MEMORIAL DAY TRAFFIC TOLL SETS RECORD WITH 608 DEAD

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 608 persons in the nation during the long Memorial Day holiday weekend, a record for the holiday. The four-day toll compared with 560 traffic deaths during a nonholiday period of identical length two weeks ago.

Despite its record-shattering proportion, the holiday toll this year remains well below the 650 to 750 deaths which the National Safety Council estimated in advance might occur in the 102-hour period. The previous high for a Memorial Day week end was 542, set during a three-day period last year.

A survey by the Associated Press during the four-day non-holiday period of May 12-16 showed 560 persons killed in traffic mishaps. The survey was made for comparison with the Memorial Day holiday toll.

The high traffic toll for any holiday period is 784, set during the four-day Thanksgiving period last year. The lowest four-day Memorial Day toll is 159 in 1946.

In addition to traffic fatalities during this year's Memorial Day week end, there were 106 deaths by drowning and 36 in boating accidents.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Desire of independent proprietors for remedial legislation to give both the Senate and House Small Business Committees authority to report legislation directly to the floor is evidenced in a just-tabulated poll by the National Federation of Independent Business.

... about maintaining large inventories, at tax time, to avoid the inventory tax. To their detriment, proprietors are decreasing stock during this first taxable yearly quarter, and business is slowed down, according to the survey.

Creation of new jobs by the nation's independent enterprises appears to be dropping off, according to the initial returns to a nationwide 1967 survey by the National Federation of Independent Business.

A subcommittee of the House on Post Office and Civil Service requested the National Federation of Independent Business to conduct a survey to ascertain the amount of paperwork independent businessmen are subjected to by Federal and local government. Results indicated it was costing proprietors approximately $1,750,000 per year. The average time required for filling out forms for Federal reports was found to be 33 minutes per month per employee, and 24 minutes per month per employee for state forms.

Fifty-eight per cent of the nation's independent business proprietors advocate provision of legal redress to franchise holders whose suppliers unjustly cancel their exclusive marketing agreement. Backing of the "Good Faith Bill" was reported after a nationwide Federation vote.

Failure of Congress to pass the "plowback" allowance has created layoffs in auto plants, appliance factories, and in other wholly consumer industries.

As population continues to explode and expand westward, an overwhelming tax burden will be loaded upon a few private property owners, since the tax-immune Federal Government owns from 30 to 90 per cent of the Western land.

The general opinion of independent enterprise is that government agencies in charge of antitrust enforcement pursue irrelevant issues rather than solve pressing problems of monopoly, mergers, unfair trade practices, and other violations.

As state and local taxes have skyrocketed, business firms have become increasingly cau-

Small proprietors favor measures for more honest enforcement of existing laws prohibiting price discrimination, and establishing equal purchasing opportunities among all buyers.

NATIONAL FEDERATION OF INDEPENDENT BUSINESS, INC. REELECTS G. E. CLARKE SR.

District Manager Victor H. Russell of the National Federation of Independent Business announces the re-appointment of G. E. Clarke Sr. of City Drug Store, Gatesville as Chairman of the Coryell County chapter.

man W. R. Poage at Washington, D. C., and to Governor John B. Connally.

The Federation is a 50-state non-profit organization with the largest individual membership of any business organization in the nation creating a close working relationship between independent business at the grass roots and members of Congress.

Through this vote on issues of paramount interest to the small businessman, the Federation position is stated, the majority vote being the determining factor.

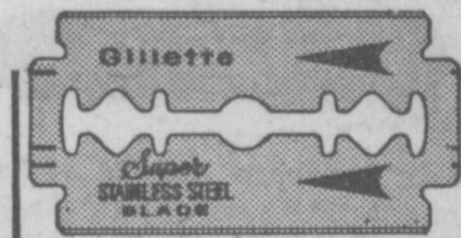

A voting privilege is given to each business and professional member of the Federation, whose opinion is polled by ballots regularly on bills and issues affecting independent enterprise at national and state levels.

The National Federation of Independent Business is non-partisan, not affiliated, nor a duplication of any other organization.

Votes are tabulated by G. E. Clarke Sr., who serves on a voluntary basis, and are forwarded with signed ballots to Congress.

Because Congress and government officials know that Federation information is a valid, unbiased expression of opinion, many of the most vital domestic laws have been passed, following balloting by the Federation.

What To Do In a Tornado

- People in open country can view the approach of a tornado and move at right angles to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.
- In towns or cities, seek shelter inside, preferably in a substantial building. Stay away from windows.
- The southwest corner of the basement of a frame house is safer than in a brick or stone house. If there is no basement, lie down on the first floor under a table or bed (preferably in the southwest corner).
- Urban schools: Stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.
- Rural schools of frame construction: Teachers should remove children to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

ATOMIC FUSION RESEARCH

seeking the key that may unlock a new source of electric power for the future

Recognizing that the time will come when new fuels will be needed to generate a vastly greater supply of electric power, Community Public Service joined with nine other Texas Investor-owned electric utility companies ten years ago in sponsoring an atomic fusion research program.

Although researchers are far from solving difficult basic problems in the fusion process and its application to the production of electric power, the long-range program is progressing, and is currently being conducted in laboratories at the University of Texas.

For the past seven years, the program has contributed to the education of several thousand high school science students — many from the area served by Community Public Service Company — by providing nuclear science symposiums. At these meetings, science-minded boys and girls not only are exposed to the knowledge being acquired by this research, but also have the opportunity to meet and talk with some of the world's foremost scientists.

The program's educational functions are an important by-product of the continuing long-range effort to develop direct generation of electric power through the controlled atomic fusion process.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION MEETING

In obedience to an order of the Board of Equalization, regularly convened and sitting, notice is

OPEN MEETINGS MANDATORY BY GOVERNMENTAL BODIES

Gov. John Connally, on May 22, signed into law an "Open Meetings" bill which he proclaimed as "a great step forward for the people of Texas." He was referring to Senate Bill 94 sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena. Similar legislation was introduced in the House by Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville.

Passage of the "Open Meetings" legislation at the 1967 session culminated a drive that began some 20 years ago. It was engineered by legislators and the press to insure a better flow of information to the public.

At the bill signing ceremony, Governor Connally made this statement regarding the importance of the legislation: "Senate Bill 94, commonly known as the open meetings bill, provides basically that all meetings of boards, agencies and commissions shall be open meetings, open to the press. This is something that the working press in the capitol and the press throughout the state have been interested in for a long, long time. I think it's an historic and significant bill and a significant day.

"Certainly there's never been any desire, as far as I know, on the part of anyone who serves on a board or an agency or commission to transact its business under the cloak of secrecy. But, nevertheless, the meetings have, from time to time, been closed."

Connally added: "This bill will now end that and provide that all the meetings shall be open to the press. It's a great step forward in trying to provide a means where the public can be more informed with respect to governmental affairs and public affairs.

"Beyond any question, one of the weaknesses of a democratic society is that it's always difficult to try to articulate and to inform the public of the problems that surround the administration of government. I personally feel that if the public is informed, if it has the knowledge, people themselves will always make the right decisions. And this is going to be a step in providing the means where people can be better informed on the workings of their government."

Governor Connally further stated: "This is particularly important because the affairs of this state are run by the various agencies, boards and commissions. People generally do not quite understand the significance of these various boards, agencies and commissions and the work that they do and the decisions they make. It is really the heart and the essence of government in Texas.

"So I want to applaud the efforts of the press itself to bring into the light and to the awareness of the Legislature the need for this type of legislation. I want to commend the members of the Legislature who supported it and congratulate the people of Texas that they now can be better informed on their own affairs."

Excepted in the bill, so far as open meetings are concerned, are grand juries and certain executive sessions supported by or expending public funds. The law also excepts meetings called to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against such persons, unless the individual concerned requests a public hearing.

Similar legislation was introduced by the Texas Press Association some 20 years ago. This year it had the backing not only of TPA but also the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Sigma Delta Chi journalistic fraternity, plus the support of radio and television media.

Co-sponsors of the new law, in addition to Senator Brooks, were the following Senators: Joe Christie of El Paso; Barbara Jordan of Houston; Criss Cole of Houston; Henry C. Grover of Houston; A. R. Schwartz of Galveston; and Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

Joining Representative Rapp in escorting the bill through the House were Representatives Russell Cummings and Paul Floyd, both of Houston.

hereby given that said Board of Equalization will be in session at its regular meeting place in the Courthouse in the town of Gatesville Coryell County, Texas, at 9 o'clock A. ## TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

AN ERROR THAT GAVE US THE MODERN MICROSCOPE

Sometimes the mistakes made in scientific research lead to more amazing results than the successes. The fact that we now have microscopes that magnify objects 200,000 times is the chance result of a scientific error, which showed the way to use an electron beam in microscopy.

The first microscope was invented by a Dutchman named Leeuwenhoek. His instruments startled the scientific world of his day. For the first time, men could examine in some detail the structure of a snowflake, a flea's leg, or a grain of oats.

During 150 years, many improvements were made in the microscope. About 80 years ago, instruments with a power of about 1000 were constructed. Then it was discovered that the limits of power had been reached, unless some new medium with a wave length shorter than that of ordinary light could be used.

The next step was the adaptation of the microscope to the use of ultra-violet light. By this means, instruments with a magnification of 2500 diameters were developed. But again the limits had been reached, still a almost negligible compared to present standards.

In 1924, a French scientist, Louis DeBroglie, discovered that a stream of electrons, such as constitute an electric current, emits a wave whose length is less than 1/100,000th that of light. If that wave could be used in microscopy, the possibilities were amazing. But there was one great difficulty: no one knew how to direct a beam of electron waves.

At this point in the history of science, there happened one of those small things that sometimes lead to important and unforeseen results. A German physicist, Dr. Busch, was performing an unrelated experiment in electronics. A persistent error occurred repeatedly. Attempting to calculate that error, he discovered by chance that electrons passing through a certain type of magnetic field behaved exactly like light passing thru a lens.

This unforeseen discovery was applied to microscopy, and we now have the electron microscope; an instrument so powerful that a grasshopper would appear to be 3 miles long. For the service of men, these modern instruments are aiding the progress of biology, medicine, physics, and many other fields of knowledge.

HONOLULU — Captain Donald L. Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Koch of 520 E. Eighth St., Gonzad, Neb., has helped his U. S. Air Force C-124 Globemaster Squadron write a chapter in the history of flying safety.

Captain Koch is a pilot with the 50th Military Airlift Squadron at Hickman AFB, Hawaii, that recently logged its 300,000th hour of accident-free flying. The captain, who has 4,500 hours of flying time is also a member of the standardization board that monitors and evaluates procedural efficiency of all other crews in his organization.

His squadron took second place in Air Force records with its 11-year achievement and also enabled its parent unit, the 61st Military Airlift Wing, to attain an unprecedented 710,000 hours of safe flying since 1956.

Captain Koch and his fellow airmen never know where their jobs will take them in the Military Airlift Command's global airlift system. They may be assigned a humanitarian mission of flying fresh foods to disaster victims or have a vital support role in the Vietnam war by delivering munitions. The safe flying ability of 50th aircrews has been tested on many unusual airlifts, ranging from evacuation of refugees from the Congo to resupply missions on primitive landing strips in Southeast Asia.

The captain, a graduate of Cozad High School, received a B. S. degree in 1960 from Tulane University, New Orleans, and was commissioned there upon completion of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Mrs. Edna Teinert of Copperas Cove.

FT. LEE, VA. (AHTNC)—Army Chief Warrant Officer Duane G. Parsons, son of George W. Parsons, Star Rt. 1, Clifton, completed a commissary operations course at the Army Quartermaster School at Ft. Lee, Va., May 12.

During the seven-week course, WO Parsons was trained in management, merchandising, account-commissary store-ing and the general. WO Parsons entered the Army in January 1949 and was last stationed in Korea. He competed high school education in 1954 through the General Education Development Test.

His wife, Rosa, lives at 708 S. 15th St., Copperas Cove.

(JO464) PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (FIITNC) May 15—Marine Private Linda L. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. King of 114 N. 26th St., Gatesville, has completed eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Parris Island is the only training base for recruit Women Marines. Her training included drill, first aid, personal standards, courtesy, customs of the Marine Corps, military discipline, and other general military subjects.

In addition, she received instruction in administrative subjects, including typing, business English, spelling, filing and correspondence practices.
