CHURCH CENSUS IS NOW IN FORMATIVE STAGE: PLANS MADE

Preparing for a city-wide religious census as a part of the Church Loyalty Crusade, workers from the several participating churches met at the First Presbyterian Church last night for preliminary instructions under the direction of Rev. Lawrence Hayes census chairman.

To assure adequate preparation, decision was reached to delay the census taking another week. Present plans are for the census to be taken on the afternoon of Sunday November 1. More detailed announcement will appear next week for the benefit of the public.

Sub-committees of the General Promotion Committee are working to have everything in readiness for the launching of the "crusade" on November 15. The churches are working out their own plans for enlisting the people in the three basic objectives: (1) daily Bible reading and prayer; (2) daily family worship; (3) regular attendance at the services of the church.

Dates of emphasis on these are set to culminate at the Christmas season. Included in the plans are a Fourth Rally, on which a committee is now working.

35's THE LIMIT! SLOW THE BUS DOWN: 3-WAY LAW

It's a 3-way law, now, and the State Highway Patrol will be after you if you feel an urge of more than 35 mph!

Heretofore, you've been able to feel the urge, and let that hunch lay your tootsie heavier on the accelerator, but, you'd better hang a balloon on that foot.

The "35" is a state law, as well as a federal law now, and the State Highway Patrol has been given the instructions to get "you" if you're cleaving the breeze more than 35.

It'd be awful if they took your gas ration card away, and also the probability that in the far distant future you could get a tire or two, but that's liable to happen if you make more'n 35.

Just thought you'd like to know.

FLAT BOY WAS ON DESTROYER THAT BATTLED, SOLOMONS

In the "Phoenix Gazette" of Phoenix, Ariz., M. C. Donaldson of Flat visited with one of his shipmates there.

Here's the story in part that they told. "Three youthful U. S. Navy bluejackets, who described the action in the Solomon Islands when the three American warships were sunk in the opening phases of the battle as "virtual hell".

The trio were aboard a destroyer that participated in the battle in which the cruisers Quincy, Astoria and Vincennes were lost.

One of them was on watch, and said: "It was shortly after midnight when it seemed like all hell broke loose. A force of Jap ships attacked our vessels which were protecting a convoy.

"Battle station was sounded and I took my place as a 'talker' (one who relays messages from the gunnery officer on the bridge of a ship to the gun crew). We began firing like mad.

"We felt certain that we hit some of the Jap ships. In the battle they lost several. Our destroyer did not get a scratch.

Donaldson, 21, a first-class petty officer who is a gun pointer at battle stations said: "we gave them everything we had," and the other two boys said "Don" was credited with knocking out some of the Jap searchlights and scoring several hits on their ships.

Stainer, the radioman said: "the star shells and searchlights made everything as light as day. It gives you a queer feeling to hear those hot, steel shells whistling around you.

The destroyer the boys served on has seen plenty of action since the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor, and have been on duty both in the Atlantic, the Pacific and are now on the West Coast.

GATESVILLE

Just a pleasant greeting,
As you're walking down the street,
A nod, a smile, a "Howdy",
From everyone you meet.

I thought when I was far from home,
Away from all I knew,
How very lonely it would be,
With no one to speak to.

I thought of going thru the town
Without a friendly glance
Without a face I recognized
Alone and quite free-lance.

Instead, how wonderful, I found
A town of human beings;
A village knowing no differences
'tween commoners and kings.

This place is kind to everyone,
No one can be alone
It takes the strangers to her heart
And calls them all her own.

Now I go smiling down the street,
And happily, I see
That all the people on their way,
Are smiling back at me.

How grand, this little Southern town,
No matter where you roam,
That all the folks say "Howdy",
And make you feel at home!

GAS RATIONEERS ARE NAMED FOR CORYELL COUNTY

County Judge Floyd Zeigler announced yesterday that the Gas Rationeers for Coryell County had been named and were headed by Jim McKelvain of Ogleby.

Other members are George Painter, Gatesville, E. W. Kremplin, Copperas Cove, V. L. Arnett, Pearl and J. W. Weaver of Jonesboro.

So far, the men have not met, have not even been sworn in, and no information has been received from the officials as to what to do or what plans to make.

Judge Zeigler also confirmed the fact that E. H. Nesbitt had been named as Manager of Coryell Co. Memorial Hospital, which is to open soon.

mental commanding officer again this week as award for selection as "best-dressed" soldier at guard mount during the week.

TOLD YOU LAST TIME TO BE THERE; TELLIN' YOU AGAIN: ITASCA

Last week, we raved and ranted and told you in no uncertain terms to get out and see the GHS Hornets tangle with Clifton.

You did just what was expected. You were there, a little, but not as much as you could.

All is forgiven!
Tonight's another one, and this time, it's GHS vs. IHS, and, it's going to be a good game, and no right by the ball club if you're there in person tonight.

We would have a starting line-up, but the day we set aside to get the line-up, they were not on the gridiron which they usually use, and, we missed them, and consequently, the line-up. You know, even our time has had to be rationed, recently, not that we are setting the world afire, but that we are not.

Anyway, that's our headache, and we can take the good with the bad, but the main idea of this harrangue is to get you out to the ball game, which is tonight.

As for that line-up which we missed, don't think it makes so much difference, because if it's an easy game for the Hornets, Coach Madison Pruitt will play all of them, and then on the other hand if it's a tough game, he'll play nearly all of them, trying to find a combination that will click, so, after all, there isn't much time or reason for the lengthy presentation of the probabilities and possibilities. You just might as well be there and see who's called on to represent the Black and Gold in this contest.

Why should we tell you?
Anyway, one and all are invited tonight, and we'll be there to see how the job is done or undone, and it should be another scalp for the Hornets.

RENT "QUIZ & ANZ"

Adjustments in Maximum Rents

Q. What sort of alterations to a house or apartment or a tenement will justify a change in the maximum rent?

A. The regulations will permit an increase in maximum rent only if the alterations "bring about a substantial change in the housing accommodations by a major improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair and maintenance".

Q. On the maximum-rent date the landlord charged $35 for a 4-room cottage. Shortly afterward he built a bedroom and bath in the unfinished attic. Is he entitled to raise the rent?

A. Yes, the administrator may approve a higher rent because the alterations do create a substantial change by "a major capital improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair and maintenance."

Q. A landlord painted the kitchen and papered the living room. Then he raised the rent $2 a month. Is the increase allowable?

A. No, because painting and papering constitute ordinary repair and maintenance and are items generally provided by the landlord unless the rental agreement specifies otherwise.

Q. Then if the landlord sent the equivalent of 5 or 6 months rent putting a new roof on the house, he cannot raise the rent to offset that expense?

A. Not for that reason alone; the landlord must stand the cost of maintenance of the property.

Q. Suppose that the landlord is unwilling or unable to make normal repairs and keep the property up and as a result it has deteriorated substantially since the maximum-rent date?

A. In that case, if the deterioration is more than ordinary wear and tear, the rent administrator may reduce the maximum rent.

Q. What happens to the maximum rent when the landlord removes some or all of the furniture of a furnished apartment other than at the tenant's request?

A. If the maximum rent was for a furnished apartment, then the rent must be reduced.

Q. How is the maximum rent determined where there have been substantial alterations in the property since the maximum-rent date?

A. If the accommodations were substantially changed by a major capital improvement between Mar. 1 and the date on which the Federal rent regulations became effective, the maximum rent is the first rent charged for the remodeled quarters. However, the landlord must report this rent to the Rent Director who may order a decrease.

Q. What is the procedure if the alterations were completed after the date on which rent regulations became effective?

A. In that case the owner must petition the rent director at least 15 days before renting the property, to fix the maximum rent.

Q. Since Mar. 1, a large, single family house has been made into apartments for four families. How is the maximum rent for each apartment set?

A. If the remodeling was completed between Mar. 1 and the date on which federal rent regulations became effective, the maximum rent is the first rent charged for the new quarters. The owner, however, must file a report with the rent director, who has authority to lower the figure. If completed after the date on which federal rent regulations became effective, the maximum rent must be set in advance by the rent director.

Q. An owner, unable to make badly needed repairs in a house, let a tenant take the place "as is" on the agreement that the tenant would make such repairs as he wanted and would pay only $24 a month. This rent was in effect on the maximum-rent date. Since then the tenant has moved and the owner now wants to put the house back in shape but he can not afford to if he can charge no more than $24. What should he do?

A. The owner, on completing repairs, must petition the Area Rent Director to bring the maximum rent back into line with what similar houses in good repair brought on the maximum-rent date.

Services

Q. What are services?

A. Services include repairs, decorating, maintenance, water, heat and all other such items which the landlord agrees to provide the tenant at the time the agreement to rent is made.

Q. Does it matter whether the agreement to rent is made verbally or written?

A. No.

Q. What facilities usually go with an apartment?

A. Heat and hot and cold water, a superintendent or handy man to perform the duties usually termed "janitor Service." This includes the removal of garbage and trash at given times of the day, cleaning halls, stairways, lobby, and maintaining the general appearance of the apartment building. The immediate repair or adjustment of minor breaks, such as the installation of a blowout fuse, the repair of a leaking water faucet, the unjamming of a stuck flush toilet. In addition, apartments in many sections of the nation are equipped with refrigerators and stoves which the landlord keeps in working condition.

Rents

Q. What services usually go with a rented house.

A. Unless otherwise specified at the time of the rental agreement, these services usually include—keeping the house in repair; painting and redecorating at specified times; providing the heating unit and keeping it in repair; linoleum for the kitchen; screens. Services provided vary in different sections of the country according to local custom. Under federal rent control, these services provided on the date fixed by the Price Administrator as the maximum rent date, must be continued by the landlord.

Q. What are some other specific services which may be included in a landlord-tenant agreement?

A. Such an agreement may include telephone, laundry, or laundry privileges, window shades and storage space.

Q. What constitutes a furnished house or apartment?

A. The amount of furniture necessary to furnish a house or an apartment rented as furnished must contain amply sufficient furniture for the needs of its tenant.

Q. What if the landlord without the tenant requesting it removes some of the furniture from an apartment or house after he has rented it as furnished? Can the tenant get a reduction in maximum rent?

A. Yes, on application by the tenant, the rent director will adjust the rent.

Q. What about special services?

A. Any service, no matter how great or how small, which the landlord agreed to provide at the time of the rental agreement, and that service was still being provided on the date determining the maximum rent, must be continued.

Q. What about a house which is rented and there is a garage on the lot? Can the landlord make a special charge for the garage?

A. If the garage was included in the rental agreement, even if the tenant does not use it, the landlord cannot make an extra charge for it after the rental agreement has been made. It is considered part of the "Services" going with the house.

Q. Is exterminator service included?

A. If an exterminator service was provided on the maximum-rent date, it must be continued.

Q. If the war makes it impossible to continue some of the services that a landlord has been providing, what happens then?

A. Where it is impossible to continue the services, the landlord must file a petition with the area rent director within 5 days after the change of service, asking for an order to decrease the services. The director's order granting this decrease will also contain a reduction in rent if circumstances warrant.

Leases

Q. In cases where the rent specified in a lease is in excess of the maximum rent allowed under the rent regulations, does this fact void other clauses in the lease?

A. No, all clauses calls for a lower rent than that charged on the maximum-rent date, can the landlord raise the rent to the ceiling?

A. No, in such case the rent specified in the lease is binding. The presumption is that since the landlord was willing to rent his property at the figure agreed upon, and that such a rental was agreeable to him for the period of time covered in the lease, then there is no reason why he should expect a higher rent in the event the rental ceiling set was higher. Federal rent control places a ceiling on rents, not a floor.

Q. When a lease expires, need a tenant sign a renewal?

A. If the tenant had a written lease, he must at the request of the landlord, renew the lease for one year, whichever is shorter containing the same terms and conditions as the expiring lease, except that it cannot call for a rent higher than the maximum rent.

Q. Is there any provision for raising or lowering the maximum rent at the expiration of a lease which, because of special circumstances called for a rent on the maximum-rent date that was substantially out of line with the rent prevailing in the area?

A. Yes, either the landlord or the tenant may ask the rent director to adjust the maximum rent in a situation of this sort.

Q. A long-term lease signed several years ago and reflecting a different set of economic and rental conditions called for a rent below that charged for comparable dwelling units in the neighborhood on the maximum-rent date. Is the landlord bound by that figure in future renting of his property?

A. No, at the expiration of the lease, the landlord may petition for an adjustment in the maximum rent. However, no adjustment will be permitted while the lease is in effect.

Q. What happens in the case of a house which rents for $20 a month during the summer season and only $25 monthly during the remainder of the year if the freeze date falls in March? What rent will be permitted for the summer season?

A. In cases of seasonal rents, the director on being petitioned by the landlord, will allow a rent adjustment. The director may set different maximum rents for different seasons.

Evictions

Q. If a tenant doesn't have a written lease, do the same restrictions against eviction hold?

A. Yes, an agreement to rent does not have to be in written form for a tenant to enjoy all the benefits and protection of federal rent control.

Q. If a tenant does have a lease, can he be evicted merely because his lease has expired?

A. No, the tenant can continue occupying the quarters as long as he continues to pay his rent. However, if the landlord wants him to he must renew the lease at the safe rent and for the period of his expiring lease or for one year, whichever is shorter.

Q. Are there any conditions under which a landlord can regain possession of his property by evicting the tenant?

A. Yes there are various circumstances whereby a tenant can be evicted.

Among them are:

(1) Failure to pay his rent as established by maximum rent regulation.

(2) The tenant has violated a substantial obligation of his rental agreement, such as maintaining a fire hazard on the premises, or renting the house for dwelling purposes then using it for a store.

(3) Committing a nuisance or using the dwelling unit for immoral or illegal purposes.

(4) When the landlord, in good faith, wants to get his house or dwelling unit back for his own occupancy.

(5) When the landlord wants to get the property back for the purpose of selling it to another person who has agreed in writing to buy it for his own occupancy. (This one has been changed).

(6) When the landlord wants to get his property back for extensive remodeling or alteration which cannot be done while the tenant is occupying the property.

Q. Are there other circumstances under which a tenant can be evicted?

A. Yes, but in every case except for non-payment of legal rent, the landlord must notify the rent director of his proposed action and the grounds for it.

Special Relationships Between Landlord And Tenant

Q. The owner of a six-room house, rented the house to his son, and, wishing to help him financially charged only $18 a month. This rent was in effect on the maximum-rent date. Later the son moved out. Must the owner still charge $18 a month when similar dwellings were bringing around $40 a month on the maximum-rent date?

A. No, the landlord is entitled to petition the area rent director to set a new maximum-rent substantially in line with that similar houses were bringing on the maximum-rent date.

Q. In a similar case, the tenant wished to aid his father, who owned the property and aid $75 a month for a house when similar houses on the maximum-rent date were renting around $40. Does the maximum rent remain at $75.

A. No, when a new tenant moves in he may petition the area rent director to set a new maximum rent.

Housing situation serious. The week-end housing situation. This is mostly due to lack of transportation and last week-end sleeping accommodations were provided for 25 soldiers by Mrs. Charlie Bauman. A family of six traveled from Turnersville to Gatesville to make a family phonograph record to send a son in overseas service. This can be arranged for any other families.

A citizen of Gatesville bought 4 cots for USO. These will be added to the cots already purchased by USO to be used in case of emergency for soldiers.

October 16, 1942

Dear Friends:
The most serious problem confronting the Congress and the Nation today is the man power problem. It seems probable that the House will act on the proposal to draft 18 and 19 year old boys for the Army on Saturday (Oct. 17th). This, however, will not go to the heart of the man power problem. Fundamentally, this problem is one of relative importance of various types of activity. Everyone recognizes that an adequate supply of able bodied men for our armed forces is absolutely essential in time of war. To this end we have authorized the Army to call on the cream of our manhood. On the other hand, we must recognize that the man power requirements of a modern army are self-limiting. That is, the modern soldier requires such a large amount of equipment that a much larger force of civilians are necessary at home to support the Army than has ever been the case in the past. Added to this is the fact that on our civilian economy rests the added burden of supporting the fighting men and much of the civilian population of many of our Allies. This is especially true as to their food requirements. This means that we can not put as large a percentage of our population in our armed forces as was possible in the Civil War, for instance; nor can we arm so large a percentage as those nations who are now assuming no obligation to supply food or munitions for others.

Of course, no layman can say just what size army we can efficiently support, and until this week the military men had declined to say. It was, therefore, very helpful when General Marshal, Secretary Stimpson, and others stated to the Military Affairs Committee that they contemplated an Army of 7,500,000 men. This information was absolutely essential to any intelligent allocation of man power. — And this information was not available to our Committee on Agriculture while we considered the shortage of farm labor. Our Committee recently filed a recommendation to Congress asking that this very information and full information relative to the essential needs of industry be made public. I believe that we are making progress in the right direction. It will now be necessary to allot to each essential war industry its fair share of the available man power of the nation. In this connection, we must never lose sight of two important facts: (1) Agriculture is the basic and absolutely indispensable industry of the country, and (2) We must include women and older people in any analysis of man power.

With these facts in mind we come to the strong probability that it will shortly become necessary to require every individual in this country to work at the job where he will be of greatest help. This may result in substantial loss of opportunity to the individual. I have already had several complaints from workers who wanted to leave their present jobs to take similar jobs with other concerns on more favorable terms. Of course, there is no present law that prohibits this but many concerns have agreed not to accept any worker who seeks to transfer simply for his or her personal benefit. To prohibit such transfers will, of course, be a serious limitation of individual freedom of choice, but if we let Hitler win this war, we will never have any further freedom of choice. I think therefore, that every man and woman in America should be prepared to accept this type of war time control. How soon it will come I do not know, but definitely it is in the making.

As for the drafting of 18 and 19 year old men, I feel that it is safe to predict that before this is printed, such power will have been granted by act of both Houses and the signature of the President. Of course, I can not predict what limitations may be placed on this power. I hope it may be possible to give the maximum protection to these young men and to provide the maximum educational advantages, but the most imperative thing is to make sure that these young men and their children have a free country in which to perpetuate our Democratic institutions. I would have been happy had it not become necessary to draft these men. —But after all, we must perform many unpleasant duties to win this war. I do not think it will hurt the young men. In 1918, we drafted 18 year old boys, and I myself went in as an enlisted man at that age. While I did not fighting, I believe the experience was good for me. I hope it will be good for the young men of this generation. I know that the drafting of these men will not involve the heartaches and the economic disruption that would follow the drafting of a like number of married men with dependent families, and it seems that we are faced with that grim choice.

With best wishes, I am
Yours for Victory,
W. R. POAGE.

Here's a letter from Lloyd Ivy who is now "Somewhere in England".

"Dear Folks:
I am making it fine. We have a good place to stay. I have been to town a couple of times and the people there are very nice and friendly. The blackouts are so complete that you can't see your hand before you. Last night, I got run over by a bicycle in the dark. The English can see like a cat in the dark. I got lost last night and I walked 4 miles past the field before I found out where I was. There are very few automobiles here except government vehicles.

I enjoyed my trip over as I slept most of the time and I got to catch up on my sleep for the first time since I have been in the Army. I didn't get sea sick, but I got pretty dizzy at times.

Everything is rationed here but the fresh air. The people have eally been going thru a lot but their spirits are still high. People at home who think it is bad to go without tires should have to do without some of the things these people do—no luxuries hardly at all—just a bunch of little Englishmen happy.

The boys in the RAF are about the nicest fellows I ever met.

I am gradually learning to count the English money. A pound is worth $4.10. They have twice as many different coins as we have. Their penny is the same size as our half-dollar. I gave a boy a shilling (24c) for a paper and he gave me back 11 pennies. Their pennies are worth 2 for our pennies.

Notice that I have a new APO number and tell everyone about it. Tell everyone that I can't write them much any more as there is nothing I am allowed to tell and I don't have much time either. Advise the Coryell County News of my new APO number and see that it is paid up.

Well, Cheerio.
Lloyd".

The Grove H. D. Club

Met October 14th

The Grove Home Demonstration Club met October 14th in the home of Mrs. Ernest Grissom with Mrs. Norbet Dreager assisting with the preparations.

Songs were sung at the beginning of the meeting. The business session consisted mostly of suggestions concerning the buying of a Red Cross kit. The money had already been appropriated and the question was to whom the kit should be given. Investigations were made concerning this matter. Preparations were made for the family night to be held on the grounds of Mrs. Norbet Dreager October 23. This meeting of the families was supposed to have been held Sept. 26 but bad weather intervened.

After the recreation which followed, Mrs. M. J. Scaer gave a demonstration on making an appetizing and delicious dish of left-over chicken.

Plates of chicken croquettes, salad, cookies and hot chocolate were served to eight members and the guests, Mrs. Key Odom, Mrs. Josh Kennedy and Mrs. Hayden Scroggins.

The next meeting will be held November 4th in the home of Mrs. Moore Graham with Mrs. John Graham assisting. Miss Sidney Gibson intends to be with us at this meeting.

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander:

The Magic Lanterns: The cinema has gone to war, all the newcomers being armed to the teeth . . . "Wake Island" is one of the most meritorious of the battle stories. It sticks to the grim facts of the case, with no sugary heroics. It shows the marines are a tough and glorious outfit even with their backs to the wall. Brian Donlevy, Robert Preston, MacDonald Carey, et al, snap it up . . . "The World at War" is a newsreel catalogue of all the out-rages the easy-going world overlooked for a decade. It shows the snatch of Manchuria as the first act of a Jap plan of stick-up that built up to the surprise of Pearl Harbor . . . "Across the Pacific" is hairy-chested meller of the spy school. Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor and Sidney Greenstreet, the acers of "The Maltese Falcon," are reunited here to give your spine another fast workout. Here again the Japs perform their familiar role of sneaks . . . "Berlin Correspondent" means well, but it's as far-fetched as anything to come out of that town since Goebbels opened up his free service to the dopier U. S. newspapers.

The Wireless: Ambass. Grew didn't fool around with any pep talk in his report from Tokyo. The Japs are tough, he warned, and won't quit till they're carried out. The ambassador seemed a little gloomy about the way too many of us are pretending the war is no worse than a bad cold . . . Rex Stout deserves the biggest public. His propaganda spiels are tip-top. There is moxie in his voice as well as his wordage . . . The Goebbels gabble now being broadcast to the Nazis urges them to "forget how to be unbiased and just" and work up more hate for the enemy, especially the Britons. Telling Nazis how to be unjust is as unnecessary as telling skunks how to smell.

The Story Tellers: Frank Kingdon takes care of the isolationists who got patriotic after Pearl Harbor. In "Dangers of a False Peace," in Free World, he points out they kept bleating "peace" and "ignored every voice that cried of our danger from those who kill and enslave civilians as well as soldiers." And there are those who are running for congress on a platform of that same ignorance! . . . Elsie McCormick reports "Boston's Fight Against Rumors" in the Mercury. It is very odd—very odd, indeed—that so many bits of chit-chat, calculated to disturb us in war time, can be traced back to the Nazi shortwavers . . . Pic's editorial, "Coughlin on Parade," is crowded with dynamite.

Clark Gable has been praised by the army and the press for doing it The Hard Way—nevertheless, Clark is receiving some nasty letters from females throughout the land . . . Claiming that The Hard Way "isn't starting in as Corporal" . . . The fact is this: Any man entering the Officer Candidate School in Miami Beach is made a corporal at once. The army does this so that every man starts off equal . . . However, as soon as a man begins classes he loses the temporary rating assigned him at the induction and from then on, until his graduation, he is addressed simply as "Mr." . . . In short, he is not Corporal Gable, but Mr. Gable . . . If and when he graduates he will come out a 2nd Lt. . . . In the last war, Gable probably doesn't recall, being a 2nd Looney was really doing it The Hard Way . . . The quip then went: "What's your idea of a good time, soldier?" . . . "My idea of a good time," was the retort, "is watching a boatload of 2nd Lieutenants sinking!"

Typewriter Ribbons: James Cozens Gould: He had a mind that hit and ran and got away . . . Ann Hunt: Better to carry the torch of liberty and truth than have it come up and burn you from behind . . . Margaret Culkin Banning: The fire burnt out and slept in its own ashes . . . Correction: Kay Riley should have had the credit for: It's a wise bride who knows whether it's Itasca Friday night, and we don't know if it's with a Big I or a little i. Dope doesn't mean anything in Class A anymore than in SWC, and, certainly, by now, you know it never did mean anything there.

Hornets are generally in good shape, and this one should be one more under their belts, and raise their percentage to about .750. They've got a 50-50 now.

In the big conference, the SW this week's menu is A&M-Baylor, in Waco; Texas-Rice in Houston; SMU-Corpus Navy there; TCU-Pensacola Navy there; Arkansas at Mississippi. There it is.

"Course we'll "hope" it's Baylor, and in Houston, it'll be Rice which while, over at Corpus, it'll likely be Corpus, but at Pensacola, it'll be TCU, but then, you can take the others and be just as near right.

In this October 1942 B. R., "before rationing" we're going to try to see our last "big time" game for the duration at Waco. Too, It's Home-Coming, something we usually miss, or most of it.

Tonight, it's Itasca. By the way, Humble Oil & Refining Company will have on the air Saturday the Texas-Rice game over WFAA at 2:20, and A&M-Baylor game from Waco over KGKO-WACO, and the SMU-Corpus game will be 2:20 over KRLD.

Cupid or Conscriptio . . . Austin O'Malley: It's twice as hard to crush a half truth than a whole lie . . . Time: Shoebrush-mustached Tom Dewey . . . Margaret L. Runbeck: The baby opened her little pink mitten of a hand . . . R. L. Stevenson: She sat around sipping the conversation with her eyes . . . M. R. Elliot: She looks for trouble as if it paid her a salary . . . R. L. Martens: Criticism is what you get when you have everything else.

Eleven others from Rudy Vallee's orchestra are following him into the service . . . Petitions seeking 10,000 signatures are being circulated among sporting circles here in behalf of former boxer Ernie Haas, doing 20 years for murdering a Nazi attache. He wants his freedom to join the Canadian Commandos. He's Canuck . . . James True, the Washington "publicist" (as he prefers to call himself) who has been exploited in Time and elsewhere for his Fascist comments—has opened offices in midtown Manhattan.
