DR. ROBERT GOODLOE TO ADDRESS METHODISTS SUNDAY

Dr. Robert W. Goodloe, head of the department of Church History School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, will preach at the Methodist church here Sunday morning. He comes at the invitation of the pastor, the Rev. E. L. Craig.

One of the outstanding ministers in the Southwest, Dr. Goodloe has been associated with SMU for more than twenty years and supplies pulpits in cities in the Dallas area whenever a vacancy occurs. He is a recognized authority on church history and an author of note, having written several books on a historical theme as well as contributing to numerous church periodicals.

Dr. Goodloe has preached here on previous occasions and those who have heard him will be delighted to hear of his return engagement. His wife, the former Miss Lola Calhoun, was reared in the Pideoke community of this county and has relatives who still live in the county.

To Address Adult Dept. of S.S.

At the church school hour of 9:45 Dr. Goodloe will address the classes of the adult department meeting in joint session in the church auditorium immediately following the making of reports. All members of that department are requested to be on time so as not to miss any of this message.

WATCH YOUR "BLUES" AND "GREENS" SAYS CCWP & RB

Some are likely to go without canned and other processed foods in the near future, because some grocers have been accepting Blue instead of Green stamps from Ration Book No. 4 in payment for these foods.

The blue stamps are not yet valid. Only the green stamps in "4" are valid now.

You might do a little "auditing" your books now before you pull this bone.

FORMER POSTMASTER HERE IS BURIED AT HEARN WED.

W. A. (Bill) Smith, a former resident of Gatesville was buried in Hearne Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Smith was well known in Coryell county for a number of years, having been a teacher, tax assessor-collector and postmaster at Gatesville for eight years.

Mr. Smith leaves a number of children and had been living with a daughter at Hearne. He will be remembered by many in this county.

"ONE CASE" CAUGHT WITH NEGRO ENROUTE TO LUBBOCK

Somebody's going to be dry Thanksgiving, since local officers stopped a negro, Wash McDaniel of Leon County, who said he was headed for Lubbock to bring back some cotton pickers.

He had the "case" of liquor in the pick-up, and said it was being taken to the cotton pickers. The tax was $100 and costs.

USO INTER-FAITH SERVICE POSTPONED UNTIL THIS SUNDAY

Due to the restriction of troops in North Camp Hood because of the air demonstration in South Camp on last Sunday the Religious Service at the USO was postponed until this Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m. in the Green Room. The USO was deeply gratified over the civilian interest in the event and hope that persons interested will be present on this Sunday afternoon.

Miss Emma Nell Dickie has gone to San Angelo where she will work.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendler Powell, formerly of Gatesville became the parents of an eight pound son, Nov. 21. Cpl. Wendler Powell is with the armed forces in England. Mrs. Powell is living with her sister in Seminole, Okla.

MR. & MRS. C.E. FOSTER CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

A reception, honoring the 50th anniversary of their marriage, was held by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Foster, Sunday, November 21, at their home on East Bridge Street.

Rarely does one hear of two people whose lives have been so strangely paralleled as those of Mr. and Mrs. Foster's. Neil Edward Foster and Della Elizabeth Simmons were both born in Mississippi in the years 1861 and 1867 respectively. In early childhood they moved to Hopkins County, Texas, by wagon train, with their parents who were early pioneers. The two families settled in Hopkins County, where both Neil and Della were raised. When a young man, Mr. Foster moved to Coryell County, where he was engaged in farming. In 1893 he returned to Hopkins County and married Della Elizabeth Simmons. The couple was married by Reverend Caldwell at the Simmons home. The bride wore a dove grey gown, with Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster then moved to Coryell County, where they have made their home for the past fifty years. Their four children, J. B. Foster, Mrs. J. M. Davis, Neil S. Foster and Mrs. Knox Lovejoy are prominent local citizens. They are the Grandparents of Mrs. Otis Montgomery, Mr. W. E. Foster, James M. Davis, Miss Jo Davis and Mrs. Lue Ann Foster. Their two grand-children are John Burtram Montgomery and Annette Foster.

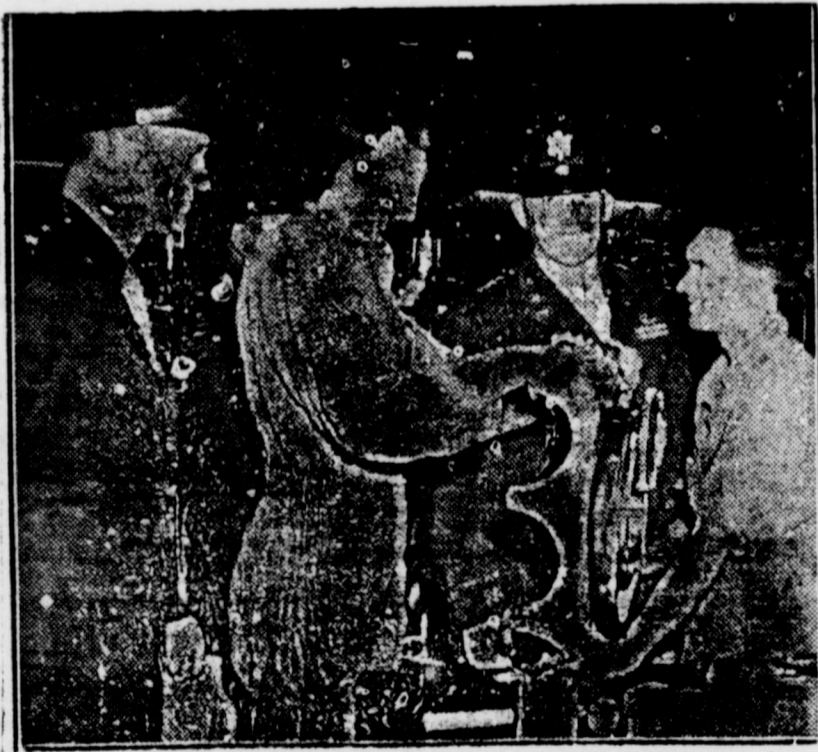

This grand old couple has been so much a part of local tradition that the citizens enthusiastically rallied to make the celebration of their Golden Wedding such an event.

The reception, which was held last Sunday, was attended by more than 150 persons. At the gala event the Golden Wedding motif was carried out in both refreshments and decorations. The table, which was arranged with a large golden wedding cake, inscribed (1893-1943), gold chrysanthemums, gold tapars, and a large punch bowl, presented a colorful and striking effect. Refreshments served were sandwiches, cookies, olives, punch and candy.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Foster, Mrs. Olive Oliver, Mrs. John Boye and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Dickey. Receiving guests at the door were: Mrs. J. M. Davis, Mrs. Lovejoy and Neil Foster. In the dining room the guests were assisted by Mrs. R. Thomas and Mrs. Neil Foster. Mrs. J. B. Foster poured the punch and served refreshments to the guests. She was assisted by Mrs. Otis

PEOPLE 'CHANGING OVER' FROM ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON.—I asked a Kentucky friend of mine who is the best possible authority on the people if not the politics of the state, for an explanation of the astonishing success of a Republican gubernatorial candidate in that utmost stronghold of the administration since the beginning of the New Deal, the state which has two Democratic senators, one the administration leader in the senate. He replied:

"The people are changing over. Jim Farley had it about right in his comment on the defeat of his Democratic candidate in New York when he said the people were tired and dissatisfied with what they have been getting."

The country, too, is changing over. The local results everywhere cannot be satisfactorily explained in any other way.

The successful Kentucky Republican, Simeon S. Willis, is what is known in politics as "a good man." He is the elderly Kentucky gentleman type, a former judge, honest, friendly.

In the past, the far distant past, when the Republicans wanted to win that border state, they had to put in plenty of money. Willis had no money, at least not of that size. The big money people did not shell out for him, probably were not asked to.

ADMINISTRATION WORRIED

The administration rushed every one of its national powers from Kentucky into the threatened final breach. Senate Leader Barkley and the recently cantankerous Happy Chandler, spent the last three weeks before election on the formerly dark and bloody ground. Some Kentuckians think this was a mistake, too.

Mr. Roosevelt once spoke in Kentucky against Chandler in the early New Dealing days when Happy was trying to crash the gate of big league politics and establish the gubernatorial machine he has enjoyed up until last Tuesday. The Democratic candidate was a Chandler man, J. Lyter Donaldson.

Chandler is one of the senators who returned from a world tour recently, with advice for changes in administration world policy which were sharply and publicly rejected by the White House.

When he and Barkley rushed back to Kentucky to get into bed together with Donaldson and call for upholding the President, apparently they did not appear to a majority of the voters to be very harmonious bed-fellows, but rather just tentatively congenial. Donaldson has been described as an ordinary gubernatorial candidate.

In view of this background, the explanation of Democratic National Chairman Frank Walker, that the scattered elections' results did not involve national issues and had no national significance, was somewhat lacking, if not sad.

The Republicans have won before, recently in New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia, but not by these latest majorities. The results indisputably signify that the Republican trend, started in the losing Willkie race and two years later turned into nearly a Republican capture of the house, has now expanded even wider, continuing in the same direction.

What was discernible elsewhere can now be said to be true—even of Kentucky. The farm vote seems gone, labor split, and radicals (New York city, Detroit) have lost their vote-pulling power. That leaves little to work on.

Whether the President's personality and unrivaled ingenuity can change this, I do not know. I always thought war victory would restore whatever prestige Mr. Roosevelt lost, but this now has gone pretty far.

NO FOURTH TERM?

I would say the scattered local election results have an unexpected and the deepest possible significance. They suggest to my mind for the first time that Mr. Roosevelt may not run for a fourth term. There is no better politician than

AVOID Fatigue

A RUNDOWN CONDITION

Invites Disease

Fatigue is "Open Sesame" to disease and germs that surround your body at all times. When you are in a rundown condition they find entrance and succeed in overcoming the feeble resistance that your body is able to summon up. Don't give these germs a chance to keep you from your job . . . get plenty of rest and nutritious food.

Mr. Roosevelt. The reason he ran for the third term was because he thought he could win without as much opposition as he got.

I doubt that he would choose to blotch his record or make a useless martyr of himself in a losing chance, but might prefer, perhaps, to head "an international organization" described in the Moscow agreements as a hope and expectation of the Big Four nations.

That seems to be the real possibility now.

WHAT STALIN MEANT

Stalin's victory speech gave people here a better understanding of the Hull-Stalin-Eden declarations than the generalized text of those documents.

He implemented them, clearly, calmly, confidently.

The impending victory, he said, had freed Russia, and he forecast freedom for conquered and occupied nations of Europe under governments to be chosen by their own people, which would be his conception of democracy.

FROM

North Camp Hood

Colonel Donald R. Dunkle, executive officer of North Camp Hood, presented forty-five enlisted members of Headquarters Detachment, DEML, 1848 Unit at North Camp, with the Good Conduct Ribbon at ceremonies held in the detachment area at 5:30 P. M. November 18, 1943.

First Lieutenant Homer O. Hoffman, detachment commander, conducted the formal ceremonies.

Among those receiving the Army decoration were Technical Sergeant William N. Barry, Personnel Sergeant Major; Technical Sergeant Ralph Stronach, Intelligence; Technical Sergeant Eldridge Jones, Billeting; Staff Sergeant Ralph Irving, Message Center; Staff Sergeant Victor H. Mettler, Special Services Athletic Section; Staff Sergeant Morris Ronis, Army Emergency Relief; Sergeant John W. Magennis, Chief Clerk of Public Relations; Technician Fourth Grade Alvin Wile, Billeting; Corporal Robert A. Garden, Custodial Office, and Private First Class Regis J. Beirne, Message Center—all of the staff of Headquarters, North Camp Hood.

Major Howard B. Jones of the Plans and Training Section at the Tank Destroyer Replacement Training Center, North Camp Hood, enjoyed a double celebration November 15th when his son, Howard A., had his first birthday and the officer received his promotion from the grade of Captain.

Major Edward H. Burch, Jr., of North Camp, is explaining to fellow officers of the TD Replacement Training Center that he got his plack eye from a rabbit punch, and displays a patch of Texas Jack-rabbit fur to prove it.

The "shiner" came under the "hazards of training". With other officer from RTC headquarters the Major was going through a field problem, and hit the ground with the first sound of "enemy" fire.

He found himself staring eye to eye with a touch Texas jack.

The officer was quick, but the jack was quick like a rabbit, and its ten pounds hurled through the air and bounced off the major's left eye. The rabbit pulled itself together and vanished, while Major Burch recovered his helmet and composure.

On November 27th the North Camp Hood Panthers (basketball team) will play the Waco Army Air Field Wolves in a basketball game at the Baylor University gymnasium. The game, one of the USO Basketball League series, will begin at 8:00 P. M.

These Army teams have proven their worth in supplying fast, thrilling basketball for lovers of the sport. Many of the teams in the USO League are composed of servicemen who were outstanding professional or collegiate basketball stars.

The three previous contests have been stirring events, and the crowds are growing with each subsequent event.

Servicemen and servicewomen are admitted to the contests free.

Thanksgiving Day at Camp Hood and North Camp Hood will be a day of work for the soldiers with training and operational functions being carried on as usual. But the noon-day meal will be the traditional festive one, with turkey and all the trimmings, and in the evening the RTC has prepared a gala stage show to be presented in the Central Recreational Hall for all enlisted personnel.

Legal Notices!

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Josephine Patrick Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Coryell County at the Court House thereof, in Gatesville, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 3rd day of January A. D. 1944, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 22 day of November A. D. 1943, in this cause, numbered 5224 on the docket of said court and styled Phillip Patrick, Plaintiff, vs. Josephine Patrick, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: Plaintiff shows to the Court that he and the defendant were lawfully married to each other December 2nd, 1933, and separated March 17th, 1936. That there were two (2) children born to said marriage who are seven and nine years of age and both girls. That the defendant without the knowledge of this plaintiff, took said children and abandoned plaintiff on the last named date. That he does not know where the defendant is nor where she carried said children. That he has never heard nor seen them since the day of separation.

Plaintiff shows that he gave the defendant no cause to abandon him. That the statute of three years is especially pleaded for divorce. That during said time, he has never lived with or contributed to the defendant, and has no knowledge of the whereabouts of either defendant or said children. Plaintiff shows that on account of the above condition that same renders their living together insupportable.

Wherefore, Plaintiff sues and prays for citation to be published in terms of law, commanding the defendant to appear and answer this petition and on final hearing that plaintiff be granted a divorce and for all other relief general and special in law and in equity that plaintiff may show himself entitled to receive, and as in duty bound will ever pray as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Gatesville, Texas this 23 day of November A. D. 1943.

Attest: Carl McClendon, Clerk, District Court, Coryell County, Tex (SEAL) 98-100-102-104tc

SOLDIER 'SPRISSES FOLKS

A family reunion was held at the A. H. Huff home in Gatesville Saturday, when Sgt. Sammie Huff, who has been overseas for many months, just walked in and surprised the folks. Sgt. Huff, now on a 30 day furlough, has been stationed in Newoundland for the past seven months. He has also seen service in Iceland. Relatives who gathered to celebrate the festive occasion were: Mrs. J. C. Griffith of Denison, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Huff of Waco, and Mrs. C. L. Huff of Osage.

RISES HELD FOR LOCAL GIRL

Funeral services were held at the Liberty Church Sunday for Orlean Zelma Latham, who passed away Saturday, Nov. 20th. Services were conducted by the Reverends Will Jackson and R. L. Derrick. Miss Latham, who was 17 years of age, is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Latham, five brothers, J. R. Latham, B. W. Latham, C. T. Latham, T. V. Latham, and B. E. Latham; and two sisters, Mrs. Virgie Williams and Mrs. W. C. Fowler. The body was interned at the Turnersville cemetery.

First Aid Course Held At The U. S. O.

Mrs. Howard Eubanks has recently completed instruction of a course in Standard First Aid, which was held at the local USO. The course consisted of two hours instruction daily for a period of two weeks, ending Monday, November 22nd.

This instruction in every phase of First Aid is valuable training, and the Gatesville USO was very fortunate in obtaining so capable an instructor as Mrs. Eubanks.

Those who successfully completed the course were awarded First Aid Cards, which entitles them to assume command of any emergency situation where no doctor or nurse is available.

The graduates were: Mrs. Nancy Blocksma, Mrs. Becky Cardin, Mrs. Cornelia Gray, Mrs. Loraine Geagle, Mrs. Helen Levy, Mrs. Jean Peveny and Mrs. R. L. Wilson.

Foster Reunion . . .

Montgomery, Miss Jo Davis, Mrs. W. E. Foster, and Miss Lue Ann Foster. Miss Mattie Oliver invited the guests into the dining room to sign the guest book, where they were assisted by Mrs. John Milner.

Numerous flowers throughout the house added distinctive beauty to the occasion. A festive atmosphere prevailed at the reception where the guests enjoyed chatting with friends. The entire Foster family was present, with the exception of James M. Davis, who is with the 36th Division in Italy. A family group picture was taken.

Guests who paid tribute to the elderly couple were: Mrs. Hugh Saunders, Mrs. C. A. Baker, Mrs. Andrew Graves, Miss Wilhelmina Cayce, Sgt. November 19, 1943

Dear Friends:

The debate on the consumer's subsidy issue is under way this afternoon Nov. 19th. The bill will probably not reach a vote before early next week. At the time I write, it looks as if the House will include a provision prohibiting the use of government money for general food subsidies. Of course, it is expected that even if both the House and Senate again pass such a prohibition against subsidies the President will probably again veto the bill. Therefore none of us can know what will be the final outcome until the President has acted.

Immediately following the subsidy bill, it is expected that the House will consider the tax bill. While I realize that it has been the practice of demagogues in all ages to vote for any proposal that promises the people something for nothing, like the subsidy, and to vote against all new taxes, I must confess that I think that the tax bill should be much heavier than it is going to be. Rather than trying to pay the people's grocery bill, the Government should, if it is to stop inflation, take a larger part of the great accumulation of money now in the hands of the people. This must be taken either as taxes or forced savings or some of both. Unfortunately, those who framed the new tax bill hesitated to impose a tax program that will take any substantial part of that money. They only tried to increase certain special taxes here and there. The bulk of the money that is causing the threat of inflation has been made as a result of the war. It should be taxed as war profits whether received as stock dividends or as wages. If we would levy an excess profits tax or excess income tax on individuals we now have such a tax on corporations reaching all excess income (that is income in excess of normal income) the Government would be able to get the revenue it needs and at the same time avoid hurting those individuals who have enjoyed no increase in income. A sales tax would get much of this income, but it would also tax those who have had no increase in income.

Yesterday the House adopted the conference report on the bill to require the deferment of fathers until all available single men are drafted. I have often expressed myself as favoring this bill. I realize that there are not many single men left. The bill will not be as effective as it would have been had it been concurred in by the Senate last spring when the House first passed it, but the principle is still sound. I trust that the Senate will now adopt the conference report without further delay.

Earlier in the week we passed two bills which try to apply the "little steel" formula to disabled and aged veterans by increasing their compensation by 15 percent. This increase applies to totally disabled non-service veterans as well as to all service-connected cases. Justice required this as these old and disabled veterans have been unable to increase their earnings as other groups have done while at the same time they are required to pay just as much for their living as anyone else. I voted for both bills. They have not yet passed the Senate, but I feel sure they will do so in a few days.

The Congress broke a precedent of long standing yesterday when we listened to Secretary of State Hull. Mr. Hull had been invited by both Houses to address the Congress. We held a joint session with the Senate (in the House Chamber) just as we do to hear the President. The crowds were similar to those that assemble to hear the President and so was the demand for tickets to the galleries. (Each Member was only allowed one). Mr. Hull made a very helpful and worthwhile speech on our relations with our Allies and particularly with Russia, but the most important feature was the fact that this was the first report of this kind that had been made to an American Congress by a Cabinet Officer in more than 150 years. In other countries it is customary for Cabinet Officers to make such reports to the Legislative Branch, but it simply has not been done in the United States. Possibly we may expect a different policy in the future which may result in a better coordination between the Legislative and the Executive Branch of Government.

Yours for Victory,
W. R. Poage.

WARTIME SAVINGS SUGGESTIONS for Electric Appliance Users

Six Ways to Avoid Waste in the Use of Your Electric Washer and Iron

- Disconnect iron at wall outlet when called to door or telephone or whenever ironing is interrupted by other duties.
- Sprinkle clothes lightly — just enough to permit easy ironing out of wrinkles. Excessive dampening wastes heat and electricity.
- Set heat control of iron at correct temperature for each type of fabric and avoid using higher temperature than necessary.
- Plan washing so full capacity of washer is used once rather than partial capacity a number of times. But be careful not to overload. Overloading wastes electricity and results in a loss of efficiency.
- Turn off washer completely when not in use. Do not let it continue to run while you prepare next load.

Uncle Sam Says:

Waste of anything in wartime is a crime. Do not waste electricity just because it isn't rationed. Wasting electricity involves a waste of fuel, transportation facilities, manpower and critical materials needed elsewhere in the war effort. Use all the electricity you need but need what you use.

AIR FORCE SHOWS HOOD HOW PLANES HELP GROUND UNITS

Tactical airpower was demonstrated for 40 minutes when the P-39 Airacobras went on reconnaissance, strafing and bombing missions; the P-40 Warhawks as bomber escorts and fighter bombers; B-26 Marauders as precision medium altitude bombers and skip bombers; and A-20 Havocs (Boston) in low-level parachute and incendiary bombing and strafing.

More than 100 took part from 4 squadrons of the 1st Tactical Air Division, 3rd Air Force, under command of Col. Robert M. Lee.

They dropped 2,000 pounds of bombs, expended more than 1,000 gallons of high octane gasoline—enough to run a jeep 257,000 miles.

The majority of the personnel of both Hoods were lined up on the north side of Blackwell mountain, and the bombing was between Blackwell and Lone Mountain.

At 2 o'clock, two fast-flying P-39's slipped in low from the southwest, two more at higher altitude on the vital reconnaissance mission. These Airacobras carry belly tanks for use on long Orange reconnaissance.

Not far behind them, a high flying formation of 15 B-26 Marauders, slipped glistening out of the thin clouds. They were scarcely over the heads of the observers on Blackwell mountain when the bombs were away. You could see them leave the bombers, and then lost them in their precipitous flight.

A mile and a quarter in front of the observers, the high explosive 300-pounders started pulverizing the circle target and in a matter of seconds afterwards came the roar of the explosions.

When the heavy curtain of smoke cleared, by field glasses, one could see, not a bomb had fallen outside the circle, from 8,000 feet.

In a few minutes, other B-26s came roaring in from the left skip bombing mission. They seemed to be almost skimming the ground as they headed for the long target that had been built for their test. It would have been a concrete gun position, a ship, a factory, a bridge or an armored vehicle.

They released their bombs well ahead of the target and were 2,800 feet beyond when the explosion rocked the valley. These big 500-pound demolitions cause plenty of damage when they explode.

A couple of them hit the low sloping hill in front of the target and ricocheted well over it, exploding with a thundrous charge beyond.

Not far behind the skip bombers came the Warhawks, those all-purpose P-40s. Usually flying in echelons, they came this time in pairs and gave that truck column a fit with their strafing as they banked away from the target and sped back into the sky again.

In the following section of the demonstration, the P-40 became a dive bomber. Actually it is called a fighter-bomber in this role and is more of a glide-bomber than a dive bomber.

As these fighter bombers peeled off from the formation high and almost directly overhead, they were a shining silver picture of beauty and grace.

They came down with small bombs to attack the truck column and with 500-pounders for the circle target. Their explosions rocked the countryside and both targets were given a terrific beating.

Explosions from these bombs are instantaneous. They are fatal to personnel for a radius of 75 feet. The big ones blast a crater in the ground 10 feet deep and as much as 37 feet across. The 100-pound demolitions bring death for 40 feet.

When it unloads its bombs, the Warhawk, which can do anything, immediately becomes a fighter plane and gets to work on the enemy ships.

The A-20, known as the Havoc when it is used as a fighter, and a Boston when used as a bomber, also proved its versatility as the next wave of raiders struck. It both bombed and strafed.

The A-20s, from low altitude, released clusters of parachute fragmentation bombs. The parachutes slow the descent of the bomb and give the ship a chance to get away. The cluster of chutes make a pretty picture for a split second, and then the entire column of trucks is bathed in simultaneous explosions and smoke. It was the parachute bomb which was used by the American fliers to clear the airfield at Lae, New Guinea. They weigh only 25 lbs.

Another flight of A-20's followed in and rained four-pound incendiaries on and around the target, setting innumerable fires.

Then, three or them zoomed into the valley and laid agalloping serpent of smoke, which in a few seconds had screened all the valley beyond the targets from view.

THANK YOU—For Your Card
 The English, compelled to make the most of every scrap of paper, have learned how to put their Christmas cards to good use. They send back to their friends the cards they received from them the year before, just scratching out the friend's name and adding their own.

Yule Card History
 Although the first Christmas cards were printed in England in 1842, it was not until about 20 years later that they were commonly sold. At first they were simply handwritten sentiments with the sender's name appended. However, as their commercial possibilities were unfolded, they were developed to their present form.

Yule Decorations
 Smart Christmas decorations may be made from white birch twigs combined with white pine cones and sprays. One unusual piece consists of a basket made from white birch and filled with pine sprays, red berries and dried grasses.
