WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

"In spite of expanded volume of sales, our profit margin is lower than last year," complains a Western wholesale-retail merchant. He blames price rises in supplies, wage increases, and time-lost computing social security and Medicare. "Much of the money wasted by the Federal Government in retraining and poverty programs could be put to better use by states or communities developing apprentice and on-the-job training programs," he advises.

A druggist in New York State objects to "Federal Government and State meddling in private business, and the many tax collections requiring the time and energy of the proprietor, which loss in not reimbursed by government. But if taxes are overdue, they won't hesitate to prosecute." His conclusion is that "the Government should operate on the economy principles of business."

An Eastern Electronics Company President repeats the familiar gripe: "The Government should relieve or reimburse the businessman for the extra book work necessary to collect taxes. I work all day, and then must labor two nights a week on taxes, social security, withholding, unemployment, workmens compensation, health and accident, and labor reports."

It appears that what amounts to a penalty is exacted by governmental powers from men who are enterprising enough to be in business for themselves.

Discouragement is the mood projected by the very people who should be encouraged—the employers of the nation.

A Michigan hardware dealer outlines his unique problems: "We are forced to carry more inventory since we are so far from suppliers. Customers demand more and better service from small independents, especially during seasonal rush periods. Manufacturers are increasing costs to us, and reducing retail prices. Where can we go if this continues? Small business is the mainstay of small communities and should be increased. Longer loan periods are needed for capital improvements. Inventory taxes are a burden on a high inventory business like hardware, especially when profits are not in proportion to sales. General hardware stores in small towns require six months to one year to train help, as we can't afford to hire a salesman for each department. The Government is peeling profits from small business with discriminatory taxing, and taxes levied by states are often the harshest."

A California printer protests "Government interference and taxes which are bleeding business white. Regulatory bodies don't seem to recognize the need for efficiency in business, nor realize the problems of competition."

The prolific U.S. should be a country of modest taxation, and might be, if it were not for the shameful waste: domestic as well as foreign fiascos, and constant political manipulations and deals. Is America, with its world record of productivity and highest standard of living trampling its own free enterprise and descending to an economically controlled state?"

Celebrate National Raisin Week

Definitely party fare, present this curried dish during National Raisin Week, April 23 to 29. It's fun to serve with condiments or "boys" of dark or golden raisins, pineapple tidbits, chutney, green onions, coconut and almonds.

Raisins and curry are the favorite sugar and spice combination of India. Here they go in a maharajah's version of beef stew, simmered slowly with vegetables and brightly flavored at the end with California seedless raisins and curry. To fit a busy schedule, make the curry ahead — it reheats beautifully.

RAISIN BEEF CURRY

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1 1/2 pounds lean beef stew | 5 tablespoons flour |
| 3 cups boiling water | 1 teaspoon curry powder |
| 1/2 teaspoons salt | 1/2 cup California seedless raisins |
| 1/2 cup chopped onion | Hot cooked rice |
| 1 cup sliced celery | Condiments |
| 4 tablespoons butter | |

Cook beef in boiling water with salt 1 1/2 to 2 hours, until tender. Cook onion and celery in butter slowly 10 minutes. Blend in flour and curry powder. Add 2 1/2 cups broth from meat (add water if necessary to make this amount) and raisins. Cook, stirring until thickened. Cut meat into bite-sized chunks, add to sauce and heat thoroughly. Serve on hot cooked rice with condiments such as dark or golden raisins, pineapple tidbits, chutney, sliced green onions, bacon bits, flaked coconut, and slivered almonds. Makes 5 servings.

This Spring a sight to behold at the Trade Shows were the umbrellas. Lacquer Red, Poetic White, Hot Pink, Bedouin Stripes — in shapes that ranged from bell to pagoda to tiny flat discs like Japanese sunshades. They were fringed tasselled, fluted, scalloped, ruffled, till a man from Mars would assume that umbrellas are carried by ladies only for decoration, and chosen by the dozen to dramatize their size, heighth, coloring, personality or perhaps to be focal points for their many wardrobes.

Yet the first umbrellas, we understand, were sported by men, almost three thousand years ago.

Africa is the second largest continent in the world.

And the King of Siam, part of whose title was "Master of the White Elephants and Monarch of the Twenty-Four Umbrellas" outdid all the rest of the menfolk — for his favorite umbrella had no less than seven superimposed surfaces, each two feet above the other. (One wonders just why they called him "Master of the White Elephant"). Throughout the Far East men used their imagination in designing umbrellas, resulting in decidedly queer shapes and sizes that appear very odd to us today.

Old Anglo-Saxon chronicles and ballads mention umbrellas but few citizens actually owned one, and certainly not the gay, imaginative and ornamental contraptions that the Siamese men carried about. Even in later Europe, where it was a custom among nobility to have a servant follow close to the heels of his master with an umbrella during a downpour, to shield his perwig and satin coat, the umbrella was never more than utilitarian.

It wasn't until the reign of Queen Anne, when noblemen took to gadding around on foot, that women made the umbrella part of their wardrobe, and it began evolving toward its present role of glamorous guardian of female splendor. If present trends continue, it won't be long before fashion conscious women, aided by the technology of color and fabric, will have usurped the title of the ancient Siamese king, and become "mistress of the twenty-four umbrellas" — but not a single white elephant among them.

J.P. WORD

YEARLY BUDGET — Governor John Connally appeared before a joint session of the Legislature and called for the adoption of an appropriation bill for the first year of the biennium. Up to now, the financing of the State has been budgeted for a two year period at each Legislative session.

The other half of the Governor's fiscal proposal was to call a special session next year to provide a budget for the second half of the 1968-69 biennium. This special session will cost about 2 million dollars for the expected 30-day period that it will require to draft a tax bill as well as a new appropriation bill at that time.

While the governor's proposal has its merits, it also creates a lot of problems. The Senate Finance Subcommittee, consisting of Senators A. M. Akin Jr., Bruce Reayan, Charles Herring, Dorsey Hardeman, and myself, spent close to 600 hours of study and work in writing our two-year appropriation bill and now we have to start all over. We have already started back to work on the new bill to see if we can meet the governor's recommendation for a one-year budget. With only 30 days left in this session, we have our work cut out for us to get the new bill completed and approved by the rest of the legislators.

I am not opposed to annual sessions and I believe that the yearly budget will provide some degree of flexibility for unforeseen developments, but it may cause some problems and confusion during this last month of the session.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS — The bill, which I sponsored in the Senate, to remove entirely from community property laws any discrimination against women, was passed in the House last week. Members of the House added seven amendments to the original bill, but they do not change the basic provisions of the bill and the Senate will probably concur in the amendments to the bill this week.

The outdoor life. Any indoor man will tell you how great it is. But only an outdoor man can tell you what it does to human skin.

Constant sun dries skin out. Leathers it. Burns it over and over again. And that can be dangerous.

If you are out in the sun a lot (or even if you're not), check into any sore that does not heal. Promptly. It could be a warning signal of cancer. And cancer is easier to cure when it's detected early.

Lorne Greene knows the seven warning signals of cancer. So should you:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Final approval was received from USDA officials of state and national level and ASCS has contracted with Ollie Little to build the building. ASCS will lease from Little and SCS and FHA will sublease from ASCS. Little submitted the lowest bid of 6 received, and work began Monday, and will be completed in July. County Commissioners Court has been invited to locate the County Agent and H-D Agent in the building under a sub-lease agreement but they, it is expected, will remain in the courthouse.

AMATEUR RULE EXPLANATION OFFERED TO AID ATHLETES

School administrators and coaches should, during the next month, have group meetings of all prospective athletes and explain to them carefully the League's Amateur Rule, Article VIII, Section 8, so that no student may forfeit his eligibility or cause a to be deprived of honors through violation of this rule.

The Amateur Rule is violated when any pupil receives cash or valuable considerations for teaching, officiating or participating in any athletic sport, or game, or who in any game, outside of games played as a member of his school team or the League, has competed on an athletic team with a paid player or for valuable consideration has allowed his name to be used for the promotion of any product, plan or service.

The following activities are considered athletic sports or games: baseball, basketball, bowling, boxing, football, golf, rodeo events, softball, swimming and diving, weight lifting and wrestling.

May Be Under 15

This rule does not apply to pupils who were under 15 years of age at the time payment for athletic services was made. A pupil adjudged by an appropriate committee to be in violation of this rule is ineligible for one year from the time of violation.

It should be noted that a boy may play against a paid player, but he may not play on the same team with a paid player.

The acceptance of cash or valuable consideration by someone else for the boy is an evasion of the Amateur Rule, and should be interpreted the same as if the boy received these items. Acceptance of golf balls, bags, clubs, etc., and the playing on any golf team with a paid player is in violation of the rule.

Letter of Intent

The signing of a letter of intent for athletic ability is in violation of this rule. The signing of a pre-enrollment application is not in violation of this rule.

Violation of the Amateur Rule results not from participating in a rodeo event, but from accepting cash or valuable consideration. In other words, a pupil may enter a rodeo contest as an individual entry and win the event without violating the Amateur Rule, but if he accepts cash or valuable consideration, he is in violation of this rule.

Baseball Conditions

A boy may participate in summer baseball under the following conditions and not violate the League's Amateur Rule:

(1) He may not play on the same team with any paid player or any player who received valuable consideration. He can play against other teams which may have paid players.

(2) He cannot receive any expense money of any trip for travel, meals or lodging. Any expense money must be handled by the manager of the team in the same way that the high school coach would handle the funds, and the boy must never receive any cash or transportation tickets.

(3) Any money that may accrue from the gate receipts or from any other source cannot be dis-

What To Do In a Tornado

● People in open country can view the approach of a tornado and move at right angles to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

● In towns or cities, seek shelter inside, preferably in a substantial building. Stay away from windows.

● The southwest corner of the basement of a frame house is safer than in a brick or stone house. If there is no basement, lie down on the first floor under a table or bed (preferably in the southwest corner).

● Urban schools: Stay inside, away from windows; remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.

● Rural schools of frame construction: Teachers should remove children to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

LIFE STRUGGLE—Four year-old Paul Cyr is fighting a valiant struggle against a rare disease for which there is no known cure and no treatment. Paul is one of less than 200 cases of the disease ever known to have occurred in the United States. The disease, Gaucher's disease, itself is not fatal, but it weakens the body so that he is susceptible to other diseases. Friends of the parents of the little boy, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cyr of Mesquite have set up a fund to help meet the heavy medical debts (AP Wirephoto).
