"FUSTEST WITH

THE MOSTEST"

Little 'g' gatesville, Texas

Traffic: Texas, final tabulation 31 in Texas. We made the quota of 2 with room to spare. 18 mo. got it some other way, 5 drowned, 13 in miscellaneous accidents. The USA was 40 short of its poll, which ended up 317. The National Safety Council said it'd be 460.

Now, that that's over, the next 'un will be Thanksgiving!

County Agent Leroy Hoerman goes to length to urge urban folks (that's town hicks) if we must hunt, be a sport. Ask the man, respect his property, obey game laws, tell owner where and when, don't invite friends without permission, don't fire toward buildings, people or livestock, offer to pay for damages done, and the privilege of hunting, close gates, be courteous. It's the farmer-stockman's business. Just use your donged head! You'd like them to be the same when they visit you in town.

Now, we said all that in much smaller space than the Co-Agt., used, and it's probably as effective.

Somebody suggested this slogan: 'Limate Lyndon'.

"The deaf man sitting in the front pew spied a new man in the pulpit chair.

"Who's that' he asked a fellow worshipper behind him.

"New deacon," was the reply.

"New Dealer, eh? the deaf one scowled.

"No, no," his informer continued. "He's the son of a bishop.

"Yep," said the deaf one nodding, "they all are, they all are."

"Absent-minded sales girl as she killed her boyfriend good night: 'And wil that be all?'"

"For some politicians the paths of glory lead but to the gravy."

"One reason folks get into trouble usually starts out being fun."

You'll find there's nothing like a good, old-fashioned home cooked meal... not in most homes anyway."

go for a first, Rochelle tried and sent Ray Doyle around the end. Doyle ran 65 yards for the touchdown. Gaylon Owe ran for the two point conversion. Rochelle kicked off to Evant. The Elks made three first downs before Rochelle took over on downs. Evant again held the Hornets until fourth down. The Hornets again tried for the first and they scored again on the fourth down. Gaylon Owen scored the touchdown on a 55 yard run around left end. The conversion attempt failed.

In the second quarter, Rochelle scored again on a 28 yard run by Ray Doyle and Owen added the extra points to make the score at half-time, Rochelle 22, Evant 0.

In the third quarter, Rochelle scored once more as the fullback John McDonald scored from eight yards out on a plunge into the line. McDonald also added the extra points to make the final score 30-0. Rochelle has an experienced team. Of the eleven starters, there are eight seniors and three juniors. The Elks starting team consisted of 1 freshman, four sophomores, three juniors and three seniors.

Evant made twelve first downs to eleven for Rochelle. Evant kicked on fourth down once and Rochelle had only two punts, one of which was partially blocked by Larry Hodo. Rochelle was penalized 65 yards and the Elks were penalized 5 yards.

The Elks showed a promising passing attack, completing 9 of 15 passes. Bryan Parrish caught several of the passes, with Ross Coe catching the other two.

The Elk defense was a little weak at the ends but looked good through the middle. Ervin Koerth and Larry Hodo looked good on defense for Evant.

The next game will be on Friday night, September 9 at 6:30. The game will be at Cherokee, and if possible, we would like to see a good crowd of Evant people at the game.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

BY C. WILSON HARDER

Because it is understood by so few people, a few huge enterprises are getting from government a ride on the greatest gravy train yet devised.

Rep. Frank Thomson Jr., Sen. Jos. O'Mahoney, Sen. Russell Long, and many others in Congress are seeking to plug the loophole which enables huge firms with government financed research work from continuing to capture this biggest of all bonanzas.

C. W. Harder trying to capture this biggest of all bonanzas.

In 1959, for example, almost $8 billion, or over 60% of all research expenditure spent by all industry, was federal money, put up by the taxpayers. Of these huge grants, small business received only 5%.

Now these grants were made primarily to develop new developments for use in the nation's defense complex. But the matter of defense has become so entwined with the civilian economy, that out of this research comes a host of non-defense applications.

For example, advances in metallurgy, drugs, plywoods, processed foods, electronics and in many other fields which are now found in consumer goods and services originated in research for defense.

There is perhaps no doubt that the government expenditure of billions for research for new products and methods to meet defense needs in an age of technological warfare is needed. But that is not where the problem exists.

A huge firm, receiving millions or billions from government to carry on research to solve a defense problem, decides that there is also a commercial application to the material or method developed with the taxpayers' money.

The firm then seeks and receives a patent on the commercial application of the material, or process, thus acquiring an asset of incalculable value, all paid for by Uncle Sam.

This is nub of problem.

And it is a particularly grave problem because the Defense Dept., others in a position to hand out these research grants, give 95% of them to a few huge combines. If it were not for the Senate and House Small Business Committees, it is unlikely that even 5% of these huge sums would trickle down to small business.

This situation, then, has opened the road to monopolies undreamed of in the past.

Sen. O'Mahoney has a bill which would correct this situation.

Unfortunately due to highly technical nature of the matter, the issue will be fogged in a lot of obscure language.

Taxpayers are spending billions of dollars to finance a few big firms to develop new products on which these firms then take out a patent and force the public to pay additional millions or billions in the form of patent royalties. In other words, until corrected by Congress, a method has been at last found to have your cake and eat it, too.

TWO MINUTE MYSTERY
THE CASE OF
THE IMPOVERISHED ARTIST

BY DONALD J. SOBOL

The body of Monroe Sheld, an impoverished 60-year-old painter, lay over a table in his sweltering one-room apartment. A bullet had entered his right temple. On his right side, by the leg of his chair, was an old-fashioned, single action revolver.

The table was bare except for a cracked plate, a saucerless cup, knife, fork, and spoon, and an overturned salt shaker.

"Sheld has been peddling his sketches for a dollar or two in the local bars," said Inspector Winters. "His doctor says he was stricken with heart failure two months ago and nearly died. You might say he ate a last meal and committed suicide."

"Correction," said Dr. Haledjian. "There was a bit about him in today's paper. A small but fashionable art gallery announced a one-man showing of his paintings next month. He had everything to live for."

Haledjian opened a small cupboard layered with dust. One plate and cup, and a setting of cheap silverware, however, were quite clean. Next he opened a paper garbage bag and sniffed.

"This food was put in the bag within the past three hours, or about the time of Sheld's death," asserted Haledjian. "Longer than that and it would have begun to spoil and smell in this heat."

Haledjian shut the bag. "I shouldn't close the case quite yet, inspector. Sheld had a dinner guest who tried to cover up his presence here."

WHAT MADE HALEDJIAN SO CERTAIN?

Sheld, having suffered a heart failure, would have washed his dishes carefully. He never would have brought salt to the table unless it was for another's use.

YOU COULD
YOURSELF
A BILLBOARD

Yes, you could paint your advertising message on the biggest billboard in town, but maybe three-fourths of the people who saw it wouldn't even be in the market for what you're selling. Printed advertising is far better because it lets you select the people to whom you're going to advertise and reach each one at low, low cost. Let us help you develop a printed mail advertising campaign at low cost to you.
