The boys sure were glad to be back in camp after the tough going over during the Commando Course. Some just hit the hay for the week end, others were seen in the neighborhood towns. Nothing exciting happened, as most of us were tired * * * Ex-Tech. 5 Ellis, is

He has special attention every time he makes a move around the camp. You guessed it, he has a Guardian Angel following him with a rifle * * * Pvt. Felix Domski of Recon. Company is mad, because his girl doesn't get a chance to write him often. Felix, I think she's busy cheering up the boys who are rejected * * * Pfc. Kenneth Ball is sure lucky to have his charming wife so near to camp. I wish I was that lucky with my girl * * * A soldier in the Recon. Company received a letter the other day from his girl stating she's glad he's drafted because she's lost four pounds worrying about him * * * Pvt. Frank Sabbio's morale would be higher, if he received an occasional check from home * * * If Pvt. Lenz was asked the question: What's the first thing he'd ask for if he were on a lonely desert island with a beautiful girl? I can bet dollars to doughnuts, his answer would be "food."

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES: Mrs. S. T. Donnell of Lampasas for the surprise, because of my birthday. The cake was delicious. All those who have sent me cards, telegrams, gifts, etc., I extend my sincere and hearty thanks. Would also like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Lampasas and John for a lovely week end.

The "Berryville" flash has moved up a notch in his company. Congratulations and best wishes. He is showing that the army has plenty of talent in the way of non-commissioned officers.

The command was "fall out in five minutes with coveralls under arms." What private took this literally and came out with his coveralls under his arms.

An emparassed soldier, not a private, by the way, fell out for guard mount the other day with his shoes on the wrong feet.

During mail call recently, a corporal received a card from his draft board in Minnesota informing him of his status in the draft as 1-A, and to report to the induction station. The boys got quite a laugh from this but the boy concerned received a card the next day telling him there had been an error in the draft board's files.

It is reported that there will be seven newly wedded men in this battalion in the coming two weeks. All of them are Corporals, too.

"C" Company still holds the lead in the War Bond drive with "Rec. Medics, A, Hdqs. and B. companies in the order named. The average monthly purchases, including those made in cash are over 93% of the battalion. Several of the soldiers have purchased over $600 worth of bonds outright. The men realize that they must have the weapons to fight with and they are doing their utmost to help the cause along. The citizens of Texas should follow suit and over-subscribe the monthly allotments issued by the Treasury Department. Don't let your country down—at this very moment those bonds could have been put to good use against the Japanizis. Don't delay—buy more than you can afford and you will not regret it.

Now that the Brooklyn "Twins" are Corporals things should pop along Flatbush Avenue.

Second OCS Comes From All Branches Of Army Service

Those 149 young men who make up the OCS No. 2 come from all branches of the service, according to Major George R. Poole, Assistant Secretary of the Tank Destroyer School in Gatesville.

These boys are from stations as distant as Ft. Lewis, Washington and from such branches of the service as the infantry, mountain infantry, field artillery, cavalry, engineers, medical corps, quartermaster corps, as well as numerous tank destroyer battalions.

Only 10 trucks, the 2½ ton size are required to transport OCS No. 1 to and from Camp Hood reservation. This week 21 will be required for the two classes and an additional 10 trucks will be required for each successive week up until thirteen weeks have passed, at which time, the full quota of 2,100 will be completed. Captain Hilton is going to have his hands, and trucks full, but he can do it.

ALL-STARS GET IT 9-1 WITH CAMERON IDEALERS TUES. NITE

Even with Suzy Suwalkowski doing the hurling, the Cameron Idealers No. 1 Club walked off with the long end of a "four-cornered" battle Tuesday night, 9-1.

Included in the All-Star lineup, besides Suzy were Stovall, Neveroski, Post, Padgett, Cehsney, Culbertson, McAllister, Cox, White, Loer, Barton, Baker and Carson of the 637th (if we say 634th might be wrong, and if 638th, still might be) and the Ramblers.

For the Idealers Appell, Knight Shofner, Gross, Tucker, Coker, Walker, Shumake, Nicks, Pearson, Peevy, Huff and Winburn.

A little from you... means a lot to them

No dance this week. The reason, no building. The high school gym, and all other buildings that might be available are unavailable. Boys and girls are both sorry and so is your USO.

A few swim suits are available and will be put out to enlisted men. Many more are needed and so you've got one at home that you don't use any more, USO will have it cleaned and loan to some soldier who wants to get in the swim.

USO sponsors a ball game Thursday, August 6, between "Red's" Roving Ramblers and a team from the China Springs Airfield, starting at 8:30; admission "on the house" rather than the USO.

More magazines: USO is putting all it can get hold of on trains for the men who might make long trips. If you've got any late ones, or old ones, the boys would be tickled to get them.

Games, cards and other time-passing equipment are also being put on these trains. It's a long ride and one-way.

The building is now all USO and besides the regular part a terrace will be added and soding will be done in the east side of the building so a little "greenery" will greet the tired eyes of the men who use USO.

Mr. Palmatier is anxious to place home-made cookies on trains taking soldiers away, as a farewell gesture of Gatesville hospitality and will furnish sugar to any woman who is interested in making cookies for soldiers. County Agent Guy Powell is handling the "cookie" business in the rural section of the county.

A Red Cross Life Saving course is being given a group of boys and men and all persons interested in this course are asked to contact the USO.
