One of our Congressmen came out recently hitting The New York Times for using a slogan: "All the News that's Fit to Print". If we remember correctly, it was Congressman Wright Patman. Next, we suppose will be The Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, who's slogan is "Where the West Begins". Who knows, but what Congress will attack The NEWS for its slogan: "Fustest with the Mostest". They gotta make a noise up there to make P. I., some way.

"At ripe age all any parent wants his chillren is some small credit for having tried to do his best."

"The frozen-food people have made spinach edible, tasty, and delectable, if you add butter, salt, pepper, and possibly vinegar."

Tenth Court, Civil Appeals Reverses County Court Ruling

In an appearance this week in the Tenth Court of Civil Appeals in Waco they reversed a decision in the case of Donald Wayne Pruitt vs C. W. Turner, Justice of the Peace and Southwestern Indemnity Co., giving the plaintiff $1 and costs.

The original suit called for $975 damages plus court costs. Harry Flentbe represented the plaintiff. The case resulted in a refusal of the Justice Court to provide a jury without cost to the plaintiff, it being a criminal case, which is guaranteed by Statute and the Texas Constitution. The Court had asked a $3 fee. Court costs will be approximately $100.

All Reported Towns Show Gain As Well As County In Preliminary 1960 Census

You'll see the story at the top of this page: Corvell County 24,046, Gatesville 4,711, and Copperas Cove 4,578.

That, according to J. Fred Simmons Jr., is the population summary for Corvell County, Gatesville and Copperas Cove. His letter to THE NEWS says: "These figures are believed to be substantially correct but are subject to revision after the returns for non-residents are credited to their proper locality and other routine checks have been made. Although a significant revision is unlikely, minor revision may possibly occur after careful examination of the returns. The official announcement of the population will be made at a later date by the Director of the Bureau of the Census."

Last census, the 1950, showed Corvell County 16,284, a gain of 7,762; Gatesville, 3,856, a gain of 855; Copperas Cove's 1950 census was 1,052.

"Arrows Over Texas," Book By Robert S. Reading

"Arrows Over Texas," by Robert S. Reading, published by The Naylor Company, San Antonio, is a history of the Indian tribes that once roamed Corvell County, and of the pioneers who settled the land, and is vividly brought to life in the new book.

Mr Reading spent 26 years compiling the material, and made a careful search thruout more than 170 Texas counties for Indian campsites, cave paintings and artifacts of which he has more than 40,000.

Right Sewing Tools Help Give Professional Finish

Planning to do lots of sewing for summer? If so, take a check of your sewing equipment.

The right sewing equipment makes any sewing job easier, saves time and labor, and helps you do more satisfactory work. Besides your sewing machine this includes a work table, a view mirror, and ironing board, a sleeve board and iron. Small items are important too. Sharp shears, scissors, measuring tape, pins, thread, pin cushion and needles should be handy for the different sewing jobs.

To get the most from sewing equipment, be sure to give it proper care. Study the directions that come with your machine; learn how to set the needles, to adjust the tension, the stitch, and when and where to oil the machine. It should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled regularly. A good plan is to clean all dust and lint from the machine after you complete a garment; then oil the moving parts.

Shop carefully for your smaller pieces of equipment. Check to see that scissors are made of good steel, with blades that will cut all the way to the tip. Better grades of scissors and shears are held together with a nut and bolt instead of a rivet. This means they can be easily adjusted after sharpening or when they need tightening.

MAKES WIFE'S CLOTHES—Shown in Lubbock at his sewing machine is Nathan Rogers. He has been making his wife's clothes since they have been married and Mrs. Rogers, shown at right, says she hasn't bought a dress in three years.

MAN'S A TRATOR TO MAN; MAKES WIFE'S CLOTHING: OUGHT TO BE A LAW

LUBBOCK, (AP) — Men who find clothing bills are nicking their picketbooks, and most of them do, might take lessons from a yung man named Nahan Rogers.

"My sister had the best-dressed dolls in the country," he said in a recent interview. "After doll clothes, I graduated to shirts, than dresses and drapes."

"If Nat hadn't sewed my clothes right after we married, we would never have made it, said Mrs. Rogers, a statuesque redhead who wears her husband's creations with a flair.

Rogers is an engraver. They married while he attended Sam Houston State College in Huntsville, Texas.

"I had made my shirts for a long time, but when Barbara and I married, I had made only a couple of dresses for my sisters." Rogers said he learned to sew by "just picking it up."

"I never spent more than two days making anything. If it took longer than that to make, I would los einterest and put it up. That white suit? No it didn't take long. It went together like a dream. I finished it in a day "

The white suit was Rogers' idea.

"I had always thought a white suit impractical and I never could have cut into that expensive material," said Mrs. Rogers.

"The first thing people ask when I wear something new is where I bought it," she says. "They never ask if I make it."

She hasn't bought a dress in three years.

Mrs. Rogers sewed before she married. Now with a husband who is a whiz with a sewing machine, she doesn't any more.

MRS. HERBERT McCARVER HOSTS LIBERTY LADIES CLUB

Mrs. Herbert McCarver was hostess to the Liberty Ladies Club May 10.

The group quited two quilts of the sunstone and shadow pattern. Dates were drawn for future meetings.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ernest Smith, May 24.

For almost a year the club members have been looking forward to another meeting with Edith McCarver, in hopes that she would again serve her original concoction of peaches and limes. They were not disappointed. In fact, she "went them one better," by giving hem a new dish of peach and strawberry cocktail. They were delighted.

Refreshments were served to the following guests:

- Mesdames Gearge Parrish, Oran Hogan, Gayle Calhoun, Walt Smith, J. B. Jones, Loy Gene Brown, J. W. Laxson, L. C. Perryman, Clovis Belvin, H. J. Billingsley, J. I. Winslar, Milton Brown, Bess Brown, Bishop Sanders, T. J. Smith, Albert Ledenham, Herbert McCarver, Ralph Perryman, W. C. Homan, L. A. cent, it is estimated will spend about $1 billion for new iron and steel facilities this year.

Statistics, we realize, are never too glamorous, but we pass these on to the readers of this column to let them know that we are keeping well ahead of the Russians in current steel production and in preparation for maintaining that advantage.

A less encouraging note is that, due in large degree to the 116-day steel strike, during 1959 for the first time in 56 years, our American imports of steel exceeded our exports. Our exports were at the lowest level since 1936 — some 1,507,930 tons against imports of 4,391,791 tons (twice the previous high set in 1951 during the Korean War).

The selection of May 30 as the Memorial Day of the North may have been inspired of a Virginia woman of French origin. World Book Encyclopedia explains that Cassandra Oliver Moncure, one of the first to celebrate the holiday, may have chosen May 30 because it is "The Day of Ashes" in France, commemorating the return of Napoleon Bonaparte's ashes to France from St. Helena.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A most interesting bill has been placed before Congress by Rep. William Tuck of Virginia.

This measure, if passed, would make it illegal to force on an employer a greater number of employees than he thinks necessary, and would thus stop the union "featherbedding" that has become a most serious problem.

Actually, labor leaders who are forcing unneeded workers on employers are in effect creating the same type of socialism that Benito Mussolini saddled on an unfortunate Italy. In fact, there are perhaps more parallels to the prewar Italian situation than it is palatable to dwell upon.

Then, and now, the economy of Italy had drifted into a monopolistic control where a few big cartels owned practically everything.

This, of course, did not serve the best interests of the bulk of the population, and lacking a small independent class of business to furnish employment, there was a scarcity of jobs.

So the Italian system, started by Mussolini, was for the government to run down the list of employers and arbitrarily telling each employer how many additional employees he should put on the payroll.

Naturally, this raised the cost of Italian goods and services with the result Italy was not very competitive in the European trade circles, and this in turn resulted in strong inflationary trends in Italy.

As a matter of fact, when Benito Mussolini plunged his nation into war, first in Ethiopia, then into World War II he adopted perhaps the only course that was open to him to stay in power and keep the Italian socialistic economy from a complete collapse.

Now, of course, in this nation, the government does not actually order railroads to put more men on train crews than there is any need for; neither does government, either federal or local, issue edicts such as those in many areas forbidding painters to use any brush wider than four inches to make a job last longer.

But powerful union leaders, not held in check by government, and in fact supported by National Labor Relations Board, does issue these edicts, and in some areas, these labor leaders have the power on the legislative level to get some of these "featherbedding" measures made into law.

So it gets more or less down to the basis that it is not so important to find out who killed Cock Robin. He was killed, and the important thing is to prevent this from happening again.

Thus, Rep. Tuck's bill is important in many ways. It is high time that business management is restored to its rightful management. It is also high time that unions are prevented from using their government smiles upon bulldozing of business to create still further socialism in the United States. One Mussolini was enough for the world for quite some time

It's easy to have a "Smooth" party line

In teen-age talk this means that her home has a line where everyone gets an equal chance to make and receive calls.

All it takes to have a "smooth" party line is common sense and a little courtesy. By using the telephone sharingly, keeping your calls brief and by giving up the line in case of an emergency, everyone on the party line gets better service, including you.

ROSEBURG, ORE., NEWS—
REVIEW: "We find that more and more taxes are being imposed upon the workingman to provide low-cost housing to great numbers of people, to keep hordes of people in idleness on welfare, to extend unemployment benefits in which widespread chiseling has been indicated, and to spread dollars in many other ways designed to capture votes, although every dollar must come out of the pockets of taxpayers and principally from the pockets of working men. Yet the liberals contend to be friends of the laboring man while, at the same time, turning his pockets wrong side out."

Ex-Yankee baseball scout Ray Garland has signed a 3 year contract to scout for the Braves.

EVINRUDE BOATING FOUNDATION

By RUDY EVINS

No matter where you fish or what kind of fish you are fishing it has been proven that every fisherman is similar to his own particular pattern of fishing. Confusing? Well, let me clarify this a bit.

There are four fundamentals which almost every good angler uses as a "bible." Follow these rules and improve on them each time you go fishing. Your fishing "luck" will progress with every trip.

Rise early—get up early in the day when the fish feed. Work the shore with various lures to find the hot spots. Try about 25 casts with a surface lure. If you don't get any strikes try a sinking plug for another 25 casts. If you still don't have any luck try a lure that runs a little deeper. You're bound to find them sooner or later and when you do you'll have a field day.

Unacquainted—don't be unacquainted with the water you are fishing. If you don't have a map of the lake's bottom ask the local sporting goods dealer or resort owner for a few tips. They will be more than happy to tell you where the good spots are.

Drift—Approach your fishing hole with caution, especially in shallow water. Your outboard motor won't scare the fish, however, it may stir the bottom, so cut it about 50 yards from where you plan to fish and drift in.

Yield—Always yield a good cast. A bit of practice before leaving on your trip will bring more accurate casts with every outing. Use an inner tube or a pail in your backyard for a target. Remember, practice makes perfect.

The first letter of each of these rules spells Rudy. Keep my name in mind and remember these fundamentals, for they are the key to a better fisherman. Happy boating... and fishing, too. Rudy

Lone Star Gas Company
One Of Sponsors Of Mrs. Texas Contest, and,

L. T. Potter, president of Lone Star, announced the winner at the Statler Hilton Hotel's Embassy Ballroom before an audience of 150 dinner, guests who applauded. It was May 13.

Mrs. Seale T. (Betty) Cutbirth, Brownwood, was the winner and others were Mrs. G. V. (Bette) Mayfield, Dallas, Mrs. Joe Charles (Mildred) McLure, Ft. Worth; Mrs. Wm. (Christine) LeFevre, Wortham; and Mrs. James Elmo (Jean) Holes Jr., Athens.

They each baked a cake, using their own recipe, and prepared a simple refrigerator dessert. They were judged on menu planning, took a laundry quiz, and each arranged her hair in 3 ways, and participated in public speaking activity, in case any of you local girls want to try. Would be a good promotion for "Gassy Gus," locally.

EVINRUDE BOATING FOUNDATION

By RUDY EVINS

Whether you're piloting a runabout, a cruising skipper or a fisherman it pays to have an anchor aboard at all times.

I guess many of us have been caught without an anchor or with a faulty line at one time or another and found ourselves in a bad way. The Evinrude Boating Foundation says that no matter what type of boat you use you need an anchor. What size and type you need depends on the size of your boat and the type of bottom you generally anchor in.

No matter what kind of anchor you have, be sure to have a well conditioned line secured to it and ready for use. You must always take into consideration the length of line you'll need. In moderate weather a safe ratio is six feet of line for every foot of water, although if your boat is light and there isn't much of a breeze or current, a ratio of three to one is sufficient for a time.

Before you anchor be sure that your line is attached to the anchor properly and that the other end is secured to the boat. Don't throw your anchor out, just lower it alongside your boat—"drop anchor." Be sure that your line doesn't have any knots in it and never stand in or on the coil unless you want to go with it. Sometimes you're going to want to beach your boat. If this is the case always bury your anchor in the sand on the beach a good distance from the boat or tie up to a tree. Never count on the beach alone. A good size wave or high tide might carry your boat to sea if you don't take the proper precautions.

Anchoring is important if you want your boat to stay in a certain place for any length of time. Always carry an anchor and a well-conditioned line because you never know when you'll need it.

Happy boating... and fishing, too. Rudy
