"BUNDLES FOR SOME OFFICIALS" HERE: TAXES UPPED, TOO

Rumor has had it, and now it's facts, in black and white in the County Treasurer's office.

There are "bundles for County Officials", too, some county officials.

We wouldn't say they don't deserve it; may be they do; maybe they don't. These "bundles" were "wrapped" up by the Commissioner's Court.

Here's the story: The County Judge, the County Clerk, the Sheriff, and the Janitor's office got the "bundles". In 1941, January, and until August, '42, the County Judge's salary was $200 a month. He was paid $250 in September and October.

In the County Clerk's office the salary 'til September was $210, and the "bundle" wrapped up $40 more, for these two months, making it $250.

In the Sheriff's Office, it was $200, Jan. '41, and dropped to $166.66 in Feb. '42, and was heisted to $200 in September and October. Before, in '41, it was on a fee basis.

In the Janitor's "office" in Jan. it was $85, and in September-October, it was $95.

No other "bundles" showed on the Treasurer's books. TAXES UPPED, TOO, BOTH STATE AND CITY

Went by Dave's office, that is, the Tax Assessor-Collector's and found that the state tax this year is 17c per $100 valuation higher, running from 58 to 75c, but the County Tax Rate remains the same, at 74c. That makes a total of $1.49.

Over in the City end of it, you'll find a 10c per $100 valuation running this up from $1.50 (already as much as county and state) to $1.60, which is to be used to clean up the city cemeteries (not the private ones).

Just thought you might like to know.

WORM TURNING, AND EMPLOYERS TO GET BREAK IN 1943

Maybe it was caused by November 3rd action, or, maybe it was already in the cards, but, at any rate, the poor employer is going to get a much needed break in '43, probably just before he goes broke, anyway.

The Social Security Board, of the Internal Revenue Department, anyway, it's been announced by Frank Scofield from the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue that there will be no change in the tax rate for Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance on January 1, 1943 as had been planned.

The tax remains at 1 per cent on the payrolls of all employers and 1 percent on the wages paid to employees which must be deducted by the employer and reported to the collector of internal revenue, as if they'd let you forget it, if you are an employer.

He also checks class rolls and grades papers, and coaches in laboratory work. O, yes, he gets "on the payroll" too, for this, and the pay is from $15 to $50 a month which ain't hay, when you're going to college.

He is a son of Mrs. J. N. Franks of Gatesville and is a former student of Texas Tech.

He has been at three months ground school in military and academic subjects and physical training. He goes for his Basic training at Dallas.

HORNETS WIND UP SEASON WITH MCGREGOR HERE FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20TH

It won't be a Thanksgiving Day game this year. President Roosevelt has evidently moved it around so much, nobody knows just where it is.

No, that isn't the idea at all! It's a matter of gate receipts, and the powers that be at the school are figuring on a bigger "gate" on the night of the 20th then they would be able to get on the 26th, which according to latest advices is Thanksgiving Day.

222 LBS. IRISH

Well, be that as it may, or may not. That's the last time you'll get to see the 1942 Edition of the Gatesville High Hornets in action, that is, if you want to see them, after Armistice Day.

And, the game. It's going to be quite a game, and playing as on Armistice, McGregor will take home the Pre-Turkey Day game 40 to 0. The Hornets, however, can win the game by about 12 points—that is, if they want to.

RENT MAN DIDN'T MAKE IT: PHONED 9:30 MON. SAYS NOW, WED.

Paul C. Beresford, Rent Administrator had us release the news that he'd be here, Monday, or one of his underlings. We did.

Now, Paul C. Beresford phoned Monday morning at 9:30, that he couldn't be here Monday (yesterday) at all, and that he'd not be here Tuesday but he would be here Wednesday.

Now, we don't know that he'll be here Wednesday, but he said so, but he also said he'd be here Monday and didn't, so you can let your conscious be your guide.

We are getting bum-steered in a hurry by some of these agencies. Gettin' so we don't believe it ourselves, and can you tell us how we can?

With all this rubber-gas shortage, one lady drove down from Dallas Monday to get her rent problems straightened out here, but he wasn't here.

Course, that rubber and gas, not to mention her time, don't matter. She jest ought'n to a done it! And, there it goes.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander:

The Magic Lanterns: The holdovers are breaking run records in the major temples, which makes the new list meager . . . The Two Bodies, also known as Betty Grable and Victor Mature, pour the glamour on "Footlight Serenade." This is a happy-go-lucky musical. The story voted for Rutherford B. Hayes, but the tunes and gags help it to hide its age. It is packed with likable troupers, including Jane Wyman, Jas. Gleason and John Payne . . . "Lady in a Jam" reveals Irene Dunne as a hare-brained heiress who winds up with a psychiatrist going "tck tck" at her, but he's making loonier noises on his own later, being in love. The flicker is of the old screwball school. Patric Knowles and Ralph Bellamy horse around in it . . . The current quip concerns the soldier in "This Is the Army," who felt that he wasn't doing enough toward the war effort. And so he sat through "Wake Island" twice.

The Wireless: The strut has gone out of the Jap radio. Its spiers are preparing the people for tough times. The earlier assurances were that beating the Americans was a breeze . . . The patter they write for M. Gross wouldn't be funny if he delivered it in baggy pants and fell on the seat of them every other word . . . The V for Victory series improves with every performance. It has acquired showmanship and gives it plenty . . . Charlie McCarthy returned to the airwaves feeling funnier than ever. Said it was so cold in Alaska "the inhabitants have to live some place else" . . . Roy Shield's crew, weaving the ditty, "I Get a Kick Out of You" (with velvety violins) formed a musical rainbow . . . Victor Borge, awarded the Comic of the Year prize last season, isn't to be renewed by his sponsor.

The Story Tellers: The most shocking charges against the Nazis are now being offered by the krauts themselves. In acts, not words. "The Black Book of Poland," a record of the German atrocities in that land, sounds like a report on the behavior of savage beasts . . . Rex Stout has compiled the pre-Pearl Harbor quotes of some of the brothers in congress, which will make a book called "The Illustrious Dunderheads." Frank Sullivan will quip the introduction, and Gropper's caricatures will make the squirming complete . . . A nice dab of fiction is "Mrs. Willoughby's Letters," by Mary Elizabeth Plummer in Atlantic Monthly. Incidentally, that monthly is on the hustle nowadays, going in heavy for promotion, trying to pull away, presumably, from the graybeard clientele . . . The Most Beautiful Girl on Broadway, according to Harry Thompson in Cosmopolitan, hails from Sioux City. She is Constance Moore.

The Front Pages: Proof that Vichy has accepted the brute philosophy of its Nazi masters was confirmed by the poignant headline in one ayem gazette: "Vichy to Jail Priests Aiding Jewish Children" . . . The Mirror's breezy interview with Special U. S. Prosecutor Oscar Ewing (he sent Pelley to prison for 15 years) revealed that his storm-troops sent Pelley $10 a month (700 of them) during one month before the trial. After his conviction they sent him about $150 daily . . . The most arresting news story locally was that one about the Very Rev. R. I. Gannon, president of Fordham, who publicly confessed that his pre-war isolationist views were wrong and "that President Roosevelt was right" . . . "If," he said, "the President had listened to me, China, Russia and Great Britain would now be prostrate and we should be facing our zero hour alone and unprepared."

Edward G. Robinson, the star, was coming out of Dinty Moore's 46th Street rendezvous when someone pointed out Detective Johnny Broderick passing by . . . "Oh," oh'd the famed film hero, "I once played Broderick on the screen. I love to meet him. I've heard so much about him."

A pal introduced them. "This is a real thrill," said the movie star. "But another thrill I'd enjoy would be to go with you when you and your colleagues are shooting it out with gangsters!"

"I don't think you'd enjoy that, Mr. Robinson," said Broderick. "When hoodlums shoot at cops they don't use blanks."

One of the more amusing Washington stories (unquestionably untrue) concerns Halifax and FDR . . . "Mr. President," the British ambassador is supposed to have said, "when I was viceroy of India, I felt that all of India would have understood me overnight had I wrapped myself in a sheet and sat on the floor with Gandhi."

"Then why didn't you?" asked the President.

"Because," blandly basso'd the Britisher, "India would have understood—but Britain—nevahhhh!"

It isn't what we think about you that count for or against you as much as it is what you think about yourself.—Golden Rule Magazine.

A prudent man is like a pin, his head keeps him from going too far.

Experience is a rough nurse, but it raises strong children.

Buy War Satmps and Bonds!

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Barbed wire used by Uncle Sam's fighting forces is vastly different from that used on American farms. Army and Marine barbed wire is much heavier and the barbs, about three inches in length, are more vicious than ordinary barbed wire.

The Marine Corps pays fifty cents for each twelve yards, or 36 feet of this specially manufactured barbed wire. The Army and Marine Corps needs thousands upon thousands of feet for defensive warfare. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will insure sufficient quantity for their needs. Invest at least ten percent of your wages in War Bonds every pay day.

Frozen Food Lockers Help Relieve Food Situation

Proof was seen recently that the Frozen Food Lockers are helping to relieve the home food situation. Two requests were received from widely scattered points in Texas for information relative to processing meats, vegetables, and fruits to put into frozen food lockers acquired in Dallas and Port Arthur by persons who were beginning to feel the effort of the retail meat shortage. By using the frozen food lockers surplus foods can be reserved for home use and at the same time, release more food for the war effort because patrons who are doing this are not taking that amount from the retail trade channels.

Peanut Butter Recipe

This tested recipe for making peanut butter at home is given through the Home Economics Department of Tarleton College:

Grind 4 cups of roasted peanuts with skins removed, fine or coarse and with the ground nuts mix 8 tablespoons fresh vegetable oil and 1 1/4 teaspoons salt.

This can be varied by using in place of the vegetable oil 8 tablespoons cream or 8 tablespoons of butter.

Keep peanut butter in a tightly closed container in a cool place. The oil mixture stays fresh longer.

Food Value of Peanuts

In the United States four nuts are produced on the commercial scale in the following order: peanuts, English walnut, pecan, and almond. The peanut is a good source of vitamin B for steady nerves, good digestion and better skin. The peanut has only about 40 per cent of fat which is not a lot of fat content when compared to the pecan which has over 70 per cent of fat. Nuts may make a useful contribution to the protein in the diet, for instance on a meatless day, the main dish might be

PEANUT AND CARROT LOAF

2 cups roasted peanuts, chopped
2 cups chopped carrots
2 tablespoons butter or other fat
3 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups tomato juice and pulp
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Make a thick sauce with fat, flour, and tomato pulp. Mix well with the other ingredients, and form into a loaf. Pack tightly into a well greased pan lined with paper and bake in a moderate oven one hour.

The October issue of "The Extensioner", monthly magazine published at College Station, Texas ran the following article:

"At a meeting of the Pidcoke home demonstration club of Coryell County a few weeks ago the members packed and mailed five boxes of cookies from their community located at various camps. At the next meeting two weeks later, letters of acknowledgment and appreciation were read from the boys who received the gifts. Last spring a county-wide first aid course was taught to 75 persons from over the county by the representative of the state highway department. Earl Williams, a school teacher in Pidcoke, took the course and later taught it in his community. Recently he was inducted into the army and is in Missouri—teaching first aid".

Dear Wardie:

This bein' the year in football of "Who'd a tho't it?", I'm a goin' right out on a slippery twig and pick the Texas Aggies to return evil for evil, and beat the Longhorns come Thursday the 26th inst. The Longhorns busted the Kyle Field jinx. The Memorial Stadium jinx is yet to be busted. But them Ags has been a pintin' fer it fer nearly 50 weeks.

Well, now that a cold spell has come, I killed a pig. They may be a meat shortage, but I'm a goin' to ration myself a hunk of salt pork, turnip greens, and corn bread ever so often, anyway.

Say, I heerd everybody got along all right in Afriky, but has Eleanor got back from her inspection of the British Islets yet? I'm shore worried about her, with paper in them shoes to keep the holes in the soles shut, and winter a comin' on.

Here's a letter from Buddy Biffle to his folks here, and you'll be interested to know how Buddy likes the Army.

"Well, here I am sitting watch over two 3-H. P. refrigeration units, Westinghouse, pulling 3 big vaults in our galley that at present is feeding between 1100 and 1200 men in one mess hall.

"There are two doors to enter the mess hall for chow. One is double file, and one is single. At chow time, these lines will be 100 yards long. I came on this watch at 1600, it is now 200 and I go off at 2400.

"In our battalion there are over 1100 men and the 12 of us that were selected to go to refrigeration school at Camp Bradford are now in charge of all refrigeration that is installed at Camp Peary and are installing refrigerators every day.

"We have one vault alone to install that will store 1,000,000 pounds of fresh meat. I like the work fine and we are getting our specialist training here and then we are heading for Base X to put things on cold storage there and don't think that we can't for these C. B. are fighters as well constructors.

"Let me tell you what I saw and have done while I was at Camp Bradford attending school, one half day and drilling one half. These dabburn Leathernecks put us thru here at Perry before our advanced school started.

"Here goes. Muster at 6 in the morning; fall in at 8; go by the arsenal and get rifles and bayonets, head for the drill field which wasn't a bed of roses. Generally rose bushes, pine brush, marshes, mud, water and hard ground. You get it all if there is anything soft to fall on, it is mud, otherwise, it's hard ground. You won't hit a rock, as there isn't a rock in this neck of the woods. And when one of the Marines holler 'hit the deck' you hit the deck, makes no difference whether it's mud, water or hard ground, and you hit like a ton of brick, with your rifle and start firing. However, that is all over with me now, since I am specializing in refrigeration. Oh, boy for a break. But we have about 700 C. B. buzzing out there about 8 hours a day, and nearly all of them are from Texas and are tough as a boot. The Marines here admit that the C.B.'s were really in there when they walked into the Solomons and they played as big a part as the Marines, altho they still want you to think they are the roughest and toughest, and they are just that. But we are their buddies and they think a whole lot of us.

"We are up here where the York river empties into this old Atlantic ocean. Greens creek on the other side this camp has 5,000 acres in it and is now under construction. It is a pine forest and they are cutting the timber, sawing it up and making barracks, galleys, mess halls, store rooms, sick bays, officers quarters and everything else and putting the timber back where it grew. All the lumber is green, and they have 3 saw mills on the camp sight, all run by C. B.'s.

Well, think I'll step into the galley for a cup of coffee so I can make it until 2400. Tell all the friends in Gatesville "Hello". You and Kent keep your chins up, and will see you 'when the situation is well in hand.'

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Believing herself guilty of a murder she did not commit, Kay Kerrigan, a beautiful pianist, has fled to the Orient. Sam Wye, a clever but woman-crazy detective, and Blodgett, his guardian, have trailed her to Singapore where she calls herself Mary Holden. Knowing her identity, Sam falls in love with her and she with him, but she discovers that Sam is really interested in the reward and escapes. With Jeanie, an old sweetheart of Sam's who up to this time has been pursuing Kay herself, she hides in the Ceylon hills. There Sam finds them and prevails on Kay to return to San Francisco with him. On the boat, however, he gets a radiogram ordering him to surrender Kay to Captain Faulkner at the next stop, Bombay. Sam and Kay escape Faulkner, but Faulkner remains in Bombay to look for them.

looking at him happily she too tried to knock the window sill. It was beyond her reach, so she raised herself a little. As she looked out, her peaceful joy turned to horror. Down on the beach the natives were clustering around another boat which had just arrived. "Sam!" she gasped. "A white man!"

Sam sprang to the window. "Faulkner!" he cried. Turning, she saw that his gun was in his hand and screamed: "Sam! No!"

"Sam!" she whispered after a minute. "He's outside! He's waiting for us to make the first move! Sam, don't—!"

As he raised the pistol she seized his arm frantically. At the same moment a shot rang out and Sam, clutching his hand, fell to the floor. Wild-eyed, she dropped beside him, and the grim face of Captain Faulkner appeared in the doorway. "Kay Kerrigan," he announced. "I arrest you in the name of the City of San Francisco."

Despite his wounded hand Sam grinned derisively. "You're a little late, Georgie," he said. He pushed Kay to her feet, and she saw that he had snapped handcuffs on her. "She's my prisoner," Sam said. "One hundred thousand dollars on the hoof—and bound to me by bands of steel!"

Slowly, as if a knife had been thrust gradually into her heart, Kay understood. "Sam!" she mur-

Chapter Five

"But Sam," she asked, as the boatman sailed the little dhow toward the islands. "Where are we going?"

"To a place where nobody will ever find us," he said lightly.

"Sam . . ." she whispered. "This is it — Eternity."

Kay could still scarcely understand. "Sam! They'll be looking for you! You've made yourself a riminal—for me!"

"Think of Blodgett," Sam grinned. "If I know Blodgett he and Jeanie are married by now."

She would have protested again if he took her in his arms.

When they landed, the islanders roved with friendly gaiety to meet them; but these natives, despite their appreciation of Sam's antimining, would never have been much good in an information bureau. "Well, darling," Sam grinned. "We'll have to go house hunting by ourselves."

At last their laughing search was rewarded. They found one—a bamboo hut quite deserted, its windows nearly covered with vines. Jay started in but Sam stopped her. "Darling!" he cried reprovingly. Lifting her, he carried her over the threshold like a bride.

Inside, he held her for a moment before he put her down. "Dearest," he murmured, looking into her eyes. "There are some people who might not approve of a Hindu captain on an Indian show—they might think we've tipped some of the preliminaries. But we've carried out the most important part of the ceremony."

Squeezing him, she sighed: "It's the most glorious threshold a bride ever crossed."

She looked tenderly at the cigar and on her finger. "And the most glorious ring a bride ever wore," he whispered.

Afterwards, much later, it was she who broke the silence. Almost inaudibly she said, "Sam..."

"Darling..."

"Do you feel...?"

"Yes," he said softly. "Like in church. I can almost smell the incense."

They were quite a while. "Sam..." she said. "This is it... Eternity..."

"Eternity," he smiled, and reaching past her knocked his knuckles against the window sill.

She saw what he meant and mured pleadingly. "Sam—you didn't—Oh, Sam, it wasn't for the reward?"

Sam shrugged sadly. "What else?" he asked. "Don't you see, baby? I'm losing you in any case. It's tough but you can't expect me to pass up the reward now."

For a second Kay looked as if she would fall. Then, with a slight gesture, she let the cigar and drop from her finger. Even Faulkner could not conceal his contempt for Sam. "Where do I come in on all this?" he demanded coldly.

Sam picked up the cigar and handed it to him. "This little gadget got me a hundred thousand bucks," he smirked. "See what you can do with it. Come on, Baby. The next stop is San Francisco."

Some days later San Francisco was wallowing in the most sensational news story since 1906—the story of Sam Wye, detective, lover and the greatest heel in history. What was more here was a heel who rejoiced in the unenviable publicity his title was getting him. While the newsreel cameras recorded his acceptance of the reward he even announced to the contemptuous reporters that he was moving into the apartment where Thomas Bruhm had been murdered. "Come around to the house-warming, boys," he said airily. "there'll be plenty of free drinks!"

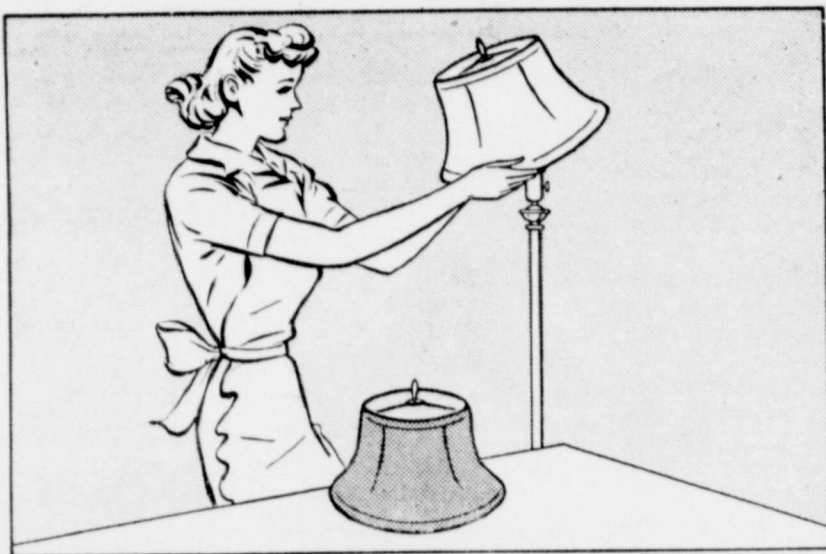

And for Kay too, waiting numbly in her cell, not caring what her fate would be now, there was a last straw. While Jean was trying to comfort her Blodgett came awkwardly with a pair of gloves which had been found in the apartment the night of Bruhm's death. Blodgett was puzzled to hear that they were not Kay's. "Perhaps Sam just sent them as a little remembrance," he stammered.

A little remembrance! For the first time Kay broke completely, and throwing herself hysterically on the prison cot, she sobbed until the cell seemed to shake.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 2 of a Series)

Replace Dark Shades

If your lamp shades are not white or very light-colored on the inside, you're losing a lot of valuable light. Dark colors soak up light like a sponge—in some cases as much as 50% of the light is lost. Clean your lamp shades regularly, or if they're too dark or discolored with age, replace them with fresh, new, white-lined shades. You'll get a lot more light from the same bulbs—light that you need for safer, easier seeing.

AN EFFICIENT GLARE CHASER

is this plastic, screw-in adaptor. Designed to replace bare bulbs on drop cords or in single-socket fixtures, it provides an abundance of glareless, evenly-distributed light that's kind to eyes. It's easy to install—screws in like a light bulb—and costs only $1.65 complete with 150-watt bulb. Ask for a free trial.

WE CAN HELP YOU RAISE THE Extra Pigs that now are both PATRIOTIC AND PROFITABLE

BIG LITTERS • HEAVY PIGS

This year when your country needs more pork, don't be satisfied with 5 or 6 pigs to the litter when it's possible to wean 8 or 9. At the Purina Farm in Spring, 1942, 68 sows weaned 9.57 pigs per litter. Sow and Pig Chow fed along with your grain gives sows the things needed to build big, heavy litters. Come in, let us show you records!

BUILD BIG FRAMES with HOG CHOW

When pigs weigh 50 lbs., start feeding Hog Chow along with your grain. Hog Chow is built to develop big frames, to grow your pigs into meat racks on which to hang the pork quick and thick. Fast gains, early-to-market is the Hog Chow way!

WORM PIGS AT 10 WEEKS OF AGE WITH PURINA PIG-SULES

To rid your hogs of large roundworms we recommend Purina Pig-sules. They're easy and economical to use—and really get the worms. (Insert Box of 50 only Price)

Tommie C. Donaldson of The Grove enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps on the Marine 167th Anniversary, November 10.

A short note from Pvt. Lloyd M. Manning of the 1st Ferrying Squadron, AAF, Long Beach, Calif., reads: Just a line or so to say that the "News" is coming in fine. I have been here for about 3 months and like the country fine, but I'll still take "Deep In The Heart of Texas".

There isn't much to say about what I am doing, but I will assure you we are doing our part in "Keeping 'Em Flying", over there. Keep the good work going. Pvt. Lloyd M. Manning.

Pvt. Hazen Ament is now in the U. S. Air Force at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

H. E. Franks spent the week end in Waco with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Petty.

Miss Willie Michael visited her parents this week end, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Michael of Evant.

John Culp, T. W. Winters, Clyde Thompson, T. E. Venable, Homer Painter, C. A. Tubbs, Carroll Jayroe, O. C. Weaver, Jim Painter, W. J. Watson, Bud Johnson, Geo. Green, Louis Behrens, R.C. Adams, Mrs. Mildred Levy, and John Feggett.

Well, they say, names make a country newspaper, and well, maybe this makes us. No, this is evidently the trustees who will assist in the registration for rationing of gasoline. Had to draw on our imagination a little.
