Here's ACA News Of Interest To Farmers of County

Prior approvals and purchase orders on winter legumes to be planted this fall will be issued by Coryell County ACA Committee
beginning Tuesday morning, September 9th at 9 o'clock, according to J. Frank Blair, chairman of the committee.

The winter legumes on which Coryell County farmers may receive assistance are: Austrian Winter, Dixie Wonder, Singletary
or Caley Peas; Hairy, Common and Willamette Vetch; Hubam
Clover, Melilotus Indica and Blue Lupine.

However, purchase orders cannot be issued for all of the seed named above.

Mr. Blair further pointed out that requests for prior approvals or purchase orders could not be filed prior to Tuesday, September 9th, and that farmers interested in planting legumes this fall should contact the ACA office as soon as convenient after September 9th for information, as well as prior approvals and purchase orders.

As under past programs, the farmer will not receive any payment from the Government for planting a winter legume unless he obtains a prior approval before the legume is planted.

Evelyn Oppenheimer To Review "Gentlemen's Agreement" Sat., 27th.

Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer, reviewer for the book department
of one of the larger Dallas stores,
will be here Saturday, September 27, at 3 o'clock in the City Auditorium to present a review of the book, "Gentlemen's Agreement".

This book, written by Laura Z.
Hopson, is one of the newer books and people of Coryell county will be much pleased with both the book and the reviewer.

Of Miss Oppenheimer, John
Rosenfeld, critic for The Dallas Morning News says: "Miss Oppenheimer makes an audience think,
and like it."

The Los Angeles Times has this to say about Miss Oppenheimer:
"she holds an audience spell bound."

Tickets will be available this week at the local drug stores or,
any member of the Morris Federation, under who's auspices Miss Oppenheimer is brought to Gatesville, will be glad to supply them.

No Vet Jam Here At Banks: Half In; Half Out

There was no jam, or line at the two local banks Tuesday when the enlisted veterans of World War II got their terminal leave bonds cashed if they wanted to.

It was orderly, and most of the money handed out went the first day; or the cashing, but half of the cash remained in the local banks.

There were any number of reasons for cashing them, but in most cases, feasible and not recklessly.

The Guaranty Bank & Trust Company reported yesterday morning 186 veterans had cashed theirs, totaling $39,000, and the National Bank of Gatesville reported 102 had cashed, and their amount was $18,821.96.

These bonds were given the men and women of World War II because they had not received
"terminal leave" when the war ended, as did the commissioned officers.

With two schools already go-

largest business in Coryell coun-

total in his business would probably run over 5,000 people, or maybe one fourth of the County's population. That's business with

Ireland In Fifteen Hours

(Second article on conditions in Europe by Mason R. Smith.)

The only vacant seat on the plane as I stepped up the ramp in New York was an outside one, next to an elderly British lady, returning home after three months with her daughter in Jacksonville, Fla. Three of her daughters had married in eight months, two to Americans whom they had met overseas during the war, the other to a South African so all were away from home—and the youngest, in Florida, had been ill.

A delightful conversationalist, my seat companion was frank in her dislike for the British Labor Party. "Humph," she declared emphatically, "I heard that Starchey—he's practically a Communist, though he doesn't say so—declare over the radio that the Labor Party had raised the workingmans standard of living, far beyond his wildest dreams. So the next morning when my Bridget (the maid) came in I asked her 'You must be quite giddy this morning. I understand from Mr. Starchey that your standard of living has gone up by leaps and bounds.'"

"Ah, yes" said Bridget, "an with it, we cawn't even make ends meet as well as we did under Churchill." She decried England's present experiment with socialism and is sure that the workingman as well as wealthier people will eventually toss it out.

The farmer on the bus from Limerick to Shannon looked for all the world like a red-faced American agriculturist who spends days in the sun. The cattle in the fields, he said with a grin which showed odd teeth missing, were a special breed: Irish short-horn. Ireland raises all its own beef, but the breed is "assorted". With no state-wide attempt to develop purebred strains. The small herds in the fields—most farms are about 50 acres, the remains of many great estates broken up and distributed to the people who work them—consist principally of red cattle spotted with white, the head much like a Hereford. The rest are a variety of colors—some showing apparent Holstein or Ayrshire ancestry.

Beef, sugar beets) and potatoes are the principal crops, although Frank Gallagher, government public information officer and former secretary to Prime Minister DeValera, told me later in Dublin that Ireland is, despite the necessity for substitutions, self sufficient in agriculture, raising all her own meat, milk, grain and sugar.

The Limerick farmer didn't like the bankers. "Tey're too tight," he declared. "Now if they'd only be after going into the vault wance ivery month or so with a spade and turning over the money and spreading it owt a bit, I'm sure we'd all be happier. But all they do is go in there wans in a long time and shift the coins just to hear 'em angle."

"And as for you," he said, "you Americans, if you'd just ship us over a few of your dollars, we'd all be happier still. Aye, sure an' we've got the money to buy, but we don't have the dollars. An' dollars it takes."

On the Shannon Dublin Plane, (a DC-3) my seat companion was a gentleman farmer from Limerick, a former British army officer assigned to Eisenhower's staff. "Agriculture here," he said, "is 20 years behind the times. On my farm I've been working as far as possible with machinery—of course, you can't get much these days, anywhere—but believe me, my neighbors allthink I'm positively mad."

Ireland's present problems are similar in many ways to ours. There are scarcities in many lines—and, as in America, newspapers and public officials lament the "drift" as it is alled over here, from the farm to the city. Right now, Eire is seeking means of developing new industries to use new agricultural products, to keep the farmers on the farms.

"How about farm wages?" I asked Mr. Gallagher. Well, farm labor on the average, receives approximately 55 shillings a week (about $12). This varies from section to section, from a high of 60 shillings in the area near Dublin, to a low of 50 in some of the othe aeas.

But there are compensations. Rent, for instance. The farm laborer's cottage rents for one shilling a week—about 25 cents. And this is not increased if the man prospers.

How about factory and other wages? Skilled craftsmen receive for a 44 hour week (the 40, 44 or 48 hour week being set by industry and unions together for each industry), 7 pounds 5 shillings per week, about $29.25 in American money.

But if they live in some of the government housing, their rent averages about 12 srillings a week. Elsewhere rent is comparable to small towns in America. Prices of food and other necessary commodities are government controlled by restricting the wholesaler to a profit of 14%, and the retailer to 22%. Rationing still exists. (For example, hotels are not permitted to serve bread at luncheon, dinner or supper. And the newspapers complain of the stale bread sold in the stores. Shortages of fuel restrict rail transportation.

"People who have visied us during the war and after," an old Irish revolutionay told me (he had fought with the Irish Revolutionary Army for years against the British and had served 12 jail terms for it; he is now a member of the Irish government) "have expressed surprise that we didn't 'come to the aid of the Empire during the war'. We didn't simply because, in the first place it would have been foolhardy for us—we had nothing to fight with. And secondly, we had been trying to get out of the Empire for nearly 40 years. We are not a part of the Empire".

But the chances are that Eire will stand by Britain and America in their efforts toward world peace.

The Irish homeland is not "a proper place for the seeds of Communism to be sown."

First, "because she is a nation of 384,000 farms, owned by the people who till them."

And secondly, because she is a "highly Christian Country." I started to interpolate that Eire is 95% Caholic and that the church opposes Communism.

"Let's just say she's a Christian nation" the old revolutionary waved it aside. "The Christian doctrine upholds the man—the individual. Thus anyone who attempts to restrict men's rights is a heretic. So as Christians we are against totalitarianism and dictatorship of any kind."

"So Eire is on Britain's side in international policy — although the Irish feel that if England can set India free, and make all these other magnanimous gestures, she could, at will, abolish the partition of Ireland." (to make Eire and northern Ireland one nation), "as by all right they should be."

Letter From China

It cost $7,000 for my friend So Tin Wong to write me from Canton, China. He wanted to explain that it now takes 5,000 Chinese dollars to buy one meal for one person. Mr. So philosophizes that it isn't how many dollars one gets, it is what he can buy with these dollars that really counts. Do you wonder that Mr. So has decided to leave China, if he can, and go abroad?

Mr. So wants to leave his native country, even though he makes several thousand dollars a day. Mr. So's trouble is inflation. It is so bad that his wages will not permit him to live in China and care for his family. The value of the stamps that brought me his air mail letter, amounting to $7,000, would make the $5,000 meal worth only two-thirds of the value of the postage. Certainly, Mr. So was not discussing a very extravagant meal.

Your Dollars

This change has taken place since I was in China in 1925 to 1936. Then, one American dollar, according to the rate of exchange, would buy only three or four Chinese dollars. While we do not have that kind of inflation in this country, America is actually moving slowly in that direction.

Although American workmen have the highest wages that they ever earned, they are complaining that they cannot buy much with those dollars. From 1920 to 1940, when American dollars had purchasing power, an American workman could buy an automobile and could buy a home. Today he can probably buy neither, yet he has far more dollars than he had then. Inflation does not help working people. It burdens them.

Raises Don't Help

I wanted to buy a new automobile this year. But when I found that it would take in the neighborhood of $2,000 to buy even an average car, I decided to have my old one overhauled and get along with it. However, the overhauling cost half as much as it used to cost to buy a new automobile. It's hard to tell, under inflation, whether one is wise or foolish.

Meats right now are very high. Yet, I understand that in some places both wholesalers and retailers are trying to get by on the smallest margins they've ever had. Others are handling meat with no profit at all. You see, whether a man gets an adequate diet for his family depends on other things than how big a raise he gets from his employer. Raises do not help when there's inflation.

A Solid Economy

If we would like to increase inflation and have more dollars in our pockets but be able to buy less with them, then we should encourage a high federal budget, high federal taxes, and still higher wages. All these things have inflationary influence on our economy. If we want a solid economy, where dollars will buy more and we can actually live better, then we must do these things:

(1) Work for lower taxes, which would leave more in the purchasing stream and would stop discouraging investment in new industries and new tools for workmen, (2) Oppose the high budget with extravagant federal spending, and (3) Work for stable industrial relations. Industry, labor, agriculture, and all other American groups should understand these facts. With shoulders to the wheels we must work for a stabilized America that can lend stability to a confused world.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayberry and two sons of Laredo are visiting friends and relatives here. He is with the Immigration Service there.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

MIGHT HAVE DOUBLE GAME: MIGHT SINGLE EVANT vs T'VILLE

Sunday afternoon, more than likely, now, about 3 o'clock, some thing will be heard in Gatesville that hasn't been heard so far this decade. The noise a baseball makes when it is hit with a bat, or visa versa.

For, at that time, Evant is scheduled to meet Turnersville in the opening game of the Coryell County Championship Tourna- ment. There is, in prospect, a game with Coryell City playing a part of the role, if they can find worthy opposition, making the evening's entertainment start a little earlier, say 2 o'clock, but so far, no team has come forth. So to be certain, the game will be due to go on, about three, and will pit two of the teams of the county that have been active dur- ing the past season.

Then, when Purnela completes its play in the Cow House Basin League, it will meet Coryell City in another game here and then the championship will be decided between the winners of the first two games.

This is reintroducing baseball to Gatesville, and the Sundays are being used, it is hoped, for this season only, and that next Gatesville will have a lighted field, so that the teams may play nights, instead of Sundays, as they have to now, because many of the players work and cannot get off during the week days.

There's no need to suggest that the fans from the respective com- munities will be there—that's un- necessary. But, it is a duty of the local citizens of Gatesville to be there and help welcome base- ball back to Coryell County, and more particularly, Gatesville. It's a "homecoming", you might say.

Sneak-Preview of GHS Hornets Due Tonight At HS Stadium

Fans and femmes can get a bold preview of the work and the prospects of the 1947 Gatesville High School Hornet Machine to- night under the lights at the High School stadium, according to Coach Loyd Mithell.

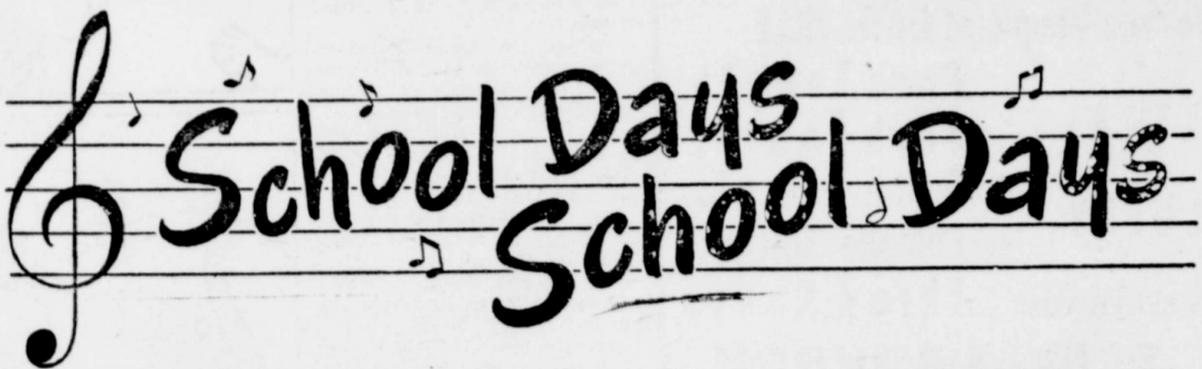

They've been sweating it out all week at 6 a. m. or thereafter, and 6 p. m. and after that, and they'll go forth in scrimmage to- night, with the "Reds" pitted a- gainst the "Blues", or some other colors.

Most of the week has been spent in the "routine" stuff, the stuff that makes football teams, and he "shock troops" the "B's" who really make the first string have really been taking it.

There's no point in a lineup for tonight's scrimmage because even Coach Loyd Mitchell him- self don't know who's going to end up where. It just depends on "how" they play, and think.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McClel- lan Jr. of the University of Texas are visiting their respective pa- rents Mr. and Mrs. John Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Jim McClel- lan.
