

Hornets Began Preparation For Football Foes

The Hornet footballers are at it again. Monday, August 19, the organized pre-season workouts began in earnest. Contact, groans, shouts of directions and encouragement rang out across the Hornet practice field.

The coaches will be watching for potential top performers from the group of approximately 90 hopefuls.

Many of the players have had varsity experience and some B team experience. The idea is to excel at a position and receive recognition.

Coaches Gunlock, Bell, Bishop and Wetzel will select the top twenty-five boys to make up the varsity line-up.

Top performances will be demanded from returning lettermen such as Reggie Schoenewolf, Raymond Cole, Mike Gaston, Larry McCutchen, Wayne Shirley, Steve Braziel, Gary Carothers and James Ingram and Randy Schoenewolf.

These nine boys set the stage with good muscle for blocking and power up the middle, good pass receiving with Larry McCutchen, Reggie Schoenewolf and Raymond Cole.

The Hornets of 1968 look to have the balance and exceptional talent of a championship team.

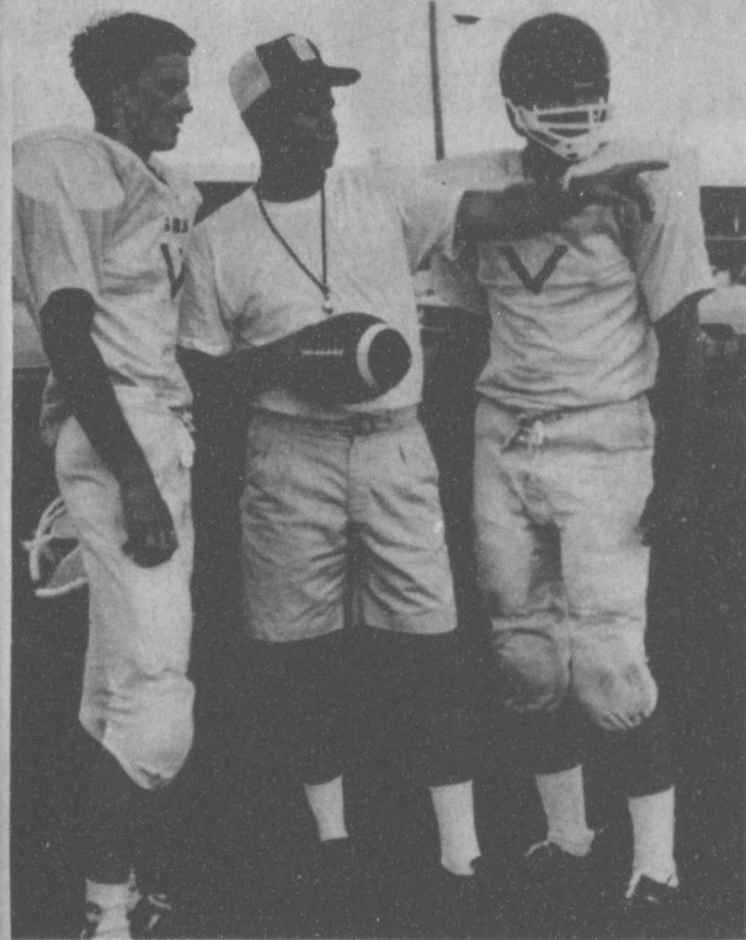

Of course, it will take added talent from last year's B team and any other source of talent that GHS coaches can find. New names come on the scene each year and this season will be no different. Chris Bone, Douglas Freeman and Buddy Wiggins could find a home in the Hornet Huddle.

Contact

Passer, Larry McCutchen, attempts routine pass in Monday's beginning workout. The young athletes worked into the contact drills slowly, but all was eager to get down to work.

LOCAL YOUTHS RECEIVE $150 FINES OVER WEEKEND

Sheriff Windy Cummings picked up four local youths Saturday morning, following a night of mail box destruction. The youths were involved in the destruction of an estimated seven Federal Mail Boxes on FM 116 about five miles Southwest of Gatesville, about 1:40 a.m. Saturday.

A local citizen, alarmed by a disturbance, investigated and discovered the youths in the process of damaging one of the mail boxes.

The license number of the youth's vehicle was recorded early Saturday. Sheriff Windy Cummings and postal inspector, Travis Broughton of Waco, arrested the boys.

Three of the youths were seventeen years old and older and were filed on in Justice of Peace, Stony Hammack's court. The three received $150 fines each and were released.

The fourth youth was turned over to juvenile court for a hearing. The hearing was held Monday morning, with Judge Norman Storm presiding. The youth was ordered to make restitution for the damages and was released into the custody of his mother.

Poage Issues Additional "Hunger Study" Information

The House Committee on Agriculture issued a supplement today to its "Hunger Study" report of last June, disclosing additional evidence that there is little actual acute hunger in the United States but widespread malnutrition caused primarily by parental neglect of children and ignorance as to what constitutes a balanced diet.

The supplementary document marks the windup of an investigation the committee made to determine the accuracy of charges by the Citizens' Advisory Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States that "emergency hunger" conditions existed in 256 counties in 20 States.

Chairman W.R. Poage, D-Tex., of the Agriculture Committee, in making the additional information public, said it confirms conclusions drawn from communications received earlier from a great many of the health officers in the so-called emergency hunger counties.

"The same basic, evident truth threads its way through all of this correspondence, regardless of the section of the country from which it comes," said Poage. "Public agencies with rare exceptions are getting food to the needy wherever and whenever they are found. Borderline hunger and starvation cases occasionally are located where family income is wasted away, largely on liquor. Jobs often are available but rejected by able-bodied men who apparently prefer to be on relief rolls."

Declaring that the House Committee on Agriculture has sought diligently to see that ample food is produced in this country and made available through relief programs to those unable to provide for themselves, Poage called attention to the wave of emotionalism that has sometimes left a distorted picture of the government's efforts to feed the poor.

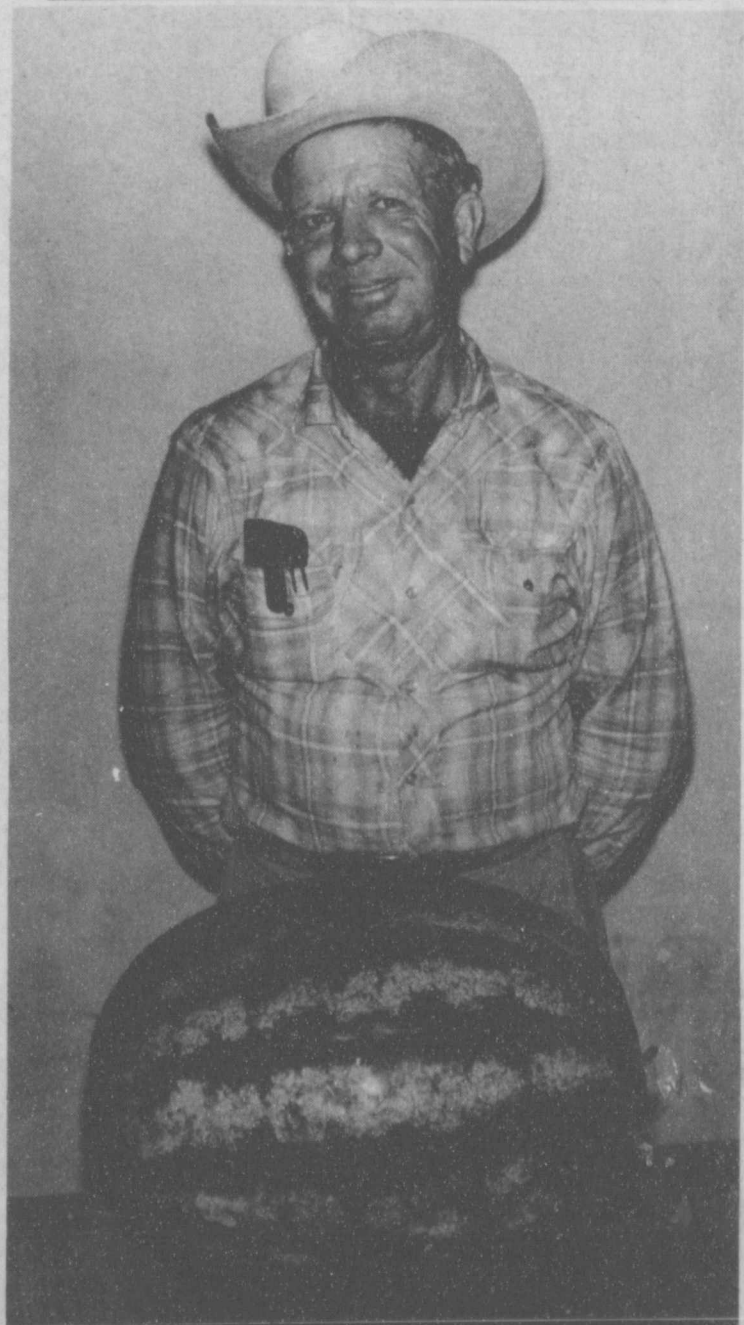

"Few people are aware that almost a billion dollars worth of food products were distributed free here in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30," he added, "and the amount will go beyond the billion dollar level this year."

"The study our committee made stemmed from the erroneous and misleading reports creating an impression that there was much hunger and starvation in the land. Our committee is not indifferent to the suffering of any degree, and is determined to see that all individuals in need and who cannot help themselves are adequately fed. Our study indicates that the basic solution to the nutritional problems in this country is to be found through education and a sharpened sense of family responsibility."

The Texan noted that other and more thorough governmental studies of the nutritional picture in America are now underway, and expressed the opinion that they would come up with similar conclusions. Two probes in progress now are one by the Department of Agriculture and Department of Health, Education and Welfare, jointly, and one by a team of investigators engaged by the House Appropriations Committee. Pending in the Senate is a House - passed bill which would establish a special Presidential Commission to study hunger in the United States.

FARM REVIEW

Cotton To Be Competitive

Determination of the U.S. Cotton industry to grow 14 to 15 million bales annually and to regain and maintain its historical position in the world market was expressed at the end of a foreign trade seminar here today.

Roy B. Davis, Lubbock, president of the National Cotton Council and general chairman of the meeting, pledged an unceasing and aggressive effort to make U.S. cotton competitive in price, quality, and availability on a continuing basis.

The meeting brought together a special export committee of the National Cotton Council and the Executive Committee of Cotton Council International along with more than 400 producers and other industry leaders from the High Plains area.

They heard a panel of experts stress the importance of agricultural exports and cotton in particular and detail ways in which various agencies can cooperate to stimulate and increase foreign trade.

Dr. Henry Hopp, chief of the Fibers and Textile Division, U.S. State Department, Washington, pointed out that cotton people have a direct interest in "advancing a constructive approach to trade liberalization" and are in the forefront of those who "benefit from free world markets and expanded purchasing power."

"To export a satisfactory volume of cotton it is necessary that we have adequate supplies of the various qualities; a competitive price; year round aggressive research, promotion and merchandising and fuller and more effective use of credit and insurance facilities," Joe A. Moss, Washington, told the group. Mr. Moss is director of the Cotton Policy Staff, ASCS, of the Department of Agriculture.

Kenneth A. Krogh, Washington, assistant administrator of export programs with USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, outlined key FAS activities: (1) carrying on overseas research and promotion, (2) sponsoring trade missions abroad, (3) bringing foreign mill men to this country, (4) continuing to ship cotton under Public Law 480, and (5) studying possible revisions in credit programs to better facilitate cotton exports.

John Jordan, loan officer, Export - Import Bank, Washington, said the bank assists the cotton trade by: (1) making loans direct to foreign buyers, through which the buyers may meet all or part of their cotton requirements during a crop year, (2) guaranteeing foreign obligations resulting from export sales on credit, and (3) operating a foreign credit insurance program.

Details of the foreign credit insurance program were described by Paul T. Haskell, New York, vice president, Foreign Credit Insurance Association.

Summarizing Commerce Department activities to stimulate exports, Dallas M. Coors, financial economist with its International Division, said it has established an agribusines staff and maintains: (1) lists foreign firms handling various commodities, (2) overseas contacts to locate qualified firms to represent U.S. shippers and (3) World Trade Directory Reports providing useful information on foreign firms, and (4) trade centers in key foreign markets. The Department also assists in organizing trade missions.

A Maritime Administration official invited all elements of the transportation and exporting industries to join in a coordinated effort to increase shipping efficiency and lower its costs. John Hoen, Washington, chief of the Administration's Division of Maritime Promotion, referred to this effort as an "inter-modal concept of transportation," the heart of which is containerization. He contrasted the inefficiency of traditional methods which require some 15 days to unload cargo with modern techniques wherein land-based cranes are used to load and discharge a container every three minutes, or a full ship in a day.

By applying the "land-bridge" principle, he explained, containerized merchandise can be loaded from trains aboard ship in Japan, reloaded on trains at West Coast docks transported by rail to Atlantic ports and thence shipped to Europe. Bypassing the Panama Canal saves two weeks. The same concept could be used in transporting cotton from inland centers in the U.S. to Far East and European mills.

Robert D. Pugh, Portland, Ark., president of Cotton Council International, presided over the two sessions. Guests were welcomed by Don Anderson, Crosbyton, Texas, president of the Plains Cotton Growers; Dr. Brandon Hull, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; and Honorable George Mahon, representative of the 19th District of Texas in the U.S. Congress.

All committee meetings scheduled for September 6 and the general assembly on September 7 will be held at Sul Ross College. Texas A & M To Offer Graduate Course Superintendent Henry Hill of the Livestock and Forage Research Center at McGregor, Texas, announces Texas A & M University will be conducting a graduate course at the Center during the 1968 fall semester. This course will be Agricultural Education 640, Methods of Technological Change. The course will be taught by Dr. James Christiansen, Associate Professor Agricultural Education Department. Dr. Christiansen served as a technician in Iran developing a teacher training institution under contract to the Government of Iran for two years. This provided invaluable experiences in assuming the role of a change agent.

Thursday, September 12, at 5:00 p.m., has been scheduled for registering and organizing the class. This meeting will be held at the Center headquarters under the supervision of Superintendent Hill.

This graduate course is designed to accommodate professional workers with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, public school administrators and teachers, supervisors, counselors, professional workers with governmental agencies and industry, and other interested individuals.

Those planning to enroll in the course should contact the Agricultural Education Department for procedures to follow in applying for admission to the Graduate College.

Root Knot Nematodes Become "Peach" of a Problem

Nineteen windbreak species are available this year: buffalo-berry; catalpa; Chinese elm; cottonwood (cuttings and seedlings); eucalyptus; honeylocust (thornless); mulberry; rose multiflora; sweetgum; sycamore; Oriental arborvitae; O-sage orange; redcedar; Austrian ponderosa; shortleaf, slash and loblolly pine; and black walnut stratified seed.

Seedlings are sold only for windbreak and other types of conservation planting, Cloud said. None are sold for ornamental or shade tree purposes and individual orders for less than a total of 100 trees will not be accepted.

The delivered cost of both seedlings and seed will be the same as last year, $1.50 per hundred plus state sales tax; however, Cloud continued, 2% sales tax on orders will be increased to October 1, 1968. Shipments will begin about the middle of February and around the middle of March.

Windbreak planting guides are shipped with each order and they are also available from county agricultural agents and from the Texas Forest Service, College Station.

The root knot nematode causes large swelling on the roots and the plants appear stunted. The trees will also have a chlorotic appearance and will usually defoliate prematurely said Johnson.

In recent greenhouse and field trials in Texas, two peach root stocks have proven resistant to most species of root knot found in the state. It is suggested that homeowners as well as commercial fruit growers in the state obtain trees that have been budded on either Nemaguard or Okinawa rootstock, added the pathologist.

Several commercial nurseries have indicated they will have most new varieties budded on these rootstocks by this planting season. Persons interested in planting peaches this year should contact their nurseryman and make sure the desired varieties will be available at planting time, cautioned Johnson.

Pesticides-Pests?

Contamination of food crops by pesticides may not always be the producer's fault, because of unknown residues left in the soil, Dr. J.H. Wyman Dorrough, associate professor in the entomology department of Texas A & M University, says.

Chemical pesticides used on a crop such as cotton to control insects can show up in food crops later planted on the land. Many of the pesticides in the chlorinated hydrocarbon group, such as DDT, Endrin and Dieldrin, can remain in the soil for years and contaminate food crops if the soil is not thoroughly tested, he says.

"In most cases contamination of food crops can be traced back to misuses of pesticides by farmers, but often it can be a case of residue problems," the professor continues.

Food crops can take in pesticide residues in two ways -- direct contact with soil-bound chemicals in such a crop as carrots, and uptake or translocation into the plant with a crop like soybeans.

The amount of residue and its possible availability depend on the type of chemical, the type of soil and the individual crop susceptibility, according to Dorrough. Some of the chemicals are very stable, while others can be broken down easily by soil organisms, weathering and leaching.

Such crops as peanuts, soybeans and some vegetables are among the most susceptible and soil chemical analysis, coupled with a thorough knowledge of the history of the farmland are the best bets to avoid possible contamination and later seizure of the crop by authorities, he points out.

Forage crops contaminated by these chemicals can also be a problem, especially if fed to poultry or dairy animals. In fact, many livestock producers are now asking for certificates which guarantee the feed they are buying is free from pesticide residues, Dorrough said.

Texas Democratic party politics are in the national spotlight again -- this time at Chicago during the national Demo convention. Hearings were scheduled Wednesday (August 21) before the convention credentials committee on a liberal group's demand that the Texas delegation led by Gov. John Connally be reconstituted to insure prop-will go to Hubert Humphrey, TDC, in a brief filed with the credentials committee, demands 50 seats -- 48 percent of the delegation. Proportional representation is asked for Negroes, Mexican-Americans and non-conservative loyal Democrats who have always supported the party. Delegation now includes six Negro delegates and 11 alternates and five Mexican-American delegates and five alternates, but TDOC claims they are "unrepresentative of their communities." Most active TDOC members are supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president. McCarthy backers also have filed challenges in Alabama, Connecticut, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Georgia and Washington.

Decision of the committee will not be known until next week and challenges likely will go to the convention floor. Connally forces maintain the Texas delegation is representative and was selected at a fair state convention which they controlled 2,835 votes to 499.

TEXAS REPUBLICAN PARTY POLITICS

Despite the fact that only two Republican presidential nominees have ever carried Texas, Richard Nixon's chances appear as high as 50 - 50 -- depending largely on whom the Democrats nominate.

First successful Republican was Herbert Hoover in 1928, carrying the state by 367,000 votes to 341,000. Dwight Eisenhower was the only other GOPer to win a majority of Texans, in 1952 and 1956.

However, there are several factors which could shake up Texas' habit of going with Democrat. One is the fact that, in 1960, Nixon missed carrying the state by a slim 46,000 votes and with Lyndon Johnson the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

And since Hubert Humphrey -- the almost certain Democratic nominee -- is known as being even more liberal than John F. Kennedy and Johnson, Texas' traditionally conservative -- to moderate voters could easily find Nixon more attractive.

This should be especially true since Nixon picked Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew for the No. 2 spot on his ticket, and the two appear to be running a "law and order campaign" to offset the influence of American Party Candidate, George Wallace.

Also of course, Nixon will have the challenger's advantage of being able to attack the incumbent administration on tough issues -- in this case, the war in Vietnam, the monetary crisis and the racial situation in big cities.

On the other hand, Humphrey will have several pluses in his column when Texans go to vote in November. One could be his vice-presidential pick, who many people think Governor Connally has a good shot at.

Another will be Wallace's candidacy. As an extreme right-winger, Wallace will probably draw considerably more votes away from Nixon than from Humphrey, and some estimates of Wallace's vote are as high as 50 percent in West and East Texas and 30 percent in Central Texas.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Connally named Judge Tom Reavley of Austin to fill out the term of Associate Justice James R. Norvell on the Texas Supreme Court. Norvell, who did not seek re-election, resigned effective October 10, so Reavley can begin his work at the start of the new fall term. Reavley is unopposed Democratic nominee for the high court post.

Connally appointed Abilene Attorney Tom Bordon to succeed W.D. (Bill) Noel of Odessa as chairman of the State Liquor Control Board.

William Neal Blanton, Jr. of Houston is Connally's selection to serve out the unexpired term of the late Judge Ben Moorhead on the 11th district court in Harris County. Blanton is the Democratic nominee for the job and unopposed.

House Speaker Ben Barnes appointed Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, to chair an interim committee to study the relationship between vending-machine operators and taverns. Legislation may be needed to control the takeover of liquor establishments by money-lending vendors, he said.

Barnes also appointed a special committee to study the legal, ethical and moral aspects of human-organ transplants, with an eye to recommending changes in Texas law. Members are Rep. Jack Ogg of Houston, chairman; Dr. Robert D. Bloodwell of Houston; Phillip R. Overton, Austin; Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, Austin; Wyatt H. Heard, Houston; and State Reps. Lamoine Holland, San Antonio; D.C. Howard, Uvalde; Freddie Orr of DeSoto and Carl A. Parker, Port Arthur.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Senate's failure during special session to confirm appointment of J.C. Looney, Edinburg, to the Public Safety Commission did not invalidate his appointment, Attorney General Crawford Martin has held. Martin said Looney remains a member of the body, since the Senate didn't act one way or another on the governor's selection.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: *Rio Grande City Independent School District can issue tax bonds to finance part, but not all, of a new assembly-hall-library - classroom - clinic complex with federal Economic Development Administration aid.

*Property owners can't cut the fence of another to gain access to an alleged county road unused for 20 years, except where egress and ingress have been denied to one living in enclosure -- fencing. Public roads remain as such although unused, unless rights of public are cut off by county commissioners court, adverse possession by land owner or common law abandonment.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT

Railroad Commission again cut oil allowable, to 41.3 per

COMMITTEE MEETS

A Senate vocational - technical education study committee heard testimony that industry needs workers who are skilled with tools but who also have sound academic education. Committee is formulating its recommendations to the next legislature.

Meanwhile, Texas Research League has advised that vocational rehabilitation service and management remain in Texas Education Agency framework rather than a separate agency.

GRANTS

Eighty-five Texas cities have filed applications, totaling $12,235,000 for $10 million worth of federal grants to help local governments build sewage treatment facilities.

Most of the grants will be for 33 percent of the total project price, with the local governments furnishing the remainder of the funds.

Texas Water Quality Board administers the program for the U.S.

ACTION AGENCIES

U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity will continue to recognize the seven local community-action agencies which Attorney General Martin says are illegally constituted until legal action is taken to disqualify them.

County commissioners courts participated in the organization of the seven agencies and Martin's opinion said Texas law would not allow counties to take official part in such activities.

OBSCENYTY LAW STANDS

U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears has held valid the Texas anti-obscenity law, which uses the "contemporary community standards" of "the average person."

Spears upheld the Constitutionality of the law. He said he felt there was no federal question involved, so he dismissed the suit attacking the law.

Attorney General Martin, whose office defended in the San Antonio suit, said he will ask the next legislature to strengthen the law, removing exceptions for foreign films and films in interstate commerce. He also wants authority to get injunctions to stop showing of films which might be offensive.

Veterans Administration To Help Pay Ed Expenses

The Veterans Administration will pay up to $130 a month to help educate each son and daughter of a deceased veteran who died in service or of a service-connected disability, or one who has been totally and permanently disabled as a result of honorable service. These payments are usually provided for sons and daughters between the ages of 18 and 26, Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said. The program is intended for education beyond the secondary school level, he said, but there are some exceptions.

Marriage does not bar this benefit. An eligible person may receive up to 36 months of schooling -- or the equivalent of 36 months if enrolled part time. Monthly payments are lower if the enrollment is for less than full time, and no payment is authorized for less than half time. Eligible people of legal age may file their own applications for this program with a Veterans Administration office, Coker said. For minor children, the parent or guardian must file, he added.

Special restorative training may be provided to young men or women unable to pursue an education because of some physical or mental disability. It consists of training such as speech and voice correction, lipreading, Braille reading and writing and the like. In some instances, handicapped children may begin a special vocational or restorative course as early as age 14. More than 125,000 students have been helped in the program since 1956, when it was established.

Gatesville at a Glance

NORFORK PINE . . . centers the receiver's picture of the back area of the Caruth home. The exotic Norfolk pine is an unusual shrub for our area and is quite attractive addition to the home. Brightly colored flowers, plus the "sharp" arms of the Norfolk Pine, the beautiful caladiums and other greenery blend together to enhance the rear area of the Caruth home. I believe Mr. and Mrs. Caruth have one of the loveliest homes in the area.

LITTLE MISS MITCHELL IN HILLSBORO . . . Little Miss Karen Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mitchell of Gatesville is spending a few days with Little Miss Karen Landrum in the Jim Landrum HOME IN Hillsboro. While Karen is visiting in Hillsboro, Karen Landrum's brother, Marlin is visiting with Richard Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mitchell.

HOUSEGUESTS IN MOORHEAD HOME . . . Miss Marilyn Ringer of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, was a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Moorhead, this week, in Gatesville. Miss Ringer arrived in Gatesville, Tuesday, from Oklahoma, to serve as a bridesmaid in the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Moorhead's daughter, Mary Emma. She will be a sophomore at Southern Methodist University in Dallas and is the bride's "little sister" in the Delta Delta Sorority at the Dallas University. Miss Ringer returned to Oklahoma, Sunday morning.

IVY ENTWINED . . . perhaps the most striking point of landscape around the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caruth, is the simply beautiful English Ivy, surrounding and entwining a large tree at the edge of the walkway in front of the lovely stone home. The yard area around the Caruth home, is immaculately kept with straightly edged sidewalk and curb areas.

The flowerbed in front of the large front window, is filled with sparkling white - green caladiums, which are simply breathtaking compliment to the home. With more than ample amounts of "lacy" shade, the entire yard area looks invitingly serene and calm

VISITING MOORHEADS . . . Miss Peggy VanNordstrand of Tulsa, Oklahoma, visited as a houseguest in the Newton Moorhead home in Creek Cliff Estates this week. Miss VanNordstrand served as a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Mary Emma Moorhead and Robert Allen Bennett. She arrived in Gatesville, Friday and returned to Oklahoma this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schange of Robinson have a baby girl, born Friday, August 16, in Hillcrest Hospital in Waco.

Miss Mary Emma Moorhead - Robert Allen Bennett Wed

Mrs. Robert Allen Bennett

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton J. Moorhead of Gatesville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Bennett of Gatesville.

Rev. Kenneth G. Patrick performed the double-ring ceremony. Miss Orpa Mayo, organist, presented wedding music and Harold Rucker, soloist, sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and as the couple knelt on a satin covered prayer bench, Mr. Rucker sang "The Wedding Prayer".

Mark Davis and Keith Crawford lighted white tapers on either side of an arrangement of votive lights interspersed with white stock and miniature crysanthemums. Bows of white ribbon designated the family pews.

The bride chose an original floor length gown of ecru silk satin. French alencon lace fashioned the demi-yoke and sleeves. Appliques garlanded the sides of the skimmer and created a pyramid effect at the hemline. The gown was complemented by a cathedral length mantilla of English net edged and applied in lace identical to that of the gown. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stock, miniature pearlized grape clusters and English ivy. White satin streamers, falling from the bouquet, each held a tiny white rose bud.

The bride's father gave her a six pence for her shoe and she carried out the tradition with something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jim Scott of Huntsville, Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Bennett, Miss Elizabeth Bennett and Mrs. Charles Clinton Neal of Pensacola, Florida, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Peggy VanNordstrand of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Miss Marilyn Ringer of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma. The bridesmaids wore identical floor length gowns of aqua crepe, fashioned in a columnar effect draped from a Dior bow at one shoulder. Matching headpieces, created from hair braid, held chin length circular veils. Each attendant carried a multicolored nosegay of pom poms and English ivy with feathered pom poms attached to streamers.

Allen R. Bennett, father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Steve Clayton and Jimmy Higgins of Dallas, Gilbert Rice Meadows of Corpus Christi, Stan Poulos of Monterrey, Mexico and Reed Williams of Gatesville. Ushering were Mike Mitchell of Dallas, Mike Thompson of Denton and Job Saunders of Gatesville.

The mother of the bride chose a beige A-line dress accented with a bow at the neckline. Her accessories were antique beige and green and her corsage was of ivory rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a sapphire blue silk sheath with embroidery accenting the V neckline and overskirt. She wore matching accessories and a white rosebud corsage.

A reception was held in the Church Parlor immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Bill Nesbitt and Miss Suzanne Mc-

Mordie registered the guests from a small table accented with the bride's portrait and flowers. Miss Cindy Edds of Gainesville, Florida, cousin of the bridegroom, presented the background music.

Serving the bride's cake were Misses Ginger Royer of Fort Worth, Marsha Mays of Atlanta, Sue Yows and Elaine Neel. Pouring punch were Misses Dorian Knox of Crockett, Gay Aarant of Cincinnati, Ohio, Dianne Schloeman and Linda Beard. The bride's table was accented with a petite arrangement of pom pom 'mums and the attendants' nosegays.

Misses Marilyn Thompson of Houston and Beverly Rueter assisted by Misses Colleen Coward and Paula Bromser, distributed rice bags.

Miss Jan Bauchman of Seguin, Mrs. Jimmy Higgins of Dallas and Mrs. Jimmy Don Thompson distributed groom's cake in individual boxes, to the guests from the groom's table, decorated with a bud vase of lovely white pom poms.

Other members of the house party were Misses Sue Byrom, Sara Nelle Lowrey, Kathryn Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schloeman, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Powell and Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Rogers. Receiving guests in the home of the bride's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Davis and Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Rogers.

The bride is an honor graduate of Gatesville High School and will be a senior at Southern Methodist University this fall, where she is an officer in her sorority, Delta Delta Delta. Also an honor graduate of Gatesville High School, the bridegroom will complete his undergraduate work at Southern Methodist University in May, prior to entering dental school next year.

For traveling, Mrs. Bennett chose a shocking pink linen dress with matching coat. Her accessories were pink and green floral patterned and her corsage was roses taken from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will be at home in Dallas.

An Ice Cream Favorite

Peach melba was invented by a French chef in London to honor an Australian. In spite of the involved international heritage, the dessert is simple. Top scoops of vanilla ice cream with peach halves; add Melba Sauce.

Melba Sauce

2 teaspoons corn starch
1 tablespoon water
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup currant jelly
1 cup fresh or 1 (10-ounce) package frozen raspberries or strawberries, thawed

Mix corn starch and water in small saucepan. Stir in light corn syrup, jelly and raspberries or strawberries. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil and boils 1 to 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Strain. Cool slightly. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.

Yarborough Favors Lowering Voting Age To Eighteen

As the two great political conventions choose candidates for this national election year, it is appropriate to consider whether 18-year old Americans should be allowed to vote. Or put another way -- whether a young American, old enough to fight and die for his country, is old enough to participate in our electoral process. President Johnson has made this a high priority item for Congress when we return after Labor Day.

As far back as 1952, when I was running for governor of Texas, I favored lowering our voting age to 18. It wasn't a new idea then and it's not a new idea today, but it makes a lot of sense. Georgia became the first state to lower the voting age in 1943. Since then, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii have allowed residents under 21 to vote and both Nebraska and North Dakota will put the question to their voters this year.

The present Texas voting age of 21 is a carryover from the middle ages, when a man could not become a knight until he reached 21 years of age. Today the age of 18 has been set as the age of responsibility in most other respects. At 18, a young man can be drafted into the army. In most areas, 18-year-olds can marry without their parent's consent, 18-year-olds can stand trial as adults in a criminal court, and 18-year-olds who work must pay taxes to our state and federal governments.

National polls show that a majority of Americans favor allowing 18-year-olds to vote, and speaking at TCU in Fort Worth recently, President Johnson said "the time is already here for this nation to recognize and to grant the right to vote to 18-year-olds. We have everything to gain by extending to these young people the most precious right and responsibility of citizenship, the right to vote."

I'm cosponsoring with Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield a constitutional amendment to guarantee Americans 18 to 21 years of age the right to vote and to participate as full citizens.

We hear a great deal today about a few irresponsible young Americans -- the hippies and the dropouts of our society. But little is heard of the responsible men and women in the 18- to 21 age bracket who work or go to school, or whose children and contribute to their communities. We have men between 18 and 21 years of age presently serving this nation in the military service, but they can't vote.

The HOUSTON POST recently ran an excellent article endorsing the 18-year-old vote amendment. Former President Eisenhower has spoken in favor of it.

It is a question of faith -- faith in our country and in our sons and daughters. I have faith in these young men and women who will lead our nation tomorrow, and I believe they should have a voice in shaping their destiny.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

HEMOSTAT AS HOOK REMOVER

If you've got a doctor pal, have him get you a used surgical hemostat (one has very short life for surgical needs and many are discarded regularly). Its clamping mechanism and trim shape makes the finest hook disgorger going and high-grade steel never rusts.

FREEZE QUAIL IN MILK CARTONS

Milk cartons make good freezer boxes. Fill with game like quail or doves, add water, freeze and store in freezer.

LIGHTER LEADER FOR SNAGS

If you plan on fishing around snags or rocks, use a leader at least a pound test less than your line. Then if you hang up, the leader will break, not the line.

INEXPENSIVE REEL BAG

Cut off an eight-inch piece of your old pants leg and then sew up one end closed. In the other, cut slits and weave a draw string through, or add a zipper. Now you have a good reel bag, soft and easy to clean.

HANGERS AS ROD HOLDERS

Hang your fishing rods on coat hangers in the back of your car. Keeps people from sitting on them or catching them in a door.

FLUORESCENT FLOATS VISIBLE

Bright fluorescent paint helps keep a bobber in sight on rough or dark days.

SUGAR LESSENS PAIN OF STING

Rub a bee sting with sugar. It will lessen the pain.

GUM WILL STOP LEAKS

Chewing gum will help reduce a rivet leak in an aluminum boat. Chew gum well and stuff around outside of leak. Allow to harden, then enjoy a dry boat ride.
