COMMITTEE APPROVES TELEPHONE BANK BILL

The House Committee on Agriculture has approved by a 23 to 5 vote, H. R. 12066 by Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, establishing a bank to provide new supplemental financing, from private as well as federal sources, for rural telephone systems.

The Rural Telephone Bank is intended primarily to bring funds from the private money market into the rural telephone program to augment the present Rural Electrification Administration (REA) two percent loan money.

Mr. Poage introduced the Telephone Bank bill on August 2 after the House Rules Committee rejected H. R. 10190 which was intended to create a Rural Electric Bank along with the Telephone Bank. The Committee on Agriculture previously had approved H. R. 10190.

Following the action, the Chairman said:

"There is broad support for the Telephone Bank, whereas the idea of an Electric Bank is highly controversial. The Rules Committee refused to clear the earlier legislation, including both banks, when concerted opposition developed to the compromise version of the electric provisions by both the private utility and the cooperative segments of the electric industry. The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association supported the original version of the Electric Bank, but would not support the compromise we developed in our Committee after months of consideration."

Under H. R. 12066, which now goes to the House for action, the financial structure of the Telephone Bank would include (1) capital subscribed by the United States which ultimately would be replaced, just as it has been in the Land Banks, by capital paid in by each borrower (5 percent of each loan), (2) capital subscribed by borrowers and their members as investments, and (3) funds received from the sale of debentures in the private money market to an amount not to exceed eight times the capital subscribed by the Government.

The United States would furnish capital to the Telephone Bank at a rate of $30 million annually from repayments on outstanding rural telephone loans, with the total reached $300 million. The bank would pay two percent interest on the money provided by the Government.

TWO OIL COMPANIES IN JOINT EXPLORATORY VENTURE

Since 1965, a prominent Houston-based oil company and Lone Star Gas Company have been splitting costs in an exploratory joint venture in the Smackover Trend of East Texas. Results have been impressive.

Tidewater Oil Company and Lone Star Producing Company, a subsidiary of Lone Star Gas Company, have been cooperating in programs of well support, exploratory drilling, purchase of acreage and seismic work in a 7,200 square mile crescent from Robertson County north and east to Bowie and Cass Counties and the Arkansas line.

To date, Lone Star's participation has included expenditures designed to match funds already invested by Tidewater in researching and testing the area. For its investment, each of the companies has the option to participate in all projects developed by the other company.

In wildcat projects the team has had four at-bats and currently is sporting a .500 average with hits in the Smackover and Travis Peak. The original probe, Tidewater-Lone Star Number 1 Bryant located about two miles southeast of Streetman in Freestone County, went to the Rodessa but blew out and destroyed the rig. An offset to the Smackover was completed as a sulphur-gas-condensate well at a depth of 11,700 feet. An additional offset development is underway to the Smackover and two future probes of the Smackover are planned.

A second wildcat showed Pettit and Travis Peak pay and an offset development was completed as a gas well in the Travis Peak at a depth of 7,100 feet. A third development well is underway.

In addition to its own program, the two-company combine has supported six exploratory wells with either money or an acreage contribution. Three of these ventures have resulted in discoveries.

"Results have been encouraging and future prospects for the joint venture look promising," according to S. D. Liles, Lone Star's Exploration and Gas Supply president.

INSURANCE POLICIES

PROVIDE GOOD READING

Read any good insurance policies lately? Read over your policy periodically. The reason is that life insurance or health insurance programs that were adequate last year may be outdated this year. Family circumstances change, and costs of living continue upward.

Changes in family circumstances to consider are a new baby in the family, or a child who has reached age 18. Many group health insurance plans list 18 as cut off age of coverage. And you want to be sure the new addition to the family is covered by your group policy.

Other changes to consider are college education looming ahead

McLENNAN ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. ANNUAL MEETING

Manager F. C. Luedtke and staff invite all members and friends to attend the 27th annual membership meeting of the McLennan Electric Cooperative at the McGregor High School Football Field, Tuesday night, Sept. 26 at 7:00 p. m. In the event of bad weather the meeting will be held in the school gymnasium.

Mr. Gene Linn, a respected and widely-heard radio and television farm and ranch personality, and agri-business public relations man and columnist for a major farm magazine, will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Linn is a professional speaker and writer overflowing with wit and humor and a genuine belief in the future of farming.

The manager's report, election of directors, and distribution of a large number of attendance prizes will be the order of business for the evening. Four certificates valued at $50.00 each for the purchase of any electrical appliance, as well as an electric blender, electric blankets, skillets, heaters, can openers, hand mixers, percolators, oven toasters, and kitchen clocks will go to the members whose names are drawn. Members must be present to be eligible.

The McLennan Electric Cooperative, Inc. serves more than 3,300 customers in parts of six counties, McLennan, Bosque, Falls, Bell, Coryell and Hamilton Counties.

It is hoped that the attendance at this meeting will be the largest in the history of the Cooperative.

for the children or retirement which may be just around the corner.

All of these situations need planning and preparation. Your life insurance program like your savings and investment programs play a vital role in helping meet the changing situations.

The Health Insurance Institute advises looking over health insurance policies at least once a year. Hospital and medical costs have mounted steadily, and an old benefit schedule may not meet enough of the costs.

New types of health insurance programs are offered with new coverages. Check your old policies before taking out new ones to avoid paying for the same coverage twice. With proper planning your premium dollars can give broader coverage.

Students Plan For Coming Workshop

A committee of nine students and three adult leaders met Friday, Sept. 15 to discuss plans for the "Coryell County Youth Wants to Know", a workshop to be held Oct. 23 and Nov. 20.

The topics to be discussed this year are "The Cost of a College Education, Scholarships, Fellowships, and Loans" and "The Requirements for College, Involving Liberal Arts, Engineering, Agriculture and Vocational Training." All interested Gatesville High School students and students from other schools in the county are urged to attend these discussion sessions.

Don Callahan, County Agent, Grace Chandler, Home Demonstration Agent, and Mrs. Eva Bates, GHS counselor, explained to the nine students the purpose of the program to inform high school students about the cost and requirements of college today.

The chairman of the committee is Doyce Wright, who represents the student council. The other committee members are Douglas Atchley, Terry King, Harmon Rogers, and Margaret Rogers, representing the 4-H Club, Jerry Ashby, and Paula Bromser representing the Freedoms Council, Patsy Graham representing the student body, and Janis Daniel representing the student council. These students have the job of informing the student body when and where the program will be held, of explaining its purposes, and of finding out what topics of discussion the students enjoy most.

MRS. BATES SPEAKS TO CLASSES

Mrs. Eva Bates, the GHS counselor, talked this week to various individual classes about their plans for now and after school. Mrs. Bates discussed the seniors Metropolitan test scores with them and informed them about the college entrance requirements. When to take entrance tests, when to make room deposits, applications, and transcripts to colleges were other topics discussed. Mrs. Bates urged all students to write the colleges they plan to attend and ask about the scholarships offered by these colleges. The students not planning to attend college were given information about technical colleges. Mrs. Bates explained that this year's "Who's Who" basic requirement is a 90 in every subject for the first semester.

The juniors received their scores on the DAT tests. Information about when to take the National Merit Scholarship tests was also given and the importance of juniors starting work for a scholarship this year was emphasized.

The sophomores were urged to plan their courses and decide what they are planning to do and then work for it for the next three years. Also, they received their scores from the Academic Progress tests.

The freshmen discussed a film which they saw last week. The film was about school adjustments and getting what one wants out of school. Mrs. Bates urged that the time to work is now.

PEP RALLY SPURS HORNET SPIRIT

Friday, Sept. 15, anyone entering the GHS gym couldn't help but get caught up in the Hornet Spirit that prevailed. Ready to face the Brown and Lions, the student body let out full force as the cheerleaders Cherry Tatum, Jackie Fry, Carla Pfeffer, Debbie Dyer, and Debbie Hairston, led in several yells. The GHS majorettes then did a twirling routine to the music "Brazilia."

The cheerleaders led more yells and Jimmy Ferguson was asked to make the speech. Finally the student body sang the Alma Mater as the band played "Hot Time."

GHS NEWZETTES

Mr. George Gideon of the Delmar Studios in Temple was at GHS Tuesday and Wednesday taking 1967-68 school pictures. On Tuesday the class pictures were taken. The senior cap and gown pictures were taken Wednesday.

The Future Farmers of America held their first monthly meeting Thursday, Sept. 21. The chapter set up its year program of work and discussed coming activities.

Last week all of the GHS seniors handed in a sheet of paper with their full names on it for the diploma list. The spelling is now being double checked for accuracy.

The GHS band performed at the Brownwood game last Friday night, the half-time show was under the direction of the new GHS band director, Mr. Joel Lamkin. Mr. Lamkin, who holds a M. Ed. from Baylor University, was previously employed as Baylor's assistant band director.
