"FUSTEST WITH

THE MOSTEST"

little '9' gatesville, Texas

Well, we may 'blank-out' next week. The 90th will be one, and there'll be a lull until the 36th gets here the 26th!

But, with all the good things, or bad, the guard brings in to Gatesville, or out, the prime importance to us, is the 'regular' folks that are here throught the year—our main stems.

Anyway, regardless of WHO comes or goes, they're everyone as important to the 'good living' of Gatesville and Coryell County, as the other.

Foolhardy, you might call it, a bunch of guys walking from Arlington to Ft. Hood, just for 'kicks' as the teeners might say. But, to us, it shows the Teeners are not as soft as some might think. Just try 160 miles on your own two legs, and see how you come out. On one day, they made a 33-mile lap, and that's really rolling.

Down at Austin at the Democratic State Convention, all was peaches and cream, and only 40 dissenters voted diabolically to the trend of the convention—not even enough to bolt. Such unanimity might be good, but, still we maintain there's two sides to EVERY question and any question is a much better question if the sides are more nearly equal, and, that goes for ANYWHERE!

Miss Pat Sims, Gatesville's representative who appeared on "The Price Is Right" a national TV show Wednesday evening. She didn't win one of the major prizes, unfortunately, but will come home with a portable dish washer, a lot of unusual experience, and maybe some other prizes not mentioned on TV. She was handicapped, somewhat, by being not experienced in pricing enough, and, being around 18, when her 'competitors' were considerably older individuals. She did right well, and Gatesville was on the national map last night. Thanks, Pat! If you could have only mentioned THE NEWS!

"If the shoe fits, it's a bargain at any price."

"Do you ever behave psychoneurotically or psychomatically because of tensions caused by your uncertain social status?" Frankly, we wouldn't know!

They stayed Tuesday night in Turnersville school.

Thursday morning, after an early breakfast, they headed down the Old Georgetown road on the final leg might say 2-eggs of their 160 mile hike.

They were met at the junction of West Range Road, and Royalty Ridge Road by Maj. Gen. Edward C. Farland, and taken into South Ft. Hood.

Sheriff Winfred Cummings, CCC officials, Jaycees, and County Judge Norman Storm met them at the corner of N. Lutterloh and Main as they came into Gatesville. Today is their 6th walking day.

FENCING PADRE ISLAND BEACH

Workmen began installing substantial barricades at three points on the Padre Island beach near Corpus Christi. One of the barricades will be provided with a gate and persons may pass through by signing a statement in which they say that they make no claim to the beach. The move is an attempt by the Padre Island Land and Cattle Co., to prove that the company owns the beach to the water's edge. (AP Wirephoto)

WEEKLY STOCK MARKET ROUND UP

THE RUBBER INDUSTRY

In the last quarter of 1959 the rubber industry made its highest capital appropriation for any quarter in the past three years and currently backlog of capital appropriations for this industry are the highest they have been in three years. Because of this vote of confidence in the future by the industry, we are led to believe that rubber stocks would be well worth looking at currently.

The tire industry has always been very important to rubber companies and this will continue to be so in 1960 as auto production is expected to be the second highest in history. Shipment of original tire equipment naturally correlates closely to auto production while there appears to be a continual growth in demand for replacement tires. This growth is probably attributable to the fact that there are an increasing number of cars on the road, not only because of the population growth but because of the increased number of cars owned per family. Since 1954 shipments of replacement tires have increased each year and a careful study of statistics relating to shipments of replacement tires as compared to original tires dispels the common belief that tire replacement sales decrease in years when auto production increased.

There are other interesting facets in the growth of the rubber industry. It is of interest to note that 1938 sales related to tires made up 58% of all manufactured rubber products, while 20 years later in 1958 they had dropped to only 50%. A further drop is to be expected as rubber companies diversify more into other rubber products. Foam rubber and polyurethane are two fast-growing fields and today some of the major rubber companies are even entering into the chemical field, primarily plastics and synthetics.

We believe that any one of the big four rubber companies should qualify for investment portfolios at the present time, but we favor U. S. Rubber Co. In 1959 the company's earnings were the highest in its history and still higher earnings are looked for in 1960. Its capital expenditures program will be devoted primarily to modernization of equipment to improve its efficiency. The company has done an excellent job of maintaining a good operating ratio and the stock is selling some 15 points below its 1959 high.

Of the other major companies we like Firestone primarily because of its Ford business, which could prove important in 1960 and also because of its foreign business. Goodrich we like because of its wide diversification into chemicals and plastics and Goodyear because of its indicated sharp upward earnings trend. For the investor seeking glamor we suggest General Tire because of its 84% holding of Aerojet, which gives it a participation in the missile propellant field. For the individual interested in speculating on the future growth of the replacement tire business Mansfield Tire & Rubber is recommended. FMS

Last week I talked about the Temperature Theory. This week I'll touch upon another theory—the effect of barometric pressure on fish.

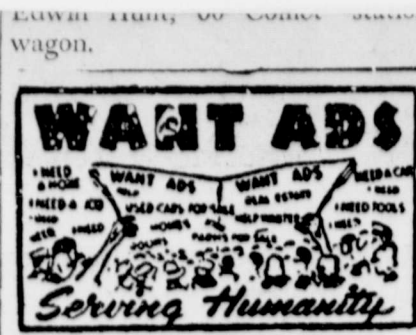

The Barometer Theory has been a guide for many fishermen for a great number of years and has "proved very successful." According to this theory the fish bite at their best when the barometer rises and do not strike during a stormy, windy period when the barometer is falling. When the barometer rises after a storm or rain, fishing is said to be at its best.

Like the Temperature Theory there are those who deny any fact behind the Barometer Theory, reports the Evinrude Boating Foundation. I read a story the other day, written by a well-known fisherman-author. He said: "In analyzing three years of my fishing—from opening of trout season to closing—I found three and one-third days out of every ten windy, rainy or snowy... but happily, some excellent trout fishing, if not the very best, is often available during such periods. Water that is normally unproductive in sunny weather has a way of suddenly yielding big fish during a storm."

One theory is that when the barometer is above 29.90 the fish are on or near the surface and when it's below 29.90 the fish are on the bottom. When the barometer is changing rapidly the fish are not feeding. Fishing is said to be at its best on the lee shores during the first two hours of daylight when there is a steady breeze. After the two initial hours of daylight, fishing is at its best on the windward shores.

These are theories "proven" to be fact and "proven" to be fiction by veteran anglers. Me? I'll keep my opinion to myself.

Happy boating... and fishing, too.

Mum Charged With Killing Jacob S. Floyd Jr. Taken In Mexico

—69—

MEXICO CITY (AP).— Mexico police said Monday they had captured Alfredo Cervantes Martinez, charged with the killing of Jacob S. Floyd Jr., son of a former political enemy of George Parr. He mistook the youth for his father.

He was captured in Tepatitlan, Jalisco, Mexico, and is an American citizen, but was born in Mexico.

Mario Sapet, convicted of murder for arranging the assassination is serving a 99-year term after trial in Brownwood. Nago Alaniz, Alice lawyer, also involved, was acquitted by a 54th District Court jury in Waco. Both trials were transferred from Jim Wells Co.

Young Floyd was a graduate of Baylor University and a student in the University of Texas Law School when he was shot down in ambush as he approached the family garage in Alice in September, 1952. His mother, Edith Jones Floyd, was reared in Gatesville.

quins and pearls. The bouffant skirt, with deep pointed waistline, was made with row after row of net ruffles stitched on net over satin.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and gladioli.

Mrs. Alvin Berry of Texas City is her sister's matron of honor. Miss Pat Turner of Pidoce was bridesmaid.

They wore identical dresses of ice pink taffeta with overskirts of double layers of net. They wore headbands to match with sequin-trimmed net ruffles, and carried bouquets of white gladioli.

Denella Paxton, niece of the bridegroom, and Deborah Alexander, cousin of the bride, were flower girls. They were dressed in pink with bouffant skirts.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Kenneth Moseley, brother of the bride, lighted the candles.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Moseley home. The bride's cake was a three-tiered confection embossed with pink roses and white lily-of-the-valley, and topped with a miniature bride and groom figurine. The table, laid with lace over pink, held crystal appointments.

The cake was served by Mrs. Bobby Paxton, sister of the bridegroom, of Gatesville. Mrs. Glendel McCarver, also a sister of the bridegroom, of Waco, served punch.

Others in the houseparty were Miss Sandra Gann of Flat and Miss Elsie Wright of Pidoce.

Mrs. Chambers attended high school in Gatesville. Her husband was graduated from Gatesville High School and served a two-year tour of active duty in the U. S. Army.

After a short wedding trip, the newly-weds are at home in Gatesville. Mr. Chambers is manager of the Gatesville Bowlanes.

he was 24, and has been pastor of three churches in Texas. After his ordination, he was given a special shift so that he could study at the Texas Bible Institute, Henderson, and perform his pastoral duties at the Liberty Hill Baptist Church near Mt. Pleasant, while still working full time.

He later was pastor of the Cornith Baptist Church in Timpsion, and the Fellowship Baptist Church in suburban Houston. Medical and family expenses forced him to return to full time truck driving.

Mr. Brown, and his wife, Robbie Louise, have four children: Gary, 5; Mary Lynn, 7; Ronnie 8, and Jimmie 10.

Mr Brown's rescue deed came last July while he was working for the Groendyke Transport Co. of Houston. While delivering a cargo of gasoline in Alvin, he saw three small boys screaming and running into a house nearby. They emerged with an elderly man and ooon disappeared from view. Mr. Brown soon heard the man's cry for help and upon investigation found him bending over the side of a concrete pit or tank, folled with about seven feet of muddy water. He was told a boy had fallen into the water.

Without hesitation, Mr. Brown dived into the water and searched vainly for he boy's body. Rising Brown dived again, and finally came up with the Schedule boy, to the surface breathless, Mr. who apparently had drowned.

With the help of the elderly man and the boys, the youngster was lifted to the side of the pit where Mr. Brown immediately started artificial respiration. Before long, little Charles Ray drew a feeble breath. He was taken to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, where he recovered.

Without his "alertness, bravery and immediate action" the Sche-

MINISTER WHO RESCUED DROWNING BOY NAMED AS TRUCK DRIVER OF YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10—A young Texas truckdriver-minister who rescued a drowning six-year-old boy was named national Driver of the Year today today by the American Trucking Associations.

One of the highest awards offered to professional truck drivers in the United States went to Russell R. Brown, 31, of Mt. Pleasant, an ordained Baptist minister who drives a tank truck for the American Petrofina Co. of Texas, with headquarters in Dallas.

Mr. Brown won the coveted title for his record of fourteen years of professional truck driving without a chargeable accident as well as his heroism in diving into a 12 x 12 foot concrete pit filled with muddy water to locate and rescue Charles Ray Schedule, 6, of Alvin. Mr. Brown was forced to dive twice to locate the unconscious boy. He then used artificial respiration until breathing was restored.

Mr. Brown has driven close to 900,000 miles without a chargeable accident. In addition he has
