FBI Agent Johnson Of Lampasas Ends Career:
Known Here: Of San Saba

Richard L. (Dick) Johnson, San Saba native, has completed 25 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is well known by Gatesville officials and federal offenders.

A law degree at Baylor University in 1933, he practiced law in San Saba and was County Attorney until '37 when he joined the FBI, winding up in New York in '40, where he was a crack-counter-espionage agent, investigating German espionage and sabotage in the New York Port area and helped round up 8 Germans who landed in the USA off German submarines in '42.

Since the end of WW II he has been in Texas and in '51 came to the Ft. Hood area, stationed at Lampasas. He had a role in "House on 92nd street", a movie about counter-espionage activities of the FBI in New York.

He, his wife and daughter live in Lampasas, and his son, Dick, lives in Eastland and is an engineer with the Texas State Highway Department.

For the nation: Traffic 509, boating 63, Drowning 204 and Miscellaneous 148. Total 924. We'll get 1,000 next 'un! laneous accidents.

VITAL PROTECTION!

HOW ABOUT A FAIR SHAKE?

Sooner or later, Congress will have to face up to the need for equitable labor legislation. There's a mighty good reason; the public is gagging over strikes, violence, and other abuses of organized labor's privileged position under the law.

We heartily recommend that Congress protect the public interest by using as a guide these five basic labor relations principles:

1. Individuals should be guaranteed freedom to join or not to join a labor union without intimidation or coercion from any source.
2. Monopoly practices, both by employers and by labor unions, should be prohibited.
3. Collective bargaining serves the best interests of those concerned when conducted when conducted at the local level.

4. The use of force and violence in labor disputes violates individual freedom, and is against the public interest.
5. Government intervention in labor disputes should be restricted to impartial administration of applicable laws.

Independent systems serve more than 10 million of the 65 million telephones in the United States.

BABY SITTING IS A BUSINESS

RECENTLY I published a letter from a 14 year old baby sitter who didn't get paid for her services. Many letters arrived from young and old who also never collected. I hope the following advice will help you all in the future.

Baby sitting is a business and should be regarded as such. Parents usually employ a baby sitter who has been recommended. A sitter by the same token should do the same. The fee and the method of payment should be decided upon in advance. While there is no written agreement, there is a verbal agreement which the employers are morally obligated to fulfill. If they refuse to pay, there is little you can do to force payment. You can, however, spread the word around that they are not reliable which would make it difficult for them to dupe another baby sitter.

Dear Amy:

Maybe you can help me. Here is my problem. My sister, in her late fifties, married a no-good out-of-town man. His suit for divorce was heard April 18, 1960. He has never received a copy of his divorce from his lawyer, but married my sister April 22, 1960, anyway. I took it upon myself to get a copy of the divorce from the County Building and found that the divorce was not signed by the judge until April 27, 1960.

Please, are they legally married? I have been told that a divorce is not final until signed by the judge.

I informed my sister of this and now I am really a wreck as she writes me that I am trying to ruin her marriage. As it is, I am only trying to help her . . . or am I?
H.M.V.

Dear H.M.V.:

Whether you are helping your sister or not is debatable! But a good policy to follow is not to interfere in issues which don't concern you personally. Since laws differ in the states, the legality of their marriage can only be decided upon by a judge.

Dear Amy:

I've got problems. Last year I had an accident and lost three toes. I'm not bad looking or overweight. Lots of boys seem to notice me but I'm afraid if they ever find out about my feet they won't like me. I can't wear high heels and feel funny when I go swimming. Have you any suggestions?

Johnnie

Dear Johnnie:

I have one very good suggestion. That which cannot be changed must be accepted. Realize that your company will not pay for you regardless of your feet. There are few who are not balding in one way or another. Your only defect is in your thinking.

Dear Amy:

I would like to say to the lady who signed herself 'Wondering' that you can't always judge gentlemen friends by their church attendance.

I, too, was fond of an older man who was every inch a gentleman and an ardent churchgoer. I only to find out he had a wife and was not divorced.

Another Wondering

Dear Amy:

I went to the store for a can of milk, a bottle of pop and cough drops. All together, I had 25 cents. I put 25 cents on the pop and 25 cents on the milk and 5 cents on the cough drops and suddenly they get mixed up. The cashier at the store gave me 6 cents for the milk and 8 cents for the pop. When I got home, I found out she had cheated me and I had 13 cents. I went back and told her and she said she gave me 13 cents from the pop and 8 cents from the milk. But I told her she did not give me 13 cents; she only gave me 8.

She has cheated me so many times and all the other little boys and girls. I don't think it is fair to kids. It's not so bad about the 5 cents but it is just the same as cheating.

Last Time Being Cheated

Dear Being Cheated:

To avoid being cheated in the future, count your change when the shopkeeper hands it to you, and be sure it's correct before you leave. Tell all your little friends to do the same.

Weekly Stock Market Round-Up

Prepared by the Investment Research Department of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., 15 Broad Street, New York 5, N. Y. Members of the New York Stock Exchange

RESEARCH REVIEW

Our Research Roundup this week has singled out four stocks which we believe to be particularly attractive. With the exception of Monroe Auto Equipment, which is not listed, these are all rated favorably in our Sentinel Service which is available at any of our branch offices.

Collins and Aikman appears to be on its way to a good year in 1961. For the first fiscal quarter ended May 26 sales were approximately $17 million versus $13.8 million in 1960's first quarter, a gain of about 23%. The company's research and product development program resulted in new products since 1955 that accounted for 40% of sales in the 1960 fiscal year. Acquisitions are being sought and modernization and expansion programs are underway. A dividend rate of $1.20 per share is paid. Earnings might be in the vicinity of $4 a share for the fiscal year to end in February 1962.

Oxford Paper (30) produces "cultural" types of paper products such as magazines, books, brochures and general commercial printing. In the past three years Oxford has been undergoing a vigorous change. A $37 million expansion is scheduled for completion in the latter part of 1961. In the first quarter of this year the company earned 62¢ versus 63¢ in 1960, a respectable showing in view of the recession. Allowing for a better economic climate and for the growing effects of the capital program, one can look for improvement over the $2.26 shown under 1960. We believe the company will eventually regain its earning power of 1955 and 1956 when earnings reached $4.20 and $5.43.

The chemical industry is one industry that should definitely benefit from the overall improvement in the economy. Union Carbide's strength lies in its long established position in the plastic and industrial gases fields, both of which offer significant growth potential. Earnings this year are expected to improve over last year's $5.25 per share total. This issue should appeal to the growth-minded investor interested in the chemical industry.

Although Monroe Auto Equipment Company (25) is still primarily an auto replacement parts manufacturer, it is now expanding to produce shock absorbers for washing machines, for army vehicles, and for railroad equipment. Earnings for 1961 are estimated at $2.00 as compared to $1.44 earned in 1960. Good technical know-how, a rising sales pattern, and a superior position in the replacement parts market lend this equity considerable attraction.

AP Texas Supplemental service
BY JAMES W. ALTGENS
DALLAS, Tex. July 6 (AP) - The spirit of Thomas Edison and the pioneers of radio live again in a cluttered workshop behind a sea of broken-down washing machines at the Clarence Johnson home.

Some of the cherished objects are cylinder rolls for the first Edison phonographs, do-it-yourself radio kits, an inside antenna which looks like a wire coil that exploded, and dozens of ancient speakers. Johnson, 42, a station installer with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., spends his spare time chasing down leads on locations of ancient phonographs and radios and repairing and finishing them until they operate and look like new.

The hobby costs money and Johnson picks up extra cash by repairing washing machines. The machines between his home and shop are either there to be fixed or to be torn up for their parts.

The old phonographs and radio sets are not for sale. Occasionally Johnson will swap one item for another to improve the quality of his collection.

"A good many of my old radio sets were given to me by friends," he said. "They just cleared out the attic or barn and gave them to me."

He added that "tubes for these sets are not made any more and are hard to find. Fortunately I have managed to get tubes for nearly all my sets and keep them in working order."

One of the oldest pieces is an original Edison phonograph produced sometime around 1915. The machine is in good working order, and Johnson has a collection of 38 cylinders for the instrument that grinds out music at 160 rpm. That is 10 times as fast as some modern recording machines.

Johnson also has a large collection of thick, original Edison phonograph discs that play at a speed of 80 rpm. The oldest record in this group was issued in 1916. The title is "Romance", a violin solo by

GATESVILLE HOSPITAL GETS NEW MAGAZINES

Gatesville's Sigma Rho Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority has purchased three year subscriptions to 18 magazines for the mobil library at Coryell Memorial Hospital and a filmstrip-slide projector and daylight screen for the junior high school library.

Funds were raised at a style show and a basketball game sponsored by the sorority.

Arthur Walsh. The flip side is a flute solo, "Mid the Odor of Roses" by Harold L. Lyman. The record jacket, in a burst of salesmanship, notes that the song was composed by a prince of Sweden.

One of his early radios sits on tripod legs and is wrapped in copper wire. It is called a Bearcat No. 4 Crystal Receiver, and was built around 1915 by the Bear Radio Co. of New York. It still works. Four persons can hear at the same time with headphones.

A do-it-yourself radio kit dating back 40 years was a real challenge to radio engineers of that day. One of the features of the set are peepholes so the operator can determine whether the tubes are glowing. An indoor antenna called the "Williams Airloop," is a tall frame around which wire has been rigged. It was designed for apartment use when antennae were a must for the sets of that day.

All the really old radio sets are battery operated. The phonographs are hand-wound except for an old RCA model which was one of the first to use household current.

Johnson has a collection of more than 6000 seventy-eight rpm records, some very old and some new.

Recently he traded a rebuilt washing machine for a 78-rpm jukebox, a real oldster.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

At this point, there is no way of predicting what, if any, tax reform will come out of this session of Congress.

The nationwide membership of the National Federation of Independent Business has brought to the attention of Congress that both major political parties have pledged in their platforms to provide independent business with tax incentives to expand, to improve facilities to compete.

At the present time, it appears that if tax concessions are made in one direction, there must be additional income raised. Thus there is talk of closing loopholes, such as eliminating the first $50 of dividends or interest income as tax free, or making it law that no salesman can spend more than $25 per day for travel expenses, regardless of conditions under which he must operate, or making it federal edict a Christmas gift to a customer or client shall not be over $10.

This probably is not picking in its extreme sense, as the extra taxes realized in this manner would perhaps not finance one day of the foreign give away schemes.

On this subject of more billions down the rathole, Rep. John Dowdy says "If we cannot get enough votes to eliminate the fraudulent foreign aid program, our government ought or at least reduce it."

But Congressman Tom Johnson of Maryland, in discussing the subject, is not after peanuts. He says "The closing of tax loopholes would permit the granting of tax incentives to small business. Small business represents the broad base on which entire economy rests."

His contention is U. S. is losing billions in taxes on more than $30 billion invested by U. S. firms overseas. A leading business publication recently estimated Colgate-Palmolive now gets 53% of its business and 75% of its profit overseas, Standard Oil (N. J.) gets over 50% of its business, 66% of its profits overseas.

It is indeed ironical that recently Hickman Price Jr., assistant secretary of commerce, in a speech, chided American business for trying to compete for world trade with machine tools made before 1946, while practically all machine tools in Europe and Japan were made since 1950. He also announced with pride that he took part in this government's give away programs to build up more efficient foreign production, which he feels has caused the drain of gold from the U. S. It's astounding that it does not get through to him that you cannot tax U. S. business to building up foreign competitors, and expect American business to be able to afford the modernization to compete. It's somewhat like a bookkeeper embezzling the firm's working funds, then accusing the boss of trying to operate on too limited capital.

Former Gatesville Coach Al Langford was here Sunday enroute to the Texas Coaching School.

Leaverton On Taxes

Taxation is complicated, often unfair. Needs and income are vastly different. It is not strange that 181 men find it hard to agree. Many legislators are college graduates; many are successful business men. Some are old and some young. A great many trades and professions are represented. In a large body of men with responsibility and integrity, honest differences are expected.

THE SIZE OF THE JOB is one difficulty, $350 million in new money are needed. I think a majority of the people and the Legislature agree that about that sum is required. Likewise, it is agreed that each of us must pay some of this huge tax. What a tax will produce, who will pay it and the comparative burden create differences. In our capitalistic nation, profits should not become an ugly word. Profits bring growth, progress, high standards of TAXES. "We can't keep our cake and eat it too" Industry must profit. But we can't tax unduly those who must pay from the table. To draw the line fairly is no little problem.

DIFFERENT TAX PHILOSOPHY is held by the varied segments of society. The most generally accepted broad based tax is the Sales Tax. It is disproportionate on the low bracket. Representatives from low bracket areas understandably oppose it. They contend that taxes should be in accord with benefits received in accord with ability to pay, that the selective tax plan has worked well so far; that Texas has grown fast in population and production comparatively. Opponents say we have reached the end of productive selective taxes

VIEWS and NEWS

Dear Friends:

This week the House passed 2 bills which I think illustrate the basis of much of the criticism of our financial operations. These bills were the measure increasing the federal debt limit and the annual Military Appropriation Bill. The bills were passed in this order because to pass the appropriation bill without passing the debt limit bill would have been a rather meaningless thing. The appropriation bill involves $42,900,000,000. This is $2.1 billion that have any degree of fairness; that the upper bracket and industry are paying beyond their share now, and that if Texas is to continue or improve, taxes must be more broadly based; that present taxes should be considered in the proposal; and that a sales tax will do the job and tend to balance the burden.

It is clear that a compromise is necessary. The House is about evenly divided and each side thought its proposition would prevail—even to the last vote, but concessions were made from each group though not quite enough. Perhaps, since all now know about what can be passed without a veto, more concessions will be made and the tax bill will be history. Next week your representative will try to give his present views.

Respectfully,
H. A. Leaverton,
State Representative

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

DO YOU HAVE TIME TO PRAY?

How do you spend your time?
Have you ever tried to estimate the different amounts of time you spend for things? It might surprise you. It might do even more — it might start new habits.

A Swiss gentleman reviewed his 80 years on earth and arrived at some startling statistics. He had spent 26 years in bed and 21 years working. Eating had consumed six years. He figured that he had fretted away five years waiting for tardy people.

How much time do you give to any thought of God or action for His kingdom? How much time do you spend in prayer?
Prayer is an appetite which needs to be developed. The muscles of prayer need to be strengthened by disciplined exercise.

You can know the power of prayer in your life. Successful prayer is success itself. It is the key to many gifts God has for you. An earnest prayer can bring a person's life into a new and true adjustment to God.

You should pray always—in all circumstances. Pray for understanding—understanding of yourself, your neighbor and your country. Only then will you be able to understand the world.
Only then can we have world peace. Pray when you are discouraged. God will put a song of joy in your heart. Pray when sickness comes. "The prayer of faith shall save the sick" (James 5:15). Pray when you are lonely or fearful. God never fails His people. Though we often stumble and fall on life's journey, God is by our side, ready to forgive and help us.

Pray for others — your friends, your enemies. You cannot pray with hands clenched or grasping.
Pray with open hands—friendly, sharing, helping. If you pray, it is because you love. If you love, you will pray.

Prayer is also thanksgiving to God. It is a delight to the heart of God. Thank Him for your food, your clothes, your home.
These are all gifts from God.
The flowers do not just happen to bloom in the spring, and the goodness which comes your way is not just luck. Enjoy the beauty around you and take time to express your thanks to your loving Father.

A famous football coach once rebuked an overconfident player who had said that their team would win because it had "the will to win."

"Don't fool yourself," the coach said. "The will to win is not worth a nickel unless you have the will to prepare."

That applies to Christian living as well as to other things.
You must have the will to prepare for each day, to prepare for the problems and trials you will meet. It is easy to talk in big terms about devotion to God.
The will to prepare is the true test. Prepare for your future — you go!
