The Parmer County Livestock Show

Here Tomorrow

LIVESTOCK SHOW and BANQUET

Saturday, March 5th, has been set as the date for holding the Fourth annual meeting of the Parmer County Meat and Calf Show, which has culminated in what is being designated this year as the Parmer County Livestock Show, which will be held here at Friona on that date.

Judging from the activities and the energy being displayed by those having charge of the arrangements for the day, this will be the biggest and best of all shows thus far held.

Those in charge of various parts of the arrangements and who are taking the most active part in the work include: Howard Morris, Dan Ethridge, Sloan Osborn, C. E. McLean, J. T. Gee, O. M. Stewart, and Carl Maurer, locally; and Jason O. Gordon and Miss Margaret St. Clair, of Parwell, and all these people say this is to be the best yet held.

The show will be held in the school bus barn, north of the high school building, and there will be booths for the various demonstration clubs of the county to display their handiwork, and stalls for the shelter and protection of all the livestock entries, and these stalls will contain entries of all varieties and breeds of livestock raised in Parmer County, and perhaps from neighboring counties.

Cash prizes will be paid for the first, second and third places for all exhibition stock, but ribbons only will be given for breeding stock. There will be no entry fees and no admission charges to the show. The show is for all the people and all the people should visit it. There will also be a booth where each person visiting the show may register and be given a badge containing the individual's name and post office address. Do not fail to register at this booth.

In the afternoon, when all the entries have been judged and awards made, there will be a parade of the livestock out on the athletic field adjoining the bus barn, where the visitors may find seats on the stadium and have an opportunity to see all the animals and designate the winners by the ribbons they will wear.

Competent judges will have charge of the judging, and during the parade they will make talks, explaining to the crowd, just why the awards were given, which will bring out the good points, and especially the most important ones upon which awards are given. You cannot well afford to miss this fair, not only for its entertainment features, but for the educational value as well.

The Pre-Show Banquet will be held tonight (Friday night) in the corridor of the high school building, and will be given in honor of the 4-H club boys throughout the county.

The business men of Friona will furnish the food and the Home Economics Class of the high school will prepare and serve it. It will not be any meal of small samples, but a regular feed of choice and substantial food, and tickets are being sold at fifty cents per plate.

The guests will be received through the door of the gymnasium, where they will be able to find seats until called to the tables, where a short program has been prepared to be rendered during the serving of the different courses.

This program will consist of a few elected songs, to be led by Rev. Carl Dollar, of this city, and the invocation will be given by the pastor of one of the churches at Bovina.

Attorney Sam Aldridge, of Parwell, will serve as toastmaster, and Prof. T. Gee will introduce the speakers. No one need fear of being embarrassed by being called upon to speak, without having been previously notified of the fact, and there will be no voluntary speeches accepted.

The Free Moving picture show given last Saturday by the J. W. Parr Hardware, was well attended and highly appreciated by the people of Friona and locality.

The reels shown illustrated the manufacture and operation of the Allis-Chalmers line of farm machinery, for which the Parr Hardware is agent, including their two new tractors, the all-crop harvester and the damper lister.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM FORMER PASTOR

In last Saturday morning's mail the Star office received a highly appreciated letter from a dear friend of ours, from whom we had heard nothing for several months, and we were truly pleased to receive this letter. It was from Rev. D. E. Moore, a former pastor of the local Baptist church, but who is now pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Webb City, Missouri.

Rev. Moore has a host of friends in Friona, both in and out of his former congregation, who will be pleased to read his letter, so we are giving it here for their benefit and pleasure. The letter follows:

Webb City, Missouri
February 23, 1938

Friona Star,
Mr. John White, Jodok
Friona, Texas.

Dear Editor Jodok:

Have been planning for a number of weeks to write you concerning my loss in not being able to read your paper. I have thought for a long while of letting you know my whereabouts.

I am happily situated in Webb City, Missouri, a town of some 7500 people, a mining section in the southwest corner of the state. The family is well pleased with our location.

We have a nice church here. Everything seems to be moving along in a very fine way. We have been quite busy since arriving here. Our spaces are not quite so far-reaching as there, because our people live within about three miles of the church. We have a church membership of some 228, and have had 18 additions to the church since arriving here. We have a very active church. The people are quite responsive and rather patient, considering the type of preacher they have to contend with.

Wishing for you and Mrs. White and our fellow townsmen in Friona, every good blessing from our Heavenly Father.

As ever yours,
David E. Moore.

While he lived at Friona, Rev. Moore was an almost daily visitor at the Star office, and our appreciation of him increased with each succeeding visit.—Ed.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Exhibitors banquet—Friday night, March 4th.
Livestock show—All day Saturday, March 5th.

A great educational display of quality products may be observed at the Parmer County Livestock Show, Saturday, March 5, at Friona, Texas. A large entry list will indicate much interest, and cooperation, on the part of individual citizens of this county will establish the fact that we want this show to continue each year.

Animals must be in Friona 9:00 by 9:00 o'clock, Saturday morning; however, to make sure a stall or pen is reserved for you, the entry blank should be mailed to Mr. J. T. Gee to reach him by WEDNESDAY, March 2nd. Club boys will please use the same blank to request a stall; however, the name of the boy should be written by his entry.

Good grade animals should be exhibited. If you plan to enter a milk cow in the MILK PRODUCTION or BUTTERFAT contest, she MUST be in the barn at Friona by 6:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

JASON O. GORDON,
County Agent.

The Star Spangled Banner

UNDER the starry flag that waves over this fair land, every citizen is a king, and there is no avenue to wealth and fame, position and power, that is not open to every child of the Republic.—W. A. Fressner.

THE Star Spangled Banner was designated as the national anthem by an Act of Congress, approved on March 3, 1931. It was written by Francis Scott Key after he had witnessed the British bombardment of Fort M'Henry in Baltimore, in 1814. The words of this stirring song were sung to the tune of "Anacreon's Hymn" and immediately became popular and it was regarded as the national anthem though it was not made legally so until 1931.

SQUAWS ENTER TULIA TOURNAMENT

The Friona Squaws journeyed to Tulla, Friday, February 25th, to enter the district basketball tournament. They won their games until entering the semi-finals, losing then to the fast Happy team by a score of 21-27. Taylor, the speedy forward was high-point girl, and Roberts played a brilliant game as guard.

This is the first time the Friona girls have entered a district tournament in several years and are to be congratulated on winning this honor and in having had a very successful season.

The Hereford girls won first place in the tournament, defeating the Happy team in the final game, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Reeve and Miss Ocie Hadley drove over and spent a part of the day Wednesday at Parwell, where Mr. Reeve was looking after business matters.

A GOOD COMMUNITY PROGRAM

The community program, which was given at the school auditorium Tuesday night, was one of unusual merit, both from the standpoint of education and entertainment, and was fairly well attended.

The program was sponsored by school faculty and the Parent-Teachers Association, and under the direction of Superintendent O. M. Stewart, and consisted of moving pictures, singing and dialogues.

The picture portion was of an educational nature, one reel showing a number of varieties of wild fowls and birds, together with their habits of life. Another reel showed some of the wrongful habits of eating, working and playing, with some of the evil affects produced by such, and the kinds of foods, habits and exercises calculated to correct or cure them. Another showed many views in Russia, and illustrated the production and manufacture of silk, from the feeding of the silk worms until the silk is manufactured into fabric and ready to be placed upon the markets.

One of the dialogues, presented by Mrs. O. C. Jones and Prof. Kelton, had to do with safety and the prevention of accidents, both in the home and on the highways; while another, presented by Mrs. J. D. Hamlin and Mrs. Charles Bainum, told of the origin, work and spread of the program was the singing of two pretty songs by a choir composed of Professors Munroe, Davis, Stroud, Forester and Toone, and three of the lady members of the faculty, whose names the writer did not learn.

These community programs are offered at intervals during the school term, and are free to the general public. They are prepared largely by the various members of the school faculty and directed by Prof. Stewart. No admission charges are made and everyone is welcome.

The moving picture features will consist of the educational films that are provided for the school, the program being varied by an occasional "comedy" reel. Our people should take advantage of these programs, as they are announced from time to time.

Gene Wade spent a few days of this week at Bovina.

MAY GET NORTH and SOUTH HIGHWAY

A recent interview with Judge J. M. W. Alexander, revealed the fact that Parmer County is now in a fair way for receiving designation from the State Highway Commission of a north and south State Highway across the county.

This highway is a contemplated north and south highway, between Dalhart in Dallam county and Morton, in Cochran County, and possibly extending as far south as Seminole in Gaines county, and the strip across Parmer County will be one of the links in this proposed highway.

When such a highway is completed, it will make north and south connections with the east and west Federal highways 54, 66, 60, 70 and 62, and State Highways 56, 13, 33, 7, 24, 84 and 83, and such a highway will be of great convenience to tourists, who may wish to change from one east and west highway to another.

The Parmer County Commissioners Court has been asked to join that of the other counties concerned in this proposed new State Highway at a meeting in the near future with the State Highway Commission at Austin, in an effort to iron out this highway and to make a plea for its designation as a State Highway by the State Commission.

Judge Alexander further stated that, at this meeting at Austin, the County Commissioners Court will make a plea for the laying of the slab along Main Street in Friona, from the new Highway 33-60 to the south limits of the city. Judge Alexander stated that the district highway engineer, Mr. Garrett, has stated that he believes this can be accomplished as he has already sent in his recommendation for the work, and that the State Highway Commission has already arranged for its part of the expense, and that the only matter now in the way of the work is the consent of the Federal Bureau of Roads, at Washington, for the quota of Federal funds to be used.

QUESTIONS ON NEW FARM ACT ARE ANSWERED

COLLEGE STATION—Many questions dealing with the new farm act, and especially with the cotton marketing quota, were recently answered by Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, in the course of a radio talk over WTAW of the Texas A. & M. College.

Among questions which have been bothering producers and which were answered by Slaughter were "If marketing quotas are approved on cotton, how will they be put into effect on individual farms?" and "Will farms producing cotton in 1938 for the first time in recent years receive allotments?"

To the question, "How do cotton marketing quotas under the new farm act differ from the quotas under the Bankhead Act?" Slaughter replied, "Under the Bankhead Act each cotton producer received a poundage allotment and paid a tax on all cotton ginned in excess of that allotment.

"Under the new farm act, each cotton farm will receive an acreage allotment and all cotton produced on these acres may be sold without penalty. In other words, the marketing quota places a premium on efficient production, while the Bankhead Act, in effect, penalized it."

Q. If two-thirds of the farmers, taking part in the cotton referendum vote for quotas, will they apply to states, counties, and communities where they are not approved.

A. The cotton problem is a national one, and not confined to any one state or county. Consequently, the quotas, if approved by two-thirds of the cotton farmers, will apply wherever cotton is produced.

Q. What are the commodities of which control is contemplated?

A. Cotton, tobacco, rice, corn, and wheat. Because of minimum production requirements, corn quotas will probably not apply to Texas.

Q. How does the act provide control of these crops?

A. After supplies reach certain levels, marking of the crops is regulated through the imposition of quotas. While the act puts the quotas into effect, they are subject to rejection by a one-third vote of a producers' referendum.

Q. How will this control surplus?

A. By providing penalties on sales in excess of farm quotas.

Q. Will the marketing quotas be put into effect each year?

A. They are put into effect whenever the supply of cotton exceeds the normal supply by more than seven percent, unless quotas are opposed by more than one-third of the producers. The normal supply for 1938 is about 18,200,000 bales, and normal supply is defined in the act as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 40 percent as an allowance for a normal carry-over. The present supply of American cotton is almost 25 million bales, largely because of the record-breaking crop of 18,700,000 bales in 1937.

Q. If marketing quotas are approved, how will they be put into effect on individual farms?

A. The national cotton allotment of 26,300,000 acres will be allocated to the cotton growing states on the basis of the production of cotton in each state during the preceding five years, and the acres diverted from cotton under previous programs will be taken into consideration. Each state's allotment will be divided among counties on the same basis, but no county will receive less than 60 percent of the sum of the acreage planted in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton under the 1937 program.

The county allotment will be divided among farms on which cotton has been planted in any of the past three years as follows: All farms which have not planted and diverted as much as 5 acres of cotton in any of the 3 years, will receive as their allotments the greatest number of acres planted and diverted in any of the three years.

What Is Proper Use of Furniture Polish?

In a recent investigation, it was proven that many, many home-makers use furniture polish incorrectly—pouring it on a dry cloth, for application to the furniture! This is a gross waste of the housewife's time, energy and her polish! And the latter is usually blamed. We refer, of course, to oil polish—for this type is best to clean, beautify and preserve the furniture. The best oil polish is not greasy, because it's made with a fine, light-oil base. The polish should be applied on a damp cloth—thoroughly moistened with water, then wrung out. Saturate this cloth with the polish—spread on—and rub lightly. The "wet" of the cloth smoothly distributes the polish—and the finish absorbs, receives it evenly! This correct procedure takes the "labor" out of polishing—and requires far less tiresome rubbing! A dry cloth is then used to easily work up the glow, which is even and uniform—the desired effect! This—and only this—is the proper way to use a good oil polish!

SYNOPSIS

In Spanish-governed California of 1783 a conflict between Church and State is represented by two friendly enemies, frail old Fray Junipero Serra, Franciscan missionary, and Don Pedro Fages, civil governor. After telling Serra he is sending to Mexico for his wife and son, whom he has not seen for eight years, he refuses his aid toward founding the Santa Barbara Mission. In Mexico City, Dona Eulalia, accompanied by her duenna, Angustias, arrives at the embassy in response to a letter from her husband, Don Pedro. She agrees to go to California. Don Pedro sends for Serra, telling him that two priests are on their way from Mexico with Eulalia and young Pedro and that he is leaving to meet them. Fages engages a young Indian girl, Indezuela, as maid for Eulalia. Eulalia sails from San Blas. It is a desolate trip.

"Ha!" she said again. "So! This beautiful land sends a scourge of vermin to plague me! Very well. I shall not weep—I shall not weaken. I shall conquer this California—or I will die."

She summoned little Pedro to her, and all afternoon, to the accompaniment of a dismal sand-scattering breeze, beguiled his imagination and comforted her desolation with stories that began, "When I was a little girl in beautiful Barcelona—"

For several days the ancient capital of Baja California stirred from its sun-and-sand-smitten lethargy to prepare La Gobernadora, as they already called Dona Eulalia, for her long journey to Monterey in California Alta. But the troubles with stubborn Indians trying to dispose of more stubborn burros, the difficulty in finding and buying satisfactory riding and pack animals, the labor of packing and provisioning food, water and clothing for a trip that would endure for months, concerned the lady not at all.

When at last the long caravan left Loreto, Eulalia was fairly comfortable on a white Spanish jennet.

It was a strange assortment of pilgrims which rode away from Loreto that morning at sunrise: La Gobernadora herself, hiding her trepidation beneath a demeanor carefully calm, but unusually pale; small Pedro, triumphant on a burro almost as small as himself; Angustias, her brittle bones boring her flesh agonizingly before Loreto was a mile behind, holding Chichi, the monkey, who was as afraid of the mule as the mule was of him. At the head of the van rode one Captain Canete, serious, troubled by his responsibility, a seasoned traveler and admiring friend of Pedro Fages. There were cooks, muleteers, water-tenders, vaqueros, Indian runners and bearers, tortillamakers, wood-cutters, soldiers and stragglers.

A little to themselves, heads withdrawn into the cowls of their Franciscan robes, two priests rode, their presence in the expedition an answer to Junipero Serra's prayers.

In the northern reaches of California Alta a hurrying party of horsemen followed the flying horse of the Governor of the Californias, spurred and lashed by his rider as the rider was spurred and lashed by hot impatience.

CHAPTER V

Leagues of Eulalia's journey lay behind; many terrible leagues traversed doggedly, day and night, with heat, dust, thirst, weariness and an awful numbing fear of the unknown that robbed her of rest. When, at the end of a day's travel, Eulalia lay on her pallet and felt sleep must come, that the blessing of complete oblivion and release from suffering would at last requite her, the blessing was denied. Always at the moment when she seemed slipping into unconsciousness, a rude hand gripped her weary heart and shook it cruelly, until her whole body trembled and sweat coldly.

During the first nights she would cry out, and creep to little Pedro's side for comfort, or summon Angustias to her. Then she grew ashamed of her childishness, and only lay the quieter when her fear specter haunted her.

Sitting before her campfire one night at the end of a trying day, she questioned herself. Why had she been persuaded to come on this journey? She, who was born to luxury, soft cushions and luxurious coaches?

Lifting her face she stared at the fire.

"Queen of the Californias!" she muttered bitterly.

Angustias, bustling into the circle of light, broke into her rebellious musings.

"The two priests are coming to call on you, Dona Eulalia," she announced.

Eulalia did not move.

"Yes?" she questioned dully.

"Yes, and I think it's about time. Do you know, nina, I think there is something queer about those two. I have heard—"

Eulalia sniffed as her duenna, with Chichi in her arms, hunched closer to the fire.

"You would hear gossip on a desert isle, and you the only soul on it," she remarked, bending her ear, nevertheless, closer to her companion.

"I have heard," continued Angustias, "that there are two people on this journey who are being sent to California as a punishment for their sins, and I wondered . . ."

Eulalia flung out her arms dramatically.

"A punishment for their sins! And I am sent to reap a reward for my virtues! A strange country, this California, to which, at the same time, people are sent for punishment and reward!"

Angustias nodded.

"Yes, it is. I am wondering who will get what. Sh-h-h, here they come."

Into the light of the fire two brown-clad figures loomed out of the shadows.

"Greetings, Senora La Gobernadora," said a solemn voice, "I am Fray Mariano, and this is Fray Bartolome, two poor brothers of the mendicant order of San Francisco."

"Greetings to you, good Fathers," replied Eulalia. "Will you not sit down by my fire?"

They disposed themselves on the ground and stared fixedly at the lady. Then they exchanged a long look and nodded.

Eulalia was in her turn studying them. They were young for friars, and looked strangely alike, though one, Fray Mariano, looked slightly older. Their tansures were quite black, and their black eyes very much alive. But Fray Mariano's look was direct to the point of impudence, and Fray Bartolome's glances slid about indirectly. Both had sensual mouths, but again with a difference; the lips of one turned up in a sly grin, the other turned down the corners of his mouth with a sanctimonious sneer. They were silent, and Eulalia tried uncomfortably to open a conversation.

"You resemble each other very much," she said. "Are you brothers?"

"Ah, no, only brothers in God," intoned Fray Mariano. "My family name is Rubi, and Fray Bartolome's name is Gil."

"I see. And are you enjoying this journey?"

This started a long tirade from Fray Mariano. They decidedly were not. He complained of everything: the escort, the trails, the food, the tents provided for them, their mules, everything.

Fray Bartolome coughed slightly, and gave his companion a nudge, which the skeptical Angustias observed. The other stopped suddenly.

"But we are resigned," he intoned. "Yes, we are resigned. It is God's will we should make this pilgrimage, so we do not complain. Do you think we are complaining?" he asked Eulalia anxiously.

"If you do I am sure it is with good cause," she replied.

Later, after the two priests departed and Angustias was brushing her mistress's hair, she remarked:

"I don't know how it appears to you, but those do not seem true religious men to me."

"They are strange. I can not understand them, Angustias. Their eyes! And how they stare. But they are Franciscans, after all, and must be . . . but I don't understand them. They make me feel uncomfortable, Angustias."

CHAPTER VI

In the Valley of Comondu, an oasis in the barren heart of Baja California, La Gobernadora was entertained at Mission San Jose de Comondu, beloved of all travelers, soldiers and priests; who made the dreary trip up and down the peninsula. For days they rested there, refreshed by the sparkling waters of an abundant stream, and by figs, pomegranates, peaches and dates beneath the clashing fronds of giant palms.

There was a halt at Santa Rosalia de Mulege, on the Vermillion sea, where there was another old stone mission and fruitful gardens. From there the cavalcade traveled over a horrible wilderness well-named Tierra del Inferno, Hell country, which quaked constantly as they traversed its barrenness.

By a broad flat camino, built many years before by Jesuit missionaries who had urged hundreds of Indian neophytes to the colossal task by flogging them when they lagged, they traveled to the Mission San Ignacio, which stood in a fertile arroyo that opened in a barren mesa.

Leaving there with water-skins and casks bulging for the desert travel ahead, they traveled northward, skirting the eastern edge of the Desert of Vizcaino, a treacherous terrain.

At Mission Santa Gertrudis, in a great mountain-girt amphitheater, all gave thanks that they had arrived in safety, though their water-skins were lean and dry.

At Santa Gertrudis, Eulalia heard first rumors of the approach of her husband. Indians coming from the north reported fires that burned by night, and a party of horsemen who traveled swiftly by day.

La Gobernadora still rode silently, uncomplainingly. It was only her pride that kept her from flinging herself from her horse on to the ground, and screaming until the tension that was holding her quivering nerves shattered in a satisfying hysteria. At night, in her tent or by the campfire, she was subject to changing moods; sometimes gloomy, silent, brooding, sometimes bright with febrile gaiety.

Angustias was watching her mistress doubtfully, gauging her temper, her experienced weather eye reading infallible signs that her lady's nerves were frayed to a breaking point, and that a hurricane was due to break.

"If she can only wait until we meet Don Pedro," she prayed. "She needs her husband at a time like this."

The hurricane arrived before the Governor.

One evening, just before nightfall, the storm broke.

They had been traveling for days among the lofty Calmalli mountains, that stretch along the waist, or narrowest part of the peninsula.

Eulalia, shivering as night came on, for now the nights were as cold as the days were hot, rode beside little Pedro. Behind came Angustias, cuddling her monkey as they both dozed. At the head of the van rode the Captain. Little Pedro leaned closer to his mother and whispered.

Eulalia frowned. "On my soul, child! We can not stop now! Control yourself."

"Will you help her?" she asked, struggling for control. "Will you help her to catch that fool little Chichi? He has eloped with Pedro's burro!"

"Oh, damn that ape, and damn that ass! Oh, pardon me, Senora—but I—are you all right, my Lady?"

"Yes, yes, of course. Oh, here she comes!"

Out of the dusk came Angustias, trying to hold the monkey which struggled and clawed in furious panic. It had pulled the woman's gray hair in tatters over her face, and she looked like a witch emerging from the night.

"He doesn't know me! He is mad from fright! Oh, my little darling, my sugar-plum, you are safe in your mother's arms. There, there!"

The Captain exploded.

"By the holy bones of Saint Bartholomew, woman! Why didn't you get the burro? Here you," to an Indian, "fetch back that animal."

Grimacing, the Indian loped away. He hated and feared Chichi as the rest of the natives did.

Angustias climbed on to her horse again, soothing her weeping treasure.

The Captain heaved a sigh.

"Well," he said, "are we all—"

But suddenly a piercing shriek came from somewhere, a long high wail that ended in, "Ma-a-a-ama!"

Eulalia slipped from her jennet.

"Pedro, Pedro! What is it! My God—"

Before the Captain could reach her, she had met the child and had him clasped in her arms.

"Mama, look! Look, mama! Ai, ai! I am hurt! Ai, ai, ai!"

"What has happened? What is it? Do no cry, speak to me!"

He held out his hands to her.

"Look, cactus! All the needles ran in me! Ouch, ai, ai, ai!"

The Captain took the child from his mother and set him on his own knee as he squatted on the trail.

"Yes, yes. What happened?"

"I was back there—in the bushes—a big black something came after me and I ran, and stumbled into the cholla—ouch, ouch!"

His face and arms were swelling from the hundreds of needles that had penetrated his skin, stinging him to agony as he strove to scratch them out. Canete took firm hold of his wrists.

"Don't scratch! Dona Angustias, let down your hair!"

Angustias put her hand to her scant gray locks in bewilderment.

"But—why?" she stammered.

"Because you must help this suffering child. Only long hair will draw out cactus thorns. Quickly!"

But young Pedro was already enveloped in a flood of black tresses as his mother's hair tumbled about him, soothing his stings, and drawing, by some strange attraction, the needles from his flesh.

At last his cries dropped to sobs, and his sobs to whimpers. Then he sniveled softly in his mother's arms.

"Now, my brave little man, will you smile at Mother? Poor darling, poor little soldier!"

"I want a drink of water," whimpered Pedro.

"He wants a drink of water," said Eulalia to Angustias.

"He wants a drink of water," said Angustias to the Captain.

"He wants a—but, by my life, there is no water!"

"No water?" exploded Eulalia.

"No water, Senora. But we are not far from the Spring of Santa Marita. Come. Let us get on our way before it grows darker. Come, my Lady."

Eulalia grew very still. Canete leaned over her and touched her arm to assist her to arise.

"Don't touch me," she said dangerously.

Interior Blasting of Marble Executed Without Even the Cracking of a Window

Fifty blocks of marble, too tough for the most powerful pavement breakers to dent, were broken up by small charges of explosives without so much as scratching a window pane in an unusual feat of indoor blasting in San Francisco, notes a writer in the Kansas City Star.

Some red, some green, the marble blocks, left-overs from the construction of a San Francisco church, were purchased by a company manufacturing a marble composition material. The 50 specimens of Irish Connemara marble were moved into the company's premises and hammers were applied to break up the stone into chips small enough to go into crusher machines.

One hammer after another, each one bigger and heavier than its predecessor, was tried, but all to no avail. Explosives engineers were called in. They executed the feat of blasting the blocks to pieces, the blocks remaining the while in the factory. So skillfully was the job carried out that no damage to windows only a few feet away resulted.

From one to five holes were drilled in each block and unusually small charges of explosive gelatin were placed in the holes. Electricity was used to set off the charge. Since it was necessary to keep the two colors of marble completely separate, first the green blocks were blasted and then, when they were finished, the red ones. The marble had to be reduced to chips between one-eighth and three-eighths of an inch in diameter. All holes in each block were fired at the same time, but only one block was fired at a time. Wet sand was packed into the holes drilled for the explosive.

Whistling "Devil's Music"
Arabs call whistling "devil's music." They say that, after whistling, it takes 40 days to purify the mouth. In the Tonga islands, in the Pacific, whistling is "tabu," which means that there is a superstitious veto on it; while in Iceland you will hardly ever hear a boy whistle because of the old superstition that it is a violation of Divine law.

Strange Facts

Get an Eye-Full of This

IT IS often said of an ardent lover: "He seemed to devour her with his eyes." But the common or garden frog has him beat forty ways to a finish.

The large, bulging eyes of the frog are separated from its mouth only by a thin skin. When the eyes are closed they bulge inwardly. Thus the frog closes its eyes when it has an insect in its mouth, and the inner bulging helps to push the food down the throat.

Frogs are insect eaters, and for that reason are very helpful to man. Those that spend most of their time in or near water are also very fond of small fishes and worms. They catch their prey with their sticky tongues. The tongue is not fastened at the rear of the mouth as ours is, but at the front. The tip points backward when the mouth is closed. When one of these little amphibians sees an insect, it leaps and snaps its tongue forward and out. If the insect is touched it sticks fast and the tongue is folded back into the mouth, carrying the insect with it. The eyes are then used to help in swallowing the catch.

The adult frog has lungs, but it does not breathe air into them as we do. It sucks air into its mouth through two nostrils, at the same time lowering its throat. Then the nostrils are closed, and the frog lifts its throat and pushes the air into its lungs.

In northern countries, when cold weather sets in, some frogs dive into a pond, bury themselves in the mud and stay there all winter. Ponds do not freeze solid, even when winters are very cold, so the frog does not freeze either. But it becomes very cold, and when an amphibian becomes cold it needs very little oxygen because it is burning little food.

This explains why the frog can stay under the water all winter without breathing air. There is some oxygen in the water and what little it needs during the winter it gets from the water through its skin. The frog sometimes, however, spends the winter in a hole in a soft bank, or buried under loose stones and earth.

2 WAY RELIEF FOR THE MISERY OF COLDS

Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

If throat is sore from the cold, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets in 1/2 glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness almost instantly.

All it usually costs to relieve the misery of a cold today—is 3¢ to 5¢—relief for the period of your cold 15¢ to 25¢. Hence no family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two BAYER tablets when you feel a cold coming on — with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The Bayer method of relieving colds is the way many doctors approve. You take Bayer Aspirin for relief — then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

LOUISIANA'S 'SUPER SALESMAN' GOVERNOR

In his office at the $5,000,000 skyscraper capitol in Baton Rouge, Governor Leche discusses industrial expansion plans with business leaders.

Next, armed with brief case and plenty of cigars, he invades the stronghold of a "customer."

Above: Governor Leche lists Louisiana's selling points, raw resources, climate, abundance of workers and a "reassuring attitude" that business will be protected from burdening taxes and political mauling. Right: It worked! Another industrial firm gets "freedom of taxation" for 10 years.

The governor points to Men at Work. He claims unemployment is vanishing rapidly in Louisiana. Example: Petroleum companies spent $15,000,000 in Louisiana expansion during the year 1937 alone.

When he relaxes, Governor Leche blows smoke rings, probably hatching some of his "super-salesman" ideas during such a meditative mood. For exercise he prefers horseback riding. His job is strenuous, but he finds complete relaxation in his study at the executive mansion with Mrs. Leche and their son, Richard, Jr. "Tex," the dog, is a favored member of the family. But tomorrow he'll be "selling" again.

Questions on New Farm Act Are

All farms on which 5 acres or more of cotton were planted and diverted in any of the three years, will receive as their allotment 5 acres and an additional amount which will bring the total allotment up to a percentage of the farm cropland (excluding acreages devoted to tobacco, wheat and rice) which will be the same for all farms in the county or administrative area.

Provision is made for a small county reserve which may be allotted to farms receiving from 5 to 15 acres under the above provisions.
Q. Will farms producing cotton in 1938, but which did not produce cotton during the past three years, receive allotments?

A. Yes: a reserve acreage will be available in each state to be divided among these farms.

Q. Is there a limit to the acreage that may be allotted to a farm?
A. No farm will be allotted an acreage greater than the cotton acreage planted and diverted during the past three years except in the case of new cotton producers.

Q. What is the marketing quota of the individual cotton farmer?

A. It is the cotton produced on his allotted acres, or the normal production on his allotted acres, whichever is greater. This means that he can sell without penalty all the cotton he produces if he does not exceed his allotted acres.

Q. Who divides the county allotment among the farmers in a county?

A. Community and county committees who have been elected by the farmers.

Q. When will farmers vote on the 1938 cotton quotas?

A. March 12, when the county committees will select a voting place in each community where cotton is grown and will select three local farmers to hold the referendum.

Q. If the quotas are in effect as the result of the referendum, what happens to a farmer if he knowingly overplants his acreage allotment?

A. He loses all soil conservation payments, his cotton price adjustment payments, and the opportunity to obtain a loan on the marketing quota for the farm. However, he may receive a loan on cotton produced in excess of his marketing quota of 60 percent of the rate available to farmers who stayed within their allotment. In addition, he must pay a penalty of two cents a pound on the excess production sold, which will be collected by the buyer. This penalty does not apply to cotton produced on any farm which has received a cotton acreage allotment and on which the production is 1,000 pounds of lint cotton or less.

Q. Will cotton loans be available under the new act?

A. The new act provides for loans at the rate of between 52 to 75 percent of the parity price for cotton on the basis of $\frac{3}{8}$ -inch middling cotton. However, the loans will be available only if the market agreement is declared in effect as a result of the referendum.

HAD APPENDICITIS OPERATION

DAN ETHRIDGE TO DALLAS

Dan Ethridge, local insurance man,
and proprietor of the Dan Ethridge Agency of this place, departed Tuesday afternoon for Dallas, where he will be in attendance at a school for the training of adjusters for hail insurance.

Dan stated that the rate on hail insurance in the Panhandle in Texas is too high and that agents were going to quit writing it unless the rates can be lowered. The insurance companies, in turn, say they cannot afford to lower the rates unless the adjusters understand the work of making adjustments better, as much loss that is charged to hail is the work of insects or other causes, for which the companies must pay.

conference.

HIGHWAY WORK MOVING RA- PIDLY

The work on the new highway through Friona, which was again interrupted by the light fall of rain on Monday evening, was resumed again
Wednesday, and those large trucks laden with caliche have been whiz-ing forth and back between the pit and the point of contact on the highway like bees between a flower garden and their hive.

At their present rate of progress it seems that the workers will have completed the spreading of the cal-iche base on the job within the next week or ten days.

The work on that part of Highway No. 33-66, between the Deaf Smith county line and the Friona Draw, a mile west of Friona, has been seriously hindered by the adverse weather conditions during the past three weeks.

The caliche base has been spread as far west as the northeast corner of Friona, where it was discontinued, and the work begun at the bridge-spanning Friona Draw and being built westward until it shall meet and then can be completed. Nearly three weeks was lost by the contractors, during the period of light snow and rains, and work was resumed Monday afternoon, but the shower which fell early Monday night again hindered the work on Tuesday.

Cooker Clinics

Due to inclement weather over this section, only two of the scheduled cooker clinics were held the past week, at Oklahoma Lane and Lazbuddy. Over 50 pressure cooker gauges were tested, it was stated by Miss Margaret St. Clair, demonstrator in charge, with only four in the group proving correct. Other dates for the remaining communities will be slated later.

Demonstrates Sandwiches

A variety of sandwiches for school lunches was certainly made by Mrs.
John Crim, home food supply demonstrator of the Midway Club. This new sandwiches was kept moist and full of flavor for the noon hour by using left-over peas and beans mashed fine. To this Mrs. Crim added pickles, salad dressing and onions, spread between slices of homemade bread.

Praises Sweetbreads

"I have to threaten my family to have any sweet breads left for the second day, especially the cherry roll," wrote Mrs. M. B. Buchanan, of the Lakeview demonstration club.
"I learned in club to make a sweet dough and make variations from this dough. One of these was the cherry roll. To make this use the pecan dough, rolling out thin, spread with butter, sugar, cinnamon and well-drained cherries, and roll tightly. Place on a cookie sheet in a ring and cut in 2-inch sticks, laying each slice flat. Bake as soon as double in size.

Radio Program Given

Under the direction of Mrs. John Crim, educational director of the women's demonstration clubs of the county, the Parmer county broadcast from KFYO, Lubbock, was given the past Friday, Miss St. Clair announced.

Oklahoma Lane 4-H Club

The Oklahoma Lane Sr. 4-H club met Feb. 18th, with 12 members present. With the sponsor in charge, we discussed the "How's and Why's to clean Your Room Easily." On Feb.
26th our sponsor and two delegates attended the recreational school at Midway, learning new games and ways of entertaining our friends.

Our next meeting will be March 4th, "dresses for our windows" to be discussed by our demonstrator, Miss Margaret St. Clair.

Dear Miss St. Clair:

I am sending in this meat in cottonseed oil.

I am going to tell how I like my ham and bacon I put up in cottonseed oil. Last year I tried it out and we all liked it so well, only had two gallons cottonseed oil this year. I am going to get 5 more gallons this year. Best part is you can use your cottonseed oil several years. I am going to put up most all our meat this year that I want to use in late summer. This is the way I did it. We cure our meat with sugar cure and let it cure its length of time, then take the meat out and let it dry out.
When that is done, I wash each piece good, let it dry for three days. Then I took an 8-gallon crock and packed one ham and shoulder of bacon. Of course, had ham and shoulder cut in half and the bacon cut in piece to fill in the space in the crock. Then added cottonseed oil, took a cloth to cover the top of the crock. I keep the meat in the cellar. I put this meat up last May, and in October I went to use it and I tell you it was the best meat I ever ate. It doesn't get old or strong, and does not taste of cottonseed oil. I am going to always put up our meat for the year this new way in cottonseed oil, so I hope more folks will try and put their meat up in cottonseed oil. There be a meat show March 5 in Friona, and a showing how to put meat in cottonseed oil, also tell you where you can get the oil. So folks, go to the meat show and learn how to put up your meat for this year and have good meat. No waste—no mould.

Mrs. E. A. Hromas
Oklahoma Lane Club.

Bovina Club

The club will meet with Mrs. John Kimbrough, on March 10. Demonstration given on the use of cheese

in everyday foods for new flavor by Miss St. Clair. Visitors and new members are invited.

HOMELAND CLUB REPORT

The Homeland Club met Wednesday, February 23rd, at the home of Mrs. Howard Mayfield.

There were six members present:
Mmes. Todd, Lipham, Hawes, Mayfield, Foot and Horton. Mrs. Carl Fairchilds became a member of the club. We also had four visitors: Mrs.
Frank Loflin and Thelma, Mrs. Carrol Loflin and son, and Mrs. Sam
Jones and two small daughters.

The study was of "Invalid Cookery." Mrs. Lipham offered her resignation as reporter and Mrs. Leonard Hawes was elected.

The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. V. L. Todd on Wednesday, March 9th, 1938.

FRIONA WOMAN'S CLUB

Mesdames L. R. Dilger and Oscar Pope were hostesses to the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock in the Dilger home.

It was announced that the next meeting would be on Thursday afternoon, March 10, in the home of Mrs. J. A. Blackwell.

The club voted to hold a food sale
Saturday afternoon, Feb. 26, in the Attaway Variety store to raise funds to send to the State Clubhouse fund.
Members who do not contribute food are urged to pay a quarter.

The program topic was "Literature," and discussions were given by Mesdames J. C. Wilkinson and L. N.
Ritter. Musical numbers were given by Mesdames F. W. Reeve and L. F.
Lillard.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames W. B. Stark, R.
H. Kinsley, H. W. Matthews, H.
Routh, A. H. Boatman, Fred White,
John White, F. W. Reeve, Minnie
Goodwine, J. A. Guver, J. C. Wil-

Lillard, Ervin Johnson, L. N. Ritter.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The Junior Woman's club met with Mary Spring at the home of her parents, F. L. Spring. Members responded to roll call by giving the name of a wild-flower of Texas. A very interesting program was rendered by Mrs. Henry Lewis, who told the history of the sandhills near Muleshoe, and by Mrs. Harold Settle, who related the life and romances of Quannah Parker.

Games were played after which the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following: Mmes. Jess Dwight
Chas. McLean, Sloan Osborne, Glen Reeve, Granville McFarland, Henry
Lewis, James Bragg, Harold Settle,
Ray Landrum and Misses Orma
White, Gladys Settle, Ouida Bell,
Alice Guver, Mary Spring and one guest.

The next meeting will be with Miss Gladys Settle at the home of her parents.

Miss Mary Emma Stover, who has been at Truscott for the past several months, returned to her home here Monday, where she will be indefinitely. She came home with her father, Dr. J. E. Stover, who was in a hospital at Quannah, with an attack of pneumonia.

FRIONA HAS GOOD MOISTURE

The snow which fell over this locality during the latter part of last week, and the light shower of rain which fell early Monday night, has left an estimated inch of moisture for the locality, and farmers are feeling quite hopeful over their wheat prospects for this season, and the moisture has placed the soil in fitting condition for early spring farming for row crops.

WORKERS CONFERENCE WELL ATTENDED

The Workers' Conference of the Tierra Blanca District of the Baptist church, which was held here on Thursday of last week, was well attended despite the unfavorable weather.

A good program had been prepared and was carried out with but few, if any, lacking numbers, and those present were well satisfied with the program and the results.

SEVERAL ILL HERE NOW

R. H. Kinsley, who has been quite

LAZBUDDY NEWS

A new roofing has been purchased for the Lazbuddy school.

Charles Vaughn and mother, Mrs.
J. E. Vaughn; Miss Tamalyn Vaughn and Mrs. Willie Steinbock, have returned from a week's visit to Frederick, Oklahoma, and Borger, Texas.

A nice two-inch snow fell again
here Sunday night, which added materially to the moisture which we had already received from the snow of last week. It snowed all day on Thursday, February 24th.

The Lazbuddy study club did not meet with Mrs. Willie Steinbock, Thursday, February 17th, due to adverse weather conditions. The next meeting will be March 3rd. Hostess, Mrs. C. E. Briscoe.

John Dyck motored to Lubbock
Monday to visit his mother, Mrs.
Emma Dyck, who is taking treatment in Lubbock Sanitarium for cancer.

Mr. Merle Styles has employed
Don Cantrel for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Jennings entertained with a "wear-ever" party in their home, last Thursday evening.

Miss Gladys Treider, Theron
Vaughn, J. E. Vaughn, and Willie Steinbock were visitors of the Raymond Treiders, Wednesday.

Charles Vaughn left for Fort Bliss,
Texas, Friday morning. His furlough did not expire until March 20th, but Charles decided it would be nice to come home again within the next three years, hence his early return to his post near El Paso.

Mrs. C. E. Briscoe, recording secretary for the Lazbuddy Study Club, was one member who braved the ice and snow Thursday and took refer-ments with the Willie Steinbock family. Mrs. B. Whitt attended, but seeing no cars parked, decided to return home.

LAKEVIEW NEWS

The rain and snows have been very much appreciated in this part of the community. Some have reported as much as 4 inches of moisture.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford of Farwell spent the day Sunday with their son and family here, Mr. and Mrs. A. O.
Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. W. Alexander were callers in the Milton home, on Sunday afternoon, to see Miss Ruth, who is still ill.

Wayne Mandercheid has been absent from school two weeks, suffering with tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Cummings and Dorothy Sue and Doyle, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bev. Buchanan.

Mrs. Ben Jones took seriously ill one day last week with a throat infection and was taken to the hospital at Hereford for treatment. She is some better and was taken to the home of Mrs. Bess, near Friona, for a few days before being brought home.

Don't forget the pie supper and political rally Friday night, March 11, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. All the candidates of the county have been invited. Each candidate will make a five minute speech. There will be music, also. After speaking, the pies will be auctioned off and there will be a cake given to the prettiest girl.

Mr. E. H. Cummings shipped his beef cattle on Tuesday of this week.

REVIVAL MEETING AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Star is authorized to announce that there will be a revival service of ten days duration, beginning at the Euclid Avenue Church of Christ, on Friday evening, April 1st, and continuing through two Lord's days, and closing on the evening of April 10th.

Minister C. R. Worsham, of Chickasha, Oklahoma, will do the preaching and there will be plenty of good congregational singing during the entire series of meetings. Brother Worsham has filled the pulpit at this place on former occasions and those who heard him then will remember him as an eloquent, earnest and ardent expounder of the Scriptures. The public is most cordially invited to attend all of this series of meetings.

NATIONAL USED CAR WEEK

New York—A national drive to sweep the American automobile industry out of the current recession and stimulate American business generally was announced here today by Alvin Macauley, speaking for every American automobile manufacturer and the nation's 46,000 automobile dealers.

The primary purpose of the campaign, he said, is to make known to prospective owners the remarkable used car values which are now being offered by automobile dealers in all parts of the United States.

"The present situation has resulted in the best used car values in the country's history. We are confident that used car stocks will be reduced sharply as soon as the public becomes aware of the fact," he added.

During the last few years vast improvements have been made in motor cars and this improved transportation is available on easy terms to those who take advantage of the bargains to be offered during "National Used Car Exchange Week," Mr. Macauley stated.

"Too many unsafe, worn-out, unreliable cars, without modern safety brakes, safety glass, large tires and steel bodies, are in operation today," he continued. "Too many are costly to operate. Eleven million seven years old or older are licensed for operation throughout the country."

"Many of these cars can be replaced during "National Used Car Exchange Week"—to the great advantage of the buyer and of the public—with newer, "up-to-date" cars, without initial investment beyond their present car and on terms to suit the average pocketbook. These new cars offer modern equipment and are a good investment in comfort, safety and economy."

YOUNG PEOPLE HERE ASSIST SUMMERFIELD PROGRAM

Rev. H. B. Naylor, of this place, and pastor of the Baptist Church at Summerfield, report that a group of young people from the local Baptist church, attended his church service at Summerfield Sunday night, and added to his service with a well-organized program.

Rev. Naylor further stated that the people of the Summerfield church highly appreciated the program presented by our young people, which was led by Lee Euler, and the young people of Summerfield will return to the church on Sunday evening, rendering a similar one at the Priona Baptist Church this coming Sunday evening.

BUY A MODERN CAR NOW—WHILE YOU HAVE MORE TO TRADE AND LESS TO PAY

SEE ANY CAR DEALER DISPLAYING THIS SIGN

Get there early while the choice is wide—fine cars now offered at rock-bottom prices

This National Used Car Exchange Week gives you a great opportunity to OWN A BETTER CAR for a small investment. Automobile dealers co-operating in this big sale have a fine selection of used cars—and prices are far below those of several months ago.

• Many are 1937, '36 and '35 models—backed by the finest of dealer guarantees. All have thousands of miles of first-class unused transportation in them.

And the "first-class" transportation of these modern cars represents satisfaction which the owners of older cars can hardly imagine. Beautiful, modern styling—a more comfortable ride—more room for you and your luggage—finer, more powerful engines—better gas mileage—better brakes—bigger tires—dozens of improvements introduced since your old car was built.

Now's the time to make the switch, while you have more to trade and less to pay. Your present car may cover the down-payment—balance on easy terms. If you have no car to trade, you can still take advantage of the low down-payments and easy terms during this sale.

PRE-SHOW BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT

Local and county workers are quite busy making arrangements for the Pre-Livestock Show Banquet, to be held here in the corridor of the Priona high school building on Friday night, March 4th.

People not only locally, but from all parts of the county and neighboring cities and communities, are expected to be present and a good program and feed is planned, with Prof. Ray Chappelle, head of the Agricultural Department of the Texas Tech College, at Lubbock, as the principal speaker, and Attorney Sam Aldridge, of Farwell, as toastmaster.

Mrs. Leonard Hawes and Mrs. Howard Mayfield, of Homeland community, were appreciated callers at the Star office for a few minutes last Friday afternoon. They came to bring the report of the Homeland Home Demonstration Club.

GORDON MASSEY AND MISS LAMBERT MARRIED

On Saturday, February 19th, Gordon Massey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Massey, living about nine miles southeast of Priona; and Miss Bertrice Lambert, daughter of Mrs. L. A. Clymore, of Black, drove over to Clovis and were quietly married.

The young people were accompanied by their mothers, and the ceremony was performed in the home of Rev. J. P. Nix, pastor of the Baptist church at Clovis, Rev. Nix officiating. The groom is one of Priona's most energetic and progressive young farmers, who is already making a reputation for himself with his farming successes; and the bride is one of the community's most charming young ladies. Gordon has been farming on leased land for the past few years, but is planning the purchase of a farm of his own where he and his bride will make their home, in this locality. The Star joins their many other friends in wishing for them a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

Miss Lola Goodwine, who has been employed at Lubbock for the past few months, came up and spent the weekend here with her mother and brother, Mrs. Minnie and Clyde Goodwine. She returned to Lubbock Tuesday, and will move with her employers to Pampa, the latter part of the week.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The Legion Auxiliary met in regular session on February 22, and a very interesting program, including the installation of officers for the year, was held. Ray Smith, a charter member of this post, but now of Childress, held the ceremonies.

This Eighteenth District of the American Legion, is now having a petition circulated to have our good congressmen to influence the building of a Veteran's hospital as near as possible to us. We now have to travel some three hundred miles to get these benefits, which in case of serious illness, makes this benefit impossible, and since we have more veterans living here than the required government number, we the voters should endorse this valuable addition to the Panhandle. It would mean hundreds of dollars, besides the saving of lives in case of serious illness, at no increase in taxation.

Our membership is gradually increasing and everyone is very much interested in this year's program and the building of a new Legion home here.

The Legion stands for "peace and good will" to all and is working day and night for the educational part of our children, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Civic League, Red Cross safety in driving and, in fact, all important welfare undertakings; and you as citizens should back every move the Legion is now sponsoring. It is to your good we are now backing and cause to be backed, tax-tails and means to care for our 600,000 veterans wounded in wars. If the Legion had not burned the midday oil in the cases of these old boys, the chances are, most of them would have been dead; and now they are working equally as hard for our widows and orphans, along with hundreds of other things.

We are sponsoring a program on March 22nd. Every member of war veterans in this country is urgently requested to be here. We will have some good speakers—men who know the value of Legion Work. We are trying to get all veterans in this country to be here. And we have tried as nearly as possible to make it a success.

nity in the county can be represented without any prejudice, and we aim to visit each place and have a good program from time to time, so this is your part as well as ours. Come, bring a buddy.

Since my last letter, I have been elected as your "service officer" and Post Adjutant, and in all sorts of Legion work, what information I have is for you, so call in. Glad to explain benefits, hospitalization, burial allowance, and all sorts of World War, Spanish War and whatever there is to be obtained for widows and orphans of veterans filing claims. New rules are being made each day—you might be lucky. My office is across the street from City Drug Store in Priona, or drop me a letter any time I can be of help to you.

We meet at Legion Hall, Pioneer Cafe building, on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday nights. Our next meeting will be March 8. Come and bring a "buddy." We will announce our program for the 22nd, next week. Be on the look-out and make plans to tell all veterans.

Yours truly,

Ray Price.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The Executive Board and Committee of the Parmer Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, March 7th at the home of Mrs. A. H. Beaman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon and son, Jimmie, who live in the Rhea community, are vacationing in South Texas. They left last Thursday for El Paso, and from there they are going to Brownwood, and then to Port Isabel, where they will join Mr. Dixon's parents, who are spending the winter in the Rio Grande valley. They plan to go into Old Mexico before returning home in the latter part of the month.

Punctured Art

Motorist--I will give you $5 for that picture.
Artist--Won't you wait until I have finished it?
Motorist--No, I want the canvas to mend a puncture.

A Thrill

First Lady--My husband travels so much that each time he comes home he seems a perfect stranger.
Second Lady--How thrilling!--Houston Post.

Diet

Jeffress--So Turner made a fortune?
Hansel--Yes, he invented a chocolate bonbon with a lettuce center for women on a diet.--Kitchener Records.

Try Out

Film Star--Wilfred, this is to be your new father.
Wilfred--Well, before you fix it up, let's see what he's like at home-work.

Such Nonsense

Old Lady--What was that splash? Sailor--We just dropped our anchor.
Old Lady--Serves you right! You've had it dangling outside all the voyage.

Shock for Him

The inebriated man came to a tree with rails around to protect it. He wandered around and around and then gave a cry of fear.
"Oh, help! I'm locked in," he exclaimed.

HOLY FOWL

Farmer Knott's wife cooked two chickens the day the two ministers came to dinner, but the farmer consoled himself with the thought that the family could make another meal of the remains. But when the gentlemen of the cloth finished, there weren't any remains.
After dinner, says the Washington Post, while the well-fed visitors were strolling about the farm with their disgruntled host, a rooster began crowing loudly.
"Pretty proud of himself, isn't he?" remarked one of the parsons.
"Humph!" groused Farmer Knott. "No wonder--he's got two sons in the ministry!"

Agreed

The butcher greeted the customer with an embarrassed air.
"I'm very sorry, madam, but I cannot give you further credit. Your bill is bigger now than it should be."
The customer looked at him coldly.
"I'm quite aware of that," she said. "If you make it out for what it should be I'll pay it."--Tit-Bits Magazine.

Well Washed

Father's watch was behaving rather erratically.
"I suppose it needs cleaning," he said.
"Oh, no, Daddy!" ventured his four-year-old son. "It can't need cleaning; I had it in the bathroom yesterday and washed its works thoroughly."

NO NEW LEAF

The Magistrate--Don't you remember, the last time I fined you five dollars for drunkenness I told you the next drunk would cost you ten?
The Culprit--Sure, I remember. That's why I just freshened up the old jag instead of starting a new one.

How Chummy

Two Englishmen bound for New York had sat side by side on deck chairs without exchanging a word. On the third day one of them fell asleep, and his book fell on the deck with a thud. It broke the ice. The other man picked up the book, and the following dialogue took place:

"Thanks very much. Going across?"
"Yes."
"So am I."

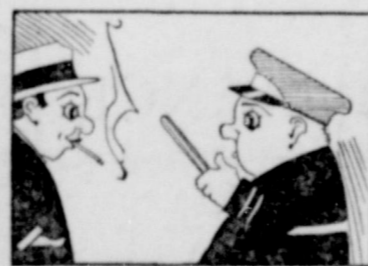

O!

The teacher asked for a sentence using the pronoun I. "I is--" began Oscar.
"Not 'I is!'" interrupted the teacher. "You should say 'I am.'"
"Okay," said Oscar, complacently. "I am the ninth letter of the alphabet!"

Must Work Fast

"The office boys at our place had a sit-down strike for three weeks last month."
"A sit-down strike for three weeks? Goodness, why didn't you settle it sooner?"
"Because it was that long before we realized they were striking!"

IN THE HOOSEGOW

Plain Clothes Man--Have you got that gunman still spotted, Jim?
Policeman--No; he's in stripes now.

He Knows

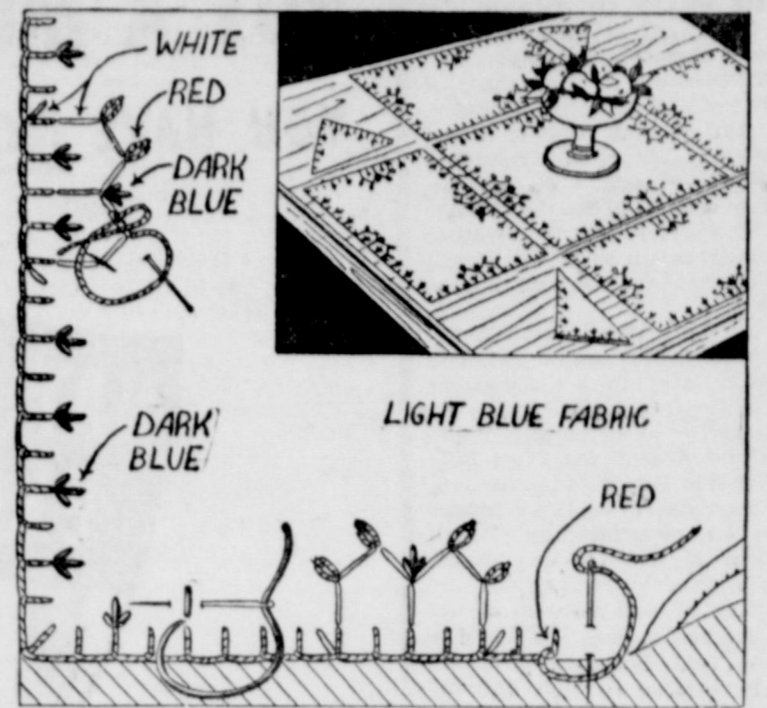

Junkman--Any rags, papers, old iron?
Man of the House (angrily)--No; my wife's away.
Junkman--Any bottles?--Telephone Topics.

On the Dot

The mistress entered the kitchen hurriedly.
"Weren't you told to watch when the milk boiled over?" she said.
"I did, ma'am," replied the maid. "It was just half past nine."

HOW to SEW

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

WE HAVE been hearing a good deal about American handcrafts lately. Of course, quilts have always been important among our needlework handcrafts. So many readers have written asking me for more of the old-fashioned embroidery stitches that were used in making crazy patchwork that I have collected dozens and dozens of these quaint stitches from old quilts. Some of them are so attractive and colorful that it seemed a pity not to use them for modern decorative purposes.
This gay little double house effect built upon blanket stitches with chain stitches flaunting from all gables was the invention of someone's great-grandmother and I couldn't resist using it for a luncheon set of light blue linen. It originally adorned a light blue satin patch in a quilt and all the other colors indicated here in the sketch are the original colors.
All the strands of six-strand

mercerized embroidery thread were used for the luncheon set. The mats were hemmed first and then the blanket stitches were taken through the hems to make a firm edge as shown at the lower right. All the other stitches used are clearly illustrated. Just the edge stitches without the little houses were used for the napkins. Many more authentic old patchwork stitches are illustrated in a new leaflet which is free upon request with the booklet offered below.

Have you a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book SEWING? It contains forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables; curtains for every type of room; lampshades, rugs and other useful articles for the home. Copy will be sent postpaid, upon receipt of 25 cents (coins preferred). Address Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill.

100 Get Trials In American League Camps

By GEORGE A. BARCLAY

MORE than 100 rookies are being taken to the various American league spring training camps this year. How many of them will make good and stay in fast company? That is a question that eight American league managers would like to be able to answer right now.

But looking over the records of these recruits and gathering dope from the minor league managers who tutored them in 1937, it is evident that a very competent bunch of new men are getting tryouts in the junior circuit.

The Boston Red Sox seem likely to retain at least eight of the players brought in from Minneapolis and Little Rock, Ark. Among these are Catcher John Peacock, Pitcher Charles Wagner and Outfielder Henry Gaffke of Minneapolis; Pitchers Emerson Dickman and Dick Midkiff, Infielder Jim Tabor and Outfielders Deal and Nonnekamp of Little Rock.

Mike's New Pitchers

Mickey Cochrane, who recently announced his definite retirement as an active player at Detroit, appears to have some likely recruits. Detroit's roster is long on pitchers. Mickey will have 17 to choose from. Elton Benton, who starred with Memphis last year, seems ready. Among other good prospects are Pitchers Harry Eisenstat and Jack

Mickey Cochrane

Corbett, Infielder Frank Croucher and Outfielder Roy Cullenbine.

The Chicago White Sox will depend largely on Gerald Walker and Marv Owens, acquired in the trade with Detroit to bolster them, but Pitcher Bill Cox from St. Paul and Outfielder Rupert Thompson from San Diego look like the goods. Cleveland has considerable new material, with Pitcher John Humphrey of New Orleans, Outfielder Geoffrey Heath and Third Baseman Kenny Keltner of Milwaukee out in front. The acquisition of Catcher Rollie Hemsley from the St. Louis Browns, should help.

The New York Yankees' rookies come from Newark, which won the International league pennant by 24 games last year. Pitchers Joe Beggs, Allee Donald and Second Baseman Joe Gordon seem ready to step into the lineup and make good.

Connie Mack is believed to have four recruits who will give the Athletics considerable aid and comfort this season. These include Pitchers Bill Potter from Columbus, Ohio, Steve Kalfass from Trenton, N. J., First Baseman Bill Hasson of Williamsport and Second Baseman Lodigiani of Oakland, Calif.

The St. Louis Browns appear to have strengthened themselves not only in their recent major league trades, but by the acquisition of Pitcher Vito Tamulis and First Baseman George McQuinn of Newark, and Pitcher Muncrief of San Antonio.

Several of Bucky Harris' Washington recruits appear to lack experience, but Outfielder Frank Case and Pitcher Mike Krakaus of Trenton and Pitchers Leonard of Atlanta and Phebus of Chattanooga are highly touted as being able to deliver the goods in big-league style.

Diamond Flashes

Fifty nationalities, or combinations of nationalities, are represented in the National league. Three have Indian strains: Guy Bush of the Cardinals is English-Indian; Roy Johnson of Boston, Norwegian-Indian; Tom Baker of the Giants, Irish-Indian. . . Lee Grissom, Cincinnati south-paw rookie, was unable to beat either Pittsburgh or St. Louis last year, losing four to the Pirates and five to the Cards. But he beat Boston four times and Brooklyn three. . . Lou Fette of Boston defeated Brooklyn six times last season, losing one game. It was the most victories any pitcher chalked up over one team. . . Nine players in the league have hit more than 100 home runs in their N. L. careers. Nineteen players still in the league have driven in more than 500 runs. Twenty-six have made more than 1,000 hits. . . Biggest margin held by any club over another since 1900 is the Cubs lead over Boston, 519 to 301.

School for Umps

YOU see and hear a lot of things and you likewise learn a few odds and ends in thirty-six years of major and minor league umpiring. "Brick" Owens, famed American league arbiter who retired a few weeks ago, could tell you that. So out of the fullness of his experience, Brick is preparing to conduct a correspondence school for umpires.

Looking back over the years, Owens has seen some great ball clubs and some great players. The best team of all, he says, was the White Sox of 1919 and 1920 that turned into the "Black Sox." Among pitchers, Brick considers Walter Johnson's delivery as deceptive as any he ever saw. He says Lefty Grove was one of the three or four fastest pitchers in history. Bob Feller, the schoolboy sensation of Cleveland, is rated by Brick as a faster pitcher than Lefty Grove and as fast as Johnson.

"Feller has something few pitchers ever had," says Brick. "He throws his curve ball almost as fast as his speed ball.

During his officiating career, Owens umpired more than 5,700 games and believes he encountered every tough problem possible. Not once in his career did he permit a game to get out of hand. He officiated 3,450 games in the American league, 1,512 in the American Association and several hundred more in other minor leagues.

Here and There

MIKE GIBBONS, one of the leading contenders for the middleweight title 25 years ago, came out of retirement to referee the match between John Henry Lewis and Fred Lenhart in St. Paul recently. . . Spug Meyers, who fought Mushy Callahan for the junior welterweight title in Chicago in 1929, now is operating a tavern in Pocatello, Idaho. . . Bennie Oosterbaan, who led Big Ten basketball scorers in 1928 with 129 points, returned to his alma mater as a football coach the following season and has remained there ever since.

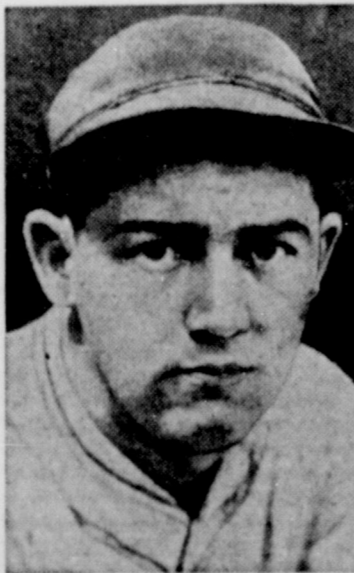

Mickey Walker says he would not pick professional boxing as a career, if he had his life to live over. . . the Michigan-Yale football game next fall will mark the first contest between the two elevens in 55 years, Yale having won their last meeting, 64 to 0, in 1883. . . Charley Jones, manager of Sammy Angott, lightweight boxer, had completed three years of college study at the Louisville Institute of Technology when the World war broke out. Seventeen years later he returned to the same school.

Wade Killifer, last year's Indianapolis manager, will be the highest paid pilot in the Pacific Coast league next season. He will lead the Hollywood club. His brother, Bill, will be at Sacramento. . . Notre Dame and Marquette began their basketball series on the old dirt floor at Notre Dame in 1920, resumed it on the concrete floor in Milwaukee's auditorium the following year, and have continued it on hardwood.

New David Harum

GABBY STREET, foxy old manager of the St. Louis Browns, has earned himself the undisputed title of the David Harum of the American league with three deals this winter which have brought him seven first class players in return for the three he traded, plus about $20,000 in cash.

In the first trade, the Browns obtained Pitcher Buck Newsom, Outfielder Buster Mills and Infielder Ralph Kress from the Boston Red Sox in return for Joe Vosmik. In the second deal they sent Rollie Hemsley, veteran catcher whose play has ranked with that of the game's greatest backstops, to the Cleveland Indians for Catcher Billy Sullivan, Infielder Roy Hughes and Pitcher Ed Cole. In their third trade they swapped Shortstop Bill Knickerbocker to the New York Yankees for Utility Infielder Don Heffner and are said to have also received $20,000 in cash from the Yanks.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—A bequest of $1,000,000, left to Harvard university by Mrs. Agnes Wahl Nieman, will make it possible for newspaper men to go to school at Harvard. It might be better if they would go to school to John Stewart Bryan, handsome, fluent, and erudite head of the committee which will pick the candidates for the Harvard sabbatical years.

Mr. Bryan is publisher of the Richmond News-Leader and president of the College of William and Mary. He talks rapidly and interestingly on poetry, politics, history, philosophy, the classics and humanities. If Mrs. Nieman had engaged him to do $1,000,000 worth of traveling and talking to newspaper men, instead of giving the money to Harvard, the light shed in the dark caverns of journalistic minds surely would have matched any possible Harvard effulgence. And, like Erasmus, Mr. Bryan loves to travel and talk.

The glow in Mr. Bryan's own mind was imparted partly by Harvard and partly by the University of Virginia. Of the southern aristocrat he practiced law in Richmond and then engaged with his father, the late Joseph Bryan, in energetic co-management of the family newspaper, then the Richmond Times. The elder Mr. Bryan had established a tradition of independence which his son has maintained.

With the passing of such free-writing journalists as Halstead, Greeley, Watterson, and more recently, Fremont Older, Mr. Bryan remains one of the few distinguished exemplars of that kind of spark-plug newspapering.

He was president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association from 1926 to 1928.

Sixty-six years old, he still keeps up with his horsemanship, taking all the jumps until a few years ago. He is caught up in an incredible whirl of directorates, public and civic posts, clubs, philanthropies and social and political activities—always with time to talk. And now he'll have to measure copy-readers and reporters for a college workout.

MME. PAUL DUPUY, whose French chateau is now occupied by the duke and duchess of Windsor, was the first publisher to introduce American comic strips in France. The French liked the comics, but they wouldn't take the columnists. Mme. Dupuy found they liked to do their own interpreting and shied away from omniscience in all forms.

She is the American-born widow of Paul Dupuy. When M. Dupuy died in 1927, he left in her hands the biggest string of newspapers and magazines in France.

In the French tradition, in which the widow quietly assumes command of the cafe or shop, she picked up the vast publishing business, managing it at first from a sickbed, as she was convalescing from a long illness.

The publications included the Daily Petit Parisien, with a circulation of 1,800,000; Dimanche Illustré, a Sunday newspaper in which Mme. Dupuy introduced the first Sunday supplement in France; La Science et la Vie, comparable to the Scientific American; Omnia, an automobile journal; Le Republicain des Hautes-Pyrenees, a provincial daily; Nos Loisirs, a women's magazine; Agriculture Nouvelle, a weekly, and several others.

Mme. Dupuy was Helen Browne, blonde and beautiful daughter of William H. and Mary C. Browne of New York. She attended the Anne Browne school for young ladies at 715 Fifth avenue, New York. Studying in Paris, she met M. Dupuy, son of the founder of the Petit Parisien.

They were married in 1907 and have two sons and a daughter, the Princess de Polignac. For many years, their marriage has been cited as one ideal international romance—a bit of background which is, no doubt, of interest to the duke and duchess as they move into her charming old Chateau de la Maye, near Versailles.

Invented Knitting Machine Watching his wife slowly knitting woolen stockings, Rev. William Lee, a Nottingham clergyman, hit upon the idea of making a machine do this work. In time he succeeded, and knitted upon his crude machine the first silk stockings. A victim of prejudice, Lee died a poor man. That was more than 300 years ago. In 1864, William Cotton, of Loughborough, brought out a machine on Lee's principle, and soon it was adopted all over the world.

TIPS to Gardeners

Grow Better Flowers

GROW better flowers by planting them in the kind of soil in which they can perform best. Though your soil may be good and rich, certain flowers will not do as well in it as in poorer ground. In rich soil plant zinnia, petunia, portulaca, snapdragon, stock, heliotrope, marigold and salvia.

Nasturtium, love-lies-bleeding, Joseph's coat, celosia, alyssum, California poppy, calendula, love-in-a-mist and hollyhock are suggested by the Ferry Seed Institute for growth in poor soil.

Heavy soil containing clay is good for sweet peas, pansies, stocks, carnations, scabiosas, snapdragons and most of the popular perennials.

The following prefer a soil of light texture: Petunia, Portulaca, celosia, hollyhock, love-in-a-mist, annual phlox, calliopsis, nicotiana and all the climbers.

In garden plots that are partially shaded grow calendula, balsam, mignonette, pansy and vinca.

Favorite Recipe of the Week

PIMIENTO BISQUE

THE soup described below is delicious. It has a delectable flavor and the rich color of the pimientos gives just the desired red touch to the finished product.

1 can cream of celery soup 1 tsp. salt
1 cup milk 2 slices of onion
3 pimientos 1/2 tsp. paprika

If canned condensed soup is used, prepare according to directions on the label and then add 1 cup of milk. If canned ready-to-serve cream of celery soup is used, pour the contents into a pan and add the cup of milk. Rub the pimientos through a sieve and add to the soup. Add salt, onion and paprika and heat until the soup is hot. Stir frequently to prevent scorching. Remove the union before serving. Serves 6.

The food with red color in the main course might be a ring mold made with canned beets.

The red color for the dessert might be supplied by a raspberry gelatin made with a can of red raspberries.

GREAT—GREAT—GREAT—GREAT—GRANDCHILDREN

Pedigree Ferry's Seeds are often developed and improved for six, eight, and even ten generations before they are sold. Year after year, at the unique Ferry-Morse Seed-Breeding Institute, the best flower and vegetable plants are selected from each year's experimental crops, and their seeds planted for still another improved generation. By this process, desirable characteristics are strengthened, weaknesses eliminated.

And Ferry's Seeds must prove they will grow. So the Institute makes 50,000 tests for growing ability each year before packaging—and tests each variety for truthness to type!

Ferry's Seeds have grown the finest flowers and vegetables in your locality for years. Assure your garden a perfect start this year—choose pedigree and tested seeds from the Ferry's Seeds display in your favorite store. 5c a packet and up. 1938 NOVELTIES too! "THIS 'MAKIN'S' TOBACCO TASTES BETTER ALL THE TIME!"—SAYS ED DURRELL TO HIS WIFE

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

ED DURRELL is about to get some real smokin' comfort as he settles down and fixes himself a mild, tasty Prince Albert "makin's" cigarette. Says Ed to his better-half, Eugenia: "This P. A. 'makin's' tobacco tastes better all the time. Plenty of rich body, yet it's real mild on the tongue and there's no bitter taste." Says Mrs. Durrell: "Well, if it tastes as good as it smells, I can understand why you and your friends praise Prince Albert." (A tip for you pipe-smokers, too!)

PIE SUPPER AND POLITICAL RALLY AT LAKEVIEW

There will be a pie supper and Political Rally held at the Lakeview school house on Friday night, March 11th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, to which the entire public is most cordially invited to attend.

It was originally planned to hold the affair on Friday night of this week, but it was postponed on account of the Meat Show Banquet at Friona on that date.

All county-wide candidates are expected, and the Commissioners from Precinct Four are invited. Each candidate will be given five minutes to speak.

The program will also include some special music. Remember the time and place and make arrangements in the near future.

ments to attend this supper and rally.

LEVELING FRIONA STREETS

Judge Alexander has had the county grader and maintainer at work a couple of days this week on the streets in this city, leveling the uneven places and smoothing the rough places caused by the recent spell of wet weather, and thus placing all the streets in passable condition to be in readiness for the Farmer County Livestock Show to be held here Saturday.

The City Commission is also planning a system of new and permanent street crossings for the city, to be put in in the near future.

THE REST OF THE RECORD

By Gov. James V. Allred

AUSTIN—Upon the urgent request of several officials of the State Teachers Association, I flew to Washington last week to appear before the judiciary committee of Congress in opposition to a resolution seriously affecting the title to our coastal lands.

The resolution, by Senator Nye of North Dakota, was originally introduced and passed through the United States Senate in the closing days of the session last year. Upon its face it was an innocent resolution simply reciting that it was asserted that the United States Government owned title to certain submerged lands along the coast of the United States from which oil was being extracted, and which is potentially valuable for that reason; and it instructed the Attorney General to investigate the title of the United States and file such suits as were necessary to recover same for the Federal Government.

The resolution passed the United States Senate, and there is no criticism on that account—none of us knew just how far reaching it was—but, of course, it failed to get through the lower house of Congress and was pending business at the beginning of this session.

When we got to Washington we found that those who were pushing the resolution stated that it was primarily aimed at California, which occupies a slightly different status from the other states; BUT the trouble was that the resolution was so broad as to cast a serious cloud upon the Texas title and that of every other coastal state. Too, we found that the Navy Department had suggested an amended resolution which was worse than the original. The amendment asserted that the United States owned all of the submerged or coastal lands under the waters of American shores; that there is possibly a serious shortage of oil reserves and that the President should be authorized to take over and set aside these lands as naval oil reserves.

The amended resolution did contain the statement that it was subject to the title of any state, or private individual or corporation which may be established in the judicial proceedings hereinafter authorized. This was the worst joker in the resolution—that is, it would require Texas to establish in court a title which has been unchallenged for over a hundred years.

From the beginning of the Republic the Supreme Court of the United States has held in unbroken decisions that the State owns its coastal lands "and the soils under its navigable waters." In most of this states this extends out to the three-mile limit, but in Texas, according to the position we took, it extends for three leagues, which is about 10 1/2 miles.

We pointed out that when Texas won her independence the first Congress of the Republic passed an act asserting dominion over a territory which was prescribed to begin at the mouth of the Sabine river and parallel the Gulf Coast of Texas at a distance of three leagues from land to the mouth of the Rio Grande River. This distance of three leagues from land was recognized in the treaty of peace between the Mexican Government and the United States Government after the Mexican War. It was again recognized in the Gadsden purchase by the United States from the Government of Mexico.

Everyone conceded that Texas was probably in the strongest position of any of the states, but, of course, we don't want our title clouded and development of our oil land held up by the possibility of a lawsuit with the strong United States Government. The Attorney General of the United States now has the right to file a suit if the Government owns these lands, or any part of them. He doesn't need a resolution from Congress to authorize him to file the suit.

The parties asking Congress to pass the resolution finally admitted that they wanted this resolution for its moral effect and because it was a declaration by the Congress that United States in fact owned the land. In other words, the resolution would be, in effect, an invitation by Congress to the courts to overrule the rule of property which has existed in this country for over a hundred years.

The Texas delegation in Congress was very actively interested in helping defeat the resolution. While I am firmly convinced we could win it in court, we don't want a lawsuit; and I feel quite confident that the resolution will be defeated.

AMARILLO LIVESTOCK SHOW

AMARILLO—The 11th annual Amarillo Fat Stock Show, March 7 to 11, inclusive, is certain to be by far the largest in the history of this institution in view of the record entries in every division, according to Grover B. Hill, president.

Dedicated to the 4-H club boys in the area served by the show, this year's program will feature the appearance of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who will be in Amarillo on Wednesday, March 9.

The Amarillo Fat Stock Show affords 4-H club boys and breeders an unusual opportunity for successful demonstrations in the art of feeding, care and exhibition of all classes of livestock. The Panhandle Livestock Association and the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association hold their annual meetings here each year in connection with the show. The city affords unusual entertainment features for the thousands of visitors who come here for the annual show and conventions.

This year's record entry list includes 312 4-H club calves, 283 pigs and 130 lambs. Three hundred carlot bulls have been consigned by the region's premier breeders, and 57 bulls and nine females will be sold at the annual auction of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association.

FRIONA WEATHER

The weather here during the past week has been of many different varieties, but not very cold at any time, and quite balmy during several days, with not much sunshine and practically no wind. In fact, there has not been wind enough to turn the windmills enough to pump water for the stock on some of the farms and pastures.

Quite a nice shower of rain fell shortly after dark Monday night, yielding probably a half inch of moisture, which added to that already received from the rain and showers of the previous week, made an estimated inch of moisture for the entire community, and has made the most favorable conditions for wheat that have been experienced here at this time of year for several years. The land is now also in fine condition for early spring planting, and farmers are planning to take advantage of this unusual opportunity as soon as the ground is dry enough.

A GOOD SHOW AT THE REGAL

The picture shown at the Regal Theatre here on Wednesday and Thursday nights of last week ("Ala Baba Comes to Town") seems to have started in our community a round of political discussions, such as real political policies and events had not prompted.

Discussions are healthy until they become so heated that logic and common sense and the political motive becomes lost in the steam.

The show was a skillfully put up piece of sarcasm showing the new deal in an absurd and vicious light. The less spending, the bid for popularity, the Supreme Court fight and the Anti-Lynching Bill were vividly shown in a ridiculous light. The whole New Deal was bare to an absurdity. The climax pictured the whole visionary dream going up in thin smoke leaving the stupefied populace groaning, groping and fighting frantically for a way to solid footing.

The temper of the New Deal friends was set boiling, but the glee of the New Deal foe was hushed when he realized that friend and foe alike were under the burning and fast-disappearing vision.

AND THERE WAS MORE SNOW

Another good fall of snow was on the ground Thursday morning which has fallen during the night, and was still falling at this writing, with a depth of nearly three inches of good heavy wet snow already on the ground, and which had apparently been preceded by a heavy shower of rain, probably raising the total fall to the week to an inch or better in Friona territory.

The Home Ec. girls of the Friona High School spent Wednesday in Amarillo.
