CORYELL COUNTY CONTRIBUTES MUCH IN SCRAP DRIVE

N. Foote, chairman of the salvage committee, reported yesterday that the city of Gatesville has collected 70,000 pounds of scrap iron in the nation-wide drive. About 250 tons have been collected in the county during the month of August, and Coryell county ranks first in the state (in rural population) in collecting iron, being an average of 1,200 pounds per farm.

All scrap iron is closely supervised by the War Production Board, and the board directs where and when the iron shall be shipped. The board also directs that no donations shall be accepted in this drive, but the proceeds you receive can be turned over to the Red Cross, USO, Army and Navy Relief, or any other charitable organization. Scrap iron is accepted at any time, and you live in Gatesville and have no way to transport this iron, call 29.

Friday (today) has been set for Evant's rally day. The city of Evant is offering $12.00 to the person bringing the largest load of scrap iron.

Coryell county citizens are certainly to be commended on their splendid efforts along this line, as prior to this time, some 4 million pounds of iron have been shipped from here.

NO, NO, SAYS TIRE BOARD TO "GAME" BUSES, NO TIRES

School busses that carry football teams to games, or transport school bands, debating teams or other such groups on excursions will lose their eligibility for tires, the Coryell county war price and rationing board was advised today by the office of price administration state headquarters.

Buses must be used exclusively to transport teachers and children from their homes to school and back again, E. H. Nesbitt, chairman of the local WP&RB, explained.

Just park your bus, except for business, and no monkey business. Looks like it'll be walkathons, this year.

DR. RALPH BAILEY, CORYELL COUNTY PHYSICIAN, DIED AT HIS HOME WEDNESDAY

Dr. Ralph Bailey, prominent retired physician of Coryell county, died at his home thirteen miles west of Gatesville, August 26, about midnight, after a lingering illness of several months.

Dr. Bailey was born September 23, 1867 near Harrison, Boone County, Arkansas, received his degree from the Missouri Medical College in St. Louis in 1890 and took his postgraduate course at Tulane University and New York Polyclinic College. He came to Texas in 1890 and located in the King community, where he lived at the time of his death.

Shortly after coming to Texas, he moved to Gatesville and married Miss Lucy Bone, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bone of King, and began his practice in Gatesville and Coryell county even before doctors were using a horse and buggy; he started out making all of his calls on horseback, as did the other early day physicians.

It was not the original intention of Dr. Bailey to become a medical practitioner. He had planned for himself a naval career, and he was appointed from his native state, Arkansas, to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. He was a member of the class there in 1888, but his term ended abruptly in 1885, when with other cadets, he was dismissed for hazing.

On Christmas Day of 1938 he announced his retirement from the practice of medicine, moved to his ranch and notified all of his patients who were indebted to him that their accounts had been marked paid in full.

Dr. Bailey was probably the best known and well liked man that has ever lived in Coryell county. His practical jokes and skill in medicine made him outstanding wherever he went.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Dr. Clyde Bailey of Gatesville, Lieut. Commander John Bailey of the USN of Arlington, Va., and Claude Bailey of Houston, and two brothers, Bob of Coleman and Claude, retired naval officer of Burnt Hills, N. C.

FOOD STAMPS HELPS CORYELL CO. FARMERS SAYS SUPERVISOR

How the Food Stamps Program helps Coryell County farmers, as well as underprivileged families was pointed out in a report released today by Granville G. Weaver, Waco, area supervisor, agricultural marketing administration.

Over $72,506.50 in blue food stamps have been issued to needy families in the county from the beginning of the program May, 1941, through June 1942, represents additional farm markets created by the program, the report showed. An average of 542 families representing some 2,084 persons have received increased food purchasing power in the form of blue food stamps each month since the program began.

"Farm products often come to market in season and out in such heavy supply, prices would be ruinous to the farmer if use of the commodities by consumers was not increased," Mr. Weaver, explained. "The Food Stamp Program helps bring about this increased use."

"Families using food stamps are first required to buy orange stamps with the money they would normally spend for food. They are then issued blue stamps which gives them an increase of 50% in food purchasing power.

"Orange stamps will buy any kind of food while blue stamps purchase only those foods for which farmers need an additional market."

Blue stamp foods are subject to change by the department of agriculture each month it was pointed

WOMEN INFLUENCE HISTORY

All through history, from Helen of Troy to the Duchess of Windsor, women have influenced the tides of fate. And if it had not been for a woman in the life of Gen. Douglas MacArthur he probably would not have been in a position to perform his heroic defense of the Philippines and command Australia today.

Just after the last war, the belle of Washington society was vivacious Louise Brooks, step-daughter of the millionaire Edward T. Stotesbury, a partner of J. P. Morgan. She was the toast of Washington. General Pershing, just returned from France, was one of her most devoted attendants. Admiral Beatty, hero of the battle of Jutland, was another.

Once, after a dinner at Mrs. Marshall Field's both Pershing and Beatty escorted Louise to her car, nearly had an altercation over who was to take her home.

But General MacArthur, then superintendent of West Point, stepped in and married the lady. Shortly thereafter, General Pershing, not at all happy over MacArthur's victory, transferred him to the Philippines.

MacArthur and his wife were stationed in the Philippines for several years. And although the marriage later ended in divorce, it was MacArthur's tour of duty in Manila which acquainted him with Filipino leaders and later brought about his return as field marshal of the Philippine army.

BORED BY WASHINGTON

As a reward for selling $25,000 worth of war savings bonds and stamps, Delbert Hudson, Reno, Nev., newsboy, recently was given a free trip to the nation's capital by the Kiwanis club.

For several days young Delbert led the life of Riley.

He was entertained by Vice President Wallace, U. S. senators and high treasury officials. He lived in an expensive hotel, toured all the showplaces and polished off numerous ice cream sodas.

"Well, Delbert," asked Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada when it was all over, "what do you like best about Washington?"
"My bed," yawned Delbert, "I'm tired."

SOLOMON ATTACK—A TEST

Inside fact about the attack on the Solomon islands is that it was very carefully planned six weeks in advance, and was different from any other naval action in the Pacific.

U. S. naval raids on the Gilbert and Marshall islands were hit and run affairs. There our navy had no idea of enemy strength, but depended on quick surprise hits and speedy withdrawal.

In the battle of the Coral sea also, we were able to take the Japs by surprise. And in the battle of Midway, we knew the enemy was coming, while the Japs did not know we knew.

But in the Solomon islands battle, our reconnaissance planes had made advance surveys and we knew fairly accurately the size of the enemy—knew also that we were up against a tough job that would exact heavy cost.

There is every reason to believe, too, that the Japs knew about our preparations, because troop transports cannot be loaded and brought within striking distance without enemy scouting planes sighting them. Therefore, this was a real test in more ways than one.

For instance, this was the first time land, air and sea forces all have co-operated in a single striking force.

Upon the final outcome of that co-operation will depend whether the United States follows the advice of many high army-navy strategists and concentrates more on the Pacific than on Europe.

BRITAIN'S FUTURE

A U. S. official, back from London, tells of standing in line for breakfast at the Hotel Waldorf. Just ahead of him he heard an English lady say:

"After this war is over, we'll have to fight a war of independence to save ourselves from becoming the 49th state of the United States."

This semi-good-natured, semi-grousing attitude, according to Americans returned from London, is rather typical of the apprehension which exists as to what will happen to Britain after the war.

There is no hostility in this, but a realistic awareness that the war is strengthening United States ties, and weakening British ties, with Australia, Canada and Africa.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Not satisfied with 100 per cent participation in the war savings campaign, the doughboys bought a $25 bond for their mascot, "Blackout," a tiny black dog. . . . When "Blackout's" bond comes due, the money will go to the SPCA.

Even the lepers are suffering from the shipping shortage. The high commissioner of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, has asked U. S. assistance to get 300 kilograms of chaulmoogra oil from Brazil, needed for treating lepers.

moving back to this community.

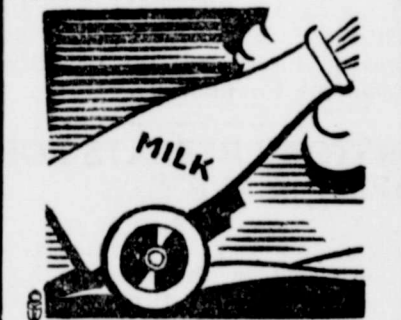

Aubrey Chambers returned home Friday from a few weeks stay in Luders.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mosley and family visited Mrs. Mosley's relatives in the Mound community Sunday. Clayton and Rayburn left there and went to Houston to visit their aunt, Mrs. Minnie Martin.

Delegates to State Meeting Return

Mrs. R. M. Studer of Purlmea and Mrs. Lee Smith of Pidcoke attended the state home demonstration association meeting at Fort Worth, August 18-19 and 20. They will make their oral reports of their trip at the annual Coryell County Home Demonstration Club exhibit in the court house on Saturday, September 26. The theme of the meeting given out in the press was "all-out war work for a just peace." The annual meeting program consisted of business sessions, social functions and a pageant. Mrs. Lee Smith was one of the characters in the portion of the pageant presented by this district 8 of the T. H. D. A.

Use of Milk to be Heard

Each Monday afternoon at 1:15 from radio station KTEM, Temple, the Central Texas Farm and Home program is given cooperatively by the extension agents in the counties adjoining Bell county. Next Monday, August 31, Miss Thelma Keese, the assistant home demonstration agent of Milam county, will give a script entitled "Use of Milk." A new starring leaflet is available in the county agent's office in Gatesville entitled "Let's Drink Milk a Food for Victory." In case Miss Keese refers to this publication, anyone desiring a free copy can obtain it locally.

Have You Canned "Breakfast Figs?"

In this year of sugar rationing comes an opportunity to can a delicacy commercially named "breakfast figs." This process turns out a fig which has not only more food value but also more use because it can appear on fruit plates, breakfast cereals, in fruit salads, and in sandwich spreads.

To can figs and stretch the sugar farther honey can be used to replace up to one-half the sugar called for in canning and corn syrup up to one-third. The recipe is: Leave one-eighth inch stems on figs, sprinkle 1 cup of soda over 6 quarts of figs and add 1 gallon of boiling water. Let stand 5 minutes. Drain and rinse thoroughly. For a light syrup use one-third cup of sugar to each cup of water. Bring 2 quarts of the syrup to the boiling point and add well drained figs. Boil one hour. Pack fruit carefully into hot sterilized jars. Fill with boiling syrup. Seal and boil the containers 5 minutes in the water bath canner.

ALEXANDER KORDA presents
MERLE OBERON in Over the Moon

SYNOPSIS
 Jane Benson's dismal Yorkshire existence is suddenly ended when she becomes heir to eighteen million pounds — but she loses her fiance, young Dr. Freddie Jarvis, when he realizes that he would be unhappy leading the gay, glittering life that Jane wants. He breaks the engagement, and Jane, accompanied by a fast, parasitical set, goes off on a whirl through Europe. Julie and Millie, once distant cousins who are now "chaperoning" her, each have entrants in the race for Jane's hand and money — for a cut. Meanwhile, the publicity gets Freddie a contract in a very social Swiss "clinic". Alone, Jane berates him — and loves him still.

Chapter Four

They had been at the Dixie Club for only a few minutes when a blond young man came suddenly to the table, and spoke to Jane. "Excuse me," he said surprisingly, "may I have a dance?" Even more surprisingly, Jane rose from her chair, smiled, excused herself. It was the man who had mistakenly been in Jane's compartment on the Blue Train to Monte Carlo. At the table after they had left to dance, Julie and Millie were indignant. Julie insisted he was after Jane's money. "What a cad!" Pietro said, and was off to find out who the strange person was. They were dancing, and Jane

"I'll be waiting — good-night." Then she was back at the table, and he was gone. They all promptly flooded her with their misgivings over Mr. Willy Stapleton. That was his name, Willy Stapleton. And the men were detectives, following, following him for weeks. Were any of her jewels missing? No? Well, he was not above taking cash, to be sure... A while later Jane asked: "Aren't we going to the Casino?" And they were off. At the Casino, they played roulette for a while, until she left, suddenly. They watched her go to the balcony. Guy and Pietro followed, hiding in the shrubbery. The stranger was there. "Mr. Stapleton!" said Jane. "Oh," he replied. "So you've found out my name, eh?" "Is that your real name?" she asked intensely. "No, as a matter of fact, it isn't." They sat down on the marble bench. "Now tell me," Jane said, "why did you ask me to come here?" "To warn you. Now, listen, it's no use. I know who you are, what you are, and who your friends are. You've come here to make your fortune — gambling — or otherwise. Well — give it up. Go home. Go back to your little town or village." "Why?" "Because money isn't worth what you have to give for it. It's terrible to be rich." She looked at him with astonishment. "Is it? Why?" "If you were rich you'd have no desires. You'd be able to satisfy them all." "All? Surely not all!" "Yes, all! And you wouldn't be loved for yourself, but for your bank account. Don't go out after money." "Money and gambling are beneath you, I suppose." "Money's a curse. Gambling — well, somehow I've been lucky." "Giving those two detectives the slip tonight, for instance. Is that luck? I see the reason you have such contempt for money. It's because you don't earn it. You steal it!" She halted. "Oh, I'm sorry if I spoke too frankly, but I hoped that you'd be honest with me. You left the club — because of those two detectives! Didn't you?" He stirred. "Now don't deny it!" she went on. "You're a handsome man! And you're armed, too. Don't deny that, either!" His voice was quiet. "Why did you come here if you knew all this?" "I came because — well, I wanted to help you to escape." There was a sudden noise in the shrubbery: Guy and Pietro were being escorted away by the detectives. Jane was frightened. "Oh, look —" she whispered, "there are the two detectives! Come on now, take my arm — don't look guilty." She was at the Casino — and she was back again in two minutes. She dashed in, took a roll of money from the flabbergasted Julie's unwilling hands. Then she was back, talking to him earnestly. "Listen! I know how you feel," she said. "Do you?" "I do. You're hunted down — maddened — eaten up by dread. You want money. You wouldn't stop at anything to get money. Well, there's no need to commit a new crime — here you are, take this." He was utterly stunned. "What's this?" "About a thousand pounds." "Where did you get it? Did you steal it, you little fool?" "Do you want me to box your ears?" "One last question. Are you sure you're not in love with me?" "Quite." "Then I don't want your money — here." "Nonsense! Take it, and don't let me ever see you again." Then she was gone. (To be continued)

THIS 'N THAT: Listen Sgt. Houchins, too many girls will make you little boy blue * * * There may be a sugar shortage, but certain gals are still giving fresh soldiers their lumps * * * Cpl. Dave Livingston is no great shakes as a swimmer, but he certainly knows all the low dives * * * It's always "good morning" on the break of day after pay day * * * Pvt. Ralph Liguori is now a Tech. 5th. Also Pvts. Brodesky and Trotta * * * Imagine the battalion clerks on the same floor with the Medics. Already there is a boundary line to prevent any feuds. Better stay on your side Medics, or else * * * Lt. King and Captain Hanson are furloughing * * * Wonder how my friend Maurice Nathanson is doing in the OCS class number one? * * * Pfc. Kenneth Ball was promoted to Tech. 5th; congratulations * * * Pvt. Howard Cotten of Recon. Company is the most active and alert mail orderly I've ever seen * * * What's the interest Sgt. Alvin Preble has in Cameron? He's there every week end * * * I wonder if Pvt. Morris Liberti, Headquarters Company Chief K. P. is eventually gonna become cook. He's steady K. P. * * * S/Sgt. Lawrence Barboe is trying for the OCS Tank Destroyer School, hope he makes it * * * Sgt. Jesse McCloskey and M/Sgt. Bert Jackson looke like brothers. They resemble each other a great deal * * * Sgt. Schulman is back in his stripes * Lt. Dudley Moore of Lampasas is the theatre officer at Camp Hood. A regular guy * * * Speaking of Lampasas a certain Medic with initials EJG is somewhat of a steady visitor to that town. Must be something interesting there.
There is a saying "All good things comes to an end," well, folks this is my ending. By next week I will be no longer with this battalion. I'm being transferred to Camp Finance Office. It's been a pleasure getting and writing the news of this battalion for you. My successor Cpl. Chauncey O. Rogers will carry on writing for this battalion. Thank you all for the cooperation and so long.

Edwin Cooper and Edwin Bond, Regional Supervisors of the USO-YMCA visited Gatesville Sunday, inspecting work being done in the local UST. The management committee met with these men and discussed future plans concerning the new camp area which will be close to Gatesville, and action will be taken soon to provide colored soldiers with separate recreational facilities.
Cooper pointed out USO organization is curtailing their work in some cities due to an economic drive felt necessary and in many cases budgets of USO were being cut, but Gatesville had been left alone and an anticipated increase would be sought due to the building of a new cantonment near Gatesville.
Thirty-six OTD training candidates enjoyed a delightful week end as guests of Turnersville citizens.
Dance. Saturday night, there'll be a "hop" at the USO Club.
Dick Palmatier leaves Sunday for Northern New York where he will attend a USO director's conference.
Two new employees at USO, Mrs. Bailey, secretary.
