

DOE PERMITS TO BE ISSUED AGAIN THIS YEAR

An estimated 360 doe deer permits will be issued to landowners in the western part of the County Monday and Tuesday, October 27 and 28, according to Game Management Officer, Jerry Noles.

Last year the County had a total of 250 doe permits issued on a 25,000 acre plot in the western part of the county.

This season the same area will receive doe permits at the ratio of one permit per 100 acres. A new area totaling 17,500 acres of land will be included in the doe area this season.

The new area is adjacent to last year's permit area along the FM 1783 from Slater to the intersection with the Harmon Road. It is bounded on the east by the Pidcoke-to-Slater road. On the south the new permit area is bounded by the FM 116 from Pidcoke to the Topsey road and along the Topsey highway to the Harmon road. On the west, the Harmon road encloses the permit area to FM 1783.

The new area will have a permit ratio of one doe per 150 acres.

Landowners can pick up permits from 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. both days at the Pearl Community Center. The permits are issued at no charge to the landowners.

Deer are expected to be plentiful in Coryell County this year, according to Noles. He noted, however, a poor acorn crop will hurt deer in this area in mid-winter.

"Hornet Pride"

HORNETS STING LIONS WITH TWO POINT VICTORY

"Hornet Pride," Coach Jack Moss attributes the 14 to 12 victory over a tough Lockhart team in part to a pride that has developed in the players over the past five games.

The Hornets are undefeated in 13 AAA District play and share the district lead with Belton and Lampasas. Belton has beaten Taylor and Rockdale while Lampasas has beaten Rockdale and Copperas Cove.

Lockhart was not an easy victory for the Hornets. The Lions forced the Hornets to come from behind on an 83-yard touchdown drive with 5:32 to go in the game.

The Hornet victory drive started when Mike Williams, defensive halfback, picked off a pass from Lion quarterback George Rodriguez at the 17-yard line.

Moss attributed this drive to the winning touchdown as "Hornet Pride." The drive required 22 plays including two very crucial fourth down plays. Ronald Brown rushed for 70 yards in the drive and scored on a one-yard plunge.

Brown got the call on the first two plays of the drive and gained eight yards. Randy Schoenewolf secured the first down on a four-yard power play.

Then Brown carried for four and 17 yards to the 50-yard line as the third quarter ended.

Brown and Doug Freeman combined on three plays for over nine yards (but not ten yards). Quarterback Mike Barr called on Schoenewolf for the fourth down yardage to the 39-yard line.

Three running plays later the offensive line had lead Brown to the Lion 24-yard line. Schoenewolf smashed for a solid five yards, and Brown got the first down at the 16-yard line on a third down play.

On first down, an illegal motion penalty set up a first and 15 yard situation at the Lion 21-yard line. Barr passed completion to wingback Freeman moved the ball to the 18-yard line.

Then Brown picked up eight valuable yards to the ten yard line. No gain on third down set up the climax of the drive. With about 6 minutes to play, Barr fired out behind with blocking from George Thompson, Larry Harrington and Keith Bell giving the first down at the four-yard line. Schoenewolf moved the ball down close to the goal on first down and then Brown put the Hornets ahead 13 to 12. Schoenewolf made good on his second extra point kick of the game giving the Hornets a two point lead, 14 to 12.

The Hornets scored first in the game in the second quarter, however, Ralph Sneed, speedy Lockhart halfback raced 76 yards on a play in the first quarter only to have it nullified on an illegal motion penalty.

Shortly after the penalty play, the Lions kicked to Gatesville and recovered Larry Moore's fumble at the Hornet 31-yard line.

The Hornet defense rose to the occasion, first with Larry Smith breaking up a Rodriguez pass intended for Gordon McKean. On second down Jim Sanders almost intercepted a pass intended for Albert Schuman. Sneed then gained one for the Lions and on fourth down Sanders again spoiled the Lion hopes with a pass deflection.

The Hornets began their touchdown march at this point. Schoenewolf recovered on his own fumble at the 31-yard line on a first down. Barr connected with his split end Smith at the 43-yard line for a first down.

Barr then excited fans with a fumble and recovery for a three yard gain. The Hornets seemed to be plagued with fumblets, but Schoenewolf smashed through for eight yards to the Lion 46-yard line.

Next came a five-yard penalty against the Hornets to complicate matters. Brown picked up two on a quick pitch out and on second down Moore countered from his wingback position for 13 yards and a first down.

Two carries from Brown and one each from Schoenewolf and Ray Ortega put the ball at the Lion 25-yard line with first down as the quarter ended.

Barr gained nothing on the first play of the second quarter. Then Brown rushed for nine to the 16-yard line. Barr then sneaked for the first down at the 14-yard line on a fourth down play.

Ortega picked up two on a wide end run and then Brown picked up two to the ten-yard line. Ortega came back in and set up the ball at the five-yard line short of the first down yardage.

On fourth down Brown followed good blocking to the two-yard line and the magical first down.

Schoenewolf tried to soften the Lion line on first down but was stopped for no gain. Then Ortega took a pitch and swept left and for the score with good second effort.

The lead held up until half-time, but the Lions opened the second half with a 52-yard touchdown drive in four plays. The score came on a Rodriguez to McKean fourth down pass.

The Lions set up to kick for the extra point but an offside call moved the ball down to the 1 1/2 yard line. The Lions tried for two from there, and the Hornet defense stopped the Lions cold. The Hornets still had a one point lead.

The Hornets came back fighting, and Barr went to the air, and Schuman picked off a pass for Lockhart and raced to the Hornet five-yard line before being knocked out of bounds. One play later the Lions had a 12 to 7 lead.

The Lions lined up to kick for the extra point with their top-notch kicker Rusty Linney set to kick. The kick was faked and Linney tried to pass to Sneed on a down-and-out pattern. Mike Williams alertly followed the receiver and made a diving play on the ball just before it reached the receiver's hands.

Only five points behind, the Hornets began working for the come-from-behind touchdown.

Just one more play, just one.....

The Hornets got their "Hornet Pride" touchdown with 5:32 left in the game. The defense began the job of holding off the potent Lion offense.

Schuman returned the kick off to the 45-yard line. Larry Harrington and Gene Braziel knocked Sneed out of bounds at the 50-yard line on first down.

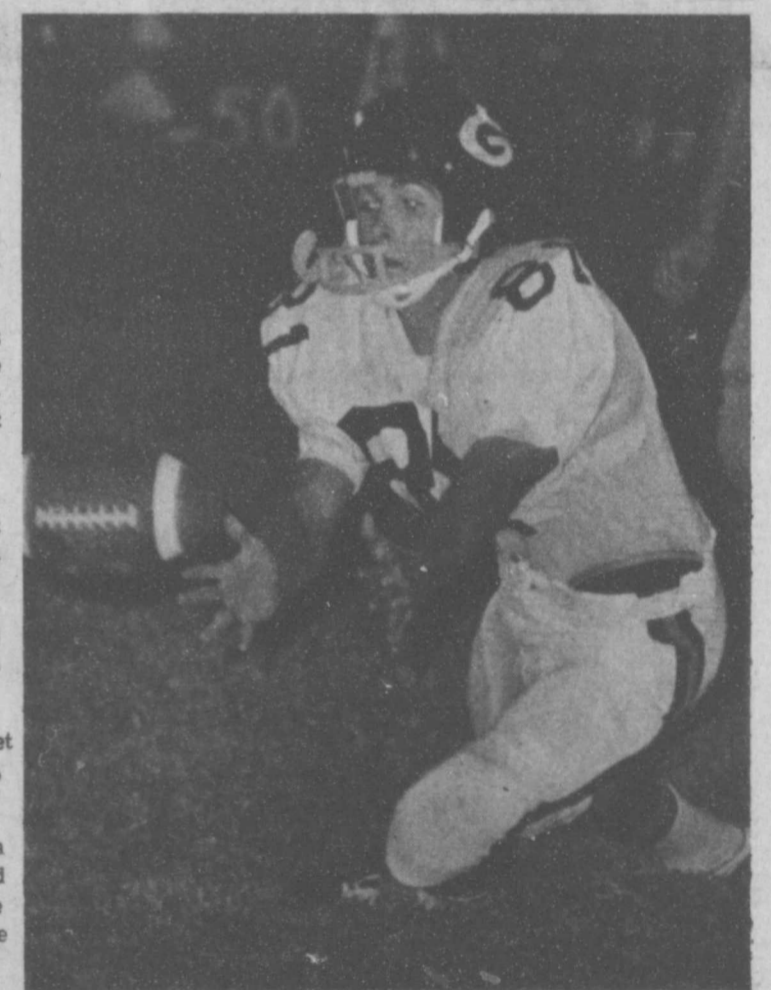

Eddie Brite caught a Rodriguez pass at the Hornet 45 to keep the Lions rolling down the field. Rodriguez then carried for a first down at the 44-yard line.

Sneed was dropped for a one-yard loss by Schoenewolf on first down. McKean then grabbed a pass at the Hornet 36-yard line. Smith then stopped a passing attempt on third and the Hornets forced the Lions into a fourth down-four situation.

Coach Moss inspired the Hornet defense at this time by shouting, "Just one more play, just one."

Mike Williams deflected a fourth down pass to McKean, and the Hornets had the ball at the 36-yard line with just under three minutes to play.

A misfired play on first down put four players and coaches and fans in a worrying mood again as Larry Smith found this pass just off his finger tips. Smith, a two-way performer, caught passes and deflected passes as the Hornets put on one of their best performances.

Poage Appreciation Dinner Will Be Thursday Night

Thursday night, October 23, Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage will be honored at an Appreciation Dinner at the Chateau Ville Restaurant.

The dinner, sponsored by the Coryell County Farmers' Union and the agri-business community of Coryell County, will honor Congressman Poage for his many years of service to the 11th Congressional District and his active roll in the agricultural area.

Tickets are $3.00 each and can be purchased in Copperas

Cove from Lovett Ledger or George Leonard; in Evant from Jack Elam; in Jonesboro and Turnersville from Dick Wallace or Zoo Gilmore; in Oglesby from Tump Grady or Ranel Graves; and in Gatesville from Bob Cummings, H. K. Jackson, Sr., Bob Melbern, or Bob Foster.

A crowd of 180 to 200 persons is expected to attend the fete. Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be Bob Foster of Gatesville with Ranel Graves to introduce visitors to the banquet. Bob Melbern will introduce Congressman Poage.

Texas Farmers' Union President, Jay Namen, will attend the Appreciation Dinner.

Coryell County Farmers' Union President Dick Wallace announced that the dinner is being planned to pay tribute to Congressman Poage for the services which he has rendered Coryell County farmers, ranchers, and the rural business community during his long service in Congress. He said, "We are gratified at the spontaneous support that the people of the county are giving us in our effort to show our appreciation to Congressman Poage."

"Gatesville Day" Seminar Civic Leaders Attend

Fifteen Gatesville business and civic leaders attended the "Gatesville Day" Industrial Seminar in Austin Thursday, October 16.

The Texas Industrial Commission arranged for the day-long meeting with the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce. The evening Seminar was held in the Sam Houston State Office Building and featured several speakers from the Industrial Commission Staff, Bureau of Economic Development and other state agencies.

Business Research of the University of Texas, Texas Employment Commission, and the Chamber of Commerce President Bob Edwards noted that the day was well planned to provide a complete review of economic and community development.

The seminar opened with a commentary by Jim Heath, Industrial Development Consultant, Texas Industrial Commission.

The Gatesville Day program was one of more than twenty such programs held each year by the Commission to aid local leadership in the economic development of their community.

The Seminar received good attendance. Those attending from Gatesville included: Assistant City Manager, Skipper Wallace; Mayor Bob Miller; Tom Miller; Medical Plastics Manager, Charles Wise; Chamber of Commerce President, Bob Edwards; Ollie Little; Dr. E. E. Lowrey; Harry Holbrook; Kalyn Manager, Bob Coward; Anchor Plastics Manager, Price Neeley; School Superintendent, L. C. McKamie; Bank Executives, Ray Byrom, Dawson Cooper and Cam McGilvary; Gatesville Development Corp. President, Dr. Joe Kenworthy; and Erle Powell.

Ronald Brown scores the winning touchdown in the picture above. The picture reveals that Brown recovered his own fumble in the end zone for the six points. The Hornets can count themselves lucky that they were able to find the loose ball all evening long.

Food For Thought

Mrs. B. A. Snoddy

"There was a man sent from God, whose name was John," St. John 1:6.

If there were no other verses in the Bible with this line of thought, I would still believe that God calls men for different specific purposes. God depends upon man as channels through which he can exert his power in Ezekiel 22:30 reads: "I sought for a man who would stand in the gap, and make up the hedge, but I found none." This is the word of the Lord that came to Ezekiel.

This quotation could be followed by 2nd Chron. 16:9 which reads: "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro, throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong, in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him."

God has work to be done, but he has requirements of those who will do his work. Isaiah saw the Lord high and lifted up, and his train filled the whole earth--then he heard the voice of the Lord saying: "Whom shall I send, and whom shall I send?" then Isaiah said: "Here am I, send me." (Isaiah 6:8) And God did send Isaiah, and used him in a very great way, as a prophet of God.

The word of God asks this question: "And how shall they preach, except they be sent? As it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things." Rom. 10:15.

Truly, the word of God teaches that to do a work for God there has to be a personal experience with God, and God declares who can preach his word: (Psalms 24:3-4) "He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart,"

When God wanted to lead the children of Israel out of Egypt, he found a man in whom he could put his words, in his mouth, and who would speak those words faithfully. He used an earthen vessel to perform his work of deliverance.

He did not look for an orator, or a popular influential man, but he looked for a trustworthy, God-fearing man who would obey his instructions!

What we need today is not larger and more beautiful church buildings, not more socials and novel methods to attract the world, and Christians back to church and win them to Christ; but men and women, whom the Holy Spirit can use--mighty in prayer, Holy and devout men, separated from the world, and sin, in every form--men who are hungry for God, men who mean business for God, and who are ready to live and abide by the teachings in the word of God.

I don't mean we don't have men like that, but we need more men like that. When the Lord Jesus chose his twelve apostles, they followed him for three and a half years, and he trained them to do the works of God, and to preach God's word like he wanted it preached; and the Bible says, "they turned the world upside down."

Paul counted his education and all things he could boast of, in the natural man, but lost, for the excellency of knowing Jesus--and added that he had lost all things, but he counted them as nothing, that he might win Christ, Philippians 3:4-8.

The power of God does not flow through methods, but through men; men who will live the Bible, before they pass it on to others.

Elijah lived in the presence of God. He said, "The Lord God of Israel, before whom I stand." I Kings 17:1.

This was the secret of his power. Jeremiah speaks down through the ages of time and says: "Thus saith the Lord, stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls. But they said: We will not walk therein," Jer. 6:16.

I am persuaded that this is still God's plan, and God's way. I am persuaded that God would still have his people to come out, and be separated, and be not partakers of her sins as Jesus admonished in Rev. 18:4.

The way is still narrow and straight. This is God's written word. If we had set up the standard, we probably would have compromised, but these are the true sayings of God.

The true Gospel, preached out of a pure heart, is the only message that will bring men and women, boys and girls, to repentance before God.

When Jesus began his ministry, he began to preach and to say, "Repent, for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand," Matt. 4:17.

At the end of his earthly ministry, he handed his message down to those whom he had chosen, to carry on--telling them that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem (or by his authority)

So I am persuaded that this is the message that, still, must be preached.

Going back to Jeremiah's prophesy: "Hear, O earth, behold, I will bring evil upon this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, because they have not hearkened unto my words, nor to my law, but rejected it," Jer. 6:19.

Oh, that all of us might examine our lives, to see if we have hearkened unto His words.

REP. W.R. POAGE DENOUNCES WEDNESDAY'S MORATORIUM

... Defined As Treason

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 15. The anti-Vietnam war speeches in the House last night were denounced today by Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., as aid and comfort to the enemy of the United States.

Poage's remarks to his colleagues follow:

MR. SPEAKER, It would be foolhardy to predict on the proceedings of today, but it is clear to me that the proceedings in the House of Representatives last night must have given the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong their greatest encouragement since the stopping of the bombing of North Vietnam.

The talkathon of last night was well billed and advertised and has even been reported as nothing more than an exercise of free speech or a dignified discussion of vital issues--and when one takes most of the speeches completely separate from their context, it can be seriously contended that they were a presentation of dissenting viewpoints.

Certainly I would not deny anyone the right to express his own views or to question the wisdom of government policies, but when these views are presented in such a manner and under such staging as to encourage the enemy to believe that such presentation is evidence of a complete lack of determination on the part of the United States, it can only result in the prolongation of the war and the loss of the lives of more American boys.

Nor does the fact that we are willing to assume that those who presented these views did so in good faith in anyway change their effect. The authorities in Hanoi were obviously duly impressed and recognized the tremendous advantage dropped in their lap. In spite of the fact that the North Vietnamese openly and officially applauded this so-called moratorium, I did not hear one speaker last night repudiate association with the enemy.

At least until the next session of the Supreme Court, the Constitution of the United States still defines treason as giving aid and comfort to the enemy of the United States. Regard-

PROUD GRANDMOTHER...that accurately describes Mrs. Oran D. Bates of Gatesville this week. Mrs. Bates became the proud grandmother of a baby girl - JAMIE ANNETTE Bates October 11, 1969, at 1:30 p.m., and the proud parents are Dr. and Mrs. David Bates of Marshall.

Little Jamie Annette weighed in at 8 pounds and 4 ounces in Marshall's Memorial Hospital.

The new arrival has excited grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wimberly of Shreveport, Louisiana, and of course, Eva Bates of our city.

When I spoke with Mrs. Bates Saturday, I could hear the excitement and thrill of having that first grandchild. She left Saturday for a visit with the Bates threesome in the east Texas city.

Dr. Bates practices dentistry in Marshall.

LITTLE GIRLS HAVE LITTLE VISITORS...What fun to be young and play with friends who moved away—even if it is just for one day! Little Leah and April Bromser had a treat this weekend, even before Halloween! Two of their friends, Carol and Rita Bell visited with them Saturday. The parents of Rita and Carol are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell of Athens. Most of you readers will remember Mr. Bell as a former Hornet coach and Mrs. Bell as Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Leah and April are two of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bromser's four lovely daughters.

SPIRIT MACHINE MOVING...I don't know if you went to the Friday night football frenzy—if you didn't, your nerves feel better than this writer's nerves do, but this writer witnessed a good, nerve wracking toss-up between two fine teams--the Lockhart Lion and our own Gatesville Hornets.

To this not-so-accurate football watcher, the game looked great, and the Hornets came back and got down to business. I think that anyone who attended the game can't forget the great second effort of Hornet speedster Ronnie Brown.

There was a new "Face" at the game this week--did you Gatesvilleites notice a new Hornet on the sidelines Friday night? The new face was #73, a spirit booster for Hornets and Hornet fans alike! The mascot, played Friday by Glynnia Bond is a new addition to the GHS spirit group and will be seen on the sidelines at each Hornet football clash.

Topping off the black uniform with a white #73 is a huge bubble-type Hornet head.

Perhaps the most thrilling point in the game was when Hornet #18 Jim Sanders defended HORNET honor at the goal line by deflecting a Lion pass. It was great to hear the older Hornets on the reserved side yell "We're Number One! Hey, We Are Number One! Don't miss the Hornet-Coppers Coyote duel this week!

John Tower Supports Judge Haynsworth

During his tenure on the Court of Appeals, Judge Haynsworth had the opportunity to write several opinions in the field of criminal law. These indicate that he fully realizes the practical difficulties of dealing with criminals. He has guarded against clear violations of individual rights. He has also exhibited a realization that we cannot afford in our society a permissive attitude which allows criminals to go free because of legal technicalities which are of no importance in the specific case involved.

Of course we cannot predict a judge's exact actions after he becomes a member of the Supreme Court. Our Constitution appropriately provides that Supreme Court Justices, once confirmed by the Senate, experience a freedom from political pressure which is unique in our government. They need not serve, indeed they should not serve, any President, and they are not called upon to face the rigors of popular election. A Justice, once confirmed, becomes literally his own man and he is free to make his legal decisions solely upon his own interpretations of the Constitution.

We can expect however that a member of the Supreme Court will interpret the Constitution in keeping with his legal background. The legal background of Judge Haynsworth is such that he can be expected to follow a general policy of strict construction of the Constitution. In my opinion, the Court has suffered over the past several years from a lack of justices who are willing to apply a strict interpretation to the wording of the Constitution.

Jurists and legal scholars who know Judge Haynsworth best are among his strongest supporters, liberal and conservative alike. The six other judges of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals have stated their "unshaken confidence" in his ability, his honesty and his integrity. This endorsement came after Judge Haynsworth's critics had made some of their strongest charges.

Charles Alan Wright, a noted constitutional scholar from the University of Texas, has advised the Senate Judiciary Committee that charges questioning the qualifications of Judge Haynsworth are unfounded. Professor Wright so advised the Committee after an exhaustive review of Judge Haynsworth's judicial record in which he examined virtually every case ruled upon by the Judge.

I am also impressed by the judgment of the American Bar Association Committee on the Federal Judiciary which initially approved the nomination and later reiterated its approval when it was requested to review its decision. I think it is only reasonable to assume that the ABA would not approve any nominee to the Supreme Court unless it was absolutely confident of qualification, particularly after the controversy surrounding the resignation of former Justice Abe Fortas.

Further, I am confident that the nomination of Judge Haynsworth was made only after the administration conducted an exhaustive survey constituting a review of each and every facet of judicial and ethical qualifications.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has conducted its own very thorough examination. Some of Judge Haynsworth's most vocal critics are members of that committee. But all the committee members had access to all the information presented to the committee. A majority of that committee, and I might say, a substantial majority of the committee recommended that the Senate confirm Judge Haynsworth.

I don't believe there has been any substantiation of any of the charges against Judge Haynsworth which justify Senate denial of confirmation.

I shall vote for his confirmation.

The Senate Judiciary Committee recently approved the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., to become an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court. A vote on confirmation will take place within the next several weeks as the Senate exercises its Constitutional power of advice and consent.

I have spoken before of the importance of insuring that our Supreme Court Justices be men of the highest caliber with extensive judicial experience. It is the duty of the Senate to provide this insurance.

To the extent that debate in the Senate is indicative of the determination of the members of that body to closely scrutinize appointments to the Supreme Court, I applaud it. I believe that in the past the advice and consent of the Senate has often been given too freely and too quickly. If the Senate had always closely investigated candidates to the membership on the highest court in the land, that court might not now be so subject to distrust and doubt on the part of the American people as it has been in recent years.

Judge Haynsworth has an impressive background in the legal field which makes him eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

Upon attaining his law degree, he practiced law for more than 20 years until he was named to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in 1957. He was elevated to chief judge of that court in 1964.

What industry is more enthusiastic about miniskirts than the most avid girl-watchers? Hosiery manufacturers, of course—particularly the makers of pantyhose. Mini-fashions mean maxibusines to them.

In fact, hosiery manufacturers may even get the blame (or credit) for the shortest skirts in history. After all, if they hadn't developed pantyhose that made the most of long-stemmed American limbs, skirts simply couldn't have shrunk to such slight proportions.

But it's interesting to note that it was men who first wore hose. Back about 50 B.C. when the Romans went to Gaul, they found what they called "trousered barbarians." It seems that the tribes of Gaul strapped their trousers tightly at the ankles and knees with leather thongs for better protection. The forerunner of pantyhose, no doubt.

However, it took 1000 years before stockings as we know them came into being. When the royal courts of Europe began to replace trousers with knee breeches, it necessitated a leg covering. The resulting hose, as they were dubbed by the Saxons, were handknit and badly shaped of various yarns.

Finally in 1559 silk hose appeared, first worn by King Henry II of France. Queen Elizabeth, who knew a good thing when she saw it, took up the idea, and two years later showed off her new silk hose.

But it wasn't until 1589, when the mechanical knitting machine was invented, that more people could afford to follow the royal style. Once started, the fashion for silk stockings continued for close to 400 years.

In 1938, nylon hose were introduced, and brought about a whole new concept of leg covering within the next 30 years.

'QUOTE ME FAIRLY'

LET'S QUOTE EISENHOWER FAIRLY

As the nation debates the size and cost of national defense, Vietnam, the ABM and the draft, it is ironic how eagerly critics turn back to the Eisenhower era to support their position.

Two sentences from the late President's famous Farewell Address of Jan. 17, 1961, are quoted in virtually every anti-military article:

"In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist."

Clearly, this is a warning. But what did Eisenhower, the soldier, really mean? What else did he say? If he were alive today, would he permit the use of his words as a "cover" for attacks implying some kind of conspiracy between our military services and their suppliers of goods and services?

First, his whole speech was a plea for peace and "how we use our power" to achieve it. But immediately (unlike those who minimize the need for a strong defense) he declared: "We face a hostile ideology—global in scope, atheistic in character, ruthless in purpose, and insidious in method. Unhappily, the danger it poses promises to be of indefinite duration."

Turning to the "military-industrial complex" his first words were: "A vital element in keeping the peace is our military establishment. Our arms must be mighty, ready for instant action, so that no potential aggressor may be tempted to risk his own destruction."

Next, he freely pointed out the "total influence" of military security upon our lives, but came to this stern conclusion: "We recognize the imperative need for this development."

Only then came his advice to guard against "the complex," but even it was fully qualified by the phrases "unwarranted influence" and "misplaced power."

Did President Eisenhower really intend to condemn the "military-industrial complex"? His whole address deserves to be studied. To quote two sentences out of context is an abuse of the General's intelligence and an injustice to his memory.

Randy Schoenewolf spins and twists his way for a first down to keep a Hornet drive alive. Schoenewolf carried on fourth down two times for short yardage to help score a touchdown.

Ronald Brown dives for additional yardage on the Hornet's second scoring drive. Brown carried for 70 yards on the drive. Brown scored the touchdown in the middle of the third quarter. He rushed for 114 yards in 35 carries to lead the Hornet offense.

Guideposts Held Ineffective in Inflation Fight

Congress was urged by the National Association of Manufacturers to reject legislative proposals for price-wage guideposts.

In a statement filed with the Executive and Legislative Reorganization Subcommittee of the House Committee on Government Operations, the NAM said that "guideposts are useless when inflationary forces are strong."

"Guideposts are a tin sword in the battle against inflation—impressive until they have to be drawn from the scabbard," the Association's statement said.

"The episodes of attempted guidepost enforcement several years ago left a feeling of bitterness on the part of almost everyone concerned. As the subsequent inflation demonstrates, they did not achieve the intended result."

The NAM statement said it is clear that the present inflation has its roots in the fiscal and monetary mistakes of earlier years. "The cure lies in a reversal of those mistaken policies, and that is being done," the statement said.

"We must not expect the effects of fiscal and monetary changes on price trends to be instantaneous. It never happens that way. To achieve price stability we have to persevere in the present policies of fiscal and monetary restraint over a protracted period."

"The bills under consideration outline a course of government anti-inflationary action which would be both arbitrary and discriminatory in its treatment of private citizens."

the play failed to gain.

Brown then picked up six and one yards in two carries, forcing a fourth down punt.

Tension was high as Sanders awaited the fourth down snap. The Lions needed a blocked kick or a good run back with less than two minutes showing on the clock.

Sanders fumbled the snap but managed to find the handle and got off a low punt just between two on-rushing linemen.

Sneed fielded the punt and was tackled by a host of Hornets at the Lion 29-yard line with 1:13 left to play.

Sneed picked up 19 yards on a pass from Rodriguez to the 48-yard line. Halfback John Thomas then grabbed a Rodriguez pass and raced to the Hornet 39-yard line.

The Lions were threatening. Rodriguez then ran to the Hornet 25-yard line.

The Lions were out of time outs but still had time to score. Linney was within range of a field goal with his strong leg and time for three plays.

A quick pass to the out of bounds stopped the clock.

Sanders deflected a second down pass play that would have scored for the Lions at about the 10-yard line. McKean had run a post pattern and had a step on Sanders when the desperation dive spoiled the play.

Rodriguez went back to pass on a third down but Bobby Hodge dropped him and caused a fumble which Hodge quickly gathered up.

The Hornets just sat out the remaining seconds and the victory.
